Kiwanis Emphasizes U. S. - Canada Week Beginning April 27

Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, declared today that the friendship of the United States and Canada "serves to strengthen the hope that all nations, everywhere, may come to enjoy the benefits of a similar understanding with one another."

Lie issued the statement in connection with United States-Canada Good Will Week, sponsored annually by Kiwanis International and scheduled this year April 27 to May 3.

Close and cordial understanding between neighbors, Lie asserted, can lead progressively to the development of similar feeling around the globe. "The fact that the governments and the peoples of the United States and Canada have found it possible, and mutually advantageous to live side by side in harmony over a period of many generations, serves to strengthen the hope that all nations, everywhere, may come to enjoy the benefits of a similar understanding with one another," he said.

Kiwanis International which embraces 2,600 clubs and more than 174,000 members throughout the United States, Canada and Alaska, has long proclaimed the friendship of this country, and its neighbor to the north as an outstanding example of international good will.

During the week, many clubs in the two countries will interchange speakers, while others will exchange greetings.

The County Superintendent of Schools has not yet posted the election notices but has stated that the election will be held on Saturday, May 10th. The law requires that the polling places shall be open from 12 o'clock noon until 7 o'clock p. m.

Sullivan Tool Co. Plans New Factory Building

Sullivan Tool Co. To Expand Business

One of Sullivan's newest industries, the Sullivan Tool Co., has now attained a production status in its operations where in excess of 7000 units per week are being shipped, according to Everett Hays, Executive Secretary of the Sullivan Chamber of Commerce.

The concern's trade-name, "SUTCO" is appearing on hand tools already shipped to all 48 states as well as to Canada. Still others are going out of this country on the export market. The present line of claw hammers, scout-type axes, and carpenters half hatchets is attractively presented on the trade literature of the company, a copy of which is displayed in the window of The News.

At the present time 21 persons are employed, contributing to this community a weekly payroll aggregating approximately $800.00.

Messrs. Fox and Glatt of Chicago, the principal shareholders in the company, purchased the assets of the Tool Division of the Sullivan Box Factory at the bankruptcy sale last November. The concern is occupying leased space in the West side of what was formerly known as Plant No. 2.

It has made every effort to identify itself with the community and civic interests of this city. John Schaljo, Production Manager, and Robert LeVene, Office Manager, have purchased homes in Sullivan and have moved their families here.

It is contemplated that an attractive factory structure will be erected in the very near future on the industrial site at the west edge of town bid in at the Trustee's sale on Tuesday of this week by representatives of the Sullivan Chamber of Commerce. Upon its completion, it is planned that production and payroll will be substantially increased in the greatly enlarged space which it will provide.

IS VISITING HERE

W. H. Ledbetter, former alderman and grain dealer of Sullivan, is visiting friends and relatives here. He has lived in Phoenix, Ariz., for the past several years.

Mr. Ledbetter is a brother of ex-Judge Ledbetter of this county and has a daughter, Mrs. Everett Worsham, in Monticello.

The real estate located immediately west of Sullivan and formerly owned by the Sullivan Box Factory was sold at public sale Tuesday by J. Earl Bell, trustee.

This real estate consists of two separate tracts, Tract No. 1 is a tract of approximately 13 acres, on which is located the new switch built during the past year by the C. & E. I. railroad. This tract is ideally suited for industrial use. The Sullivan Chamber of Commerce was, therefore, very much interested in this matter, and some time ago President G. C. Miller appointed a committee with authority to look after this matter for the interests of this community. This tract was sold for the sum of $2,500.00, and in accordance with arrangements which had theretofore been made, the sale was turned to Sullivan Tool Co., Inc.

It is understood that this company is planning the erection of a modern factory building upon this tract in the near future. The Sullivan Tool Co. has further agreed that in the event they do not need all of this tract for their factory purposes, they will permit the Sullivan Chamber of Commerce to control the disposition of any surplus. The officials of the Chamber of Commerce hope and believe that this may prove to be a new industrial center of this community.

Th other tract included in this sale was approximately 28 acres of farm land, and this was sold to Glen A. Fabert for the sum of $5800.00 and will be used for farming purposes.

This sale winds up the disposition of all the property formerly held by the Sullivan Box Factory, and it is confidently hoped that the estate may be closed up and distributed within the next sixty days.

MINE SAFETY

It will not serve the cause of mine safety if the issue is indefinitely confused by charges, countercharges, recriminations and unbridled emotionism. A terrible disaster such as that which cost 111 lives in the Centralia mine is a national tragedy, and every possible step to prevent the possibility of repetition must be taken. But wild talk will not do the job.

There is no magic formula for eliminating the inherent hazards of coal mining, as John D. Battle of the National Coal Association has pointed out. The goal is to reduce the inescapable hazards to the lowest possible minimum. And this is obviously a goal that can only be accomplished over a period of time.

A disaster in a mine blinds the public to the great progress that has been made in safeguarding the worker. The accident rate has gone steadily down. The operators, the government, and the union have all cooperated to achieve this. There have undoubtedly been cases of failure upon the part of mine owners and the regulatory bodies to effect and enforce proper safety regulations and safeguards. Nothing which is dependent on human judgment is infallible. And the soft coal industry, it must be remembered, consists of thousands of companies. Mine owners are no different from government officials or union leaders. There are the good and the bad. But, looking at the picture as a whole, the industry's safety record has been excellent and it has consistently improved.

The various investigations now underway should produce invaluable facts on which to work. Those facts must not be obscured by hysterics.

NATURE IN VIOLENT MOOD

The very destructive tornado which swept through several Texas and Oklahoma communities a few days ago, was a manifestation of the tremendous power which nature sometimes exercises. The 132 or more persons who died as the result of this storm, and more than 1300 injured, the many buildings destroyed or damaged, tell of the fury of this wind.

In most cases the actions of nature seem friendly to human life. They provide soils from which people can raise food, they have through the ages produced coal and oil and gas and wood which men can use for fuel. They seem to provide for all human needs.

But there are tornadoes and hurricanes and earthquakes and fires which menace and sometimes destroy human life, and wreck the structure which man has created. The sympathy of the country goes out to all who suffer from disasters. The Red Cross, the hospitals, doctors and nurses give their wonderful aid. All who contribute such aid perform a noble act.

OPEN CREDIT ACCOUNTS

A year ago American railroads were dead-set against the suggestion of permitting the traveling public to open credit accounts to enable individuals to buy railroad and Pullman tickets.

Now, almost in the twinkle of an eye, forty-five American railroads have introduced a new credit service plan for the benefit of travelers. It is "a charge-it-plan"—and the railroads will send you a monthly bill. At long last the railroads, which have never before condescended to anything like this consideration of the American public "let down its hair" and revises all of its rules and meets "We, the People" on an equal footing.

Hail this wonderful day which arrived on April 1, enabling thousands of reliable American citizens to obtain the same recognition from the railroad company as they do at the stores, hotels, and other places of business.

INTERNATIONAL LABOR DAY

The first day of May has been widely celebrated in Europe as the International Labor day.

No doubt it will again be widely celebrated this year, in spite of all the disorganization caused by war. The world's wage-earners long for better opportunities in life, and the Labor day observances express their hopes and ideas as to how these improved chances can be obtained. The various demonstrations, parades, mass meetings, and discussion voice the hope of many millions for betterment of their condition.

It is an impressive sight to see the parades of labor organizations. These men and women dressed up for a holiday occasion make a most favorable impression. The world hopes that they can realize their aspirations for progress.

Along The Political Front

We may be going toward another experience in government in which the "nine old men" of the Supreme court again will become a major factor.

All will remember how, during the first years of the Roosevelt "revolution," the New Deal steps toward efforts to solve the economic ills of the nation were frowned upon by the U. S. Supreme court. The Blue Eagle of the NRA and the first legislation to give direct aid to agriculture fell under the axe of a court which was predominately conservative and led to a Roosevelt effort to pack the court with additional members to secure a new philosophy in interpretation of the constitution.

The effort to pack the court failed, but gradually through retirements of veteran justices, who were replaced by a Roosevelt appointees, the court turned to more liberal interpretations of the constitution, and approved many of the enactments of Congress which would not have had a Chinaman's chance under the court of Coolidge and Hoover days.

Now, when the temper of Congress is toward a swing back from the advanced lines set up under Roosevelt, we may see the same situation in reverse, with the Supreme court balking efforts of the legislators to restrict some of the rights given to organized labor, and which gave labor greater power than ever known before.

In between the Congress and the Supreme court, stands President Truman, who might exercise a veto over some legislation, although Republican leaders in Congress declare that through the aid of Southern legislators there is enough strength to override a veto of the proposed new labor laws. But the Congress can't override an adverse Supreme court ruling.

Of course, it is problematical whether the Supreme court as it now stands would prove a bulwark against moves to the Right in federal legislation. In recent years, some of the justices have shown a continuing tendency toward conservative philosophy. Where the court a few years ago frequently was nearly united, more recent opinions have shown clear divisions. It is characteristic of justices, generally, that as they grow older, they become more conservative. The late Justice Holmes was an exception, and other exceptions will readily come to mind. But, among the justices at the start of the first Roosevelt administration, were one or more arch reactionaries in thought, who, when they first came to the court were recognized as liberals, and who, in public life before becoming justices had espoused causes which had won them reputations as near radicals.

That is why it will be interesting to see the Supreme court's reaction, if and when, a law abolishing the closed shop, industry-wide negotiations for contracts, and other proposed restrictions upon labor reach the court. That is precisely what the head of the C. I. O. had in mind, apparently, when he warned that his organization will resort to the courts, immediately, in seeking a weapon against restrictive legislation.

It is more than likely that should a Republican appointed president of the type of Taft be elected in 1948, he may find a Roosevelt Supreme court an embarrassing as Roosevelt found the one he inherited when he first became president.

The constitution, of course, is approximately the same. The question rests upon how it is interpreted. Before Roosevelt, the nation's citizens generally held the view that the federal government could do little to meet such problems as unemployment and hunger of individuals.

During the years since, we have become accustomed to witnessing nation-wide organizations to meet distressing problems.

In the future, therefore, we may expect organized labor, as well as any other group seeking aid for its cause, to continue to look to centralized government in meeting problems. Likewise, both employers and workers realize what a great weapon labor has through industry-wide negotiation and legislative authority to incorporate the closed shop provision in contracts.

The present effort to abolish those rights marks a titanic battle, and one which seems bound, eventually, to show whether the Supreme court still retains a "New Dealish" philosophy in approaching constitutional questions.

And the public reaction to this conflict in its earlier stages may determine the chances of Senator Taft to become president. That he must grow in popularity is indicated by the most recent poll of sentiment, which shows him far below Dewey and Stassen and slightly below Senator Vandenburg.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

About Lovers' Quarrels

Even in the halcyon days of courtship, there are few couples who make the grade all the way to the altar without a few quarrels.

Most of such quarrels are mere spats; disagreements over trifles which take on an emotional coloring far beyond their worth because, during such a period, every feeling the two have is particularly sensitive and intense. Thus, sometimes, as little a thing as one being late for an appointment with the other may build up into a major episode in which the delinquent may be accused of any shade of reprehensible conduct, from bad manners to actual loss of love for the injured one.

As a rule, this type of lovers quarrel soon ends in a blissful reconciliation, in which each is remorsefully eager to assume all blame and make extravagant amends, and all hard feelings dissolve in fervently renewed protestations of devotion.

All this, as I say, is likely to be a perfectly natural part of courtship, and should not be taken too seriously.

But when it happens too frequently; when the disagreement involves something fundamental in the way of principle or attitude; or when one or the other indulges in a prolonged fit of the sulks over it, it is time to stop and think over very carefully. For in such cases, something is almost certainly amiss in the relationship between the two, and it had better be honestly realized and examined before they carry the flaw into married life.

This is the advice I would give to a young man who writes as follows:

"After getting out of the service a few months ago, I met the kind of girl I always wanted to meet, and the nicest. Ever since, we've been going around steady, and I've come to love her very much, and know that I always will. She told me that she loved me, also, and that she would never leave me.

"Recently, she broke off with me because we had a little argument, and I felt so bad over it that I left town. Well, three days later I came back, hoping that she would forgive me, but she wouldn't. My bad temper and arguing always get me into trouble. Please tell me how I can get her back, and also how to control my temper when we're together. She means more than anything in the world to me."

Now it would be utterly impossible to give this young man any blueprint that would assure his getting this girl back. But what he ought to do right at this point is to look at the situation with his eyes wide open and make himself decide whether or not getting her back is the wisest thing to do. Perhaps it may be best for both of them in the long run, if he makes no further attempt in that direction.

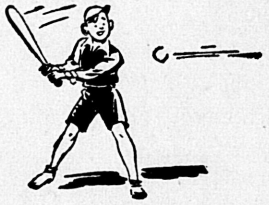

Specifically, he should check all three points that I mentioned above. That is, he should ask himself if their quarrels are abnormally frequent; if they are over major or minor matters; and if this girl is the kind who likes to do what Robert Burns once called "nurse her wrath to keep it warm." I would be inclined to absolve the young man himself from this latter fault, since he seems to be the one who wants to take the blame and who tries to bring about the reconciliation.

If, on facing the facts squarely, he finds that he and this girl do disagree often; that the things they quarrel about are basic disagreements that would make a life together full of conflicts; and that she is the type who likes to punish a person she thinks has wronged her by withholding her forgiveness indefinitely, however humbly it may be asked, then he would be wise to acknowledge the folly of trying to pump new life into this failing romance and let it die a natural death.

As for learning to control his bad temper, the first step in that direction would be to realize that to indulge in an emotional explosion when things don't go to suit him is a tacit admission that he is unable to handle the varied situations of life as they arise; that it is equivalent to hurling, let us say, a broken clock across the room to smash against the wall, because he doesn't know how to put it right again. That, reduced to its simplest terms, it is an exhibition of childishness that he should consider himself too mature to put on.

Are They Drinking GERMS While You Sleep?

Chicks are early risers... and they wake up plenty thirsty. Before you have a chance to clean the fountains... often before you get up in the morning... they have been drinking quantities of the very water you are going to throw out.

This water has stood all night... is heavily laden with germs... Every mouthful carries the threat of sickness and death to tiny delicate stomachs. That's why you should use FUNJOL in the drinking water, right from the start. FUNJOL is Gland-O-Lac's amazing new antiseptic, that kills germs of fowl cholera, pullerum, some strains of fowl typhoid, and the fungus, Monilia Albicans. IN THE WATER... in 5 to 10 minutes, FUNJOL acts continually, as long as there is any water left. All it takes is a teaspoonful of FUNJOL to a quart of water, in any kind of fountain. Give your chicks this extra protection. Start using FUNJOL now.

FUNJOL

Make the drinking water SAFER for your baby chicks and poults. Come in and get a bottle of FUNJOL today.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"As Homelike As a Barn"

Cy Hartman finally got his new barn painted, but plenty of folks had a hand in it. Whenever someone got a free day, or a little extra time, they'd come over and help out with paint and brush.

And Cy, to show his appreciation, held a big "barn warming" Saturday—for all the folks who'd helped him (but not barring those who couldn't). Ma Hartman supplied sandwiches, and Cy rolled out a mellow keg of beer.

You'd never think of a barn as "homelike." But with those lanterns hanging from the rafters; make-shift tables spread heavy with food; and Ed Carey's fiddle playing while the folks enjoyed their beer—Cy's barn was sure a mighty hospitable-looking place!

From where I sit, it's just about as appropriate to have a barn warming as a housewarming... if only because it's another chance to get neighbors together in a spirit of good fellowship.

Mrs. E. A. McKenzie Writes of Recent Trip To West Coast

Mrs. Edgar McKenzie, who recently spent three months on the west coast from San Diego, Calif., to Portland, Oregon, writes the following account of her trip:

We left Chicago on the California Limited Jan. 17th. I met very nice people on the train, of which Jimmy Durante was one. I was introduced by one of his friends who had found one person whose nose was as large as mine...

We had lunch at the Clifton in Los Angeles. "We" included Mrs. Pearl Flemming, Pearl Pemberton, Mrs. Flo Corban, Grace Grider, Mrs. Will Birch, and Anna Evans McKenzie, all from Sullivan...

The first trip the Walkers took me was to Tijuana, and you know Mexico is a little different from Sullivan. Can you picture the thrills the youngsters got with their tenderfoot auntie, who never visited night clubs. Oh yes, we saw the longest bar in the world, as thousands of others have, I am still 100% American...

Edgar, my oldest sister, Mrs. Miller, and I had lunch at the noted Hotel Coronada in 1916 at that time the palms in the patio were very small and now they are up to the fifth story windows and the flowers are gorgeous in this open space of the hotel...

On Easter, I attended church which had a crowd of 1200, had breakfast and then went on a trip to "The Grotto" sanctuary of our sorrowful mother. We left Oregon on Monday and I arrived in Sullivan on Wednesday.

drives near San Diego is up Mount Helix in Le Misa. Thousands enjoy the annual Easter Services here and other special occasions.

We saw Bing Crosby's race track, but no horses. We visited Ramona's marriage place and quaffed the water from the Ramona's wishing well for good luck. The San Diego Zoological garden's rank as one of the four largest in America...

San Juan Capistrans founded November 1, 1776, is noted for the past 60 years as the summer home of the swallows. On October 23, they fly out to sea and return the following March 19th, to the utter bewilderment of scientists...

March 1st, the Walkers drove me to the very pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Robinson where I spent several days. We attended seven radio broadcasts on my trip. While at Robinsons we had a lovely drive thru Hollywood and visited Tom Brennan's and visited Knotts Berry Farm, located in Buena Park, Calif. Here you have the ridiculous along with the serious.

Walter Knott built Ghost Town to commemorate his mother and her parents who traveled from Virginia in 1868 to California in a covered wagon. They started in business by serving sandwiches and vovsenberry pie now they are serving week day from 1,500, to 2,500 and on Sundays average 5,000.

Mrs. Monroe came for me to see the Farmers Original Market opening in 1934. It has 80 farmer stalls and food specialty shops. The world's largest, most colorful permanent food fair, patronized daily by more than 15,000. Southern California Movie stars shop here. We had lunch there, you can buy anything you want. Yes, you pay for it!

Those who went to the Golden Pagoda for a chinese dinner were Flo, Agnes and John Corbin, Maye Monroe and Floyd Mrs. Charles Ward and myself, all from Illinois. I am proud to say that the dinner was in my honor and it was a fine dinner.

Early the next morning I left for the north near Sacramento where I lived over two years before I was married. There I was with very dear friends for two weeks. While there we visited Lake Tahoe with the water as blue as sapphire. Only one other lake in the world above this elevation is larger than Tahoe. This is just one of the many lovely trips. I picked the ripe black olives, oranges and lemons from the trees in the yard. I then went to Oakland with Mrs. Thompson who lives in the "Tree Tops". While here we drove to Santa Cruz where a lodge has a mountain stream 10 or 12 foot wide flowing thru the dining room, with tables terraced on either side of the water...

I visited the most famous American florist where my orchid was purchased. At Portland, four ladies met me for luncheon. In the evening, I had a 12 course Chinese dinner with friends. On Easter, I attended church which had a crowd of 1200, had breakfast and then went on a trip to "The Grotto" sanctuary of our sorrowful mother.

We left Oregon on Monday and I arrived in Sullivan on Wednesday.

Wednesday evening service—7:30 p. m.

God continues to bless us with fruitful seasons. Each Spring we can observe the master's handiwork in giving life to the earth. We are amazed and think of her as a maiden who rises to adorn her loveliest costume for the grandest occasion of the year. It should make us believe more strongly in God and the resurrection of the dead, for once each year there is this grand awakening from a sleep that has the semblance of death. We can fancy in our imagination, God putting forth his hand at the proper time each year to take the maiden by the hand and say, "Thou Spring Maiden arise and fill the earth with sweet perfumes, with joy and gladness, and bring forth thy blessings to all men."

We should be thankful.
Come to church Sunday for another interesting service.

TWO FARM LOAN GROUPS FORM NEW ASSOCIATION

Special stockholders' meetings were held at Decatur and Sullivan last Wednesday and Thursday at which the merger plan for the Macon-Platt National Farm Loan Association and the Moultrie County National Farm Loan Association was adopted by unanimous vote.

This consolidation had been previously approved by the board of directors of each association but had to receive favorable action by at least 85 percent of the other associations in the Sixth District. Following the approval by at least 85 percent of the associations the final approval was then submitted to the stockholders for their approval.

The new association is named the National Farm Loan Association of Decatur and serves Macon, Moultrie and Platt Counties. The new association will be capitalized at $102,925. On approval of the consolidation by the governor of the Farm Credit administration the new association will receive a 30 per cent dividend which will be added to the reserves of the association. In addition to that they will receive additional reserves from earnings from year to year.

Stock of all associations is restored to par value under the new consolidated plan and it is anticipated dividends on the new association has a seven man board of directors as follows:

John T. Johnson, Latham, president; J. E. Righterf, Sullivan, vice president; Bernard Donovan, Cerro Gordo; Horace Brown, Warrensburg; Harrison Fahrnkopf, Deland; John Walton, Bethany, and John Schable, Atwood.

A new public service for the first time

The individual graves of U. S. Military and Naval members located in many foreign countries may henceforth be specially decorated
BEGINNING MEMORIAL DAY, MAY 30th
Graves located only in United States Military Cemeteries in the following countries can be served:

- | | | |
|-----------|-------------|-----------------|
| Australia | Greece | Ireland |
| Belgium | Hawaii | Italy |
| England | Holland | Luxembourg |
| France | Iceland | Philippines Is. |
| Sweden | Switzerland | |

This service is made available to the relatives of our Gallant Men through the thousands of members of the Florists' Telegraph Association in the United States and in conjunction with the members of International Telegraph Florists in foreign countries.

SPECIAL WREATHS FOR MEMORIAL DAY—
Because the Military request a standard type of decoration for all graves on Memorial Day and as florists adjacent to serve military cemeteries in the above countries will be handling a large volume of orders for Memorial Day, arrangements have been made to fill all orders with very lovely wreaths. The minimum price of wreaths placed on the graves will be $10.00 plus either air mail or cable charges.

HOW TO PLACE ORDERS—
Simply visit your local F. T. D. official florist, who displays the Winged Mercury Seal on his shop window. He'll handle your order easily and efficiently. You should supply him with information the War Department has given all next of kin; the boy's name, name of cemetery and country, plot, row and grave number

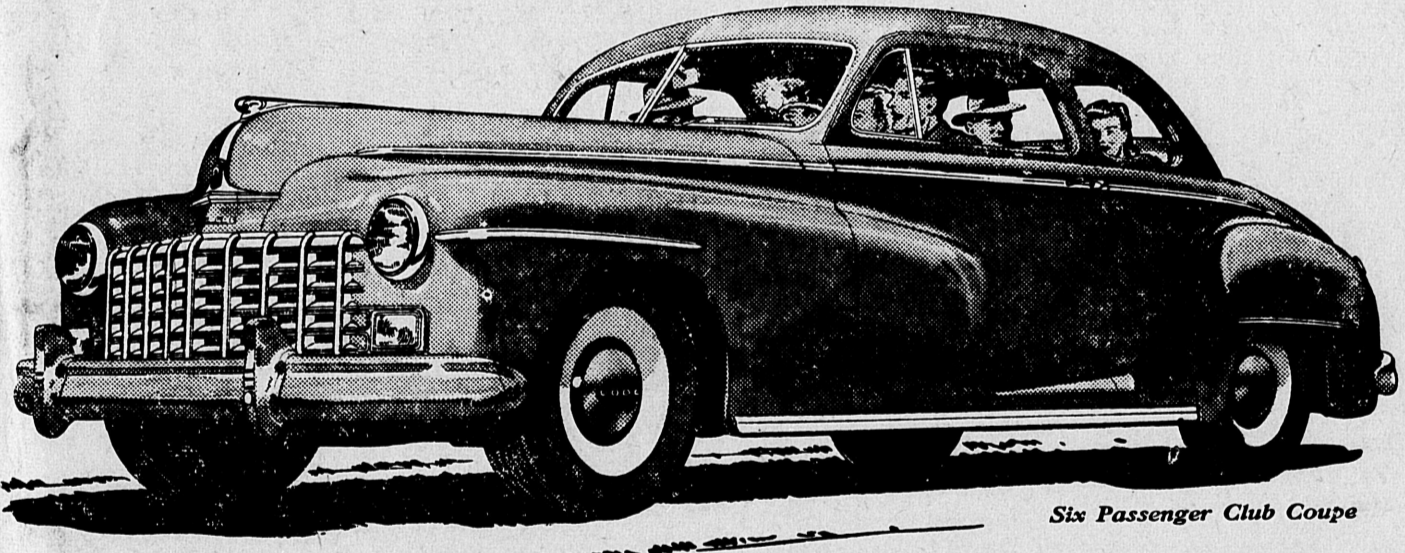

IMPORTANT—ORDER EARLY!
* All overseas Memorial Day orders placed up to May 15 will be transmitted by Air Mail. This will save you money. If you order a $10.00 wreath, your only additional cost will be 30 cents to Hawaii, 40 cents to European countries, or 50 cents to the Philippines or Australia.
* All overseas Memorial Day orders placed up to May 22 will be transmitted by night cable letter. If you order a $10.00 wreath, your additional cost will be $1.50 to Hawaii; $2.09 to all other countries listed above.
* All overseas Memorial Day orders placed after May 22 will be transmitted by straight cable rates, which are higher than air mail or night cable.

FOR OTHER SPECIAL DAYS—
Flowers by Wire can be sent quickly and easily overseas to Military Cemeteries . . . on other special days you care to observe.

First Grade

Miss McCarthy—We are very sorry that Jerry Bolin is ill. Beth Stricklan had a tonsil operation. We hope they will be back soon.

Mrs. Harris—We are studying about newspapers, Shirley Se-lock, who prints so beautifully, is our editor.

Third Grade

Mr. Smith—We visited the Community Industries Thursday afternoon, and learned how Lucy Ellen Candy bars were made. We enjoyed watching how the machinery worked, and noticed how the candy was wrapped by the machines. The children and teachers were given a candy-bar, which was greatly enjoyed by each.

Robert Hall has gone to Mattoon, Illinois. Good luck, Robert. Harry Shadow has moved to Decatur.

We have a new pupil, Katherine Lavone Sparks, from the public school of Bradbury, Illinois.

Mrs. Pence—Our class went to the candy factory. We had a good time on the way, looking at trees and shrubs. Tiny green leaves were coming out on the bushes. When we got to the factory, there was a beautiful building. Inside there were great rolls of candy to be made into bars. If it were not for the machinery many bars could not be made so quickly. Nyle Hord asked us to go, so we were his guests. Each of us had a bar before we left.

It was fun to visit the candy factory.

Fourth Grade

Mr. Elder—We are doing some colored chalk work on the board. The playgrounds are being cleaned up, referring to the paint-up, clean-up, fix-up campaign.

There are a few cases of three day measles.

Joanna Chaney Reporter

Fifth Grade

Miss Warner—In Health we are studying posture, and to improve our posture, we practiced walking and running to music.

In geography we have been studying Mexico and her people. We have begun playing softball again during our recess.

Miss Hoke—

Our Hobbies

In our room so nice and neat We have some hobbies quite complete.

Some are large and some are small But we like them one and all. Dorothy's shells are from far away sea

Charles has marbles clear as can be, Elaine has paper dolls so fine She has them hanging on a line.

Beverly's pitchers from far and near You ought to see them, all so dear, She has dozens of bottle caps too, oh my!

And scrap pleasing to the eye. Gerald's match holders came from everywhere He strung them up with the greatest of care.

Carolyn collects pictures of Movie Stars And Milton, the cutest miniature cars, Kay likes music of so many kind

And also rocks that are hard to find.

Barbara's tops from Meadow Gold Milk

Made a beautiful skirt, that looks like silk.

Karen brought perfume bottles, cute and small

Also tinfoil which made a big round ball.

She collects milk bottle caps and also rocks.

And all kinds of views from mountains to docks.

Pat's souvenirs are wonderful to see

It's a fine collection, we all did agree,

Lena's Christmas cards and a nice scrap book

Is worth the time to take a look.

Some in our class like games and sports

Some have books and pets of all sorts.

A hobby doesn't need to make one famous or great

But should give you happiness and new friends make.

A hobby is good for both the girl and the boy,

If you'll just start one, you will receive much joy.

So if its collecting or playing baseball,

Good habits you'll form both great and small.

Miss Hoke

We closed our Hobby Show this week by inviting Miss Warner's class in to observe our display and hear our rhymes we made about hobbies. We also served refreshments of kool aid and cookies.

Sixth Grade

Mrs. White—Robert Shadow has moved away.

Women IN THE CHURCH by Mary Fowler

Miss Joan Dawkins, of New York City, a graduate of Wellesley College and taking post-graduate work at Union Theological Seminary, is the second American woman to be admitted to the Ecumenical Institute in the Chateau de Bossey at Caligny, Switz., "for training with ecumenical work with young people." The other American woman is Miss Virginia C. Markham, of Bryn Mawr. After a semester at the Institute, Miss Dawkins will join a team of American students, sponsored by the American Youth Hostels, to share in the actual work of rebuilding student hostels in Germany.

speaking before Y. W. C. A. and church groups is Mrs. Lin, president of the National Committee of China's Y. W. C. A., and wife of the president of Shanghai University. Mrs. Lin was Ai-fang Yang, of the class of 1929, Mt. Holyoke College. She is a third generation Christian, both her grandfathers having been Presbyterian clergymen in Shanghai. She was educated at the McTyeire School for Girls (Methodist) and at the Shanghai University (Episcopalian) before entering Mt. Holyoke. She taught school before her marriage. Since the war, she and President Lin have been busy with the reconstruction of the University which was occupied by the Japanese military; and she with the reestablishment of the Y. W. C. A. work.

Church women are now engaged in a world-wide study of the status and the work of women in all Christian denominations, and the results of that study to be issued in 1948 pro-

Visiting the United States and Miss Rhoda E. McCulloch is directing the American study, while that of the remainder of the world is directed by Mrs. Samuel McCrea Cavert on behalf of the World Council of Churches. "The war years have brought new significance to the contributions of women, and have stirred women to question the conventional thinking which has limited their responsible place in society," says Miss Culloch. It is expected that the America study will show a national trend for placing women in higher positions in church bodies—based upon their numerical strength, their contribution to church work, and their stake in the causes for which the church exists in the world.

"A BOY A GIRL A DOG"

JERRY HUNTER Hollywood's Greatest Boy Discovery! SHARON MOFFETT Heart Stealer of "My Pal Wolf!" LUCKY The Dog and HARRY DAVENPORT

SCHOOL TIME HIGH SPOTS

This week's column was written by Hi-Scout sophomore editors Ruth Butler, Helen Cochran, and Janet White. Reporters were Mary Lou Donaker, Elaine Lindley, Wilma Lindley, Katherine Mosser, Beverly Riley, Mary Lou Thompson, Esther Whitchurch, Shirley Wolf, and Joan Wright.

The Band and Chorus went up to Charleston on Saturday, April 19th, to the Contests. The chorus sang in the morning and received a third rating; then the Band played in the afternoon, and they got a third rating also. One of the judges was Mr. Wolfgang Kuhn, a former Music Director of S. T. H. S.

Next year we hope to have more instruments like oboes, flutes, bassoons, etc., as that was one of the judges' criticisms. Mr. Briggs considers this year a good experience for the Band, and we are all looking forward to next year when we hope to get a second or maybe a first rating.

The Signet Clarinet Co. is sponsoring a contest, with three-hundred prizes, from plastic reeds up to a $450.00 set including a clarinet, case, reeds, reed-clip, 3 mouth-pieces, tuner, etc.

To compete for these each student must write twenty-five words or less beginning "I want a Signet clarinet because—". Here's hoping one of our Band members is a winner.

The Band is practicing some new numbers this week and Mr. Briggs is planning to order some newer ones soon. The Trumpet Trio is polishing off the selection they are to play at the State Contests, and the Small Ensemble of six girls-singers plans to go along to hear other ensembles.

We hear that the tennis nets are to go up over in the park May 1st. If they do, our P. E. meeting there on the following Monday, May 5th. In the meantime the girls are having intramural contests in the gym, one class in badminton and the others in volley-ball.

Future Homemakers Homemaking I: These Home Ec. gals are really getting pretty good with the bowl, spoon, and rolling pin these days. They made some bran muffins for our school lunch last week, and they made some delicious corn muffins for our Monday lunch. They use a full size recipe, then they pick the best batches from Homemaking II: There isn't much news of this group this week except that we are still sewing. Some are sewing for their brothers now that they've got all sis' sewing done. Homemaking III: Yum-yum! Have we had fun this week! We've been making all kinds of desserts such as ices, cakes, and ice cream pies. Good, yes? Yes!

Louise Franklin and Kathryn Cochran visited Miss Peters up at the Champaign High School. These girls attended the Junior Carnival up there last week; we bet they sure had fun. Future Farmers Thirteen F. F. A. members took part in the S. T. H. S. Boxing Show last Friday night. These members were Dean Elzy, Don Harris, Lowell Daily, Russell Florey, Leonard Wilhelm, Dick Highland, Frederick Buxton, Tom Osborn, David Stone, Kenneth Artis, Charles Grant, William Harris, and Cleatus Taylor.

F. F. A. members with dairy projects have been reporting some good milk and butter fat records, Stanley Emel's purebred Jersey produced 45 lbs. of butterfat, making $31.18 above feed cost for the past month. Jack Cole's purebred Jersey produced 29 lbs. butterfat last month. Melvin Sager's purebred Jersey is averaging 30 lbs. of milk per day; Mac Graven's purebred Guernsey has been producing about 40 lbs. per day, with a butterfat test of 5.2%. Bill Graven, Tom Osborn, and Gerald Carter each have purchased Holstein heifers that have recently freshened, and all are producing over 50 lbs. of milk per day. Lloyd Stone's Red Poll cow produced 45 lbs. of butterfat last month.

George Martin and Bill Grieve were showing the Cornet Trio how to play their contest number; they ought to know their stuff, cause the trio they and Don Butler were in, in 1944, won first at State Contests. Did you learn anything Ted or Bob or Bev? The track medals and trophies for the Moultrie County Track Meet this Friday have arrived. They really look super; good luck fellas!

The Boxing Tournament last Friday brought $110 for the Senior Class. It was an exciting tournament with all the boys doing their best. The Chorus looked very nice in the long purple robes at Charleston last Saturday. It seems some of the girls had a little trouble with their high heels! The State Police came last Thursday to show us some pictures on driving. Kenny Beals didn't know there wasn't any speed limit on the highway; he was a little worried there for a minute! There have been complaints that the sophomore English class can't read while the Band is playing. Maybe that's just an excuse! What did Mr. Smith mean when he said "In the spring a young man's fancy turns to what a woman's been thinking of all winter"? Those curious seniors are just dying to know what the Junior-Senior Banquet is going to be like. Just have patience, you'll find out on May 23rd! Some of the girls have decided that this is "Be Kind To Ellen Ann Week." Ellen Ann really likes this; her every wish is granted—well, almost every wish.

The big question in General Science class this week is "Can you see through fingernails?" Any theories on this subject will be welcome.

In chemistry they are making fingernail polish; who knows, they may find some fascinating new shade.

Now that the Junior-Senior Banquet is only a month away a great problem has presented itself to the lovelorn gals of the freshman and sophomore classes: Dear Sob Sister,

Our handsome boy-friends, a senior and a junior, will not be allowed to take us to the J-S Banquet, though we have a gorgeous new formal and very hearty appetites. Is it fair for those junior and senior girls to get all that delicious food and those sweet-smelling corsages while we are "a-setting alone and suckin' our thumbs?" What to do?

Susie Sophomore and Flossie Freshman Too bad, girls, but you'll just have to face that lonely hour and be brave tho hungry. The best you can hope for is that HE will take you to the dance afterwards— — and after all, that would really be something for a mere underclassman!

The Girl Scouts of Troop 1 (Seniors) and Troops 3 and 5 (Intermediates) ended their bowling season March 29th. Troops 1 and 3 have bowled each Saturday for 5 months, beginning Nov. 2nd; Troop 5, the 5th and 6th grade girls, joined league competition began.

The following is a summary showing number of games, total pins, average and highest single game for each team and each girl; maximum number of games for girls was 40, (20 for Woodpeckers) for teams 20. Absence of Intermediate teams was due to basket-ball tournaments.
