

"RED" GRANGE BASKETBALL BANQUET SPEAKER

About 225 Attend Gathering In High School Honoring Sullivan's Okaw Valley Champs.

(By Dean McPheeters.) Harold "Red" Grange was the feature speaker at a banquet Tuesday evening at the high school held in honor of the basketball team and sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. About 225 persons attended. The food was provided and served by the Methodist ladies.

The invocation was offered by Rev. C. E. Barnett. After the meal Judge J. L. McLaughlin acted as toastmaster and presented the various speakers.

The main speaker of the evening was "Red" Grange who talked largely about his football experiences, both at the University of Illinois and with the Chicago Bears. He also told a number of the amusing experiences he had had in football. Bob Elson, sports commentator, had originally been scheduled to appear but as he was unable to attend on account of illness, Grange substituted.

When Grange first came to the University of Illinois, he said, he had not intended to go out for football as he felt the competition would be too tough. In fact the first evening when he reported for practice he saw there were so many out that he returned home without practicing. At his fraternity they insisted he go out so he went back the next night and the "Galloping Ghost" was started on his career.

One of the most exciting games he was in, said Grange, was in 1925 when Illinois played Pennsylvania. Illinois had gone into the game the underdog but had succeeded in holding their opponents to a tie up until the closing few minutes of the game. Finally Illinois got the ball deep in Pennsylvania territory, Zuppke had worked out a play called the "Flea-flicker" which was a fake place kick. Grange decided to call it and glanced over to the bench where Zuppke was pacing back and forth which meant for him not to call it. Grange went ahead and called it anyway, it worked perfectly, and Illinois made a touch down.

When Grange returned to his hotel after the game he found "Zup" surrounded by a huge crowd of fans and holding forth on how he had planned that play for two years to use it just in that very spot.

"He then said a few things about "pro" football and the Chicago Bears. "Pro" football is big business today," he said and he stated further that every professional game at Wrigley field costs about $14,000 or $15,000. The players make about $150 to $160 a game and play about 12 games a year and 10 exhibition games for which they get about half their regular salary.

"It doesn't matter who you are or how good you are," said Grange, "you have to train. It takes hard work and sacrifice to be a star at anything."

"The hard thing to do is play without any recognition," he said. Then he went on to tell about the good work the linemen do and how little they get in return for it.

"Too many athletes from small schools have an inferiority complex when they get to the University, Grange stated.

The athlete from the small school has just as good a chance to be recognized as anybody if he just wants to be. Grange came from Wheaton originally, which has a school about the same size as Sullivan's.

Grange answered several questions after his speech. In answer to one question he said "Broncho" Narcursky was the best player he ever played with.

When asked what the biggest thrill he had ever gotten out of a game he replied it was in the game when Illinois played Michigan to a 21-21 tie in 1924.

After Grange's speech Joe Gillam-bardo, National A. A. U. tumbling champion, and two of his team mates Bill Golding and Ray Weiss, put on an exhibition of tumbling in the gym.

Created By President Ingram.

The first speaker of the evening, was W. C. Ingram who spoke a few words of greeting to the audience. He thanked those in attendance for their support to the newly organized Chamber of Commerce and mentioned the work of R. C. Heim, chairman, of the Standin' committee of entertainments, and "Bo" Wood, who was in charge of ticket sales. He praised the boys not as a unit but as a squad and commented on their fine work in winning the Okaw Valley championship.

CLOSING DATE ON AAA LOANS ON CORN IS TO BE SET SOON.

Moultrie county farmers who are still planning to obtain AAA corn loans on their 1938 corn crop are advised by Earl H. Cruik, of the Moultrie county agricultural conservation committee to file their application for a loan as soon as possible. A closing date for loans will soon be established after which it will not be possible to obtain a loan even though the corn is otherwise eligible. Mr. Cruik pointed out.

Corn to be eligible for an AAA loan must have been produced by the person making application for the loan. Furthermore, the corn allotment must not have been exceeded in 1938.

However, it is provided that eligible tenants who are moving this spring may under certain conditions seal eligible corn that was not produced by them on the farm on which it will be sealed for a loan.

Persons desiring to obtain AAA loans on their corn are advised to call at the office of the county committee where their eligibility will be checked and where they may make out an application.

Also showing the inside of some of their workshop, with bins for the dividing and sorting the various named varieties of peonies; views of the same workshop when converted into a show room during the blooming season, and specimen pictures of prize winning peony blossoms.

Her talk included the history of a new peony plant, outlining in detail the process involved in the fifteen or twenty years required from the time the seed is first planted until the plant is ready for the market, also the method of propagating their particular "own root" French lilies, and the advantage of such plants over those that are grafted onto privet roots. McFERRINS IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT WEST OF COLES

Mrs. McFerrin Receives Injured Cheek Bone And Cuts On Face And Head - Other Accidents.

As Mr and Mrs. C. E. McFerrin were returning from the basketball tournament at Mattoon on Friday night, they met with an accident, which wrecked their car and caused injuries to both Mr and Mrs. McFerrin. Mrs. McFerrin received an injured cheek bone and cuts on her head and face. She was taken to the hospital on Monday for an X-ray to determine the extent of the injury. Mr. McFerrin suffered from bruises and shock.

The accident occurred about 10 p. m. Friday about a mile west of Coles station. A car coming from the west started to pass a Hayes truck and in attempting to avoid the McFerrin car took to the shoulder. In doing so it either side swiped the McFerrin car or else the bright lights blinded Mr. McFerrin so that he struck the truck causing his car to overturn, and in turning struck Jim Mills' car which was coming behind, tearing off its fender. With Mr. Mills were a group of basketball boys, but none of them were injured, and the truck driver also escaped injury. The impact caused the truck, which was heavily loaded to turn crossways of the slab.

The driver of the car which caused the accident did not stop, and hence his identity was not learned. It is said by a number of the motorists who were returning from the tournament that they had passed a car which was weaving on the road as if driven by a drunken driver, and some had remarked that he was likely to cause an accident.

The Supreme Court Decision

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

In its decision on Feb. 27, the Supreme Court outlawed the unique collaboration of the National Labor Relations Board with the trade unions to prevent employees guilty of breaking the law from suffering the penalty of discharge.

It did not outlaw the sit-down strike, because the illegality of the sit-down strike did not come into question and was not challenged by the National Labor Relations Board.

The employees who seized the corporation's plant were evicted by the sheriff, tried in the court and most of them fined or sentenced to jail. Nobody including the National Labor Relations Board, contested the justice of the fine or the sentences. But the board held that notwithstanding the fact that the employees had committed a criminal act against the company, the company was obliged to re-employ them with back pay.

The Supreme Court decision supports the company's refusal to do so. Actually, in fact, the company did re-employ most of the strikers. But it reserved its right not to take back others, and that right is upheld.

The decision is of great importance because the National Labor Relations Board has by its attitude protected employees from suffering the full and logical consequences of unlawful acts. And this attitude of the board has been one of the reasons for industry's distrust of it.

The Supreme Court made its decision in spite of the fact that it sustained the board's ruling that the company by its campaign to organize the plant into an independent union, by its isolation of the C. I. O. union's president from his fellow employees, by the employment of a labor spy, and by refusing to bargain collectively in February—when the C. I. O. union had a majority of the employees—had been guilty of unfair labor practices.

The court's decision indicates, however, that unfair labor practices on the part of an employer are not in any sense whatever a justification for illegal practices on the part of the workers. The employer must desist from illegality and change his ways. The employees must desist from illegality and bear the consequences of discharge if they do not.

There are numerous illuminating statements in the decision that have an important bearing on the conduct of labor under the protection of the act.

The court points out that the workers themselves failed throughout the tion in advance of a strike are part of the statutes of both Sweden and Great Britain. The Swedish law creates an obligation on the part of both employers and employees to attend conferences for the purpose of collective bargaining if their party demands it, and in Great Britain, although there is no legal compulsion in the matter, agreements between unions and employers invariably provide for arbitration of disputes in advance of a strike or lockout.

Most interesting was the Supreme Court's third finding.

The board based part of its contention on the general authority conferred upon it by the act to require the employer to take such affirmative action as will "effectuate the policies of the act," and argued that such action may embrace requirement of re-employment.

The court holds that while the board's authority is broad, it is not unlimited, and referred to its decision in the Consolidated Edison case, where it ruled that the board could not inflict on the employer any penalty it chose for unfair labor practices.

The court holds that the power of the board to compel affirmative action is remedial and not punitive, and it reminds the board that "there is not a line in the statute to warrant the conclusion that it is any part of the policies of the act to encourage employees to resort to force and violence in defiance of the law of the land."

This recall to the limitation of scope in power is a healthy rebuke to more government agencies than the NLRB.

Another very important part of the court's finding is that it does not uphold the board's conclusion that the employer, following an illegal strike and the lawful dismissal of the people engaged in it, must continue to bargain with the union which called it.

The employer has not the right to punish the union as such, by refusing to recognize it, but the court points out that when the illegal strikers had been discharged and new men hired there ceased to be a basis for the conclusion that the union was still the choice of the majority of employees.

The court therefore called attention to what critics of the act, among them this column, have several times pointed out as a weakness namely that once a union had gotten a majority it is assumed that this majority is permanent and no procedure exists whereby dissidents can challenge the majority. This is ately complained to the board that union activities were being interfered with, and that they were spied upon, and they could again have complained in February when the corporation refused collective bargaining with the union that had a majority. But they preferred to force the issue by a sit-down strike.

This observation of the court as to the union's failure to take advantage of the protection of the act brings out one of the weaknesses of the act as a means for promoting industrial peace.

For if we are really to have peaceful settlements of disputes and the adjustment of labor employer controversies through a government agency we ought to provide for arbitration of disputes in advance of a strike or lockout, while reserving to workers the right to strike if the arbitration is not satisfactory.

The appeal to arbitration ought to be open both to employers and employees. Arrangements for arbitration in the realm of politics we provide for change and reform.

The concept of the majority which becomes permanent and is the sole agency through which the collective will may function is the concept of the totalitarian states in the field of politics. Given the closed shop and the check off, the union has a permanent mandate, and if this is democracy then Hitler is a democrat. Moreover there is no compulsion of democracy inside the ruling trade union.

The Supreme Court's majority opinion with the concurring opinion of Mr. Justice Stone is a call to a return to true liberalism—the liberalism that means limitation of scope in the granting of powers, orderly procedure and methods and recognition of the mutuality of rights and obligations.

In that spirit the United States can meet its major problems without class cleavage and civil strife and remain a people "indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

HOME BUREAU PROGRAM PLANNING MEETING FOR MOULTRIE COUNTY.

Greater benefits, both financially and socially, for the people of this county is the aim of the Home Bureau Advisory Council when they are planning a program. We want lessons that will satisfy the needs and interests of our homemakers, so that the members will be able to raise the level of living in their homes and communities.

On Saturday, March 4, twenty-two members of the Advisory Council representing every Home Bureau unit in the county met at the Farm Bureau Assembly with Mrs. Kathryn Van Aken Burns, State Leader of Home Economics Extension in Illinois, for the purpose of planning the program for next year.

We enjoyed a most delightful pot-luck dinner. Five cards and get acquainted introductions added an interesting sociable spirit to the gathering. Mrs. Ralph Emel, Mrs. W. B. Hopper and Mrs. Hannah Seitz composed the committee who were in charge of arrangements and the social part of the meeting.

At the Advisory Council meeting held in the afternoon it was decided to have major lessons for next year in clothing design, home management, foods and nutrition. The special meetings are to be on health and personality, landscaping, electrical equipment, home accounts, and a sewing machine clinic. Did you know that Illinois schools rank 39th among those in the United States? They are nearly at the end of the list. The minor lessons will be on schools, peace (our economic relations to other countries) better English, old glass and china. Final choice of particular subjects under these headings will be made by a committee.

Damask Roses
By SADE STULL
© McClure Newspaper Syndicate, WNU Service.

The first damask roses were a bloom in Great-aunt Alicia's garden the morning she permitted me to read Mistress Betty Linley's diary.

"The same garden, my dear," Great-aunt Alicia said very softly. "Each generation of Linleys has proudly perpetuated the roses Mistress Betty so loved."

She drew aside the curtains that I might have a clearer view. The simple movement seemed to dispel more than a century's mist.

My glance traveled past the wonderful display of roses to the distant highway. The latter's macadam surface vanished as if by magic, leaving the natural road bordered by weeds and wild flowers.

So it must have looked to Mistress Betty the morning she penned the entry of June 2, 1775—

"The Post brought a letter from Patty Royston. She writes that her mother is distraught because of Jasper's avowed intention to take up arms against all his kin.

My heart is both glad and sad this day. In the morning came Doctor Joel for his promised rose and my prayers for his safety in the battle at Charles Town on the morrow.

At dusk came Jasper Royston. The dear lad showed me a withered rose, worn next his heart since the night of the Governor's rout—the rose I had thought I lost from my hair . . . He, too, wanted a fresh token and my prayers for the morrow. Ah, me! In all sincerity I promised to pray for him, but my heart made me tell him of Joel."

I turned eagerly to the next entry—June 17, 1775—

"Tidings at last from across the river! Our untrained men held their own against the king's regulars until their powder gave out.

"Poor Jasper was killed at Joel's side. His last breath was a prayer for our happiness—and the success of the patriot cause."

I gently closed the diary and my glance wandered out the window. The high road was again macadam, but the roses in the garden below still breathed of ye olden days—the days of fair Mistress Betty and the two brave men who loved her.

How England Acquired Gibraltar
Spain took Gibraltar from the Moors in 1492 and held it until it was taken in 1704 during the War of the Spanish Succession.

There were tell-tale blots on the following page—tear stains the long, long years had not effaced.

"June 18, 1775. Poor Jasper was killed at Joel's side. His last breath was a prayer for our happiness—and the success of the patriot cause."

Dear Suzie -

March 3, 1939.

Hello again! It's good to be back with you again, airing the campus news as I see it and interpret it, for you.

This has seemed an unusually eventful year. So much has happened since I last talked to you that I don't quite think we'll ever catch up on it. There have been many changes on campus; we've come a long way from the school that was established here 71 years ago. I've noticed that especially because March second was Founders' Day, celebrating our start in life as a university in 1868. At that time, there were fifty students, with a staff of two professors and Mr. Gregory. Now we have 13000 students enrolled here. 65 years ago there was one building on campus - University Hall, which got to the collapsible state last year and had to be torn down. Now there are 65 buildings on the main campus. And this year the campus is cluttered with construction of some more, and much-needed, buildings. There's Gregory Hall - a classroom building to take the place of University Hall; there's the longed-for union building; there's a state natural resources building; then there are also additions to the library and to McKinley hospital. We have come a long way, and we're still going toward developing a splendid, efficient "education plant."

I suppose you've already heard about the Founders' Day events so I won't re-tell them. We were all adorned with Founders' Day tags, to celebrate the occasion. On these badges was a motto "It can be done. I will help it." This motto will be used next month in the big solicitation drive for the new Union building.

Last night, just to top off the day, we had our second All-University Sing. The first of these was held just before Christmas, and proved so popular that—well, last night's was the result. The auditorium was packed and overflowing—and the Auditorium seats 2300. Most of the program was singing, everybody enthusiastic, everybody demanding another one this spring. There were some specialty numbers by students and by the orchestra that simply brought down the house. I'll bet that's the biggest, happiest birthday party this university ever had!

Yesterday noon the Fighting Illini of our basketball troupe were entertained by the Kwanan club. That's the team that came within shooting distance of the Big Ten basketball championship this year. Tough breaks, tough competition—lots of things enter into the final results; but we're proud of the boys. I think we all echo what Dutch Lonberg, coach of the Northwestern basketball team, said in his address: "You fellows have been in the race from the beginning. You've fought every inch of the way, but you've played good clean basketball all the way. You are a credit to your institution." The team yesterday noon, elected Bill Hapac captain of the 1939-40 team. He started forward in every game but two—when he wasn't well, since he's been on the team, that's since a year ago last December. And he's no mean scorer—right now he stands in fourth place in the big ten scoring list.

While I'm on basketball, I want to mention the fine work that the Gymkana troupe has done this season, keeping us all entertained and happy between halves of the game. I remember that in high school we all tramped out of the gym between halves; but somehow when you're on practically the fifteenth row, with people packed in solid all around you, you just sort of forget about strolling around between halves. And then's the basketball band and the Gymkana troupe come in. We've had everything from tumbling to weight-lifting this year in the way of exhibitions. I want to stop off for a moment here to tell you about one of the performers; he's badly crippled—and in spite of that handicap he's one of the star trouperes; he holds a world's record in lifting weights—327 1/2 pounds. At the game the other night he lifted a weight of 325 pounds—and the crowd groaned for him because it was so heavy. But he didn't groan around—he just went about the business of lifting that up (he was lying on his back)—pushing it up to his arms' length. If I wore a hat I'd take it off to him.

There are a lot of these so-called handicapped on our campus. I think I'd take that hypothetical hat off to all of them. They're people who start out with two strikes on them, and crash through determined to train themselves to be just as capable and useful as any one. Their attitude is a cheerful, healthy one—and it's a real pleasure, and often an awakeser to know them. You take the law student who is blind - an honor student; you take the blind wrestler; you take those crippled boys who have trained themselves to have physical abilities far above ours. And then you take the rest of us who don't use a tenth of what we've got—somehow it makes you wonder.

It wasn't so long ago that this place was election-mad. And I mean elections for class offices on campus. There's never been such an exciting campaign, or such a huge number of voters. There are those of us who suspect that the chance to use the voting machines had something to do with that turnout. Campus class offices have been a hearty laugh for a long time—the officers get a little prominence and that's all. In fact, for several semesters there has been only one group of candidates in many classes, one political party which puts its own member into office. This semester, suddenly, opposition sprang up, especially in the Senior class election—and also in the Junior class. The Senior White House party had had things well in hand all along, and everybody knew—even last spring—and I do mean a year ago!—who would be president of that class this semester. But up rose another party and then the fun started. Things were fast and furious there for awhile, and opinions and loyalties varied, for both candidates were strongly supported. Posters, handbills, tags, signs of all sorts were all over the place. When it was all over and the smoke of battle cleared away, the upstart candidate had defeated the old party. It was really a blow to the political parties who have been long established—some of them ever since the class has been on campus. And now we're all wondering if the election promises will really hold out this time—if the class officers will be given some constructive duties, and if they'll make class offices worth maintaining. So far, so good. I just hope that when the tumult and shouting has completely died out that they'll keep it up. I'm neither defending nor condemning campus politics. They're funnier than a three-ring circus. I'm just saying that they'd better get busy making themselves worth while, or they're going to find themselves non-existent before many years, if things continue to head as they are now. Anyhow, no hard feelings!

There's an interesting aspect to this political business. There as nowhere else is clearly illustrated the new Greek-Independent set-up. The Greeks—that is, fraternity and sorority members—are really a minority on the campus; but for years they've been well organized and knit together, and quite naturally they spurred their members on to interest in activities and pretty much held the big jobs on campus. Finally the Independents—those not affiliated with Greek houses—began to have an interest in activities and at the same time to realize that when they were so scattered and unorganized, they could not hope to achieve anything as a group. So in the past few years they have organized and organized and organized, both men's and women's groups, all over campus. As groups they began to have activities among themselves. Then they interested their members in campus activities and so the influx of independents into activities came about partially through this organization. They have also organized voting power to a certain extent, among themselves and when they have such a great number of people to vote, it means a lot. So in the political

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH Rev. C. E. Barnett, Pastor.

The youth of the church will be in charge of the services Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Those who attended the Youth Fellowship meeting in Paris, and the district Christian Endeavor meeting in Decatur will speak upon definite phases of the work as presented in the sessions of those meetings.

The speakers from the Paris meeting will be Geneva Kidwell, Lola May Elder, Wayne Wilson and Billie Queen with Millie May Kidwell reading the scripture from memory, Matt. 25, 14-29. Kenneth Johnson, state superintendent of Leadership Training will speak on "The Relationship of the District and State Christian Endeavor Work to the Local Societies." In addition there will be musical numbers, vocal and instrumental, as a part of the program. The e, and all members of the local society will be much encouraged through the attendance of interested persons at 7:30 p. m.

In the regular meeting of the Christian Endeavor society Lois Tichenor and Jeanette Bass will lead. The subject is a continuation of "Frontiers," this week, "Rural America." 6:30 p. m. Frank and Ernest discussions marked the meeting last Sunday evening. These should continue on this continued subject.

The March Fellowship Supper of the church will be held in the basement on the evening of the 15th, at 7:00. The play and profit time of the church. Come, bring table service and pot-luck supper.

Communion and preaching Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock a. m. "Men Who Have Believed in God" will be the pastor's sermon subject. The Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. for all who wish to study the word.

"Chew, chew, chew, your food, daily through the meal" but remember "Meditation is mental mastication." The word "gospel" begins with "GO". Go to church.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH Rev. J. D. Muir, Pastor.

SUNDAY SCHOOL, 9:30 A. M. Our school is carefully departmentalized. We have a class to meet the need of each member of your family. Bring the whole family and enjoy this opportunity for Christian fellowship and study.

MORNING WORSHIP, 10:45 A. M. In the second quarter of the Book of Acts we read these words, "Your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams." We admire the men of action, the people who do things. However, visions and dreams are back of the deeds. "The Blue Print of Deeds," will be the theme of the morning sermon.

EPWORTH LEAGUE, 6:30 P. M. We had a fine attendance of young people last Sunday evening. Let us keep up this fine attendance, and this splendid co-operation. EVENING WORSHIP, 7:30 P. M. Close the Sabbath Day by fellowship in worship with others of Christian mind and heart.

LENTEN STUDY GROUP, MONDAY, 7:30 P. M.—The second session of the class which is discussing "Personal Religious Living," as a Lenten project, will be held at the church on Monday evening. This week the discussion will be "How To Tell Right From Wrong." This is a vital problem to every person who tries to live the Christian life. Let us discover certain basic principles which may always serve as a guide.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN Donald W. Zimmerman, Minister.

Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Morning worship at 10:50 a. m. Sermon, the third of the Lenten series, Let's be Introspective will be "Into Our Sinful Life." The Young People's Forum will go to Greenup for the regular monthly Presbyterian Conference. We want all that possibly can go to attend this meeting. Cars will be needed. The usual pot-luck supper will be served. The meeting begins at 4:30 p. m. Your minister wishes to thank you all for the response to the Every Member Convass this week. If there are any who have not contributed and would like to do so you may talk to one of the church officers or the minister.

Let's not wait until Easter Sunday to go to church. Every Sunday is a day set aside for the worship of God and the spiritual recreation of man. The way you spend your Sabbath is an indication of the way you spend your life. Four Sundays remain in Lent. Attendance at each of these services would do you a surprising amount of good. Attend church somewhere during Lent.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH Rev. Francis Strobel, Pastor.

Preaching services on the second and fourth Sundays of each month. Sunday, March 12th.

9:45 a. m.—Bible school. Dale Holsappie, Supt. The Baptist Brotherhood will be in charge of the opening services of the school this Sunday.

10:45 a. m.—Morning worship. 6:30 p. m.—Senior BYPU service. 7:30 p. m.—Evening service.

Monday, March 13th. The regular morning service of the Baptist Christian Brotherhood will be held at the home of John Kracht at 7:30 p. m.

All men are invited to attend. The program will be in charge of Hammond Gaston and Theodore McDonald.

Wednesday, March 15th.

4:00 p. m.—Junior BYPU. 7:15 p. m.—Mid-week prayer services. Last week "Testifying for Christ" was the subject of discus-parties you find the Independents and Greeks sharing the jobs, on a fairly equal basis. In the Senior class elections this time, one party ran a fraternity man for president and an independent girl for vice-president; in the other party, an independent man ran for president, with a fraternity man for vice president on that ticket. And it so happens that the independent man won the presidency—if that has significance in this case. It's a new set-up that has grown up in just these past few years—it's taking a lot of adjustment, and some hard feelings, but for the most part things work out on a fair, friendly basis in all activities.

I'd like, before I leave you, to say this one thing more. The University of Illinois has received recently a great deal of unfavorable publicity. Most of it has been exaggerated, much of it is simply untrue. I hope that you're reading with intelligence and a fair mind—it is so easy to misrepresent an institution. Remember this—you cannot judge 13,000 students by the misdeeds of a few of their number. Don't get the idea that we are as a group represented by what they did; don't accuse us, because of that, of being immoral or "flaming youth." That's not true. We're just a normal group of young people who are here to train ourselves; of course we like fun, but we're no more vice addicts than any other group. So don't misjudge us.

And one other thing—I'm not trying to locate the blame for the conditions that exist in Champaign. But you can't throw slurs on the University because they do exist in that city. And above all, you can't blame the students—we, if any one, tried to do something about them last year. And again this time. A week ago today, about 7,000 students—half of our student body—packed into the gymnasium to express their sincere interest in doing away with those conditions, as they had expressed it last year. It was a serious group of young people; the speakers, all students, were also serious—intelligently concerned with the problem. We all recognize the slur that has been cast on the university. We all want to clear her name. We all know that she deserves our loyalty and respect, and we want to prove it. I have never heard the Loyalty song as it was sung that day! "We're loyal to you, Illinois!"—we are! And we're proud to be known as The Fighting Illini.

Patty

P. S. I'm at it again—really "airing" my opinions for you. I'll be broadcasting to Suzie on Friday afternoons as a part of the Radio Digest, which is broadcast from 1:30 to 2:00 over WILL, 580 kilocycles. Do tune in.

sion. Come this Wednesday evening and spend one hour in the house of the Lord.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

We need definite aims in life. In order for it to be said of you, "You an excellent marksman," you must be able to aim straight and hit that which you aim at.

The same is true whether we are firing a gun or spending our life, we must aim at that which we wish to hit. For it has been truly said, "He who aims at nothing is almost sure to hit it." The Lord said, "Set your affections on things above" he means for you to aim toward heaven, and if your careful you will hit it.

The trouble with so many, they aren't aiming high enough. Their aim is toward earthly things which perisheth. Therefore many will be accounted poor marksmen in the day of judgment and shall be turned away. The Church of Christ wishes to help you know the truth so you may better aim toward the future, toward Christ, and toward heaven.

Friday evening five, 5-minute talks are as follows: 1. "Institution of the Lord's Supper"—Johnie Fleener. 2. "Jesus in the Garden"—Allen Rose. 3. "Crucifixion of Jesus"—Don Shasteen. 4. "The things going on while Jesus was dead"—Willard Brown. 5. "Resurrection of Jesus"—Truman White.

Let us not forsake the assembling of ourselves together as the manner of some is. Lord's day services as usual.

But seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and his righteousness and all these things shall be added you. Take therefore no thought for the morrow; for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." Praise the Lord, you can't fool God. ## MANY HOUSEKEEPERS TAKING ADVANTAGE OF COOKING SCHOOL AT KROGERS.

The free cooking school and demonstration being conducted at Kroger's is attracting much attention from housekeepers, all of whom are sensing an unusual opportunity to acquire expert, practical information on cookery and the ways to cut fuel costs and at the same time retain the food value and the flavor of the various viands prepared for the benefit of the ladies of Sullivan and surrounding communities.

Arthur Bullock, manager of Kroger's is extending a cordial invitation to the housekeepers to visit the store and take advantage of the opportunity offered them in learning to cook the waterless way in the Majestic cookware.

Miss Beatrice Lane, food expert, is conducting these interesting and instructive demonstrations and one of the pleasing features of the school is its informality, for the daily demonstrations are given not in accordance to any set form, but in the manner more like a neighborly gathering. The equipment used is explained by Miss Lane and its particular value demonstrated, as are the latest ways of preparing delicacies for the home table. For Thursday Miss Lane will cook a ham, potatoes, beets, carrots and upside-down cake and biscuits for the benefit of the ladies present.

Besides saving the full natural flavors, juices, minerals and water soluble vitamins, the waterless cookware saves in fuel as cooking is done with low heat. As an economical feature of this aluminum ware, there is a minimum in shrinkage, juices are retained and last but not least, the housekeeper has a cooler and an odorless kitchen in which to perform her duties. The utensils cook with uniformly stores heat and keep food hot for serving.

Meals cooked in the waterless cook ware result in maximum food satisfaction at minimum cost.

GAYS CAPTURES GRADE INVITATIONAL TOURNAMENT HERE

Defeats Sullivan In Close Game Here Last Thursday Evening—Charleston T. C. Grades Third.

Gays Captures Grade School Invitational Tournament From Sullivan. Tournament Results: Hammond 1, Effingham 0. (forfeit). Gays 23, Macon 21. Charleston T. C. 16; Lovington 15. Sullivan 40, Windsor 15. Mason 1, Effingham 0. (forfeit). Gays 20, Hammond 15. Lovington 18, Windsor 15. Sullivan 31, Charleston T. C. 15. Macon 22, Lovington 20. (consolation.) Charleston T. C. 14, Hammond 11. (third place.) Gays 21, Sullivan 19. (championship.)

A fighting Gays grade school basketball team came back with a rush in the final quarter after trailing, 9-8, at the intermission, to hand Boyd Whitchurch's proteges a surprising 21 to 19 beating in the finals of the Thirteenth Annual Invitational Grade School Tournament here on Thursday night. Charleston T. C. grades copped third place laurels by dusting off Hammond 14-11. Macon captured consolation honors with a close 22 to 20 decision over Lovington.

In the championship game, Shafer and Fuller led the Gays forces with 10 and five points respectively. J. C. Moore, leading scorer in the tournament, was high for the losers with three baskets and two free throws. Gays outscored Sullivan from the field, nine baskets to seven.

Sullivan held a 9 to 8 half time lead. Gays evened the count at 14 near the end of the third period. In the final round the locals were really beaten in a great fourth period rally. In the closing seconds of play the Sullivan team passed up many good opportunities to tie the score—Marvin Kenney, Sullivan center blew two free throws in the final minute of play. As the game ended, Kenney missed a short shot from below.

Charleston T. C. Third. Charleston T. C. came back in form after a siege of illness had riddled the varsity rank. The Coles county boys played the entire tournament without the services of two of their star players who were left home with the influenza. Their only setback came at the hands of a rangy Sullivan team who outpowered them all the way.

Macon Takes Consolation. In the losers round, Macon came from behind in the final canto to squeeze out a 22 to 20 victory over Lovington. This was one of the most exciting games of the tournament. Both Macon and Sullivan will be represented at the state grade school heavyweight tournament at El Paso this week-end.

NEWS from the State Capitol

Illinois has already five restored historic structures of distinction in its system of Parks and Memorials—the General Grant Home in Galena, the Metamora Court House in Woodford county, the Mt. Pulaski Court House in Logan county, the Pierre Menard Homestead near Chester and the Abraham Lincoln Home in Springfield.

To this notable assembly, a sixth building is about to be added. The Illinois Division of Architecture and Engineering is receiving bids this week for the complete restoration of old Cahokia Court House. This historic building, now standing in Jackson park, Chicago, will be carefully dismantled, and its original black walnut logs and sassafras pannels will be reassembled on the structure's original site in Cahokia, four miles south of East St. Louis.

The early village of Cahokia, first permanent white settlement of importance in Illinois, was once county seat for the greater portion of that area, with the old Court House as the seat of government.

Pointing to Illinois as an area safe from any possible foreign air attack, Louis A. Johnson, Assistant Secretary of War, says: "Illinois consequently would be a good state for airplane builders." He disclosed that aircraft companies now located along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts are being asked by the War Department to move to sites nearer the heart of the nation. Illinois now contains 100 plants that have been selected by the War Department as munitions producers should war break out.

The first decreases in both payrolls and employment recorded in Illinois since July are shown in the January reports made by 6838 establishments to the State Department of Labor. Employment dropped four per cent, while payrolls were down 3.8 per cent. Seasonal slackening in manufacturing and after-Christmas layoffs in retail stores are said to account for most of the decline. As of January 15, the average weekly earnings shown in the reports were $28.66 for men and $15.89 for women.

The State Civil Service tests to be held March 15 to 18 are expected to attract approximately 5000 applicants, making the examination one of the largest ever conducted by the Civil Service Commission. Fifty-one different classifications are included. Each applicant will be notified by card where and when to report for the tests which will be conducted in Chicago, Springfield, Champaign-Urbana, Peoria, Quincy and East St. Louis.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS ANNOUNCED. The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open competitive examinations for the positions listed below. Two closing dates are given for the receipt of applications. The first date, (a) applies if applications are received from States east of Colorado; the second date (b) applies if applications are received from Colorado and States westward. A junior multigraph operator, $1,440 a year. Applicants must have reached their 18th but must not have passed their 53rd birthday. Closing dates—(a) March 27; (b) March 30, 1939. Chief of occupational information and guidance service, $5,600; specialist, occupational information, $4,600; specialist, consultation and field service, $4,600; specialist in occupations for girls and women, $3,800 a year. Office of Education, Department of Interior. Applicants must not have passed their 53rd birthday. Closing dates—(a) April 3; (b) April 6, 1939. BILL HAPAC ELECTED CAPTAIN OF ILLINI FOR NEXT SEASON

Bill Hapac, regular forward on the Illinois basketball team since his first game as a sophomore was elected captain for next season. He has just completed the best two-year modern scoring record in Illinois history. He has made 338 points, including 223 in conference games.

Though Pick Dehner set a modern Illinois record of 490 points in all Illinois games over a three-year period and 311 in Big Ten contests, Hapac's two-year totals give him a chance to break Dehner's marks next season.

The 6 foot 2 inch, 190 pound junior scored 191 points this year, 118 in conference games, which, added to his 147 points, 105 in Big Ten games, last season, leaves him 152 points shy of Dehner's all-game total and 88 points below Pick's Big Ten record.

Coach Doug Mills is counting on Hapac to take Dehner's place as the team's leading scorer. Though coaches tried to effect a defense against Hapac's accurate one-hand push shot, his scoring remained consistently high. He made 17 points against Chicago and Wisconsin and 13 against Northwestern, Minnesota and Purdue.

"My biggest thrill was in the Michigan game here last year when we won in an overtime, 36 to 32," Bill recalls. "We went into the last two and a half minutes trailing 30 to 22, and tied it up." Hapac scored three goals in those last minutes and had a total of 15 for the night.

Hapac started compiling big point totals as a junior on the lightweight team at Morton high school, Cicero, where he was coached by Norman Ziebell, Illinois graduate. The next year he captained the regulars to a suburban league championship, set a league scoring record, and was named to the second all-state team.

Besides winning two basketball letters he won three in baseball, coached by George Fencil, former Illinois athlete. He played on the Berwyn post American Legion state championship team in 1934.

An honor student in high school, Bill graduated at 17. He worked a year before enrolling at Illinois in September, 1936. Though he is working his way, he ranked in the upper three percent of his class scholastically last year, and is a member of Delta Theta Epsilon, honorary physical education fraternity for which scholarship is one of the requisites.

Hapac expects to renew his bid for a regular outfield berth on the baseball team which he was forced to give up last year when he was injured in an early game. He also plays intramural water polo, bowled a 590 series to help his fraternity, Sigma Chi, win the championship, and has participated in campus politics.

These activities won him membership in Schemm, honor fraternity for juniors, and before that in Tomahawk, corresponding sophomore organization. He plans to coach after graduation. He was born in Chicago, Jan. 26, 1918, the family later moving to Cicero, where his father owns a store. A younger brother, member of Morton's quintet which won the suburban league championship this year, hopes to follow Bill at Illinois.

VALUE OF REST IN TUBERCULOSIS PREVENTION. Pointing out that rest is one of the most important factors in the prevention of tuberculosis, the Illinois Tuberculosis Association has issued a statement stressing the value of relaxation in the maintenance of good health.

The statement explained that fatigue is caused by the accumulation of waste products from the process of food being broken down into heat and energy, together with the running down of certain brain centers and wearing out of parts. Sleep allows the restorative mechanisms of the body to repair the worn out parts. So important is this building up process that animals can live longer without food than without sleep. The human body is far more resistant to disease if it gets plenty of sleep.

Sleep is not the only form of rest, the association points out. Recreation and relaxation of mind and nerves are important in the maintenance of health. The speed and drive of modern life make proper relaxation difficult, but the individual who appreciates health will take time out to "rest the nerves". For the person who does not have tuberculosis, mild exercise or sports frequently contribute greatly to physical rest.

"One should be sufficiently intelligent to recognize tension. When you get all stirred up and irritate your friends, when your voice hits a high pitch and you cannot sleep, the danger signs of mental and physical crack-up are at hand. The whole system gets out of tune, making the attack of any disease germ an easy task," the statement said. "Change is indicated. Get a hobby. Do something that will take your mind off your troubles. If that does not do the trick, see your doctor. It may be more than fatigue that is causing your trouble."

THE AMERICAN PASSION PLAY—SIXTEENTH ANNUAL SEASON AT BLOOMINGTON.

Much interest is being manifested in the 1939 season of the American Passion Play, which for the past fifteen years has been presented during the Easter-tide at Bloomington, Ill.

Last year Mr. Harold D. Walters succeeded Mr. Fred A. Hitch who found it necessary to retire from the cast because of the pressure of personal business. The impression made by Mr. Walters was profound and far-reaching. Mr. Walters, who is a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, is a man who stands six feet two inches tall, who has a magnificent voice easily heard in any part of the auditorium, and who radiates majesty and sublimity in every scene in which he appears.

Mr. Walters again appears in the role of Jesus of Nazareth this year, and will be supported by an unusually large and talented cast. Much interest attends the 1939 presentation of the American Passion Play because on Sunday, May 14, a DeLuxe Performance will be given commencing at nine-thirty a. m., and continuing through until twelve o'clock noon, and from two o'clock p. m. until five p. m.

Two hours will be taken during the noon hour for the serving of luncheon in the dining room of the Scottish Rite Temple, and those attending this DeLuxe Performance will be given an opportunity to meet the cast; to visit the stage and dressing rooms, and to learn more about the mechanics and technical work connected with the presentation of the Play. This all-day performance is an experiment because for the first time in America so far as is known, a play of this type devotes an entire day to its presentation. The outcome will be watched with much interest and may have a direct influence on future presentations of the Play.

The American Passion Play will open its sixteenth annual season on Sunday, April 16, and will continue through until May 29—presentations being given on each Sunday afternoon with one Saturday performance, May 13.

No performance will be given on either Palm Sunday or Easter Sunday because most people prefer to attend their own Church Services on those days.

Every man, woman and child should see the American Passion Play. The impression made is a lasting one, and will have a direct influence upon the future life of those who witness it.

Many large groups of people, journey not only from Illinois, but adjoining states to witness this usual and magnificent production of the life and works of Jesus of Nazareth. For full particulars regarding the Play, address: The American Passion Play, Bloomington, Illinois.

L. O. PRESSEY PROMOTED TO SCOUT COMMISSIONER AT NEW LONDON, CONN.

In a recent letter received from L. O. Pressey formerly of this vicinity, and now with the U. S. Coast Guard Institute at New London, Conn., we were pleased to learn of his great interest in scouting, with which he has been connected for eight years, holding various offices. Last year he had the pleasure and honor of being elected Scout Commissioner for the Morgan district in which territory there are more than a thousand boys in Sea Scouting, Scout Troops, and Cub Packs. At present he is conducting a course of training for Sea Scout leaders which is being attended by about sixty men, who in turn will go out and organize ships in the council. In preparation for this course, Mr. Pressey was sent to the Schiff Reservation at Mendham, N. J., for a training course conducted by the National Committee. He also goes out giving lectures on the coast guard to organizations desiring information, and says the farthest he has been sent was to the Sea Scout Ship at Scranton, Penn., where he gave a 45 minute lecture. In speaking of Connecticut, Mr. Pressey says that the Connecticut river valley is one of the richest garden spots in the United States, and that more is raised on one acre there than in any other part of the country, according to statistics.

Miles Away... —but only minutes from home by telephone! Many men who travel arrange to call home at a certain hour every day or so. It's reassuring to loved ones to hear Dad's voice, and have his help on any problems that may arise. Reassuring to him to know that they are well and happy. Next time you travel, banish worry and loneliness... by telephone. If you wish, you can have the charges "reversed," so they will appear on your home telephone bill. ## S. T. H. S. Gossip

By Check and Double Check

Last Friday afternoon we had the last of our scheduled assembly programs for the year. We certainly hated to hear this because we enjoy these programs so very, very much. It's really a shame they must come to an end. They have certainly been outstanding this year, and they were truly appreciated. Friday a man spoke on the subject of "Astronomy." He really knew his subject and was very sincere about it. It was all very interesting, though in many places rather vague to us. Perhaps this man inspired some of us to study further in the subject. It sounded fascinating.

Last Thursday and Friday we had two excellent pep meetings. Several things came to an end last week, it seems. These pep meetings were the last for this year. On Friday several people were called upon to speak. It seemed as though most of them especially the boys, couldn't think of anything to say for that superb team of ours. We were surprised to learn some of them were so bashful, but you just never can tell. However, there were three students who showed they were behind the team one hundred per cent. They were Jeannette Bass, Catherine Nichols, and John George. Speeches were also made by Mr. Kilby and Mr. Dennis. On Thursday, the band gave the team loyal support as it has all year. Then Mr. Cooper gave a very fine pep talk. Both meetings were swell and we are very sorry they were the last for a year. Ruth Bolin, our faithful cheer leader lead her last cheers. Her career of cheer leader is ended in high school. We'll miss you, Ruth. You've been a grand cheer leader and a marvelous sport. Good luck to you.

Of course, there were games after these pep meetings. On Thursday night we followed our team to Mattoon to see them defeat Lerna in the regional tournament. The score in our favor was 37 to 22. We came happily home to wait until Friday night. Travelling back on Friday night, we found we were up against a little stronger competition. Mattoon was our opponent, and its team could not be held back so easily. Our boys played a swell game, but at the end of the game the odds were against us. The score was 41 to 31, and we realized our team had played its last game for the year. We also realize we had the best team we ever had. Boys, we just can't find words to tell you just how much we think of your team work, your fine and clean playing, your wonderful sportsmanship and your loyalty. You are tops with everyone of us. We certainly hate to think about the seniors leaving. The seniors were certainly the shining stars this year. Some of the outstanding players among the seniors who now enter our minds were Jean Hollonbeck, Dwight Strohl, Harold England, Jack Sona, Oscar Holzmueller, Russell Sims, and Roy Bolin.

On Tuesday night the Chamber of Commerce sponsored the Victory banquet honoring our Okaw Valley basketball champions. There were about 213 present which really made a crowd in the gym. The delicious dinner was served by the Methodist women. Bob Elson was to have been the speaker but he was unable to attend, due to illness. (The "flu bug" must have caught up with him too.) However, there was a very interesting speaker of whom you've all heard. He was "Red" Grange, the former University of Illinois famous football hero. The banquet was a real success beyond a doubt.

Our apologies go to John Heckler. We overlooked him when we were speaking of the seniors who were leaving. Though he was not a player, he most certainly was an important person. He was property manager for four years. Incidentally, Mr. Dennis believes he was the best property manager he ever had. That's a real tribute!

Remember the contest we told you Mr. Cooper and the basketball boys were having? Well, Mr. Cooper says the boys won just as he had feared all along. Nice going boys. Mr. Cooper must now give them a banquet. He says he would like to have it tonight (Friday). You decide, Mr. Cooper, and we haven't any doubt but what the boys will agree to it.

Mr. Cooper says he wants to get away from it all. It's been just a little too much. If nothing out of the ordinary happens this week end he is going to take a trip. Do you know where? He is going to Hannibal, Mo. Now don't tell us you don't see anything significant about that place. That would never do because you must know. Think hard. Did you ever hear of Mark Twain? Now, you remember that his home was in Hannibal, Mo., We know, maybe he'll see where Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer stayed. We just said, "maybe," you know. Enjoy yourself Mr. Cooper and tell us about it when you get back.

The inevitable has happened. We just have no control over such a thing. Every six weeks it's the same old story. The folks are used to all those exercises, too, so it certainly is bad in some cases. No doubt you've guessed by now what we're talking about. This week we received those cards which tell just what the teachers think our ability is. No one pays any attention to that old cry about the teacher being unfair either so you'd just as well not start that. Of course, there are some lucky people who are happy as larks when the report cards come out. Those are the ones whose names grace the honor roll. We'll give you that list next week.

Tonight is the night! It really is this time. Of course, you haven't forgotten what is going on tonight because you marked it on your calendar, we're sure. Just in case some of you might have forgotten, we'll gladly tell you again. Tonight, March 10, is when that long-delayed much-talked about operetta is to be presented. There's no doubt that "Chonita" will be a great success. After so very much hard work that the cast, chorus, and Mr. Kuhn have put forth, it couldn't be anything less than a great success. Speaking of hard work brings Mr. Cooper to our minds. Oh yes, he worked hard on this too. He gave his able assistance with the scenery. It's really very nice too. It's a beautiful—well, we won't tell you. You'll just have to come to see for yourself.

While we have your thoughts on a musical line, we'll tell you all about the solo contest at Arthur tomorrow (Saturday). This contest is a very important one as the soloists who place first in this advance to the state. We're expecting to see quite a number go to the state this year. There has been some very earnest practice by these people especially during the last week. The music department has really been a place of excitement and work this week. To all of the people attending we wish the very best of luck. Here are the participants and their selections:

- Baritone, "Beautiful Colorado", by Lucas
- John George Clarinet, "First Concertino" by Sullhand
- Joyce Yarnell Cornet, "Southern Cross" by Clarke
- Carl Barclay Bassoon, "Menuetta", by Mozart

Correction! It seems the junior class isn't nearly as well off as it had supposed. Though it was reported that almost thirty dollars was made on the show we have learned that it lacked about nine dollars. The total sum was $21.25. Seniors, you better not look forward too much to that banquet because the junior class will have to cut down on expenses. For some reason though we think we'll go right ahead looking very eagerly toward May 12.

Speaking of the junior class naturally brings to mind the junior play at this time. Practice has really begun in earnest too. The first night rehearsal was on Monday night. There is a little conflict between operetta practice and play practice, but evidently it can't last long. Do any of you have a tame or trained pig? That's what we meant. You see, Miss Montgomery says she is hunting a live pig for the play. It really does sound interesting now, doesn't it?

Did you know there has been an improvement made in the Home Ec department? There is a nice, new, built in ironing board. The girls are making real use of it too, we notice. It's quite different and really very handy. If you haven't seen it, you should go down and take a peek.

What did some of the teachers do over the week end? We got a few reports. Miss Carroll says she went home where she found her mother was ill. We wish her a speedy recovery. Miss Pierson and Miss Body were in Champaign. Miss Body says she did nothing in particular but we wonder if she could be kidding us. Miss Montgomery spent Saturday and Sunday with her mother in the hospital. We wish her mother a speedy recovery too! Miss Montgomery also paid a visit to Max Murray, one of our fellow-students in the hospital. She says he is getting along nicely. She also said he was enjoying the cards he received very much. Hurry and get well Max. You can't keep a good guy down you know. Miss Montgomery considers this real news. She has her first knitting project which was a skirt, completed. She worked on it five weeks and two days and is she proud!

Rapidly we want to return to the subject of basketball. Class tournaments were being played this week. The seniors defeated the sophomores, and the juniors defeated the freshmen. As to the final results we cannot say. We'll let you know next week without fail.

NEWSETTES Did you know there are some junior boys who can't yet stand up? Falling in front of the assembly really draws attention too. The floor will catch you everytime, R. D. Did you notice how one of our senior basketball players blushed last Thursday when Bethany was mentioned in a pep talk? We wonder why. It seems one of our faculty has shopped for her Easter bonnet early.

Congressional Trends

BY RALPH YOUNG
Supplied through courtesy of Congressman William H. Wheat 19th District, Illinois

The most important subject in congress today is that of national defense. The whole nation has been deeply stirred over recent war activities abroad and the sudden realization that our defense facilities are sadly lacking in many vital requirements. America is too valuable a prize to be left unguarded from covetous hands and while it is obvious the defense plans now outlined are going to cost us a pretty penny, most of the legislators are thoroughly convinced such expenditures are not only advisable but inescapable. The country in general has come to see that it is in danger of aggression and aside from certain small groups of peace-at-any-price advocates, the present rearmament program seems to have the good-will and support of the vast majority of citizens and tax-payers.

ECONOMY IS WATCHWARD.
Most of the congressmen that went into office last fall got there on an economy-in-government platform. Many of the Senators that did not come up for reelection have apparently seen the hand-writing on the wall and have likewise found it advisable to preach economy in government operation. As near as anyone can determine this economy move seems genuine. It is not a single major expenditure included in the budget estimate has come through the legislative process unscathed; all have been reduced. The largest in this category was the government operations budget, which was reduced more than $2,600,000 by the House appropriations committee.

Continued action along those lines will meet the general approval of the electorate, although no real objection is apt to be made to any extraordinary cash outlays occasioned by genuine and not political emergencies.

ONE OR TWO NEW JUDGES.
The resignation of associate supreme court judge Brandeis leaves another vacancy to be filled by a jurist familiar with the geographical problems of the middle and far west. Many have been suggested to the President, but so far he has not indicated who he favors for the $20,000 a year, lifetime job. Dean Rutledge of Iowa would make a good man for the place. So would Stephens of Utah. A dozen others could fill the vacancy admirably. But this is a political plum and in all probability that will be the main consideration of the President in making the appointment. While it is far too much to expect, the fact remains that should PDR seriously desire to heal the open sore that has developed in the 76th congress over high-salaried appointive positions, no better way could be devised than by the naming of a Republican from the west to the supreme court bench. That would still give him another appointment to make sooner or later, for it is reliably reported that McReynolds intends to resign in the near future. But what he'll probably do is to disregard all these possibilities. He may even give the appointment to a woman, Frances Allen of Ohio.

AGRICULTURAL CHEMISTRY.
Dr. William J. Hale of the Dow Chemical Co. held an audience of approximately 100 Republican members spell-bound for two hours one night last week, while he explained to them how chemistry could solve the surplus crop problem in this country. Of all the plans suggested for the salvation of agriculture, the chemical approach rings the truest. According to those that really understand what is taking place, the days of restricted crop production, acreage allotments, widespread unemployment, deficit budgets, and a multitude of other evils now besetting this nation are on their way out. The expelling medium is agricultural chemistry. A new agricultural frontier is opening before our very eyes and in all probability five years from now we will be able to look back and marvel how we ever permitted ourselves to get in a state of mind where we tried to bring prosperity to the country by cutting down our productive efforts.

Sullivan Grade School News

Student Reporters—Velma Stone and Hugo Zimmer, Jr.

FIRST GRADE.
Anna McCarthy, Teacher.
Miss McCarthy reports that she had had good attendance until Tuesday. She had twelve of her twenty-two pupils absent. She is giving her other pupils review work until the absentees get back. She is hoping they will soon be back.

THIRD GRADE.
Irma Schlobohm—Teacher.
Our Flag.
(Jimmie Hilliard.)
Before this country had a flag George Washington wanted to have a flag of his own. There was a woman that lived in Philadelphia who was very handy with her needle so George went to her to see if she would make the flag. When he got there he showed her his plan of the flag and she said she would do it. Soon after that George went back and she had the flag done and he liked it better than his plan.

The red stood for the blood that was shed. White stood for purity. Blue stood for truth and loyalty. There were seven red stripes and six white. To start with there were only thirteen stars in a circle. They kept adding stars till there were forty-eight as each new state was added.

On Flag day we fly the flag. On Washington's birthday we like to fly the flag.

When the Fourth of July comes we like to fly the flag. Do not let the flag get wet. Do not use it for a dust rag.

EIGHTH GRADE.
Are we proud? Our boys won second in the Invitational Tournament held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in the Lowe school gym. We're just as proud as if they had won first. They played a good game and we're sure they did their best.

Are you in the Operetta? A paper was posted on the Bulletin Board in the assembly Friday. Everybody seemed to be interested. No wonder! It told who got parts in the operetta. We're sorry, seventh grade. We hope you'll get your chance next year.

We're certainly tired of tests! That's about all we've had this week. Miss Woodruff is going pretty easy on us this time because of the absentees.

REV. J. D. MUIR SPEAKER FOR W. C. T. U. MEETING.
The W. C. T. U. will meet Tuesday, March 14, at 2 p. m., with Miss Dora Meade. The subject will be "Scientific Temperance in the Homes and Schools." Rev. J. D. Muir will be the speaker. Miss Ruth Tabor will give a vocal solo and Mrs. Flora Watson will be in charge of devotions.
