FONROSE BATHE, SULLIVAN BOY IN FATAL ACCIDENT

Fonrose Bathe, thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Logan Bathe of Sullivan met a tragic death Saturday afternoon when a shell in a shot gun exploded as he held the gun in his hand with the barrel toward him. The full charge of the shot struck him in the chest causing almost instant death.

The Bathe boy, with Ray Abbott, was playing on the ruins of an old shed south of the Coal Shaft Bridge. The gun was leaning against the side of the shed, and the accident occurred as the boy reached down, took hold of the gun and started to draw it up to him. The trigger caught on a projection and caused the shell to explode.

Fonrose was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Bathe. Besides his parents he leaves one brother, Berthol, one sister, Matilda, and his Grandmother Bathe of Sullivan, and his Grandfather Plummer of Terre Haute, and a host of other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held at the family residence on Eden street, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock conducted by Rev. W. B. Hopper. Burial was in Greenhill cemetery.

The flower girls were Dorothy Blackwell, Esther Loy, Donabelle Pifer, Helen Schoonover, Marjorie Newbould, Colleen Conard, and Olive Taylor. Pall bearers were Ellis Sutton, Donald Pearson, Eddie Coventry, Burnell Moore, Covert Finley and James Horn.

A. M. RHODES DIED WEDNESDAY

A. M. Rhodes, well known aged farmer living west of Sullivan, died Wednesday at the age of 83 years. He was the father of Tobias and Mayhew Rhodes of Sullivan. In his long life in this community, Mr. Rhodes had been comfortably successful. He had been in poor health for some time, but only during the past two weeks had his condition been considered serious. He is also survived by his widow, and two other sons, Arthur of Omaha, and Will of New Haven, Ind., five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at Oak Grove (Dunn) cemetery this morning at 10:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. B. Hopper, assisted by Levi Coyle of Findlay. Interment will be in Oak Grove cemetery. Casket bearers will be W. J. Myers, H. M. Myers, L. J. Myers, Harve Rhodes, Henry Rhodes and Virgil Rhodes.

BETHANY MAN DIES

D. W. Crowder of Bethany died Friday afternoon after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Crowder leaves his wife, one son Ray of Bethany, two daughters, Mrs. Leah Ward of Decatur and Miss Sadie Crowder of St. Louis. He also leaves two brothers, W. A. B. Crowder of Bethany and T. W. Crowder also of Bethany, and two sisters, Mrs. George McLaughlin of Bethany, and Mrs. R. B. Wheeler of Kirksville.

The funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

"HOKUS POKUS" A DECIDED HIT

Jack Pearson, the King in the cast of "Hokus Pokus" presented Monday and Tuesday evenings by the Loyal Daughters, has been receiving compliments this week upon the manner in which he took the leading role in the production. The talent displayed by other members of the cast was also remarkable, but only served to make the King's triumph more pronounced.

The "Hokus Pokus" entertainment was a 100 percent success in point of pleasing its audiences, although from a financial standpoint it was hindered by too many other competitive attractions.

Sullivan seems rich in talent for such entertainments and the Loyal Daughters have a well developed faculty for finding the proper talent for the various parts of the entertainments they give.

The cast in "Hokus Pokus" was as follows:

King Hokus of all Hokus Pokus—Jack H. Pearson.

Princess Helen, his eldest daughter—Miss Helen Chase.

Mattus, the royal chauffeur—Riley Mitchell.

Baron Wilder of the Wilds—Ed. C. Brandenburger.

Ferdie Wilder, the Baron's pride and joy—Pearl Harsh.

Princess Nora, the youngest daughter of the King—Mrs. Grace Clark.

Sally, of the pots and pans—Mrs. Blanche Foster.

Madame Andre of the Royal Household, Mrs. Jessie Newbould.

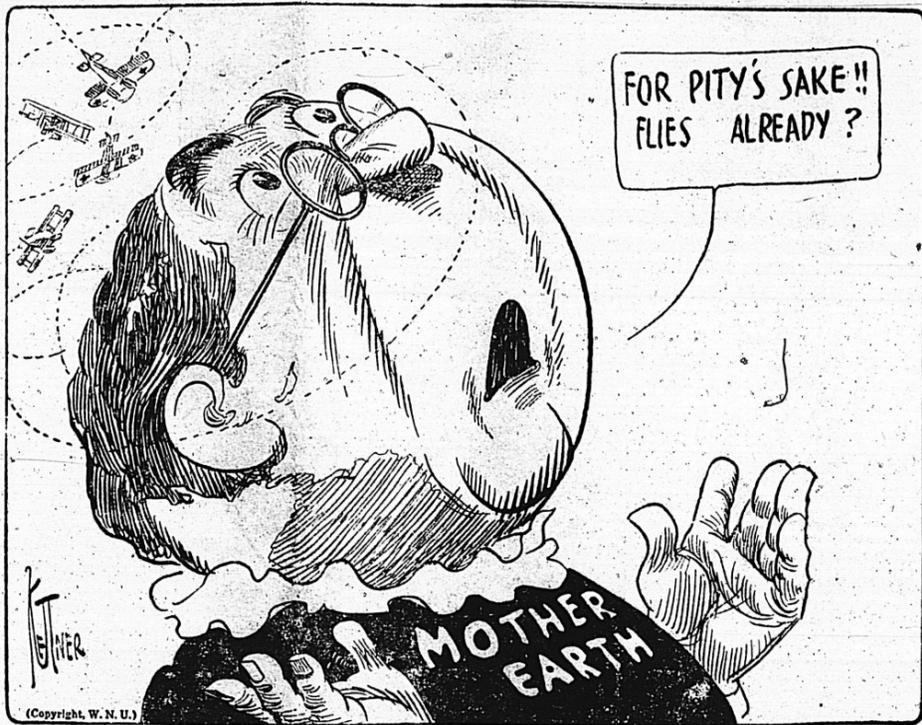

A royal page—Miss Ruth Chase.

Prince Bozo of all Bozonia—Geo. A. Roney.

Members of Girl's chorus—Blanch Newbould, Claudia Ledbetter, Bernice Lawson, Elenor Haley, Marjorie Bupp, Meda Harris, Vivian Harsh, Clara Robinson, Freda Edmiston, Valeria Hodge, Jennie Margaret Cummins, Ruth Pifer, Margaret Harrington, Olive McCusker and Lorene Behen.

The World Fliers

STUDENTS ON STRIKE

Three-fourths of the students of Millikin university are out on a strike as a protest against the dismissal of two of the most popular instructors by the board of business managers which board it is said is acting in compliance with the wishes of the trustees of the Millikin estate. This is a fine regime to be in control of an educational institution.

As a cure for the "lack of liberty" in the educational enterprises of Decatur we would suggest that all such matters, including the movie business, and the affairs of Millikin university, be put in charge of the police department and that the police be put under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce and the trustees of the Millikin estate.

We suggest to the trustees of the Millikin estate that they put a high fence around the university and call it a "goose farm." As a preliminary step they might employ Mr. Fiske of Piatt county as instructor in sociology.

WILL PLANT SUNFLOWERS

A number of farmers of Whitley and East Nelson held a sunflower meeting at the home of Frank Messmore last week in regard to the raising of sunflowers. Among those present were J. E. Crowder of Sullivan, John Black, Arthur Hollenbeck, George Purvis, N. King, W. W. Graven, Edd Daniels, Joe King, Andy Waggoner, Frank Doughty, W. N. Burnett, Thomas King, William Abrams, Pearl Abrams and Frank Messmore. It is likely that several acres will be planted.

GAYS MOTHER'S DAY PROGRAM

Mother's Day will be observed at Gays Methodist church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The program: Piano Solo—Ruth Alexander. Song—Congregation. Scripture Reading—Elda Libotte. Prayer—Mrs. Stevens. Vocal Duet—Elda Libotte and Helen Kern. Reading—Lorene Smit. Song—Olive B. Winings. Tribute to Mother—Mrs. Irene Switz. Offering—Elda Libotte and Mae Shadow. Vocal Solo—Pearl Glasscock. Song—Congregation. Sermon—Rev. W. H. Stevens. Song—Congregation. Benediction—Mrs. Laura Kern.

MATTOX FARM SOLD

John N. Mattox has sold his 85 acre farm located southeast of Sullivan to Fred D. Sona of Sullivan, the consideration being $140 an acre.

ROY BOND IN TRADE

Roy Bond has traded an eighty acre farm located in Putnam county, Ind., to an Effingham man for a residence property in Petersburg.

NILES CASE HELD FOR FEW DAYS

The Odd Niles case was postponed until today when Judge Sentel was informed Tuesday that W. R. Huff, retained as counsel for Niles was ill and could not continue with the case at that time. The jury which had been selected for the trial will hear the case, through agreement of attorneys, the jurors having been dismissed during the period of postponement.

FARM BUREAU WORK FOR MONTH OF APRIL

During April the Farm Adviser spent eleven days in the office and fifteen days in the field.

Dr. Taylor, the county veterinarian, tested 929 head of cattle during April and found 28 reactors, making 3 percent tubercular. He can test 100 head a day, providing the cattle are not scattered too far apart over the county. The day the doctor is scheduled to arrive at your place all cattle including calves should be tied up or arrangements made to catch them quickly. The days work are laid out by school districts, and a chairman is appointed by the Farm Bureau to take charge of the work in each district. This chairman secures the names of persons wishing to test and lays out the route for the day for Dr. Taylor.

The Bethany Livestock Shipping Association borrowed $200.00 from the Scott State Bank to pay the loss to the shippers on the ten hogs that were suffocated to death in the car two weeks ago. The Produce Commission firm at Indianapolis feel that they can collect this loss from the railroad. L. T. Anderson, manager of the Lovington Shipping Association, says the station agent there orders section men to clean the cars if an objection is made.

The Lovington Shipping Association met on April 30th and organized after the annual meeting. The following officers were elected: President, T. F. Porter; vice-pres., George Wacaser; secretary and treasurer, Hal Atchison, and two more directors, O. O. Dawson and B. F. Humphreys. L. T. Anderson was chosen manager, as he has been rendering splendid service in is responsible for much of the rapid growth of the association.

The Board voted to incorporate and with the assistance of the Farm Adviser the necessary steps were taken. This gives the association legal standing and limited ability. The board voted to borrow enough money to buy a pair of scales and deduct a small amount from each load weighed to pay for the same.

Mr. F. H. Kelley, Field man for the Indianapolis Producing Association, and the Farm Adviser spent April 9, 10, and 11th visiting the Directors and Managers of the Livestock Shipping Associations in the county.

The Sullivan gun club will hold a big shoot in Sullivan on Thursday, May 22.

SENTEL HEARD ARGUMENT ON CLINTON INJUNCTION

Circuit Judge George A. Sentel heard arguments in Sullivan Wednesday afternoon on a petition for injunction which was made in DeWitt county to halt work on a state aid road which had been routed through an estate over the objection of the trustee of the estate. The road building program in DeWitt county has been held up since last year because of this difficulty. After hearing arguments, Judge Sentel took the matter under advisement until next Tuesday when he will give his ruling in Clinton. It was believed, though, that a settlement of the trouble might be made between the parties before Tuesday.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY MAY 16

The senior class of the Sullivan township high school will present their class play, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," Friday night, May 16, at the Jefferson theater. The play is under the direction of Principal R. G. Brown and the characters selected for the play have been at rehearsals the last two weeks. The senior class of 1924 is the largest ever to graduate from the Sullivan township high school, there being sixty-seven members of the class this year. There are forty-three girls and twenty-four boys who will receive their diploma.

The cast of characters selected for the Senior play is as follows: Jack Temple—Harry Hill. Frank Fuller—Everett Worsham. Captain Sharp—Walter Lane. Wigson—James Sullivan. John Brown—Cecil Creath. Mrs. Jack Temple—Caroline Jennings. Dorothy—Gladys Young. Mrs. Frank Fuller—Genevieve Matz. Mrs. John Brown—Phyllis Harshman.

BAKERY SOLD

The Finley bakery which was closed last week by foreclosure of a chattel mortgage held by the P. H. Sproat Co., a Baker's Supply house in Decatur, was sold Monday afternoon to satisfy the mortgage. Mr. Sproat of Decatur bought the property in, the amount being about $450. Mr. Sproat has not decided as to what he will do but will probably place a man here until he is able to dispose of his bakery.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday school at 9:30. Rev. J. W. Merrill, district superintendent of Champaign will preach at 7:30 p. m. There will be no morning service.

—For Sale or Lease—To responsible party, a Missouri-bred registered, black Jack, white points, good size and disposition.—J. W. Hull, veterinarian, 914, East Jackson st., Sullivan.

SULLIVAN AN EASY VICTOR IN MEET HELD SATURDAY

Sullivan High school easily walked off with first honors in the Invitational County meet held last Saturday in Sullivan. Each school was represented by a full team with the exception of Arthur who sent only two men. These men showed up well, however, grabbing off one first and one second.

Lovington was Sullivan's closest competitor ranking second with a total of 26 points. Sullivan was superior in both the track and field events making eight firsts in the twelve events and taking more than her share of seconds.

Much interest was shown in the meet which probably assures that it will become a regular annual event. Each team was backed by a bunch of clean, enthusiastic rooters and the best of spirit was evident.

The summaries follow:

100-yard dash—Shultz, Sullivan, first; Evans, Lovington, second; Lee, Lovington, third. Time: 11 seconds.

50-yard dash—Evans, Lovington, first; Shultz, Sullivan, second; York, Bethany, third. Time: 6 seconds.

220-yard dash—Lee, Lovington, first; Bradley, Sullivan, second; Wright, Sullivan, third. Time 24 2-5 seconds.

440-yard—Bradley, Sullivan first; Phillip, Arthur, second; Foster, Lovington third. Time 54 3-5 seconds.

880-yard—Phillip, Arthur, first; Pearcey, Lovington, second; Ballinger Sullivan, third. Time 2 minutes, 19 seconds.

Mile run—Bolin, Sullivan first; Grigsby, Sullivan, second; Wheeler, Bethany third. Time: 5 minutes, 20 1-5 seconds.

Pole Vault—Pearcy, Lovington, first; Baker, Sullivan, second; Lowe Sullivan, third. Height 8 ft. 10 in.

High Jump—McMahon, Sullivan, first; Cole of Bethany and Walton of Bethany tied for second. Height 5 feet 2 inches.

Broad Jump—Bradley, Sullivan, first; Powell, Sullivan, second; Ing, Bethany, third. Distance 19 ft.

Shot Put—Powell, Sullivan, first; Sona, Sullivan, second; Walters, Bethany, third. Distance 35 ft. 10 inches.

Discus—Powell, Sullivan, first; Blockford, Lovington, second; Sona Sullivan third. Distance 103 ft. 5 inches.

Javelin Throw—Kull, Sullivan, first; Shultz, Sullivan, second; Gerard, third. Distance 129 ft. 1 inch.

Officials Starter—McClave, Decatur; timer—Pecknell, Decatur; scorer, Young, Sullivan; clerk, Arthur, Sullivan; judges—Walker, Johnson; McAllister, Lovington and Ziese, Bethany.

ALBERT WALKER RETAINED

At a meeting of the Arthur Township high school board held Tuesday night, Albert Walker was retained as principal for another year. This makes Mr. Walker's tenth year in the Arthur schools and seven years as head of the township high school. Mr. Walker is an exceptionally fine school man and the board and district are to be congratulated on being able to retain his services. His long term of years in our schools bespeaks volumes for his educational and administrative ability.—Arthur Graphic.

YOU NEVER KNOW

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

A LONG the journey here and there
You often find a flow'r,
Just anytime or anywhere,
No special place or hour,
They aren't planted in a row;
You never guess, you never know;
Around a bend a fellow goes,
And right ahead he sees a rose.

You never know: Within a ditch
A lily may unfold,
Or cowslips make a meadow rich
With all their yellow gold.
The road is rough, but oftentimes
Around a rock an ivy climbs,
And many a weary eye has met
Beside a stone, a violet.

God sows His blessings like His seeds,
No special hour or place;
The moment of our saddest needs
We often see His face.
In hours of joy and hours of care,
Just any time and anywhere,
His fairest flow'rs He seems to sow
Along life's road—you never know.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

YOUTH

UPON the erect shoulders of the boys and the girls of the present must later fall the mantle of responsibility worn now by their parents.

The old folk have long played the leading role. They are gradually being incapacitated by the burden of years, weighing heavier upon them as the clock ticks off the weeks and months.

In a little while father and mother will give way to the younger generation, sit passively in their easy chairs and dream of the days that have gone, as did those who blazed the way before them.

The sun shines as brightly as it did a generation ago; the larks sing as blithely; the flowers bloom as gayly and Dan Cupid is just as alluring with his chuckling laughter and seductive love.

And certainly the seasons come and go with their punctilious regularity, but each day there push to the front new groups of men and women anxious to take their part in the world drama. The strange emotions that accompany the birth of power are much alike the world over. Ideas and ideals are in the air.

Men think of pursuits and professions; women of homes and wifely duties. Some go forth like children venturing into the dark; others strike out boldly and are caught by the whirlpool and hurled upon the rocks.

It often happens that those selected by the fates to become leaders are in the beginning the most timorous, yet a consciousness of importance does not overwhelm them.

They are great-hearted and have within them the capabilities of accomplishing great things.

And this is the usual mental attitude of those who are qualified to take up the heavier burdens and march on till the end of their days without complaint. Having been well brought up, they are strong in body and sunny in nature.

They fall at once into their rightful place and take up their duties with the precision of soldiers who have just come from an exacting drillmaster.

What their parents did only 20 or 25 years ago, they have resolved shall be continued and, if possible, be done better, so that the men and women of the future may go to loftier heights in thought, and in all manner of progressive achievement.

Next Sunday Is Mother's Day

"Mother"

"LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE"

By ETHEL A. LYONS

CLARISSA looked at the rosy light of the candles, a so-ber expression on her round little face.

"No, Mother Eames, you're not to do one thing about Roger's birthday dinner this year.

"But, my dear, I'd love to do it," Mother Eames protested. "You must let me make the cake, anyway."

"Indeed, no!" Clarissa gave a little gesture of finality. "It's all planned, and I'm going to do every single thing by myself." The bride of six months looked very wise and determined.

"Come on, Roger, we'll be late for the concert if we don't hurry."

Roger rose obediently, but his face was troubled as he bestowed a good-night kiss on his mother's cheek. He could guess the sacrifice it might mean to her to give up all the happy fussing over his birthday. On the other hand, he couldn't tell Clarissa that he'd rather let his mother do this for him. Oh, well, it was one of the things that were bound to happen, and he soon dismissed it from his mind.

Not so Mother Eames. She responded cheerfully enough to the good-night kiss, but she sat for a long time staring at the candles after the outer door had closed.

Here it was Sunday; the birthday would be Tuesday, and already the ice cream had been ordered from Risi's—Roger's favorite—vanilla with powdered almonds and a very wonderful caramel sauce.

Monday passed. Tuesday morning found Mother Eames in the kitchen just as the maid was building the fire in the range. "Hilda," she said, "take the day off. I want the kitchen to myself."

Nothing loth, Hilda obeyed. And a few doors down the street Clarissa was saying: "Anna, this is Mr. Eames' birthday, and I want to get the whole dinner by myself."

At 5:30 Mother Eames, mindful of her promise to appear early at Clarissa's, cautioned father not to be late to the dinner, and went swiftly down the street. The winter twilight had deepened into darkness, but there was no sign of a light at Roger's. Strange! Clarissa must be putting a few finishing touches to the dinner. She'd go around to the kitchen door.

No light in the kitchen, either! After a preliminary knock she opened the door and stepped in. In the faint glow from the range she could make out the form of Clarissa, apron-clad, sobbing convulsively at the kitchen table.

"Why, dear child, what's the matter?" Mother Eames' arms were around the wee-begone little figure instantly.

"Oh, Mother, Mother Eames!" Clarissa spoke with difficulty. "It's dreadful! It's almost dinner time, and there isn't any dinner. I've spoiled just everything! Even the cake! Look!" Tragically she led the way to the pantry. The cake was indeed a sorry sight! Bough, hard lumps of icing covered its uneven surface, with here and there a ragged buried edge showing through. Dumbly she pointed to the ice box. A few anemic pieces of chicken were floating about in a liquid, presumably meant for aspic jelly. This was flanked by a dish of curried mayonnaise, and the garbage pail offered evidence of scorched cream soup.

"Stop crying, Clarissa. Go bathe your face and powder your nose. Put on your prettiest dress and a big apron, and come back to the kitchen." Mother Eames' voice was brisk now.

Clarissa was only too glad to do as she was bade. As she reappeared Mother Eames was just entering the back door, a huge market basket on her arm. Laying aside the white cloth cover, she deftly removed the contents of the basket to the table. A thick, juicy steak, a bag of Bermuda onions (steak smothered in onions, she explained, Roger's best dish), lettuce, washed and crisp, all ready for the table, and, last of all—a cake, four tiers high, its icing smooth, glistening, perfect!

"Oh, Mother Eames, this is wonderful, perfectly wonderful!" Clarissa cried. "But I don't deserve it, I must confess. I wasn't nearly so much concerned with your being tired as I was with showing Roger that I could do everything just exactly as well as his mother could. He's always boasting about your cooking, you know."

Mother Eames smiled a dry little smile. "Since confessions are in order, I must make one myself. I'm afraid in my wicked heart I've been hoping and hoping that something like this would happen. (That's why I made the cake and ordered Roger's favorite dinner and the ice cream. Don't dare breathe a word of this to him. I'm so ashamed, and now we're—"

"Quits!" Clarissa's laugh was actually merry, her cares forgotten. "It's worth it," she added. "We'll always understand now, won't we, mother?"

Dinner was over. Roger leaned back in his chair with a contented sigh.

"With all respect to your abilities, Mom," he began lazily, "I'd like to see this dinner beaten anywhere. And I must confess," he grinned, looking slyly toward Clarissa, "that I expected something entirely different—chicken in aspic, or some such job-de-rol."

And if Clarissa blushed, he attributed it to pleasure at his whole-hearted compliment to the dinner.

ROMANCE OF WORDS

"VAMP"

IMMORTALIZED by Rudyard Kipling and Burne-Jones, the "rag and a bone and a hank of hair" has been popularized of late years by the moving picture screen, the stage and the novelists who appeal primarily to sex interests. The vamp—a contraction, of course, of "vampire"—has become so well known that the verb "to vamp" threatens to carve for itself a permanent niche in the etymological hall of fame, there to take up a place alongside of "mob" and "pluck" and "rap" and other words which, originally, were frowned upon as passing provincialisms.

The folklore of all ages is replete with legends of true vampires—supernatural creatures who lived by sucking the blood of the living and who could be destroyed only by driving a green-wood stake through the dead body from which the evil spirit emanated. Bram Stoker's "Dracula" is probably the best example of this type of vampire, and it was a living woman of somewhat similar tastes whom Kipling had in mind when he composed his famous poem. But the vampire is by no means confined to legend. The real vampires are the bats which suck the blood of animals, though they but rarely attack man. This dangerous species is confined to only a few of the smaller varieties of bats, the large and mis-named "vampire bat" of South America being entirely harmless. Of late years the Kipling-esque vampire has been so prevalent in fiction and in motion pictures that the word "vamp" has taken on a significance entirely different from its accepted meaning with respect to music, and it will be interesting to see how long the vogue of the vampire woman lasts.

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND

LOVE is not "life's sweetest gift"; it is merely a loan—at an extortionate rate of interest.

Nobody will ever know what Solomon suffered on Blue Mondays, when all seven hundred of his wives probably got a "martyr-complex" at the same time!

The girl who scatters her kisses around promiscuously may get a few more invitations to go motoring, but she is "scabbing" on her own sex, lowering the market price of love, and making the world safe for bachelors.

A man spends the first twenty years of his life waiting for a chance to shave, the next ten waiting for the barber to shave him, and the rest of it waiting for his wife to tell him to shave.

The man who marries once is an idealist; the man who marries twice is an optimist—or a fatalist; but the man who marries three times is a "glutton for punishment."

The saddest thing in life for a woman is to be born with a "perfect 86 soul," emotionally, and to have to carry it through life under a 166 pound figure.

You can read, in any woman's magazine, of 57 different ways to hold a man's love; but, once a woman's heart gets attached to a man, it is supposed to stick forever like a postage stamp.

It is just as well for the husband to remember that flattery is cheaper than alimony, but as a well known paragrapher has said, man must know how to handle his compliments to women, —he can't speak of a woman's beautiful hair and then ask how long she has had it; nor admire her white pearly teeth and then ask her to take them out and show them to him. Well directed compliments will win the members of the frail sex, but it's best to have a sizable bank balance if you want to keep them interested.

Stranger tells us that he saw more drunks in Sullivan in two days than he had seen in Bloomington in a month. A lot of those Lovington fellows do come down here now that we have the hard road! (Editor Conn of Lovington will please take that in the spirit of jest—we've got to have an alibi). We are in the position of a certain Sullivan business man who used to imbibe quite freely. He tells of a time that he visited Shelbyville and got under too great a load. A few days later a Shelbyville man said to him, ".....I saw you down in Shelbyville a few days ago, didn't I?"

"No," said..... "You probably saw my brother, was he drunk?"
"Yes," replied the Shelbyvillian.
"I thought so," said..... "That was my brother."

One of the troubles with Sullivan is that we are not building houses as fast as they burn down.

There will be something wrong with this country as long as every time a woman wants to settle a love triangle, she has a gun to do it with; every time a husband or wife wants to blot out the existence of the whole family, a gun is convenient at hand; every time a man wants to rob, he can get a gun. There is too much settling of tangled affairs with guns—too many unfortunate accidents with guns. So long as this country is experimenting with prohibition of things that create a menace, why not place some positive restraint upon guns—something we should get along without.

A reformer is a man (or woman) who wishes to make you as good as he knows he ought to be.

One doesn't have to go far in history to see the theory of heredity knocked in the head. The father of this country couldn't tell a lie, but we don't find many of his descendants afflicted that way.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Mrs. Allie Patterson of Whitfish, Mont., says her husband insists on reading Phun and Philosophy aloud to her each week. Isn't it awful what some women have to put up with?

Perhaps if they would sell homes f. o. b. with war tax extra, they would be more popular nowadays.

We might now let the Phillipines have a turn at running our government until we are able to handle our affairs in an honest manner for the welfare of the people.

To be modern we might change the Ship of State into an oil tanker.

There is a growing suspicion that when a woman plans a party, one of the best sources of fun consists in making a list of persons she will not invite.

Old-time newspaper men are those who can remember when the political spellbinder made his speech if he wasn't drunk that day.

ALEXANDER

There was a chap who kept a store,
And though there might be grander,
He sold his goods, nor asked for more,
And his name was Alexander.
He mixed his goods with cunning hand,
He was a skillful brander;
And since his sugar half was sand,
They called him Alex-Sander.
He had his dear one, to her came,
Then lovingly he scanned her;
He asked her would she change her name?
A ring did Alex-hand-her.
"Oh, yes," she said, with smiling lip,
"If I can be commander!"
And so they framed a partnership
And called it Alex-and-her.

From "VooDoo."

Oklahoma wants Bryan for president. We knew someone would start that again!

WORKER DENIED DAMAGES FOR DISLOCATED JAW

State of Washington Washes Its Hands of Affairs as Road's Attorney Refuses Claim.

Olympia, Wash. — "Hi-ho-hum," yawned one John—snug in his blankets in the bunkhouse of the Houser Brothers' railroad construction company's camp near Castle Rock, along about 5:30 o'clock one morning. "Ho-hum, now to earn another dollar," and another cavernous yawn engulfed his features, when "whung!" the lower jaw slipped out of its socket and refused to work thereafter. The glass-jawed blacksmith's helper was put out of business.

It was a case for the surgeon, and there was loss of time getting the dislocated jaw back into service. That bunkhouse stood on the property used by the company for its camp and equipment. That's how the case came before the state industrial division in shape of a claim for time lost and medical aid.

It was not represented that yawning was an extra hazardous employment, but that the victim of yawning was engaged in the extra hazardous employment of railroad construction and met accidental injury on the premises of his employer. And there were precedents that came near the line. For instance, there was the case of a disciple of Henry who broke his wrist cranking his car to go home after quitting work. Application of the word "premises" has been a perplexing question.

The matter of the yawn and the claim was discussed with the attorney general's office and the claim finally denied by Kenneth Durham, supervisor of industrial insurance. This was on two grounds, one that the injury occurred outside of working hours and away from the working premises, and second, that the alleged injury was not due to "trauma," or wound caused by violence.

So the victim yawned and suffered in vain. The state washes its hands of the affair.

METHODIST CHURCH

(Milton Wilson, Pastor)

We report a very small attendance at prayer meeting last Wednesday night. A Sabbath full of variations. The Sunday school went up to 250 in attendance. The Epworth League fell back to low water mark, and only fifty present for a fine program handled by John Earl Collins in an excellent manner. A fairly good attendance at both public worship services but below our expectations. The special Thank Offering for the W. F. M. S. was good—plate offering, $35 and special $10.00; total $45.00. A loyal choir, beautiful flowers, pretty decorations in W. F. M. S. colors, and a vocal solo by Mr. Harry Barber of Decatur, were a few of the features that made the day delightful in our church. We held a special baptismal service on Monday and received one new member into the church.

Mrs. M. Wilson and twenty of her Sunday school girls had a little picnic of their own in Wyman park Monday evening. Business session, initiation of new members and a dainty luncheon occupied most of their time.

We announce the following: The sub-district W. F. M. S. convention holds its all day session on Wednesday. Wednesday night our people meet for prayer. A number of the church officials are endeavoring to increase our pay-roll and to secure special funds to take care of the current budget for the year. This is the big talk for the week. The solicitors are few. The workers will rejoice if the people will respond liberally and kindly.

Big plans are being made for next Sunday, Mother's Day. Our Sunday school goal for the day is 301. The Epworth League goal is 100. A full house is the goal for public worship both morning and evening.

Mrs. Cora Brown and assistants are arranging the special features to be presented by the Sunday school. Mrs. Elmer Richardson and the choir are planning some special music for the day. Mrs. Clifford Bence of Windsor will be our guest for the day and act as organist. Miss Mildred Shuman will direct the affairs of the Epworth League. The church will be appropriately decorated by Mrs. Wilson's Sunday School class. Mrs. J. H. Smith, Mrs. Esther Bracken and Mrs. Luther Lowe will have charge of the floral remembrances to be worn by all who attend services Sunday morning. A bouquet will be prepared for all at Sunday school and public worship.

"Our Mothers" will be the sermon theme used by the pastor at the 10:45 a. m. worship. District Superintendent A. M. Wells will deliver one of his best sermons for our people at the 7:30 p. m. hour of worship. Hear Mr. Wells.

The pastor will baptize a class from Allenville at the Nelson bridge at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. He preaches for the Shelbyville Methodist folks Sunday night. The pastor of the Shelbyville church is now attending the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church which is being held in Springfield this month. This is our law-making body and convenes once in four years, the session lasting four weeks. Come to church on Mother's Day.

—Ollie Gaddis, clerk at the C. & E. I. depot at Sullivan, has been transferred as relief agent at Pana, Ill. Mr. Gaddis probably will be stationed there for six weeks and Hugh Smith, son of H. H. Smith, agent at Sullivan will fill the vacancy until Mr. Gaddis returns.

CUSHMAN

Mrs. Dena Harris closed a very successful term of school at Morning Star school Wednesday. Miss Leota Smith has been hired to teach the next term at this school at ninety dollars per month.

Ernest Martin's school closed with a picnic at Wyman Park Thursday of last week. He has been re-employed to teach the Cushman school next term for a salary of $110.00 per month.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sharp and son Charles and Miss Monna Sampson of Bruce spent Sunday evening with Dick Sharp and family.

Laurence Pearson, Will Kirkwood, Miss Vada Bragg and Miss Vida Fresse spent Sunday in Decatur.

Misses Ethel and Gertie Randol are driving a new Ford.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Next Sunday is Mother's Day. There will be special services in her honor. We are looking for a large attendance at all services. Plan now to attend all the services if possible on that day.

We expect the largest bible school of the year next Sunday. We had 300 on Easter Sunday. Let us go beyond that on Mother's Day.

There will be appropriate music and sermons in keeping with the day.

Harriet Tusler will be leader of the Y. P. S. C. E.

PARENT-TEACHERS PROGRAM

The P. T. A. will hold the regular meeting at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon, May 13th at the South Side school. The following program is arranged:

Music—Grade School Orchestra. Business Session—Mrs. Hill. Report of State Convention—Mrs. Cabin.

Song—Seventh Grade Girls. Address—Rev. D. A. MacLeod. Musical Reading—Marjorie Newbould.

Reading—Jennie Margaret Cummins.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

The city council meeting Monday night opened the terms of the new aldermen. Standing committees were announced for the coming year.

John Cazier applied for license to operate a pool hall and to sell cigars, and as these licenses must be taken out before May 10, it was decided to adjourn until Friday, May 9, and wait until others apply for licenses.

Claude Smith was given police power over the carnival grounds this week. He is employed by the American Legion, as the carnival is here under its auspices.

BOOKER HOME BURNED

The house in Brosam addition, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Booker was totally destroyed by fire Saturday night about 9 o'clock. The Booker family was absent from home, but neighbors and others who arrived early saved most of the furniture. The house was known as the Johnnie Brosam house and was owned by a Mrs. Shepherd in Decatur.

—Mrs. Lillie Hill and son Paul, Mr. and Mrs. James Wright and two daughters, Dorothy and Betty of Decatur visited here Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Stron and family.

MISS EMILY AND HER HAPPINESS

By DOROTHY W. SPEAR

© 1924, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"GOING to the dance?"
"Sure."
"Fine. See you later."
And Messrs. White and Ridgely separated as they came out of the office building of Phillips & Company and set out for their respective homes. Behind them faded forth Emily Glensing, a fellow-worker, who had overheard their friendly remarks.
"Why is it?" she thought, as she walked along. "Why is it that everybody is going to that dance but me? I'll stick home with a book and go to bed at half past nine, bored with life."
Emily's thoughts grew more and more rebellious as she trudged homeward. She lived in a small town and she was decidedly "out of things." Reserved and shy, she had not put herself out to be friendly when she had come with her family to live in Sperry, so people had finally left her alone.

Picture Emily, then, one week later, on the train speeding to New York. She had asked a surprised employer for a winter vacation, and he had granted it. Emily had decided to visit a young married friend in New York, one Louise Andem. Louise was very charming, and being happily married, was eager to see her friends as happy.

"I shall tell her everything," decided Emily—"that my diffidence is merely a shield for embarrassment, that I love dancing and pretty clothes and that men don't bore as I pretend. I shall spend all my money on clothes, and maybe Louise can help me. At least, I'll have had my fling."

Louise's reception of the confession was all that could be desired.

"Honestly, Em," she said, "I never did see when the old you had gone. And she laughed, "But we'll show 'em. You old girl—we'll show 'em!" And, seizing Emily's hands, she whirled her round the room.

The next day the girls spent shopping and returned home happily tired.

"Now I'll ask some people in to play mall Jong; you wear that new dinner gown—remember you're attractive and prepare to do your darndest," said Louise.

And Emily obeyed.

The guests came—another young married couple, an engaged couple and an odd man for Emily. Now Emily didn't blossom out astonishingly beautiful, nor decidedly brilliant. But she did look sweet in a new pale green gown.

These looks combined with a new determination to play the game of being socially successful, lent courage to Emily's shy reserve. Always she had had something to say, but timidity had kept it back. This night she contributed a bit of it. She was an attractive girl, and the unattached man, a Mr. Wade, intimated as much when, on leaving, he asked if she and Louise and Louise's husband would go to the theater with him. Emily's eyes sparkled as she referred him to her hostess.

As she and Louise stood waiting for the train which was to take her home, she said, "I am crazy to see if the folks at home notice any difference. And if they don't, old dear, you've given me a vacation I'll never forget! Why, look who's coming!" she broke off, and Louise turned to greet Mr. Wade, who came up breathless, suitcase in hand.

"Gosh, I'm glad I spotted you," he said. "I heard you say you were going on this train, Miss Glensing. I have to go to Providence on business, so I fixed it to go on your train," and he beamed.

Louise gave Emily a knowing look, and whispered, as they parted: "Be sure to write me about it."

Emily and Mr. Wade had a pleasant trip as far as Providence, and there he got off, coming back to drop a magazine and candy in the chair he had vacated.

Emily sat back as the train pulled out of Providence, and prepared to think over the past ten days. She was aroused by a man's voice.

"How d'you do, Miss Glensing." She came to, to see Kenneth Chadwick, one of the few eligible bachelors in Sperry.

"Why, how d'you do!" said Emily. "I got on the train at New Haven," said Mr. Chadwick, "and I've been sitting across the aisle all the way up, but you never even saw me. May I sit here?" and as Emily assented, he moved his traps across the aisle and sat down in the chair just vacated by Mr. Wade.

Kenneth Chadwick was a personable looking man, about thirty-two years old, and Emily had always thought he looked worth knowing. She thanked a kind fate that she was wearing new clothes and that she had acquired a new ability to converse.

She felt she had passed a milestone when Mr. Chadwick said, as they neared Boston, "Let's go to the dance at home tonight, will you?"

"I should love to," this from Emily.

Now if you think that Emily's newly acquired charm became commonplace in the old home surroundings, you are mistaken. A man in New York had found her attractive, and so she had found herself.

In fact, Mr. Wade looked rather blank when, at the wedding of Miss Emily Glensing and Mr. Kenneth Chadwick, the bride said to him:

"Mr. Wade, I owe so much of my happiness to you."

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS
Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water
When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.
Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.
