County.

DID NOT APPROVE,

In an early day in Moultrie county there was an odd 'genius who we will cail Bill, because that was not his name, who drank and stammered and stammered and drank.

He had a brother, Dock, who was glib of tongue and was a great liar-but was believed to have reformed, for he pro fessed to become a good man, and was baptized in the creek. It was a bitter cold day in winter and the ice had to be broken to make a place for the cerem say. Bill was in attendance and close by. As Dock came out of the water he said to him:

"Is it c-c-sold Dock?"

"No," replied Dock, "not at all." "Dip him again, m-m-mister," cried Bill. "He l-!-lies yet?"

SULLIYAN TEAM IS REORGANIZED.

Boys Are Now at Peace With the World and Themselves and Ready to Play Ball Better Than Ever.

Nokomis failed to show up at the ball park last Sunday. Charles O'Day, manager of the Nokomis team, was scheduled to play here Sunday and Monday but failed to come or even inform the managers here that they were not coming. The games were well advertised and the managers regret very much to have disappointed the visitors who came from other towns. Just why Nokomis failed to appear is as yet unknown, but it is very likely that O'Day thought our boys were too much for him with Haff in the box. However, he should have notified our team that he was afraid to play them.

Next Sunday the Sullivan Grays will neet the Charleston team at Seass park. Charleston has a strong team and a fast game is promised.

On Monday the Eufaula Indians will play here. This is a game no one should miss as the team is composed of fullblood Indians and they play the game for all there is in it. They claim to be better ball players than the Nebraska Indians but if they are as good they will keep our boys guessing. Anyway it will be an interesting game. After the game they will give their war dance on the diamond. This feature alone is worth the price of admission.

On Tuesday, the big day, Mattoon will be the attraction. This is the day set to finish up the Fourth of July program that was cut short by rain and other unforeseen circumstances. The game will be called earlier so you won't miss anything in town.

Games have also been scheduled with Lincoln, Moweaqua, Macon, and the Chicago Union Giants, a team composed of all colored players, the strongest team on the road, and we should appreciate There will be a balloon ascension and the epportunity to see them play. These games will be advertised with dates in the near future.

WHAT LEMONS ARE GOOD FOR

Infinite Variety of Uses to Which the Fruit May Be Turned in the Home.

No family should be without lemons. Their uses are almost too many for enumeration. The juice of a lemon in hot water, on awaking in the morning is an excellent liver corrective. Glycerin and lemon juice, half and half, on a bit of absorbent cotton, is the best thing in the world wherewith to moisten the lips and tongue of a fever-parched patient. A dash of lemon juice in plain water is an excellent toothwash. It not only removes tartar, but sweetens the breath. A teaspoonful of the juice in a small cup of black coffee will almost certainly relieve a bilious headache. The finest of manicure acids is made by putting a teaspoonful of lemon juice in a cup This removes ful of warm water. most stains from the fingers and nails. and loosens the cuticle more satisfactorily than can be done by the use of a sharp instrument. Lemon juice and salt will remove rust stains from linen without injury to the fabric. Wet the stain with the mixture and put the article in the sun. Two or three applications maly be necessary if the stain is of long standing, but the remedy never fails. Lemon juice (outward application) will allay the irritation caused by the bites of gnats of flies. Lemon peel (and also orange) should be all saved and dried. They are a capital substitute for kindling wood. A handful will revive a dying fire.

To Keep Plate Polished.

Among the minor annoyances of housekeeping is the fact that, however carefully plate may be cleaned before putting it away, in the course of a week or so it becomes dull and tarnished. This may be avoided by the following simple means: After thoroughly cleansing the plate and polishing it with whiting, wrap up each piece in tin foil, such as is used for wrapping up chocolate, tea, etc.; then put them in a dry cupboard of drawer, and at the end of many years you will find your plate as bright as on the first day it was packed .- Washington Star.

Take one very nice-looking pineapple with a tuft of green foliage if possible The top is neatly sliced off and laid away The inside of the fruit is picked out with a silver fork till nothing remains but the shell. The shredded pineapple is mixed with one-half the quantity of crushed strawberries and one-eighth of grated macaroons. Sugar to taste before putting all back in the pineapple shell and replacing top. GAVE LOVER TO GIEL FRIEND ON HER DEATHBED.

Iowa Youth Eloped with Girl of Thir teen—Bride Acted as Husband's Guardian - Humor and Pathos of Love.

The betrothal of Miss Lulu Walkup, of Jefferson, Ind., to Charles Smith, of Anderson, Ind., was made at the bedside of a dying girl. Lulu Walkup and Elizabeth Lawrence had been schoolgirls together and lifelong friends. Last year Miss Lawrence became the promised bride of Charles Smith, but a few weeks before the date fixed for their wedding she became seriously ill. Mr. Smith and Miss Walkup were in almost constant attendance at the bedside, and a few hours before her death, after her physician had informed her that she could not recover, she motioned for her betrothed and Miss Walkup, who had been her most intimate friend, to come to her beside. They did so, and, with the last remnant of her strength, she joined their hands together with the remark that she could die happy if she knew that they would be wedded. The betrothal made in tears over the form of a dying girl will end in a wedding the coming week.

Harry Seward, aged 19, and Stella Little, only 13, were very much in love with each other, and so they eloped. They were captured in a boat trying to escape into Nebraska. Harry is a huge, muscular youth, man grown, and was employed by Stella's father as a farm hand near Des Moines. Stella is a blonde and tall, so well developed that she easily passes for 18. Their course of true love ran smoothly enough until Stella's parents sought to marry her to another man. Then she eloped with They went to Sioux City, where Harry's parents live. Thev were so big that they had no difficulty in getting a license and in finding a justice who married them. Harry took his bride home. Five days

Harry and his bride dashed out of the house, hand in hand, and made for the Missouri river, with the officers in close pursuit. They sprang into a rowboat, but before Harry pick up the oars the policeman could seized the boat's painter and the young bride and groom were escorted to jail, where Harry is held on a charge of abduction.

"Her mother wanted her to marry Everett Soloman, who worked for the Iowa Dairy company," young Seward said, "and I wouldn't stand for it. I'll soon find work and will support my Stella. I may have done wrong in stealing her away, but I love her and will protect her if I have a chance.'

'You're not of age," said the clerk. "You have to have the consent of your parents or a guardian."

"But I have no parents and no guar-dian," replied Albert Grayland. "Get a guardian, then," suggested the clerk. A queer light shone in the eyes of the girl. "I'm 18 years old," she said, "and of legal age. Why can't I be your guardian?"

They went to the probate judge. Blushingly the girl told the judge the story and asked to be appointed the guardian of Alfred Grayland, infant. The judge had been young himself, once, and probably in love a good times. So he signed the papers. and Myrtle Thyme took possession of her ward, Albert Grayland, and all his him right away, but, under the laws of Minneacta, she has to report to the probate judge every cent spent by her husband. All his cigar money goes into the report. When he spends 50 has to be inserted in a bill of particulars and filed with the court. The young bride even was compelled to pay the two-dollar fee for the licerse and the three-dollar fee to the justice of the peace. These expendi-tures she had to report to the court as "marriage expenses" of her ward. Furthermore, she must keep good eye to his conduct, for in this state guar dians are responsible for the moral an well as the financial welfare of their wards.

MAIDEN DIED HAPPY, WILL HAVE TURTLE SOUP. DEAR HAROLD'S WAY

True Story of a Big Snapper The Held Up Two Wheelmen and Crew of Trolley Car.

Essington, Pa., has had another lit tle sensation in the pranks of a tenpound snapping turtle. The snapper actually held up two young wheelmer from Philadelphia and a Chester Trac tion company motorman in the middle of the old Lazaretto road.

The wheelmen were enjoying their spin along the shell road and were heading for Prospect park, when they were confronted by the big snapper, which made its appearance from one of the marshy ditches. Advancing to the middle of the highway, the snapper stuck its head out of its shell and, with extended neck assumed an aggressive attitude, causing the cyclers to slacken speed.

The lads dismounted, and one of them was pursued by the snapper with open mouth, while the other sought refuge behind a convenient trolley pole.

It was while they were in this predicament that the trolley car operating between Essington and Moores came along, and the lusty shouts of the young wheelmen attracted the attention of the motorman, George Smith, who stopped his car and soon sized up the situation.

The motorman has a taste for snapper and he laid a plan to capture it by taking the rope from the trolley pole, which he used as a lasso. The snapper next directed its attention to the motorman and caught the rope in its razorlike jaws and cut it in twain.

Motorman Smith, with the assistance of Conductor Robert News, finally made the snapper a prisoner, took it to his home in Chester and will entertain his friends later on with snapper

STRANGE CIVIL WAR STORY. A Kentucky Judge's Reason for Keep ing a Twenty-Dollar Bill

Forty-Two Years.

The Danville (Ky.) correspondent of the Louisville Post says that County Judge W. H. Prewitt, who now lies critically ill at his home in that city, with very little hope of his recovery, has in his possession a $20 bill which has connected with it a pathetic story of our civil war. While gathering together and arranging his personal effects, in company with several friends on Tuesday, he pulled from an old box a $20 bill, yellow with age, and remarked: "This must not spent during my lifetime." He then related the following story: 'Just after the battle of Perryville I

PULLED OUT AN OLD BILL. found two young confecerate soldiers

-two boys, about 17 or 18 years of age lying wounded upon the field. I took them to my home, then in the neighborhood of the battlefield, and took care of them for several weeks, until they had almost recovered from their wounds. One morning a company of prope ty—he is well off. She married federal soldiers surrounded my house and took us prisoners to Danville, where they kept us for several days before taking the boys to prison. When the lads were about to be taken away they gave me this $20 bill for taking cents to see a ball game the amount care of them. I refused at first, but they insisted that I take the money, for it would be taken from them any way, and I would just as soon have it as anybody. I finally consented, They gave me the bill and bade me good-by as they went to prison. This was 42 years ago," said the judge, "and I have neither heard nor seen anything of the young soldiers since, but I have kept the money. Many time: I have been broke and in need of a dollar, but I never had a desire to spend the bill. Here it is; it belongs to them."

CHARMING BOY, HIS FOND MOTHER SAYS.

Needs Intelligent Treatment and Kindness, According to the Same Authority, But Nobody Agrees with Her.

"Harold isn't an ordinary child, by any means," observed the fond mother. "He has tremendous energy and it is sometimes quite a problem for his father and myself to keep it properly applied. Only the other day he got a can of red paint that the men had been using to paint the back fence with and daubed it in stripes all up and down the front of the house as high as he could reach, and when he had done that he went next door and did the same thing to the front of their home. Of course, he didn't mean any harm, but they were quite illnatured about it.

"I thought it showed an artistic tendency-to a certain extent, though, of course, crude. It needs development, that's all.

"I was going to say that the woman was mean about it. She scolded the poor child and then she came and complained to me. I told her that I was very sorry and that I would ask Mr. Kidly to see that it was cleaned off, but I let her see by my manner what I thought of her making a fuss about a little thing like

"But the amusing part of it was that Harold, poor child, took her scolding to heart so much that she had hardly got back into the house when he ran out and flung a stone through one of their windows. He was going to throw another when I called to him and made him come in. I told him that it was very wrong to throw stones through people's windows. Harold is very sensitive, you know, and he wasn't used to being talked to in the way that woman talked to him, and, being a child of spirit, it was quite natural for him to resent it. What Harold needs is kindness.

"He has such an inquiring disposition. Why, he'll sit and ask me questions by the hour-oh, on the strangest subjects. I always make a point of answering him.

DAUBED NEIGHBOR'S HOUSE

think a child should be taught. And he's thorough. He isn't content with superficial knowledge. The other day he was asking me what was in the sofa nillows and I told him some of them were stuffed with down and some with feathers and the green flat one had pine needles inside. Of course he wanted to know then what down was and I told him it was little feathers and the other feathers were just feathers and that they didn't sew things with pine needles and that the other kind of needles didn't grow on other kinds of trees and I went into the subject, as I thought, quite thoroughly. But Harold wasn't satisfied and while I was out of the room he took together. my scissors and cut open two of the pillows and when I came down he had the feathers scattered all over. He wanted to see for himself, you know. I think that is such a splendid trait in a boy, don't you know. If he makes the law his profession it will be valuable to him.

'He's got lots of spirit and a will of We can't make him do anything he doesn't want to do unless we can make him see that it's for his own good. I always reason with him and just as soon as I convince him you never saw a more obedient and docile little fellow. You see, what Harold needs is some one who can understand him and deal with him intelligently. Excuse me a moment and I'll see what he's doing

As the fond mother left the room records the Chicago News, one of the visitors turned to the other and said: 'What Harold needs is a nice, large, smooth-backed hairbrush laid on hard where it will do the most good and I'd like to be the one to give it to him." The other visitor nodded.

Silence for an Entire Month. A curious custom prevails in Bulgaria which must be a hard penalty for the woman who loves to hear the sound of her own voice. All newly married women are coliged to remain dumb for a month after marriage, except when addressed by their husbands. When it is desirable to remove this restriction permanently the husband presents her with gift, and then she can chatter to her heart's content.

American Genius Everywhere.

The last railroad built in India has American rails. Americans export their galvanic wires to South Africa. Egypt, too, has more than one Philadelphia bridge. Three hundred railroad cars from Jersey City have found their way into the land of the Pharaohs, and in the founderies of Pittsburg electrical tramways were forged to connect Cairo with the Pyramids.

OLD JOHN WAS NO FOOL.

Chippewa Indian with a System of Playing Poker That Surprised the Lumbermen.

Kah-be-nug-gway-way, better known as "Old John Smith," is probably the only Indian in the United States that could be classed as a humorist. John, says the Duluth Herald, is the wit of the Chippewa nation, and among the white people of northern Minnesota is considered the wisest and foxiest red in the country. John is somewhere in the neighborhood of 90 or 100.

John's home, at the mouth of Leech river, has long been known as "Gamblers' Point," for the reason that many desperate contests at the great national game have been played in John's cabin, on the bank of the river. His place became famous in the early days, as an abiding place during the hot months of summer for many lumbermen from Minneapolis, Duluth and other places who desired to have an Their principal occupation while in the vicinity of John's was poker playing. In a spirit of kindness they taught him to play, when they first came, and he used to sit in the games with them. If his guests won, they would give the money back John, believing that he was unacquainted with the game and to keep the money would be nothing short of robbery? It invariably happened that John was always the winner when the guests got ready to depart. It was some years before the truth of John's knowledge of the cards became known. It appears that he knew all about poker and had some original tricks that were sure winners. He possessed an old deerskin tobacco pouch and when playing would always sit with the pouch between his knees. When the time came to fill hands, John would evince an unsatiable desire to smoke and would dive into the sack and replenish his pipe. Invariably, after filling his pipe he would lay down the winning hand and take the pot. This went on for many years, until finally John could not stand the humorous side of his little game, and he told the boys one day how he did it. Inside the tobacco pouch was a whole deck of cards and when he wanted a good hand he would fill his pipe and incidentally his hand

SCIENTIFIC SELECTIONS.

India has, perhaps, a greater variety of plants than any other country in the world, having 15,000 native species, while the flora of the entire continent of Europe only embraces about 10,000.

How far radium is responsible for the heat of the earth is one of the philosophical questions now interesting scientists. Prof. Rutherford, before a recent meeting of the Royal Institute of London, stated that he believed the amount of radium present and uniformly distributed throughout the earth would be sufficient to account for all the heat lost from that body. The production of rubber from the ficus elastica in Upper Burma, Assam, and the Netherland, is being rapidly increased. The seed of the ficus Elastica, when the tree grows naturally in theforest germinates almost invariably in the forks of trees 30 to 40 feet above the surface of the ground, and the young trees grow in consequence for some six: to ten years as epiphytes, after which the aerial roots reach the ground., and increase in size until some of them reache a girth of from four to six feet. It frequently happens that the trees on whichthe rubber seedling first germinated is killed by the more vigorous growing; ficus elastica.

Scientific investigation has discovered that that troublesome disease, dyspepsia, can be cured by short intervals of exposure to intense cold, followed by hearty eating. M. Raoul Pictet, a Swissgentleman, was experimenting with a low temperature. He had produced an artificial temperature in a sort of pit. which caused the thermometer to sink to 140 or 150 degrees below zero. Amongother experiments he exposed himself for a brief interval to this temperature by lowering himself into the pit. One emerging he found himself intensely hungry and ate freely. The process was repeated several times, and as a result he found himself cured of chronic indigestion, from which he had suffered for

MEAT INDUSTRY TIED UP

PACKING HOUSE EMPLOYES IN MANY CITIES STRIKE.

Estimated That Fifty Thousand Have Quit Work-Price of Meat Advanced—Shortage Threatened.

Chicago, July 16.-The great stockyards strike, expected to paralyze the meat industry for a time at least, began

More than 2,000 workmen in the packing houses affected by the strike quit work by 11:30 a. m., anticipating by an hour the strike order. Up to two o'clock 17,000 employes had quit work.

Price of Meat Goes Up. The effect of the strike upon the food supply of the country and the rise in prices of meats will no doubt be tremendous, and was felt at the very start. Meat shot up three cents a pound the minute the men went out. Commission men telegraphed their customers throughout the country to cease shipping hogs and cattle. The railroad companies also notified their agents in every small town in the country not to accept cattle for shipment to Chicago and the other points where the strike reaches. The result is that shippers have ceased sending cattle to market. Consequently, unless the packers replace the strikers with other employers and resume the operation of their plants before long, it will only be a short time before the majority of the people of the land will be forced to become vegetarians.

The number of men and women employed in the packing houses at the various cities is estimated as follows: Chicago, 20,000; Kansas City, 10,000; St. Joseph, 5,000; East St. Louis, 5,000; South Omaha, 5,000; Fort Worth, 1,500; New York, 1,500; St. Paul, 800; Sioux City, 800. In addition to this great total, another 50,000 workers will be made idle through the strike of the butchers. Branch stores and agencies will be practically closed while the struggle continues, and many affiliated branches of trade will be affected.

It was the dispute over the wages of the unskilled laborers that precipitated the present trouble.

St. Louis, July 13.-It is stated that in the neighborhood of 4,500 men employed in packing houses in St. Louis and East St. Louis are out as a result of the order received from M. Donnelly, of Chicago, president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers of America. Of this number only between 700 and 800 were employed in St. Louis, as most of the great packing houses are in East St. Louis, in the vicinity of the national stock yards there. Packers in East St. Louis anticipate no immediate increase in the price of meat, as it is understood that the coolers are filled with a supply which will last about two weeks. An almost unlimited supply of smoked and cured meats is on hand. About 4,000 cattle were received Tuesday. It is stated that cattle will continue to be received and will be weighed and fed, and sent out according to the demand.

New York, July 13.—As soon as the retail butchers in this city learned Tuesday that strikes had been ordered in the meat packing plants in many of the large cities they at once began to advance the price of meat from two to three cents a pound. This was done generally in the tenement sections on the East and West sides of the city. H. L. Eichelberger, general organizer of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union of America, predicted that within three days there will be a meat famine in this city.

At Kansas City. Kansas City, Mo., July 13.-Eight thousand meat cutters, butchers and others affiliated with the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' and Butchers' Workmen's union, constituting the entire forces in those departments in the six big packing plants here, struck Tuesday, in response to President Donnelly's order of Monday calling the men out. As a result all the plants are shut down and 12,800 employes in the various departments are affected.

At South Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., July 13.-At noon Tuesday 4,000 employes of the four packing houses at South Omaha laid down their tools and went out on strike. The packing plants affected are those of Armour, Swift, Cudahy and the Omaha Packing company. The strike is the result of an order received from Second Vice President Vail, of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' and Butchers' union and affects practically every man employed in the packing houses, skilled and unskilled.

No Trouble at St. Joseph. St. Joseph. Mo., July 13.-More than 5,000 employes of Swift & Co., Nelson Morris & Co., and the Hammond Packing company in South St. Joseph went out on a strike at noon Tuesday and the plants have closed down. The strikers are orderly and there has been no attempt at a demonstration of any kind. St. Paul, Minn., July 13.-Following the example of the meat cutters in Chicago and Kansas City, about 700 employes of Swift & Co., in South St. Paul, went out on a strike at noon Tuesday. Sioux City, Ia., July 13.—About 1,000 men in the Cudahy packing plant here obeyed the order to strike. The plant was forced to shut down. Business at the stock yards is at a standstill as a re-

The Japanese attacked the western fort, whereupon the Russians exploded land mines, which caused fearful havoc. The Japanese retired. Their casualties are estimated at 2 800

Tokio, July 12 .- The Russian cruisers Bayan, Diana, Pallada and Novik, two gunboats and seven torpedo boat destroyers came from the harbor of Port Arthur on Saturday morning, July 9, preceded by a number of steamers engaged in clearing away mines. In the afternoon the Russian vessels reached a point between Sensikat and Lun Wan Tang. where they were attacked by a Japanese flotilla of torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers. Fire was exchanged with the Bayan. At fouro'clock in the afternoon the Russian vessels retreated to the harbor. Admiral Togo reports that the Japanese vessels had one cabin boy slightly wounded.

Rome, July 11.-A dispatch from Liaoyang says that a fierce battle has been fought at Hoang, near Liaoyang, between a force of Russians numbering 4,000, led by Gen. Keller, and a supposedly superior number of the enemy. Although the Russians struggled valiantly they were compelled to retreat before determined assaults by the Japanese and left 350 dead upon the field. The Japanese showed great bravery. The battle ended in complete rout of the Russians. The loss of the Japanese is unknown.

Chefoo, July 12.-A European who left Port Arthur on Sunday at five p. m. says the Japanese made an attack with torpedo boats at one o'clock Sunday morning, and attempted to penetrate the harbor. They were repulsed without loss to either side.

The Russians arriving here admit that more than 1,700 wounded have arrived at Port Arthur since Friday, and many more to come.

FATHER AND SON DIE.

Bishop Huntington Passes Away at Hadley, Mass., and His Son Dies at Hanover, N. H.

Hadley, Mass., July 12.—Rt. Rev. Frederick D. Huntington, Episcopal bishop of the Central diocese of New York, died at his summer home here. Death came peacefully at 4:30 o'clo and found the venerable clergyman in the room where he was born 85 years The bishop had been in failing health for several months from a complication of diseases which old age denied him the strength to successfully combat.

Close upon the death of the bishop came intelligence of the death at Hanover, N. H., of the bishop's son, Dr. George r. Huntington, a member of the faculty at Dartmouth college. An attack of fever had prevented Dr. Huntington from coming here but his death had not been anticipated. He was 64 years old.

THE USUAL RESULT.

Woman Tries to Start Fire with Kerosene, and Three Lives Are Lost

Milwaukee, Wis., July 12.-A special to the Sentinel from Walworth, Wis., says: Three lives were lost Monday in a fire near this village, in which the property destroyed amounts to but little over $500. Carelessness in an endeavor to replenish a kitchen fire by the aid of kerosene started the blaze burned a young woman who was at work over the stove and two children, together with the home of Chris Holtz, a farmer on the Peterson place, four miles west of here. The dead are: Marie Sorenson, aged 19 years; Dorothy Holtz, aged nine years; Petra Holtz, aged five years.

Tragedy in Iowa.

Des Moines, Ia., July 13.—James Vogelony, aged 22, shot his 15-year-old sweetheart, Anna Underansky, five times with a revolver, causing instant death. The crime was committed at Hocking, Ia. Vogelony killed the girl because she refused to marry him. He was found hiding in a haystack and placed in jail at Albia.

FATAL BLUNDER.

Made by a Towerman and Wreck of Excursion Train Follows-Sixteen Killed.

New York, July 11.—Sixteen persons were killed and about 50 injured in a collision which occurred at Midvale, N. J., just before noon Sunday, when a regular passenger train on the Greenwood Lake branch of the Erie railroad ran into an excursion train that had stopped to take water. All the dead and injured lived in Hoboken, Jersey City and New York.

The accident is believed to have resulted from a tower operator having lowered his signal too soon, and this was admitted by D. W. Cooke, general passenger agent of the Erie railroad who gave out a statement in which he "The operator in the tower failed to set the block signal against the train following."

The train which was run into was a special carrying members of the First Plattdeutcher association, of Hoboken, on their annual outing, and had 800 passengers. It consisted of 12 cars and two engines. The first engine had taken water and the train had moved up and stopped with the second engine beside the tank when the regular train drew near. The flagman of the special signalled the engineer of the oncoming train, but owing to a curve in the road his flag was not seen until too late.

It is claimed that the engineer of the regular train had slowed down to about ten miles an hour before he crashed into the special, but his engine tore through the rear car the greater part of its length and drove the forward end of that car into the car ahead. The killed and injured were in these two cars. The wreckage did not catch fire and the work of taking out the dead and maimed was accomplished quickly.

TOWN IS WRECKED.

Damage by Explosion of Powder Magazine at Marblehead, O., Placed at $150,000-Many Injured.

Sandusky, O., July 11.-The little town of Marblehead, on the peninsula across the bay from this city, was wrecked by a terrific explosion of dynamite and powder Saturday night, every house and building in the town being damaged and possibly 100 people injured. No one was killed. Lightning struck the magazine of the Kelley's Island Lime & Transport company, a Cleveland corporation, and the contents of the building, including about 25 tons of dynamite and 200 kegs of powder, let go in a terrific explosion, or series of explosions. But a half hour before several hundred men had quit work in the vicinity. The loss is estimated at $150,000. There is not a whole pane of glass in the town and houses were literally lifted from their foundations and moved several feet.

At Lorain, 30 miles away, the shock of the explosion broke plastering from the ceilings of houses, shattered windows, toppled over chimneys and threw horses to the pavement.

Once in the grasp of the current there was no hope for him, and within a few minutes his scores of companions were horrified to see his body swept over the brink of the horseshoe fall. Among those who witnessed his awful fate was his

BLOWN FROM A BRIDGE.

Seven Men Killed and Two Injured as Result of Tornado at Thebes, Ill.

St. Louis, July 9.-A special to the Republic from Cape Girardeau, Mo., says: Seven workmen were killed and two others seriously injured by being blown from the second arch of the new railroad bridge across the Mississippi river at Thebes, Ill., Friday night. The tornado struck a traveling crane, upon which the men were at work, and pushed it backward for 200 feet. At the second arch from the Missouri shore it struck an obstruction and was hurled to the rocks below. A relief train was hastily made up and the dead and injured brought here.

Many Injured.

St. Louis, July 11.-While running at full speed the tender of the engine drawing an eastbound excursion train. on the Missouri Pacific road jumped a switch near Labadie, 45 miles west of here, Sunday night, derailed four coaches, which were thrown down the embankment, and injured 38 passengers. It is considered remarkable that none was killed outright, and only three were seriously, injured.

MAYOR JONES IS DEAD.

'Golden Rule" Executive of Toledo Loses Brave Fight for Life-His Career.

Toledo, July 13.-Samuel M. Jones mayor of Toledo, died at his home Tuesday evening at 5:07 o'clock as the result of a complication of diseases. The immediate cause of his death was an abscess on his lungs. When this abscess broke the mayor was not strong enough to throw off the poison from his system and death resulted. The mayor had suffered for years from asthma, and this was the primary cause of his fatal illness. The death of Mayor Jones has caused the greatest sorrow all over the city. Although many did not believe in his ideas on sociological problems. everybody loved and respected him. His one great strong hold with the people of Toledo was his honesty. The mayor was taken ill two weeks ago last Thursday and for the last 48 hours previous to his death was in a comatose condition. He did not regain consciousness during that time.

Samuel Milton Jones, known all over America as "Golden Rule" Jones, was born in Wales in 1846. His parents came to America and settled in New York state when Mr. Jones was but three years old. Up to the time Mr. Jones was 16 years old he worked at anything he could find to do during the summer, and attended school each winter for a few months. In 1864 ha went to the oil fields of Pennsylvania. where he worked as an engineer. In 1875 he was married to Alma Bernice Curtiss, of Pleasantville, Pa., who bore him three children. After the death of his wife Mr. Jones moved, in 1886, to Lima, O., and, leasing lands, struck what was known as "The first large oil well" in Ohio. He was one of the original incorporators of the Ohio Oil company, which afterwards sold out to the Stand ard Oil company.

In 1892 he was married to Helen L Beach, of Toledo, and moved to that Two years later he started a factory for the manufacture of oil pumping apparatus, which is now known as the "Golden Rule" factory. Here he gradually instituted a number of innovations, setting up the Golden Rule as the only regulation of the shop.

In the spring of 1897 came his first introduction to political life. The republican party was split into three factions, each with a candidate for mayor. At the convention two of the factions saw the necessity of uniting to prevent the third from winning out, and Mr. Jones was nominated after a struggle.

WILL SUPPORT THE TICKET.

Mr. Bryan Gives Four Reasons Why He Will Vote for Parker and Davis.

Lincoln, Neb., July 13.-W. J. Bryan has given out the following statement: "I shall vote for Parker and Davis, the nominees of the democratic national convention, and shall do so for the following reasons

"First—Because the democratic ticket stands for opposition to imperialism, while the republican ticket stands for an imperialistic policy. On this question. which was the paramount issue in 1900, and which must remain an important issue so long as an attempt is made to colonies under the American flag on this issue the convention was unanimous, the platform emphatic, and I have no doubt that the candidate will carry out the platform.

"Second-Mr. Roosevelt is injecting the race issue into American politics and this issue, if it becomes national, will make it impossible to consider economic questions that demand solution The election of the democratic ticket will put a quietus upon this attempt and permit the race question to work itself out without the bitterness which Mr. Roosevelt's conduct has engendered

"Third-Mr. Roosevelt stands for the spirit of war. His friends present him as a man of blood and iron. He believes in strenuousness and inculcates a love for war-like things. The democratic ticket stands for peace, for reason and for arbitration rather than for force, conquest and bluster,

"Fourth-The democratic platform declares in favor of the reduction of the standing army, and as this plank was unanimously adopted there is reason to believe that a democratic success on this subject would bring some advantage to the people.

It was while in one of the mining towns where his interests lie that Senator Clark about nine years ago was present when the miners and wives and families were enjoying a Fourth of July celebration. The "goddess" was impersonated by a young woman, probably 35 years his junior. Senator Clark made inquiries and learned that the goddess was Miss Anna E. La Chappelle. He learned that La Chappelle, the father of the girl, was a French-Canadian physician, who with his wife and family had turned to the United States and its western fields for a livelihood. La Chappelle died suddenly in Chicago and soon after this Senator Clark decided to extend financial assistance to the family, not for Anna La Chappelle alone, but for her widowed mother and children. He was introduced to Mrs. La Chappelle and thus met her children. He recognized Anna as a girl endowed with un usual intelligence. Senator Clark made the girl his ward and the sequel is told in the announcement of their mar-

AN AWFUL CRIME.

Brutal Murder of Indiana Woman and Her Babe by Unknown Fiends.

Greensboro, Ind., July 12.-Mrs. William Starbuck died Monday from the effects of injuries received at the hands of unknown persons, who are being trailed by bloodhounds. She and her child, whose bodies were found at the bottom of an abandoned well oneeighth of a mile from her home, will be buried in the same grave. Detectives are at work on the case. Mrs. Starbuck was delirious and at no time did she recover consciousness sufficiently to give any information as to the indentity of her assailants. During her delirium she was continually crying out: "What are you doing here?" "What are you going to do?" and similar remarks, during which she was with difficulty prevented from doing herself further injury.

The woman apparently made an effort to call to her neighbors over the rural telephone, for the receiver was down and several subscribers along the line reported that they had heard indistinct cries earlier in the evening, but paid no attention, as they thought the wires were out of order.

ILLINOIS STATE NEWS.

Old Couple Elopes.

Though both had passed the biblical mile stone of life of "three score and ten years," Charles L. Schoneberg, a lover at 80, thought he was old enough to marry whom he pleased, and eloped with Julia E. Eberdt from Chicago to Hammond, Ind. The bride is 76 years old. They were married by Judge Thomas Hembroff, to whom they confided the secret that their children in Chicago were opposed to their marriage. It was Mr. Schoenberg's second venture in the matrimonial field, while his bride has been married twice before.

600,000 Affirmatives Needed.

It is expected that the total vote of Illinois at the next presidential election, November 8, will be close to 1,200,000, The total vote at the presidential election in 1900 was 1,131,894, a gain of 41,-025 over that of 1896. The pending amendment to the state constitution will have to receive about 600,000 affirmative votes to insure ratification. The amendment is to give the legislature authority. which it does not now possess, to frame a new charter for Chicago, and the proposition will be on a special ballot.

Chicago Not Liable for Disaster. Litigation to the probable aggregate total of $8,000,000 was discouraged when Judge Holdom, in the superior court, ruled that the city of Chicago was not liable in any degree for the Iroquois theater fire. All the manufacturing which involves labor contracts with the inmates of the Illinois state penitentiary have closed, and 1,000 convicts are locked in their cells, there to remain indefinitely. Gov. Yates advised Warden Murphy that under the law passed by the legislature, directing all contracts to cease, the prison authorities had no right to work convicts under contracts.

Cyclone Performs Several Stunts.

A cyclone swept two towns 30 miles north of Springfield, razing houses, uprooting trees and causing a large amount of damage. MRS. PETTIT.

Mrs. Pettit. of Allenville, died in the hospital at Kankakee Monday of consumption. Mrs. Pettit was adjudged insane about four months ago, and was taken to the asylum. The deceased was 52 years of age and endured many hardships in her lifetime, as she was left a widow in destitute circumetances with five small and helpless children entirely dependent on her for a living. With county aid and her daily labor she managed to raise and educate her family. She had been twice married, her second husband being Samuel Russell of this city, with whom she lived but a short time.

She was a member of the United Brethren church at Allenville.

She is survived by two sons. Alva and Harry, and two daughters, Mrs. Mike Moran and Mrs. Abner Davis. Funeral services were conducted Tues day at the home of Alva Pettit, burial at the French cemetery.

MRS. NOLA REYNOLDS.

Mrs. McReynolds died last Friday Red Beauty Herd of Duroc Jersey Swine, morning at Liberal, Kansas of tubercu losis She had been sick about a year and went to Liberal about two weeks ago, hoping that the change might be beneficial to her health.

She was 20 years of age and had been married about two years. The body was brought home, at Bethany, Monday morning by her husband in the churchyard at Bethany. A NARROW ESCAPE.

H. T. Reynolds and her father J. S. Langston. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. George Silvius of the C. P.

A few days ago Emmet Fleming, hving in the couthern part of East Nelson township, hitched his horse, which was attached to a buggy, to a pump near the house. His son, a child between two and three years of age, got in the buggy and struck the horse a sharp blow with a whip, which made it lunge and jerk the pump out. As the buggy passed over the well, which is thirty-two feet deep, the child was pitched in. Luckily the well contained but a foot and a half of water, just sufficient to deaden the

With the assistance of a neighbor and rope the child was soon brought from bruises and being somewhat stupid for a day or two.

THE CHUTES

Chicago's Leading Pleasure Resort Thronged with Local Merry-Malars and Visitors

The Chutes - Chicago's Coney Island - presents an animated scene from noon till midnight these summer days. Cooled by cascades that murmur musically in mid-air, rendered brilliant by myriads of vari-colored lights, en-livened by shouts of merry-makers and the music of Weldon's fine military band, The Chutes form an ideal resort. Here within one suclosure are a 'Wonderland," county fair, circus, in dian village, Wild West, concert garden, theatre, crystal lake, roaring waterfalls, and a thousand devices to afford pleasurable diversion national convention nominated the fol- on the nomination for vice president lowing ticket: For president, Alton B. Parker, of New York; for vice president, Henry G. Davis, of West Virginia. The convention adjourned sine die at 1:30 a. m. Sunday.

The attractions include water cas cades, gondolas, Figure 8 Toboggan, laughing gallery, Helter Skelter, a palace of illusions, giant carousels and swings, a haunted house, an encampment of Indian braves, squaws and papooses, the wonderful Katzenjammer Castle, animatiscope pictures of batties, ballets, natural monders, plays. fairy tales, and views of the St. Louis fair; open air concerts, mutoscopes, the Mystic Rill, a menagerie of nondescript monsters; 4hd Double Whirl, Ferris wheel, and Thousand other unique devices. Above the throngs of gaily attired patrons flags and bunting flutter and the colored lights shed a flood of radiant bues. Dashing spray, rainbowe from the cascades, shouting merry makers; a rippling take, whirling cars, and all the other activities there enlivened by the strains of the big band make The Chutes the most popular resort in Chicago.

Judge Parker was nominated at 5:40 the first ballot, but Iowa and West Virginia changed their votes, giving and I shall act accordingly if the action him the necessary two-thirds, and on motion of Gov. Dockery, of Missouri, the nomination was made unanimous. The Ticket Is Completed.

The convention ended its work at 1:15 o'clock Sunday morning by naming Henry G. Davis of West Virginia as its candidate for vice president. This final work, when it was reached, was done in a hurry. Former Senator Davis had the support of both the Parker and Bryan delegates, and the opposition to him was comparatively trifling. Defore the result of the ballot was announced Ohio moved that the nomination be made by acclamation, and this was done without dissent.

The other candidates were ex-Senator George Turner of Washington, Congressman J. R. Williams of Illinois, and ex-Senator W. A. Harris of until nine o'clock. Kansas. They received but slight support. Illinois voted for Congressman Williams, as did Indiana, North and South Carolina, and Rhode Island. That, however, was all he could muster. The other candidates also received purely local support.

The vote before the nomination was The vote before the nomination was made unanimous stood: Davis, 536; Williams, 165; Turner, 100; Harris, 58.

Parker simply desired that his belief in the gold standard be known. Cheers for the Nominee.

After the motion for the unanimous vote was carried with a great shout, and the bustle of departure was on. There was cheering here and there, led by the West Virginia and other southdid not approach some of those caused by less serious matters. The any vacancies in the ticket that might occur and some minor resolutions of routine were disposed of. The convention adjourned at 1:30 a. m., and the tired delegates turned their faces toward the doors for the last time.

Parker Creates a Sensation.

A situation unprecedented in American political history was created in the democratic convention Saturday evening. Judge Alton Brooks Parker, the nominee for president, telegraphed the convention that he believed in the gold standard and that unless the convention knew his belief and still favored his candidacy he must decline to be the standard bearer of the party The con-

St. Louis, July 11.-The democratic, vention was just ready for the roll call when the telegram from Judge Parker was received by William F. Sheehan, a personal representative of the nominee. The telegram was as follows:

Judge Parker's Attitude. "Esopus, N. Y., July 9.—Hon. William a. m. Saturday, after an exciting all F. Sheehan, Convention Hall, St. Louis, night session. He had 658 votes on ly and irrevocably established by law, of the convention to-day is ratified by the people. Inasmuch as the platform is silent upon this subject, I deem it necessary to make this communication to the convention for its consideration, as I should feel it my duty to decline the nomination except upon this understanding. ALTON B. PARKER."

The work of the convention was paralyzed at this critical juncture, the delegates being in a consternation of doubt whether or not they had a presidential nominee. A conference of party leaders hurriedly assembled in the rear of the convention, with hundreds of anxious delegates held at bay by sergeants-atarms and police. In a stormy session Senator Tillman denounced Parker's action, and Senator Hill strove to find a solution. At 5:30 o'clock, with all uncertainty, the convention was adjourned

Bryan rose from a sickbed and appeared on the platform, pale and weak, to speak against the sending of the telegram. The most intense suspense and interest of the convention marked the session, every man, from the humblest delegate to the most important leader, being impressed by the remarkable crisis. Parker was saved from retirement and his declaration for the gold standard accepted by vote of the convention. The resolution sending the mes sage to Judge Parker passed the convention on roll call by a vote of 774 to 199.

The Convention's Reply.

"The platform adopted by this convention is silent on the question of the monetary standard because it is not regarded by us as a possible issue in the campaign and only campaign issues were mentioned in the platform. Therefore there is nothing in the views expressed by you in the telegram just received which would preclude a man entertain ing them from accepting a nomination on said platform."

AN ALL-NIGHT SESSION.

Wild Scenes Follow Presentation of Candidates' Names.

St. Louis, July 9.-The morning session of the democratic national convention on Friday was very brief, adjournment being taken until evening to receive the report of the committee on resolutions. At the opening of the evening session the platform was adopted and then began a call of the states for presdential nominees.

Martin W. Littleton, of New York, placed Judge Parker in nomination. For 25 minutes the delegates and the galeries cheered, shouted and yelled for Parker, while banners were carried in struggling processions to the blare of bands and the singing of men. E. M. Delmas of California nominated Hearst. For 35 minutes delegates and galleries yelled, shouted, and cheered for Hearst, while men marched in processions and carried banners and flags to the music of bands.

L. Irving Handy, of Delaware, proposed Judge Gray's name. David Overmeyer, of Kansas, nominated Gen. Nelson A. Miles. Richard Olney, of Massachusetts was nominated by Maj. Collins, of Boston, and Mayor Rose, of Milwaukee, presented the name of Mr. Wall, Wisconsin's favorite son. Senator Cockrell's name, when presented by Champ Clark, of Missouri, set the convention wild again at two o'clock in the morning. The scene was well nigh unprecedented. Ten thousand people in round numbers were still in the big hall at 2:10 a. m. pounding, cheering, yelling all the name of a venerable senator whose namination before the convention was nothing more than the merest formality.

After nine hours of oratory, confusion and wild scenes Bryan made a dramatic and pathetic appeal for the party principles he represents, closing in tears and arousing his hearers to great enthusiasm. The conservatives, however, were in control, and after the roll was called and two minor states changed to Parker, the New Yorker had two-thirds of the total vote, the nomination being made unanimous on motion of Gov. Dockery, of Missouri, amidst great cheering.

Short Morning Session.

The convention held a short morning session, the feature of which was an address by Capt. Richmond P. Hobson. handling the race question in vigorous fashion, after which an adjournment until evening was taken to await committee reports.

THE OPENING SESSION.

Address of John Sharp Williams, Temporary Chairman.

St. Louis, July 7.—The democratic national convention met Wednesday, listened to an extended speech from Representative John Sharp Williams, its temporary chairman, appointed the committees necessary to perfect a permanent organization, and adjourned. In a session lasting two hours and 50 minutes one striking incident overshadowed all other proceedings. That was the enthusiastic and prolonged cheering which greeted the name of Grover Cleveland

Convention Called to Order. At three minutes after 12 Chairman J. K. Jones, of the national committee. called the convention to order. His appearance on the platform and the sound of his gavel brought forth a cheer from the floor and galleries.

Applause followed the reading of the call. After quiet was restored. Chairman Jones announced that the convention would be opened by prayer by Rev. John F. Cannon, pastor of Grand Avenue Baptist church, of St. Louis.

Temporary Officers Announced.

Enthusiastic cheering greeted the chairman's announcement that he was directed by the national committee to appoint John S. Williams temporary chairman and C. A. Walsh temporary secretary and John I. Martin temporary sergeant-at-arms.

Chairman Williams then assumed the gavel and made a speech which was heartily cheered by the delegates.

After announcing the time and places for the various committee meetings, a motion was made by Bourke Cockran that the convention adjourn until ten o'clock Thursday morning. The motion was adopted, and the convention adjourned at 2:50 o'clock.

THE SECOND DAY.

Bryan's Determined Fight for Illinois Contestants Lost.

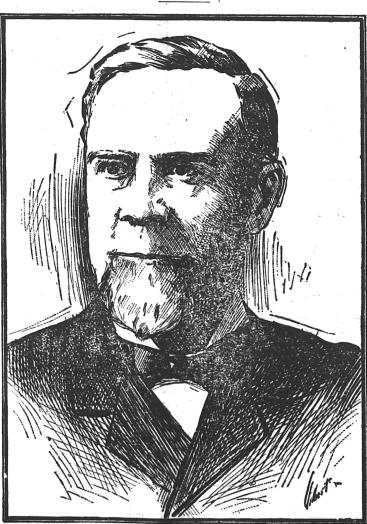

St. Louis, July 8.-The democratic national convention on Thursday adopted the report of the committee on rules, credentials and permanent organization. The session opened at ten o'clock, an hour later took a re-cess until two p. m., and adjourned at 6:20 until ten o'clock to-day. During the day several speeches were made chief of which was William Jennings Bryan's effort to overthrow the report of the credentials committee and seat contesting delegates from Illinois. The controversy was ended by the rejection of the minority report of the committee by a vote of 647 nays to 299 ayes.

The Ovation to Bryan. The ovation given Mr. Bryan was one of the greatest ever transpiring at any of the notable events for which the immense coliseum is famed.

When the rault of the contest was announced the report of the committee on permanent organization was made. Representative Champ Clark, who was chosen permanent chairman, addressed the convention.

The morning session of the convention was without material interest except for the dissension caused by objection to that part of the report from the committee on rules which provides for the seating of delegates sent by insular possessions. Several delegates discussed the report, and a roll call was asked for, but the report was adopted finally without resorting to that method of determining the action of the convention, but as a result of a ruling by the temporary chairman, acquiesced in by the convention, which has the effect of refusing representation to the delegates who had come from the Philippines.

FURNITURE MADE AT HOME

Comfortable Combination Settee and Table for the Porch of Odd and Pleasing Design.

A combination settee and table can be made to be used and left or the porch. If one likes the "rustic," this could be made of unplaned lumber, the seat and arms and back being rubbed with coarse sandpaper to take off the worst of the roughness that would be likely to catch on the clothes.

It might be well, perhaps, to plane the upper side of the table top, though that, too, might be left rough to be used without a cloth. This piece could be left to be "grayed" by the weather, or could be made of boards already weathered, or the gray could be start ed with a stain. A water stain (aniline) might be better than an oil stain because little of the stain could be wiped off and unless the oilstain were very thin it would look too much like paint. On account of the dampness no glue should be used. Instead of trying to fit the edges of the boards of the top tightly as in gluing, round off all the edges both above and below, eaving an obvious crack. Round off all the corners of the table and the weather will "raise" no splinters.

Treat the boards of the seat same as the top. Screw the seat and top boards down with solid screws, placing the screws near the edges of the boards to keep them from warping and curling up. Then let the sun and rain have their way and you will have a "real" weathered oak piece, which could be used in winter as a unique indoor piece.

Two braces should run lengthwise inder the seat, screwed or mortised into the end pieces and screwed to the seat boards.

To operate the affair the top would have to be lifted off and set on edge on the ends of the cross-pieces, the 'back braces" being hooked over the pegs in the outsides of the arms. When used as a table the top should be fasened on by running "loose" pegs through the arms into the cross-pieces on the under side of the top. The back prace will then fold up under the top. While this piece might appear rough a first sight, its design would make it odd and interesting.—Chicago Journal. A LITTLE ESSAY ON MUSK If You Want to Be Left Severely Alone Scent Yourself Liberally with the Stuff.

If you are going to travel, by sea or by land, scent yourself with musk. It will ward off everything and everybody from you, dangers and moths included

It is generally agreeable to all mankind. It is so sweet and refreshing, and such an air purifier! In railroad cars, where there is no air to speak of and everybody who does not smell of smoke and onions, smells of codfish and old cider, it is especially delight-

It doesn't make anybody sick at the stomach, and no well-regulated head would ache on account of it, and the man who would get profane, and talk about woodchucks, and polecats, and water rats, in connection with the smell of musk, ought to be condemned to ride second-class forever, between a fat woman carrying home-smoked her ring, and a colored nursegirl with a baby that smells of sour milk.

At church, musk is delightful. It is the very "odor of sanctity." The clergyman can preach better for it, and the bald-headed deacon and the long-nosed sexton can sleep better and snore louder with it odorous fumes wafted to their nostrils with every gentle wave of your pocket handkerchief.

People who do not like it are ill ored. It is the perfume of the rich. Empress Josephine was fond of it, and we don't know whether that fact had anything to do with Napoleon's getting divorced from her or not.

Scent yourself liberally. Don't be afraid. Don't be stingy. Make your-self smell in the world, if you cannot make yourself distinguished.

EVERYBODY HAS TROUBLES.

So Don't for a Single Minute Think Your Lot Is Harder Than That of Anyone Else.

Don't think when the clouds of adversity hang heavily over you that your lot is harder than that of every one else. Things are pretty evenly divided in this world, and no matter how bad the trouble is, bear in mind the fact that it might be worse. No one goes through life without his share of sorrow. Some fortunate people are able to throw it off and rise again buoyant and hopeful; others are conquered by their troubles and never rise above them.

Don't assume that the man or woman with the cheery face and manner have never known grief. Their sorrows, says the Chicago American, may have exceeded yours tenfold, but they have simply made up their minds to make the best of things and present a brave face.

There is enough sorrow in the world without adding to it by going around with a long drawn face and whining manner. With the responsibilities of manhood and womanhood come cares and trials; we cannot escape them, because we cannot live and love without sometimes seeing the reverse side of the shield.

But we need not meet trouble half way, and we need not succumb to the little worries, for if we do we have no strength left to fight the big ones when they come.

Nearly every cloud has a silver lining if we only look hard enough to find it, and it is well to remember that sometimes the very thing that brings sorrow to us brings joy to some one

It is a great mistake to expect too much sympathy from our friends. Up to a certain point they will sympathize and listen patiently to our tale of woe; but too much woe tires even the most ready sympathizer, and if we always carry a sad face we will find we are left much to ourselves.

Nothing commands so much respect and sympathy as trouble bravely borne. A smile makes more friends than a whine and a hopeful nature is a great blessing.

Things are always at their very darkest just before a turning point. Let us learn to take the bitter with the sweet, to make the best of our woes for the sake of our joys.

"Into each life some rain must fall," but some of the showers are only sun showers after all, and let us take refuge under the umbrella of hope and watch for the rainbow that is shining brightly across the dark clouds.

Or, better still. fold it carefully in the seams, pin together at the band and suspend, so pinned, on the hooks. Some wardrobes are now made with movable hangers, which are very useful. Coats should always be stretched upon hangers when not in actual use. Stoles and boas, whether of feathers, chiffon or fur, are always freshened up and benefited by a gentle shaking in front of the fire after wear on a wet day. The feathers become quite crisp again under such treatment, while the chiffon loses the wrinkled, curled look that rain gives it, like the odor, why he can plug his and assumes its normal fluffiness.—Chicago News.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES PROMULGATED AT ST. LOUIS.

SILENT ON MONEY QUESTION

Tariff for Revenue Only Is Favored -Stringent Anti-Trust Laws Demanded-Party's Position on Other Issues.

St. Louis, July 9.—When the democratic national convention was called to order Friday evening, Senator Deniel, chairman of the committee on resoluzions, was at once recognized by the chair, and read the resolutions as adopted by the committee. When he had inished the reading Senator Daniel moved the previous question, which was carried, and the platform was adopted without debate. It is as follows:

The democratic party of the United States, in national convention assembled declares its devotion to the essential principles of the democratic faith which brings together in party communion. principles of the democratic faith which brings together in party communion. Under them, local self-government, and national unity and prosperity were alike established. They underlaid our inde-pendence, the structure of our free re-public and every democratic extension from Louisiana to California and Texas to Oregon, which preserved faithfully in all the states the tie between taxation and representation. They yet inspire the and representation. They yet inspire the masses of our people, guarding jealously their rights and liberties, and cherishing their fraternity, peace and orderly development. They remind us of our duties and responsibilities as citizens and imand responsibilities as citizens and impress upon us, particularly at this time, the necessity of reform and the rescue of the administration or government from the headstrong, arbitrary and spasmodic methods which distract business by uncertainty, and pervade the public mind with dread, distract and pertubation. The application of these fundamental-principles to the living issues of the day is the first step toward the assured peace, safety and progress of our nation. Free-

Imperialism.

We favor the preservation, so far as we can, of an open door for the world's commerce, in the orient, without an unnecessary entanglement in oriental and European affairs, and without arbitrary, unlimited, irresponsible and absolute government, anywhere within our jurisdiction. We oppose, as ferevently as did George Washington himself, an indefinite, irresponsible, discretionary and vague absolutism and a policy of colonial exploitation, no matter where or by whom invoked or exercised; we believe with Thomas Jefferson and John Adams, that no government has a right to make one set of laws for those "at home" and another and a different set of laws, absolute in character, for those "in the colonies." All men under the American flag are entitled to the protection of the institutions whose emblem the flag is; if they are inherently unfit for those institutions, then they are inherently unfit to be members of the American body politic. Wherever there may exist a people incapable of being governed under American laws, in consonance with the American constitution of that people oughs not to be part of the American domain.

The endeavor of the secretary of war, by pledging the government's indorsement for "promoters" in the Philippine islands to make the United States a partner in speculative legislation of the archipelago, which was only temporarily held up by the opposition of the democratic senators, in the last session, will, if successful, lead to entanglements from which it vill be difficult to escape. The democracy would secure to the surviving soldiers and sailors and their dependence, generous pensions, not by an arbitrary executive order, but by legislation, which a grateful people stand ready to enact.

Our soldiers and sailors who defend with their lives the constitution and the laws have a sacred interest in their just administration. They must therefore share with us the humiliation with which we have witnessed the exaltation of court favorites, without distinguished service, over the scarred heroes of many battles; or aggrandized by executive appropriations out of the treasuries of a prostrate people in violation of the act of congress which fixed the compensation of allowances of the, military officers.

The Tariff.

The Tariff.

The democratic party has been, and will continue to be, the consistent opponent of that class of tariff legislation by which certain interests have been permitted, through congressional favor, to draw a heavy tribute from the American people. This monstrous perversion of those equal opportunities, which our political institutions were established to secure, has caused what may once have been infant industries to become the sreatest combinations of capital that the world has ever known. These especial favorites of the government have through trust methods been converted into monopolies, thus bringing to an end domestic competition, which was the only alleged check upon the extravagant profits made possible by the protective system. These industrial combinations, by the financial assistance they can give now control the policy of the republican party.

now control the policy of the republican party.

We denounce protection as a robbery of the many to enrich the few, and we favor a tariff limited to the needs of the government, economically administered against any industry, class or section, to the end that the burdens of taxation shall be distributed as equally as possible.

shall be distributed as equally as possible.

We favor a revision and a gradual reduction of the tariff by the friends of the masses and for the common weal, and not by the friends of its abuses, its extertions and its discriminations, keeping in view the ultimate ends of "equality of burdens and equality of opportunities," and the constitutional purpose of raising a revenue by taxation, to-wit, the support of the federal government in all its integrity and virility, but in simplicity.

Trusts.

We recognize that the gigantic trusts and combinations, designed to enable capital to secure more than its just share of the joint products of capital and labor, and which nave been fostered and promoted under republican rule, are a menace to beneficial competition and an obstacle to permanent business prosperity. A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. Individual equality of opportunity and free competition are essential to a healthy and permanent commercial prosperity, and any trust, combination or monopoly tending to destroy these by controlling production, restricting competition or fixing prices, should be prohibited and punished by law. We especially denounce rebates and discrimination by transportation companies, as the most potent agency in promoting and strengthening these unlawful conspiracies against trade.

We demand an enlargement of the powers of the interstate commerce commission, to the end that the traveling public and shippers of this country may have prompt and adequate relief for the abuses to which they are subjected in the matter of transportation. We demand a strict enforcement of existing civil and criminal statutes against all such trusts combination and monopolies; and we demand the enactment of such further legislation as may be necessary to effectually suppress them.

Any trust or unlawful combination engaged in interstate commerce which is monopolizing any branch of business or production, should not be permitted to transact business outside of the state of its origin. Whenever it shall be established in any court of competent jurisciliction that such monopolization exists such prohibition should be enforced through comprehensive laws to be enacted on the subject.

The first time I witnessed this strange sight was during a dry season when I was riding with the overseer in search of some strayed stock. As we approached the pool, my companion bade me keep quiet if I desired to see something well worth looking at. As we rode quietly up to the pool I saw a group of horses standing in the water, and disappearing from time to time as they ducked their heads below the surface. My wonder was soon at an end when I saw one of their heads suddenly come out with a mouthful of dripping weeds. No sooner was this mouthful disposed of than the head disappeared in search of another. The overseer told me that during a long drought some five or six years previous, when hardly a vestige of feed was left on the run, and bush fires had laid bare the sand-plains, the old mare had discovered that there was plenty of luscious feed at the bottom of the pools, which could be procured by diving for it; and having once put her discovery into practice, she continued to do out of preference what she had been driven to do by necessity.

The several generations of foals which she had reared had all followed her example, although none of the full-grown horses had joined the amphibious group. Here, then, seemed to be a new variety of horse in evolution which, if left undis turbed, might breed and separate from the run, perhaps to survive through droughts severe enough to exterminate all others.

HOSPITALITY IN THE HILLS.

Race Question.

The race question has brought countless wees to this country. The calm wisdom of the Anerican people should see to it that it brings no more. To revive the dead and nateful race and sectional animosities in any part of our common country means confusion, distraction of business and the reopening of wounds now happily healed. North, seuth, east, and west have but recently stood together in line of battle from the walls of Pekin to the hills of Santiago, and as sharers of a common glory and a common destiny, we should share fraternally the common burdens. We, therefore, deprecate and condemn the Bourbon-like selfish and narrow spirit of the recent republican convention at Chicago, which sought to kindle anew the embers of racial and sectional strife, and we appeal from it to the sober common sense and patriotis spirit of the American people.

Republican Administration. Despite Pinching Proverty the Stranger Is Not Allowed to Go Away Thirsty.

In the hill country of northern Virginia a tourist who was making a long trip on horseback halted one noon be fore a log house which he at first took to be a stable. An old man was seated on a log near the door. An emaciated mule stood with its head halfway inside the window. No smoke issued from the tumbledown chimney, relates Youth's Companion.

patriotis spirit of the American people.

Republican Administration.

The existing republican administration has been spasmodic, erratic, sensational, spectacular and arbitrary. It has made itself satire upon the congress, the courts and upon the settled practices and usages of national and international law.

It summoned congress into hasty and futile extra session and virtually adjourned it, leaving behind its flight from Washington uncalled calendars and unaccomplished tasks.

It made war, which is the sole power of congress, without its authority, thereby usurping one of its fundamental prerogatives. It violated a plain statute of the United States as well as plain statute of the United States as well as plain treaty obligations, international usages and constitutional law; and has done so under pretense of executing a great public policy which could have been more easily effected lawfully, constitutionally, and with honor. It forced strained and unnatural constructions upon statutes, usurping fudicial interpretation, and substituting congressional enactment in the decree.

It withdrew from congress their customary duties of investigation which have heretofore made the representatives of the people and the states the terror of evildeers.

It conducted a secretive investigation of its own and boasted of a few sample convicts, while it threw a broad coverlet over the bureaus which had been their chosen field of operative abuses, and kept in power the superior officers, under whose administration the crimes had been committed.

It ordered assault upon some monopplies, but paralyzed by its first victory, it fund The tourist made inquiry concerning the mountain roads and was on the point of asking if he could get a meal for himself and horse when the owner of the shanty said: "Stranger, I'd like mighty well to invite ye to dinner, but I reckon ye wouldn't relish cold hoecake and greens."

The rider was about to say anything would be acceptable, when the old man continued:

"I'd like to feed that horse o' yourn, but my old mule there's got to browse mighty fine to keep on her legs this fall."

The stranger explained that he be glad to pay for anything that could be obtained.

"'Tain't that," returned the other, reproachfully. "Ye don't think that I'd take anything from a guest? But -well, fact is we ain't been gettin' on as well as we might lately. The old woman's down with rheumatiz and Sal, she's over the ridge for a spel and things ain't just ready for company, as ye might say."

It was easy to see that his pride was putting the best possible face upon a pinching poverty. The rider gathered up his reins and, making light of his needs, tendered a cigar.

That touched the old man. turned the gift over and over, looked up and down the road, from the rider to the house and then back to the rider again. Then he seized the man's bootleg and exclaimed:

"Stranger, I'm poor and way down, I'll own up! I can't feed ye nor warra ye nor gin ye so much as a whiff o' smoke, but if ye don't git down offen that horse and come over to the spring and have some water with me I'll never forgive ye on the airth!'

Many rattlesnakes are seen among the rocky defiles of the higher reaches of the mountains and here and there along the piny trails. His snakeship is retiring in his tastes and is keeping well away from human habitation. For those who do care to explore the slopes along the higher altitudes there is plenty of buzz and coil and crawl and wriggle to be seen without much searching. Charles Green, of Pasadena, says he kills a snake every time he goes out on horseback. He has his hat and saddle decorated with their skins. The old timers attribute the early appearance and abundance of the snakes to the dry season and the sudden oming of warm weather.-Los Angeles Times.

most wonderful on record. In this connection his father makes the following statement:

"Last September, my little boy had Dropsy; his feet and limbs were swollen to such an extent that he could not walk nor put his shoes on. The treatment that the doctors were giving him seemed to do him no good and two or three people said his days were short, even the doctors, two of the best in the country told me he would not get better. I stopped their medicine and at once sent for Dodd's Kidney Pills. I gave him three Pills a day, one morning, noon and night for eight days; at the end of the eighth day the swelling was all gone, but to give the medicine justice, I gave him eleven more Pills. I used thirty-five Pills in all and he was entirely cured. I consider your medicine saved my child's life. When the thirty-five Pills were given him, he could run, dance and sing, whereas before he was an invalid in his mother's arms from morning until night."

a had been looking for a position as poverness for months. Mother and I coming to our last cent, and was no nearer finding anything to do hen one morning I took up a paper Came upon this:

Wanted.—A person to take charge of a put during owner's absence.

Thinking that I might make a few Mellara a week by keeping the pet in our rooms, I determined to answer the advertisement in person, since the adless was given.

& found an old lady who in app mace reminded me of pictures I had meen in Dickens' "Dombay and Son" of Mrs. Pipchin, only the lady who received me was a spinster and her mame was Miss Brattle. The pet she sequired a caretaker for was a parwith me she declared that Alonso would not be contented away from nome and whoever took charge of him must stay in her house, which would he kept open during her absence was a kindly old lady, and I told her how I was situated, whereupon she told me I could bring my mother to atay with me. Since the salary she offered was considerable for such a rork, after talking the matter over with mother we decided to accept the proposition.

The house was to be left in charge and a manservant and his wife. No one else was expected to be there unless a mephew of Miss Brattle should take It into his head to come to the city.

Miss Brattle departed for a three months' absence, and mother and I took possession of a suit of delightful mooms. Of course we were "in clover," the whole house to ourselves, not a creature to intrude upon us. But one morning the manservant informed us that the nephew, Mr. Chester Graves would be there for dinner and would secupy the room which had always een set apart for him. We were sor my for this, but hoped he would spend most of his time elsewhere. Indeed, the servant told me that usually when in bown he was either engaged in busiess or at his club.

Mr. Graves proved to be a young man of twenty-five. He was very affable, chatted pleasantly at dinner and afterward proposed a three handed game of cards. Mother never plays cards, so I declined also, but the young man remained with us and did not go out till we went upstairs.

I expected that Chester Graves would stay in town but a few days or at most a week since the manservant said that was his customary wisit. He remained several weeks spending most of the early part of the evenings with mother and me. Then he went away, but in a week he was back again. Mother was not at all well and would go upstairs very early, but as Mr. Graves declared that he should be Sonely in such a large house without any one to keep him company mother said I had better remain in the parlor till he went to his club, which was about 10 o'clock.

Well, Mr. Graves was in the city more than half the time during his aunt's absence and insisted on my keeping him company every evening after dinner till 10 o'clock. We usually sat in the drawing room, Alonzo being caged in the library adjoining. Somehow I felt that he served for a chap-

At last Miss Brattle wrote that she would be at home in a few days, and my heart sank at the prospect of leaving such pleasant quarters for our uninviting rooms. Mr. Graves was in the city when his aunt's letter came, and he said he would remain and welcome her. I thought this was partly because he wished to cheer me up, seeing that I was plunged in melabcholy. Miss Brattle arrived about half past 9 O'clock one evening. Mother had gone to bed, but Mr. Graves and I met the old lady at the door. The first thing she did was to go into the library to see that Alonzo was all right. Then we three sat in the drawing room chatting. Presently the old clock in the half wheezed out ten slow strokes.

"Ten o'clock, Chester!" came a voice From the library.

Mr. Graves cast a frightened glance at me, while I-well, I was in an agony of terror. For heaven's sake, what more was to come?

"One more klss, sweetheart." Miss Brattle possibly might not have noticed the parrot's remarks had not Chester looked sheepish, I blushing to the roots of my hair. Then what should the abominable bird do but screech, "You shan't?" "I shall!" following up the last remark by an imitation of a dozen or more smacks.

Mr. Graves' embarrassment and my telltale blushes gave his aunt a perfectly true account of what had been transpiring during her absence. With-Out a word she arose, evidently with the intention of leaving us to make our adieus in our usual way, but as she was going out Mr, Graves stopped her. He had not asked me to be his wife, He had merely chosen (I suspected) to pass time pleasantly with me. But he was a true man and, now that we were caught, spoke like a man.

"Aunt Sara," he said, "I am indebt ed to you for going away and getting a keeper for Alouzo, though he fa wery ungrateful to give us away, for I take pleasure in presenting you to my promised bride."

What an unblushing He!

After our marriage Miss Bratile con-fessed that upon seeing me and hear-ing my sfory she had used me for a bait to draw her nephew away from club life. Had it not been for the parsof the plan might possibly have con BORAMOND ALICIA BUDD.

[Copyright, 1904, by C. B. Lewis.] "There they come! Steady, new?"

With bayonets fixed and mus-kets at the trail they waited for a mis-ute and then made a dash. From the center of the earthwork leaped a sheet of flame a third of the way across the bridge—from the right and left other sheets of flame. Every musket h eight covered a human target. The head of the advancing column did not seach the plants of the bridge. It melted away in the midst of the obstructions, to create other obstruction and forty men lay dead and wounded as the smoke lazily drifted down the

"Purty fair fur what time we was at it," said Ben as he rose up for a look

"We ought to got at least twenty more at sich clus shootin'," growied Tom in reply.

They'll come ag'in, of course? "Don't be a — fool, Ben! D'ye think the loss of forty or fifty men would stop one of our divisions from gettin' somewhar's? If you feel tired and sleepy you'd better ask for leave to go to the rear."

"Say, I don't want too much of yer chin, old man!"

"Oh, yer don't! Waal, ye jest 'tend to fightin' and dyin' and don't worry about my chin. Better shet yer eyes this time and see if ye can't damage some of 'em."

That dash was a feeler to develop the strength defending the bridge and to see if it was mined for blowing up. Around the bend of the road they laughed at the idea of a hundred men holding a division at bay. Further back the soldiers fretted and fumed and officers swore at the delay.

"Get ready! Fire at will!" This time a column of 500 men, form ed eight abreast, as before, dashed at the bridge with ringing cheers, and though the first four or five ranks went down others lived to reach the earthwork and to make a flerce fight for its gossession. For ten minutes there were shot and shout and curse and green and then the bridge was clear again clear of all but the dead and wounded The veteran Ben was one of the half dozen who started to cheer as the ene my sullenly fell back, but Tom interrupted him with:

"What yer makin' a cussed fool of verself for?"

"We've licked 'em ag'in!"

"Licked hell! If this war don't end in less'n three months you won't know 'nuff to pound sand! The idea of yes yawpin' and whoopin' over a victory when we've lost at least twenty men and when we are sartin to be wiped out, body and butes! Look along the

Ben looked up and down the line and shivered as he noted the dead and wounded who had fallen out. And now the enemy developed a force to the right, another to the left, and the men crept forward to the very brink of the ravine and opened such a hot fire that no defender of the earthwork could lift his head. Under cover of this fire a force formed up in the road for a dash across the bridge. The captain and each crouching man made ready rise up and fire when the critical moment came.

"Say, this is gettin' to be redhot!" exclaimed Ben as the bullets sent the dirt flying over his head.

"Wasi, we don't need any ice jest now," grimly replied Tom. "We are goin'to git licked on this deal."

"Not licked, but wiped out. The orders are to hold the bridge to the last, and our captain's the man to do it. Purty leetle light-mighty purty. Lots o' heads will git bu'sted when we rise up to fire. Never had a bullet through

Tom did not answer. Just then came muskets looked over the earthworks the enemy cheered and dashed for the bridge a third time. Over the rocks and bushes obstructing the road, over the wounded, crying out, over the dead and over the blood spots, and again theyk reached the earthworks and fought hand to hand.

"Guess they'll stay licked this time?" growled Ben as the enemy fell back after ten minutes' fighting.
"Oh, ye do!" sneered Tom as he jabbed his bayonet into the earthwork to clear it of blood, "Weal, of all the blamed idiots in Grant's army you take the cake. We've got about ten men left to hold a division, and ye are shoutin' for a vict'ry!"

tion only."

Submarine wells are found in many places. The supply of drinking water drawn upon by the population of Bahrein, on the shores of the Persian gulf. comes from springs which have their origin in the hills of Oman, 500 miles way and which rise in the salt waters of the gulf.

A diver, winding a large goatskin bag round his left arm and grasping with one hand its mouth, takes in the other hand a heavy stone secured by a strong line to his boat. Plunging with this to the bottom, he instantly opens the bag over the rushing jet of fresh water and closes it again as he springs up in the ascending current. The stone is then hauled up, and after a short breathing space the diver repeat the process.

Thus a constant supply of fresh water is found in a locality as dry and hot as any on earth, where there are no land springs and where no rain falls.-London Standard

A Forgiving Chinaman.

The following remarkable story appears in Mr. Whigham's "Manchuria and Korea." "A Cossack in a fit of drunkenness had shot a Chinaman, and it was necessary to bring several of the men to the bedside of the dying victim for purpose of identification of the culprit. The Chinaman, however refused absolutely to single out the guilty man, saying, 'Why should be be killed, since I must die in any case? Then they explained to him that the man would only be severely punished to which the Chinaman responded that since he forgave the culprit there was no reason why he should suffer. Then the theory of the punishment was adduced as an argument-the Coss rust be punished in order that he might not repeat the offense. But, said the Chinaman, 'he will never do ti again when he knows that I forgive him,' and there the matter ended."

A Blush Scientifically Defined. Not long since we were asked to give a scientific definition of the word "blush." We have made an effort from an anatomical and physiological point of view, to give the definition. A blush is a temporary crythema and calorific effulgence of the physiognomy, actologized by one perceptiveness of the sensorium when in a predicament of unequilibrility from a sense of shame, anger or other cause, ventuating in a parests of the vasomotor fila-ments of the facial capillaries, whereby, being divested of their elasticity, they pre suffused with a gadience effentined ing from an intimidated praccordia.-Southern Medicine.

Beigium is probably the most democratic of all the monarchical states. The king of the Belgians not only does not wear a crown, but has not even the order to fire at will, and as the got a crown to wear! No coronation ceremony is known to the constitution. the sovereign inaugurating his refgn simply by taking an oath to govern according to the laws. Moreover, the births of his children, if he has any, must be registered in exactly the same phraseology and in the same set of books as the births of his humblest
