CREAM STATIONS RAISE PRICE OF BUTTER FAT.

Weekly reports issued by the Dairy Department of the Illinois Agricultural Association, giving the butter fat prices paid by the Illinois cream stations, have had a decided influence in reducing the spread between the price of 90 score butter and butter fat, according to information coming to the Moultrie County Farm Bureau.

In May, 1924, when the weekly price reports were first issued the average difference in price between butter fat and 90 score butter was five cents a pound. Six months later the Illinois cream stations had raised their price standards and the spread was reduced to four cents.

These differences are brought to the attention of Farm Bureau members who in turn investigate the reason for the spread which indirectly influences the cream buyers to pay a higher price for the dairy product.

RED CROSS FINANCES SHOW WIDE SERVICES

Past Year Cost $10,321,679.80; Duty to Ex-Service Men Paramount.

Washington.—The national and international services of the American Red Cross are portrayed graphically in a statement of the Red Cross finances for the past fiscal year ended June 30, 1925. Expenditures by the Red Cross (including both the National Organization and the Chapters) during this period aggregated $10,321,679.80.

The obligation of the American Red Cross to the ex-service and service men is represented in this sum by a total expenditure of $4,295,292.61. In the interests of disabled veterans, the Red Cross expended $5,577,916.42, of which $1,677,916.42 came from the National Organization, and $1,900,000 from the more than 3,000 Chapters and local branches of the society. Red Cross services to the men of the Regular Army and Navy the past year called for $647,376.19, of which the National Organization furnished $310,376.19, and the Chapters, $337,000.

Sharing in importance with this responsibility was the Red Cross work of disaster relief during the year. In these operations there was absorbed a total of $1,923,782.90 up to June 30, this year. This represented $1,623,782.90 of National Organization funds and $300,000 from the Chapters. Relief in foreign disasters amounted to $285,579.35. This sum was appropriated altogether by the National Organization.

Insular and foreign operations of the American Red Cross during the year included relief in foreign disasters, the League of Red Cross Societies, Junion Red Cross Foreign Projects, assistance to insular Chapters and similar functions. Besides its disaster relief, the National Organization financed these other branches of foreign work also, including $110,238.73 for assistance to insular chapters, $177,450 for the League of Red Cross Societies, $34,354.43 for Junion projects abroad, and $80,067.62 for other insular and foreign operations.

In addition to its paramount duty to assist veterans and other service men and their families, and its disaster relief, the Red Cross expended at home through its national and chapter funds, a total of $1,029,616.05 for its Public Health Nursing Service; $154,135.09 for nutrition instruction; $314,422.76 for First Aid and Life Saving; $445,707.34 for Junior Red Cross; $132,753.88 for instruction in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick; and carried on similarly important home duties. Included in the latter were such valuable services as the Enrolled Nurses' Reserve, for which the National Organization expended $45,562.64; while other national operations at home amounted to $302,957.64. The chapters, in addition to the large part they played in all Red Cross activity, spent $678,000 of their own funds on general chapter services.

The broad humanity of the American Red Cross can never be measured by the money it costs, but even in bare terms of dollars and cents, the scope of its work is indicated. A study of these facts also shows the necessity for the largest possible enrollment, since Red Cross service is maintained almost entirely by its membership. The annual invitation to participate in this work through membership in the American Red Cross, is extended from Armistice Day, November 11, to Thanksgiving, November 26.

Red Cross First Aid Popular in America As Accidents Gain

The rapidly mounting toll from traffic accidents has brought home to the public the necessity of being prepared to render prompt assistance while awaiting the doctor. During the past year 356 chapters of the American Red Cross were instructing classes in First Aid, and in the same period certificates were issued to 20,601 persons qualified by Red Cross experts.

Many cities throughout the United States are showing interest in securing first aid instruction for their police and fire department personnel, and through the work of local chapters, practical results have been obtained in such cities as Washington, D. C.; Toledo, O.; Boston, Mass.; South Bend and Indianapolis, Ind.; Port Arthur, Texas, and other communities. In co-operation with the State authorities, intensive training in first aid and rescue methods has been given to State police and constabulary members at four State training schools.

Instruction in these subjects in public and private schools, colleges and universities has increased during the year. Attention has been given to training teachers at institutes and summer schools.

The Red Cross first aid railroad car has been in continuous operation throughout the year. It covered 10,340 miles, visiting 137 cities, where 1,200 meetings were conducted by the surgeons, with a total of 146,227 people.

Industries particularly have availed themselves of the instruction afforded by the Red Cross. The Western Electric Company, for example, reports a reduction of the accident rate per 1,000 employees.

FREAK FALL WEATHER AFFECTS CHILD HEALTH.
Vagaries committed by the weather this fall are apt to produce an unusually heavy crop of rickets among the more than half million preschool aged children in the state, according to Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director, unless special precautions to the contrary are taken. Striking from the calendar the customary Indian Summer, excessive cloudiness has cut down seriously the usual seasonal abundance of sunshine, the lack of which invariably tends to rickets in young children. Prematurely low temperatures have aggravated the situation, sending the little tots scampering into heated houses during the brief days when old Sol ventured out. Codliver oil and artificial ultra-violet irradiation are preventive and curative measures provided the diet is sufficient and balanced.

"Rain clouds that this fall have upset football dope buckets, interfered with planting and sent tourists scurrying to Florida, ahead of conventional schedules have also denied life-giving sunshine to thousands of Illinois children, and thereby made likely a definite increase in the prevalence of rickets," said Dr. Rawlings. "The early advent of cold weather has contributed toward the same result in that children who might otherwise have been outside have found the hot, dry air from the furnace much more to their liking.

"Perhaps the most prevalent of all childhood diseases, rickets results from too little sunshine applied directly to the skin. Of course a poorly balanced diet may be a factor in the cause of rickets but a lack of sunshine or its equivalent will cause the disease to develop even when the diet regimen is scientifically accurate.

"The only known substitutes for direct, natural sunshine in the prevention and cure of rickets are codliver oil and artificial irradiation with ultra-violet ray arc lamps. Codliver oil has worked such wonders in malnourished children that it has come to be called 'bottled sunshine.' Arc lamps have given results apparently identical to those obtained from natural sunshine, and they are being introduced with great enthusiasm as routine equipment by child health agencies in large cities where sunshine is never abundant.

Rickets usually manifests itself in children under 3 years of age but its effects may pursue one throughout life. Not only does it frequently cause bone deformities such as bow legs and knock knees but it reduces the resistance of the body, opening the way to infections of various sorts. With such simple preventives and curatives as sunlight and codliver oil, the extremely common prevalence of rickets is quite astonishing.

ILLINOI FRESHMEN SHOW MUCH PROMISE.

A fast and heavy line with a brilliant backfield including three men who can do everything—that is the synopsis of the University of Illinois 1925 freshmen varsity football team, called by the coaches "the best freshman team since the Grange-Daugherty—"Moon" Baker-Britton combination of 1922.

Harry Gamage, head freshman coach, and his assistants, predict that Coach Bob Zupke will find much material for next year's Illini varsity among the first year men. The team is powerful on offense, but the line is comparatively weak on defense. Altogether, the team shows up much better than last year's freshmen did.

A. J. Nowack of Pana stands out among the linemen and should be useful to "Zup" next year. He is a tackle and is ambitious to improve, weighing 196 pounds and being very aggressive. He is also a basketball and baseball star. Another tackle is R. P. Connerty, 215 pounds stalwart from Urbana. He is a good blocker and is fast for his weight which he carries well. F. L. Hyland, another tackle, weighs 180 pounds and was captain of Champaign's runner-up in the state prep basketball tournament last year. He can be used at end. H. O. Ulman, an all-Cook county man from Senn high school, weighs 185 pounds and has developed rapidly.

A. E. Wolgast of Aurora and E. W. Brown of Pana lead the end candidates. Wolgast receives passes well, weighs 155 pounds, and is good on defense with much possibility of developing. Brown weighs 175 pounds, is fairly fast and catches passes easily. Hyland has also been used at end to some extent.

The two best centers on the squad are H. E. Richman of Champaign, and A. Benko, formerly of Morgan Park Academy, Richman weighs 180 pounds and will develop into a first class substitute for Bob Reitsch on the varsity next year. Benko weighs 220 pounds and has shown remarkable development. C. L. Ringquist of Moline was used at center but shifted to guard. However, his exceptional speed and size make him an ideal end.

Among the outstanding guards are H. A. Wheeler, a converted end who was an all-state man in that position at Henron Academy, Maine; E. L. McGrath of Urbana; who leads the interference well; S. K. Jones of Kansas City, Mo., another converted end and who shows much speed, and E. Elterman of Cicero, a swimming, boxing, basketball, star. Elterman was a finalist in the Central A. A. U. light-heavy weight boxing tournament last year.

And now the backs: They are led by Forrest Peters, a Billings, Mont., lad in whom the coaches think they see another "Red" Grange. Peters is an open field runner of Grange type and a long distance forward passer, but his greatest weapon is his right foot. Peters holds the world's record of seventeen drop kicks registered in a single game and his punts will travel fifty yards. He can throw a javelin more than two hundred feet. Next to Peters the fastest man on the squad is J. A. Timm of Twin Falls, Idaho. Timm is a battering ram when turned loose in a line plunge. He twists and pivots, being hard to pull down and refusing to be stopped. He punts well and can throw a pass like a bullet. He is an all-round track star of national repute. He and Peters are halfbacks.

F. E. Lanum of Decatur, brother of two other Jake Lanums who formerly played for Illinois in 1918 and before, is the third of the big three. He is a fullback weighing 185 pounds.

Other backs of the first rank are Gerald Murchison of St. Louis, who played on Pennsylvania's junior varsity with the famous Rogers last year; C. Johnson, Aurora, ex-high school fullback star coached by Johnny Sabo, former Illini Star; D. T. Laehardt, halfback from Mt. Carmel high school, Chicago, a left handed forward passer; F. E. Wardecker, a Rochelle quarterback, weighing 155 pounds, and Edwards, a Senn high school, Chicago, star, who also was used at tackle until he broke his arm.

FARM INSURANCE TOTALING $750,000 INTO EFFECT.

At noon Saturday, November 21, approximately three-fourths of a million dollars worth of farm mutual insurance went into force through the Farmers' Mutual Reinsurance Company of Illinois, according to an announcement received by the Moultrie County Farm Bureau from the Illinois Agricultural Association.

This announcement was issued on receipt of the charter for the new mutual company from Illinois trade and commerce department, Springfield, on November 17, following a state wide campaign for $500,000 in individual insurance applications in which 378 Illinois farmers in 67 counties took part. This campaign which over-subscribed the goal by $240,000 was accomplished in less than four months time through the cooperation of the county Farm Bureau, the I. A. A. secretaries of local and county mutual insurance companies and individual farmers throughout the state.

With the starting of operations by the Farmers' Mutual Reinsurance Company of Illinois, an aspiration of mutual insurance leaders in Illinois for more than 25 years has been completed. For over a quarter of a century mutual companies of the state have realized the need of a state wide re-insurance company to allow further development of the field and place the mutuals in a position to take care of all the insurance needs of Illinois farmers. However, it was not until this year that definite plans were adopted by the State Association of the Mutual Insurance Companies of Illinois and through the assistance of the I. A. A. efforts started.

The new reinsurance company will in no way conflict with the activities of the local mutuals but will supplement their benefits to members by extending blanket reinsurance, specific reinsurance and recessional insurance. The extension of these aids to local mutuals, it is estimated, will save to Illinois farmers more than $3,000,000 annually. This estimate is reached upon consideration of the greater amounts of individual risks that the mutual companies will be able to handle and the reduction in costs and additional assessments due to exceptional losses, the report states.

WHY THE ILLINOIS FARMER JOINS THE FARM BUREAU.

Why do Illinois farmers join the Farm Bureau? This question which has presented itself and has been answered in various ways by 63,000 thinking farmers in Illinois, is aptly summarized by Geo. E. Metzger, director of the organization department of the Illinois Agricultural Association, in a statement received by the Moultrie County Farm Bureau.

Director Metzger, through his cooperation with the county Farm Bureaus, has talked with thousands of Illinois farmers in 92 counties. This year he supervised membership campaigns in 47 counties and has itemized the expressions of the farmers on why they join the Farm Bureau under the five following statements:

"I believe that the farmers of the United States must become strongly organized and put their thought into action by becoming members of the Farm Bureau.

"I believe that agriculture has legislative problems in gaining 'Equality for Agriculture' which can be solved only through organization.

"I believe that cooperative marketing is the way to a reasonable degree of price stabilization and I recognize the value of the Farm Bureau in organizing such co-operatives, as well as rendering field and legislative services to such co-operatives after they have been set up.

"I believe that the problem of ever increasing overhead expenses of farm supplies, labor and taxes can best be studied and solved by farmers through organization.

"I believe in the study of greater efficiency in the production of farm commodities which comes through cooperation and membership in the Farm Bureau."

DRINKS QUART OF MILK THREE TIMES EACH DAY.

When Austin ("Five Yards") McCarthy, Chicago's famous gridiron player and battering ram, sits down to his three square meals he finds at the right of his plate a quart bottle of milk to which is attributed considerable of his ability to gain five yards on the football field every time he carried the ball, according to information received by the Moultrie County Farm Bureau from the Illinois Agricultural Association.

"Red" Grange, Illinois football ace, may have had a hard time keeping his hands off of the white bottles of the lactile substance when he delivered ice to the Wheaton refrigerators last summer but to McCarthy three quarts of milk is a daily present to him from his fraternity.

In the trophy room of Austin's fraternity stands a silent monument to the American cow and her contribution to Chicago's football victories, it is learned. This trophy, reposing beside the loving cups won for athletic achievements, is the first milk bottle emptied by "Five Yards" McCarthy when he entered the fraternity life of the school.

McCarthy's success and perfect health through his milk diet, has been so convincing that it is reported his room mates have taken to drinking the farm beverage. The steward of Austin's chapter states that up until 1922, when McCarthy became a member of the college organization, milk was used only for cooking purposes. However, this fall the steward finds he must order twenty bottles of milk for each meal. Of these, 19 are pint bottles and one quart size to be placed before McCarthy's chair at the table. Upon this diet, the steward believes, the members of the chapter will soon outgrow their present clothing measurements.
