THE EDISON PHONOGRAPH

No sound-producing machine is so perfect as the one Mr Edison has made. None renders such good music without any of the mechanical sound which is so annoying in the cheaper machines. The Edison phonograph and the new records will give you the best that you can secure anywhere. In the theater, in the concert hall and on the stage—all in your own home where your family can enjoy it, and at a small cost.

Don't be misled by flowery offers from Chicago houses. We can sell you a machine just as cheap and some cases cheaper than they do, and will play the records from our large stock for your selection. By so doing, you know just what you are getting. By all means come and see before you send that order away. In most cases I have to readjust the machines after they are unpacked, and sometimes they come broken on account of rough handling in shipping. These I put in perfect running order before they leave the store, thus assuring you a perfect running machine when you get it of me.

MARRIAGES.

BROWN-SIMON.
Erastus Brown of Bethany and Adella Simon of Sullivan were united in marriage at the bride's home in Sullivan, at 10 o'clock, Sunday morning, February 23, 1908, by Judge Hutchinson.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with carnations, fern and ribbon, colors consisting of red and white.

An elegant three course dinner was served.

Many beautiful and useful presents were received.

The invited guests present out of town were: John Simon, Mrs. George Melhorn and daughter, Miss Viola,
V. C. Gordy and family of Springfield; Miss Lizzie Berthold of St.
Louis; E. M. Searcy and wife of Cerro Gordo; Miss Lela Chiffen-berry of Newton; Miss Lula Shefferstine of Indianapolis; James Brown and family of Bethany; Oscar Wyatt and family, Warren Morthland and wife, Mrs. C. N. Gordy and granddaughter, Miss Hazel Hill, and Earl Melhorn all of Decatur.

Mr. Brown is a well known young carpenter of Bethany. Mrs. Brown was a popular young lady of Sullivan.

The young couple left for Bethany Monday morning where they will make their future home.

A GUEST.

LANDERS-DROKE.

Frederick Landers of Cadwell and Miss Ora Droke of Sullivan were married Wednesday, Feb. 19, 1908, at 2:30 p. m., by Rev Stoddard of the Baptist church in Tuscola.

They are both estimable, highly respected, industrious young people.
They are now at home on a farm near Cadwell.

Jailors Out Of Job.

The Bath County World says that the Kentucky Jailors Association has sent a petition to each member of the Kentucky Legislature asking for sufficient salaries to live on, saying that local option has practically emptied the jails. The petition says:
The jail doors in nearly every county in which local option prevails are wide open and the jailors have been compelled to engage in other pursuits for the purpose of eking out a scanty support for their families.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured in 3 Days

Morton L. Hill, of Lebanon Ind., says: "My wife had Inflammatory Rheumatism in every muscle and joint; her suffering was terrible and her body and face was swollen almost beyond recognition; and had been in bed for six weeks and had eight physicians, but received no benefit until she tried Dr. J. C. Johnson's relief for rheumatism. It gave immediate relief and she was able to walk about in three days. I am sure it saved her life."

LOOKING BACKWARD

Son Quized His Mother in Regard to Conversations He Has Heard

Little Boy—Ma, was George Washington the father of our country?

Yes, my son. He was called that.

Say ma. Did General Washington ever come to Sullivan?

No, my son. Sullivan was not known in General Washington's days.

Say ma. I heard a big man say that it was not long since Sullivan was a cow pasture, and that horses, hogs, cows, sheep and dogs run where they would. And, ma, he said the streets were muddy and the gym-sweat and the rag weed and stinking pie-print and cocklebur grew everywhere.

Yes, my son. That was so.

Say ma. Why don't they run now?

Well, my boy. I will tell you.
There were many good people that were disgusted and they said: "Stock ought to be shut up so we can have better streets and good lawns, and children can go down town without danger of being hooked by cows, and the nasty pigs rooting in mud and water everywhere.

Well, ma, how did they manage to make the change?

They decided the question by ballot and some people got awfully mad about it. They said the poor widow who needs her cow's milk to live on and raise her pigs would suffer, and all such talk. But the majority vote said "Shut up the stock." Then the people pulled down their fences, mowed their lawns, the weeds disappeared from the streets, and the widows are some of them living yet, and they wouldn't want cows to run
any more on our streets.

Now Sammy, run along to school.

Well, ma, pa said they once had places in Sullivan they called saloons,
and men went there and got drunk,
and then went home and whipped their wives, and the children were scared when their pa came home drunk. And the farmers couldn't depend upon their hired hands, and the railroads had wrecks because their men drank and the state asylums were so full of feeble minded, and the jails were full of people because of bad whiskey.

Well, say ma, how did this great change come about?

Oh, Sonny dear, you do bother me so! Go along like a good boy, to school.

But, say, ma, just tell me this,
please.

Well, Sonny, the great distilleries were running politics. They taught the people that they were needed to buy their corn, and that the license money was needed to build sidewalks, etc. And the people said "Less Hell and More Hogs." The people

also said, "Shut up whiskey, turn Pat out of jail, and let Par go to work." And so they decided to settle the matter by ballot. The whiskey men were mad, but their wives were very happy.

So the people voted DRY!
Now Sammy run right along. I want to sleep.

Well ma, would you want to have the cows to run loose again and give the saloons license, and have hogs and men laying in the gutters?

No! No! My Boy. Never! No
never again. The saloons are gone forever.

OBITUARIES.

FRANK WEBB.

Sunday as Frank Webb was walking across a field, which the timber had been chopped off on his way to Chas. Boiles, his foot slipped and he fell on a stump in such a manner as to cause internal injuries, so serious that he lived but a few hours.

Mr. Webb was born in Howard Co.,
Ind., September 11, 1860. Died February 24, 1908, at the age of 47 years, 11 months and 13 days.

He came to Illinois in 1878, since making his home in Moultrie and Shelby counties. He was married to Mary Jane Younger in 1883. His wife was the daughter of F. S.
Younger, living near Bethany. She died April 7, 1904. Two this union were born eight children, six of whom are living, two dying in infancy.

Mr. Webb was a member of the Baptist church. The funeral services were conducted at the home Feb. 25, by Philip Emel, and the remains taken to the Hampton graveyard for interment.

JOHN W. DAVIS.

John W. Davis died in Bethany, early Monday morning of Bright's disease and rheumatism. He had been sick and in bed since February 15, 1906. His wife's maiden name was Miss Catherine Harmiston. They were the parents of eight boys, all living, and one daughter who died in infancy. Mr. Davis was a very highly respected citizen and lived a number of years ago in and near Sullivan. He was a member of the Christian church at this place and a regular attendant, and characterized by his Christian principle.

The children living are Henry, living east of Sullivan; Eck, who lived at home with his parents; Tobe and Green, living in Missouri; Mack and Levis, of Decatur; Cyrus, living in Indiana and Elra, of Chicago.

The funeral was conducted at the residence in Bethany, Tuesday, by Rev. Metzler, and the remains laid to rest in the Bethany cemetery.

L. A. GILBERT.

L. A. Gilbert died at the Masonic Home, Sunday, February 23, 1908 of corrhosis of the liver. His age was 74 years. His brother, W. B. Gilbert, came Sunday, and accompanied the remains to Englewood for buria
Monday night.

Accidents at Lexington.

Saturday afternoon Irving and Amos Hout, in company with Virgil Cox, went rabbit hunting. The former was accidentally shot and killed.
It appears that both the Hout boys spied a rabbit near a brush pile at the same time, it being near Irving he attempted to fall upon it, at the same time Amos fired at the rabbit with a shotgun, the load struck Irving just above the right eye, some of the shot going through his skull and penetrated the brain. The boy was at once taken home, but soon died.
He was fourteen years of age.

Orange Day.

The members of the Baptist church of this city will observe Orange Day on March 2nd, at the studio of Miss Flora Chapman, on the west side of the square.

The rooms will be open both afternoon and evening. Refreshments will be served both afternoon and evening. A bazaar will be held in connection with the refreshments.
Every one cordially invited to attend.

Billy Sunday at Charleston.

A tabernacle with a seating capacity of 4,000 is in process of erection at Charleston for the accommodation of Billy Sunday and corps of workers as soon as he concludes his meeting at Decatur.

RECITAL AND READING

Two of Sullivan's Talented Young Women Will Give the Public an Evening's Entertainment

Miss Rose Corbin assisted by Mrs.
Clyde Patterson will give an entertainment at the Christian church on the 6th of March.

Miss Corbin will give a piano recital, and this will of itself be a rare treat, as Miss Corbin is an artist at the piano. She has spent some time in a conservatory of music in Cincinnati, she is not only one of the most excellent of pianists, but has given to the public some fine compositions.

Although but few Sullivan people have had the pleasure of hearing
Mrs. Patterson read, she has won a reputation as a reader, and has been highly commended by the press in towns where she has given entertainments. She reads well, exceedingly well. Her personal appearance recommends her; an attractive face, with an expression that bespeaks goodness, happiness, sincerity and purity will win an audience. Her selections Whitcomb Riley shows how pure minded she is. A mind stored with the rich gems of those grand old authors has no room for evil forebodings, as the mind is thereby directed to something supreme.

You cannot afford to miss this entertainment. Admittance 35 cents.

When entertainers like these, whose character, reputation and ability is sufficient to recommend them, the people of their home town are under an obligation to patronize them. Let charity begin at home, and banish that envy which throughout ages has deprived people of honor and home.

The Piano.

(Copyrighted.)
Oh sweet instrument, pour forth your tone
For I love to hear thee, when I'm alone;
Your veins are but strings of wire,
But the blood that flows through them sets
my heart on fire.

My soul, through my fingers, goes to your keys
And you tell my secret to the passing breeze,
And it lightly carries them to the sky
To open from a white cloud for the King on high.

And my prayer, let my thoughts be pure and
white
So the clouds' load may be light and bright
So dear piano, from your bosom let flow
Only my thoughts that are like the snow.

Yes, though the world may hate me and scorn,
You will stay with me from ev'n till morn.
My soul to you I open and you tell it to the breeze
Which takes it to the feet of God and there leaves.

The sun is fast sinking in the west
And this busy world will soon be at rest,
When all is peaceful and day no longer
bright,
We confide in each other through the quiet
lone night.

And sometimes when we are alone,
We go with the breeze to the great White Throne;
And play our hearts for the King to hear,
But those tones will never, never be heard here.

ROSE CORBIN.

Mrs. Harriet B. Hall's Lecture

Mrs. Harriet B. Hall, a State worker of the W. C. T. U., delivered a fine lecture at the Presbyterian church last Friday evening. The audience was very small, and the men, who are active workers in the temperance work, should put their shoulders to the wheel and give the little faithful band of temperance women strong support.

Time and again good speakers, national and state workers come here, and for some reason they cannot get an audience, such as they deserve.
Join hands and help for "United we must be to carry this country against King Alcohol." So make it a point next time to be there, and not let the speaker address inanimate, harmless benches.

The county resident, Miss Anna E. Daugherty, is whole-souled in the work and is advancing the work in this county to a decided extent.

The W. C. T. U. are very grateful to Rev Atkinson for his kindness and attention. As he took it upon himself to warm the church, he is a hospitable host and personally give a hearty welcome to the society. And we take this means to thank him and the church for their liberality.

CHIEF HITS ROADS

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ASKS WAGE CUT PROBE.

SCENTS INDUSTRIAL WAR

Executive Addresses Commission Regarding Proposed Pay Reductions—Investigation Requested in Order to Avert Strife.

Washington.—Serious industrial disputes in prospect were in the mind of President Roosevelt when he wrote a letter to the interstate commerce commission which has been made public. He says that information has reached him that on account of the enactment of drastic laws by the congress and by the various state legislatures it is regarded as necessary by railroad companies to reduce the pay of employees. He points out that, under the law, either party may demand the services of the chairman of the interstate commerce commission and of the commissioner of labor as a board of conciliation. He suggests, therefore, that the interstate commerce commission make such an investigation as will enable it to furnish data concerning wage conditions on various railroads as may relate, directly or indirectly, to the possible impending controversy.

Notice Served, Says Chief. The text of the president's letter follows:

"The White House, Washington, Feb. 18, 1908.—To the Interstate Commerce Commission: I am informed that a number of railroad companies have served notice of a proposed reduction of wages on their employees. One of them, the Louisville & Nashville, in announcing the reduction, states that 'the drastic laws inimical to the interests of the railroads that have in the past year or two been enacted by congress and the state legislatures' are largely or chiefly responsible for the conditions requiring the reduction. Under such circumstances it is possible that the public may soon be confronted by serious industrial disputes, and the law provides that in such case either party may demand the services of your chairman and of the commissioner of labor as a board of mediation and conciliation. These reductions in wages may be warranted, or they may not.

Public is Vitrally Interested.

"As to this, the public, which is a vitally interested party, can form no judgment without a more complete knowledge of the essential facts and real merits of the case than it now has or than it can possibly obtain from the special pleadings certain to be put forth by each side in case their dispute should bring about serious interruption to traffic. If the reduction in wages is due to natural causes, the loss of business being such that the burden should be, and is, equitably distributed between capitalist and wage worker, the public should know it. If it is caused by legislation, the public and congress should know it, and if it is caused by misconduct in the past financial or other operations of any railroad, then everybody should know it, especially if the excuse of unfriendly legislation is advanced as a method of covering up past business misconduct by the railroad managers, or as a justification for failure to treat fairly the employe."

KIDNAPERS FOUND GUILTY.

Man and Woman Who Stole Chicago Girl Given Long Term.

Chicago.—Thirty years in the penitentiary for William Jones and 25 years in the penitentiary for his wife, Irene Alzina Jones—such was the punishment fixed for the kidnapers of Lillian Wulff in Judge Kersten's court Wednesday night by the jury in rendering a verdict of guilty.

Imprisonment in the penitentiary for 25 years was the punishment meted out by the jury to Mrs. Alzina Birmingham, while the woman's husband, William Jones, alias Birmingham, was sentenced to 30 years at hard labor in the same institution. Incidents of tense dramatic interest marked the return of the verdict. The reading of the decision of the jury by Court Clerk Schmidt precipitated a scene seldom witnessed in the criminal court of the county. The woman kidnaper, with her back to the wall within a few feet of the jury box, heard the words that doomed her to imprisonment for the next quarter of a century. The sentencing of her companion affected her but little. "We, the jury, find the defendant, Alzina Jones, alias Birmingham, guilty and fix her punishment at 25 years imprisonment in the penitentiary."

Will Law Stand Test?

Washington.—Attorney General Bonaparte has taken steps to find out whether the provision of the rate law which prohibits railroads hauling over their own roads, products in which they are financially interested will stand the test of the courts.

Steamer Breaks in Two.

New York.—The steamer Roda, which went ashore on Jones Beach, Long Island, several days ago, has broken in two according to reports received from the wreckers at work on her Thursday. The Roda has a cargo of iron ore.

Queen's Auto Hurts Child.

Rome.—An automobile in which Dowager Queen Margherita was driving Thursday, ran over a five-year-old girl, who, however, was only slightly injured.

GENERAL STOESEL TO DIE

"HERO OF PORT ARTHUR" GIVEN DEATH SENTENCE.

Military Court Pronounces Notice of Fate—Inferior Officers Allowed to Escape.

St. Petersburg.—Lieut. Gen. Stoessel, once known as "the Hero of Port Arthur," was condemned to death Thursday evening by a military court for the surrender of that fort to the Japanese.

Gen. Fock, who commanded the Fourth East Siberian division of Port Arthur, was ordered reprimanded for a disciplinary offense, which was not connected with the surrender, and Gen. Smirnov, acting commander of the fortress, and Maj. Gen. Reiss, chief of staff to Gen. Stoessel, were acquitted of the charges against them for lack of proof. The court recommended that the death sentence upon Lieut. Gen. Stoessel be commuted to ten years imprisonment in a fortress and that he be excluded from the service. Gen. Vodar, president of the court, read the sentences amid a tense silence. By a great effort of self-control, Gen. Stoessel maintained a rigid soldier-like impassivity. Gen. Smirnov also was seemingly unmoved, but there were tears in the eyes of Gen. Reiss.

The sentence of death was pronounced upon Gen. Stoessel, "for surrendering the fortress before all the means of defense had been exhausted; for failing to enforce his authority, and for military misdemeanors."

POWDER BLAST KILLS 28.

Explosion at Berkeley, Cal., Fatal to Chinese and Whites.

Berkeley, Cal.—With a force that shook the entire bay region like an earthquake the packing house of the Hercules Powder works at Pile, 14 miles north of here, blew up late Thursday afternoon and in the explosion four white men and 24 Chinamen were killed.

Ten tons of dynamite went up in the terrific blast, shattering the sheds to dust and splinters. W. W. Stillwell, foreman of the packing house, was blown to atoms at his post of duty. Manuel Enos, Joseph Grace and W. A. Rodriguez were the other white men killed. The 28 dead included every man who was at work in the packing house. Flames burst forth in the ruins following the explosion, and threatened the gelatine house, where two score girls were at work. A panic ensued, and many were cut by flying glass and crushed and trampled in the mad rush for the doors. The loss to the company due to the accident is placed at about $100,000. No definite cause for the accident can be given.

AUSTRALIA WANTS FLEET.

Presence of Battleships Desired—Big Fete is Promised.

Melbourne, Australia.—Australia wants the American fleet of battleships, now on its way to San Francisco, to come to this country. The government already has given the matter due consideration and a letter has been sent to President Roosevelt inviting the fleet to visit the chief Australian ports, in the hope that "such a visit would mark a new era in the history of this part of the world."

Accept American Terms.

Tokyo.—The memorandum of the Japanese government in reply to that of the United States on the subject of emigration was handed to Ambassador O'Brien Wednesday. It is understood that it agrees in the general terms with a number of suggestions made by the American government, and requires a further restriction of emigration.

Crazed Negro Kills Chief.

Fayetteville, N. C.—Chief of Police Benton of this city was shot dead in front of his home here Sunday, just after the churches had let out, by a negro, Sam Murchison, crazed with drink. This man also shot two negroes a few minutes before he shot the chief.

To Celebrate in Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Elaborate plans are under way for a noteworthy celebration to commemorate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the naming of Pittsburgh. The affair will take place November 25 of this year.

Havana Carnival is On.

Havana.—A winter carnival for which unprecedented preparations have been going on for several weeks was inaugurated Sunday with great enthusiasm. The city is thronged with American tourists.

CATHOLIC PRIEST IS SHOT

ASSASSIN'S BULLET KILLS LEO HEINRICHS AT ALTAR.

Guarnaceto, a Discontented Italian, Shoots Reverend in Church—Confesses to Police When Taken.

Denver, Col.—Father Leo Heinrichs was shot and killed when administering the sacrament at mass in St. Elizabeth's Catholic church, Eleventh and Curtis streets, this city, Sunday. Kneeling at the altar rail, between two women, Giuseppe Guarnaceto pressed the muzzle of a revolver against the body of the priest, after receiving from him the consecrated wafer, and shot the priest through the heart. Exclaiming, "My God, My God," Father Leo fell without uttering another word. With an inarticulate scream the assassin sprang into the aisle and, waving the smoking pistol about his head, dashed to the church door. For a moment the hundred or more people in the church were dazed. Then a woman shrieked and the congregation became panic-stricken. Some women fainted, and many became hysterical. Several men rushed to the aid of the priest, and others started in pursuit of the murderer. Among the latter was Patrolman Daniel Cronin, who overtook the fleeing Italian on the steps. Guarnaceto attempted to shoot the policeman but was foiled and overpowered only after a desperate fight in which several men had come to the assistance of the officer.

Although no actual demonstration against the murderer of Father Leo was made there was much talk around town throughout the day of the justice of lynching him. In order to avoid an attack on the city jail, Guarnaceto was taken to the county jail, a more easily defended building, where he remained several hours. Small groups of men began to congregate near the county jail, and after a consultation the authorities decided to take Guarnaceto out of town. Accordingly he was hustled into an automobile and a fast run was made to Littleton, 14 miles from Denver, where a train was boarded for Colorado Springs.

SIX DIE IN CRASH.

Three Others Are Badly Injured at Spring Valley, N. Y.

Spring Valley, N. Y.—A foam-specked pair of horses that tore through the streets Sunday, dragging between them a splintered wagon pole, brought to the village the first news of a grade-crossing accident in which nine members of its most prominent families were either killed outright or frightfully injured. Four of the party were instantly killed; two died while being removed to the Hudson county hospital at Hoboken, N. J., and the other three lay in a serious condition at that institution Sunday night.

Cambridge, O.—Just after midnight an awful accident occurred on the Byesville interurban line a mile from this place. Rose Clancey of this city was killed outright and 15 injured, five fatally.

Society Woman Asphyxiated. New York.—Gotham society circles were cast into the throes of a sensation when the death of Mrs. William Proudt Burden, daughter of Q. H. P. Belmont became known. Mrs. Burden was found dead in bed, the coroner deciding that her demise was caused by gas poisoning. She was a society leader in Washington, New York and Newport.

Guilty of Slaying Wife.

Pawnee City, Neb.—After being out 40 hours and taking 68 ballots, the jury in the Frank murder trial brought in a verdict of manslaughter. Oscar Frank, a wealthy farmer, was indicted two months ago charged with killing his young wife.

Duma Condemns Terrorism.

SENATOR LATIMER IS DEAD.

South Carolina Statesman is Victim of Peritonitis.

Washington.—Senator Asbury C. Latimer of South Carolina died at Providence hospital at 9:15 a. m. Thursday of peritonitis. He had been at the hospital since Sunday last, when he underwent an operation for appendicitis. It was then discovered that he was suffering with a far more serious ailment. The bowels had become twisted and his condition was found to be such that surgeons held out little hope for his recovery. He rallied, however, and his progress was satisfactory until seven o'clock Wednesday evening, when steadily he began to grow worse. At midnight it appeared that recovery was impossible.

The members of the senator's family were with him when he died, having been informed that there was little hope that he would survive the night. Col. Ransdell, sergeant-at-arms of the senate, at once made arrangements for the removal of the body to the Latimer home at Belton, S. C.

As a mark of respect for the memory of Senator Latimer the senate adjourned Thursday.

Mr. Latimer was 57 years of age. He was especially interested in good roads and probably did more to promote the national movement for government building of good roads than any other member of congress. He was the author of the "Latimer good-roads bill."

QUAKER "JOBLESS" RIOT.

Philadelphia Unemployed Cause Fracas, Twenty Being Injured.

Philadelphia.—The marching of nearly 1,000 foreigners upon the city hall, where they said they intended to make demands upon Mayor Rebyrn for work, precipitated a riot in Broad street late Thursday, in which 20 persons were injured before the police dispersed the marchers and arrested 14 of them. The men, most of whom were Italians and Poles, marched from the foreign settlement in the lower section of the city. The leaders and a score of others carried red flags having a black border. Several wagons attempted to pass through the line. The drivers were dragged from their seats by the marchers and beaten.

HARRIMAN WINS CONTROL.

Chicago Judge Dissolves Writ Forbidding Use of Proxies.

Chicago.—E. H. Harriman won complete control of the Illinois Central railroad Thursday, when Judge Farlin, Q. Ball dissolved the injunction restraining the voting of 286, 231 Harriman proxies. Stuyvesant Fish was knocked out and the Harriman victory was absolute. Judge Ball not only dissolved the Fish injunction but settled the more important point that foreign corporations may hold and vote stocks in Illinois corporations. Had the decision been otherwise the voting power of $400,000,000 worth of Illinois stocks would have invalidated.

Ten Die in Riots.

Rather Neatly Put.

A Baltimore man had until recently a ducky in his employ—about as shiftless and worthless a ducky, says he, as ever he came across. One day the employer, his patience exhausted, called Sam into his office and told him to look for another job. "Will you give me a letter of recommendation?" asked Sam, piteously. Although he felt that he could not conscientiously comply with this request, the Baltimore man's heart was touched by the appeal. So he sat down to his desk to write a non-committal letter of character for the negro. His effort resulted as follows: "This man, Sam Harkins, has worked for me one week, and I am satisfied."

The Making of a Journalist.

Henry H. Ashton, a Virginia City capitalist, has in his library, richly bound in crushed Levant, those early volumes of the Virginia City Enterprise to which Mark Twain contributed.

The faded pages contain innumerable specimens of the famous writer's quaint humor. Mr. Ashton often points out the first paragraph that Mark Twain wrote on his arrival in Virginia City. The paragraph runs:

"A thunderstorm made Beranger a poet, a mother's kiss made Benjamin West a painter and a salary of $15 a week makes us a journalist."

Prof. W. B. Eskin of the University of Missouri believes that America will be a veritable heaven on earth within 100 years, and he goes on to tell why in an article which he has written for the American Journal of Sociology. Among other things which will be a feature of the millennium he pictures is a reformed press. Newspapers, he says, will be printed and edited by the colleges.

BRAIN POWER

Increased by Proper Feeding.

A lady writer who not only has done good literary work, but reared a family, found in Grape-Nuts the ideal food for brain work and to develop healthy children. She writes:—"I am an enthusiastic proclaimer of Grape-Nuts as a regular diet. I formerly had no appetite in the morning and for 8 years while nursing my four children, had insufficient nourishment for them.

"Unable to eat breakfast I felt faint later, and would go to the pantry and eat cold chops, sausage, cookies, doughnuts or anything I happened to find. Being a writer, at times my head felt heavy and my brain asleep.

"When I read of Grape-Nuts I began eating it every morning, also gave it to the children, including my 10 months old baby, who soon grew as fat as a little pig, good natured and contented.

"Within a week I had plenty of breast milk, and felt stronger within two weeks. I wrote evenings and feeling the need of sustained brain power, began eating a small saucer of Grape-Nuts with milk instead of my usual indigestible hot pudding, pie, or cake for dessert at night.

"Grape-Nuts did wonders for me and I learned to like it. I did not mind my housework or mother's cares, for I felt strong and full of go. I grew plump, nerves strong, and when I wrote my brain was active and clear; indeed, the dull-head pain never returned.

IMMIGRATION FROM SOUTH EXPECTED

U. S. FARMERS ARE RECOGNIZING SPLENDID OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED BY WESTERN CANADA.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 9, 1908.—Present indications are that the Canadian Northwest will draw an exceptionally heavy movement of new settlers from the United States this year. It should surpass the banner record for 1907. This is not only based on the fact that the Americans have come to realize generally that the Canadian Northwest offers splendid opportunities, but also because the railroads have awakened to the fact and are offering rates to the Canadian Northwest which are exceptionally favorable.

The lines which lead to St. Paul from the east and south are offering homeseekers' rates to the Canadian Northwest this year which are on a parity with those in existence to the southwest for a couple of seasons.

These rates can be obtained from any agent of the Canadian government, who will be pleased to give all information possible regarding those districts which offer the greatest inducements to settlers. The weather throughout Western Canada has been remarkably good this year. A telegram from the winter wheat belt of Southern Alberta dated at Cardston, Alberta, January 29th, says:

"This winter up to January 25 was nothing short of a marvel, in fact, it was the finest anyone can remember for twenty-five years though there have been others nearly as good. The days were fine, sunny and warm with light frosts at night. Overcoats and gloves, etc., were discarded by most people in the day time. There was so little frost in the ground that post holes could be dug without any trouble after the first inch was broken through. Winter wheat remained fresh and green although there has been no snow since the September storm. If there is an early spring, winter wheat should gain a great start."

Amongst the reports of the yield of last year the following extracts are taken:

H. Howe, of Magrath, Alta, writing on November, 1907, says: "I have 70 acres in crop, 50 acres of wheat and seven acres of oats. My average yield of oats was 35 bushels to the acre, and of wheat 45 bushels. The value to me was $35 per acre."

J. F. Haycock, of Magrath, writes in November: "I had 65 acres in winter wheat, which went 60 bushels to the acre; oats averaged 80 bushels. I also had 12 tons of hay worth $10 per ton. I got 600 bushels of potatoes from three acres of land; I got eight tons per acre from five acres of sugar beet."

J. F. Bradshaw, of Magrath, had 1,080 acres of winter wheat last year which averaged 39 1/2 bushels to the acre. The value of his farm products per acre was: Wheat, $31.60; oats, $11.20 and barley, $25.15.

Things Mixed.

Little Willie, who had been listening to some scientific talk about the brain's functions, pondered over some new expressions he had heard, and that night when he was going to bed asked earnestly:

"Mamma, when people's hair begins to turn, is it because the gray matter in their brains is leaking through?"

GETS SEVERE TEST

WORK OF "BREAKING IN" NEW LOCOMOTIVE.

Before Being Put into Actual Service It is Tried First in the Yards and Later Sent Out on Regular Runs.

Few persons outside the realm of the operating department of a railroad know anything of the oftentimes vexatious peculiarities and not infrequently seeming intelligent capers of a locomotive when being "broke" to its mission in the world. Each new engine must undergo a set training or test before it is put into actual service, and each locomotive which has gone through the shops for repairs is given a certain working out before it is returned to its erstwhile duties.

Some locomotive manufacturing companies complete their engines ready for actual service before sending them out, others ship them to the destination in a partial "knockdown" state and they are completed in the shops of the road to which they are delivered.

When a new engine is taken into a shop it is turned over to a mechanic whose duty it is to fit it up and make all connections and adjustments of the interior mechanism. This completed, the engine is turned over to a fireman, who steams it up and blows it off in order to remove any grease that might have accumulated in the boiler or any such foreign substance as might cause a boiler to "foam" while in service. The engine is then turned over to an engineer, whose duty it is to "break" it in. The engine is steamed up again, and if it will run is taken for a little tryout about the yard.

The science of locomotive building has been developed to such a fine point that there is little danger now of an engine "bucking" on its first trial. The main feature in the test is to see that there is no heating in the journals or rod brasses. If there is no heating the engine is run about the yards for about half a day and the steam is again blown from the boiler.

The engine is then steamed up and taken for a long run on the main line. If during this test there are no capers the engine is sent out for its first trip with about 500 tons to draw. If it runs all right the tonnage is gradually increased to 950 tons. The tonnage depends greatly upon the size of the engine. The average engine of to-day will draw about 950 tons on a mountainous road and from 1,200 to 1,500 tons over a level haul. The test speed is from one to 20 miles an hour.

Heating is one of the principal diseases of an engine, and it is this feature the engineer looks to more than anything else. The mechanical sense of the engineer is so developed that he can detect the least defect about his engine.

John Miller, the "locomotive buster" for the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railroad company, breaks on an average 20 engines each month. He has been breaking engines for this company for the last five years.

DEATH ROLL OF RAILROADS.

Railroad Commissioner Presents "Figures That Stagger."

If I were to tell you that an earthquake had shaken down San Francisco and killed 100 persons, if I were to read a telegram that yellow fever had become epidemic in all southern cities, if I should announce that war had been declared between Spain and the United States, and 1,000 men killed in battle, your attention would be instantly attracted. But I am not so sure of persuading your practical interest when I present to you the solemn, disgraceful fact of the railroad death roll. During the eight years from 1897 to 1904, inclusive, there was a steady increase in the number of casualties. The total number of killed during that period was 62,213—as if a community as large as Salt Lake City had been wiped out by a sudden and terrible catastrophe—while 451,262 were injured—as if every man, woman and child in Buffalo had been maimed or otherwise hurt. If casualties continue to increase at the same rate for eight succeeding years, from 1905 to 1912, there will be 115,389 killed and 1,431,083 injured. That is, at this rate there are upward of 100,000 people in the United States under sentence of death, to be executed on the railroads before the close of 1912, and a larger number are doomed to be maimed or otherwise injured than the entire population of the District of Columbia, Delaware, Montana, Arizona, Wyoming, Nevada, Alaska, Idaho and the Hawaiian Islands.—W. J. Wood, Indiana Railroad Commissioner, in Lealle's Weekly.

Railroad Developing Mexico.

The military railroad which the Mexican government built from Mexico City to Quintana Roo for the purpose of affording means for the quick transportation of troops and supplies for use in the campaign which is being waged against the Maya Indians is to be extended and several branches are to be built.

The road has been found exceedingly useful in the development of the remote territory traversed by it and many settlers have established plantations along its lines. By building the projected extensions and new lines other portions of a rich region will be made available for settlement.

The chief engineer in charge of the government work has made a report highly recommending the project.

TREASURY CALL OUT

CORTELYOU ASKS RETURN OF $35,000,000.

TERMS BANKS HEALTHY

Government Cash to Be Withdrawn in Large Quantity by Secretary—Convenience Is One Stipulation.

Washington.—The secretary of the treasury Monday announced a call upon national banks. He asked approximately 25 per cent of the public funds now held in inactive depositaries having on deposit such funds in the sum of $100,000 or more, and 25 per cent of the public funds now held by active depositaries where the deposit is $100,000 of such funds, or in excess thereof, and where such withdrawal can be made without inconvenience to the treasury department in the transaction of public business. Under the call, approximately $35,000,000 will be returned to the treasury. Payments under this call will be made as follows: Ten per cent of the amount called on or before March 9, and the remaining 15 per cent on or before March 23. Secretary Cortelyou stated that advices from all portions of the country are to the effect that this proportion of the government funds now on deposit with these national banks can be withdrawn without detriment to financial conditions in any section.

SCENT PRIEST MURDER PLOT.

Denver Murder Thought to Have Been Long-Planned.

Denver, Col.—New light was thrown on the Heinrichs murder mystery Monday. A woman, a member of St. Elizabeth's church, who was present in the church when Father Leo Heinrichs was shot by Giuseppe Guaraccio, the self-confessed anarchist, Monday told one of the priests of the church that a week or so ago she saw two Italians together in front of the church and that one of them was pointing toward Father Leo, who was standing near by talking to a parishioner. She is certain that one of the men was Guaraccio and that he was the man who apparently was interested in ascertaining the identity of Father Leo.

On the strength of this statement the police Monday night again took into custody Mike Brunetti, the roommate and companion of Guaraccio, and who was arrested but later released. He is being held for investigation. The police are now working on the theory that a well-laid plot for the murder of Father Leo had been worked out by Guaraccio and some of his associates, possibly anarchists.

RULES AGAINST RAILROAD.

Supreme Court Decides the Elkins Act Still Valid.

Washington.—The question whether the railroad rate law known as the Hepburn act repeals section one of the Elkins act, prohibiting rebates by railroads, involved in the case of the Great Northern Railway company versus the United States, was decided Monday by the supreme court of the United States against the railroad company and against the contention of such repeal.

The case was instituted in the United States district court for the district of Minnesota, which court fined the railroad $1,000 each for 15 violations of the first section of the Elkins law.

ENGLAND WATCHES POWERS.

British Defense Estimates Are Increased by $3,000,000.

London.—The estimates for the British defense forces for the current year, which were issued Monday, will disappoint the peace party, for, instead of showing a reduction, as they had hoped, the combined estimates for the army and navy show an increase of $3,000,000, without apparently any prospect of considerable diminution in the future.

Bank Wrecker Sentenced.

Benton, Ill.—Ransom A. Youngblood, until six weeks ago president of the Coal Belt National bank of Benton, and the Salem bank of Salem, Ark., pleaded guilty late Monday before the circuit court to embezzling $17,000 of the funds of the Coal Belt bank, and was immediately sentenced and taken to the Chester penitentiary to serve an indeterminate sentence of from one to 14 years.

Shoots Sister and Self.

"I had an itching, tormenting eczema ever since I came into the world, and I am now a man 55 years old. I tried all kinds of medicines I heard of, but found no relief. I was truly in a frightful condition. At last I broke out all over with red and white boils, which kept growing until they were as big as walnuts, causing great pain and misery, but I kept from scratching as well as I could. I was so run down that I could hardly do my work. I used Cuticura Soap, Ointment, Resolvent, and Pills for about eight months, and I can truthfully say I am cured. John Muir's Simplicity. Once, in a talk with E. H. Harriman, John Muir, author and ranchman, said that he was richer than Mr. Harriman. "I know what you mean," said Mr. Harriman, "but I won't admit it. Don't you think wealth is a good thing for a man?" "Not great wealth—no. Your rich man renounces too much. I would rather lie down at night by an old spring I know up in the Sierras than to own the Waldorf-Astoria—that is, if I had to live in it."—Bookman.

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

LONGING.

I'm sore to distraction on winter,
Its blizzards and boreal blasts
And all of the minor attractions
That come every day while it lasts.
I'm a romantic, I'm fine,
The woe of that brand of weather,
Gee whis, but I'd like to see spring!

The bottomless slush of its thawings
That junco boots for rubbers demand,
The treacherous ice on the sidewalks
When there's a freeze in the land,
The cold snap that comes without warning
And runs up a champion score,
Have made me downhearted and peevish—
Gee whis, as I mentioned before.

Enough of this boating in street cars,
Of swimming to get to the train
Or if there's a shift in the light
Of moving to Greenland from Spain.
I am not out out for a hero
And don't like to put up for coal,
Nor long to go north pole exploring
Each time I go out for a stroll.

Enough is enough, and I'm thinking
That I've had enough long ago,
I'd like to trade blizzards for blossoms,
Get birds for unbeautiful snow,
I'd like to see some one rap winter
And knock that bad boy from the ring.
I'm sore to distraction of winter,
Gee whis, but I'd like to see spring!

The Fruit Stand Race.

"What is this about the Greeks bearing gifts?"
"It seems that you want to beware of them."

"What for?"
"I don't know. Maybe they have a tarantula concealed in the bunch of bananas they want you to take as a gift."

Too Horrible.

"He broke his wife of the notion of joining the women's club."

"How did he do it?"
"Told her it was generally understood they ran to intellect rather than to beauty."

A Suggestion.

"You ought to make your plays as realistic as possible."
"We are constantly striving to that end."

"For instance, for your stage villain you should hire a real live villain to play the part."

"But where could we get such a treasure?"
"You might take that guy out of the box office," said the man who had just had a rampus with him.

Would Consider It.

Some statesmen who the voters woo
With honeyed words and silver voice
For first estate would call it great
If they could land for second choice.

Sad Case.

"Yes, he has had hard luck."
"What happened?"
"He got married."
"And what else?"
"Good gracious, what else do you want?"

A Language Lesson.

"What are you going to do with the horse thief when you catch him?"
"We haven't decided whether we will string him up or shoot him up."

It Sticks.

Within our modest cottage,
Down by the sounding sea,
If we could lose the mortgage
How happy we would be!

What Else Was It?

"He hinted that he was looking for leap year proposals, but she called his bluff."
"What did she call it?"
"A mean old thing."

Making an error is bad enough, but it is nothing in comparison to being an error.

It is one thing to have your own way, but it is more to the purpose to own your own way, as any railroad man will attest.

The man who has a contented wife is generally both a cheerful and a tactful liar.

The patter of the dollars falling into his coffers drowns the cry of the pitiful makers of the lucre in the ears of the millionaire.

If riches really have wings we have often wondered why some of them don't fly to us when we coaxingly warble "Come, birds, come!"

When a man has money to burn he is not so extremely likely to have brains to match.

Every time you get a grouch treat it to the merry ha-ha.

Some people are so radiant that they make a fresh green time landscape look musty and faded.

When in the course of your life old Father Time seems to be willing to assert himself, then is about the time he is getting in his best licks on you.

Occasionally a man appears to stand fire bravely because he is so badly scared that he can't move a finger to tell how terrified he is.

A man who has seemed to be the whole thing will wake up some morning to find there is nothing to it.

It requires a cheerful mind to diagnose the difference between piety and indigestion.

People who talk in their sleep should not attend church lest they find themselves being impolite.

Experience.

Experience—no store there is
That keeps it on the shelf,
A man must knock about the world
And get it for himself.
He cannot, where he gets his shoes,
Procure a large supply,
For he must snatch it here and there,
And oft the price is high.

Another man may go the pace
And, having gone the same,
May tell the raw and younger one
It isn't worth the game.
That doesn't get him anywhere
Nor prove the case, for he,
If it is oft discovered land,
Must go himself and see.

The warning of the ancient one
Falls heedless on the lad,
For he must tread the mill himself
And sift the good from bad.
He cannot use another's eyes
Nor yet another's mind,
But he must jog around himself
And all the wonders find.

Experience to order made,
A sort of hand me down,
Won't do a boy with human blood.
He has to see the town.
It may be, as the others say,
A poor and worthless show,
But he must see it for himself;
Then only will he know.

Sure Cure.

"Poor fellow! He doesn't know beans."
"What would you recommend for his ailment?"
"A year's residence in Boston."

Relieving Distress.

"Is there no place at all in this town where a man can get a drink?" asked the drummer in a low confidential whisper as he leaned over the counter and addressed a heart to heart query to the hardware clerk.

"Sh!" said the other in a mysterious whisper. "Follow me."
"Pretty fierce this prohibition game," said the drummer as he walked along.
"Sh!" responded the hardware clerk. They walked in silence down the street, turned into an alley and, after looking back to see that no one was looking, scooted through a gate.
"There," said the hardware clerk, pointing pleasantly to an iron pump; "help yourself."

Used to It.

"That was a powerful sermon the minister preached this morning."
"Yes, and did you notice that awful Mr. Snoozer slept right through it?"
"Maybe he thought his wife was delivering a curtain lecture."

Modern Transportation.

"Poor Percy! I hear he has lost his fortune."
"Riches take wings, you know."
"His took an automobile."
"He appears to be a very sensitive man."
"He is. It cuts him to the quick to be slighted. He was so afraid his friends would overlook him that he sent himself a comic valentine."

Their Opportunity.

When the kittens their whiskers have curried
And gone to the cat show display,
The mouses no longer are worried,
For that is their season for play.

The fascinating and exasperating thing about youth is its freedom from duty.

Any girl can afford to marry who isn't able to earn her own living and boss her own affairs.

A rolling stone plays havoc with a lot of moss and anything else that may oppose its progress.

You may suspect a woman is getting old, but you never really know it until she begins to try to conceal her age.

If a man had to pay a dollar a hundred for the patience of his wife that he causelessly and needlessly uses up he would be broke in business all the time.

There are people who are able to add immeasurably to our happiness by the simple expedient of keeping away from us.

Women still keep up the work of trying to qualify for the ballot. They have now taken to smoking cigarettes in public.

Some arguments are sound, and others are nothing but sound.

Most of us would be entirely willing to trust the grocer if he would amably return the compliment.

"Is it true that every man has his price?" asked the innocent young thing.

"I am afraid it is," replied Mrs. Worldlywise.

"I wonder what is the price of that handsome youth in the corner with blue eyes and a brown necktie. Find out if you can, and if he doesn't come too high maybe I'll buy him. He looks good to me."

Mrs. Worldlywise just shrugged her shoulders.

B. P. Cox, living on North Second St., Shelbyville, Ill., says: "I think it was about twelve years ago that I felt the first attack which later proved to be kidney trouble. It started with severe pain in the lower part of my back and examination showed the kidneys were affected. The secretions were dark and full of sediment at times. I had dizzy spells and headaches and was languid, had no appetite, could not sleep and was indeed very miserable. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a supply. They gave me such relief that I felt entirely well. A short time after I caught cold and the malady appeared again. I procured Doan's Kidney pills and the symptoms were quickly banished. They never fail to relieve me at once and think them the greatest kidney remedy on earth. I take pleasure in recommending them to other people, knowing them to be reliable."

J. R. Pogue the enterprising druggist, rather than await the ordinary method of introduction, urged the Dr. Howard Co. to secure a quick sale for their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia by offering the regular 50c. bottle at half-price.

So much talk has been caused by this offer and so many new friends have been made for the specific, that the Dr. Howard Co. have authorized druggist J. R. Pogue to continue this special half-price sale for a limited time longer.

In addition to selling a 50c. bottle of Dr. Howard's specific for 25c. J. R. Pogue has so much faith in the remedy that he will refund the money to anyone whom it does not cure.

When your head aches, your stomach does not digest your food easily and naturally, when there is constipation, specks before the eyes, tired feeling, giddiness, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, heartburn, sour stomach, roaring or ringing in the ears, melancholy and liver troubles, Dr. Howard's specific will cure you. If it does not, it will not cost you a cent.

Miss Alta Chipps has given universal satisfaction in the district where she taught this winter, and has been employed to teach the spring term in the same place. Miss Alta is an ambitious, talented girl with energy and push. She will no doubt advance and improve on her work as she becomes more experienced, and aim high in her work.

F. K. Dillman shipped his stock of drugs to East St. Louis, Monday where he will go into business. Mr. Dillman and family made many friends while here. They are a credit to any own or community; in fact we were proud of them. As their homelife, business and social relations were so to make them valued citizens. The school has expressed many regrets at losing the son from their number. But wherever their lot is cast we are sure to hear of them busy in the church and leading a life of integrity and usefulness.

CHURCH SERVICES.

CHRISTIAN.

The second Sunday in March one of the state workers of the Anti-Saloon League will be here to hold a mass meeting in the Christian church at night. All the other churches will join in this service.

The Juniors had a social at the home of John Brosam, in Sunnyside, last Thursday evening. Games were played and light refreshments were served at the close and the Juniors all went home pleased and happy.

The teachers did not meet last Tuesday night on account of the extreme bad weather. This is the first time for many weeks that they had missed.

Mr. Sharp, member of Englewood church Chicago, was here last Sunday and attended both services. This church is one of the best missionary churches of the state. It is not a wealthy church, yet keeps two missionaries in the fields all the time.

BAPTIST.

Last Sunday was a good day for the Baptist church. The attendance the largest since our coming to this church. At the close of the morning service a lady united with the church, also our evening service was blessed by the uniting of a gentleman with the church.

We had the services of Miss Lottie Wolf, as organist, who rendered us some excellent music for which we appreciate her kindness. Our regular organist has moved to the country. We wish to thank her for her help and faithfulness.

There are a great many non church goers in Sullivan, we cordially invite them to attend our services.

PRESBYTERIAN.

Prayer meeting on Wednesday evening; lesson for study sixth and seventh papers in the Sunday School Times on personal work.

The Aid Society will hold its monthly Koffee Klotch this week on Friday afternoon with Mrs. S. T. Butler. A large attendance is expected; all the ladies of the church, and their friends.

The sermon next Sunday morning will be on this topic, "Jesus and the Multitudes" from the text "These need not go away." In the evening the sermon will be on this topic, "Jesus Calling Disciples." Let us not forget this scriptural injunction, "Forsoke not the assembling of yourselves together as the manner of some is."

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.

Public services at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The pastor desires to see all the members and friends at these services.

The Sunday school superintendent distributed the six month reward pins to the Sunday school last Sunday. They are a nice souvenir.

The Bible class met at the parsonage Monday night, and had a good lesson. It will meet next Monday night at the church.

The pastor received an appointment as delegate to the Quadriennial Students Volunteer Missionary convention, an organization composed of all the churches. This organization meets for its first international session in Pittsburgh, Pa., March 12, 1908.

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS

The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation.

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly re-edited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future in the past will be the source of constant reference.

ACROSS THE DESERT

The Funny Things One Sees

Smiling Round the World

By MARSHALL P. WILDER

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowler.)

In Oklahoma we were stilled for a day in a town called Shawnee. The supply on our diner gave out and at this town we had our first experience with local restaurants. We went to the "New England Home Restaurant," so-called. We didn't dare sit down, for fear we'd never get loose again. The sandwiches were made of bread at least two and a half inches thick with a piece of cold fried beefsteak between.

We took a chance at the real thing in hot tomatoes one day. A little boy was selling them at one of the stations. Well, after the first bite, mine fell out of the window. A lean and melancholy dog made a dive for it, gave a sniff and, with a disappointed look, sneaked away, and I didn't blame him. He looked hungry, too.

At one of those little prairie towns that seem to actually leap out of space, they come so suddenly into view, we found our cow in a shed by the station. We made quite a stop here and everyone got out. Several of the passengers wished to follow our custom and buy some milk, and some adventurous ones even essayed the unaccustomed feat of milking her themselves. I was offered the chance to try, but refused, having sore recollections of my first and last attempt to milk.

It was on my uncle's farm up in New York state, and I, wishing to do everything that a real farmer should, desired to enroll milking among my accomplishments. Being of tender years, and with the confidence that usually accompanies that stage of life, I entered the barn for my first lesson, with the utmost nonchalance, and gaily humming a dairy tune. I don't remember how I came out, but I think it was by the elevator. When I first looked at the cow she was all peace and contentment, but when she saw me she looked dissatisfied, and I knew there was a kick coming. She stopped chewing her cud and let it run down the loop—then, after a few minutes, she rang it up again, having decided upon her line of action. Later I discovered that I was on the line, and very near the transmitter.

At the aforementioned Shawnee we began to get some entertainment from our misfortunes. A young man from California, one of those serious fellows, with a face like a deacon, but a fund of humor within, wrote out telegrams containing the most airy flights of imagination, and showed them to the anxious and perspiring passengers, who spent their time pretty equally between swearing at the management of the road and making the poor conductor's life miserable.

One of these telegrams was shown to me. It stated that the herd of elephants belonging to Ringling Bros.

Wrote Telegrams Containing Airy Flights of Imagination.

circus, that was stalled 40 miles away, were to be brought over and take the passengers on their backs across the washouts, where another train would meet them.

Looking around to discover the author of this delicious fiction I was met by a preternaturally solemn glance and a comprehensive wink.

After that we pooled our energies, and when I think of what we made that trainful of passengers believe, not to mention the several other trains we were always meeting, for we were generally stalled seven and eight deep, I am astonished at the credulity of human nature.

We devised one telegram about a number of prairie schooners that were to come over the hills and take us by old Spanish trails far from the washouts. My serious friend showed the message, very secretly, to an excitable little German, who evidently belonged to the Unecda Child company, for he had about a baker's dozen of small children, and a gentle, childlike faith that was truly touching. We assured him that the conductor could let only a few in on this exceptional opportunity, as it would be impossible to take all the passengers. It would be necessary to secure tickets in order to get places, and he'd better do it now—and not let the conductor put him off—just insist.

In great excitement the little man drew to the poor, distracted conductor, and asked him mysteriously for tickets for himself and family.

"Tickets—what tickets?" demanded that long-suffering man.

"Ah, you know—you ken'd fool me—I know all about it, mine frendt," wagging a knowing finger in front of his nose.

"I know, that you must be crazy. I don't know anything about any extra tickets."

"Dot's all right. You don't want to led on, bud I hat been toldt. I wish to get tige'ds for dose prairie vaggons—kast."

"You're crazy!" bellowed the exasperated conductor, to our unholy joy. "Who'n Sam Hill told you anything about prairie waggons? You've been out in the sun too long, Dutchy; go to bed and put ice on your head."

The monotony of our trip was further varied by the arrival at one station of a lady of the peroxide tint of blonde, who smuggled in a small monkey and a large-sized flask. The monkey was hidden beneath the berth, so she would not have to put him in the baggage car.

"Covered Her Head with a Blanket When I Pointed My Camera at Her."

The greatest excitement ensued; nightgown and lingerie (I trust I use the right word) were in great evidence. Everyone asked everyone else what the trouble was, but none seemed to know.

Finally the mystery was solved. The blonde lady pleaded on her knees in very maudlin accents that the hard-hearted conductor would not send her precious pet to the baggage car; but he was obdurate, and poor Chico was banished to the accompaniment of his mistress' sobs.

At El Paso we were stalled all one Sunday; but with the expectation of leaving every moment. A bull fight was on, over in Mexico, just across the river, but we dared not go for fear of being left by our train.

From El Paso we kept north across the arid table lands, the low hills, like crumpled, rusty tin, lying along the horizon. They are treasure houses of copper, these hills, and every few miles, a mine opening may be seen perched high up on a hillside, a short spur of the railway leading to it.

Crossing the desert between Tucson and Fort Yuma, we ran into a sand storm. The fine sand sifted into every smallest opening and made breathing well-nigh impossible. Fortunately it did not last long. We had only run into a corner of it, and were soon out.

The desert showed us several of her capricious moods, for presently we were treated to a most perfect mirage. Apparently a lake or broad river in the desert, with little islets and rocks mirrored in the most beautiful, cool and wettest looking water imaginable.

Fort Yuma claims the distinction of being the hottest place in the union. A story is told of a soldier who lived there, and died. The night after his death his spirit appeared to some of his comrades at their camp fire. They asked him what he wanted, and he said Hades was so much colder than Yuma he had come back for his blanket.

It certainly lived up to its reputation the day we were there.

A number of Indians were seated by the platform displaying articles of beadwork for sale. They object strenuously to being photographed—thinking the camera has the evil eye, and while it takes their portrait will also steal away their soul.

However, these scruples can be overcome at the rate of 50 cents a scruple. Who says the commercial instinct lurks not in the breast of the Indian?

One old woman, who was said to be a hundred and four years old, covered her head with her blanket when I pointed my camera at her. For her entertainment I did a little sleight-of-hand work, making the pass with a quarter, pretending to swallow it, then picking it off her blanket, finally rubbing it into my trouser leg and made it disappear entirely.

I only succeeded in frightening the poor old creature almost to death. She clasped her hands in fear, made the sign of the cross, crooked her fingers to avert the evil eye, and, pointing to me, put her fingers to her head like horns, indicating that I was a gentleman extremely well-known but of unsavory reputation.

Leaving these interesting remnants of the great race that once owned the land, we continued upon our sadly interrupted journey.

TURNING VANITY INTO MONEY

By JOHN R. THOMPSON,
Treasurer Cook County, Illinois.

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowler.)

Why is it that thousands of intelligent men working for salaries or for wages are investing their savings in the stocks of wildcat companies against the advice of friends competent to advise them and in the face of their own better judgment?

The obvious answer is: Because they expect to profit greatly by the investment—to "get rich quick," as the common saying puts it. This is only half the answer, and the other half—often the more powerful—is seldom brought out.

It can be stated in one small word—Vanity.

This is not flattery to the investors who have defied the sober counsel of experienced men of affairs and who have stifled their own natural forebodings and sense of caution, but the fact remains that vanity has, in hundreds of thousands of cases, been the one factor which has turned the tables against reason, judgment and good counsel and emptied the pockets of the wage earner and the salary worker into the coffers of the fake investment shark.

When the bait thrown out is equally attractive to the cupid and the vanity of human nature the catch is almost certain—and the cleanness with which the latter human weakness is understood by the sharpers who lie in wait for the surplus savings of those who do the world's hand work, is evidenced by the fact that the literature sent out to lure the unwary is full of phrases like this:

"Why not become an associate of men who are doing things? We want your influence in your community. The men who are in this enterprise are known in the business world and they desire cooperation of others who are capable of broad and independent judgment, of men like yourself who can see beyond the rim of a silver dollar and appreciate large opportunities, men of constructive abilities who are ready to take a hand in the development of one of the greatest enterprises of the present day. Your advice, influence and cooperation are more valuable to us than your money."

When this appeal is put to a man who has always worked under others, who has never been consulted by a business man, whose opinions on business matters have never been asked by any person outside his own family circle, the temptation to a new and delightful feeling of self-importance is almost inevitable. There is not a clerk bending over a desk or a counter, a mechanic working at his lathe or bench, or a laborer toiling in street or field who has not at times felt that he has had ideas about some feature of business worth considering, who has not harbored a secret longing to have a place and standing among the men who pull the wires which move the machinery of business. When such a man—and his kind is legion—receives one of these artful and insinuating appeals to his vanity he is rarely poised and gifted with common sense above his fellows if he does not feel that at last he has come into his own; that his abilities have finally been appreciated and that the stranger in the business world has understood him better than his associates, his neighbors, his familiar friends and those under whom he works. The flattery of this appeal outweighs its shallow janness and its obvious and cheap insincerity. But the real cunning of this attack upon his vanity is the fact that it appeals to his "independent judgment" and classifies him among the men who see things shrewdly and in a big way and who scorn timidity. If he listens to this argument—and generally he does—he feels a new sense of self-importance and of independence and a corresponding disinclination to listen to the advice of those whose familiarity with business and finance would enable him to steer clear of the rocks of disaster. His judgment is pitted against theirs and he is aroused to a determination to "show them" that his opinion is better than theirs.

This antagonism against the reception of advice from men of experience is the one thing which the investment sharper most desires to awaken in the prospective victim, for it will prevent him not only from seeking sound advice but from acting upon it when it is put in his way.

The schemers who have learned how irresistibly the argument of "manage for yourself" appeals to the man who has never had a chance to try his hand at managing a business have not stopped at this point; they have also learned that men in the humbler walks of life are clamorous and inclined to think and act together. Along with this they have realized that it is easier and cheaper to hunt their game in flocks and droves than singly. When the sportsman wishes to get a big bag of game and get it quickly he goes after the birds which travel in flocks. So with these gunners who are adepts in the use of decoys and "calls." They arrange their "bunts in line with this idea of clamor, of mass movement, and use the ammunition of "act for yourself" so that every shot will be a "hot shot."

Here is an example of how this kind of financial sportsmanship is prosecuted: Some time ago an inventor brought out a machine for the making of print paper from the pith of corn-stalks. So far as making an impressive, scientific demonstration was concerned, the device was admirable, but when it came to its ability to compete commercially with wood pulp mills and their products, that was a problem that did not greatly concern the promoters with whom the inventor and patentee became associated. So long as the machine did its demonstration work with convincing plausibility their immediate purpose was fully met. The paper production in which they were most concerned was that upon which the handsome stock certificates of the company were printed.

He immediately turned his gun upon wage workers of the printers and paper trades.

By personal solicitation and printed literature he plied the members of these trades with the argument: "Make this your own industry! Here is the opportunity for you to keep in your own hands the thing which is going to revolutionize the paper business just as the typesetting machine has revolutionized the printers' craft. You can, by coming in now, with a small investment per man, place yourselves in control of an industry which will hold in its grip a product of millions of dollars a year—a product upon which the whole paper and printing world depends for its existence."

This was an argument which every man in the mechanical department of a newspaper or a commercial printing establishment, and every paper mill or paper company, could understand. It met him on his own ground and he began to see visions of himself as one of the "powers" in the very industry in which he was an obscure wage worker. What a turning of the tables there would be when the world awakened to the fact that this great "revolutionizing invention" was controlled by the men at the type case and machines, the printing presses, the stereotyping tables, the pulp vats and the paper warehouses! Then the "last" would become first, the paper industry would be ruled by the men from the bottom of business; the journeyman would be the magnate and would know the feeling of power and authority!

By scores and hundreds the wage workers in these trades rallied to this cry and the leaders among them were "taken care of" in a way which made them feel that they had already come into their own. These bell-wethers of the craft marshaled their followings with a sincere confidence that they were leading the way to a financial Utopia and the promoters rubbed their hands in satisfaction at the rate at which their illuminated stock certificates were demanded by the workers who wanted to become captains of industry and "manage for themselves." Certain "subsidiary" and "allied" companies were organized for the purpose of giving more of these men official position—to distribute to a wider number the thrill that comes from putting a hand on the pilot wheel of "affairs."

The outcome of this revolution to place the trusting wage worker in the control of an industry of his own is fully covered by the suggestion that the farmer is still "plowing under" the dead cornstalks upon which the news of the world was to have been printed. Meantime hundreds of faithful workers in the printing and paper trades are finding it more difficult to "manage" their own personal finances because of the deficit created by the investment which was to "make the industry their own."

The ambition of the wage earner and the man on salary to better his condition, to "make his surplus work for him," to find a broader expression for his individuality and abilities in a business way is both natural and commendable; but he will make a poor start in the line of that ambition if he fails to realize, at the outset, that finance is as much a technical trade as that which the typesetter, the mason, the carpenter, the machinist or the plumber follows, and that it would be no more absurd for the banker or the man of finance to attempt to set a galley of type, lay a brick wall or serve at a machinist's lathe without a technical training, an apprenticeship, than for the journeyman in any of these crafts to take a financial operation, no matter how modest, into his own hands, independent of the guiding council of the man who knows the ropes of finance. And the investment in a stock or a bond is a transaction in "finance" in the strict and full sense of the term.

The man of small means, unschooled in the ways of finance, might just as safely hand his pocket money or his savings bank account over to an utter stranger who promises to meet him at a certain place, at some future time, and give him something valuable in return, as to put his money into the stocks and alleged securities which are being foisted upon the public today by the beating of publicity drums and the blare of promotion trumpets. One of these transactions does not require a whit greater stretch of credulity than the other.

Let the man who has an ambition to manage his small savings keep steadily in mind the fact that the concern whose literature or solicitors attempt to influence him against seeking the advice of men familiar with the ins and outs of finance is an enemy to his welfare and unable to stand the light of investigation. The man or the company having something to sell which is sound and worthy has no need to make an underhand appeal to prejudice and vanity in an effort to prevent you from seeking counsel from those of experience.

Shrewd Rascal Made Good Thing Out of Whistling Geese.

Two rogues passed a poultry shop. Seeing two geese hung up for sale one of the rogues inserted in the gullet of the geese a little bulb with whistle attached. When the bulb was pressed the whistle sounded.

Then, entering the store, he told the proprietor that he had hanging outside a very rare kind of whistling goose. The proprietor at once sold the geese for a big sum to a very learned professor, who was astonished to hear about the whistling geese. Seeking the man who had placed the whistle in the gullet of the bird, the proprietor asked him if he knew where others like it could be obtained.

"Well," said the crafty fellow, "I know of only one place, and if you will pay me a big price I will get several for you."

So the rogue brought a dozen fowls, in the gullet of each of which he thrust a whistle, and was paid an exorbitant price for them before the hoax was discovered.

HER CHOICE OF DEMISE.
Pathetic Thought of Little Girl Who Had Lost Playmate.

Mary had for neighbor a small playmate, a much-loved and attractive boy. The little lad rushed across the street one day, throwing back a glance at his mother. At that instant a trolley car swept around the corner and the resulting tragedy threw the town into mourning. Each family wept as though its own son had been lost. Mary was utterly inconsolable and, little as she had previously known of death, realized in a childish way the added horror of this one. In her convulsive grief, and while her father and mother sat with sobs in their throats and tears overflowing, Mary straightened up and sobbed:

"Mother, when I die I hope it will be of a disease and not of a damage!"

A Nature Student.
The faculty with which the New York child grasps the "new idea" in matters educational is charmingly illustrated in a composition recently penned by a six-year-old. Her teacher had asked for brief compositions on "Animals I Have Seen." This is the result, written in the present day vertical penmanship:

"Do you see the little robin swinging on the tree? Do you see the little goldfish swimming in the bowl? Who teased these two to fly so beautifully together? Who struck the feathers on their breasts? 'Twas God—'Twas God. He done it."

Modus Vivendi.
The handsome but impecunious young chap who had married the rich and elderly widow began to hint that it was time to give him the control of her funds and the management of her estate.

"Launcelot," she said, "I shall allow you a sufficient income for the supply of your wants, but I expect to keep my business affairs in my own hands. This is not a consolidation. This is a limited partnership."

HOW DO THEY GET IN?
Physiological Problem That Nora Could Not Solve.

A Philadelphia physician tells of an amusing conversation between two Irish girls in domestic service who, while on the board walk at Atlantic City one day not long ago, were exchanging views as to their various physical ailments.

"It's a strange thing, ain't it, Nora," asked one of the girls, "how many new kinds of diseases people get these days. Only this mornin' I were readin' an advertisement of a new medicine. It said it were wonderful for a sluggish liver."

"Gwan!" exclaimed the other girl, scornfully. "Liver trouble ain't no new disease. Me own grandfather was havin' liver trouble when I were not more'n tin years old."

"Maybe," was the laconic response. "But," added Nora, "what I want to know is: how do them slugs get inside the liver, anyhow?"—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

TOO MUCH.

Eddie—I don't mind so much dat I quit smokin' 'cause you ast me ter, but ter be refused after I'd gone an' washed me handsome face for a week straight—well, honest, I didn't think it of yer.

Chance for Conversion.
In the ante-bellum days, when Anson P. Morrill of Maine was making his first run for congress, a henchman of his opponent met an old minister of that section slowly jogging along the road on his old horse and hailed him with: "Who are you going to vote for?" "Well," said the old man, "I thought I should give Anson a vote. Anson has good timber in him, I believe." "Oh, but I don't see how you can vote for him! Don't you know he's a Universalist? He doesn't believe in a hell!" With a quiet twinkle in his eye the old man said: "We'll send him to Washington. When he has served his two years if he doesn't believe in a hell I shall be very much surprised."

Dogs to Watch Churches.
Ever since the robbery of a valuable Van Dyck at Courtauld the churches of Bruges, which contain so many treasures, have taken extraordinary measures to prevent similar losses.

At the Church of Notre Dame, Bruges, a watchman perambulates the church at night accompanied by a dog. A similar course is adopted at the Cathedral of St. Saviour and other churches.

Three Alarming Symptoms.
Physician—Madam, I can find no traces of disease in this boy of yours. What made you think he was ill?
Mother—Well, doctor, he behaved in such an odd manner when he came home from school. He spoke kindly to his little sister, didn't kick the cat and offered to carry coal for me.

The Winning Smile.
"Say, Mag," said Mame, "I don't see how you got so stuck on him. He ain't good-looking nor nothin'."
"I know he ain't," replied the lovely Maggie, "but didn't yer never notice what a lot of gold he's got in his teeth?"

Make Ideals Practical.
We may not realize our ideals, but we may always idealize our realities, and our ideals must be practical if we are to make a religion of them, and live by them.—Helen Keller.

Recent Happenings of Interest in the Various Cities and Towns.

GAY STUDENTS ARE PUNISHED.

Two Hedding College Youths Expelled and Others Suspended.

Galesburg. — President McVey of Hedding college, Abingdon, announced the expulsion of Ben Thurman of London Mills, Morris Robinson of Viola and Lloyd McLeish of Buda, the suspension of two others and the exclusion of two young men and five young women from all social privileges for the rest of this term. This drastic action grows out of a series of violations of regulations. One of the college doors was spirited away recently and cannot be found. Then a company of the young men and women broke into the gymnasium and danced from ten p. m. to one a. m. The last misdemeanor was the tying of Clarence Robinson to a tree the night of the blizzard. President McVey hinted that if such acts were continued the civil authorities would be asked to act.

WESTERFELD HEADS RETAILERS.

Chicago Man Chosen President by Illinois Merchants' Convention.

Dixon. — The Illinois Retail Merchants, in convention here, voted to hold the next convention at East St. Louis. Ottawa and Monmouth were strong bidders for the meeting.

The following officers were chosen: President, Sol Westerfeld, Chicago; first vice president, W. H. Joesting, Alton; second vice president, John Trainer, Joliet; third vice president, Joe Petersberger, Dixon; treasurer, T. Schmid, Chicago; directors, H. G. Cormick, Centralia; George Lutz, East St. Louis.

Resolutions were passed condemning the parcels post and the postal savings bank.

Carries Secret to Grave.

Bloomington. — His tongue, palsied so as to prevent his telling attendants the location of his wealth, Benjamin Scull, an eccentric citizen of Warren county, went to his grave, and no one knows the secret. Scull is believed to have left a fortune buried in the ground near his humble home and the amount is estimated at from $25,000 to $75,000. A few days before his death, and when he realized for the first time apparently that his time had come, he frantically sought to reveal the secret. He had lost control of his tongue, however, and his secret died with him.

Fleed Gets Light Sentence.

Lincoln. — Abby Page pleaded guilty in the circuit court to a charge of burglary and was sentenced to the penitentiary at Chester under the indeterminate sentence law. Page, in company with Albert Wehr and another man, entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Mundy September 8, 1907, and when they failed to find money bound and gagged the aged couple. They then tortured them until they revealed the hiding place of their savings, amounting to $100.

Revival an Immense Success.

Champaign. — Citizens of Pleison celebrated the ending of revival services and the conversion of most of the population of the village by making a bonfire of the furniture of the only poolroom in the town. Church people assembled about the fire and prayed and sang.

Ends Life at Dining Table.

Granite City. — While boarders were seated around the dining table Tasho Tartanoss, a Greek, remarked casually: "I am a crack shot; I can shoot so well that I believe I will kill myself." He quickly drew a revolver and shot himself through the heart.

Decide to Build High School.

Belleville. — The Southern Illinois district of the Evangelical synod has decided to build a high school, and at the next district convention a site is to be chosen. The location is to be near but not in St. Louis, and the school will cost $75,000.

SHUK Must Die.

Chicago. — Herman Bilik, the hypnotist convicted of poisoning five members of the Vrsal family, was refused further delay in the execution of the death sentence by the supreme court.

Drove on Tracks in Storm.

Moline. — A blinding snowstorm hiding an oncoming train, Albert Erickson drove on the railway tracks and was instantly killed. His companion, Gust Liden, was seriously injured.

BABY IS SLAIN; PARENTS HELD.

Mystery in Killing of Two-Weeks-Old Child of Salvation Army Ensign.

Rock Island. — Ensign and Mrs. Robert Booth, in charge of the Salvation Army post here, were held by the coroner, accused of murdering their two-weeks-old son, who was found dead in their bedroom. There was a fearful gash in the child's neck. Booth contends that the child was murdered by some unknown person who left the door open, and a bloody razor was found on a table. The wife tells of a dream during the night that she was attacked by a snake which she killed with a knife. The police have a theory that the woman killed the child in a fit of insanity. The mother is 18 years old. The couple came here recently from Monmouth, Ill.

WIDOWS APPEAL FOR HELP.

Many Take Advantage of Offer of Dwight Philanthropist.

Dwight. — The unidentified philanthropist of Dwight, who offered financial assistance to needy widows, has received more than 300 applications. The offer plainly stated that only widows residing in the corporate limits of Dwight need apply. The applications, however, come from all over the country. The applications are made through the cashier of the Dwight bank, and he is pledged to keep the identity of the philosopher a secret.

Increase in County's Expenses.

Springfield. — Attorney Edmund Burke, member of the board of supervisors, is busy preparing various expenses of the county for the fiscal year ending in December, 1907. The record shows that the county juried for the year cost $7,688.40 as to $5,308.90 the year previous. Mr. Burke stated that the pauper expense was running away above the amount of the year previous and that some investigation would probably be made. The amount expended for this cause will run over $30,000 as compared with $23,000 the previous year.

Fed Snowballs to Baby.

Danville. — John Owens, miner, returned home to find his wife feeding their 18-months-old baby, who was ill of croup, snowballs. ## STATE GAME FARM

ONE OF THE MOST INTERESTING OF OUR INSTITUTIONS.

Was First Suggested as the Result of a Legislator's Joke—Now Doing Good Work for the State.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 17.—Near the village of Auburn, 16 miles south of the state capital, is one of the most interesting institutions owned by the commonwealth of Illinois. It is the state game farm, and as an experiment in the work of preserving, propagating and increasing the game of a vast extent of territory, its progress is being watched with interest by sportsmen, naturalists and all lovers of out-door life.

Augustus Nohe, once a member of the legislature, and an inveterate joker, is credited with being responsible for the state game farm. Years ago it was the delight of Nohe to fill the ears of new and credulous members of the assembly with misinformation regarding the privileges and perquisites of legislators and to send them in search of all manner of articles.

One day a new member came into the secretary of state's office and asked for an order for a bird dog. Mr. Nohe, he said, had informed him that the state had a game farm, where bird dogs were bred and that every member of the assembly was entitled to one. The story got out and the unfortunate victim of the joke was for a long time the butt of legislative ridicule.

The story of the game farm became stock legislative gossip. Whether it afterwards suggested the establishing of a farm for the propagation of game is not known certainly, but Nohe's fantastic tale to the untried member will always be accounted the beginning of the present institution. What was the n regarded as a most ridiculous absurdity, is to-day a substantial, sober reality. There is nothing suggestive of levity in the Illinois state game farm.

Real Farm Established.

The preserve was established by Dr. John A. Wheeler, the state game commissioner. It consists of a tract of 400 acres, of which 200 acres are inclosed with wire netting. The situation is an ideal one for game propagation, the land being well drained and abundantly supplied with forest trees, which give protection to the young birds in summer. An effort has been made to preserve, so far as possible, the natural condition of the land. On the farm are two cottages, occupied by the head game keepers. There are also two tents which are occupied in the summer months by assistant keepers. The latter are required to sleep in the rearing field of the young birds as a protection against vermin which would prey upon the birds, and to be of assistance during the heavy rain and windstorms. An additional protection is afforded by a kennel of dogs outside the fence.

Every species of bird is represented on the preserve. A specialty is made of raising wild turkeys, wild geese, wild ducks, Hungarian partridges, Bob White quail and English and Chinese ring-neck pheasants. This year nearly 12,000 pheasant hens will be kept on the farm. This number of hens should within a year lay in the neighborhood of 60,000 eggs. Last season between 7,000 and 8,000 pheasants and 20,000 eggs were distributed throughout the state.

The species of pheasants on the farm at the present time of the fancy or aviary varieties are the phasianus mongolian pheasant, Phasianus Versicolor or Green Japanese pheasant, Phasianus reevesii or Reeves pheasant, Thaumalea picta or Golden pheasant, Thaumalea Amherstiae or Lady Amherst pheasant, Euplocamus nythemus or Silver pheasant, Crossophylus manchuricus or Eared pheasant, Lop hophorus impeyanus or Impeyan pheasant, Calophapsis ellioti, or Elliot's pheasant and the melanotus or black pheasant. Among the pheasants which are known as the game pheasant and which are sent out by the department to the various counties in the state are the Phasianus colchicus or common pheasant, the Phasianus torquatus or Chinese Ring-Neck pheasant and English Ring-Neck pheasant.

Farm Distributes Thousands.

It is expected by the department that they will be able to distribute 6,000 Hungarian partridges and from 12,000 to 15,000 pheasants in the state from their own rearing this year.

The pens in which the pheasants are kept for breeding purposes are 12 by 16 feet. In each pen is placed a pheasant cock and from three to five hens. The birds are fed and watered twice a day while in these pens. The eggs from the breeding hens are gathered each night, each pen being numbered and the eggs from the pens set down in a book kept for that purpose. The pheasants kept in confinement average from 40 to 50 eggs during the season. Pheasant hens are never allowed to set on their own eggs when in captivity. This insures laying throughout the season. The eggs are hatched out under the common barnyard hen. A medium-sized barred rock hen, it is found, makes the best mother for young pheasants. Great care is taken in feeding the pheasants several days after they are hatched. With the much increased number of pheasants next year it is thought by the department that an open season can be given next year on the cock pheasant.

Another bird which has recently been imported for distribution throughout Illinois and especially in the northern counties is the Perdix Cinerea or Hungarian partridge. This hearty bird will thrive under adverse physical and climatic conditions; offers the best sport for the gunner and is also a choice bird to bag for the table. It is also of inestimable value to the farmer as an insect destroyer. It is about the size of our native Bob White quail, and in general coloring resembles it very much. Their flight is about as swift as the Bob White quail.

Bird Becomes a Favorite.

The Hungarian partridge ranges over European western and central Asia, is found in sunny Italy as well as in cold Scandinavia, thereby showing its adaptability to all climates. This bird rarely wanders away from the spot in which it was raised, nor does it off-spring stray away. This characteristic with its extreme hardiness, high prolificacy, make it the most preferred game bird for stocking the state. It lies well to the hunting dog and when flushed, as a rule, the covey divides, thus allowing the sportsman to work his dog on single birds, which greatly increases the pleasure of the gunner.

The hen has far bested the incubator in several trial hatches conducted on the preserve, and as a result the former is now used exclusively. One thousand hens are in general use for setting purposes. An average of from 60 to 65 birds are generally secured from 100 eggs.

Probably the hardest bird to raise and keep is the common prairie chicken. After an extensive search of America and Canada last year in an effort to secure some of this species, 25 eggs were secured and the result was 15 chickens. The chicks appeared to be as tame as the ordinary hen's product and because of this the attendants neglected to clip their wings, and when they were sufficiently old they flew away. Trapping, under the supervision of the farm, is in progress now in an effort to secure another consignment of this bird.

Birds Are Fed Carefully.

The feeding of birds on the farm is a quite delicate matter and is looked after with particular attention. One injudicious feeding when the birds were young is known to have killed hundreds of them. For the first ten days the young smaller birds are fed on custard and stale bread crumbs. Then follows a saving diet of prepared meals. When the birds reach the age of one month they are fed canary and hemp seed. After a ten-days' feed of this their stomachs are supposed to have become accustomed to general food and they are given a range run on the farm, where small grains and weed seeds are plentiful.

The farm is not without its pests. The worst of these is the common house cat. In the first 18 months the farm was in operation many of them were killed by attendants. Other pests quite troublesome on the preserve are the weasel, mink, rat, skunk, opossum, coon, blue jay, owl and hawk. There is a grove nearby the farm that in the winter months shelters a million crows.

Yields State Good Income.

The cost of maintaining the farm is considered insignificant when the results are weighed. The state appropriates but $10,000 yearly for the operation of the preserve, while it in an indirect manner reimburses the state in the hunters' license money turned into the state coffers each year. The preserve is regarded as the most complete and efficient in the United States. It consists of 320 acres of good land. This land has been leased for a period of ten years, and but one year of the lease has expired.

The farm is located quite conveniently, and as a consequence visitors are numerous. In the summer months it presents a most picturesque appearance.

Dr. J. A. Wheeler is the present game commissioner. He has deputies in every county who aid in the enforcement of the game laws.

Last of Famous Corps.

A pathetic, almost historic, little function was held in Paris recently, when, probably for the last time, the few survivors of the famous old "Cent Guard" met at luncheon. The "Hundred Guards," whose number was much larger than their name implies, formed the personal bodyguard of Emperor Napoleon III. Every man among them had to be over five feet 11 inches in height and broad in proportion. Most of the survivors are well over six feet. To-day there are but 20 still alive, and of the 30 not more than 22 are free from the infirmities of old age. The youngest is M. Boutin, inspector general of the municipality of Monaco, who is 55.

Our Springfield Letter

Special Correspondent Writes of Things of Interest at the State Capital.

Springfield. — Chairman Roy O. West of the state Republican central committee issued the call for the state convention, to be held March 26 at Springfield. The call follows in part: "The said state convention shall be composed of delegates from the several counties of the state of Illinois, to be nominated and elected from the respective counties by the respective county central committees of the state. Provided however, that in Cook county the said delegates shall be nominated and elected for the respective wards and committeemen's districts by their respective county committeemen. The number of delegates and the manner of their selection will be as is hereinafter provided. The basis of representation for the several counties shall be one delegate for every 400 votes cast for the Republican electors in 1904 and one delegate for each additional fraction of 200 or more." The total number of delegates to be credited to the convention is 1,532.

Important Insurance Ruling.

A person has the right to select such tribunal having jurisdiction as he chooses for the prosecution of his rights, and the court which first obtains jurisdiction will retain it. This law is laid down by the supreme court in affirming the lower court's decision in an appeal of the Royal League against Anna Sexton Kavanagh. On the same line the court says that such jurisdiction cannot be defeated because the defendant may prefer another tribunal in which he supposes the decision will be more favorable to him. Thomas W. Kavanagh, the woman's husband, had a $4,000 policy in the Royal League and committed suicide. The widow resided in Chicago, but sought to bring suit in Missouri. Officers of the league sought to restrain her from suing anywhere except in Illinois. An injunction was asked on the ground that the Missouri court of appeals had held that an anti-suicide by-law adopted subsequent to the issuing of a policy is not binding upon that policyholder, these being the circumstances in the Kavanagh case.

Will Vote in Many Townships.

Announcement was made by Attorney Scrogin of the Illinois Anti-Saloon league that voters in 1,033 townships in the state will cast ballots on the saloon question at the April election. In the 84 counties in which a vote will be had there are 1,365 townships, and 1,083 have already reported a vote will be had, with about 200 more yet to report. When the reports are all in the number of townships voting on the proposition will be increased. In the Springfield district, composed of 26 counties in the central part of the state, 91 per cent. of the townships have already reported to Attorney Scrogin that petitions have been filed for a vote at the spring election. Gov. Hanly of Indiana will speak in Springfield during the anti-saloon campaign.

Picketing Declared Unlawful.

The action of the superior court of Cook county granting an injunction to the A. B. Barnes Printing company of Chicago against Chicago Typographical union No. 16, restraining the union from picketing the plant of the Barnes company, was upheld by the supreme court. The court held that no sanction could be given to combinations, either of employers or employees, which have for their immediate purpose the injury of another. The court held that the law allowed laborers to combine for the purpose of obtaining lawful benefits, but that picketing was unlawful. Justices Scott and Farmer dissented.

McEwen Case Goes Over.

Chief Justice Hand in the supreme court denied several motions in the certiorari case against the superior court of Cook county and Judge W. M. McEwen, and the case went over to the next term of court. Attorney for Judge McEwen, made a motion for leave to file a reply brief to the brief of the attorney general. The motion was granted and Judge McEwen was given five days in which to file the reply brief.

Gubernatorial Appointments.

Gov. Deneen reappointed the members of the Illinois Improvement association as follows: Isham G. Randolph of Chicago, H. V. Johnson of Ottawa, and H. M. Schmidt of Beardstown. The governor also appointed John Dunlop of Carbondale as state mine inspector for the third district, to succeed James Taylor of Peoria, resigned.

Liquor Interests Lose Point.

The liquor interests which are backing the fight against the constitutional amendment of the local option law in the supreme court, suffered a setback when that tribunal refused to allow the attorneys representing the liquor men an extension of time until March 16 to file briefs. The case is that of the people against McBride, a saloon-keeper of Randolph county, who violated the new law in order to make a test. The attorney general recently obtained an extension of time until March 1 to file briefs answering the arguments of the liquor interests that the law is unconstitutional. The liquor men, however, are granted an extension of five days' time from March 1 to file reply briefs.

Deneen Signs Primary Bill.

Gov. Deneen signed the Jones-Oglesby direct plurality primary bill, which now becomes a law, to take effect July 1. Attorney General Stead gave an opinion on the form of the measure without going into any questions relating to constitutionality. The new law, which will apply the idea of direct primaries to nearly every office on which a public election is held, will be given its first test in August, when primaries will be held on the offices to be filled at the November elections. Nominations will be by direct vote without intervening conventions, and for the first time in the history of the state the machinery of the parties themselves will be selected by the voters.

Puts Limit to City's Power.

"Unlimited power assumed by city councils in defining anti-saloon territory, to be exercised according to the will and caprice of officials, is inconsistent with our system of government," says the Illinois supreme court in reversing the judgment of the circuit court of Vermillion county in the case of William A. Moore, a saloon-keeper, against the mayor and city council of Danville. Moore was refused a license on the ground that the territory where his saloon was located had been designated by the council as "dry." The circuit court upheld the city authorities, but the supreme court reversed the judgment.

Requisition for Howard Ogilvie.

Gov. Deneen issued a requisition on the governor of Pennsylvania for the return to Chicago of Howard Ogilvie, alias Osborne, alias Brandt, alias Bryant, who is wanted there on the charge of working the confidence game. It is alleged that on August 19, 1907, Ogilvie secured $15 at the drug store of Robert L. Leffingwell at Evanston, by giving a check for that amount on the City National bank at Evanston, which refused to honor the same, the bank officers saying that Ogilvie had drawn all the money he had in the bank out on July 1.

Scalded in Lincoln Asylum.

As the result of carelessness of an attendant, Harry Hinkley, a 34-year-old patient in the asylum for feeble-minded children at Lincoln, suffered severe scalds to his feet. The attendant, James A. Simmons, was at once discharged by Superintendent E. G. Hardt. Hinkley's injury was occasioned through Simmons permitting one patient to bathe another in the absence of an attendant, thus violating one of the rules.

Illinois Insurance Men Meet.

The annual convention of the Illinois Association of Fire Underwriters was held here. President S. D. Sexton of East St. Louis made his annual address, showing that the fire underwriting business had been prosperous in Illinois the past year. The attitude of the state of Illinois toward fire insurance was dwelt on in an address by Fred W. Potter, insurance superintendent of the state.

Insane Person Again Stricken.

Word was received from Macomb that former Secretary of State Jesse N. Pearson, who was stricken with paralysis a week ago, had sustained another stroke at his home. His condition is critical.

Illinois Banker Dies.

Oswell Skiles, banker and stock broker, died at his home in Virginia, aged 79 years. He owned banks in Virginia, Ashland and Chandlerville.

Have Failed to Obey Law.

Five thousand corporations in Illinois have failed to file at Springfield the reports required by law and are in danger of losing their charters.

It Saved My Life, Writes Eczema Patient

Bed-ridden sufferer completely cured by use of D. D. D. external wash. One of the most remarkable eczema cures recently credited to the well known D. D. D. Prescription has just been recorded in Chicago. Mrs. E. Hoeg, 1550 West Madison street, under date of Dec. 9, 1901, writes as follows: "I suffered three years with weeping eczema. It started with a little spot on my knee and spread fast over my whole body. I spent hundreds of dollars and went to every good doctor I heard of, but kept getting worse. Nothing would stop the awful itch and burnings. I had to stay in bed from the middle of May to the middle of July. Then I tried D. D. D. Prescription. This is the 9th of Dec. and I am entirely free from the terrible disease. D. D. D. saved my life. When I began this treatment, people were afraid of me I looked so terrible. My husband was the only one who would take care of me; D. D. D. stopped the itch at once so I could sleep, which I had not done before. Then I began to get better fast and now my skin is clear and white, not a spot anywhere. Just a few drops of D. D. D. Prescription applied to the skin brings relief—nothing to swallow or drink. We touch for D. D. D. Prescription, also the cleansing B. D. D. Soap. Sold by Sam B. Hall, Sullivan, Ill. Get a bottle today if you have skin disease. Begin your cure at once.

Desperate Coughs

Dangerous coughs. Extremely perilous coughs. Coughs that rasp and tear the throat and lungs. Coughs that shake the whole body. You need a regular medicine, a doctor's medicine, for such a cough. Ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Any good doctor will tell you that a medicine like Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cannot do its best work if the bowels are constipated. Ask your doctor if he knows anything better than Ayer's Pills for correcting this sluggishness of the liver.

H. C. Strader received a letter recently from C. C. Parker stating that he was preparing to move to his farm of 240 acres in southern Iowa the first of March.
