Chocolate Ice Cream Soda 5 Cents

Some dispensers don't know how to make a good chocolate, others know but will not take the trouble, for chocolate if it is properly prepared is a lot of trouble. Then again others "skimp" on the quantity of chocolate used, for good chocolate is expensive.

MOULTRIE COUNTY FAIR; CELEBRATION AT BRUCE.

Agricultural Fair at the Furvis Fair Ground in September.

Over fifty enterprising business men of Moultrie county are jointly making an honest effort to give one of the best agricultural fairs ever held in Moultrie county.

This new fair ground is on the lane leading to the Masonic Home, is nearer the square and easier reached than the old one.

A high board fence is being constructed around the grounds. A very fine half-mile track for the races is now in excellent order. The amphitheater will soon be finished, stables and stalls are being arranged, and agricultural, floral, art halls, etc., will all be ready soon.

The premium lists will soon be ready for distribution. The association will offer $2,600 premiums for live stock, agriculture, floral exhibits etc., and $2,100 for speed.

The cash premiums are good much better than ever offered before, the lowest now is double that of former fairs.

At a meeting of the stockholders Monday afternoon, the directors selected the following officers and directors:

President, E. A. Silver; Vice-President, J. B. Titus; Secretary, W. L. Hancock; Treasurer, Dr. S. W. Johnson.

W. K. Whitfield, Henry Dumond and John Bowers have been elected as additional directors.

Dr. A. D. Miller has been selected as superintendent of the speed ring and John E. Jennings superintendent of privileges.

A county fair conducted as the men propose to run it will be an advantage and a credit to any county. It will be void of all immorality or indecency, and all departments will present a fine appearance if the people want it and each one will do their little part. It will be ridiculous to come to the fair and say there is nothing at the fair, for those who are not willing to add something. Men, women and children are supposed to furnish the display by bringing and putting on exhibition objects or articles worth looking at. If there is a general interest taken we can have a good fair. Moultrie county may be small, but we can be mighty, and with a united effort remain in the front ranks.

A Slumber Party.

Misses Bess Grigsby, Alta Chipps, Grace Reimund, Mabel Harris, Charlotte Baker, Louise Johnson, Nellie Johnson, Hazel Charni, Rose Corbin, Stella King, Lou Phelps, Pearl Higginbotham and Olive Martin composed a slumber party at the home of Grace Reimund Tuesday night. Slumbering and being composed were not synonymous names, for what passed, for it was a jolly party of young ladies who met for enjoyment, and had no time to sleep. Nevertheless there was no rudeness, several older persons were with them, and besides they are all very lady like and behaved well.

They all went to the woods at 6 a. m., cooked and ate their breakfast, then soon returned to their homes.

Notice to Contractors.

Sealed bids will be received by the clerk of the board of education at the Gaul school house until 1 p. m. Saturday July 13, 1907, for the erection and completion of a one story brick school house to be built in district 10-14-6

A certified check of $150.00 to accompany each bid; same to be returned when contract is signed.

Successful bidder to give bond of fifty per cent of contract price. Plans and specifications may be found at the office of town clerk J. W. Osborn, Cadwell, Illinois. Directors reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

Francis Murphy Dies.

Francis Murphy, for many years famous as a temperance lecturer, died at his home in Los Angeles, California, Monday July 1. In his temperance work Mr. Murphy had covered every state in the Union, and is credited with having converted 25,000 persons to the cause. He had been ill for several months.

Attend the Temperance Chautauqua next week.

CELEBRATION AT BRUCE.

A Beautiful Grove and Ideal Place for Public Gatherings

From time immemorial the Fourth day of July has been devoted to public gatherings and reunions of the country people. Private and family picnics may be satisfactory to people brought up in town, but the country people whose relatives, friends and acquaintances extend over a much wider circuit, they clamour for a gathering, a real home coming of the people for many miles around, a chance to shake hands all day long, as without formality, greetings are exchanged, especially, is this broader view of picnics characteristic of the people of Whitley township, where the Waggoner reunions, associations, and basket meetings were home comings and general informal places of meeting.

John Adams in a letter written soon after the first celebration said, "That future generations will celebrate by the ringing of bells, firing of guns and public plaudits," so everybody began to fire their old Revolutionary muskets and ring church bells. This got to where there is no patriotism in mere noises, and the day has been generating.

The Fourth at Bruce was well attended, between 2,000 and 2,500 persons were present, many more would have been there from Sullivan had the freight run.

Those that were there are loud in their praises of the grove and the accommodations furnished by the management.

The day was an ideal one although the thermometer stood high, a good breeze made the grove comfortable.

The welcome address was delivered by Aaron Miller. The remarks were good and the sentiment well taken.

The principal address was made by George M. La Crome of Effingham, then the dinner hour.

The afternoon amusements were for the juvenile classes, but all seemed equally amused and interested.

In the field where the grove stands is a fine track for speed horses. The following races were run:

Earl Righter second, trotting race.
Henry Banks first, pacing race.
Wm. Waggoner in second, pacing race.

Oddie Niles, first, running race.
Manual, second, running race.

Willie Baker, first in foot race.
Guy Pifer, second in foot race.
Harold Pogue, of Sullivan won the sack and egg race.

George (Jum) Hollenbeck, caught the greasy pig, and had the grit to cling to it.

Warren McDowell, first in bicycle race.

Oral Rundy, second in bicycle race.

New Wash Agent.

Warren Powers of Homer, who has been assigned to the position of permanent agent at the Wash station, arrived here last Saturday. He will not enter upon his duties for about two weeks, until he can secure a suitable residence and arrange to move his family here. Mr. Powers was a former well known Sullivan boy and learned telegraphy in the Wash office at this place. He left here about ten years ago.

Ernest Burwell, another Sullivan boy, who was checked in here, to act temporarily as agent for the Wash at the time of the sudden death of J. W. Paterson, has been faithfully and efficiently filling the position, but as it is a rule of the company that older employes be given preference and promoted to the better positions. Burwell has not yet been notified where he will be placed. He will continue in the office here until Mr. Powers is ready to assume the duties of the office.

Herald Late.

The reason the HERALD is late this week is because of the assessment list which must be published on or before July 10. Another difficulty to contend with, the Fourth of July took two of our compositors away, but the assessment list is published but once in four years. Whitley township will be found on the inside of the paper and East Nelson on the outside.

CHURCH NOTES.

PRESBYTERIAN.

The Aid society met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Lone Butler.

The Missionary society meets Wednesday of next week, and the lesson for study is found in the second chapter of the book, "Incoming Millions."

Let all the members of the congregation, as well as all the Sunday school scholars bring an offering for our State work, church extension, next Sunday morning. Please use the regular envelopes provided for that purpose.

Services Sunday morning and evening as follows: Morning sermon from 1 Peter 1:17-25 "Another Lesson from Peter's Letters." In the evening the sermon will be on the theme: "The Gospel of Much-More," or "The Much-Mores of the Gospel." Everybody welcome.

M. E. CHURCH.

The minister says we may state his sermons will not be too lengthy during the extreme warm weather.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The Sullivan township Sunday school convention will be held at the Christian church in Sullivan, July 7.

Representatives of all the Sunday schools in the township are urged to be present and join in the discussions whether their names are mentioned or not.

The purpose of this meetings is for the betterment of the schools, and suggestions from those who have had experience, whether they have succeeded or whether they realize there is room for improvement, will arouse an interest.

A good attendance is desired, Sunday school scholars, as well as teachers officers and ministers are invited to cooperate in this convention. Think about the topics and be in readiness to express your ideas.

PROGRAM.

"What should the Sunday School mean to adults?"—Rev. Atkisson.

Offer Accepted.

The Epworth League of the M. E. church will have charge of the soda fountain at Dilman's drug store on the northeast corner of the square next Tuesday afternoon and evening beginning at 1 p. m.

All soda fountain drinks and ice cream purchased at that time will go to the benefit of the League. Young ladies of the League will wait on the tables and cake will be served.

Children's Exercises.

Children's Day Exercises will be observed at the Christian church next Sunday evening by the junior classes of the Sunday school.

The entertainment will consist of songs, recitations and select music.

Some of the young ladies are taking great pains to train some in the infant class to sing solos. It is certainly very nice to hear the little folks in the different Sunday schools sing. The children have been in training for several days by some of the young ladies and Mrs. J. G. McNutt. Owing to the diphtheria scare about the last of May the exercises were postponed.

Died of Blood Poison.

Word was received here sometime ago in regard to the death of Wallace Davis at Oakland, California.

He died of blood poison, and his sufferings were agonizing. A few weeks ago he dropped a weight on his foot and mashed a toe, it became so serious that an amputation was necessary, and the toe was taken off, but he still grew worse, and then it was deemed necessary to amputate the leg, but the system was so poisoned that he never recovered.

REUNION OF OLD SOLDIERS

At a meeting of the local officers in Sullivan it was agreed to have a general meeting of all the committees at the business rooms of Capt. Jenkins, on July 13th, at 12 o'clock to perfect arrangements for the Old Soldiers and Old Settlers Reunion of Moultrie county, which is to be held on August 21 and 22.

It is desired to make out the full program at the meeting of the committees on July 13th. The scope of the reunion will be enlarged over that of last year. The old soldiers, their wives, sons and daughters, and old settlers will be special guests, yet the people of all ages and from all parts of the county are urgently requested to be present and help to make the reunion a great success.

The reunion will be held in Sullivan on the above dates: and is being planned on the broadest lines—that of citizenship and country only. The program will be all the people of the city and county could wish. The speakers will be men of national reputation, and the musical program first class. I again urge that the Sons of Veterans all over the county come, and see that the wives and daughters of the county be gotten out.

BIRTHDAY PARTIES.

ALLENVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gaily and daughter, Hazel, returned to their home in Seelaville, Ind., Sunday after a week's visit with relatives here.

John Christy's wife and friends gave him a dinner last Friday in honor of his birthday. John Chisenhall appearing on the scene insisted on being driven to Sullivan and insisted on Mr. Christy accompanying him, which he did, not suspecting the arrangements awaiting his departure. No sooner was he out of sight than the work of loading the table with a feast began. The two Johns returned at the noon hour both hungry and one astonished. After a round to merriment, they fell to work to relieve the groaning table, after working diligently for three-quarters audible groans were heard, all around the table which was yet loaded. The Mattoon people concluded as they were not crowded for time they would just stay with the table.

But the wives of the two Johns and the two Henrys feared the worst and hid them back to Mattoon as Henry Munson was too full for utterance.

KIRKSVILLE.

A surprise was given Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kirkwood in honor of Mrs. Kirkwood, it being her 32nd birthday. It was arranged by her mother and sister, Effie. Joe Woods of Sullivan came out for her to go fishing to get her away until the guests came, when Mrs. Kirkwood came home the yard was full, and to her surprise, a log table groaning under its load of everything to eat. George Beber was there with his graphophone, and all enjoyed the music. Those present were as follows: Henry McCune, Harl Clark, James Gustin Wilse Gustin, John Gustin, James McKown, Elias Woodruff, Harrison Jeffers, Dan Cisco, Jesse Pearce, Joe Wood, Henry Frederick, David Bo'in, Dnd Jeffers and their families, Roy Sicafus and mother, Earl Crowder and George Beber and wives, Belle Montague, William Womack and wife, Emmet Mathison, there being in all seventy-six. All departed at a late hour having spent a very enjoyable evening with Mr. and Mrs. Kirkwood.

A GUEST.

No Favors Now-a-days.

"There has been a material change in the style in which the president travels. When the railroads furnished the transportation all arrangements were lavish in the extreme, the railroads vying with each other in the entertainment provided. Special trains were not uncommon, and special schedules were frequently prepared for the president. Now it is different. The president, paying his own way, travels quietly. His Pullman bills are not large, his car is hitched to regular trains, the service is simple, the meals plain, and the president enjoys himself just a much."

THE PIANO.

How to Keep it in Excellent Working Order.

The piano is an instrument requiring almost as much attention to keep in good working order as the human body. A great deal of care and skill have entered into its manufacture, and in order to keep it in effective condition some points suggested by a maker of forty years' experience may be worth noting, says the New York Herald.

In the first place, a piano cannot keep its tone in a damp place. Dampness rusts both strings and tuning pins and also causes the felt on the hammers and dampers to swell, thus causing the mechanism to move irregularly or sluggishly.

To prevent the ivory keys from turning yellow, allow them to be exposed to the rays of the sun occasionally.

While avoiding dampness, do not, on the other hand, put your instrument in a place of extreme heat, as near the radiator or stove or open fire.

To keep dust from accumulating on the sounding board, close the piano when not in use.

Most people have learned by experience that it is injurious to a watch to leave it without winding for a long time, thus causing the oil to clot. It is just as hurtful to a piano to keep it closed for months at a time. Even when not in use open it occasionally.

If you insist upon burdening your piano by piling heavy loads of books, pictures and ornaments upon it, do not be surprised if it rattles by sometimes emitting unpleasant sounds when played upon.

Place a small piece of camphor in a corner inside your instrument to keep the moths from destroying the felt.

Have the piano tuned often—if new, every three or four months the first year and less frequently thereafter.

When necessary to move your instrument see that it is done by those whose sole business it is to move pianos.

How to Handle Last Season's Clothes.

It is a mistake to keep winter and summer garments in the same place. A most important detail in the care of clothing is that at the close of each season the clothes which have been in use during its course should be looked over and decisively dealt with, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. Articles which can be worn again should be brushed, repaired and put away. Articles which are to be pulled to pieces should be so treated at once and cleaned or dyed, as the case may be. If left as they are, they will only deteriorate in condition and occupy valuable room. Articles which are of no value should be sold to whom they are likely to be useful. Here it may be mentioned that when about to give garments to the poor one can very much increase the value of the gift by mending the clothes first. Hardworking people have not usually too much time for repairing their clothes even when they know how to set about the business, and a neat darn or skillful piece of mending would not only make the garment better worth having, but might serve as an example in thrift and good management.

How to Tint Laces.

When one desires to color lace for a gown, procure a tube of oil paint the color desired and squeeze it into a cup of gasoline and stir until dissolved. Then pour into a larger vessel, says the New York Globe. Dip a small piece of the lace into it, and if too deep add more gasoline until the shade desired is obtained. When it is the right color, put all the lace into it, take out, shake gently and dry in the open air. When thoroughly dry, expose it to the extreme heat for a few minutes, taking care of course that it is not near a fire or blaze where it might ignite. This exposure to the heat will remove the odor of gasoline. Lace which has been used and will not wash well can be given this treatment if first dry cleaned by being sprinkled generously with fuller's earth, then rolled up and put away for a few days. Upon taking out shake well and then proceed with the tinting as above.

How to Sharpen Lawn Mowers.

Since nearly all lawn mowers are constructed on similar principles, to sharpen the machines remove the outer drive wheels, change the pinions and replace the wheels, says Popular Mechanics. This causes the cutter to rotate backward when the drive wheels revolve. Then raise the stationary cutter by tightening the front bolts. Form a thick paste of powdered emery and oil and apply to the revolving cutter. To sharpen simply turn one of the drive wheels, and in a short time the cutter will have perfect edges.

How to Color Soups.

To color soups brown use browned flour or a little burnt sugar. Spinach leaves give a fine green color. Pound the leaves, tie them in a cloth, squeeze out all the juice and add this to the soup five minutes before serving. Colored soup red by putting in the strained juice of tomatoes or the whole tomato if it is run through a sieve. Grated carrot gives a fine amber color.

How to Improve Flavor of Ham.

Try soaking ham to be broiled or fried in molasses and water before cooking it. The ham will have a delicious flavor and will readily take a beautiful brown in cooking. About a tablespoonful of molasses to a cupful of water should be used and the meat well dried before being put over the fire.

TWELVE ENTERTAINMENTS

The Lincoln Temperance Chautauqua Program for Sullivan.

"After reconstruction the next great question will be the overthrow of the liquor traffic."

We take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the Lincoln Temperance Chautauqua, to be held in Sullivan, July 9 to 14. The course will consist of twelve entertainments, beginning on Tuesday afternoon and ending Sunday night.

The afternoon hour will be 2:30 and the evening 7:30. A large and commodious tent will be erected on the site of the famous tabernacle meeting, and will be provided with comfortable seats.

Talent and notes on the Lincoln Temperance Chautauqua to be held in Sullivan, July 9 to 14 inclusive.

Twelve entertainments for $1.00. Single admission 25 cents for adults. Children ten to fifteen, 10 cents. Children under ten free, if accompanied by parents. Season tickets but $1.00, and transferrable.

James Robert Barkley of Iowa, cartoonist and crayon lecturer, possessed extraordinary ability, and an audience will feel themselves well repaid if they hear his lectures and watch the beautiful pictures grow under the rapid strokes of this artist, unfolding their richness to the hearer.

Carl C. Countryman as a reader and impersonator, poet and lecturer, can not fail to charm his hearers. He is witty, dramatic, humorous and original. His readings, impersonations and lectures will draw and please an audience.

The Sufins of New York, have voices of unusual range and power, and sing with spirit and understanding. Their selections are choice, and worth many times the price of admissions.

Engene W. Chafin, I. L. B. of Chicago, has no peer as a lecturer on political science. He is truly one of the great orators of America. At Rockford it was said, "his lecture on Civil Government was one of the best of the week."

Prof. Thatcher is the greatest platform singer in America. He has retired from the stage and is devoting his marvelous talent to the temperance reform. He has a powerful voice with remarkable register, and his notes are all harmonious and sweet and under perfect control.

John H. Hebdon's illustrated lecture, stereopticon entertainments, illustrated songs and moving pictures are unusually fine, high-class lectures and entertainments. Their machine is a good one, slides, up to date and highly colored. Songs and readings give good variety, and on the whole make an impressive and entertaining service.

Mrs. Hebdon has traveled with her husband for years doing field work in many states, principally under the auspices of the Royal Templars and Good Templars. She possesses remarkable natural ability, marvelous persuasive power; she has the power to impart her enthusiasm to others and is a veritable whirlwind on the platform. Mrs. Hebdon is a lucid and eloquent speaker, her lecture is an intellectual treat.

Mrs. Mae Guthrie Tongier is a national temperance lecturer. She is able, efficient and eloquent, and has a persuasive manner and a charming personality. Mrs. Tongier ranks with the brightest and most eloquent speakers on the platform. She takes well with the people who meet her off the platform.

The Kings Daughter's Quartette will be one of the special features of the chautauqua. They come most highly recommended, and are pleasing and entertaining. Wherever they have been their singing was of the most excellent quality and was appreciated to the highest degree.

Notice to Contractors.

Sealed bids will be received at the office of C. W. Green, county clerk, until 3 p. m. Saturday, July 6, 1907, for the erection and completion of a one story brick school house to be built in district 49-14-5. A certified check of $150.00 must accompany each bid, same to be returned when contract is signed. Successful bidder to give bond of fifty per cent of contract price.

CHURCH NOTES.

CHRISTIAN.

The Sunday school has almost reached the 200 mark again. This is getting back to a better attendance, but not as it should be. Some schools where the field is not as good as ours, are at the 400 mark each Lord's day. At the Sunday school Sunday morning it was decided to picnic at Ezra Patterson's grove two weeks from next Tuesday July 16th. All the members of church and of the Sunday school and all friends of church and school are asked to attend at this time. The order of the day will be games and a good time generally.

At the morning service of the church last Sunday it was decided to have a Fourth of July picnic at Ezra Patterson's grove near Mr. Robinson's home. Everybody was invited to attend this picnic.

Next Sunday night at the church will be given the annual Children's Day exercises. These services have been postponed from June 1st. The children are being trained by Misses Ola Bowman and Rose Corbin and Mrs. McNutt assisting. The programme will appear elsewhere in the paper this week.

Next Sunday morning the pastor will preach from the subject, "Be Thyself", John 21-22. At the morning service last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Patterson came into the church. Mrs. Clyde Patterson formerly of the city of Mackinaw was taken in the by letter and Clyde Patterson made the confession.

The C. W. B. M. met with Mrs. Maude Wright Friday afternoon. The subject was The Centennial Work and the leader was Mrs. Jennie Lowe. All members and friends are invited to these meetings.

Notice to Contractors.

Sealed bids will be received by the clerk of the board at the Merritt school house, until 3:00 p. m. Saturday, July 6, 1907, for the erection and completion of a one story frame school house to be built in district 11-14-6. A certified check for 5 per cent of amount of bid to accompany each bid, same to be returned when contract is signed. Successful bidder to give bond for 50 per cent of contract price.

Directors reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

Will also sell the old building at the same hour to the highest bidder for cash.

Rural Route Republic.

The Rural Route Republic daily, Saturday Herald and Farm Press for $2.50.

The Rural Route Republic is a complete ten-page daily newspaper giving all the news of the world fresh every morning exactly as it appears in the fast mail edition, only the details of the sporting and similar news uninteresting to rural readers being omitted. The telegraph pages, the market and financial pages are complete in every particular.

The Rural Route Republic is delivered by mail only, and is not sent to subscribers living in a city or a town. No exception will be made to this rule, neither will a subscription be accepted for a shorter term than one year.

Tickets Transferrable.

Families living in the country can get the full benefit of a season ticket to this Lincoln Temperance Chautauqua to be held here July 9-14 inclusive. There will be an afternoon and night session each day, making twelve entertainments for $1.00 that is a little more than 8 cents for a first class lecture, you can not afford to miss it. There are many families in the country, where it will be convenient for some member, perhaps the older members, to come in the afternoon and the young folks in the evening. Two or three tickets could be used to an advantage in one family in this manner, and more gained than 75 cents paid out for some circus.

P. D. Preston of Allenville was a business visitor in Sullivan Saturday. He states that the machinery will soon be here for the oil wells in East Nelson township.

L. T. Holmes of the Coles neighborhood was in Sullivan on business in probate court Monday.

Program of A Real Chautauqua. The official program for the seventeenth annual Lithia Springs assembly, August 10 to 26, is before us. General Manager Douthitt affirms that it is about the best program in quality for true chautauqua work ever prepared for this increasing popular resort.

George R. Stewart of Tennessee, who is about the greatest and most eloquent living evangelist in America.

Prof. S. C. Schmucker, who has been a great favorite in the mother Chautauqua New York, for many years, and is highly commended by Bishop Vincent.

Rev. H. W. Thomas, D. D. of Chicago, President of the Congress of Religion.

Prof. Clark H. Bronson of Chicago, a most skillful delineator of human nature.

Rev. Dr. D. W. Howell, of the First Methodist church, Hartford, Conn., will conduct Bible study and give Recognition address.

Hon. F. G. Blair, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who will give the address on Educational Day.

Among the entertainers that can not be excelled in this country are the following: Boston Carnival Concert Company, Boston, Mass.; Roney Boys Concert Company, Chicago; The Wesleyan Quartet of Lincoln, Neb. and The Temple Quartet, Boston.

Since the first edition of the program was printed, we are informed by the manager that the widely famous Temple Quartet of Boston, will be present and help in the program. This is one of the oldest quartets in the United States, being organized nearly forty years ago, and the manager Mr. Weber, has been with it all the time.

We also learn that Ex-United States Senator, William E. Mason, will give his witty and very popular address on "Experiences in Public Life."

Season tickets for the whole sixteen days will cost $1.50 if bought before July 4. There will be several single day programs worth fifty cents and one dollar.

Since the excitement about mad dogs, a number have reported madstones. A doctor at Forest, Ill., has one that is probably better known in these parts than any other near. Ex-Sheriff Foster was bitten by a dog that had hydrophobia when he was a small child and taken to Forest for treatment. Several years ago his son, Ote was bitten by a rabid dog and the same remedy resorted to. In both cases it worked like a charm and they were cured. Mrs. O. Gregg was bitten by a mad dog Thursday of last week and was taken Saturday, to Forest for treatment as her finger that was bitten was very much inflamed and very sore.

Thread Trust.

Washington, June 27.—Complaints are pouring in from the west urging the attorney general to institute proceedings against the alleged thread combine. Among the letters received today was one from an Indiana merchant, complaining that all the housewives in his section were protesting because they were now required to pay 6 cents a spool for the same thread that a short time back they could buy for 5 cents. Communications of a similar tone are coming in from other western states, and it is probable that Mr. Bonaparte will have his agents look into the matter. Two weeks ago merchants were notified that the wholesale price of spool thread would be advanced from 66 cents a dozen to 72 cents. The merchants are unable to give any reason for the advance.

A Social Event.

Miss Stella King entertained a number of her friends last Thursday evening in honor of Miss Hazel Charni of Crawfordville, Indiana. Twenty young people were present. The evening was spent on the lawn which was lighted with Japanese lanterns. The young people passed the time in social conversation, games and music.

Refreshments, ice cream, cake, sandwiches and pickles were served. The party dispersed at a late hour, with many thanks to the hostess for being so pleasantly entertained.

SAVED BY CLEAN HANDS.

Thrilling incident of the Days of the Paris Commune.

Frederic Villiers' "Peaceful Personalities and Warriors Bold" contains a striking and somewhat bloody tale of the terrible days of the Paris commune. An unnamed Englishman tells the story of himself and Archibald Forbes, the great war correspondent: "There was a good deal of fighting in the streets at the time, for the Versailles troops were pressing hard upon the communists. One afternoon, in a street not far from where we were sitting, I was rounded up by a party of rebels and made to work erecting a barricade, when I found another Englishman pressed for the same business. It was Forbes, the war correspondent. We chummed together at our distasteful work, which we were compelled to do or risk being shot for spies.

"Presently the barricade was attacked by the Versailles, and the communists, after a sharp fight, were driven helter skelter down the street. Forbes and I ran with them. Presently he shouted, 'Dive into that wineshop on the left!' I immediately did so, and Forbes, catching hold of me, pushed me through a shop to a back yard, where we found a pump. 'Now,' said he, 'wash your hands quickly and let me have a turn.' After our ablutions, he hurried me back into the street. 'That simple incident of washing my hands saved my life, and I always remember it with gratitude.

"We had hardly gained the street before we were roughly arrested by the victorious troops, who would not listen to any explanation, and were hurried along with many other prisoners till we came to a blank wall, where a halt was made. About a dozen of us were made to stand in a line with our backs to the wall. 'Hands up!' cried the officer in charge.

"The poor devils who had soiled hands were told to remain. Forbes and I were the only men who were allowed to fall out, for our hands showed no sign of barricade work or soil of powder upon them. Before we realized what had happened the rest were riddled with bullets. It was a ghastly sight."

A COMICAL LAWSUIT.

The Count de Lauraguais was one of the most singular characters of a whimsical time. He was full of oddities and had a reckless spirit of daring. The boldness of his language and action once drew upon him the displeasure of Louis XVI, who banished him from Paris, but he came back on a festival day and was seen in the very face of the court walking about a race course. The king winked at the escapade. Such a culprit was incorrigible. But one of the most absurd of his antics had to do with the Prince D., a very dull courtier, against whom he had a grudge. One day the count applied very gravely to a physician, asking if it were possible for a person to die of ennui.

"Such a thing," said the doctor, "would be very singular and very rare."

"But what I want to know," said the count, "is whether it would be possible."

"Well," answered the doctor, "a long continued state of ennui might induce some disease, such as consumption, and in that sense it might cause the patient's death."

On this the consultation was written down and signed at the count's request and the fee paid.

Next he went to an advocate and asked whether he could make a legal complaint against a man who by any means whatsoever had formed a design against his life. The advocate assured him that there was not the least doubt of it and in his turn signed a declaration. Armed with these documents, the Count de Lauraguais instituted criminal proceedings against Prince D., who, he declared, had formed the design of tiring him to death!

Of course the suit ended in laughter, but he had had the satisfaction of telling the world how his enemy impressed him.

Lithia Springs.

There will be a religious service at Lithia Springs every Sunday during July at 2:45 p. m. Let us remember the Sabbath Day at Lithia.

We have it from pretty good authority that the new survey of the interurban from Paris to Charleston, Mattoon, Pana, Windsor, Shelbyville and Hillsboro, along the Big Four, will run a loop to Lithia and Middlesworth Station. This will rejoice thousands who come and also thousands who have wanted to come to this popular resort but could not because of the expense and inconvenience of traveling.

What Did She Think?

Bilkins—So you didn't go to the fancy dress ball?

Wilkins—No. I made a fool of myself there last season, and I didn't care to risk it again.

"Oh? Didn't drink too much, did you?"

"No. But when the masks were removed, I discovered that I'd wasted a whole evening spooning with my wife."

A Bit Too Much.
 Seeking to find a cure for his deafness, the Duke of Wellington once employed a celebrated aurist. The doctor gave his patient a strong solution of caustic to inject into his ear and, calling on him later, found him reeling in agony. The treatment had set up a furious inflammation, which, unless checked, would result in death. The hearing was completely destroyed. The aurist expressed his grief and mortification. "Do not say a word about it; you did your best," said the duke, adding that he would not tell a soul about it. Thus encouraged, the doctor asked if he might continue to attend him, so that the public might see that his confidence had not been withdrawn. This was too much. "I can't agree to that," said the duke, "for that would be a lie."—London Saturday Review.
The Art of Skip Reading.
 Skip reading is an accomplishment of our own time. An ordinary man or woman of today can extract all the requisite information out of a newspaper in less than five minutes by the exercise of this new sense—for it is little else than this. The eyes race down a column, pick up instinctively an essential word here and there, and the brain fills in the intervals intelligently, producing a précis which is sufficient for the purpose.—London Graphic.
Longevity of Car Wheels.
 Has anybody ever stopped to think how many miles the wheels of a railroad car travel before they wear out? Statistics gathered from various roads show that perfect car wheels often roll from 300,000 to 450,000 miles before they have to be turned down. Wheels with flaws in them run only about 50,000 to 90,000 miles.

A Useful Interview.
 Mrs. Newton had been married nearly a year, but she still felt that any question of importance should be answered with Mr. Newton's aid, at least, if not by him in person. One day she rang up his out of town office, and her voice had an anxious tone when she replied to his cheerful "Hello!"
 "It's like this, dear," said this trusting young person. "I'm way downtown, for I've been shopping, and I've carried Mary's letter, that I meant to post when I started out, all round town with me!"
 "Yes," said Mr. Newton as she paused for breath.
 "And now I have come in here to this public telephone," went on the eager voice, "for I had just 10 cents left, to ask you whether you thought I ought to get a special delivery stamp for Mary's letter and walk home, or whether I could ride home—and let—"
 "What—oh—why—of course! I forgot. I did have to drop the dime in this hateful old slot, and now I can't get that stamp, nor can I ride home, either. Well, goodbye!"—Youth's Companion.

The Moslem's Rosary.
 The Moslem's rosary consists of ninety beads, and a distinct ejaculation is appropriated to each as it passes between the fingers. Each ejaculation generally consists of two words and declares a name or attribute of God. Almost all Moslems in the upper and middle ranks of life carry in their pockets or bosoms a string of beads for this purpose, which they use not only at the time of prayer, but while sitting and smoking their pipes, walking in the streets or even while engaged in conversation. When a Moslem has gone over his beads at the regular time of prayer he folds his hands, and then, holding them up open, as if to receive something from above, he prays for such blessings as he desires for himself or his household. When this is concluded he strokes his beard with his right hand and says, "Praise be to God!"

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

CHRONIC CRANKS.

We all have met people who are continually kicking. Life seems a terrible thing to them. They seldom smile. Something dreadful is going to happen, nothing is ever right, and they worry and fret and complain from morning till night. Their troubles seem to be just as bad disposition but this is seldom so. In most cases there is one of two things the matter with them; either their nerves or their digestion is responsible.

Both come from the same thing—stomach trouble. A man or woman whose nerves are tied in knots is bound to be a poor company. The same thing is true of what they eat don't digest properly. No wonder they grumble, I don't blame them. I have seen Cooper's New Discovery change the whole disposition of people in a month's time simply by getting their stomach in shape again. Even the complexion on their faces was altogether different. The worried, tired, fretful look changed to a peaceful happy expression, and the lines of care disappeared altogether. Many people tell me about this in letters. They seem to think it a miracle. It is! It's just the stomach working again.

Here's a case of this kind: "I suffered with my stomach for thirteen years. Nothing I ate seemed to digest. I also had chronic constipation, and was tired, dull, irritable and despondent all the time. I found it difficult to attend to my duties as traction agent at this place." "Six different doctors treated me and all gave different opinions." "I began taking Cooper's New Discovery, and to my surprise it helped me from the first. I have gained ten pounds in three weeks and am feeling fine. My work is now a pleasure, where before it was drudgery." J. R. Smock, Clearwater, Indiana.

JAMES FLOOD BLDG., SAN FRANCISCO

The Jest That Recoiled.

By LOUISE J. STRONG.

Copyright, 1907, by P. C. Eastman.

Ellison had sometimes imagined what "might have been" had Millicent Waring been other than the only child of a multimillionaire. What would have been, rather, for he would have encompassed heaven and earth to accomplish it, and in his inmost heart he had felt that the accomplishing would not have been difficult.

At times wild pictures had presented themselves of the possibility of the wealthy money taking the proverbial wings, opening for him the gates to paradise, but in his saner moments he decided such fancies, for with Mr. Waring to the fore there was not the slightest probability of such an occurrence. Instead, he had arrived at a condition where the wings were a necessity to himself if he would retain a rag of self respect. This cherished self respect was suffering considerably now in the yielding that had brought him back, and he had sternly limited himself to a week, even while calculating how often he might contrive to see her in the time without too greatly transgressing convention.

He was hurrying to his hotel to make himself presentable for an immediate call when, as he whirled into the broad, main avenue, a slight presented itself at which he recoiled as from a blow in the face. Leaning flumply against a doorway he stared, muttering, "Impossible, impossible!"

His wildest imaginings had materialized before his eyes, but he scornfully rejected the suggested explanations of his reason, repeating again and again, "Impossible!"

He was unconscious of the passing throng and too deeply shocked and absorbed to feel surprise when a hand slapped him upon the shoulder and a hearty voice cried: "Hello, old man! When did you blow in?"

Ellison seized the speaker and drew him around the corner.

"Fred," he demanded, "is that Miss Millicent Waring? My eyes tell me so, but I cannot believe them."

"Sure, that's Miss Waring."

"But—but—good heavens! What's she doing in the confectionery shop?"

"Selling, same as other shopkeepers."

"But why? Of course I see she is selling, but why?" He shook the other vehemently.

"Necessity, I suppose, same as the other shopkeepers again," he grinned, looking at a newcomer over Ellison's shoulder.

"Necessity!" yelled Ellison. "You don't mean—you can't mean—"

"Better moderate your emotion, Ellison," the newcomer advised, indicating a bluecoat who was regarding them suspiciously.

"Of course, boys"—Ellison's voice was a murmur—"of course I know you can't mean that she is obliged to do it."

"Why not? Couldn't old man Waring come a financial cropper, same as thousands of others just as astute as he?"

"The world could come to an end," Ellison jeered, but his heart had set up a sudden pounding that dizzied him.

"Comes to an end every day, dear boy, for those money kings when their little card houses tumble. It's a new world for them and their families, too, after that."

"You bet!" exclaimed one of another couple of youths who had added themselves to the group. "Miss Waring is finding it a new world, all right."

Sundry sly winks and nods were exchanged by the four young fellows, acquaintances to whom Ellison had forgotten to give a greeting.

"Where's Mr. Waring?" he asked.

"Oh, he's around. He's plucky. He'll pull it off again some time, I reckon," one said, with a laugh.

"That's so," affirmed another. "But in the meantime there must be bread and butter."

"But wasn't there somebody—or something else for Miss Millicent?"

Fred Wilson interrupted Ellison's indignant outburst:

"Nothing by which she could so quickly and easily rake in the shekels."

"She's pulling them in by the hand, too," said Hughes. "She seems a natural saleslady—has the gift for trade."

Ellison flushed resentfully. "But it cannot be pleasant."

"Oh, her position has its unpleasant features, of course," Steven interrupted lightly. "Some of the 'clubbers' snub her, and disapproval riots on all sides, but Miss Millicent carries it off well. She might have married—that is, I suppose so," he insinuated, with wicked eyes.

"Yes, she might have married while the old man's pile was intact," Forrest assented.

"But she didn't. And a wife with prospective millions and one with nothing but expensive habits and passable beauty are two very different things," Steven asserted.

Ellison turned a furious face upon him and half raised a clenched fist; then, mastering himself, he remarked:

"I suppose that's the way the world goes it," and strode away.

The four rascals burst into exuberant delight, digging each other in the ribs and chuckling hilariously as he disappeared down a side street.

Ellison had no coherent thought at first as he tore along. The knowledge that the barrier between them was removed dazed him. But soon he began to turn things over in his mind, to even consider the possibility of his own thousands, which had seemed puerile before, now serving as a foundation for a new beginning on which Mr. Waring might build. The other, the infinitely greater possibility of winning Millicent, he tried to keep in the background until a proper hour for its consideration.

Having at last adjusted himself somewhat to the new conditions, he felt that he could trust himself to see her. They shook hands quietly. There was little opportunity just then for words, but there was a humorous yet tender glint in her eyes as she occasionally glanced at his earnest, preoccupied face while she served a bunch of school children.

The four conspirators let her into the secret and departed to spread broadcast the jest, the prank upon Ellison, whose sentiment toward Miss Waring was an open secret. And presently, by twos and threes and in squads, her old friends and former associates began to saunter by. Some purchased of her with simpering patronage, some with a cold nod of recognition, while others passed with haughty, sneering oblivion of her. Some of the smart youths inclined to a familiarity that almost amounted to rudeness.

Ellison noted it all, his heart growing hotter until it burst all restraint.

"Miss Waring—Millicent!" he breathed with low intensity as they were alone for a moment. "I cannot bear this! It may be presumption—improper even, for me to speak here—I cannot help it! I am sure you have long known of my deep love for you, though you cannot realize how it is my very life and soul—I have had so little to offer, I felt I could not presume to ask you to give up for me your luxurious position, to—but I can provide you with a comfortable home, and my whole life shall be devoted to—"

His stammering speech was interrupted by the laughing, bubbling crowd of conspirators, eager to witness his discomfiture.

"Ha, ha! Look at him!" "Oh, the easy mark!" "Has he offered you his purse, Millicent?" "Ha, ha! The idea of Mr. Waring"—"Failed!" "As if!"—"Ha, Ha!"

Unheeding the swirl, Miss Waring calmly began counting money from the drawers and piling it in heaps upon the counter. "There," she said at last, "$427.10. That means $854.20 for the hospital from you fellows. You folks who dared me to do this promised to double the amount I took in, you know." She beamed at them sweetly.

"My hat! I never dreamed you'd pull in so much!" gasped Stream. "It's sure up to us, boys! But, oh, Ellison, sonny! Ellison—you—yon!" He doubled with joy. "Your face pays for it all! See it now, don't you? Catch on to it? It was such a chance as comes once in a lifetime! Oh, my! Oh, my!" Ellison perceived, and turned a blank, mortified face to apologize to Miss Waring, but she laid a gentle, restraining hand upon his arm and again addressed the gurgling, crowding crowd very sweetly, but distinctly, "I claim your congratulations upon my success as a saleslady, and"—(she blushed adorably)—"and also upon my engagement to Mr. Ellison."

Subjective Cigars.
When a man smokes a cheap cigar instead of an expensive or moderate priced one it is not always because he may have his pocketbook to consider," said a New York physician as he recited the following instance in proof: "An old friend of mine, a former college professor, who resides in the city, smokes the vilest cigars made. He is the best tempered old fellow you ever saw, and splendid company—if it weren't for his cigars. He swears the brand he smokes are as good as Havanas. Once he said to me, 'My friend, believe me, the cigar is what we call subjective, and not objective. That is to say, it is what we think it is, and not what it seems to other people to be. So, you see, my cigars, that cost me only $1 a hundred, are as good as you would call the best and pay maybe $20 a hundred for.'"

"It is a great advantage, no doubt, to a man when he looks on all things like a philosopher. I told my professor friend that his cigars might be subjective, for all I knew, but that they were fearful, and I should like it if he would smoke a cigar that was more objective. But he only smiled. The old fellow is so chock full of philosophy that he simply cannot see anything as other people see it."—New York Times.

"He Loved the Children."
Thackeray's words were satirical, and he himself was called a cynic, but the author of "Love Affairs of Some Famous Men" shows what sort of a heart beat in the satirist's breast by quoting from the letter of one to whom the following incident happened:

"In the week following his death there appeared some genial memorial lines in the pages of Punch. 'Walking down the then unsavory thoroughfare known as Bedfordbury, my eye caught the open page of the popular periodical, and I stayed to read the graceful tribute to the dead moralist. Turning away at length, a poorly dressed man in working garb said to me:

"I knew that man, sir."

"You knew Thackeray?" I asked.

"Yes, sir. I keep that little baker's shop yonder, pointing to the opposite side of the street, and many's the time Thackeray would come and buy a pound or two of cake of me. I cut it into slices for him, and then, distributing it among the crowd of hungry children, he would walk away and hide in that court over there, that he might have the pleasure of seeing their enjoyment. He didn't know I knew him, but I did. People used to call him a cynic, sir, but it wasn't true. He loved the children, sir, and no man is a cynic who does that."

THE LORD'S PRAYER.

Showing the Successive Changes in the English Language.

Few scholars even are aware of the great changes through which the English language has passed in successive centuries. Following are specimens of the Lord's Prayer as used at various periods in English history:

A. D. 1158—Fader ur heune, halewede beith thil noune, cumin thil kuneriche, thy will beoth ldon in heune and in erthe. The euryeu dawe breind, gif ous thilk dawe. And vorzif ur detters as vi yoursifen ure dettours. And lene us nougt into tentation, bot deljvor eus of evel. Amen.

A. D. 1300—Fader ure in heuene, halewyn be thil name, thil kingdom come, they will be done as in heuene and earthe. Our urche days bred give us to daye. And forgive oure dettes as we forgive oure dettours. And lead us nor in tentation, bote deljveour us of yvil. Amen.

A. D. 1370—Oure fadir that art in heunes, hallowid be thil name, thil kingdom come to, be thil wille done in earthe as in heune, geve to us this oure bred our other substance forgene to use oure dettis as we forgaue to oure detouris, lede us not into tentation, but deljveour us yvel. Amen.

A. D. 1524—O our father which arte in heven, hallowed by thy name. Let thy kingdom come. They wvill be fulfilled as well in earth as it is in heaven. Give us this daye oure dayly brede. And forgive us our trespasses even as we forgive our trespassers. And lead us not into tentation, but deljveour us from evell. Fyr thyne is the kindome and the power and the glorye for ever. Amen.

A. D. 1561—Our father which are in heauen, sanctified by thy name. Let thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heauen, in earth also. Give us today our superstantial bread. And forgive us our dettes as we forgive our detters. And lead us not into tentation. But delivere us from evil. Amen.

A. D. 1711—Our father which are in heauen, hallowed by thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth as it is in heauen. Give us this day our dayley bread. And forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into tentation, but deliver us from evil. For thyne is the kindome, and the power, and the glory forever. Amen.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

If you can smile when your rival is praised, you have tact.

There is always a demand for the man who does his best.

As a rule, other people are the best judges of your importance.

Our opinions are like our visits—more appreciated when not forced upon people.

Drifting with the tide is a slow way to get anywhere; the tide flows both ways.

The aggressive man is usually only a polite way of referring to your quarrelsome friend.

Don't air your family skeleton. People know enough about it when it is kept locked in the closet.

The most aggravating kind of a person to live in the house with is one who always has his own way and yet goes around with an abused air.—Atchison Globe.

Schopenhauer on Anonymity.

Anonymity is the refuge for all literary and journalistic rascality. It is a practice which must be completely stopped. Every article, even in a newspaper, should be accompanied by the name of its author, and the editor should be made strictly responsible for the accuracy of the signature. The freedom of the press should be thus far restricted, so that what a man publicly proclaims through the far sounding trumpet of the newspaper he should be answerable for, at any rate with his honor, if he has any, and, if he has none, let his name neutralize the effect of his words. Rascal, your name! For a man to wrap himself up and draw his hat over his face and then fall upon people who are walking about without any disguise—this is not the part of a gentleman; it is the part of a scoundrel and a knave.

Why Books Are Gilt Edged.

Have you ever wondered why the top edge of your books is sometimes gilded and the other edges left plain? The explanation of this is very simple. When a volume is placed on the shelf of a bookcase the top side is obviously more exposed to dust than the others. The object of the gilding therefore is to save the pages from being soiled, for were it not present the dust would cling to this top edge and the appearance of the book would to a great extent be spoiled.

Precept and Practice.

A child walking with his tutor stole an apple from a stall in the street. His instructor, having witnessed the theft, gave his young charge a severe lesson on the heinousness of stealing and then, snatching the apple from him, quietly ate it himself. This is the abridgment of the greater part of all history.

The Post of Being a Man.

Even though you be hard pressed and violently attacked by the enemy, still it is base to give way. Hold the post assigned to you by nature. You ask what this post is? It is that of being a man.—Seneca.

Fate.

"Marie, how does it happen that I just now saw you giving your sweet heart my cake and wine?" "I don't understand it either, for I covered up the keyhole."—Meggendorfer Blatter.

Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With others, coarse all-wheat bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a vegetable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man, if physicians can but find Nature's way to health. And this is strikingly true with regard to Constipation.

The bark of a certain tree in California—Cascara Sagrada—offers a most excellent aid to this end. But, combined with Egyptian Senna, Slippery Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prunes, etc., this same Cascara bark is given its greatest possible power to correct constipation. A toothsome Candy Tablet called Lax-ets, is now made at the Dr. Shoop Laboratories, from this ingenious and most effective prescription. Its effect on Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.

No gripping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in beautiful lithographed metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents per box.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says: "I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in our family."

Kodol Digests What You Eat.

Wrong Number.

The telephone girl and the bill clerk to whom she had promised her heart and hand, were sitting before the fire talking about the happy days to come when they would be one.

From one little detail to another they finally drifted to the subject of lighting the fires in the morning. He stated that it was the wife's place to get up and make the fires and let the hard working husband rest. After this declaration there was about a three quarters of a seconds silence.

Then the telephone girl thrust out her engagement ring and murmured sweetly but firmly "Ring off please you have got the wrong number".

A prompt, pleasant, good remedy for coughs and colds, is Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. It is especially recommended for babies and children, but good for every member of the family. It contains no opiates and does not constipate. Contains honey and tar and tastes nearly as good as maple syrup. Children like it. Sold by all druggists.
