STREET SIGNS BEING ERECTED THIS WEEK

Re-Numbering Of Houses Will Begin This Week Also.

The new street signs have arrived and workmen have been busy this week putting them at the proper street intersections.

The letters are black on a white background, and are supported by a metal pipe post, two signs, one above the other so as to be visible from each direction.

Street signs south of north of Harrison street, have the letter "S" or "N" preceding the name, while Main street is dividing line east and west.

The intersection of Harrison and Main streets at the northwest corner of the public square is thus made the center of the city.

Re-numbering of the houses will begin this week, and all numbers will be assigned east and west and north and south from Main and Harrison Street.

The old numbering began at the south city limits and the east boundary of the city, and no new additions had been added to the city since the houses were last numbered. Each block will be assigned 100 numbers, as heretofore.

COUNCIL PLANS REVISED GROUP OF ORDINANCES

Many Of The City Regulations Are Antiquated By Changes Through Past Fifty Years.

The council is working on a revised group of city ordinances that will repeal all of the old laws. Some of the existing ordinances that were drawn up in the early years of the city have been antiquated by the changes in the later years.

From the book of ordinances published in 1892 can be read the law that any person that does not pay his fine can be sentenced to labor at fifty cents a day to be applied to the fine and costs.

From the same book the existing law is that any person or persons that want to engage in a game of croquet on the streets of the city will be fined five dollars and costs.

ELLIS WINS HIS SUIT AGAINST HARDWARE BANK

Verdict Was Reached On Second Ballot --- Handed Down Thursday Morning.

In the case of Ellis vs. Hardware State Bank, which was tried in the circuit court this week, a decision was handed down by the jury on Thursday morning in favor of T. P. Ellis. Ellis asked for recovery of $1,000 plus five percent interest and $200 paid as an assessment when the bank was placed in receivership.

Ellis named as defendants, the bank and J. R. Drake who in 1932 was one of the bank's major stockholders. Ellis claimed that notes made by a group of Lovington men to the Hardware State Bank were given merely as an evidence of faith in the bank's stock and not in outright purchase of stock.

He declared that he and several others had been asked to purchase bank stock in 1932, but that he had refused, agreeing instead to loan the bank credit by signing a $1,000 note. To keep the records straight, Ellis said, he was issued stock, with the understanding it was to be returned. However he testified, he still holds the stock, and the note in 1937 was cancelled and $1,000 taken from his account.

A sealed verdict was brought in on the second ballot.

JUDGING TEAMS IN STATE CONTEST AT UNIVERSITY

Horace Erwin, Ag Instructor At High School, Has Teams In Various Events — Sponsored By Teachers.

Sullivan judging teams went to Urbana on Wednesday to take part in the annual state vocational agriculture judging contest held at the University of Illinois. The contest is sponsored by the teachers of agriculture to stimulate interest in good livestock and crops among the students of vocational agriculture.

The annual contest was begun soon after vocational agriculture was established in Illinois in 1918, when there were 15 departments. Today, 373 departments in as many high schools still find the annual contest stimulating and helpful.

Only one team can win first place but all who take part can enjoy the contest, the contacts and sites at the University and benefit from the preparation for the contest.

Monday of the past week the fast-track team practiced at the farms of Eugene Freese and B. F. Humphrey, judging hogs and horses at Humphrey's. Thursday the team was taken to Bement for practice judging horses and beef cattle, hogs and sheep. Members of the team making the trip were: Estol Freese, Kenneth Jeffers, John Roy, John Taylor and Charles Crawford.

Besides two night practice sessions the dairy team has practiced on Holsteins at the Masonic Home, Jerseys at Ralph Emel's, Brown Swiss at C. E. Coultas' of Bethany and Guernseys at the Henry Bunning & Son farm at Moweaqua.

On Friday the dairy teams of Bement, Cerro Gordo and Arthur were guests of the Sullivan team for practice at the above farms. B. H. Smith and Ralph Emel were also guests on the judging tour. Members of the Sullivan team are: Gerald Dolan, Warren Hall, Raymond Binder, Arthur Aylward, Darrell Davis and Bill Bone.

The grain team was taken to Cerro Gordo Saturday for practice. Members of the team making the trip were: Duane Bragg, Arthur Aylward Willard Beals and Bill Bone.

W. P. WOOD RESIGNS AS BANK CASHIER. The board of directors of the State Bank of Arthur at a meeting last Wednesday evening, May 29, accepted the resignation of Wendell P. Woods, cashier of the bank, effective July 15.

Mr. Woods will become assistant sales manager of the funeral supply division of the Progress Mfg. Co., taking the place of Dan Beals who has gone on the road as salesman for the company.

Since November 1936, Mr. Woods has been connected with the State Bank of Arthur and has been a very valuable member of the organization. It was with regret that the board of directors accepted his resignation.

Ervin L. Jurgens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jurgens will be the new cashier at the State Bank. He has had considerable banking experience, having been cashier of the First National Bank in this city for several years. During the past few years he has been associated with the Prudential Life Insurance Co. and he and his wife and daughter have made their home in Mattoon. His many friends will be happy to learn that he is to return to Arthur—Arthur Graphic.

WORK HAS BEEN STARTED ON NEW WATER SOFTENER. The long looked for dream of the Bethany housewives will soon be a reality, that is the flowing of soft water through the water mains of the Bethany water works system.

The actual work started Monday morning when men of the contracting firm, Glen Evans, started to pour the concrete forms for the foundation of the brick building to house the necessary machinery. The work will be pushed along at top speed, and the machinery has already started to arrive.

The softener will be located at the west part of town on the lot where the well for the water supply is located. Estimates are that it will only be a few months until the soft water will be available to every user of the city water.

Hundreds of dollars of damages have been done to the plumbing fixtures in the Bethany homes which use city water by the rust and iron that is in the water. This will be stopped as soon as the new softener is placed into service.—Bethany Echo.

COLES-MOULTRIE CO-OP SEEKS NEW REA GRANT. John J. Waggoner stated last week that a petition to the Rural Electrification administration for an allotment for a proposed third project of the Coles-Moultrie Electric cooperative probably will be made Saturday, June 15. This date has been set as the deadline for application for membership in the project.

The request for the allotment will be made following that date if the membership is great enough to insure the construction of 100 to 125 mile of lines. Approximately 250 memberships will be needed. $275,000 was requested early this year by the cooperative as an estimate of a third proposed project to cover 260 miles.

GOLF NOTES

The Country Club players journeyed to Villa Grove Sunday to play in a tournament. From the reports that came back Sullivan didn't win or place. A few of the players that made the trip presented some alibis—bad greens—roughs were too rough—too tired—off day; on alibis par golf was played. Huelster and Gardner brought in the best cards of the local golfers. Huelster shot an 82 and Gardner brought in an 85. About fifteen of the Sullivan players made the trip. In a private foursome last week, Tom West and Jap Ogle tried to undermine Ivan Wood and Wilbur Heagen. According to an unconfirmed report Wood and Heagen were about a thin one ahead on the eighteenth. The weather has been rather hard on the golfers the past several weeks. Too much rain and not enough holes played. To follow up the statement made regarding the results of the Tourney at Villa Grove Sunday it seems a "blitzkrieg" was struck at Sullivan. The Monticello golfers captured the four city meet, scoring a team total of 1,262 strokes to 1,283 for Farmer City and Villa Grove and 1,284 for Sullivan. Les Hammersmith of Monticello was the medalist with a 78. It has been rumored that there is a "fifth Column" movement on foot at the Club—"Shorty" Huelster has been practicing after hours and will attempt to get even with some of the boys very soon.

THIS IS A GOOD TIME TO BUILD.

What will the European War do to building? With the tremendous forces of destruction now unleashed over there and the impact of events, on the stock market and the nerves of the people over here, it is only natural that many people, in and out of the building industry, should ask themselves, "Is this a good time to build?" In my opinion this is the best of all times to build. It is the best of all times to put earnings and savings in to a permanent, tangible, concrete investment whose intrinsic value to the investor will not be affected by any storms of war. A home is such an investment. Stocks depreciate, bonds are defaulted, money itself may become valueless, but so long as a home stands it is shelter, it is security, it is stability for a man and his family. What else can we buy as a hedge against uncertainty? Where else can we put our money and be safe? It seems to me the building industry has what amounts to a duty and an obligation to tell this story to the public. In a world suddenly become insecure the building industry alone can offer security. Suppose inflation should come, as it does often in the wake of a great war? Your dollars will be worth less, you will pay more of them for food, for clothing and for rent, but, if you have bought a home your dollar payments will not change. You've bought security. Suppose this country goes to war after all. What about the soldier who is paying on a home? This is a possibility, of course. But, is it too radical to suggest that it might be most unpopular for FHA to permit foreclosure on the very house which that soldier is fighting to protect? In the trying times ahead, the more families that own their homes, the better off our country will be. We must never forget that our freedom was created by forefathers who lived in homes that they owned, homes that they built in many cases with their own hands. Scan the history of this country, look about you now. Can there be any doubt that those who have stood and are standing their ground against forces that are dangerous to our freedom are those who have planted their roots somewhere, who have a place they call home? Yes, more than ever the building industry can conscientiously and patriotically sell its product to the public.—Building Supply News.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL AT KIRKSVILLE CHURCH. The women of the United Brethren church in Kirksville will hold an ice cream social on the church lawn on Tuesday evening, June 18th.

For The HOMEMAKER

COOL, REFRESHING SUMMER DRINKS. The first warm summer days seem to call for cool, tempting refreshments. After an afternoon in the open, a refreshing milk drink with crunchy butter cookies is just the "snack" to tide one over until meal-time. The refreshing coolness of milk combined with ice cream will give you renewed energy to finish the day's work. At home with meals, at the soda fountain, at picnics, beverages made with milk have unusual appeal. Easily assimilated food value or "pick-up" plus a delightful thirst-quenching quality put these drinks in front for warm weather.

Orange Quench. 3-4 cup milk. 1 teaspoon sugar. 1-4 cup orange juice. Combine ingredients, beat until thoroughly blended. Serve chilled. Makes 1 serving. Variation: Add 1-4 teaspoon cinnamon, for Spiced Orange Milk.

Ginger Flip. 1-2 cup gingerale. 1-4 cup milk. 1 serving vanilla ice cream. Pour gingerale and milk into a tall glass. Add a serving of vanilla ice cream. Serve immediately. Makes 1 large serving. Root beer may be substituted for gingerale.

Fresh Banana Frosted. 1 fully ripe banana. 1 scoop vanilla ice cream. 6 ounces cold milk. Peel banana and break it into pieces directly into shaker cup of mixer or mixing bowl. Add other ingredients and beat until creamy. Makes 1 serving. NOTE:—When an electric drink mixer is used which does not cut up and crush fruit as it mixes, the banana should be mashed before being placed into mixer cup. Place mashed banana with other ingredients into mixer cup and whip until creamy.

TASTY SUGGESTIONS. Mix equal parts of grated American cheese with softened butter, mix until smooth. This may be used not only in cheese rolls but as a spread for canapes, crackers or sandwiches. * * * Finely chopped chives blended with softened butter is a delicious spread on toasted hard rolls as a salad accompaniment. * * * A smooth golden cheese sauce served over sardines on toast is a savory luncheon main dish. Served with a crisp tart salad all that is necessary to complete the meal is a dessert. * * * Mix diced anchovies with cottage cheese and serve in small tomatoes as a luncheon salad. * * * Dress up the cheese sauce served on fresh garden vegetables by adding sliced stuffed olives or chopped ripe olives. * * * Green beans topped with a vinegar-butter sauce are unusual and a suitable vegetable to serve with roasts or steaks. Add 2 tablespoons of vinegar to 1-2 cup of melted butter.

No longer will it be necessary to locate a business house or home by directions from a certain filling station or church. Neither will it be necessary to guess at the number of the house or the name of the street as all houses and business addresses are going to be numbered this week and new street markers erected. All houses and lots will be given a number and that number will be placed on the house. The system of numbering will be started from the northwest corner of the square and the streets are to be numbered north, south, east and west from that corner. Street signs north or south of Harrison will have the letter "N" or "S" preceding the name. Main street will be the dividing line east and west. The old system of numbering began at the south city limits and at the east boundary of the city. Each block will be assigned 100 numbers as was previously done. The city department is placing the signs and several crews of NYA boys are renumbering the houses.

AMERICAN RED CROSS FACES GIGANTIC TASK MORE MONEY NEEDED.

To aid Europe's war-ridden millions, the American Red Cross is now embarked upon a relief operation greater than any previously attempted in its peacetime history. This gigantic task is exceeded only by the organization's operations during the first World War. As representative of the strongest nation not engaged in war, the American Red Cross has become the only hope for victims of the European holocaust, particularly the 5,000,000 civilian refugees. As their own resources become exhausted, only the Red Cross stands between these hordes of sufferers and starvation. The size of the European relief task may be appreciated by a comparison with the Ohio-Mississippi Valley flood of 1937, the reatest natural calamity in which the American Red Cross has operated in the 60 years of its history. In that disaster 1,000,000 persons required assistance. Twenty-five millions of dollars were contributed in response to Red Cross appeals in this relief operation. Several foreign countries sent funds. In another example, public contributions of $10,000,000 were spent in relief of drought sufferers in 1930 and 1931. The New York-New England hurricane of 1938 required a Red Cross expenditure of $1,700,000 for emergency and rehabilitation care for 14,000 families. As in other great catastrophes the American Red Cross must "follow through" on the European job. It has been estimated that $20,000,000 will be needed if minimum needs of the victims of war are to be met. The problem before the American Red Cross means providing emergency food, shelter, clothing and medical supplies until the gap is somehow bridged. Many thousands of the homeless civilians forced to flee their homes now have no homes to return to, nor any possessions, whatsoever. Most of them were unable to take anything along as they hurried for their lives from danger zones. Many are wounded. Others are sick. As American's official disaster relief agency, the Red Cross is duty bound to lend the full strength of its resources in this country and abroad in relieving human suffering resulting from major catastrophes without thought of issues involved or restrictions of race, creed or color. Up to June 10th, approximately $5,200,000 had been spent by the American Red Cross for European war relief. Additional millions are desperately needed and will be translated into aid to suffering humanity as funds are contributed through the $20,000,000 war fund campaign, which now has approximated the 10-million dollar mark. The National organization is urging chapters to bring their local campaigns to a successful close by June 30.

ALL-TIME HIGH IS REACHED IN DHIA WORK IN ILLINOIS.

New records were established in 1939 for members of associations, cooperators and cows on test, while the average butterfat production came within three-tenths of a pound of equalling the all-time high established in 1934, according to the annual report of dairy herd improvement associations in Illinois released by the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

The average production of the 35,377 cows under test in 71 associations was 8,345 pounds of milk and 324.6 pounds of butterfat as compared with the national average of approximately 170 pounds of butterfat.

On January 1, 1940, there were 78 Illinois dairy herd improvement associations with 1,830 members keeping records on 35,379 cows. This is an all-time record for Illinois according to C. S. Rhode and J. G. Cash, dairy husbandrymen of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

The number of associations has since increased to 82. More than 10 per cent of all the state's herds with 10 or more cows are now enrolled in associations.

"This growth shows that an increasing number of dairymen in Illinois have concluded that more attractive dairy farming and higher returns are closely associated with an efficient dairy herd and a complete dairy improvement program," according to Rhode and Cash.

Records of the past year also show that DHIA cooperators have made their dairy improvement plans a part of well-rounded land-use programs to enable them to get more conservation of soil, water and human resources. Use of better cropping systems and pasture improvement, as well as promotion of herd health and a constructive breeding program, have aided in improving farming systems in the state.

Records for the 1939 association year show that as production increased, the feed costs were higher, but that the increase in returns over cost of feed was greater. Between the extremes of those cows producing 150 and 500 pounds of butterfat, feed costs varied from $44.95 to $71.97 a cow, while average returns above feed were $5.06 a cow for animals in the lowest producing group and $159.77 a cow for the highest producers.

Ten cows with an average production of 423.4 pounds of butterfat produced 20,649 pounds less milk and returned as much above cost of feed as 17 cows with an average production of 278.9 pounds of fat, evidence that it is not always the largest herds that make the highest net returns.

Cooperators reported that one of the most effective uses of which the DHIA records are put is in the culling of marginal cows from the herd. Culling the lower producers has stepped up the average production of many herds and has been an important factor in making a herd a more profitable unit. By culling three cows, a McHenry county member increased the average production of his herd from 241 pounds of fat a cow for his first year to 275 lbs. for his second year. With butterfat at 25c a pound, that increase meant $8.50 a cow additional income annually.

NEWS from the State Capitol

Record-breaking numbers of visitors at all Illinois State parks are forecast for this summer by George H. Luker, State Superintendent of Parks and Memorials. Attendance on Memorial Day exceeded expectations everywhere despite threatening weather in some sections. The number of out-of-state visitors is already unusually large, Mr. Luker reports, and indications are that Illinois will entertain more tourists this year than ever before. Studies made in other years have shown that 40 per cent of the automobiles entering State parks during the vacation season come from other states. The State park system now consists of 12 scenic and nine historical parks with a total of 16,600 acres. Charles P. Casey, Director of Public Works and Buildings, pointed out in his speech at the dedication of the Cahokia Courthouse Memorial Day, that this provides two acres of park land for every 1,000 residents of the State. The ultimate goal of Governor Horner and the park planners, he said, is a park system of 10 acres for each 1,000 inhabitants. Work was begun last week on what will be the State's greatest marine park-Chain-O-Lakes, in Lake county. The park, acquired in 1935 contains large areas of open water which are ideal for fishing and swimming, as well as marsh areas abounding in plant and animal life. Nine Illinois State parks now have camp grounds. The finest of these is the Mississippi Palisades State Park in Carroll county. Camping areas are also provided at Apple River Canyon, the Illinois-Michigan Canal Parkway extending from Lockport to LaSalle, Cave-in-Rock, Fort Massac Giant City, Illini, Pere Marquette, and Starved Rock. A camping area also was recently set aside at Fox Ridge State Park in Coles county. Favorable May weather advanced corn and soybean planting in Illinois to a stage ahead of average, although small grain crops are behind schedule. Soybean seeding is now general according to the Illinois and Federal Departments of Agriculture and the soil is in fine condition. Apple and pear orchards promise a fair to good showing but peach orchards are in poor condition. Livestock is in very good condition as the result of weather favorable to pasture growth during May. The second annual convention of the Illinois Twins' association will be held at Starved Rock Park Wednesday and Thursday, July 10-11. One day will be devoted to an elaborate outdoor program of entertainment presented exclusively by twins, and other day given over to sightseeing nature tours and a business session, George and Frank Loobach of LaSalle, twin presidents, have announced. "Last year nearly 500 sets of twins from all sections of the State attended the convention," said a statement issued by the co-presidents. "This year we hope to have at least double that number. Railroads and bus lines have been requested to run excursions, and arrangements made to have motion pictures taken of the various novel features of the convention. Prizes will be awarded for the most nearly identical twins, for the oldest, youngest, tallest, fattest and best looking twins, and for twins coming from the greatest distance. To protect quail and ground-nesting songbirds, the Illinois Division of Highways has equipped all moving equipment with flushing bars. The bars are made by attaching short lengths of rope to poles which extend beyond the mowing blades and cause the birds to leave their nests before the blades reach them. When birds are flushed the machine operator raises the mowing blade, leaving a small patch of grass to protect the nest. LAKE CITY H. B. UNIT MET WITH MRS. WILT. Congressional Trends

BY RALPH YOUNG

If the Republicans have their way Congress will stay in continuous session until such time as the so-called "emergency" sired by the New Dealers passes.

They unanimously agreed to take this stand in a special night meeting last week. Their reason for so doing was they were afraid if they left Washington the administration might take some ill-advised action which would lead this country into war.

Many old-line Democrats feel the same way and are reported to believe it absolutely essential that Congress remain on the job, at least during the summer and early fall. However, both parties have scheduled their conventions to be held during the next several weeks and it is proposed to recess on each of these occasions for a few days to permit members of Congress to attend.

The New Dealers want to get Congress out of town as quickly as possible. They'd adjourn tomorrow if they could get away with it. But the electorate apparently believes the Republicans and old-line Democrats have the right idea and that Congress should not take its customary vacation under present conditions.

Were it not a presidential election year, one might chalk this non-adjournment talk up to grandstanding. But it can't be called that in this case. Senators and Congressmen seeking re-election are going to be at a terrible disadvantage from the vote-getting standpoint if they remain here in Washington and are unable to wage a personal campaign in their respective districts. However, the Republicans and old-line Democrats apparently are willing to make that sacrifice and forego any personal advantages adjournment might bring them. It is a laudable stand to take and demonstrates their high degree of patriotism.

Our Natural Resources.

During the last war our farmers were told, "Food will win the war." They were called on to produce to the utmost of their ability and they answered that call with an output of food that still staggers the imagination. But in the present conflict, the farmers in the United States have not felt any unusual demand for expanded operations.

With the exception of about a dozen vegetable growths and metals, the United States is virtually self-sufficient in everything it needs to embark on our huge rearmament program. The deficient items are now being purchased elsewhere in tremendous volume and stock-piled for future requirements. This, however, is not wasteful spending, for they are all items that can be and are used in normal times, but which just now have a special significance for our national safety.

Our greatest resource, however, is not materials, of which we have an almost burdensome abundance, but intelligent man power. Our huge reservoir of skilled and unskilled workers, coupled with our speedy mass production methods of manufacture is unequalled anywhere in the world and if we make full use of all our facilities we have the means at hand to become the earth's greatest defensive military and naval power.

SUMMER MONTHS DEMAND SPECIAL VIGIL IN DRIVING.

Driving in the summer, when all of the 30,000,000 vehicles in the country seem to be out at the same time can be a pleasure or a nightmare.

After consulting with many experienced motorists, the National Conservation Bureau, accident prevention division of the Association of Casualty and Surety Executives, issues a set of hints which, if followed, will save the driver and his family much grief during coming months.

The number of serious motor vehicle accidents begins to climb through early summer, and continues to rise almost without a break throughout the warm months. Bureau experts point out on the basis of three-year averages. Younger people suffer most from traffic mishaps during this period. According to the latest complete figures children under five have the highest proportion of traffic deaths in July and August. August also is the high month in the 5 to 14 year group while September is the peak for persons 15-24 years of age.

Pedestrian deaths from motor vehicle accidents, the Bureau points out, start climbing rapidly in July and continue upward every month until the end of the year. Summer months, incidentally, are among the highest not only for motor vehicle fatalities but for all types of accidental deaths.

How To Live Longer.

To motorists who would avoid trouble on the road this summer the National Conservation Bureau offers the following hints:

1. If you are a family man planning an automobile vacation on a fairly close budget keep in mind that every ten miles added to the speed rate adds dollars in gasoline and oil costs and in tire and engine wear. The added strain may also cause some parts to give way that under slower driving might have lasted a long time.

2. Skidding around curves is a frequent cause of accidents in summer. One may skid even if the road is dry. Sand or pebbles collected on the outside of a curve may prevent the tires from gripping the pavement while the car is off balance in making the turn. The way to be safe is to slow down everywhere if the road is wet and always, wet or dry at curves.

3. Rain brings two difficulties for the driver. It tends to make the road surface slippery and it decidedly reduces visibility. The best method of meeting both handicaps is to reduce speed.

4. Overtaking is another prolific source of danger on crowded summer highways. Improper passing is the result either of ignorance or unjustified haste. The double line down the middle of the road now used in some states at points dangerous for passing is a safe guide for the driver to follow and should never be violated.

5. Because of longer daylight, many drivers are tempted to stay at the wheel too long. Trying to thread your way through large cities after doing 200 to 300 miles is made more dangerous by fatigue. Pushing on at night after driving a good part of the day is doubly hazardous as it adds fatigue to the normal hazards of night travel.

6. When more than one person occupies the car on a long trip, use the exchange system. Let the more experienced driver take the wheel through cities and on crowded highways, then give over to the relief driver on the easier stretches.

7. Heat punishes tires greatly, especially on long runs. It's a good idea to get out and check the tires when you stop for gas on the road.

8. The experienced driver not only secures information about traffic conditions on the main highways over which he is to travel, but tries to avoid being near large cities on week-ends and holidays.

9. If possible plan to follow good roads where traffic is comparatively light, rather than express highways where it is usually heavy.

10. Another holiday-driving tip is to start out early and start back early.

A Break for Julia

By SMITH JOHNSON
(Associated Newspapers—WNU Service.)

CHARLOTTE DAVIS could hardly wait till 12 o'clock lunch hour, so eager was she to show her friend Julia Winter her new ring.

"It's lovely," praised Julia. "I do hope you and Leslie will be very, very happy," she added, wistfully.

"I hope so, too," retorted Charlotte. "And I guess we will be, for Les seems willing to give me anything I ask for. Lucky for him that he works in a store and can get a good break on the sort of stuff I want."

"Where will you live?" inquired Julia.

"Out on Park terrace."

"Aren't the rents awfully high in that district?" exclaimed Julia.

"Oh, yes," cheerfully admitted Charlotte. "But we only live once, I tell Les, so we're getting the very best of everything."

"It sounds wonderful," sighed Julia.

"I'll say it's wonderful," agreed Charlotte. "All that swell stuff for only $25 down, and he didn't really have to pay that, for the store is giving him credit for the twenty-five as a wedding present, so he took the fifty he saved and made the down payment on my ring."

"Oh!" gasped Julia, aghast at the thought of the size of the debts in proportion to the size of Leslie's income.

"That's what I get for having a sweetie who is a salesman."

"Want a nice willow rocker for your hope chest?" called the foreman of the warehouse, as the tall, cheerful-looking truck driver passed the office door.

"What's wrong with it?" replied the younger man.

"Paint got scratched off in uncrating and the party that ordered it claims the color can't be matched. We settled with her for $5 cash—and we don't want the rocker."

"Store it for me?" grinned the tall chap in tan.

"You bet," cheerfully agreed the foreman. "Put it right in with the rest of your junk. And while you're in the mood to spend money, better take a look at the table over by No. 15. Make up a nice dining table when you've got the top done over, and it won't cost much since the party that owns it hasn't got room for it and won't pay storage any longer."

In the warehouse Pete's bargain-hunting had become a standing joke. But it was a kindly joke, yet when he had enjoyed, for Pete MacElroy was popular and the men all knew that the young chap's purse was strained to the utmost with helping put three younger brothers and sisters through school and at the same time saving to marry Julia Winter.

"I'll wait," Julia had bravely promised.

Sunday afternoons when Peter and Julia walked in the park or took a bus ride or went to a cheap movie they talked, as lovers will, of the time they would be living in a "home of their own," with a garden and a radio and an open fireplace. And then a sorrowful silence would come between them.

Peter and Julia were the first guests to be entertained at the Park terrace apartment. Proudly Charlotte displayed her new treasures. Silk draperies, silk bedspreads, handsome glassware, china and rugs, stunning furniture.

"Honestly, Julia, I wish you could clear out of that stuffy hall bedroom before the hot weather comes," whispered Charlotte as she kissed her chum good-night.

Going home on the bus Peter and Julia were strangely quiet, yet when they reached Julia's rooming-house Peter said, "Let's sit on the porch a while and talk."

Nervously the young chap clasped and unclasped his big hands, cleared his throat and exclaimed abruptly, "Honestly, Julia, there isn't a bit of sense in going on this way. We are just eating out our hearts. And at the rate I'm getting on we'll both be gray-haired before I can give you more than about two rooms to live in."

Julia's poor heart almost stopped beating. Yet she did not blame Peter for wanting to stop pinching pennies to save for a home after spending most of his wages for his brothers and sisters.

Bravely Julia winked back the tears which filled her brown eyes. She tried to speak, to tell Peter that he was free—to offer to give back to him the inexpensive little ring he had given her two Christmas before.

But the words choked her.

Anxiously Peter peered down into her face. Tensely his firm, tanned fingers closed over Julia's trembling hands as he said, "How about it, sweetheart? Are you game to start homemaking with me in just two rooms? I've some odds and ends of furniture stored at the warehouse. And I've enough money saved so you can pick out your own cooking things for the kitchen, and curtains—not silk, like those fancy ones at Charlotte's. And the foreman gave me a tip yesterday about a garage-cottage we can rent dirt cheap, with an option to buy."

"Oh, my dear!" gasped Julia, looking up with a smile that was radiant testimony as to just how Julia felt.

The Selection and Operation of A Farm Electric Refrigerator

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

THERE are few farmers who enjoy high-line service that need be told of the many advantages of an electric refrigerator—how, without attention, it dependably and cheaply protects the family's health, and saves food, money and work. A majority of those who do not already have one are planning its purchase as soon as finances permit for its many benefits—most marked during the hot days of summer and fall—make it a year-round necessity.

However, there probably are many farmers who do not know how to choose the proper size and type of electric refrigerator for their particular needs, or how to operate it at greatest efficiency and lowest cost. For them, some hints on those points should prove helpful.

Whatever you do, do not buy a refrigerator too small for your maximum requirements. That is a serious mistake and one often made either because the unit is purchased purely on a price basis or because no allowance is made for the possibility of additional mouths to feed or extra perishables to store. A good general rule to follow is to allow two cubic feet of storage space per family member but, in no case, should a farm refrigerator have a capacity of less than six cubic feet.

The type (and also size) of electric refrigerator you need will depend upon your marketing and buying habits, the kinds of foodstuffs you raise, buy and sell, and whether or not you wish to keep supplies of fresh meats and frozen goods immediately on hand at all times.

Proper management is the most important factor in keeping the refrigerator at a minimum. Despite the excellence of its insulation, it should be located in as cool a place as possible and away from the range and other sources of heat. Hot foods should be allowed to cool to room temperature before being placed in the box. The door should be opened as seldom as possible and kept open no longer than is absolutely necessary. The temperature inside the refrigerator should not be lower than the contents—the colder it is maintained, the more current will be required.

Bananas, onions, fish and other foods having an odor should be tightly covered or well wrapped in wax paper before being placed in the electric refrigerator. Milk and butter also should be covered or they will absorb odors. The cooling coils should be defrosted at least once a week or as soon as the frost on them is a quarter of an inch thick.

Should your refrigerator stop, see if the power is on, if the cord and plug are in good condition or if any fuses have blown. If the trouble is in the compressor, advise the service department of your nearest dealer. Do not try to fix it yourself as it requires expert attention. Follow the manufacturer's instructions as to oiling—many units do not need it.

Do these things and your electric refrigerator will give you many years of low-cost trouble-free service. The temperature inside the refrigerator should not be lower than the contents—the colder it is maintained, the more current will be required.

The University of Illinois, the state department of agriculture and the Moultrie County Farm Bureau, presented a weed-killing demonstration last Friday at Clarence Elder's.

L. A. Moore, state department of agriculture expert, discussed the weed law and its implications. Joe Allman of the same department identified weeds that were brought in by farmers. In a discussion held before the meeting, Dr. Lloyd Sherman of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture brought out the economic importance of weeds and the methods of control. Dr. J. P. Mains, U. I. health service spoke on weeds from a health viewpoint.

A demonstration with a field cultivator and a power spraying machine was given in the afternoon.

NEWS from the State Capitol

Every effort will be made to complete five new horse barns and extension of the water system and other improvements at the Illinois State Fairgrounds before the 1940 Illinois State Fair opens on August 17. Director J. H. Lloyd of the Department of Agriculture declares. Authorization for expenditure of $60,000 for the construction work and improvements was given to state authorities before he left Springfield to spend his summer vacation in Winnetka.
The barns will replace those destroyed by fire last September. Each will contain 40 boxstalls 10 feet by 12 feet, with a 14-foot driveway through the center. The barns will be constructed of fire-retarding materials.
A contract for the national championship automobile races to be held Saturday August 24 at the State Fair has been signed by Director Lloyd and E. E. Irwin, General Manager of the Fair. A purse of $7,500 will be offered for the 100-mile national championship race in which not less than four of the first ten ranking 1939 champion race drivers as rated by the AAA contest board, will be included.
The Edgar I. Schooley musical revue with a cast of 79 persons will again provide nightly entertainment at the grand stand during Fair week, Director Lloyd announced and a contract has been signed with the Illinois Fireworks company, Danville, for nightly fireworks displays which provide the grand finale after the musical revue.
Following their successful drive to cut down highway deaths over the Memorial Day week end, state safety engineers and highway police are preparing to put increased effort into a similar campaign for the 4th of July holiday period, Ernest Lieberman, Chief Highway Engineer, reports.
Safety education activities and added enforcement of safety laws on Illinois highways are credited with holding the State's Memorial Day week end death toll to the lowest point in 10 years. Only 16 persons were killed during the four-day period as compared to the average of 5.5 deaths recorded daily during the first four months of 1940.
Illinois State parks also established a record during the Memorial day week end with a total of 172,000 visitors at the 21 major parks in the state system.

Resistance and Appeasement

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The conviction is mounting that the successful resistance of the Allies is a vital interest of the whole American hemisphere.

These questions must be faced with clear eyes and a stout heart. By our capacity to answer them wisely there may well be decided our future as a free and an independent nation.

When we examine the feasibility of helping the Allies to resist, we must admit, bear in mind that there are many degrees of resistance.

The Allied soldiers, and their peoples behind them, know now that surrender means literally, not figuratively and rhetorically, destruction of their homes, their laws, their culture and their altars.

Therefore, the Allies fight, as they have fought at Dunkerque, as men fight at last when to die is the least of all the evils that confronts them.

To those who ask whether the American hemisphere has anything decisive to contribute immediately to sustain this resistance, the stupendous events are an answer.

This brings us to the second great consideration which we must bear in mind, that it is of vital moment to the defense of this hemisphere that the resistance should be prolonged and intensified and that, if and when it is necessary for the Allies to retreat their resistance shall be renewed again.

The British Commonwealth includes, besides the United Kingdom, five other democratic nations—Eire, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and Canada. Each of them occupies a strategic position of the greatest importance to the defense of this hemisphere.

If we appreciate this, we shall realize that even if we take the worst view and say we cannot decisively affect the immediate campaign in western Europe, still a vital interest remains.

For ourselves, in order to defend our independence in this hemisphere it is of vital importance that the fortified gateways to our oceans should not be surrendered, at the very worst not until we have had the time to become formidable.

What then of the question of whether, if we reinforce our resistance and it nevertheless fails, shall we have intensified the resentment of the conquerors?

But since we have been incapable of such treachery to the cause of human decency or of such a betrayal of America, we must accept the fact that we shall withhold from the aggressors only what we are able to defend.

And if we do not wish them to make a colonial empire of Latin America, we shall be in their way, and what will happen then will depend on which is the stronger.

TO AVOID INJURY, WATCH YOUR STEP ON MUDDY GROUND. Spring rains may be a joy to farmers with thirsty fields, but the seat of the pants in a mud puddle is no place from which to watch June showers.

Chance of School Attendance. The chances of a boy or girl going to high school are one in two now, compared with one in 25 in 1890.

ATHLETIC NOTES FROM U. OF I.

Fifty-Five Candidates For U. Of I. Team. On Aug. 1 approximately 55 candidates for the University of Illinois football team will receive letters from Coach Bob Zuppke asking them to report for preliminary practice which will begin Tuesday, Sept. 10.

University instruction will begin Sept. 18, which will give Zuppke a week of uninterrupted drills, except for time necessary for registration. The traditional varsity - freshman game will be played Sept. 28 and the season will open against Bradley Oct. 5.

Passers, Kickers and other ball-handlers are taking footballs home with them to practice with. Early in August, Trainer Matt Bullock will send new shoes to the players so that they can break them in gradually and not suffer "new shoe trouble" when practice opens.

Football Clinic Changed To Spring. The pre-season football clinic which has been conducted at the University of Illinois in the closing days of August will not be held this summer, Director W. S. Wilson announces.

"Hoot" Evers Wins Three Varsity Letters. Walter (Hoot) Evers, University of Illinois sophomore, already having varsity basketball letters, added a third awarded a track letter.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for June 16 HAGGAI URGES THE BUILDING OF GOD'S HOUSE

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

Religious work—or, more correctly stated, Christian work—is a difficult and discouraging task, except for the grace and blessing of God. Not only does the Christian worker have to struggle against that arch-enemy of God and of the souls of men, Satan himself, but he must overcome the deadly indifference and carelessness of men both outside and inside the Church.

Haggai ministered to the Jews who had returned from captivity and who had begun to rebuild the temple. Opposition had developed before they had made more than a beginning, and they at once gave up and turned their interest to their own affairs and the building of their own homes.

I. Consider Your Ways (vv. 2-8, 9-11). It was not necessary for the prophet to work up any eloquent plea to stir the conscience of the people. He had only to point to their own ways. They were thus faced with three reproving facts.

1. Indifference (v. 2). They were negligent and indifferent, saying the time had not come to build. The same of folk today are very sure the congregation simply had to keep up preaching or heat and light the Sunday School.

2. Loss (vv. 6, 9-11). Being stingy toward God is a losing business. He has only to withhold His blessing and we will find ourselves destitute. That is true in the physical realm and is even more true in the spiritual life. Withholding from God will always result in loss (see Prov. 11:24).

3. "Build the House" (v. 8). God's work is constructive. He may have to destroy and tear down, but He only takes away the old and undesirable that the new and worthy may be built. Three words stand out here.

2. "Bring." We are not to come to the Lord's service empty handed. Only as He blesses do we have anything to bring, but often we fail to bring even that which He has supplied.

3. "Build." God's work is committed to us. We are to be His builders.

1. The Governor. One wonders what progress America would make back to God if its rulers were to lead us in obedience to His commands and in seeking His face in repentance and prayer. Thank God for every truly spiritually minded national leader, and pray that others may yield themselves to the control of the Lord. Then came

2. The High Priest. All too often religious leaders have actually hindered the work of God—and what a hindrance they can be! We read that in Haggai's time the high priest obeyed. Christian leaders, are we too going before our people in unquestioning obedience to God? If not, why should we not begin now? With such leadership, we are not surprised to hear that

3. The People Also Obeyed and Feared God. Many capable Christian workers believe that the youth of America of our day, far from being worse than their fathers, are actually seeking for real spiritual leadership.

Speaking the Truth. I had rather suffer for speaking the truth, than that the truth should suffer for the want of my speaking.

ILLINOIS CAN GET LESSON FROM IOWA ON CONSERVATION.

An important lesson in reducing the flow of silt into city reservoirs in Illinois may be learned from the work being done to save the city reservoir at Fairfield, Iowa, according to officials of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Seven farmers in the Walton watershed, which drains into the Fairfield reservoir are cooperating with the SCS, Fairfield city officials and Iowa State College. Water conserving and erosion control practices consist of contour tillage, strip cropping and terracing.

The $125,000 reservoir had a capacity of 85 million gallons when the dam gates were first closed in the summer of 1925. In 1934, when the last capacity check was made, siltation had cut the capacity to 73 million gallons.

Approximately 60,000 cubic yards of silt—topsoil from farms draining into the lake during the last 15 years according to city engineers. This is an average of 6,484 cubic yards a year. Only 16 years would be required to ruin the lake for water supply purposes if the present rate of silting in were permitted to continue.

Establishment of soil conservation programs on farms in the Walton watershed is an attempt to help solve the siltation problem.

Present plans call for increasing the acreage of erosion resistant crops on the farms from 241 to 280 acres, while reducing the acreage in cleaned-cultured crops from 215 to 182.

The acreage planted to approved rotations, with emphasis on legume hay crops, is being increased from 265 to 605 on the seven farms. Ninety-six acres will be protected by terraces and 256 acres by contour strip cropping. A total of 11 permanent gully control structures will be built in the watershed.

5 NEW BARN TO BE BUILT AT FAIRGROUNDS. Authorization of construction of five new horse barns and improvement of fire escape facilities and the water system in position and coliseum building at the Illinois state fairgrounds has been given.

The work, estimated to cost $60,000, was approved by the state fair advisory board to replace barns destroyed by fire last year and to protect the public and state fair property against any disaster. Bids will be opened for the work next Tuesday.

State Agriculture Director J. H. Lloyd said the barns will cost approximately $47,750, and the other improvements $16,419. The barns are each to contain 40 boxstalls, 10 feet by 12 feet, with a 14-foot driveway through the center.

SULLIVAN'S GROWTH SECOND IN THIS SECTION.
Among the Central Illinois cities in which the 1940 census totals are now available, Sullivan is second in its rate of population gain during the last ten years. There were several other midstate communities that made larger gains in numbers but their increases were not as great in comparison with total population as that shown by Sullivan. Shelbyville was first with a gain of 16 per cent Sullivan was second with a gain of 13.4 per cent, Tuscola was third with a 9.9 per cent gain. The following comparative figures on Central Illinois communities were released by the office of the district census supervisor: Shelbyville, 3491 in 1930 and 4051 in 1940, a gain of 560. Sullivan, 2339 in 1930 and 3101 in 1940, a gain of 762. Tuscola, 2569 in 1930 and 2822 in 1940, a gain of 253. Mattoon, 14,621 in 1930 and 15,835 in 1940, a gain of 1,104. CENTENNIAL BEING CELEBRATED AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Community A and Church Night Will Be Observed This Evening — All Day Meeting Next Sunday.

The First Christian church is celebrating its one hundredth birthday anniversary this week with special services. On Tuesday evening a cast of twenty-five persons presented a pageant depicting the organization of the church one hundred years ago. The pageant was representative, in dress and in the names borne by the characters, of the actual occurrences and of the people of that period in 1840.

Wednesday evening an "Old Fashion Service" was held with the church lighted by candles, lamps and lanterns. Families came as in early years, carrying their lanterns, which were then used in lighting the auditorium. Many came wearing garments of long ago. The service closed with a pageant depicting the church with a challenge for the future. This was presented by Margaret Garrett (the church) and Ruth Brackney and Lola May Elder (pages).

The celebration continues with a Community and Church night this (Friday) evening and an all-day meeting Sunday, with basket dinner at noon. Mrs. G. R. Fleming will sing, "The Model Church" at this evening's service. W. H. Walker of Bloomington will speak, his subject being "Beginnings."

Rev. Walker Speaker On Friday Evening.
Rev. W. H. Walker of Bloomington, will speak at 8 o'clock Friday evening at the Centennial service at the Christian church. Rev. Walker is state secretary of the Illinois Christian Missionary Society of the Disciples of Christ, having just completed five years service in that office. He will speak of "Beginnings." In addition, Rev. Walker's address there will be on the visiting of the city and county as the messages from former members of the church, and from district will be read. The public is invited to the service.

EXEMPTIONS RAISED FOR WHEAT MARKET QUOTAS.
Wheat farms with an average annual production of 200 bushels or less annually will be exempt from marketing quotas under the farm act as a result of legislation signed by the President on Friday. Formerly this exemption applied only to farm producing 100 bushels or less annually. Agriculture department officials told Congress that the higher limit would reduce costs of administering the farm act without interfering with marketing control because only a small amount of wheat marketed in commercial channels came from these small farms.

'Propaganda Is Inevitable,' Says U. of I. Man

'Though Persistent, It Need Not Be Fatal to Intelligent Decision,' Adds Sociologist.

Propaganda is inevitable with modern civilization and social conditions, concludes Dr. J. W. Albig, University of Illinois sociologist. But he adds that "although it is pervasive and persistent, it need not be fatal to intelligent and popular decisions."

He believes that "intellectuals in America have probably become oversuspicious of their sources of information, whereas the common man is as yet inadequately suspicious and the undersuspicious of the common man are a dangerous combination," he warns. "In both cases they are overgiven to righteous indignation. And righteous indignation is a pushover for the propagandist."

Professor Albig recently published a widely noticed book on "Propaganda and Public Opinion." He defines propaganda as "any special pleading from a concealed source."

He points out that propagandists "persistently appeal to the emotions of their subjects. Argument and discussion openly carried on is one thing; veiled propaganda appealing to hate, fear, pride, selfishness, greed, and the like is quite a different process, short-circuiting discussions of the issue."

"Almost inevitably, the propagandist becomes a liar. He not only distorts, he also fabricates. He is usually driven by the logic of events to more and more extreme falsehoods."

"Such falsification is most effective if it cannot be contradicted because the means of communication are controlled. This is obviously true of much national propaganda in wartime. When war is declared, truth is the first casualty."

"Just as individuals in face-to-face conversation exaggerate the stories, rumors, and information they transmit so that they may gain effectiveness, the propagandist exaggerates in the interest of his cause."

"The propagandist further distorts by using an impartial data. He pleads. His principal selection and such social suggestions are best calculated to evoke the desired responses."

University of Illinois Gets New Librarian

Dr. Carl M. White, who has been librarian and chairman of the division of the library and library school at the University of North Carolina, will come to the University of Illinois this fall to be director of its library and library school. He succeeds Director Phineas L. Windsor, who is retiring. Director Windsor has had charge of library activities at Illinois since 1909. Under him the University of Illinois library has become the largest of any state university and fifth largest of all universities in America.

Today the Illinois library contains 1,175,000 volumes, 330,000 pamphlets, 3,900 maps, and 10,600 pieces of sheet music. The closely-associated library school has doubled its enrollment under Director Windsor, raised its entrance standards, and has become one of the nation's five schools to give the master's degree in library science.

Student Living Supervised At University of Illinois

Housing and off-campus activities of students at the University of Illinois have been put under the direction of the Division of University Housing, created this year. C. R. Frederick is director.

The general standard of all student living conditions adjoining the University's campus have been greatly improved in recent years. Rooming house proprietors cooperate in striving to maintain such high standards that they may be given an "A" rating by the Housing Division. Adequate light, good sanitary conditions, comfortable furnishings and good sleeping accommodations are required for the "A" rating.

The division has charge of setting standards, inspecting, and approving all student living quarters. The advisory committee for the Division includes Dr. T. Howard Beard, university health officer; Dr. Fred H. Turner, dean of men; Miss Maria Leonard, dean of women; Prof. Lloyd Morey, comptroller; and C. S. Havens, director of the physical plant.

More than 91 per cent of the University of Illinois architecture graduates from the last dozen years are permanently employed and not interested in changing their positions. Of the 587 graduates since 1927, about whom records are available, less than 2 per cent are unemployed, according to Prof. L. H. Province, head of the department of architecture.

RED CROSS PURCHASES FOOD TO AID WAR-STRICKEN

As the American Red Cross "mercy ship", the S. S. McKeesport, was being made ready for a dramatic voyage to France with a million-dollar cargo of relief supplies, assurance was given the Red Cross by the Department of Agriculture that thousands of tons of surplus food products would be made available at half price for shipment to victims of the European war.

Chairman Norman H. Davis announced the products would be made available through the Export Subsidy provision of the Surplus Commodities Corporation. Immediate shipment of tons of supplies will be made to Jersey to be loaded in the McKeesport which will sail for Bordeaux shortly after June 10. Included in the first shipment will be 5,881,000 pounds of wheat flour, 1,250,000 pounds of corn meal, 750,000 pounds of lard, 800,000 pounds of prunes and 800,000 pounds of raisins.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace in commenting on the agreement stated: "While the need for additional food among the poor families in this country has not been adequately met, there is an even more tragic need for some of these surplus supplies in Europe. Our surpluses of these specific food products are such that we can assist United States food producers through the increased distribution that will result from this plan. At the same time that we are making it possible for the Red Cross to accomplish greater humanitarian ends with its available funds."

While shipments proceeded in regularly scheduled sailings to Europe, the nation rallied through the $20,000,000 Red Cross war relief drive. Contributions realized in the first three weeks of the camaign were reported to be nearing the $7,000,000 mark, with full momentum of the drive yet to be reached.

Meanwhile the American Red Cross announced 50 ambulances were being sent to the British Red Cross to replace ambulance losses in Flanders. Orders were placed as manufacturers were speeding completion of a previous order of 250 ambulances and auxiliary hospital trucks.

Action was taken by the Red Cross following cable reports from London which revealed heavy losses of ambulances and hospital supplies in the fighting of the Flanders section. While orders for relief essentials were being rushed, two additional delegates to the American Red Cross mission in France were ordered to Paris by fast boat. They are Ralph Bain of St. Louis and Bowen McCoy of San Francisco, both members of the national staff.

Creation of a nation-wide organization in France to handle American Red Cross supplies was announced by Chairman Davis. With the cooperation of the French Government, American Ambassador William Bullitt, M. Ernest Mercier, French industrialist, the French Red Cross and the American Red Cross committee in France, this super-relief organization has been established to distribute American Red Cross supplies among civilian refugees and the war-wounded.

The French nation, Mr. Davis said, is financing the creation of the new organization by public subscription equivalent to $400,000.

VIRGIL MILAM CATCHES TWO LARGE CATFISH.
Virgil Milam was proudly showing two cat fish that he caught at the river Saturday morning. One of the fish weighed 11 pounds and the other 12 pounds. The fish were caught on a throw line. These two fish are the largest that have been caught near here this season.

Several of the followers of Isaac Walton have been trying their luck at the lake at Wyman park but as yet the reports are that most of the catches have been very limited and small. The best luck has been had by those who have gone down to the Ozarks to do their fishing.
