Committeemen Are Named To Direct 1938 Farm Plan.

Election of forty farmers in eight townships to serve as township committeemen in administering the 1938 agricultural conservation program marks the completion of township organization in connection with the program according to the report of Paul M. Krows.

Chairmen of the township committees will serve as directors of the Moultrie County Agricultural Conservation Association which was formerly reorganized at a meeting of the directors held last Friday afternoon at the Farm Bureau.

Maintenance of farm prices and income at a fair level so that farmers will not be forced to mine the fertility of their soil by over-cropping or otherwise use of land is one of the principal aims of the 1938 program. If farm commodity prices are ruinously low farmers tend to over-crop the land in an effort to make up in quantity of production what they lack in unit price, and if farm prices are abnormally high, farmers tend to mine fertility out of soil to get as much cash as possible.

Under the pinch of low prices and reduced income, farmers virtually are forced to over crop their soil year after year, to keep every possible acre in cash crops, even though this depletes their soil and subjects it to erosion. They are forced to do this because their fixed charges do not go down when prices of the things they sell go down. In an effort to get enough money to pay their taxes, interest and necessary production costs, farmers are often forced to try all the harder to produce as much as they can.

The practice in some farming areas of continually growing cash crops with rarely a compensating soil-building crop in rotation, or as a cover crop, has so reduced the fertility that it is impossible to farm this land and maintain a fair standard of living. Fluctuating farm prices and instability of farm income have prevented many farmers from making necessary improvements and carrying out soil-building practices that their land needed.

When prices are high millions of acres of grass are plowed up and seeded to cash crops and other mil-

ROOSTER WAS HUNGRY;

ATE 471 GRAINS OF CORN.

Curry's grocery conducted a unique contest Saturday. A large rooster, housed in a coop, was placed in the Curry window on Friday and folks were given an opportunity to guess how many grains of corn he would eat when he was to be fed on Saturday night. The bird was forced to go a couple of days without food and naturally entered into his part of the contest with an empty craw. He gobbled up 471 grains of corn in the time allotted him.

First prize of a 24-pound sack of flour went to A. D. Pryor who guessed 475 grains. Second prize winner was Emmitt Burcham, 476 grains. He was given a 3-pound beef roast. Third prize of 10 pounds of sugar went to Homer White, who guessed 491 grains. Mrs. Zora Rainey was given fourth prize of two pounds of lard and a pound of coffee was awarded to Mrs. Mary McClung as being entitled to fifth place. Both the former and the latter made a guess of 450 grains and then cast lots for fourth and fifth prize.

The Curry store has been conducting contests of a various nature for the past few months but none has created more interest than the one last Saturday—watching a hungry old rooster eat a handful of shelled corn.—Lovington Reporter.

The President Makes a Peace Offer to the Utilities

By WALTER LIPPMANN

In his press conference last week the President announced the terms on which his Administration is willing to make peace with the electric power companies. This is genuinely important news. For until the President spoke, it was at least an open question as to whether the private utilities could make peace with the New Deal at any price. The leading spirits on the Administration side appeared to be men who believed in the nationalization of the power industry and were determined to harry the private companies until they surrendered and retired. The President himself had repeatedly exhibited a strong personal predilection for this policy and at no time has it been possible for the utilities to know what they could and must do to obtain peace and a friendly relationship with the Administration.

But in last week's interview the President did at long last state his terms of peace. Though they may seem severe terms to some utilities' executives, there are the best of reasons for thinking that they are real terms. Consequently, the utilities industry could make no more costly error than to ignore or reject hastily the President's offer. Since the days when the industry failed to clean its own house and thus provoked public hostility and punitive legislation, it has had no better opportunity than it has now to end the political war between the government and itself.

The President's terms of peace have to do with the method of calculating the rates which private utilities are allowed to charge. It will be useful, I think, to remind ourselves of the elementary principles involved.

A utility is a monopoly which sells something that people have to buy. It is called a monopoly because Mr. Gabriel Angel, living on Paradise Boulevard can obtain electricity from only one company. He cannot shop around, as he can when he is buying an automobile or a pair of shoes, for the goods that suit him best at the price he is willing to pay. He must buy electricity from one company. And he must buy electricity. For he cannot really light his home with kerosene lamps and candles.

Thus there is for him only one seller of electricity and just this is what is meant by a perfect monopoly. The company, if it were free to act as it liked would have him at its mercy. It could charge whatever it thought Gabriel Angel could be made to pay. It could even turn off his electricity if it wanted to. And so, because he has no protection from competition in the open market, because the company is a monopolist unrestrained by competition, Gabriel's end of the bargain has to be protected by law. That is the reason why utilities, as distinguished from automobile companies or grocery stores, are regulated by law. The government intervenes because ordinary commercial competition does not exist.

So far every one is in agreement. But for more than forty years, perhaps I should say for about seventy years, there has been an unending dispute about the method of which the government regulating commissions should determine the price, or as we say the rate, to be charged by railroad, street car, ferry, gas, electric, water, pipe line, and telephone monopolists. This dispute has generated enough argument on soap boxes in legislatures, in courts, to bore the most patient man who ever lived. It has employed an army of lawyers and provided the means of a career for thousands of politicians. And yet nothing is settled. And even when something seems to be settled because the supreme court has spoken solemnly. It does not stay settled, and very soon there is another political agitation and a whole series of lawsuits.

The crux of the dispute has always been how to calculate the rate. The conventions of private property require that the investor who owns property shall be allowed, if he can find the customers, to earn the current rate of interest plus a profit to induce him to invest and to make up for the risk. If this profit were denied to him he would buy government bonds or even store his money in a safe deposit box.

Now in ordinary business the price which can be charged is fixed by competing bids and offers in an open market. For the utilities there is no open market, and, therefore, an artificial substitute for the market has had to be invented. This substitute consists in saying that the legal value of the utility property is x, that the power rates of interest plus profit is y, and that therefore y times x gives the legal price which may be charged.

The heart of the dispute, obviously is what the legal value of the property ought to be. On this point there are two great schools of thought, each with reputable and competent defenders. The one school, which has had the sanction of the Supreme Court for some forty years, holds that the legal value of utility property in 1937 should be the cost of reproducing that property in 1937. The other school of which the leading exponent has long been Mr. Justice Brandeis, holds that the legal value of the property should be whatever the investor has actually invested in it prudently. By using the term prudent investment the intention is to write off money invested foolishly, as, for example, when a company buys a plant that cost $50,000 and is held up to the tune of $200,000.

The President said last week that he would make peace with the utilities if they would agree to let rates be calculated on the basis, not of present reproduction costs, but of actual prudent investment.

Now at the present time most, but by no means all the utilities men, want the reproduction cost theory to prevail. But they did not always think that way. In the closing decades of the nineteenth century the utilities urged the opposite theory and ironically enough, it was the reformers, the predecessors of the New Dealers, as a matter of fact the late Senator La Follette, who drove the utilities, screaming and kicking, to accept rates based on current reproduction costs.

There is a simple reason for this reversal of attitude on the part both of the utilities and the reformers. In the period between 1873 and 1896 the general level of prices was falling. As a result the present cost of reproducing a plant always tended to be less than the original cost. So the reformers who wanted low rates argued for reproduction cost, and the utilities who wanted high rates argued for investment cost.

But from 1896 to 1929 the general level of prices was rising. This meant that generally it cost more to reproduce a property than to build it originally. During this period the utilities adopted Senator LaFollette's theory and the reformers adopted the theory which the utilities had abandoned.

The President wants to go back to the rate-making principles of the period before about 1898. Being a reformer, he is quite right—assuming that for the long pull the level of world prices will be upward. But he is right also not as a speculator on the future, but on the ground to justice and common sense and practical convenience.

The ordinary rules of competitive capitalism cannot be applied to the natural monopolies. Therefore, it seems just and sensible to base their rates on the actual historical record of the money which has been invested honestly and with reasonable intelligence; the word reasonable to be defined ultimately by independent courts. This is the only basis for rate making which is not a perpetual speculation on the rise and fall of the price level. It is the only basis which can be reached definitely by accountants and does not call for interminable litigation.

I should have no doubt myself that the President's offer is sincere. For while he and certain of his supporters might feel at a loss during election time if they did not have the utilities for a scapegoat, Mr. Roosevelt's offer is in entire accord with his most practical political necessities.

It has none of the air of an empty gesture. For the offers terms that call for a substantial concession by the private companies—yet they are terms which disinterested and conservative men have long believed were just and sound. If they are accepted, Mr. Roosevelt will obtain lower rates for the people; the utilities will have removed the fundamental obstacle to amicable relations with the government and the politicians.

Lesson for November 21

CHRISTIAN WORKERS

LESSON TEXT—I Corinthians 3:10-15; Galatians 6:6-10.

GOLDEN TEXT—And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.—Galatians 6:9.

PRIMARY TOPIC—In Our Church.
JUNIOR TOPIC—What Can I Do to Help?
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Can I Do for Christ and the Church?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Need for Christian Workers.

"Laborers together with God"—such is the glorious and distinctive title of true Christians, according to the verse just preceding our assigned text. Unfortunately is the all too common error of regarding only pastors and missionaries as the workers in God's vineyard. While we recognize that there is a special calling for some men to leave their vocations and devote their entire time to the Lord's work, let us be sure properly to stress the importance of every Christian's being a worker for God.

The portions assigned for our study present the privilege and responsibility of Christians as fellow-workers with Christ, under the figures of builders and of seed sowers.

I. Builders of the House (I Cor. 3:10-15).

The first requisite of a building is a foundation and it must be strong and true. Builders for Christ have a sure foundation stone in Him.

1. The Foundation—Jesus Christ.

There is only definite assurance in Paul's word concerning the foundation. It is perfectly clear to him that there can be no Christian faith without Jesus Christ. Such a statement sounds almost childish. One might well assume that no intelligent person would claim to be one of God's builders, and reject his foundation stone. But, alas, many are they who claim to be Christians, who profess to be raising a structure of Christian life and testimony, but who have set aside the only possible foundation on which to build.

2. The Master Builder—and his builders.

Paul was a pioneer. He declares his ambition and calling to be "to preach the gospel not where Christ was named, lest I should build on another man's foundation" (Rom. 10:25). Such a privilege does not come to all men, but let those who thus serve learn of this "wise master builder" that they may lay only one foundation—Jesus Christ.

"Let every man take heed how he buildeth thereupon." It is a serious matter to serve the Lord as a builder, for it is possible to go badly astray at this point as well as in laying the foundation.

3. The materials—good and bad.

Whether we apply Paul's words to the building of our personal spiritual life or to the work we do in the church they are equally serious and urgent. "The day"—when Christ returns, and we shall stand before him to give account of the deeds done in the flesh—will reveal by flaming fire whether we have been faithful, true and diligent in preaching God's Word, in prayer, in sacrificial service for Christ, or have sought to introduce into our lives and into the churches we serve the "wood, hay, and stubble" of uninspired schemes, neglect of God's Word, prayerlessness.

Saved? Yes, but entering into God's presence as a man who has escaped from his burning house with nothing but his life.

II. Sowers of the Seed (Gal. 6:6-10).

The figure changes. No longer are we builders—but rather sowers of seed. Would that it were all good seed that were sown—but we see the sowing to the flesh as well as to the Spirit. This is true

1. In our own lives. The inexorable law of sowing and reaping prevails in the moral realm as truly as it does in the physical. Men who would never expect wheat to grow where they have planted thistles, seem to expect that they may sow in their own lives the seeds of selfish indulgence, of careless neglect of the things of God, and still somehow reap the fruit of good character and noble living.

2. In the lives of others. We may be tempted to take attractive by-paths and short-cuts to win the interest and allegiance of men to ourselves and the church, but they will prove to bring but corruption and destruction. Spiritual seed will always produce spiritual life.

3. Waiting for the harvest. Harvest must be patiently awaited. We know it to be so in natural things; the same is true in the spiritual realm.

A Message of Love

One of the last slowly murmured sayings of the American poet Whitier, as he lay a-dying, was this: "Give—my love—to—the-world."

Worth-While Living
Learn to do well; seek judgment, relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow.—Isaiah 1-17.

Haste
Unreasonable haste is the direct road to error.—Moliere.

1620 --- 1937 America Does Not Forget

1620, a bleak year saw the landing of a small party on the wild coast of America. Their terrific struggle for a foothold in this new soil is known to every schoolboy. Then, after their first harvest—knowing that success, no matter how small, was theirs—the Pilgrims paused to give thanks! Again, 317 years later, the nation commemorates that custom. Forgetting the confusion of the modern world, and calling their families and friends about them, Americans gather once more to enjoy the riches of their tables . . . and to give thanks for the blessings of this land!

LATE WINTER CATTLE WILL SELL LOWER.

Lower meat prices for consumers and lower prices and smaller margins than were obtained by Illinois cattle feeders in the early months of 1937 are expected to result from increased market supplies of fat cattle in late winter and spring following present increased feeding activity.

This opinion is expressed in the current issue of Illinois Farm Economics published by the department of agricultural economics, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

"The present good corn crop, short supplies of grain fed cattle and high prices for finished cattle point to a material increase in feeding operations for late fall and winter as compared with a year ago," it is explained in the publication.

Increased feeding is expected to be general in the corn belt but most marked in areas east of the Mississippi river where corn production is above average.

Shipments from August to December from the 17 states in the western cattle area which supply a large part of feeder cattle are expected to be about 5 per cent under the movement a year ago. However, the corn belt already contains considerable numbers of cattle shipped in last year and carried over on roughage. They will go on feed this fall.

Of the hay and roughage rations include plenty of alfalfa, clover or soybean hay but no silage, the grain ration may consist of 400 pounds of corn and cob meal, 400 pounds of ground oats and 50 pounds of soybean oil meal or ground soybeans. Another mixture is 600 pounds of corn and cob meal, 300 pounds of ground oats, 100 pounds of soybean oil meal.

If the hay and roughage rations include plenty of alfalfa, clover or soybean hay but no silage, the grain ration may consist of 400 pounds of corn and cob meal, 400 pounds of ground oats and 50 pounds of soybean oil meal or ground soybeans. Another mixture is 600 pounds of corn and cob meal, 300 pounds of ground oats, 100 pounds of soybean oil meal.

Salt should be added to the grain mixture at the rate of one and one-half to two pounds of salt to each 100 pounds of grain. Special bone meal may also be added at the rate of one to one and one-half pounds of bone meal for each 100 pounds of grain.

MRS. SUSAN DUNN DIES AT OMAHA

Had Been Living With Her Daughter, Mrs. Cissell —Funeral Services Are To Be Held Here.

Mrs. Susan Dunn, formerly of this city, passed away about 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. J. Cissell, at Omaha, Neb. Mrs. Dunn had been seriously ill for the past month and about two weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hankley and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hankla went to Omaha to see her. When word was received last Sunday that she had taken worse again Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hankla and Charles Hankley left for Omaha.

Mrs. Dunn was born in Sullivan on October 20th, 1853, and had spent most of her life here except a few years of her girlhood which were spent in Missouri.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. A. J. Cissell, with whom she made her home and two sons, Charles and Paul of this city. A daughter, Mrs. Maude Cissell; a son, Walter of Decatur and an infant daughter Marie preceded her in death. Mrs. Cliff Monroe, a sister, passed away several years ago.

FEED PRICES FAVORABLE TO DAIRY PROFIT.

Because of the present relationship between feed and dairy products prices, Illinois farmers have a chance to increase their income from forage and grain by marketing them in the form of milk or cream, according to C. S. Rhode, of the dairy department College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

"To be successful in marketing grain and forage in the form of dairy products, however, it is necessary that the farmer have good cows and give them plenty of the right kind of feed combined into a balanced ration," Rhode said.

"In following a careful feeding program to get the most out of their cows, successful dairymen give them all the hay and other roughage they will clean up. In addition they feed the cows a balanced ration fed according to production.

"Holsteins and Brown Swiss usually are fed one pound of grain for each four pounds of milk produced daily. The rate for Jerseys and guernseys is one pound of grain for each two and one-half to three pounds of milk a day."

When legume hay and silage or clover and timothy without silage are fed, a satisfactory grain mixture is 700 pounds of corn and cob meal, 400 pounds of ground oats, 100 pounds of cottonseed meal, 100 pounds of soybean oil meal and 100 pounds of bran. Another grain mixture is 400 pounds of corn and cob meal, 200 pounds of ground oats and 100 pounds of soybean oil meal.

If the hay and roughage rations include plenty of alfalfa, clover or soybean hay but no silage, the grain ration may consist of 400 pounds of corn and cob meal, 400 pounds of ground oats and 50 pounds of soybean oil meal or ground soybeans. Another mixture is 600 pounds of corn and cob meal, 300 pounds of ground oats, 100 pounds of soybean oil meal.

Salt should be added to the grain mixture at the rate of one and one-half to two pounds of salt to each 100 pounds of grain. Special bone meal may also be added at the rate of one to one and one-half pounds of bone meal for each 100 pounds of grain.

COMMITTEEMEN ARE NAMED TO DIRECT 1938 FARM PLAN

lions of acres of land, not well adapted for the purpose, temporarily are brought into production. All of this is done at the expense of the soil, and the ultimate loss, owing to erosion and fertility taken from the soil, usually exceeds the money obtained from the crop.

It is thrifter and cheaper to prevent erosion and to conserve the productive power of the soil while there is still good soil to conserve. Unlimited production of soil-depleting crops, for all of which there is not a profitable demand even at low prices is an unwise use of soil resources.

The 1938 agricultural conservation program is designed to assist farmers in maintaining fair income and in making wise use of the soil.

MOULTRIE COUNTY DAIRY HERD IMPROVEMENT ASS'N. LEADS ILLINOIS FOR OCTOBER.

A summary of reports of the more than 60 dairy herd improvement associations for the month of October shows the average butter fat production for the ten high associations in Illinois to be as follows:

Moultrie County, P. J. Smith	27.9 lbs.
Tester	27.9 lbs.
Taxewell No. 2	27.7 lbs.
Ford	27.5 lbs.
Kane No. 3	26.3 lbs.
Lake No. 1	25.9 lbs.
McLean	25.7 lbs.
Taxewell No. 1	25.6 lbs.
Kane No. 2	25.4 lbs.
Kankakee	25.4 lbs.
Winnebago	25.1 lbs.

Ralph Emel's herd of Moultrie county placed fifth in the state's ten highest producing herds with a herd average of 45 lbs. of butterfat for the month of October.

Among the Associations themselves, the Moultrie County group jumped into the lead for the second time this year. With P. J. Smith serving as tester, the Moultrie County Association is now tied with the Ford County organization which has also led the State for two months this year.

38 new members were enrolled in Dairy Herd Improvement Associations in Illinois during October. They join with the more than 1200 other members who realize that high cost of production is a serious handicap in the business of making a profit in dairying. Consequently they are bent on improving their herds and herd production through good feeding and close culling and a constructive breeding program.

FINDLAY MAN HAS FOOT CUT OFF BY TRAIN.
William Forbes, 40, who lives in the Mahoney district east of Findlay had his left foot cut off by a freight train on the C. & E. I. tracks west of Findlay early last Thursday morning.

Forbes stopped at the crossing to pick up the radiator cap which had fallen from his automobile. He caught his foot between the rail and the wooden approach, and was unable to extricate it as the train bore down on him from the northeast. He apparently threw himself as far to one side as possible and the foot was crushed off. The train crew rushed him to Findlay and he was then taken to the Shelby County Memorial hospital where the foot was amputated cleanly just above the ankle.

Lester Mowerys Hand Mangled in Corn Picker.
Lester Mowery, Findlay farmer, had his left hand badly mangled in a corn picker last Thursday morning. Mowery was working at his home three miles northwest of Findlay.

The index finger on his left hand was severed, and his thumb and middle finger were badly mangled.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. Paul M. Curry, Minister.
We appreciate the fine attendance at Sunday services. Next Sunday there will be preaching both morning and evening.

Preparations are being made to use the basement for the children's division of our Sunday school. It is cozy and warm and will make more room available.

May we see you in Sunday services. 9:30 a. m.—Sunday school.

H. A. Murray, Superintendent. 10:45 a. m.—Morning worship.

6:30 p. m.—Epworth League, devotional services. We meet for a social hour at 5:30 p. m.

7:30 p. m.—Evening service. We very much enjoyed our trip to St. Paul's Decatur last Sunday. Two car loads of young people attended their Epworth League and several other Sullivan people attended the evening service.

Rev. Curry and five young people attended Institute at Windsor on Monday night. The last meeting will be at Shelbyville next Monday.

Our annual union Thanksgiving services will be held at the Presbyterian church on Wednesday, Nov. 24. Make your plans to attend.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Rev. C. E. Barnett, Pastor
It is the custom of our church to join in the union Thanksgiving service. This we shall do on the evening of the 24th when the Thanksgiving service will be held at the Presbyterian church. Rev. Paul Curry will bring the message. Let us gather in large numbers in Thanksgiving and for the inspiration of the hour.

On next Sunday morning we shall have opportunity to consider some of the blessings and opportunities that are ours. The very fact that we may have our Bible schools and church hours of worship is itself a real blessing and reason for Thanksgiving. Our presence in the Lord's house will be expressions of our gratitude. We are hoping for a response in keeping with the day and occasion. The hours of Bible study and worship are:

Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. The Rainbow chorus delighted us in song last Sunday. May we have more of these sings. At the hour of 10:30 we meet for communion and worship. Also in the evening at 7:30. The Christian Endeavor societies will meet at 6:30 p. m. The seniors will have a social at the church on the evening of the 26th. Mrs. Barnett's Sunday school class will hold one on the evening of the 23rd. The Intermediate Endeavor held its November social on the 9th. The church Fellowship Supper was held on the 17th. Social and fellowship meetings are important parts of church life. They help to keep us human. Let's have more of these socials by other church and school organization. Men, get busy. Smile.

The scroll at the bottom of a Boy Scout's badge is turned up at the ends. Ask him why and he will tell you: "It represents the upturned corners of a Scout's mouth—his smile—a Scout is Cheerful."

Try it—keep smiling. Bring your smiling face to church.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

Rev. J. T. Burns, Pastor
The union Thanksgiving service will be held at the Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening at 7:30. Rev. Paul M. Curry of the First Methodist church will deliver the message.

May we be truly grateful for the opportunities and privileges which are ours, not only at this season, but throughout the year.

Services for the week: 9:45—Sunday school, Mabel Nichols, Supt. 10:45—Morning worship. Subject, "Praise Ye The Lord." 4:00—Junior Young People at the Manse. 5:00—Young People's Fellowship at the manse. Saturday—7:00 choir practice.

Rev. Walker of Dalton City speaks every Friday night at 7:30. Come out and hear him.

Mark 2:3, "And they came unto him bringing one sick of the palsy, which was borne of four."

There was a great crowd gathered in Capernaum that day, doubtless many came to see, in a way they were interested, doubtless many came just because there was a crowd gathering but there were four men who had an unselfish interest in what was going on that day. They heard there was a great healer in town and they knew a man that was in desperate need of help. These four men gathered this man up, bed and all, and under great difficulties made their way to the man Jesus. Instead of the crowd being a help they were an hindrance. They blocked the way of those that would see Jesus.

This is often true today, the crowd are keeping people from reaching Jesus. I sometimes think perhaps we hide behind the statement that "where two or three are gathered together" but often it is much safer in the company of two or three than in the crowd. How nice it would have been if some of these men in the crowd would have taken some unselfish interest. One or two men could have cleared a passage way through and made it much easier for these four but they did not. But these four men's faith was not weakened, when they could not get in through the door they made a way down through the roof. If we would lead men to Jesus we will often find our way blocked by unthinking, uncaring men, and we will often find it necessary to first take or seeker up before we can bring him down to the feet of Jesus.

Jonathan Creek and Alleville Christian Churches.

JONATHAN CREEK AND ALLEVILLE CHRISTIAN CHURCHES.

Rev. W. B. Hopper, Pastor.
We had a splendid day at Alleville. The Bible school was interesting and well attended. Our young people gave a special number at the evening service.

Bible school next Sunday at 9:45. Bible school at Jonathan Creek at 10 o'clock.

The morning service at 11 o'clock. Sermon subject, "The Last Beatitude."

The Young People's meeting at 6:30. The Young People will have complete charge of the devotional part of the evening service. They will have several numbers of special music. Attend this service and show your appreciation of the work of this splendid group of young people. The sermon subject will be "Margins."

SMYSER CHRISTIAN CHURCH

R. H. Heicke, Minister.
In observance of the Thanksgiving season the Smyser Christian Bible school will give a half hour program of songs, recitations, readings and special music next Sunday morning at 10:00 a. m. At the close of the program a special Thanksgiving offering will be received which is to be divided between the Illinois Disciples Foundation at Champaign and the State Missionary society. A most practical way of expressing our thanks will be to share generously of our means for the support of two of the important agencies in Illinois for the development of our churches and the character development of our young people. Our abounding harvests should be reflected in a generous offering.

The morning worship at 11:00 a. m., will be featured with a special Thanksgiving sermon by the minister upon the theme: "The Christian Grace of Gratitude."

The evening service at 7:00 p. m., will have two distinctive features. The men of the church will cooperate in the service by composing the choir and leading in the song service. The pastor will bring a special message upon the subject: "The Men and the Kingdom." The men of the Smyser church will give the glad hand to all men of the community and invite them to enjoy the fellowship of this service. The young people's choir of two weeks ago challenge the men to equal their fine spirit of cooperation and loyalty. Let's go Men!!!!

Bement High Bumps Sullivan In Okaw Final With Fourth

Period Rush, 12-7. A highly touted Bement eleven spoiled Sullivan's farewell grid appearance last Thursday afternoon at Bement by walking off with a 12 to 7 victory chiefly due to a sensational fourth quarter rally which netted the winners their only touchdowns.

Sullivan jumped away to a 7 to 0 lead in the second quarter after recovering a Bement fumble on the Bement 38-yard line. A determined march down the greensward advanced the pigskin to Bement's one-yard marker. Roy Bolin smashed through the Bement forward wall for the Redskins' only touchdown of the entire game. A pass to Red Fifer netted the extra point.

Thursday's game was Sullivan's final football tussle of the season and gave the Dennismen a record of two wins against five losses in Okaw competition. The conquest was Bement's third against two setbacks and a draw. Seven STHS seniors donned a Red and Black uniform for the final time. Bill Shasteen, Kent Bone, Robert Creek, Wayne Elder and Wayne Nottingham took part in their final game for the STHS while Boyce England and James Warner watched the game from the bench.

Bement Narrows Sullivan's Lead. The winners were forced to battle through three scoreless periods before cutting loose with a dazzling offense which tore the Sullivan line to pieces. Sullivan played spotty football through the entire game, seeming to lack the spark it takes to win games. However, next year the local forces will have experience when they take the field in their opening game.

Bement's highly vaunted offense sounded a warning note about what was yet to come late in the third period. Starting off from Sullivan's 39-yard line the winners paraded down the field to the vicinity of the Sullivan's 3-yard line. Fullback, Funk plowed across the goal line narrowing Sullivan's lead to one point. The attempted try for the extra point was missed by Funk on the same methods.

62-Yard Drive Produces Victory. A long 62-yard drive midway in the final canto turned a 7 to 6 defeat into a 12 to 7 win. A 15-yard jaunt by Funk placed the ball in scoring position on the 6-yard stripe. On a perfect executed play Davies slanted off tackle for the winning touchdown. The try for point after touchdown failed for the second consecutive time.

Penalties Hurt Dennismen. Penalties were costly to Sullivan, the ball being called back repeatedly after several nice gains. One statistician figured 70 yards of penalties were handed against the Redskins. First downs gave Bement a narrow edge by a 7 to 6 margin. Bement (12) Pos. Sullivan (7) Jarboe le Creek L. ## BASKETBALL

Tuscola Loses Star Forwards For Coming Season.

Although the football season does not close until Thanksgiving, Coach Rex Benoit is already wondering where he will find capable forwards to replace the high-scoring Jimmy Neal and Wib Hoel, co-captains of last year's team, who graduated. Neal led the Okaw Valley in scoring last year.

Benoit also lost Avon Bean, who quit school, and Jim Galbreath who transferred to Marmion Military academy.

Four lettermen and three reserves will return this year to fill the holes left in the squad. The lettermen are Myron Ellis, guard; St. Clair Helm, guard; George Maris, guard, and Lyle Faith, forward.

Reserves returning are Junior Moore, forward; Bill Woods, center, and Max Patrick, forward.

Humbolt Cagers Beat Gays, 28-16 Friday Evening.

Humbolt high school handed Gays high school a 28-16 defeat in a basketball game played Friday night at the latter place.

The teams fought on even terms in the first quarter, but Humbolt went into the lead in the second period and was never again headed.

Grooms, Humbolt forward, was high scorer for the game, registering four field goals and two free throws for a total of 10 points. Williams, Humbolt guard, was second with eight counters. Davis, center, was high for Gays with a total of seven points.

Monticello Seeking New Center; Three Lettermen Returning.

Biggest problem to be solved before the start of Monticello's basketball season is finding a center to replace Cakander, one of four lettermen lost by graduation. Tall players with experience are at a premium.

The Sages also lost Vern Sumner, Linden Combes and George Seyler, but have Lawrence Hannah, Charles Zindars and Bob Duvall returning. Other boys who should make it interesting for the returning lettermen are Howard Allen, Carl Hunt, Arthur Cox, Lester Mackey, Charles McIntosh, Howard Shafer, Herbert Bradley, Eugene Groves, Bob Hubbard and Joe Doyle.

Practice for boys not out for football has begun but most of the boys expected to make the team are football squaddmen.

25 DRILLING ON ARTHUR SQUAD—OUTLOOK FAIR.

Claude Myers, Arthur high coach, who had 15 players out for his football team this year, is working with a squad of 25 cagers in preparation for the opening game of the season against Gays, Nov. 19.

The outlook is not as good as last year, when the Knights finished fourth in the Okaw Valley tournament, but Myers has hopes that several capable reserves will push the lettermen hard enough to develop a strong quintet.

Waters, R. Fleming and White, all seniors, are the returning regulars. Five juniors—W. Fleming, Blaese, Sapp, Graves and Agge—have had squad experience while Seaman, a sophomore, gained first team experience last year. Other likely sophomore candidates are Oye, Anderson and Dick Fleming.

Arthur is featuring a new gym this year with a playing floor of 46 by 84 feet and a seating capacity of 1,400. The schedule:

Nov. 19—Arthur at Gays.
Nov. 30—Lovington at Arthur.
Dec. 3—Arthur invitational.
Dec. 14—Gays at Arthur.
Dec. 17—Arthur at Villa Grove.

The black codes were laws passed in the South after the Civil war to regulate the negroes under the new conditions. The codes were moderate for the most part, but a few states had laws which were looked upon by the North as leading to future trouble.

AT THE GRAND

SHIRLEY TEMPLE MORE GLORIOUS THAN EVER BEFORE IN JOHANNA SPYRI'S "HEIDI."

Shirley Temple as "Heidi!" Millions the world over have been enthralled by the warmth, the tenderness and the charming beauty of Johanna Spyri's beloved story of Heidi and all the colorful folk who lived and laughed and loved high up in the Swiss Alps, just beneath the stars. Translated into all languages and read everywhere, it is a story that had to wait for its star before it could be brought to the screen. The Twentieth Century-Fox production of "Heidi" starring Shirley Temple, coming next Sunday and Monday, Nov. 21-22 to the Grand theatre, is the picture for which she'll be remembered always.

"Heidi" brings a Shirley Temple more glorious than has ever been known, in the picture she was asked to make by thousands of fans who wrote to the Twentieth Century-Fox studios. Bringing love to hearts filled with hate, and a twinkle to eyes filled with tears, "Heidi" tells of an embittered mountain-top exile, brilliantly portrayed by Jean Hersholt, reclaimed from his fierce hatred of the world, of a young girl who finds the strength and courage to walk again and of the little heroine who brings everyone new zest for life.

Arthur Treacher and Helen Westley play prominent roles in the story and Pauline Moore, Thomas Beck, Mary Nash, Sidney Blackmer, Mady Christians and Sig Rumann are also featured in the cast.

Written into the faithfully transcribed screen play by Walter Ferris and Julien Josephson are two dance sequences that present the first star of the screen at her greatest. "In Our Little Wooden Shoes," the specially composed song by Lew Pollack and Sidney D. Mitchell, gives Shirley a gay and charming interlude in the warmly dramatic story.

It was in "We Willie Winkie" that she made her first attempt at a straight dramatic role, an attempt so successful that Darryl F. Zanuck, Twentieth Century-Fox production chief, decided to make "Heidi" in the big-picture tradition set by the Kipling classic.

Remaining unspoiled in the midst of it all, Shirley was wide-eyed with elation when she was assigned the role and wanted to be assured that all the things that made "Heidi" so colorful to her would be retained in the picture.

"Heidi" has sold millions of copies and is on the prescribed reading lists of schools all over the world. Ideally cast and gloriously played, it makes a picture that its many readers long have hoped to see.

CHRISTMAS TREES PROVE PROFITABLE CROP IN ILLINOIS.

Growing Christmas trees for a short rotation tree crop is one possibility for Illinois farmers to increase their income from idle land, reports J. E. Davis, extension forester, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois and Illinois State Natural History Survey.

"Demand for Christmas trees in the state is such that they are shipped from as far as the west coast, while thousands of acres of Illinois land lie idle and subject to soil erosion," he said.

As evidence that Christmas trees can be grown with profit in Illinois, Davis pointed to a plantation in Livingston county planted in 1932 with 1,200 trees to the acre and sold at the rate of 40c a tree in the winter of 1936-37. About 1,000 trees an acre survived, making the plantation worth $400 an acre. Costs were about $50 an acre leaving a net earning of $70 an acre a year.

"Although financial considerations are naturally important in a tree-planting enterprise where an investment is concerned in land and land improvements, landowners are cautioned to look not only to the dollar to be earned but to consider other benefits as well," Davis said.

"For better land use and for soil erosion control, trees should be planted on the more than three million acres of land on Illinois farms which can not profitably be used for annual farm crops at present.

"Much of this land now worthless for growing agricultural crops was at one time good farming land, but has been ruined by erosion. Trees planted on such land will save it from erosion. On poorer soil trees will thrive because they have less exacting demands for food and moisture than have annual farm crops."

To assist Illinois farmers in solving their tree planting problems Davis has prepared a new circular, No. 477, "Forest Planting on Illinois Farms," which has just been issued by the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. Copies may be obtained by writing the college at Urbana.

This Week In Washington

By RALPH E. CHURCH
Illinois Representative in Congress

Last Thursday the House Ways and Means Committee began closed sessions for a consideration of our Federal Tax laws. As to what has transpired at these meetings we do not exactly know. No statements have been made either by members of the Committee or the Treasury which would give us any definite insight into the proceedings and the plans. They have been strictly private conferences between the Treasury officials and the Committee membership.

What recommendations, if any, the Treasury has made to the Committee for revising our tax structure will probably not be known until public hearings are held on the subject. In fact we do not even know whether the conferences will result in public hearings. It is simply a matter of personal conjecture as to whether the Administration intends to sponsor amendatory tax legislation at the special or even the regular session of this Congress.

The recent decline in business activity has focused public attention on the New Deal financing policies. The existing revenue laws are being subjected to a great deal of increasing criticism. In the last few weeks there has been a growing demand that something be done. We may be "on our way," but the people are not so sure it is the "right way" when they experience a rising cost of living, slowing up of production, loss of jobs and increased rather than decreased unemployment. There is, happily, a growing public recognition of the relationship between Federal financial policies and the individual citizen, however poor or rich and whatever his occupation.

It is not too much to hope that the public demand will become sufficiently strong to force the Administration to discard some of its pet theories and take cognizance of the inequities in the existing tax burden—Federal, State and Local. The burden has been becoming so great and the inequities so pronounced, with the overlappings and duplications, that it is becoming almost impossible for our economic system to function normally.

Nor is it too much to hope that the Ways and Means Committee will study the whole subject and not simply present to the Congress another bill which would represent nothing more than another "patch" in the "patch-quilt" affair our taxing system has gradually become.

Not altogether unrelated to these sessions of the House Ways and Means Committee is the convening last week of the Social Security Advisory Council to consider possible amendments to the Social Security Act to be taken up at the regular session of Congress next January. Officially they are separate and independent conferences. They are being held in different parts of the city. Yet they cannot be entirely dissociated on the theory that they are dealing with distinct subjects.

There is a relationship. The Social Security taxes constitute a very substantial item in Federal revenue. It is estimated that by the end of the present fiscal year the Government will have obtained $1 billion 263 million from these sources. Out of each pay more than 25 million workers, in cooperation with their employers, pay the levy. If the present plans are carried out, within the next few years the cash sent to Washington from these sources will approximate $3 billion a year. It is no small sum.

Far-sighted workers and progressive employers believe in social security. They have no objection to making regular contributions to provide for old-age pensions and unemployment insurance. Thoughtful men in a free country look to the future and cooperatively prepare for the future. But there is one phase of the Social Security program as now being followed to which every worker should loudly object. I have no doubt that he will once be appreciative of the fact that the money he sends to Washington is being used daily to finance the Government spending spree. The awakening will give every worker a livelier interest in the condition of the Federal Budget.

This is what is happening: the social security money flows into the Treasury. The Administration then issues notes against the fund and spends the money. By this means the New Deal has stopped borrowing by ordinary bond-issues to meet the budgetary deficit and uses instead the social security fund. Thus the savings of the workers are being used to build battleships, pay the thousands of Government employees and take care of the numerous New Deal expenditures.

It follows, therefore, that the Federal Government is becoming more and more in debt to every worker. The pathetic thing is that this same debt will be discharged by taxes in another form and the workers themselves will be paying off the debt owed them by their Government. It will amount to a double-levy.

This happens to be one of the features of the Administration financing policies to which the Ways and Means Committee could well give attention. It would make both for a sounder social security law and a sounder financial policy.

EXPECT NORMAL FARM LIVESTOCK NUMBER BY 1940.

Not until 1940 or 1941 will livestock numbers be back to average. That is the opinion of R. C. Ashby, chief in livestock marketing College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, who bases his conclusion on the outlook for meat animals issued by the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The trend in all livestock numbers is expected to be upward during the next few years, with the larger production of feed in 1937 expected to result in an expansion in hog production and in cattle feeding in 1938.

If feed crop production in the next three or four years is equal to average, supplies of feed will be large in relation to number of livestock, and livestock prices will be high in relation to feed prices. Such a situation would be the reverse of that which has existed in most of the past four years.

Total supplies of meats, excluding poultry, are expected to be larger in 1938, but will continue to be less than average. The increase in total supplies of meats will likely come in the last half of the year and will be largely in pork and the better grades of beef.

It appears now that consumer demand for meats in 1938 probably will be somewhat less favorable than in 1937, the weaker demand and larger supplies probably tending toward a lower level of meat and livestock prices next year.

Because of the drought of 1934 and 1936, the volume of pork produced in the past three years has been much below average. As a result the total production of meats in this period has been much below average. Production of beef and veal has been somewhat larger than average since 1933. If feed-crop production continues near the 1937 level during the next few years, the trend in pork production probably will not reach a level equal to the 1925-26 average before 1

Dear Suzie —

November 17, 1937.

Don't look now, but Winter is with us again. But definitely! Did I mention sun suits last week? I might have known that the sheer nervousness of that remark would be enough to do the damage. We've had frowning gray skies nearly ever since, and now the cold has descended. When I think of what that dorm will be tonight, with the cold breezes whistling in all night . . . . . They have been all day, too, because the dorm windows are left open. Speaking of fresh air! Here's when I begin to really appreciate those snugly wool socks.

We could have counted on a cold wave I guess, if only because of Dad's Day—it's always frigid for that. And it's such fun to bundle up in blankets for a game, because every time anything exciting happens, you jump up and off slide all the blankets. And then you get to start in all over again while you miss the next three plays.

Dad's Day promises another big week end. There are special Dad's meetings and most of the houses on campus are having some special dinner honoring their Dads. In addition to that there's the Annual Horse Show, and the Terrapin (Swimming) Water Carnival—the very thought makes me goose-pimpily. And then there is the second of this season's Theater Guild plays—"Spring Formal", which is a college play which for once is supposed to be really collegiate. And the Independent Informal to top off the week end.

You know, it's a real thrill having our Dads come to campus—especially if they're Illini Dads. It gives us a much clearer picture of our own college life, and of our part in the Illini tradition. It makes us suddenly wake up to the fact that we, too, will go on living after our college days are over, finding our place in an entirely different scheme of things. No classes, no grades—right now that sounds like Utopia. But "outside" above all other places, you have to "make the grade," I guess.

They tell us college days are the most carefree we'll ever know. We admit that they're grand fun—but "carefree" is scarcely the word for them. Why if you could see the wrinkles we're developing! Carefree, eh? And us with eight weeks' grades to worry us, or lack of knowing what they are, which worries us more. Those grades are an awful scare and disappointment to most of us. Because instructors would so much rather raise a low grade than lower a high one, that they grade accordingly at this time. And some of these poor pledges who have to make certain semester averages (about 3.3 or 3.5, that is nearly half B's and half C's)—they're scared out of their wits by the grades that come thru for them. It's especially true for students who rated well on grades in their own high schools, to whom this cold handing out of not-so-good grades for the first time is almost too much.

Oh, but these are such busy days! I might say in passing that Mrs. Roosevelt really won her audience when she spoke here last week. Some of them went, I suspect, with the firm intention of disliking her as a person. Well, however, they may have felt about the Roosevelts in general, the audience was completely charmed by Mrs. Roosevelt that night.

The annual Mum Show—chrysanthemums—was a great success as always. Did you know that many of the very unusual mums on display are "bred" (if that's the word) by students here on campus. There was one especially striking feature—a mum that trailed down in a sort of spray or cascade of flowers. Various sprays were of different colors, and really lovely. What will they do next to improve on nature?

Sunday afternoon the University Orchestra presented a concert—really a thrilling musical event. I would have enjoyed it lots more though, if I hadn't been taking notes for a report of it required in my Music Appreciation course. Say, by the way, do you ever listen to that course? It's one of the grandest aids to learning to appreciate music that you can imagine. It's given by Director Stiven of the Music School, every Tuesday and Thursday at 10 a. m., over WILL. If you possibly can, do listen in. You've no idea how much more you can enjoy good music, just by studying some of its technical features, as well as some definite great works. We studied some of the numbers that the orchestra played, and it was such fun to hear them after knowing more of how they are made up. There was also a very interesting selection on the program—Mood Mauve, by a former Illinois student. In this, there is a passage for muted voice. I had never heard of such a thing, but Bruce Foote of the Music School faculty sang it, and it was simply lovely! He simply sang "ah"—no words—in a lovely melody, through a mute, which is ordinarily used for a trombone, I believe. And one of our own Music School students actually played the piano solo in Tchaikowsky's Concerto No. 1 (If that means anything to you; it wouldn't have to me a month ago.) Suffice to say it's a tremendously difficult, brilliant number, and he handled it beautifully. That was one grand concert!

Tuesday night, Professor Herrick of the English Department gave the third in the series of Readings from Literature. He read, beautifully, some Negro stories of how and why things happened, such as "Why the Geese Fly Like That," or "Why the Darkies' Palms are White." Suzie, the possibilities of this place are simply unlimited! Every week on the University Calendar and the Bulletin Boards are notices of so many grand things to see and hear and do. They seem determined to educate and entertain us, in one way or another! Every week brings lectures by some authority in various fields and concerts like that at the Music School this week, displaying very old instruments, art displays of all sorts and so on and on. You can't keep from bumping into a little information and culture around here—it's all over the place.

But if there was ever a place for incongruities, for events to happen in crazy arrangement, this is the place. I saw "The Life of Emile Zola" the other day, and the entire audience was deeply moved. There was a sort of hush at the end—and then suddenly the theatre organ burst forth, and the words for the usual singing appeared on the screen. And so less than one minute after Anatole France's deathless words—"Emile Zola is a moment in the conscience of the universe"—that same hushed audience was rattling away with "I'm bubbling over—".

Incidentally, this screen singing is another characteristic thing about this college crowd. I've seen the "bouncing ball" and other types of audience-singing tried in various movies, with success varying from terrible to less. But with this crowd it goes over in a big way—they love to sing, and they all join in heartily, to say the least. The two big theatres have special organists who take care of just that part of the program, and it's grand fun.

Psychology has been more fun lately. Can you imagine hearing a person clench his fist? Because we did, on a phonograph record. We've been studying the senses, and also all sorts of unusual things about them—the trick they play on a person and such things. And then my prof is conducting

S.T.H.S. GOSSIP

Our second six weeks is almost over! It just doesn't seem possible, but the teachers are making us realize it to the full extent with these tests. Some tests were given the last of this week, and the others will be given during the three days of school next week. That certainly isn't a very pleasing thought just before vacation. One nice thing is that they will be over before the vacation so we won't have to worry about anything except the grades. The next thing will be report cards. Oh my! Who brought up that subject anyway?

On Monday night a band parent program was held in the assembly. There was an orchestra composed of the parents which played several numbers. It really sounded quite nice. Those parents really showed their "kids" what they could do. There was a solo by Mrs. Rufus Love; a duet by Mrs. Rufus Love and Mrs. Bert Lane; another duet by Mrs. John Dolan and Mrs. Walter Crane; a reading by Mrs. Orville Powell; a reading by Mrs. Webb Tichenor; and a violin solo by Mr. Kuhn. It was a very entertaining program and it was enjoyed by everyone. The next time the band parents meet they will have a party in the gym at the high school. This will be on December 14th. Those band parents are really very nice because they even invited the band members to come to the party. We have a good idea that many of them will accept the invitation with pleasure.

On Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock everyone went into the assembly to hear a talk by Mr. Albert Walker. This was in honor of Horace Mann, the father of our public schools. Mr. Walker gave us a very impressive speech about the good of the schools and what Horace Mann wanted them to be. He stressed the fact that a high school education is very valuable and that we should take advantage of every opportunity. One very surprising and interesting fact he told us was just how much it took to run this good old STHS. He said that we were supposed to go to school for one-hundred-and-eighty days, with six hours to a day if our school is to be classed among the better ones and is recognized at the University of Illinois. He said that it cost just about thirty dollars an hour of every day for this school to be operated. Now, would you ever have thought of that! Very few of us would, and it just seems almost incredible. But it's the truth. That's really a large sum of money just for an hour a day—why, just think—it's over thirty-two thousand dollars for one year! Mr. Walker's entire speech was very impressive and very interesting to everyone. After his talk a large picture of Horace Mann was presented to the school to be hung up along with Washington and Lincoln's. The dedication address was very nicely given by Marjorie Hamblin.

On Tuesday night a "last minute band rehearsal" was held. This was the last night practice before the concert that was given Thursday night. At this time it was too early to tell how successful the concert was. The band members and Mr. Kuhn really worked and practised very hard on it in the preceding weeks so it should have been something worth hearing. And we believe it was.

Tuesday night there was also another meeting of the Hi-Wy boys. The boys are taking a great interest in this new organization for them and they seem to be having weekly meetings pretty regularly now. We're very proud to have this organization in our school and it seems to be making some head-way. This is similar to the Hi-Tri for girls. However, the girls here do not have the meetings or seem to do as much as the boys are now doing.

Here's your chance if you're interested in radio. Don't miss it. Mr. Vaughn announced that if he found enough people interested in radio he would start a radio club. This should be very interesting and very worthwhile. Radio is a queer thing and there are really very few people that completely understand the working of it. Come on, all you radio fans and let's start this radio club.

Last Friday Miss Montgomery came back to school to carry on in spite of her injuries. We think she deserves a lot of credit for coming back with that broken arm and teaching as though nothing had ever happened. We know her arm must hurt her sometimes, though she never utters a word of complaint. We're really glad to have her back and we're thankful she was hurt no worse. Of all the other victims of the unfortunate accident all are at school carrying on nicely with the exception of Eileen Gravens who received a severe gash on her forehead. We certainly hope we'll be seeing Eileen feeling as "pert" as ever very soon now.

On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Kuhn took the girls who sang at Homecoming to sing at the Household Science club at the home of Mrs. Hershel Reedy. They sang "Harbor Lights," "Afraid To Dream," and "Gone With The Wind." Due to the fact that Jean Duncan was ill Shirley Pifer took her place in the quartet which sang "Afraid To Dream." The quartet was composed of Wilma Lane, Charlotte Butler, Katherine Nichols and Shirley Pifer. After singing the girls were served refreshments and had a nice time. Wouldn't it be nice if all of us could sing and get to miss school like that?

Last, but most certainly not least, comes our Thanksgiving vacation. This is next Thursday, Friday and of course Saturday and Sunday. Better be counting up your blessings. When you once begin you'll find you really have plenty of things to be thankful for. We know everyone's mouth is just watering already for that big turkey and all of the trimmings. But just remember to go a little easy on the eating so you will be able to drag back to school. Besides that, if you eat too much just think of the after effects and how you'll forget you ever had anything to be thankful for. Also, you want to be able to attend some experiments outside class and they were very interesting too. They were in music appreciation, art appreciation and poetry appreciation. More "parlor games" than tests. And in a few weeks we'll find out how we "rate" in these various things in comparison to the others who took the tests. But oh, those tests really could take down your ego a notch or fifty!

Suzie, the most important fact at present is this—"One more week till vacation. Then we'll go to the station, back to civilization. The train will carry us there!" One more week—and by the time you get this, it'll be just a matter of days! "Blessed be the day—".

But of all dirty tricks I ever heard about, this is the worst. The night before vacation is a late night, and one of the Physics classes is having a three hour exam that night! Three-hour exams in the middle of the semester are unheard of—and to take advantage of that supposedly-celebration night to give one is—we refrain from expressing ourselves.

But when vacation does really come—"Thanksgiving" is the proper title for it, considering our joy about it.

"One more week"—

Drink More Milk

Its Good For You

Sunlight is important to health. But in Winter, when greater resistance is needed, Old Sol isn't at his best. But there is one excellent pinch-hitter for sunlight—MILK! Milk is not a cure-all, but it is the greatest protective food yet discovered, particularly in Winter when deficiency of sunlight robs little bodies of precious energy needs. Milk, most nearly, supplies these needs. Its benefits are great and so easy to have. See that children have at least a quart of milk every day!
