Error Corrected

In our paper last week appeared an erroneous statement mentioning the name of Cecil Coventry of Findlay which we desire to correct. The party intended to be mentioned was Icel Reedy, who is now in the county jail. Mr. Cecil Coventry is a respected citizen of Findlay with a good reputation in every way and in fact appeared as one of the witnesses before the grand jury against Mr. Reedy. We of course regret very much that this error occurred and in justice to Mr. Coventry are glad to make this public correction. The Editor.

Final Arrangements For Contest Made At Meeting On Saturday Evening At Cream Pool In Bethany.

Final arrangements for the county corn husking contest were made at a meeting held Saturday night at the Bethany Cream Pool. The field selected is on the farm of T. F. Sheehan about two miles northeast of Dalton City, north of King school.

The contestants have all run off their preliminary trials and reports of same were made to Farm Adviser J. H. Hughes at the Saturday night's meeting.

Each shucked exactly the same amount in one hour and 20 minutes after all deductions were made for gleanings and husks.

Farm Adviser Hughes reports that there is much more interest than common in this event which is made possible by Prairie, and that various county farmers have for several years sponsored the state contest and in the meantime other states have taken up this form of diversion for farm folks.

The state contest will be of particular interest to Moultrie county people this year since it will be held in the neighboring county of Piatt. Usually from 25 to 40 thousand people attend the state husking contest.

The local contest Saturday will begin promptly at 10:30. It is expected that several hundred people will turn out to witness this event. Lunch will be served by the local church and every one can get plenty to eat at noon time.

WE DON'T CHANGE GENERALS IN THE MIST OF BATTLE

We don't change horses in the middle of a stream, servants in the midst of a party, generals in the height of a battle.

The best argument for the retention of President Herbert Hoover in the White House and the election of a Republican Congress, all this aside from reasons based purely on party nership, is that President Hoover and his party have a definite program for bringing the United States out of the doldrums and are now putting it into effect with favorable results that already are appreciable and that we have no knowledge of what Governor Roosevelt and his party would do if they were in power.

To put in a Democratic administration would be trading a real program of national relief for a doubtful experiment.

While this depression came on all over the world, the Republican party was only in control of this nation. But it is the job of that party to pull us out of the hole that we dropped into while it was in power.

No thinking person who reads the newspapers and the magazines and believes that the President, and the Congress under the President's direction, have done everything they know how to do to help the country. Now as the good effects of the policies they have inaugurated are just beginning to be felt would be a poor time to throw them overboard and try persons and a party inexperienced in handling the nation's affairs during a depression and having no announced policy for the betterment of things that the voters can bite into.

Thinking people know that the bad times of the last three years are not due to President Hoover nor his party and most of them realize that conditions, bad as they have been, might have been far worse except for the astuteness, the intelligence, the common sense and the ability of those who have been at the head of our government. Times might have been as bad, for instance, as they have been in Australia, England, Germany and in other nations less favored than ours. And Mr. Hoover was not President of England, Germany, Australia nor any other country than the United States. Keeping the nation in the hands of the Republican party in this crisis is just a matter of self-protection. It offers to us the only way out of which we can be even reasonably hopeful.

THE DEPRESSION OF 1837.

How the country worried through the depression of 1837 and financed the waging of the Mexican war, which added so much rich territory to the United States, is described in an illuminating article in the current issue of the National Republic magazine, under the caption, "Early American Financing," by Robert L. Archer.

Mr. Archer says in part: "The years from 1825 to 1836 saw a constant decrease in the public debt. The Secretary of the Treasury in his report to Congress dated December 8, 1835, estimated the total outstanding public debt at $328,582, and this small amount remained outstanding only because payment had not been demanded by the holders of the debt, funds having been provided to entirely liquidate the public debt. "The intervening years had passed with the single term of John Quincy Adams as President, and the turbulent eight years of Andrew Jackson.

"Jackson had vetoed the bill for the renewal of the charter of the second United States Bank and that institution was closed in 1836. "Reaction from the 'Era of Good Feeling' and the prosperous years that followed had now set in, and 1837 found the country again in the throes of a severe depression, and this at a time when the country had no public debt, and a Treasury surplus of more than $42,000,000. Again most of the banks suspended specie payments and it was difficult for merchants to obtain enough specie to pay the duties on imports when under the law could be paid in no other way. The huge surplus in the Treasury was not available for use because Congress had by an extraordinary resolution directed that the surplus over $5,000,000 be deposited with the different states, and more than $28,000,000 had been so deposited. As usual in times of depression the revenues of the government rapidly decreased, and it became increasingly difficult to meet even the ordinary expenses of the government.

"Resort was therefore had to the issuance of Treasury Notes bearing six per cent interest to the amount of $10,000,000, as authorized by a bill approved by the President, Oct. 12, 1837.

"This issue was followed by others during the years from 1837 to 1843 so that in all during that period, Treasury Notes were issued to an amount slightly over $42,000,000. Most of these notes were repaid prior to 1846.

"The years from 1836 to 1843 were years of recurring deficits, and the continued issuing of short term Treasury Notes did not give the government time to either recoup its revenues nor reduce its disbursements.

"The governmental deficits continued and on March 3, 1843, a loan of indefinite amount bearing five per cent interest was authorized, to run for ten years. Under this act $7,004,000 was sold at premiums from one per cent to three and three quarters per cent. This loan was finally redeemed in 1853.

"In the years prior to the depression of 1837 the colonization schemes of Moses Austin and his son Stephen F. Austin and others had been bearing fruit and there had been a considerable infiltration of American pioneers and adventurous spirits to the Mexican province of Texas. Out of the ensuing chaotic political conditions the Republic of Texas emerged in 1836 with Samuel Houston as its President. In December, 1838, he was succeeded by Mirabeau Lamar who was in turn succeeded by Houston in 1841. The question of the annexation of purchase of Texas became a question largely of party politics. Annexation or purchase was violently opposed by outstanding political leaders, and was encouraged by the political leaders of the slave-holding states. Annexation came in 1845, and war with Mexico followed being declared May 13, 1846, during the term of James Knox Polk as President."

PRESIDENTIAL COMMISSIONS

With his accustomed lack of accuracy when referring to the record of President Hoover, Gov. Roosevelt in a recent speech made a statement which implied, though it did not specifically state, that Mr. Hoover has appointed more commissions than any other occupant of the white house.

Here is the record: Roosevelt created 107; Taft, 63; Wilson, 150; Harding, 44; Coolidge, 118; Hoover, up to the present time, 62.

It remains to be said that a large proportion of the commissions appointed by Mr. Hoover were self financing while many of them had a specific duty to perform which was quickly accomplished and the commission dissolved.

LOVINGTON DOWNS MINER SONS, 14-0 IN FOOTBALL TILT.

The Skelly Oilers won another pro football game at Lovington on Sunday afternoon when they conquered the Decatur Miner Sons, 14 to 0.

They scored again in the last canto when Dean Hoover swept around end for 15 yards after passing had advanced the ball within scoring distance. It was third Lovington victory in a row.

VILLA GROVE WANTS A GREAT BIG LAKE.

A number of the citizens of Villa Grove are at present much interested in a proposed lake for that city and during the past few days County Surveyor Troy O. Timm of this city has received a communication from the state department requesting him to make a full survey of the proposed tracts of land bordering on the route of the lake and make a blue print of the same.

According to the Villa Grove News it is proposed to build a dam and spillway to be seven feet wide and constructed of concrete. The base will set about seven feet below the bed of the river and the remainder of the dam, will be of earthenwork, made of blue clay interlapped with willows. The News further says:

The beauty of the lake will be spoiled as a show for motorists traveling the U. of I. trail on account of the dam being placed so far west, when it should be put in as near the bridge as possible on account of a natural bowl between the high and grade schools. Most of the low land that will be covered by the lake is now patches of weeds and willows and the riddance of these will improve much of the adjoining farm and low lands.

Should this lake figure out as proposed it will extend and take in much of the low lands as far north as the E. R. Shuey farm three miles north of Villa Grove and from there on considerable water will cover some of the low places as far north as five miles.

This project should appeal to all of our citizens and the community north and west of here as it will make an abundant supply of water besides being a beautiful lake.—Tuscola Review.

BEHANY BASEBALL TEAM MOULTRIE CHAMPIONS.

The Bethany Cubs behind the masterful pitching of Marvin (Dopey) Clark defeated the Sullivan Browns 5 to 3 thereby winning the Moultrie County Championship. The Cubs played superlative ball behind the pitching of Clark, committing only one error.

The Browns displayed a fine brand of ball, but they committed four very costly errors, which aided the Cubs in winning. The game was a pitchers battle between Clark and Easley, with Clark allowing five hits while Easley allowed six hits. Each pitcher allowed one base on balls. The Cubs hit when hits were needed and were never in danger after the first inning. The Cubs scored two runs in the first and three in the sixth inning. The Browns scored one in the fifth and one in the eighth and their last run coming in the ninth was unearned.

The Cubs battery consisted of Roper and Clark, while Welmeyer and Easley composed the battery for the Browns. The Cubs claim the championship through the fact that they defeated both contenders for the title, the fast Dalton City club and the Sullivan Browns. Bruce was eliminated by the Sullivan Browns in a well played series. The Cubs won the title by defeating Dalton City in two fast, well played games by the scores of 1 to 0 and 5 to 3. The Cubs will have a strong club next season and will be out to defend their title.—Bethany Echo.

C. I. P. S. COMPANY WILL CLOSE ITS LOVINGTON OFFICE

The C. I. P. S. company, which for more than a year has maintained an office and salesroom in Lovington, has passed out the word that the office will be closed on Nov. 1st. Similar action has been taken at Windsor and several other of their small town offices.

After Nov. 1st the business interests of the Lovington office will be looked after by the Arthur office. The stock from the Lovington salesroom will be transferred to Arthur and Mattoon.

It is understood that light and power users will pay their monthly bills at the S. H. Curry grocery after Nov. 1st.

When the C. I. P. S. company took over the municipal light plant of Lovington a year or so ago, it was understood that they would maintain a business office here for five years and would erect one of their large electric signs. The recent ruling of the company means that some one has broken their agreement.—Lovington Reporter.

M. E. MISSIONARY SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS.

The Missionary society of the Methodist church have elected their officers for the ensuing conference year:

- President—Mrs. H. H. Clore. Vice president—Mrs. G. W. Bryant. Corresponding secretary—Mrs. Max Hoover. Treasurer—Mrs. Harry Stillens. Mite Box Superintendent—Mrs. J. Y. Bailey.

Mrs. J. S. Bicknell, the retiring president, has been at the head of the missionary society for more than twenty years. She has been an able and tireless worker and to many without Mrs. Bicknell at the helm it will seem a changed society. It has seen some very successful work accomplished under her leadership. The society has again divided into two groups with Mrs. Max Hoover and Mrs. Harry Stillens as captains and with the aid of all a successful year's work is hoped for.—Lovington Reporter.

RESTAURANT CHANGES.

Lovington has made a number of restaurant changes this week. The Brooks' cafe has sold to E. O. Blanchard. It at present owns a restaurant in Bethany and has followed this business for a number of years.

Ransom Coward has opened a place in the building next door to the Jones Barber shop. Until recently he was located in the Odd Fellow's building but that room was taken over by the Cheese factory a few weeks ago.

Roy Donovan is opening a restaurant in the Hines building. This building has not been occupied for some time.

Now with the Barbetti and Hewitt cafes already here, Lovington people should find it inconvenient to eat at home.—Lovington Reporter.

ENTERTAINED NEWLY WEDS.

A party was held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Pritts at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ward on the evening of Oct. 15th. Over fifty friends of the newly weds enjoyed the evening together. Games were played leading up to the main event of the party, the mock wedding in which members of the class of '32, the bride's graduating class, took part. After refreshments were served the bride broke up, everyone present wishing the young couple much happiness and success throughout the year to come.—Bethany Echo.

THREE FAMILIES MOVED THURSDAY.

Each of the families moved last Thursday. John Mooney, who has been living in the Dedman property, moved to the M. E. Sconce property where Elmer McIlwain has lived since moving to Bethany.—Bethany Echo.

AUTO WRECKED; HIT POLE ON ROUTE 16.

A light sedan, owned by F. O. Hawbaker of Sullivan, was badly wrecked and Hawbaker was painfully cut and bruised when the machine struck a heavy pole which was lying partly across the pavement on Route 16, near Kansas, Saturday night.

Just how or why the pole was left there is not known, though the jokesters, who don't know a joke left it there, is advanced.—Kansas Journal.

The School Band

(By Angelo Patri.)

We have a school band. It began with the school orchestra. That is a group of earnest musicians led by the master musician of the school. They play fine music with the understanding and devotion of musical artists. Woe to him by whom a discord is created. Weeks of apologetic care will scarcely make up.

One day three boys appeared in the office. "Please can we play in the orchestra?" We asked the professor and he said, "No."

"Then I have little chance of saying yes," said I.

"No. Nobody can. He's the leader of the orchestra and what he says is the beginning and the end."

The three looked sad. I looked at them closely and wondered. They were not the sort of lads who played in the orchestra. Far from it. In the orchestra you wear a white blouse, a carefully knitted tie. Your shoes are shining and your hands are immaculate and your conduct marks are rarely lower than A. I knew at a glance that these chaps rated about B in work and a scant B in conduct. The marks of their play were upon them, buttons were missing and ties were straggling. But they wanted to play in the band, and my heart went out to them.

"The orchestra isn't a band, you know. Not really. It's a music class." Their faces changed, just as I knew they would. "What was it you wanted to play?" "We wanted to play the trumpet and a bass drum and a fife." "I see. Well, I'll ask the professor and see what he says." I asked the professor and he roared a loud and emphatic "No" that you could recognize as a fixed determination to guard the orchestra at all costs.

I was wondering what to do about it when I spied a young teacher, a boy who had started to teach and who seemed to like his job. "Do you know anything about music? Can you play a fife, or beat a drum, or blow a trumpet?" He laughed. "I know enough for that, yes. Why?"

I told him about the three wistful musicians. "They're not artists please understand. What they want is to make a joyful and legitimate noise and have a chance to show off every once in a while. They need this. Think you could give them a lift?"

You should see that band. We wouldn't give it up for anything.

They are the young rascals who give their teachers heartscald. Grammar lessons, tables, neatness, care and quiet and obedient responses are not for them. But if they can play in the band, that's different. You see a fellow can blow off a lot of energy on a trumpet. And a fife can use up a lot of wind and mischief. When it comes to banging a drum—well that is heaven itself. You should see them on gala days. The fifes and drums and trumpets going full blast, the band marching proudly through the streets admired by all the beholders. Once the shopkeepers just for fun, threw them handfuls of nuts and sweets. They made a dash for them to the disgust of the leader and the teacher. A school band is one of the finest outlets, one of the best means of growth and discipline you can imagine. It costs far less than you would think. Help comes from all sorts of quarters. And it pays over and over again in good behavior and work.

Now and then one of them graduates to the orchestra but that is rare happening. They are childish, musicians, just noise makers, growing up into self-controlled people.

SOIL TESTS SAVING ILLINOIS FARMERS MANY THOUSANDS. Thousands of dollars in clover seed and time are being saved by Madison county farmers as a result of their testing and mapping 23,000 acres of land for acidity and available phosphorus, it is reported by C. M. Linsley, soils extension specialist of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. The work was done under direction of Farm Adviser T. W. May. Recently, in one month alone, 108 farmers of the county tested and mapped 2,300 acres. Similar cash saving testing is being sponsored throughout the state by the extension service of the agricultural college in cooperation with county farm advisers. Maps drawn up from the tests give farmers an invoice of their soils upon which they can intelligently plan a cropping system or soil-treatment program. Also, the tests save the wasting of valuable alfalfa and clover seed on land that is not suited to the growing of these legumes. During the four years that the soil testing work has been carried on in Madison county, about 500 farmers have tested and mapped their farm land. Some of them now have a complete acidity and phosphorus map of their entire farm. "Such tests are highly important because legumes have definite soil requirements, and these soil retested contained enough available phosphorus for good crops of sweet clover, red clover or alfalfa. "This is valuable information because it is well-known that phosphorus is as necessary for the successful growing of alfalfa or red clover as is limestone on acid soil."

7:30 p. m.—Evangelistic services. Thurs. lay.

You are always welcome. Bro. Martin is preaching some good sermons, come hear him.

Jer. 7:19, "Do they provoke me to anger? saith the Lord: do they not provoke themselves to the confusion of their own faces?"

In our language of today God is saying, "Are you telling me?" Israel was not putting anything over on God, they just thought they were. He tells Israel that which they are doing is not going to provoke him to anger, but it will act to their own confusion.

The world today may think it is putting something over on the Lord, but God is not mocked. The wickedness of the people now, will react under the reign of the anti-christ to the overthrow of the whole world.

The world little realizes that it is playing right into the hand of the man of sin, and that as a people, our doings shall be our undoing.

The world is in its present state of fear and unrest because in trying to provoke the almighty God to anger it has provoked itself into mighty confusion.

It was a sorry day for Israel when God turned a deaf ear to their cry for help. It will be a sorry awakening for the world when it realizes that God's Spirit has ceased to strive.

TO THE VOTERS OF MOULTRIE COUNTY

Early in February, 1932, the Illinois legislature, in special session, enacted emergency measures to provide relief for destitution due to unemployment, especially in Cook county.

Bills were approved authorizing the sale of State anticipation tax notes in the sum of $18,750,000 and their payment with interest, out of the proceeds of a state bond issue of $20,000,000 PROVIDED the bond issue is approved by the voters in the general election on November 8, 1932, otherwise out of an ADDITIONAL state tax to be collected next year on all 1932 valuations of property.

If the voters approve the bond issue, the state will retire the bonds and pay the interest thereon by withholding, over a period of years, part of the gasoline tax funds accruing to each county which has received state relief funds. The part withheld from each such county will be computed in proportion to the percentage of $18,750,000 each county has received. Thus counties which have received no state relief funds will neither have their gasoline tax funds reduced nor help to pay for state relief bonds. Cook county will pay 91.4 per cent of the total relief bonds and interest, having received this percentage of the state relief funds.

The undersigned organizations of Moultrie county endorse the relief bond issue and urge every voter in the county to vote for it in the election on November 8. If it fails to receive a majority of all votes cast for House candidates for the general assembly, the greatly increased state tax must be levied on this year's valuations of all taxable property in EVERY county of the state.

VOTE YES ON THE STATE UNEMPLOYED RELIEF BOND ISSUE. Any elector failing to vote on this measure will in effect vote against it. This bond issue proposition will appear on a separate ballot smaller than the other ballot. The undersigned organizations request every newspaper in the county to publish this statement at some time in the last ten days of October.

Republican county central committee by Charles A. Gregory, Ch. Democratic County Central Committee by Luch H. Riney, Ch. Moultrie County Farm Bureau Committee by Charles B. Shuman, President. Moultrie County Bankers Association by E. W. Boyd, secretary. Arthur Chamber of Commerce by Charles A. Hamilton, President.

Where Does She Get Her "Pep?"

SHE doesn't look seventy. Nor feel that old. The woman who stimulates her organs can have energy that women half her age will envy!

At middle-age your vital organs begin to slow down. You may not be sick, simply sluggish. But why endure a condition of half-health when there's a stimulant that will stir a stagnant system to new life and energy in a week's time?

This remarkable stimulant is perfectly harmless. It is, in fact, a family doctor's prescription. So, if you're tired of trying every patent medicine that comes along, tell the druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a bit of this delicious syrup every day or so, until you know by the way you feel that your lazy liver is again active, and your bowels are poison-free.

Men, women, and children who are run-down, who tire easily, get bilious spells or have frequent headaches, are soon strengthened when they get this prescriptive preparation of pure pepsin, active senna, and fresh laxative herbs. (Syrup pepsin is all the help the bowels need, and you do not form the very bad habit of always taking cathartics.)

Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin in the house, and take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. It is all that a great many people ever take to keep strong and vigorous, and absolutely free from constipation.

ROOSEVELT HELPS SWING TO HOOVER

By JULIUS L. MEIER, Governor of Oregon. Since Roosevelt's visit to the state there has been a marked swing to the Republican party ticket in Oregon. In my opinion this is due, first, to the disappointment of the people in Roosevelt and his policies, and, secondly, to an awakening on the part of the people to the achievements of President Hoover and the necessity of continuing his far-visions leadership at the head of the nation. To exchange the tried and successful leadership of President Hoover now for the new, untried and untrained leadership of the Democratic presidential nominee would, in my opinion, not only defer for years the return of prosperity but might plunge the country into another crisis.

"The Forgotten Man"—"A Myth," Says Al Smith

While Al Smith may have shaken hands with Franklin D. Roosevelt, he is far from agreement with him that the "Forgotten Man" is the prime issue in this year's campaign. "We should stop talking about the Forgotten Man and about class distinctions," Smith declares. "The Forgotten Man is a myth and the sooner he disappears from the campaign the better it will be for the country." Despite the so-called "peace" brought about between Smith and Roosevelt, with which the Democrats seek to win the support of the old Tammany medium for their ticket in New York, this "harmony" appears to be merely on the surface and for public effect. As rival party leaders, there still exists between Smith and Roosevelt widespread difference as to party policy. Smith, for instance, frankly avows his opposition to some of the alliances to which the Roosevelt cause is committed. Among these may be mentioned the Hearst-McAdoo combination, through which the Roosevelt-Garner nominations were engineered at Chicago. The real question, Smith declares, is what the Democratic party would do with its victory? "The first issue to be decided," he says, "is what elements will control the party. Because it must be admitted that the party is not united and that it is composed of a number of conflicting elements. "With some of the elements and forces in the party I am completely out of sympathy, not for personal reasons but because I believe them to be inimical to the best interests of the country. In my opinion, the Democratic party must purge itself of these influences if it is to serve the nation in this crisis."

The West's First President a Man of the Last Frontier

Herbert Hoover is the West's first President. Washington had in his youth lived on the frontier and explored the West of his day; Jefferson had that vision of the trans-Mississippi empire which opened the West to settlement; but in Hoover we find the first President produced by that great West. And the frontier life has been his birthright; his forerunners trekked across the mountains to the Western Reserve and then onward across the Mississippi to Iowa; nor did the journeying stop there for as a boy of eleven he himself went West by emigrant train to Oregon, the last frontier. Boy and man, Herbert Hoover lived on the frontier and knows at first hand the Western environment and all its reactions on American life. Boyhood experiences in rural Iowa and on an Indian Territory reservation, then schoolboy days in an Oregon Quaker Colony, earning his way through the new university in California, summer work on surveys in Arkansas, Nevada, and California, and then work in the mining camps of California, Arizona, and New Mexico—such was the Western training of Herbert Hoover. Who is better fitted to understand the West and its needs?

Plus Signs in Business

Evidence of business improvement as shown by the latest Bradstreet bulletin is presented as follows: "The best evidence that the 'corner' has been turned in a large number of lines is found in a comparison of prices today with prices in June—a difference of three months time. The following upswing has been registered: 1. Cotton has risen over 75 per cent. 2. The commodity index shows a 10 per cent climb. 3. Food prices have risen over 11 per cent. 4. Bank deposits have increased over 4 per cent. 5. Our gold supply has increased $219,000,000. 6. Government 3 per cent bonds are up 10 points. 7. Industrial bonds have risen 30 per cent. 8. Industrial stocks are up over 100 per cent. 9. High grade rail bonds have gone up 60 per cent. 10. Rail stocks have risen in value over 200 per cent. "Credit and jobs support each other, and both are more available than they were. The improvement of each particular situation brings improvement in other situations. The chain of recovery is now being built link by link

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Rev. C. E. Barnett, Pastor. "Pressing Into the Kingdom" and "Imagination and Reality" will be the sermon subjects next Sunday. The hours for delivery of these messages will be 10:30 a. m., and 7:30 p. m. The folks attending the morning services appreciate the earlier beginning as it permits of dismissal at 11:40. This does not mean the omission or curtailment of any part of the service, but is accomplished by the conservation of hitherto wasted time. We respectfully urge attendance of all resident members and invite all others who desire to worship with us morning and evening. The "How's and What's" of a month's discussion of the liquor problem will be brought to a close in the Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:30 p. m. The final question for discussion will be "What Shall Our Group Do About Prohibition?" Vonnie Leavitt will be the leader. Supt. Ed Brandenburger will name a special committee next Sunday to present plans for the betterment of the Sunday school. Each Sunday's session beginning at 9:30 a. m., is an opportunity for a systematic and concerted study of God's word. There is a joy in congregational singing and in the fellowship of the hour. There is an added joy in the hour of worship at the church hour, 10:30. Come to Sunday school and stay for church. Be a repeater at the evening service, 7:30.

MONTICELLO GAME ON LOCAL FIELD ON SATURDAY

(Continued From Page One) noon 12 to 0. Both of Bethany's touchdowns were scored via the air route. Jones, the victors' right end, carried the ball across in both instances on heaves from Grabb, a substitute for Mallinson. In the second quarter Grabb tossed a 25-yard pass to Jones, who took the ball on the goal line for the count. In the last minute of the final quarter, Grabb passed to Jones on the 50-yard line, but the pass was intercepted by a Hammond man, but as the gun ended the game he fumbled the ball and Jones picked it out of the air and raced 50 yards for a touchdown. The attempted points after touchdowns failed in both instances. The score— Hammond (0) Bethany (12). Helfrich, le 1t, Marshall Bolin, lg 1g, Reedy Parrill, c 1c, Cordray Henderson, rg 1g, E. AUNT SALLY KEEN

Marketing, Aunt Sally? Hop in I'll drive you around. I may be dumb, but meanwhile suppose you explain something you spoke of the other day. What, in the name of goodness, is PORK BARREL legislation? Annabelle, that's a puffycock good question. Plenty others hear it with no idea o' wot it means or how it got its name. It's a relic o' frontier days when pork an' bacon wuz 'bout the only meat to be had. Country stores kept a barrel of it right handy so's folks could help themselves—pick out jest wot they wanted. Sooner or later a lot o' people would be gittin' their hands into the pork barrel. See? Oh, Aunt Sally, how unsanitary! Well, honey, t'wuzn't real clean an' purty, to be sure, but Pork barrel measures aren't much cleaner. It's a case o' politicians delvin' in an' bringin' home the bacon—the barrel bein' the United States Treasury an' home bein' the votin' community o' the politician. How can any one person dip into the United States Treasury, Aunt Sally? It isn't jest ONE person, Annabelle, it's a group o' 'em gettin' together an' tradin'. Take this recent Garner Pork Barrel bill o' more'n two an' a half billion, which the Democrats were jest about to put over when President Hoover stepped in an' stopped 'em. It covers a pile o' different items, but some o' 'em is $200,000 Post Offices fur communities that didn't even want 'em and where even a $50,000 buildin' is out of place. 'Course the $200,000 buildin's stand out ez monuments to the Congressmen gittin' 'em fur their communities, an' since U. S. Government money's payin' fur 'em, anyway, they go in deep. Yes, but aren't the communities TAXED for these buildings, Aunt Sally? The whole United States is taxed fur 'em, honey. Jest one buildin' isn't much, but when you add up a lot o' 'em, then you get a big item. One politician'll vote fur a project clear outside his state providin' the representative from that particular state'll turn 'round an' help him on something HE wants. That's tradin', Annabelle. It represents Garner's idea o' statesmanship an' the Democrats were jest about to put over when President Hoover stepped in an' stopped 'em. It covers a pile o' different items, but some o' 'em is $200,000 Post Offices fur communities that didn't even want 'em and where even a $50,000 buildin' is out of place. Others said they stood upon the platform declarations of their parties, while others gave evasive replies. Congressman Adkins alone in the state was recorded as against any change of the eighteenth amendment or revision of the Volstead law, according to published reports of the poll of candidates. Bring your orders for JOB WORK to The Moultrie County News.

DEDICATE TRAVEL BUILDING OF 1933 EXPOSITION.

With transportation veterans of a half century's service and railroad presidents attending the ceremony, the Travel and Transport Building, wonder structure of A Century of Progress—Chicago's 1933 World's Fair—was dedicated, last week.

Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific Railway, delivered the address of dedication. Three other railroad presidents were present. They were Fred Sargent, head of the Chicago & North Western Railway; James E. Gorman of the Rock Island Lines, and L. A. Downs of the Illinois Central System.

"The impressive structure in which we are assembled today is to be devoted to an exposition of a century's progress in the means of travel and transportation," Mr. Donnelly said. "It is a striking thought that nearly all the really swift progress along these lines which our race has made in the course of its history has taken place during that period."

Railroads Revolutionized.

"At the beginning of the last century the use of steam as motive power in transportation was practically unknown. The introduction and rapid construction of railroads caused the greatest revolution in commerce and consequently in production that has ever occurred in the history of mankind."

The veterans present included Napoleon F. Briggs, 70, of Chicago, who pulled the Golden State Limited of the Rock Island Lines on its maiden trip on November 2, 1892; Patrick Fitzgerald, 70, of Joliet, Ill., who recently retired as conductor after fifty-one years' service on the Rock Island; B. F. Miller of Chicago, who was guard in 1892 on the first elevated train to be placed in operation, and Captain William Disher, 78, who first came to Chicago in 1871 on the schooner Lockwood from Buffalo and who has sailed the Great Lakes in command of steam vessels for thirty years.

Ever since its erection the Travel and Transport Building has attracted the attention of engineers.

Its dome is 125 feet high, 310 feet in diameter at the base, and 200 feet in diameter without obstruction. The dome of the Washington capitol could be placed beneath its roof without touching a support.

Like Suspension Bridge.

This huge unobstructed area is the result of the first application to architecture of the principle used in the suspension bridge. The roof is actually held in place by cables, suspended from twelve steel towers arranged in a circle.

Because of this arrangement the roof is in constant motion and the circumference varies as much as six feet with changes in temperature, wind velocity, etc. Under this roof is some of the most remarkable echoes ever discovered. Simple sounds are repeated as many as forty times, while whole sentences are repeated several times!

Within this dome next year will stand historic locomotives, the first Pullman car and other historic relics. On the walls and base of the dome will be a pictured story of the development of travel and transportation from prehistoric times to the day of the electric locomotives, motor cars, transatlantic liners, airplanes and dirigibles.

Display Famous Trains.

Leading railroads will have their displays in the south of the 1,000-foot long and windowless hall adjoining the dome.

South of the structure will be tracks with famous trains from different parts of the United States and Europe, and railroad equipment too large to display inside.

The Travel and Transport Building is the second major exhibit building of A Century of Progress to be dedicated. The Hall of Science was dedicated on June 1, exactly one year before the official opening of the World's Fair.

POLITICS, MURDER, MUSIC--ALL FIND PLACE IN "GARDEN."

The Democratic National Convention of 1924, longest political meeting on record; the sensational murder of Stanford White, noted architect, by Harry K. Thaw; the monster "anti-gang" meeting of 1931, at which the aroused populace of New York voted to stamp out crime; the farewell concert of Patti, now almost legendary figure in the annals of music--these are only a few of the many thousands of events of diverse natures that have taken place under the roof of Madison Square Garden, Manhattan's world-famed arena, which is the background for the film, "Madison Square Garden," due for showing at the Grand Theatre beginning Sunday and Monday, Oct. 30-31.

Since the construction of the first Garden, in 1892, literally thousands of events have been crowded into the old structure and the new, more magnificent one opened in 1925. World championships in every field of sport have been won and lost there, but it is not only through sports that the Garden has won its name. It has been the scene of political, social, musical, and civic functions from the time of its erection.

Jack Oakie, Thomas Meighan, Marian Nixon, Warren Hymer, William Collier, Sr., William Boyd and ZaSu Pitts head the cast which enacts the story, "Madison Square Garden," a rapid-moving drama set against this kaleidoscopic background.

Like "Grand Hotel," "Union Depot," and other pictures of a one-location type, "Madison Square Garden," deals with a group of persons from entirely different backgrounds who glide briefly into the action, and then out again, their lives changed by the events in which they have participated. A manager who brings two proteges to the Garden in search of fame and fortune, and two girl telegraph operators with whom the latter fall in love are embroiled in the startling developments which follow.

"Bring'em Back Alive," the Jungle picture that has caused such country wide comment is scheduled to appear at the Grand on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 3-4. Other attractions to be shown the coming week are included in the advertisement on the back page of this paper.

HOOVER VS. ROOSEVELT ECONOMY AS SHOWN BY THEIR RECORDS

Franklin D. Roosevelt, as Democratic candidate for President, declares for "economy in government." An index of governmental economy as practiced by him as chief executive of New York state is presented by the figures covering that state's finances under his administration.

Prior to Roosevelt's accession to the governorship, New York's largest tax budget was $232,643,701.10, in 1928—the last year of Governor Smith's rule. Under Roosevelt, however, the figures mounted progressively to $264,834,110.39 in 1929; $315,920,942.26 in 1930, and $328,140,894.91 in 1931.

During the three and one-half years of Mr. Roosevelt's administration, the gross funded debt of the state has increased from $355,000,000 in 1929 to $444,000,000 on June 30, 1932. On that date the state also had temporary debts of $135,000,000 for money borrowed in anticipation of revenues, making a total indebtedness of $579,000,000. The net current deficit on that date was $62,000,000 and the estimated deficit next June over $100,000,000.

In contrast with this record and the additional tax burden it has placed on the people of New York stands the record of President Hoover in having prevented, through budget cuts and the exercise of his veto power, an increase of $5,102,500,000 in Federal expenditures since March 4, 1929. Savings thus effected by direct executive action of President Hoover are:

Bills for federal expenditures passed by Congress and killed by Presidential veto ... $883,500,000. Bills passed by the Democratic House of Representatives but killed in the Senate through Republican leadership under President Hoover ... $3,700,000,000. Budget cuts made by governmental departments at the direction of the President $369,000,000. Budget cuts made by Congress at suggestion of the President ... $150,000,000. Total expenditures prevented ... $5,102,500,000.

Additional savings of $1,390,000,000 sought by President Hoover were refused by Congress, which either overrode his veto or failed to provide further budget cuts which he recommended. These included:

Bills for federal expenditures vetoed by the President but on which his veto was over-ridden ... $1,310,000,000. Additional budget cuts asked by the President but not made by Congress ... $80,000,000.

In addition to the savings effected by President Hoover's leadership and his use of the veto power, Republican leadership in the Senate under him killed the following measures after they had actually been passed by the Democratic House of Representatives:

A gigantic "pork barrel" bill, sponsored by Speaker John N. Garner, now Democratic candidate for Vice President, for expenditure chiefly on unnecessary public works, $1,200,000,000.

A bill to issue printing press flat money, at the risk of destroying our entire monetary and financial structure, to the extent of $2,500,000,000.

The "pork barrel" bill was described by President Hoover as "an unprecedented raid upon the public treasury." Of the flat money bill and similar measures sponsored by the Democratic majority under Speaker Garner's leadership, he said:

"These measures were not simply for vote-catching. Though they brought discouragement and delay to recovery, they represent the dominant Democratic control and the true sentiments and doctrines of the majority in control of the Democratic party."

THE COOPERATIVE MARKETING ISSUE.

Attacks on the Federal Farm Board continue with intensity, until one would think by reading some of the city dailies that all that is needed to restore prosperity is to repeal the Agricultural Marketing Act. It is noticeable, if natural, that the bitterest newspaper attacks come from those cities where private dealers in farm products are most numerous.

The heaviest broadsides of criticism are leveled at the stabilization efforts of the Farm Board—its buying and holding of wheat, cotton and so forth to maintain the price—but there is really not much controversy on this point, for it is generally recognized that this feature of the act has not worked well and it is not likely to be invoked again.

The more serious issue involved is whether the effects of this attack may splash over onto the cooperative marketing activities which are the more fundamental and more constructive phase of the board's work.

The assistance of the Farm Board, financial and otherwise, has stimulated the growth of cooperative marketing, particularly in the terminal markets. The growth of course leaves less business for private handlers. The latter are only human, and no one can blame them for trying to retain their business.

One of the favorite points of attack just now is the salaries paid by some large cooperatives. The fact is that the cooperatives are in the big business class. Big business demands big men, and can afford to pay the price necessary to get them.

The interest of the public lies in the development of the most efficient marketing organization possible, whether cooperative or private. The experience of the cooperatives shows that their organization is soundest when their growth is gradual.

WHY THE PRESIDENT SHOULD BE ELECTED.

The prize of one hundred dollars offered by Grenville Kleiser for the best essay on: "Why President Hoover Should Be Re-elected," has been won by Mr. A. C. Scott, 310 W. 16th Street, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Following is the winning essay:

"If ever a President of the United States deserved re-election on his record, President Hoover deserves re-election; and if ever our country needed the continued services of a President, the United States needs continued services of President Hoover.

"Confronted with greater difficulties than any other President has had to meet in times of peace, if not indeed in times of either war or peace, he has been the outstanding leader in preventing disaster and promoting recovery.

"He closed the door to foreign immigration. He was the leading factor in maintaining wages for eighteen months, thus softening the first blow of the panic. He promoted public and private construction running into hundreds of millions of dollars and employing hundreds of thousands of men.

"Thus, one by one, he dealt with each new crisis. But the measure of his statesmanship was not yet taken. In December, 1931, he laid before the Congress a program of reconstruction, and relief so complex, vast, and far-reaching, and in its implications so beneficial to all our people, that it must rank among the greatest achievements of any of our Presidents.

"President Hoover has grown in stature with these years until, in the words of the independent Democratic New York Times, he is 'every inch a President.' He is a stronger President than ever before.

HOME COMING AT THE HIGH SCHOOL SPLENDID SUCCESS

NORMA JEAN CLARK QUEEN

Senior Candidate Successful In Winning The Honor—Several Of The Graduates Return For The Events And Hold Reunions.

The annual Homecoming at the Sullivan Township high school on Friday proved to be a splendid success in every way. Starting with the pep meeting in the morning at which talks were given by Carl R. Hill and Dr. Donald Butler, former members of the team, and Coach Clark Dennis everything ran off smoothly. Yells at the pep meeting were given under the direction of the cheer leaders.

The Homecoming parade was the best that has ever been given here. Led by State Highway Patrolman Charles Hochstetler and members of the National Guards the parade marched from the high school to the business district. Then came the Arthur band consisting of seventy-two musicians. The classes of the high school with their candidates for queen had very attractive floats. Pupils of the rural schools came with their floats, the following being represented: Two Mile, Dunn, Kirksville, Purvis, Minor, Strickland Miller and Morning Star. The Parent-Teacher association and other organizations were also represented. The Sullivan band with the pupils of the Sullivan grade schools, many of them in special attire, brought up the rear of the procession.

The prize of $2.00 offered for the best float in the parade was won by the members of the Senior class.

Homecoming Game. Following the parade the crowd went to the football field where the Arthur band marched around the field. Then followed the big game which was easily won by the Sullivan players before the biggest crowd in attendance at a game here in years.

Homecoming Supper. Several of the high school classes gathered in groups and enjoyed supper together. Members of the Parent-Teacher association and the Friends-in-Council assisted in the preparation and serving of the supper.

Homecoming Play. "Merely Mary Ann," the Homecoming play was presented before a large number in the auditorium in the evening. Miss Lucille Coolman director of the play was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses by the play cast, Dean Harshman making the presentation speech. Norma Jean Clark, the senior candidate won the vote for Queen of Homecoming and was presented to the audience by Paul McDavid, manager of the Homecoming.

Among those returning were: Misses Rose Eden and Olive Ruth Martin, of Decatur; Mrs. William Dedman of Jacksonville; Mrs. Edwin Russell of Litchfield; Howard Christy of Chicago; Mrs. Grace Clark of Chicago, and Misses Lucille McIntire, Cathryn Hughes, Marjorie Newbold, Mildred and Margaret Chapin and Messrs. MRS. DORA REDFERN BADLY INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Car In Which She Was Riding Struck By Switch Train In Decatur.

Leaping from an automobile when the motor stalled on a Wash switch track at Morgan street in Decatur, two women were injured one seriously, and two men dashed to safety as a cut of cars crashed into the automobile. The accident occurred about 4:45 p. m. Saturday. Mrs. Dora Redfern, Lake City, is in St. Mary's hospital where her right leg was amputated following the accident. It is feared that she also has a broken neck. Her condition is critical from loss of blood and shock.

Ankle Injured. Mrs. Maude Burgner of Decatur is in the hospital with probable fractures of the right ankle. Her condition is not serious.

John C. Burgner, Washab engineer, and E. Day Redfern, driver of the car, leaped from the automobile to safety before the cars struck the sedan. The injured women were taken to the hospital in a J. J. Moran Sons ambulance.

According to witnesses of the accident, Mr. Redfern was driving south on Morgan street. He approached the crossing and the flagman at the intersection signalled him to stop. He brought his car to a stop, but not until after it had straddled the switch track north of the main track.

Motor Killed. A switch engine was setting a cut of two cars on the side track and had cut them loose just west of the crossing. Mr. Redfern saw the cars coming toward his machine, and killed his motor in his attempt to back the car off the track.

Calling to the others to jump, he opened the door of the sedan and leaped out. Mr. Burgner who sat beside him in the front seat also jumped from the car. Mrs. Burgner, who was on the side of the back seat farthest from the approaching cars, opened the door and jumped out. Mrs. Redfern followed her.

Just as Mrs. Redfern reached the pavement, the cars struck the automobile, pushing it ahead of them. Mrs. Redfern was knocked down by the automobile as it slid sideways down the track.

Car Passes Over Leg. She was rolled under the car and toward the edge of the track. When her body fell free of the automobile the wheels of one truck on the 'right car passed over her right leg. It was so badly mangled that surgeons amputated. The other leg was badly cut and torn, but it is hoped that it can be saved.

Mrs. Burgner was struck by the end of the automobile as she ran from it, and was knocked down. In falling she injured her leg and sustained other minor injuries. In the hospital she was kept all night to determine whether complications might develop.

"If she hadn't tried to get out she wouldn't have been hurt," Mr. Redfern said in St. Mary's hospital after the accident. The automobile was not seriously damaged.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR EDITOR SHOAFF AT SHELBYVILLE

Meets Death As Result Of Auto Accident Near Office At That Place.

Thomas B. Shoaff, 85, editor of the Shelby County Leader, and believed to have been the oldest active printer in the United States, was injured fatally late Thursday when struck by an automobile.

He died in Shelby County Memorial hospital of a fractured skull half an hour after being run down by an automobile driven by Abe Henry, of Ridge township. The accident occurred on Main street at the court house square near the Leader office at 6:45 p. m.

Mr. Shoaff was at the case on Thursday "helping the boys" to "stick type."

Began At Age Of 14. Mr. Shoaff had been in the newspaper business since the age of 14. He was a well known student of Lincoln and a staunch friend of William Jennings Bryan for many years before the latter's death.

Mr. Shoaff, was born Feb. 23, 1847, in Greenville, and came of a family of printers and newspaper publishers who are ardent advocates of the principles of Democracy.

Related To Lincoln. Mr. Shoaff's father was the late James Shoaff, one time editor of the Decatur Magnet, the first newspaper published in Decatur. He also was a grandson of Dennis E. Hanks who was a cousin of Abraham Lincoln. A few years ago Mr. Shoaff had the privilege of settling a dispute among Lincoln historians as to the disposition of Lincoln's first log cabin home in Illinois.

An original photo of the cabin in Mr. Shoaff's possession, together with his affidavit that the cabin was exhibited on the Boston Commons by John and Dennis Hanks and James Shoaff, his father, gave definite direction to a new search concerning the lost history of the cabin. News items of the day, discovered in a search of Boston newspapers, together with an excerpt from the official records of the city council of Boston, showed the granting of the permit for the cabin's display, and the names of some of those who visited the cabin at that time.

Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon at the Shelbyville Methodist church with Rev. Madden, pastor of the Presbyterian church of that city in charge of the services.

YOUNG REPUBLICAN RALLY AT CHAMPAIGN IS SUCCESS. Fifteen hundred enthusiastic young republicans convened at Champaign in their first state rally on Thursday afternoon, and carried their ambition and life over into the evening meeting. It was decided at the afternoon session, which was devoted entirely to the discussion of business and to the giving of reports that the people between the ages of 21 and 36 were taking a more sincere interest in politics this year than in any previous one, due to many reasons.

Among the reasons given by the congressional and county committee men and committeewomen, from all over the state, for this widespread younger interest was the depression, unrest, contrast of personalities between the candidates, publicity thrown on the November election, and many other things.

One of the biggest torch light parades ever seen in Central Illinois was staged immediately following the afternoon meeting. Dancing followed the evening speeches.

Sen. Harry C. Wright, candidate for auditor of public accounts; John E. Northup, candidate for attorney general; George Olmsted, National director; Park Livingston, state chairman of First Voters; Miss Jean Summers, national secretary; Harold T. Halfpenny, state chairman, were the speakers on the evening program.

Paul Prehn, state director, was general chairman of the meeting, while Glynn White, Champaign chairman of the Young Republicans, was co-chairman.

TO THE POINT It was a very wet night, and the last bus was full inside, when the conductor asked, "Will any gentleman go up on top to oblige a lady?"

There was no response, so the inquiry was repeated, but still there was no response. At last one male passenger remarked, "Are you sure that she is a lady, and not a poor woman?"

"Oh, yes," said the conductor, without hesitation, "she is a lady all right." "A well-dressed lady?" persisted the passenger.

"Yes, a thoroughly well-dressed fashionable lady," the conductor assured him.

"Then," said the passenger, settling himself more comfortably in his seat, "she can afford to take a cab home."—London Answers.

MISS ANN RICHLAND locked the back door of her small house, and went out to the tumble-down old barn which had become a shelter for the ancient automobile that she vainly gloriously called "the car." She had dusted and washed it that very morning. There was a minute or two of hesitation on the part of the car, after Ann had stepped on the "gas," and then an exciting thrill shuddered through the vehicle, and it rolled importantly through the open door and down the incline to the grassy yard, where it rattled and snorted while all the hens craned their necks curiously.

"Now, giddy!" commanded Ann Richland imperiously, as they reached the road, and soon they were spinning madly along toward the cross road that led straight to the railroad station. Since she had acquired the car Ann had made it her business to meet every important train that stopped at Little River. If the day was a stormy one, she was buttoned up snugly in black of fur curtains and the passengers were warm and dry in return for the "cent fare." But this morning was cool, delicious spring one. The big "stage" that always met the trains was already there when Ann reached the station. Dan Mills was the approved carrier of mail bags to and from the trains, and he grinned at Ann and touched his cap.

"How's she goin'?" he wanted to know. "Like a bird!" laughed Ann happily. "Humph!" grunted old Benjamin Brown, who had come to the station to meet his new hired man. "Like a crow-bird—that old rattle trap humps along. Here comes the train, I wonder what kind of a poor tramp they're sending me this time?"

Ann's car was filled soon after the train stopped, and she turned to run to the village. But Benjamin Brown, who had just taken on a single passenger, had cut in ahead of Ann's car. She waited until he had passed, telling herself that the passenger did not look like a regular farmhand. After she had left her passengers in the village she went slowly homeward. Just as she was turning into her gate, Dan Mills came jogging along, his empty stage stretching behind him.

"Wait a minute, Ann," he sang out. Dan emerged from the stage and came over to talk to her. "Say, Ann," he said in a low tone, "did you see the queer party that went home with Ben Brown?"

"I don't know," she was well dressed for a farm hand," admitted Ann. "You act queer, Dan—suspicious, aren't you?"

For an answer he thrust a hand into an inside coat pocket and brought out a paper—it contained pictures and descriptions of several wanted criminals, and issued warnings against them.

"Why?" Ann Richland pointed toward a familiar picture. "Benjamin Brown's farmhand?"

"That's what I want to know! You see the bank has a registered bag coming along on the evening train—they're keeping the bank open after hours to receive it and lock it up in the vaults—and I'm wondering about that queer character that went to Ben Brown's."

Ann locked her car in the old barn and walked over to the house. She was feeling very lonesome, and rather upset about what Dan Mills had told her, for Brown's land adjoined Ann's on the south. She went around to the south porch now, and started back agast at the sight of the strange "farm-hand."

"The same Ann Richland," he said in a vibrant voice that thrilled Ann. "Why?" stammered Ann, "I do not remember you—you have made a mistake! All all the time she was wishing that Dan would come along so that she might appeal to him for help. Then a sudden shocked expression came to her charming face. "It must be Everett Lewis," she said softly.

"Of course it is—I know I look years older than you; but there was the war, and it rather battered me up; since then, I've been back at my old job—teaching school—until I was bitten with a longing to come back to Little River and see the old place. Then I saw an advertisement of old Ben Brown's place open for summer boarders, so I telegraphed that I would be here on the two-thirty train today. Old Ben was there, hustled me into his wagon and ran me out to his place. First thing he said—something about my being too dressed up for a hired man—brought forth an explanation, and he was so mad because he had probably mistook the real farmhand at the station, that he put me off his place—I'm on my way to the village hotel. I stopped here, Ann, for the sake of old times—you know what I mean?"

Ann blushed beautifully and nodded and offered to drive him to the village hotel. In five minutes the old car had become a wonderful chariot in which two people rode once more through the scenes of happy youth and relived an old love story. Leaving Everett at the village hotel, Ann drove happily back home again.

That all happened years ago—and the Little River bank has never yet been robbed; while Ann Richland has married Everett Lewis! And they live a very happy, almost idyllic life in the old house. Everett teaches the village school and Ann still drives the old car to the station every day for passengers.
