DESPONDENT; KILLS SELF

Bart Whalen Shoots Himself in a Hospital at Chicago Wednesday Evening

Bart Whalen shot himself in a hospital in Chicago at 8 p. m. on Wednesday. He died from the wound sometime Thursday, and the body was sent here for burial. We do not know at this writing, but have been informed that it will be sometime Saturday.

Bart had suffered a paralytic stroke and had been in a hospital for treatment, but had sufficiently recovered to be able to resume his work.

This is almost heart-rending to the poor mother who has suffered so much affliction. A few months ago a daughter died in an insane asylum, and about four years ago a son, Samuel, was drowned.

The deceased is survived by his aged mother, three sisters and one brother, Everett, in Benson, Arizona.

A Pretty Home

P. J. Patterson has been at his wonted spring work, that of improving his home. He resides in the large two story brick, southeast of town, built by his father, Donte Patterson, fifty years ago. All the walls partition as well as outside are thirteen inches thick, solid brick. The painters that painted the exterior say that every brick in the wall is whole, solid and good, not a faulty brick visible. The roof of cypress has been on forty years and bids fair to wear a long while yet. The woodwork, doors, window casings, etc. are of black walnut.

The body of the exterior of the house was painted yellow trimmed with white, while around the beautiful lawn is a picket fence painted white. Near the house are ten out-buildings which are painted red.

It has the appearance of a little village. A person would have to look around quite a little to find a more attractive appearing home.

Roney and Patterson done the painting.

Shrine Organized

Mrs. Paulina Dickus of Freeport organized Cana Shrine, No. 17, here last Friday evening.

Seventy-six of the local O. E. S. and four from Paris were initiated. The work was done by Mrs. Dickus and a team from the Decatur Shrine. Thirty of the Decatur lodge were here in attendance.

After the work a banquet consisting of sandwiches, pressed chicken, salad, ice cream, cake and coffee were served in the Chapman hall.

Fred Baugler served the coffee. Everyone seemed to enjoy the work, and everything went merry as a marriage bell.

Cemetery Decoration.

The decoration of the Jonathan Creek cemetery will take place Sunday, June 14 at 2 p. m. A good program with prominent speakers has been arranged for. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. No doubt previous to this time every one interested in a sacred spot there will place it in good shape.

By order of Committee.

She had been sick about four days, her ailment supposed to be locked bowels.

She was between 73 and 74 years of age, and had lived in Sullivan 35 years. Her husband died thirty years ago and she made her home with a son. She is survived by two sons and two daughters. The two daughters came Wednesday to be present at the burial.

CHURCH SERVICES.

CHRISTIAN.

The pastor and wife and Mrs. John Patterson went to Niantic, as delegates to the Sixth District Convention of the Christian church Wednesday noon. The convention lasts until Friday night and arrangements have been made to make this one of the best conventions ever held in the district.

Next Sunday will be Children's Day and the young ladies of the church who are drilling the children are working hard to make this a fine exercise. Misses Gertie Hill and Rose Corbin have had charge of the drilling and have done faithful work.

The report from the Easter contest offering of the Juniors showed that the Juniors of this place had won first place in the state and third place in the United States. One church in Kentucky and another in Pennsylvania had sent in greater offerings for this purpose than the Juniors here.

The Junior Society will give a picnic in the woods sometime in the future. The time and place have not yet been named.

The C. W. B. M. meets with Mrs. Strawn next Friday. Mrs. Hettie Ellis is the leader.

Rev. J. G. McNutt, Pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.

The pastor and his wife returned from their vacation Monday night, and will resume their work at once. Their vacation, so kindly granted by the church, was not only highly appreciated, but greatly beneficial. During their absence they visited their sons, W. H. Wheat of Thomasboro, and Charles Wheat of St. Louis, also their daughter, Mrs. Anna Foster of Greenfield, where the pastor delivered the Memorial address Saturday, May 30th.

The pastor will preach Sunday at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The newly organized male quartet will sing a number at the morning and also one at the evening service.

Sunday School at 9:30 a. m. Let there be a general rally.

Dr. T. J. Wheat, Pastor.

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING

Laurence Sears of Decatur, and Miss Anna Magill United in Marriage Tuesday

A very beautiful and impressive wedding was solemnized Tuesday at 8 p. m., when Laurence Sears of Decatur led Miss Anna Magill to the bridal altar. The ceremony was by Rev. H. W. Sears of Waverly, a prominent minister in the Presbyterian church and a chautauqua lecturer.

The groom was attired in the conventional black. The bride's dress was of white radium silk, with an elegantly trimmed bodice, and upper portion of skirt plaited. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses and a shower bouquet of white sweet peas beautifully draped.

They were attended by Ansell Magill, a brother of the bride, and Miss Eula McCown, of Newman, who wore a dress of pale blue, Miss Etta Bean being the flower girl.

The ceremony was performed in a corner of the parlor under a canopy of green foliage from which suspended a large white bell. The corner was a profusion of nature's own beauties, blooming flowers and potted plants, yet arranged with rustic effect, as the stands supporting the potted plants were sections sawed from walnut logs, which were so planned as to show the beautiful carvings of the bark and gnarled places to an eye that can see beauty in nature. This alcove was too pretty to be removed if it could only be retained. Miss Leah Harshman superintended it.

After the ceremony the bride cast the roses of her bouquet over the heads of her girl friends.

An elegant and dainty four course supper was served in the dining room and in close proximity. At the main table six couples were seated. Over the center of the table was suspended a wedding bell, from which extended white ribbon streamers and smilax to the four corners of the table. The lights were wax tapers in glass candlesticks, there being four on the bridal table. In the center of the table was the bride's cake, a double angel food. The ground work of the icing being plain, over which a design was traced and trimmed with star-shaped raised figures of the icing. Besides the large table ten smaller tables were brought into service and fifty of the guests dined at a time.

The first course was fruit relish, second a regular dinner course, third salad on lettuce and bread and butter sandwiches, fourth course ice cream, cake, coffee and mince—red and white candy. The place cards bore a red rose and spray on which the groom had very artistically traced the name of the one to receive it. Carnations were also among the decorations.

Miss Retta Webb superintended the work and was assisted by Misses Katie McCarthy, Celia Carter and Etta Six.

The bridal pair were the recipients of many valuable, handsome and useful presents, not a mere toy among them. They consisted of silver ware, cut glass, china, table linen, doilies, crumb cloths and a very pretty quilt made by the bride's grandmother.

The bride is the only daughter of R. M. Magill and wife, is a very highly esteemed, accomplished, young woman, and has always moved in the best circle of society; she is pleasant, agreeable, sociable and kind to all.

The groom is the oldest son of Rev. H. W. Sears of Waverly, is an industrious, virtuous young man, and is a cabinet maker. At the home of Mr. Magill's we were shown several handsome oak pieces of furniture that he had made, including a davenport, music case, chafing dish case and a porch swing, besides a library table that Ansell Magill gets the credit of making.

They are both graduates of the Millikin University, Mr. Sears graduating from the Lincoln branch of the college in 1903, the bride from the Sullivan public school in 1904 and Millikin in Decatur in 1907.

Mr. and Mrs. Sears will reside in Sunnyside, Decatur, where the groom has a home in readiness.

There were eighty invited guests. The out of town guests are as follows: Rev. H. W. Sears and wife and Mrs. Newton Wood of Waverly, Ira Six and wife of Mt. Zion, Austin Six of Springfield, George Six of Williamsburg, Misses Lois Parker, Judith Mills and Bertha McClellan and Charles Six, Decatur; Miss Eula McCown, Newman, Georgia Donaldson Carlville, Miss Alice Mudd, Winchester, Mrs. Charles Huber Chicago, Miss Ida Diller, Chanute, Kan.

So He Did

A goat hurried the previous end of his anatomy against the boy's afterward with an earnestness and velocity which, backed by the ponderosity of the goat's avoirdupois, impaired a momentum that was not relaxed until the boy landed on terra firma beyond the pale of the goat's jurisdiction.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES

Appropriate Exercises and an Ideal Day Contribute to a Proper Spirit for the Occasion

Last Saturday was an ideal day, yet the surroundings made one feel that the Memorial services rendered our dead was a sacred one.

A good program was rendered. Rev. Reisner, the Baptist evangelist, and Rev. Wyckoff delivered able addresses. The drum corps gave several good selections of music. The program was as usual.

Although there were not many from the country in town, yet there was a fair sized crowd on the streets.

Many beautiful floral tributes were placed on the graves. The cemetery is well kept and presented a beautiful appearance.

First Observed at Arcola

Thirty years ago last Saturday at Arcola was the first observance of Memorial or Decoration Day ever held in the United States, when the pretty and praiseworthy custom of decorating soldiers' graves was inaugurated. The originator got the idea from a suggestion made by some one who wrote an article in a newspaper and went to work arranging for a celebration and decorative services.

Modern Woodmen.

According to the official program for the Clerks' association, that branch of the Modern Woodmen will assemble in Peoria on the morning of June 13, and continue in session until the following Monday evening. By that time the greater army of Woodmen will have reached Peoria for what is anticipated to be the greatest gathering ever held by the members of that organization. Some idea of its magnitude may be gathered from the list of camp equipment which Gen. John H. Mitchell, of Iona, Mich., has asked bids for. One item of this list includes 1,000 10x12 wall tents, 125 tents of larger size, some of them 30x50 feet in dimension. Four thousand cots are asked for in one lump, and innumerable camp chairs and tables.

A Most Favorable Start.

J. McCan Davis of Springfield, who is one of the best known newspaper correspondents in the state, has announced himself a candidate for the republican nomination for clerk of the Illinois supreme court. Mr. Davis has an extensive acquaintance with prominent men of all parties. Years of service in the general assembly and in the political convention where he came into close touch with men of all stations and rank give him a most favorable start in making his campaign. Mr. Davis comes from this section of Illinois, having at one time been engaged in Fulton county. Of late years he has represented the Globe-Democrat at Springfield, and has written much for other papers.—Atkinson Herald.

Doctor's Prescription.

A young lady in a nearby town, not feeling as well as she would like, called on one of our young physicians who had been located in the town for some time for consultation. "Well," said the doctor, after looking at her tongue, feeling her pulse and asking her numerous questions, "I should advise you—yes, I should advise you—ahem! to get married." "Are you single, doctor?" inquired the fair patient, with a modest smile. "I am, my dear young miss," he said, "but it is not customary for a physician to take the physician prescribes."

Odd Fellows' Memorial Day.

Moultrie Lodge, No. 158, I. O. O. F., have selected Sunday, June 7th, as Decoration day for the members of their order. Memorial exercises will be held at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, after which the graves of the departed in Greenhill cemetery will be decorated. All Odd Fellows' Lodges and Brother and Sister Rebekahs are invited to join with us.

WORKERS MUST BE VACCINATED.

State Health Inspector Issues Order After Inspection.

Elgin.—Orders that all employes of the Elgin National Watch factory should be vaccinated at once or produce a certificate showing that they had been vaccinated within a reasonable time were issued by Dr. C. E. Crawford of Rockford, state health inspector. Dr. Crawford, accompanied by Dr. C. E. Waddle, city physician, made a tour of the factory, closely scanning the faces of employes for symptoms of smallpox. They found none, but because of the score or more cases in the city, issued the vaccination order as a precautionary measure. All other factories in the city were visited and the stores also. The board of education seriously considered the advisability of closing the schools.

TORNADO DESTROYS BUILDINGS.

Farmers Flee from 50,000 Acres of Flooded Lands.

Quincy.—A tornado which struck Quincy overturned or destroyed many buildings here. Great damage was also done in the cemeteries, and suburban towns report heavy losses. The river was six miles wide at Quincy and rising rapidly. The railroads on the Missouri side were abandoned.

Beardstown People Suffer Fearful Hardship Because of Rising Waters.

Beardstown.—With the Illinois river at this place registering many feet above the low water mark, and rising, Beardstown was cut off from the outside world by the worst flood since 1883. Railway tracks were submerged and impassable, and all bridges were out. Many families were compelled to leave their homes and lived in tents and other rough shelters. ## LEADS ALL STATES

ILLINOIS FIRST IN HER CARE FOR THE INSANE.

Experts, Under Watchful Care of the Administration, Have Done Much to Ameliorate Condition of These Unfortunates.

Springfield, June 1.—The systematic occupation and entertainment of the insane in public institutions is discussed by Dr. Eugen Cohn in a recent issue of the Journal of American Medical Association. Dr. Cohn is first assistant physician in the Illinois Southern Hospital for the Insane at Anna. Since entering the institution he has devoted his energy to the systematic employment of the patients, and his paper was written from the standpoint of one who had watched the development of the insane under conditions which he describes. Dr. Cohn says:

"Here are men and women, torn away from their home ties, some from occupations connected with vigorous bodily labor, and the tremendous harm that could be produced by this suspension of exercise of all kinds while the body is still strong and active, must not be underestimated. The plea of lack of industrial means seems an insufficient excuse. A hospital with even limited advantages should arrange methods and means by which these pitiful subjects can receive that which they need and crave—occupation and recreation for their weakened minds and inert bodies.

"A brief mention of the method which has thus far offered to me the best solution of these difficulties may not be uninteresting. There is nothing new employed in this method, except, perhaps, the system connected therewith. Its real value lies in the absolute regularity and exactness of its use.

"Its main feature is a systematized schedule which satisfactorily accounts for every hour of the patient's day.

Each Patient Considered.

"After carefully considering the individual needs of each ward as to the class of patients the ward contains, a schedule is arranged in which explicit directions are given how every waking hour must be employed. Only the medical officers have authority to change these arrangements. Physical exercises are provided in the form of outdoor walks, graded calisthenics at regular intervals, and general ward work. Mental occupation is furnished by the use of various games, reading material, picture books, drawing books, colored crayons, and other light pastime with which the mind may be occupied. General kindergarten and primary school work is a splendid method for the entertainment and re-education of certain classes. Classes in needlework for the women should not be neglected, as this is greatly enjoyed by many.

"The ward is provided with a sufficient number of folding tables to seat every one comfortably. When not in use the tables are folded and put away. They can be set up quickly when the hour arrives for mental occupation. A ward having an average of 40 patients receives from 12 to 14 tables, and is provided with something like a dozen sets each of different games, such as checkers, lotto, dominoes, authors, crokinole and playing cards. From 40 to 50 books are provided, ranging in character from the simple picture book, such as would amuse a little child, to reading material for the adult of average intellect, juvenile books, however, predominating. A few selected daily newspapers and monthly magazines are to be recommended. Other means, to numerous to mention, could be provided.

Work to Improve the Mind.

"The occupation of the individual patient must, of course, be directed in accordance with the degree of intellect evinced, and the employment of each patient is daily changed as much as possible in order to lend variety. The reading material is exchanged between wards from time to time.

"This plan was first tried experimentally in a ward in which the patients were men, most of whom were in a mental condition termed as chronic. They were irritable, combative, and some even treacherous. Many of them showed histories stained by acts of violence. Dementia was present in greater or less degree in nearly all cases. Yet the method, as outlined, proved more than satisfactory in every way.

Has Co-Operation of Nurses.

"Naturally, the co-operation of the attendants and nurses is necessary to the successful carrying out of this program, but this is easily secured by the proper enforcement of discipline. Attendants and nurses, in general, seem pleased with this arrangement, as it helps greatly to break the monotony of their routine work. And, again, the more intelligent of the patients soon learn to assist the attendants in teaching their less apt companions, in whose progress they seemingly take much interest.

"With regard to calisthenics, there is no doubt that it is one of the most beneficial ways of providing physical exercise for the patients and can be made one of the best and most convenient methods to exercise and re-educate their minds. The drills should be made as attractive as possible, every effort being observed to employ the mind as well as the body. For this purpose the movements should be varied, continually offering something new to claim the patient's attention. A movement many times repeated presents no attraction and surely does not serve to stimulate the mental function, as it is apt to be executed in a purely mechanical manner. These exercises should be carried out with vigor and in such a way as to bring each set of muscles systematically into play. This serves, incidentally, as a possible means of regaining lost or interfered with muscle control, be it of organic or functional origin.

"Short and frequent drills should be given in preference to long ones. The work should be graded carefully, beginning with the less fatiguing and progressing to those of a more difficult nature. The movements should be executed at the command and following the example of the instructor. Movements in imitation of those employed in the pursuit of manual labor are especially beneficial, such as curving or sawing wood, mowing grass, propelling a canoe, and so on.

"During calisthenics proper methods of breathing should be encouraged, and special breathing exercises should not be overlooked. Rest at frequent intervals during drill is desirable. These intermissions can be filled by selections from the patients' glee club and by various musical and other numbers, contributed so far as possible by the patients themselves. Among a large number of patients some can always be found who possess musical and other talent, which should be encouraged and utilized for their own benefit, as well as for the edification of the fellow patients. Various simple plans could be suggested to fill these intermissions in order that they should become a source of real enjoyment to all. For instance, the patient who can play the violin in old-time fiddler's fashion can almost always be found, and where there is this particular kind of music, clog and similar dances may easily be arranged.

Proper Sphere of Music.

"With reference to music, although its use is recognized as in many ways of great benefit to the troubled mind, it appears that it should be given a still more prominent place in the entertainment and treatment of the insane. It is frequently wonderful to observe the soothing effect of music on nearly all kinds of patients, the irritable and combative class as well as those in a depressed state of mind. Above all things, it tends to bring about a condition of cheerfulness and equilibrium of temper, which is the first step to better things.

"Glee clubs and other musical organizations should be formed, when practicable, among the patients, and those possessing musical talent should be encouraged in its use and development. Every institution should have its own band and orchestra recruited from among its employes and the more reliable class of patients. Frequent outdoor concerts should be given in season, and concerts, dances and entertainments of different kinds should be arranged for through the winter.

"Baseball, basketball, and all manner of rational outdoor sports should be made available to both patients and employes, as both are in need of every healthful recreation which can be offered. Incidentally, we should not lose sight of the fact that a reasonable amount of "time off duty" should be allowed the employes, as they are thus better prepared for their daily tasks and more patient and cheerful in the performance of duties assigned them.

"Though all patients in institutions are entitled to attend these entertainments, there is usually a tendency shown by the attendants in charge to regard them as intended only for such patients as are generally well behaved. This is a mistake. The patients deriving the greatest benefit from these amusements are those who are irritable, restless, depressed and indifferent.

"I believe that it would prove entirely feasible for an institution to provide itself with competent instructors of music, calisthenics and primary school work. With the methods thus briefly described it will soon become evident that the wards will take on a more cheerful appearance; the faces of the patients will be brighter; restlessness, irritable temper and violence will be observed to be much less, and the use of all kinds of restraints will be reduced. No doubt many patients can be, to some extent, at least, reclaimed, re-educated and fitted for the more substantial pursuit of industrial occupation, though at the beginning of this treatment they gave little if any promise.

State Capital News

Breezy Gossip, Notes and Doings of Interest at Springfield.

Springfield.—An increase of $9,615,507 in the deposits of the state banks in Illinois from February 15 to May 12, 1908, shows the substantial improvement in financial conditions throughout the state in the last three months. The figures are shown in a statement of the aggregate resources and liabilities of all the state banks of Illinois on May 12, last, as reported to State Auditor McCullough. Corresponding with the increased deposits the banks show an increase of $1,345,404 in capital, surplus and undivided profits. The total cash on hand and due from other banks shows an increase of $14,796,041.34. On May 12 there were 412 state banks in Illinois compared with 405 at the time of the last preceding report. Deposits were reported as follows: Savings time, $177,077,526.51; certificate time, $39,918,657.87; individual demand, $180,437,636.78; certificate demand, $16,200,544.49; certified checks, $1,870,960.35; cashiers' checks, $2,020,923.53.

No Action Taken for Higher Rates.

Both sides in the controversy between manufacturers and railroads regarding the question of an increase in freight rates are waiting to see what the other will do. Until something is done by one or the other the probabilities are that conditions will remain as they are until fall. No more replies from presidents of various roads to the request of the Chicago Association of Commerce for views on the subject have been received. It is taken for granted by representatives of the manufacturers that the incident is closed so far as the railroad officials are concerned. The officials of the association have prepared a statement to show that W. C. Brown, senior vice-president of the New York Central lines, was wrong when he told the congress of shippers recently that the railroads used one-third of all the manufactured products of the country. According to the government reports the total value of the manufactured products is $14,802,147,087. The railroads earn each year a gross revenue of a little more than $2,000,000,000. If all of the gross revenue of the railroads was expended for manufactured products the railroads would be consumers of only between 12 and 13 per cent.

Accused of Government Frauds.

Obtaining subsistence under false pretenses from the United States government is the charge preferred against John Nicodemus of Atlanta, now a prisoner in the Peoria county jail. Nicodemus is alleged to have fleeced the government out of a large number of meals and many a night's lodging. The man was taken into custody at Bloomington by deputy marshals and will be held pending the action of the federal grand jury in October. The system which Nicodemus is alleged to have followed is a novel one. Many other persons are said to have worked the same scheme, and as a result officers are in search of the offenders. Nicodemus is alleged to have first made his appearance at a government recruiting office at St. Louis. He said he wished to enlist in the army. He was sent to a lodging house to await the arrival of an examining officer.

New District Planned.

In order to build a new schoolhouse, residents in the vicinity of Fancy Prairie, Sangamon county, are planning to create a new school district. It is proposed to consolidate several small districts into a larger one which would overlap into Menard and Logan counties. A delegation composed of E. F. McClelland, G. W. Constant, Robert Lyons, Dr. O. M. Williams and J. W. Pearce called at the office of the superintendent of public instruction to secure information regarding how to proceed in the matter. They were informed that it would be necessary to get up a petition in each of the small districts, signed by two-thirds of the taxpayers, for presentation to the school trustees of each district.

Tribute to Guard's Dead.

The Governor's guard of this city paid tribute to the dead of the organization with fitting services. The guard marched in a body from the courthouse to the cemetery, where services were held. The custom of having the services at the grave of the last dead member of the year, which has been the custom of the organization, was dispensed with this year. There have been no deaths in the organization for the last three years. Rev. E. B. Rogers, pastor of the Central Baptist church, offered prayer.

Pneumonia Leads as Death Cause.

Tuberculosis has ceased to be the chief cause of death of residents in Illinois and instead of "the great white plague," the disease pneumonia has come to the front as the leading death scourge. In its bulletin of vital statistics the state board of health shows that tuberculosis was responsible for a mortality of 7,142 in that year, while pneumonia was the cause of 7,386 deaths. During all previous years, tuberculosis has caused more deaths than any other single disease. The report just issued by the state board is made under the law approved May 6, 1903, in force July 1, 1903. According to this report the total mortality in Illinois during the year was 62,854, an increase of 1,600 over any one of the five years last past. During the five previous years, the highest mortality was recorded in 1903, when there were 61,805 deaths within the state. In fact, the mortality for 1904, 1905 and 1906 was in each instance lower than that of 1903 or 1902. The state board points out, however, that the ratio of increase of population must be taken into consideration in this connection. On this point, the bulletin says: "An increase in the mortality in a rapidly growing state like Illinois does not necessarily mean a greater death rate among the people. It is essential that the population and the mortality shall be considered together. The number of deaths in Illinois, to each 1,000 of population, during 1907, was 11.39; in 1906, the rate was 10.7 per 1,000; in 1905, 10.8; in 1904, 11.26; in 1903, 11.80; and in 1902, 12.18. From these figures we learn that the death rate in Illinois, population considered, was lower than in 1902 and 1903, and higher than in 1904 and 1906."

New Primary Law Affidavit Veld?

That the sample affidavit to nominating petitions, printed in section 30 of the new primary law, does not conform strictly to the requirement of that section, is an interesting point raised by Attorney General Stead in a circular letter addressed to the chairmen of the state and county committees. When the legislators framed the primary act, they gave a detailed description in section 30 of a form of affidavit to be attached to all nominating petitions. Then to make doubly sure they followed the description with a sample form of affidavit. It is in the sample form that the mistake occurs, according to Mr. Stead, in that the sample fails to embody all the requirements called for in the descriptive section.

Sullivan Lines Up with Yates.

Richard Sullivan is for Yates. The agent of the board of prison industries called upon the governor with a number of demands regarding Sangamon county appointments. The governor told him he could not see things that way, and Sullivan informed the governor that he would line up with Yates. The proposed arrangement appeared to suit the governor and, everyone, being satisfied, the conference broke up amicably. Sullivan promises to deliver the county to Yates, and the governor says he doesn't believe he can do the trick. Anyway, he takes the matter very coolly, and doesn't appear much "fussed up" over the affair.

Average Teacher Underpaid Man.

That the average teacher is paid less for his services for the amount of labor, intelligence and devotion he gives to it as compared with any of the learned professions was a point emphasized by Francis G. Blair, state superintendent of instruction, in an address. Other rewards are found in teaching, however, said the speaker, which compensate in a measure for the inadequate pay. Mr. Blair spoke on the theme, "Opportunities for Young Men in the Teaching Service." The address was one of a series on "Opportunities for Young Men in the Professions," which have been delivered by prominent speakers.

Dedicate Monument to Gov. Tanner.

With a number of addresses by prominent men the beautiful mausoleum erected in Oakridge cemetery over the body of the late Gov. John R. Tanner was dedicated. Among the speakers were George W. Hinman, W. D. Ryan, secretary of the National United Mine Workers of America; Patrick H. O'Donnell of Chicago, and Judge J. Otis Humphrey. Although the monument had been completed some time it was decided to hold the exercises approximately on the anniversary of Gov. Tanner's death. The meeting was called to order by I. N. Phillips of Bloomington, president of the Tanner Monument association.

YES, THE WORLD IS GROWING BETTER.

The following lines from Newell Dwight Hillis are right to the point upon this interesting question.

Many men are discouraged because of the daily exposure of graft and corruption in business.
But all these exposures, so far from justifying pessimism, are signs of progress. When the measles came out in great blotches on the face the patient looks badly, but the real danger appears when the measles strike in and disappear, leaving the skin smooth and the blood foul. Up in New England when the autumn leaves fall, the farmer cleans out the great spring on the hillside. Lifting his spade above that spring, the farmer looks upon water that is clear to the eye, but that holds within its depth the decay of leaves. When an hour has passed, and the ex-posure of mud is over, the water is roily and the child thinks the spring is ruined forever. But all the time, the water that comes down out of the mountain and gushes through some cleft is pure and sparkling, and once the surface mouth is cleared the spring runs sweet and pure toward the house and on into the sea that awaits it. Everywhere men are saying that the country is be-sotted, that men are sodden in materialism, that every man has his price, that graft is universal, and yet at this very hour, the country is passing through the greatest moral and intellectual awakening it has ever known.
Never were there so many honest merchants and manufacturers;
never so many honest financiers and railroad men; never were working men so intelligent, upright and disinterested. Any darkness there is on the horizon is morning twilight and not evening twilight.

"The Old World and Its Ways."

This remarkable book (by William Jennings Bryan), of 575 pages, voluminously illustrated and elegantly bound, has been issued by "The Thompson Publishing Company" of St. Louis, Mo., and is sold by subscription.

We would advise our young friends who are out of employment to seek the agency and canvass for this book. It is certainly one of the most readable, entertaining and edifying volumes we have read in a long time. It was almost like retracing our first trip around the world, with less than one-thousandth of the money and one-hundredth of the time required for our "first trip."
The great problems of civilization, religion, philosophy and government in Japan, China, the Philippines, India, as well as Europe, are presented in a clear light by a great brain.

Mr. Bryan was accompanied on this trip by his wife and two younger children, William J. Jr., and Grace, aged 16 and 14 respectively. They started September 21, 1905, and reached home September, 5 1906, six teen days less than one year.
While most of this trip was in the North Temperate Zone, they were below the equator a few days in Java, and for awhile above the arctic circle in Norway.

This book ought to be in every home where there are boys and girls with brains and promise.

Doctor Usa D. D. D. In His Practice

Eminent Physicians say this great liquid prescription is certain cure for eczema.
Still another eczema specialist comes forward in enthusiastic praise of D. D. D. Prescription, the wonderful external remedy which cures eczema and other similar diseases like magic. He is Dr. C. B. Holmes of Silver City, Miss., and in summing up his impressions of the startling cures D. D. D.
has effected, he says:
"I have been using your D. D. D. for four years with gratifying results. 'Tis as near a specific for herpes, eczema, psoriasis, etc.
as quinine for malaria."
Dr. Holmes is one of hundreds of physicians who use D. D. D. in their daily practice. The D. D. D. company allows physicians to use this remedy with the understanding that they tell their patients what it was that cured them when the terrible itch has been wiped out, the skin healed and the raw wound covered over with soft white skin. D. D. D. is not a nasty paste to smear the skin and clothing, but it is a clear liquid.
It is advisable to use D. D. D. soap in connection with D. D. D. Prescription.
Is any further proof of the curative powers of D. D. D. Prescription necessary? That remedy is sold at Sam E. Hall's, Sullivan, Ill.
Come in and let us show you convincing proof that D. D. D. will cure your skin disease. Even if you have not decided to use D. D. D. remedy, come in and explain your case anyway.

Old Hymns.

MARtha A. BARBICE.

The dear old hymns of long ago
Hold yet their place within my heart.
In rhythm and cadence sweet and low
They form, of all my life, a part.
I hear, or seem to hear, a strain
Whene'er those grand old hymns are sung.
That brings my lost youth back again;
When heaven seemed near and life was young.

They thrilled methen, and still they move
My inmost heart as life rolls on;
"Come Holy Spirit, Heavenly Dove,"
"Jesus my all to heaven is gone,"
"Jesus, my all to heaven is gone,"
In sorrow's stress my heart has found
In "Jesus, lover of my soul"
A soothing balm for every wound,
An uplift toward the heavenly goal.

Blest "Rock of Ages, cleft for me"
Has proved a refuge safe and sweet
When tempests wild have tossed life's sea
And strewn its wreckage at my feet.
"From every stormy wind that blows,"
"By cool Siloam's shady rill,"
"From every swelling tide of woe,"
"The Lord shall be my refuge still."

"Oh for a thousand tongues to sing,"
"All hail the power of Jesus' name,"
"Sweet is the work, Oh, God my King,"
"Through endless years thou art the same,"
"Oh, for a closer walk with God,"
"Oh, that my load of sins were gone,"
"There is a fountain filled with blood,"
"Thus far the Lord has led me on."

Dear sacred hymns of bygone days,
Your music, like sweet chimes of bells
From far-off towers, make glad the ways
Our feet must tread through tangled dells.
Ring on, sing on, till life shall cease.
And we at last shall reach the shore
Whose harbor is the port of peace,
Where songs of joy rise evermore.

Good Way to Do Business

When one can buy gold dollars for fifty cents, it is time to purchase.

In ordering a 50c bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at 25 cents, J. R. Pogue is giving one of the greatest trade chances ever offered to the people of Sullivan.

Even though offered at half-price for in-troduutory purposes the specific is sold under a guarantee to cure or the money will be refunded.

This remarkable remedy comes in the form of tiny granules, and can be carried in the vest pocket or a purse. It is very popular in New York City, and it is not unusual to see someone after a meal at one of the large hotels or restaurants, take a dose of this specific, knowing that it will prevent the uncomfortable feeling which frequently follows a heavy meal.

Dr. Howard's specific gives quick relief and makes permanent cures of constipation, dyspepsia and all liver troubles.

These are strong statements, but J. R.
Pogue is giving his customers a chance to prove their truth at just half the regular price—sixty doses for 25 cents. If they are not found true, all you have to do is ask or your money.

Accidents will happen, but the best regulated families keep Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for such emergencies. It subdues the pain and heals the hurts.

THE HOUSE IN SUMMER.

All Drains and Sinks Should Be Well Flushed Out.

To the careful housekeeper many domestic problems present themselves during the heat of summer that are absent during winter.

Conditions from which there is no fear of danger to the family health during cold and frost will become a serious menace when once the hot weather sets in, especially if it should be a damp summer—what is often described as "muggy" weather.

It is an acknowledged fact that these are deadly foes to health and life and are the means by which many infectious diseases are carried. Therefore everything must be done to combat them at every point.

As soon as there is reasonable ground for thinking that fires are done with remove as far as possible all heavy, thick curtains, unnecessary rugs, etc.
They do not look cool and only act as dust collectors.

Replace them with light washing materials, chintzes, Indian matting, reed blinds, etc.

The small clothes moth commits serious ravages in a house. Nothing of a woolen or fluffy nature is safe from it.

All winter clothes, blankets, and so forth, which are to be packed away until winter returns must first be thoroughly shaken and brushed and in the case of furs gently combed through.
The drawers or boxes into which the articles are to be stored must be clean and, if water will not be harmful, washed out with a strong solution of carbolic acid. This can be purchased ready mixed at any oil merchant's.

Use lump camphor or some other moth preventive liberally among the layers of clothing, and it is wise to pln
the different articles up in newspapers.
Moths are fastidious creatures, and it is said they draw the line at printer's ink. Anyhow, I have proved its use to be successful. Paste strips of paper over any cracks in the boxes, drawers or cupboards, so as to prevent the entry of these little household pests.

All drains, sinks, etc., should frequently be well flushed out with clean water during the summer. A good plan for those who possess a garden hose is to put it down every drain for about five minutes once a week, the water being turned on at full pressure. This, of course, is not permissible if there should be a shortage of water in any district. Anyway, use a good disinfectant, either in the form of liquid or powder.

In such localities where no system of running water or sewers exists all refuse must be carried off through the drainpipes some distance beyond the house and well if it is used for drinking purposes.

Some cooks claim that the flavor of

In cleaning ribbons it is better not to or ether and wrap around a large bottle.

The top leaf of a book can be mended by pasting new white tissue paper over it with transparent paste. The print will show through.

When vegetables cook dry and scorch or burn, set the vessel at once in a little cold water, and they will taste very little, if any, of the scorching.

Spoiled the Prayer.

A west end man who had been out with a party of friends slipping from the bowl of joy more than usual staggered home, at a loss to know how to conduct himself to prevent his wife knowing he was intoxicated. After turning the question over in his mind several times he decided that it would be well for him to kneel in prayer just before retiring, as he sometimes did.

"What in the world are you doing there, John?" asked his wife.

"Praying."

P. Entertine's court.

LIVING PROOF OF IT.

New Marriage Develops the Traits in a Man. "By the way, Mary," said Mr. Winterbottom, "young Ascot asked for my advice today about getting married."

Mrs. Winterbottom looked up from the pile of socks that she was darning. "And what advice did you give him, John?" she said.

"Er—hand me them matches, will you? My pipe's out," said Winterbottom.

She transferred the mound of mending from her lap to a chair, rose and, taking the matches to her husband, quietly resumed her work again.

"Well," continued Mr. Winterbottom, yawning in his big chair, "I told Ascot to go ahead and marry at once. I told him what I have always believed—namely, that nothing develops the best traits in a man's character like matrimony. Nothing, I told him, so splendidly brings into blossom those seeds of unselfishness, of self sacrifice, that lie dormant in even the best of bachelors. The married man forgets himself in the protecting care that he must eternally lavish upon wife and babes. Coarse, selfish brutes of bachelors I have seen transmuted by marriage into a fine gold of such self forgetfulness and tender consideration, such delicate solicitude and courtesy—er—ah—"

Mrs. Winterbottom had been slapping his pockets and frowning. Now he stopped abruptly. "Here's my pipe out," he said, "and I forgot to bring down that pouch again. Do you mind, Mary? It's on the dressing table in the fourth story front."

Mrs. Winterbottom, with pleasant alacrity, hastened from the room—New York Press.

"And would you marry me if I were a poor girl, working for a living?" asked the helress.

"Darling," responded the accepted suitor, "it wouldn't be fair. You'd be doing enough in supporting yourself."—Philadelphia Ledger.

CONGRESS IS OVER

SENATE PASSES THE CURRENCY BILL AFTER FILIBUSTER.

THE PRESIDENT SIGNS IT

Both Houses Then Rush Through the Remaining Business and End Session Just Before Midnight.

Washington.—At 4:25 Saturday afternoon, after having been in operation since noon Friday, the filibuster against the currency bill went to pieces, the conference report was adopted and the measure was signed by President Roosevelt, who gave the pen with which he wrote his name to Representative Wilson of Chicago.

Senator Gore, the blind orator from Oklahoma, had the floor when the filibuster came to an end, having talked two hours and ten minutes. It had been arranged among the trio of objectors that Senator Stone was to follow Gore and later on Mr. La Follette would make another effort to break into the ring. For once at least "Gum Shoe Bill" was not right on the job. No one seemed to know just where he was putting in his time, but the Republican leaders were on the alert and seized the opportunity.

Aldrich Engineers the Coup.

Senator Aldrich, the resourceful Republican leader, was attending strictly to business, and as soon as Mr. Gore concluded his remarks he secured the floor and immediately moved to proceed to a vote.

The folly of the whole filibustering proceeding was sufficiently shown when the currency bill was passed in the senate by a vote of 43 to 22.

The Democrats voted solidly against it, and with them were only five Republicans, La Follette, Brown, Borah, Bourne and Heyburn. Senator Kitchin and one or two other Republicans were paired against it, but they did not go on the record.

Congress Adjourns.

The first session of the sixtieth congress adjourned Saturday night at 11:50. Legislative work ended early in the evening and while President Roosevelt was engaged in signing the last bill, the senate took quiet recesses and the house indulged in the customary levity in the line of singing, flag waving and speechmaking.

The sudden action on the part of the senate in adopting the conference report on the currency bill and thus sending that measure to completion, served to galvanize both branches of congress into a swift working gait that brought final adjournment up to a matter of a few hours.

The house quickly swept aside the consideration of small, unobjectionable bills, and resolutions that had been occupying its time, and brought the omnibus public building bill—the piece de resistance among the legislative features of the session—to the fore.

The regulation 40 minutes' debate and the filibuster roll call demanded by the Democrats were held, and the great pork measure reached its final passage. There were inward prayers of thanks all over the place.

Last Big Supply Bill.

The general deficiency bill, the last of the big supply measures and which this year carries the heavy appropriations for public buildings and sites, came along next. No difficulty was found in putting the bill through early in the evening.

The government employees' liability bill, strongly urged by the president and Secretary Taft, had a narrow escape, but urged by Senator Dewey, it finally went through just before the senate recessed for dinner.

Senator Beveridge seized the opportunity to push his "omnibus territories" measure through the senate when it convened at 8:30 after a recess. The bill, previously passed by the house, carried miscellaneous legislative projects for the territories.

The measure had encountered heavy objection for several days in the senate and went back to the house amended in several particulars. That body agreed to the amended bill without a conference.

President Appears at Capitol.

President Roosevelt and his party, including Secretary Loeb and cabinet officers Root and Garfield, appeared at the capitol at nine o'clock, just before the resolution to adjourn at 11:50 was adopted, and went at once to the president's room, just off the marble lobby of the senate. A series of conferences with the vice-president, Senator Aldrich, and several leading senators were immediately commenced over the various measures to receive the signature of the executive before adjournment.

St. Louis.—J. M. Browning, 57 years old, president of the Western Anthracite Coal company, the St. Louis & O'Fallen Railway company and prominently identified with other business interests of St. Louis, died here Sunday night.

At Chadron a storm with tornado features occurred, wrecking small buildings. Two persons were injured. At Fremont a small tornado demolished the cribs and sheds of the McCaul-Webster Elevator company and destroyed the elevator at Wood Cliff.

Jackson, Minn.—A special circus train, carrying 26 cars and pulled by two engines, was wrecked in an extraordinary manner two miles west of Alpha on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road Wednesday. Five empty box cars on a siding were started in motion by a terrific wind and running into an open switch, struck squarely upon the main track. The empty cars then rushed down the steep hill and crashed into the approaching circus special.

The greatest destruction was done to Forest Park, a large new summer amusement resort just built on the western edge of the city and which was to have been opened Saturday.

St. Joseph, Mo.—Reports from Maryville, Oregon, Tarkio and other northwest Missouri towns are to the effect that thousands of acres of lowlands have been flooded. Most of this land had been planted to corn and the damage is heavy.

GEN. STEPHEN D. LEE DEAD.

Commander of United Confederate Veterans Passes Away.

Vicksburg, Miss.—Lieut. Gen. Stephen D. Lee of Columbus, Miss., commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, answered his last roll call Thursday. Cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of his death. Gen. Lee died at the official residence of the Vicksburg national park commission of which he was a member. He was stricken here consequent upon an exhaustive speech welcoming four regiments of Iowa and Wisconsin soldiers, whom he had fought upon the Vicksburg battlefield 45 years before.

Evelyn Withdraws Suit.

New York.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, through her counsel, Tuesday withdrew the suit she instituted some time ago for the annulment of her marriage to Harry K. Thaw.

Immediately following the dismissal of the action Daniel O'Reilly, personal attorney for Mrs. Thaw, issued a statement in which he declared that Mrs. Thaw had been an unwilling party to the proceedings from the first. It was only because of pressure on the part of her husband's relatives that she had any part in such a proceeding, said Mr. O'Reilly, and that she withdrew the action because she believes her husband's present position demands her loyalty.

Rockefeller Gives Hospital.

New York.—John D. Rockefeller has made a gift of $500,000 to the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research for the purpose of erecting and equipping a hospital which is to adjoin the present institute building.

BOY AERONAUT IS DROWNED

DROPS WITH PARACHUTE INTO THE PASSAIC RIVER.

Entangled in Folds of American Flag, Young Frederick L. Wood Meets Death.

New York.—Entangled in the folds of a large American flag, which he had waved as he made a parachute drop of 2,000 feet from a balloon at Hillside park near Passaic, N. J., late Sunday, Frederick L. Wood, an 18-year-old aeronaut of New Haven, Conn., fell helpless in the Passaic river and was drowned.

Wood made his ascension at five o'clock in the presence of a thousand persons. As the balloon rose he unfolded an American flag which he waved to the people below.

Near Nutley the balloon had risen to a height estimated at 2,000 feet and Wood decided to descend. Cutting loose the rope that held the parachute to the balloon and clutching the rope of his horizontal bar, Wood plunged downwards. Slowly the parachute opened and then with moderate speed continued the descent. Nearing the earth Wood saw that he would probably fall in the Passaic river and waving his flag as a last salute, he prepared for a plunge into the water. It was at this moment while the parachute was only a hundred feet above the river that a puff of air caught the floating flag and wrapped it around Wood's legs. The aeronaut struggled to free himself from its enveloping folds, but failed and with his limbs still bound by the flag, he plunged into the river. He arose to the surface and cried for help, but before the spectators could come to his aid, he sank and was drowned.

TO RESTORE SENATOR'S SIGHT.

Delicate Operation Planned for T. P. Gore of Oklahoma.

Washington.—An operation of considerable delicacy is to be performed on Thomas P. Gore, the blind senator from Oklahoma, in the hope of restoring at least partial sight to one of his eyes. Senator Gore, accompanied by his wife, will go to New York and submit to an operation which has been contemplated for some time.

An eminent eye specialist there believes it possibly may result in improvement of the organ to the extent that the senator may dimly distinguish objects. The operation, however, is said to be of such serious nature that if it fails to restore partial sight there never will be any further hope and the senator will have to continue his days in blindness.

TWO DROWNED; FIVE SAVED.

Disaster Overtakes Launch Off Santa Catalina Island.

Avalon, Island of Santa Catalina, Cal.—Capt. A. Crist of the launch Zeus of Avalon, and C. E. Hooline, ordinary seaman on the United States converted cruiser Buffalo, were drowned, and E. E. Easton, wife, two small children and colored nurse were rescued by the Buffalo on the high seas Tuesday night, after drifting helplessly for two days in a small launch.

Capt. Crist was lost from the launch Sunday night several miles off Avalon in a mysterious manner. Seaman Hooline was lost overboard from the Buffalo in effecting the rescue of Mr. Easton and his party.

Allentown, Pa., Is Shaken.

Allentown, Pa.—All Allentown was thrown into a state of excitement at 12:42 p. m. Sunday by what is believed to have been an earthquake shock. The shock was severe enough to rock buildings, rattle windows, clatter crockery, tumble down two or three chimneys and upset small children. People rushed out of their homes in great alarm and mothers carried out their children in fear that their homes were about to fall.

Fatal Fall Down Mine Shaft.

Dubuque, Ia.—John Kerwin was killed and J. J. Smith was fatally injured Monday when a skip dropped 225 feet with them down a mine shaft. A defective brake caused the accident.

Alleged Murderer Goes Free.

Dowagiac, Mich.—James Brimmingstahl, who was arrested about two weeks ago on the statement by his wife that he strangled to death aged David Huff, who lived with them, and who was afterward suspected by the officers of several other murders, was Monday released from custody. It was definitely established that Brimmingstahl was legally married to his wife and that therefore she could not be placed on the stand to testify against him. There was no other evidence to uphold her statement.

J. K. JONES IS DEAD

FORMER ARKANSAS SENATOR EXPIRES IN WASHINGTON.

LEADER OF DEMOCRACY

Sketch of His Career in the Senate and as Manager of William J. Bryan's Campaigns.

Washington.—Former United States Senator James K. Jones of Arkansas died at his residence here at 5:30 Monday afternoon after an illness of a few hours, aged 69.

He was one of the leading Democrats in the senate from 1885 to 1903, and was one of the strongest supporters of William Jennings Bryan, having, as chairman of the Democratic national committee, conducted the campaigns of 1896 and 1900. Since leaving the senate in 1903 he had conducted a law practice in this city and had not actively engaged in politics.

On Friday Senator Jones returned from a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Leonora Carrigan, in Arkansas, and Sunday night was apparently enjoying good health. Complaining slightly Monday morning he remained in bed and late in the afternoon died, the immediate cause of death being heart failure.

A native of Mississippi, where he was born in 1839, James Kimbrough Jones received a classical education, and fought as a private soldier in the confederate ranks throughout the civil war. After becoming a resident of Dallas county, Arkansas, he lived on his plantation there until 1873, when he took up the practice of law. He was elected to the state senate the same year and became president of that body in 1877. Afterward he was elected to the forty-seventh and the two succeeding congresses, and in 1885 succeeded to the seat of James S. Walker in the United States senate, where he served three terms, retiring in 1903.

Senator Jones was a delegate to the national Democratic convention of 1896 which gave Mr. Bryan his first nomination and as chairman of the committee on resolutions he reported the 16 to 1 platform. He was made chairman of the national Democratic committee after the convention and as such conducted both of the Bryan campaigns for the presidency.

Memphis, Tenn.—The Gulf Compress company, capitalized at $1,000,000, has been placed in the hands of a receiver. Its affairs are now being administered by C. C. Hanson, appointed by Judge E. McCall of the United States court.

Abnormal conditions relative to the cotton crop, the recent car shortage, excessive litigation, including the anti-trust oyster suit in Mississippi, coupled with the inability to collect large amounts due, are held responsible for the bad financial condition which compelled the filing of an application for a receiver and general creditors' bill by several large stockholders of the corporation.

Lim Jacklin on Lawyers

By Opie Read

A lawsuit had been tried on the veranda of the crossroads store, and when it had been settled Limuel Jacklin, who had watched the proceedings, took the home-made chair, vacated by the justice, leaned back against the wall and remarked: "Rather bad, this thing of goin' to law. And ain't it a peculiar state of society that educates men to stimulate quarrels? We may say that they ain't trained for that purpose, but unless there are misunderstandin' the lawyer's work is cut off, and he's got a little too much of Old Adam in him not to look out for his own interest."

"You take a wrong view of the matter," replied a young lawyer.

"That is just about what I expected you to say. But grantin' to the lawyer all he can claim for himself, it must after all be allowed that the bickerin' and shortsightedness of the human family give him the most of his excuse for livin'. A perfect state of civilization would argue perfect honesty, and if such were the case the lawyers would be powerful scarce. There is no denyin' of the fact that some of the greatest men have been lawyers and that the most of our presidents have practiced law. And so have some of the immortal geniuses been soldiers, but if man had been just and peaceable there never would have been any need for the soldier."

"According to your view, then," said the lawyer, "there is no real need for anybody that—"

"That doesn't build up," Limuel broke in, winking at his former friends. "Every man ought to produce somethin'. If he don't he's livin' on somebody that does. The only real occupation is the one that makes the world better. Understand, now, I have nothin' against anybody's callin'. I'm just expressin' my opinion and it must be taken for what it is worth. But the lawyer shows us one thing if nothin' more—how keen a man's mind may be whetted. I recollect once that a fellow sued me. We had swapped horses—"

"And you had got the better of him, eh?" said the lawyer.

"Well, that's the way it looked to him. The horse I let him have died that night. He asked me if the horse was sound and I said I never had heard any complaint, and I hadn't. He had never been under the care of a doctor so far as I knew. His appetite was good and he'd had his eye when you motioned at him. I might have seen him fall down—have seen men fall, but I didn't think that they were goin' to die. I told him a child could drive him. A child did drive him out of the garden that day. Well, we swapped, and, as I say, his horse was taken sick in the night and died before day. He came back to me and swore that I had swopped him a horse that I know'd was goin' to die. I told him that if he'd show me a horse that wa'n't goin' to die I'd give him my farm. I felt that he had the worst of it and I would have evened it up the best way I could, but before I got through havin' fun with him he got mad and went away and hired a lawyer to prove that I was a liar and altogether the worst man in the community.

"I never got such a scorin' in my life. I felt sorry for my wife and children. I didn't think that anybody would ever speak to me again, and I told the lawyer that I would make it a personal matter between me and him. I expected the justice to decide dead against me, but he didn't. He had been a horse trader himself.

"Well, after the thing was over with I took the horse I got from the feller and went over to his house about ten miles away and turned the nag loose in his lot. I did it not because I was sorry for him, but because I was afraid of myself—afraid that I couldn't sleep, and I was workin' hard and needed rest. Well, sir, that night the nag that I'd turned into the lot ups and dies, and the feller swore that I had hauled him there after he was dead, and hanged if he didn't sue me again. He got the same lawyer and he made me out a worse man than I was before. Made it appear that I had poisoned the horse and dragged him over there. Then I swore that the whole county couldn't hold me back from takin' it out of his hide.

"So the first chance I got I went to town to see the lawyer. I went over to the courthouse and he was makin' a speech, and I wish I may die dead if the feller he was a skinnin' this time wa'n't the very man that had sued me. I never heard anything like it. Tip-toed and called him all sorts of a scoundrel; said that he had defrauded me, as honest a man as lived in the state. I couldn't stand that, I walked out and after a while he came along and held out his hand and called me 'Uncle Lim,' just as if I was his mother's brother. Then he clapped me on the shoulder and you could have heard him laugh more than a mile. He said he was a comin' out to go a fishin' with me.

"Well, I let him off, and after we had got to be right good friends, I asked him how he happened to be engaged against my enemy, and this is what he said: 'Oh, I wasn't. Some of the boys told me you were comin' into the house and I knew that you were troublesome when you set your head to it, so as court wasn't in session I started in to makin' a speech against the fellow so you could hear me,' and he clapped me on the shoulder and you could have heard him laugh more than two miles this time. 'Get a lawyer with fun in him and he's all right. Once I had some business on hand—the settlement of my brother's estate—and I went to old Tom Cantwell and asked him how much he would charge me, and he almost took my breath with the amount he named. I knew he was a man of a good deal of ability—liked fun, and I says to him like this: 'Tell you what arrangement to make, colonel. I've got a mighty fine chicken out at my house and if you can fetch out one to whip him I'll engage you and pay your price, but if my chicken whips yours, why you do the work for nothin'.' He was a man of ability and he agreed. Ah, me, there ain't such lawyers about here these days. I recollect once he—"

"But did the fight come off?" someone inquired.

"Oh, that fight? Yes, held tallow candles for it one night, and you'd have thought it was a snowin', the air was so full of feathers. My wife kept on a callin' out: 'Limuel, what are you doin' there in the smoke-house,' and I always answered: 'I'm diggin' up a rat. Go on to bed. I've most got him now.'

"I don't know how long they fit—the roosters were crowin' all around the neighborhood when they got through. But my chicken crowed last, and the colonel gave me his hand with feathers a stickin' to it, and says, says he: 'Lim, you've got me and I'll take care of your business.'

"Best settlement I ever made. He took care of the business right up to the handle, and when he had got through he 'lowed, he did, that he could find a bird that could whip mine for the estate—said he'd put up his law books and his house and lot against it, but it looked too much like gamblin', so I backed down. Oh, he would have done it. Ablest lawyer in the county. It's a pity all lawsuits couldn't be settled somewhat in that way—as fairly, I mean.

"I was just a thinkin'," he added after a few moments of silence, "how much trouble the old world has been put to tryin' to govern man. Every year or so the legislatures meet and make laws and unmake them, always experimentin' with man. The trouble with him is he don't know what he wants and don't know what to do with it after he gets it. And the lawyer is the outgrowth of his restlessness and his ignorance."

"Think there will ever come a time when there are no lawyers?" the young advocate inquired, and the old man scratched his head.

"Oh, yes, that time will come, but it will be the time when there isn't anything. The lawyer has come to stay as long as the rest of us do. He's a smart man and a good feller for the most part, and is nearly always willin' to forgive you when he has done you a wrong, and I want to remark right here that this argues the extremest of liberality."

I'VE BEEN THINKING

By Charles Battell Loomis

ONCE knew a millionaire who always carried his money around with him in bills. There were some one-dollar bills, more ten-dollar bills, and many hundred and thousand-dollar bills. He always carried them in a suit case with an ordinary lock and key, and he told me that he was happy just because he had the actual money.

His brother hardly ever handled money at all. He was a millionaire, too, but he did all his business with checks, and seldom had more than $20 on his person, and he was miserable and despicable.

Now, of course, there are persons of imagination who go through life using checks and feeling rich, but it takes a good deal of imagination to do so, and for me the pretty green ten-dollar bill means ten times as much as the check for ten dollars.

Of course, checks have their uses, and I use them myself. When a bill for some prosaic thing, like repairs to the coal chute, comes in, I send out a check in payment, but if I am buying a book that I have long coveted, you may be sure that I hand out real money for it. The book represents something tangible, and I will not insult the book dealer by sending him a cold, unfeeling check.

If I wanted to bring happiness to a widow, whose husband had died leaving her destitute, do you think that I would send her a check for a thousand dollars? If you do, you don't know me.

If I were going to do the thing at all I would go to her house with one thousand crisp dollar bills, and I would receive her thanks for each one. But it is a queer thing about gratitude. Her thanks for the first bill would be heartfelt, but by the time I had reached the first hundred she would have grown tired of thanking me, and I verily believe that before I had handed in the last bill she would have asked me if I couldn't be a little more expedient. Thus usage dulls the senses.

On the other hand, do you suppose that if I were sued for a thousand dollars I would pay the complainant in good green money? No, a thousand times, no. I would purposely buy the smallest blank check that I could find, and in my most minute chirography, and with an autograph that was barely good, I would sign it, and thus I would feel that I was getting off cheap.

In some things most of us are intensely mean, and among the expenditures that offend men's souls are those paid into a railroad company's grasping maw. I hold myself no better than the rest, and, if possible, I always travel in company with another, and before we start out I give him money to cover the expenses, and he buys the tickets and I feel that I have not spent so much.

One objection I have to royalties is that they always come in the form of a check—when they come at all. One time, though, my publisher varied it; instead of sending a check he sent a bill. You see, I had given at least ten copies of the book at Christmas time, and, of course, the balance was in his favor. Do you know, I really enjoyed the thing for a change.

By the way, that receiving of royalties, even if they are paid in check form, is a good game. You sell your stories for so much, and then, when they are all printed, you are induced to make a book of them. Well, you have already been paid for them, so that you stand to gain, whatever happens. It may be only ten dollars that will come to you, but it may be $10,000, and the joy of looking forward to royalty day is one that cannot be expressed in words.

THE FIRST TASTE

Learned to Drink Coffee When a Baby.

If parents realized the fact that coffee contains a drug—caffeine—which is especially harmful to children, they would doubtless hesitate before giving the babies coffee to drink.

"When I was a child in my mother's arms and first began to nibble things at the table, mother used to give me sips of coffee. As my parents used coffee exclusively at meals I never knew there was anything to drink but coffee and water.

"And so I contracted the coffee habit early. I remember when quite young, the continual use of coffee so affected my parents that they tried roasting wheat and barley, then ground it in the coffee-mill, as a substitute for coffee. "But it did not taste right and they went back to coffee again. That was long before Postum was ever heard of. I continued to use coffee until I was 27, and when I got into office work, I began to have nervous spells. Especially after breakfast I was so nervous I could scarcely attend to my correspondence.

"At night, after having coffee for supper, I could hardly sleep, and on rising in the morning would feel weak and nervous.

"A friend persuaded me to try Postum. My wife and I did not like it at first, but later when boiled good and strong it was fine. Now we would not give up Postum for the best coffee we ever tasted.

"I can now get good sleep, am free from nervousness and headaches. I recommend Postum to all coffee drinkers.

BAD ITCHING HUMOR.

Limbs Below the Knees Were Raw—Feet Swollen—Sleep Broken—Cured in 2 Days by Cuticura.

"Some two months ago I had a humor break out on my limbs below my knees. They came to look like raw beefsteak, all red, and no one knows how they itched and burned. They were so swollen that I could not get my shoes on for a week or more. I used five or six different remedies and got no help, only when applying them the burning was worse and the itching less. For two or three weeks the suffering was intense and during that time I did not sleep an hour at a time. Then one morning I tried a bit of Cuticura. From the moment it touched me the itching was gone and I have not felt a bit of it since. The swelling went down and in two days I had my shoes on and was about as usual. George B. # NEW WHAT THE JOB MEANT.

Angry Citizen Put Ordeal Up to Street Car Company.

Not long ago there entered the office of the superintendent of a trolley line in Detroit an angry citizen, demanding "justice" in no uncertain terms. In response to the official's gentle inquiry touching the cause of the demand, the angry citizen explained that on the day previous as his wife was boarding one of the company's cars, the conductor thereof had stepped on his spouse's dress, tearing from it more than a yard of material.

"I can't see that we are to blame for that," protested the superintendent. "What do you expect us to do, get her a new dress?"

"No, sir, I do not," rejoined the angry citizen, brandishing a piece of cloth. "What I propose is that you people shall match this material."—Harper's Weekly.

In the Same Boat. "We got some sad cases," said the attendant at the Lumpton lunatic asylum to the interested visitor, and opened the door of the first cell.

Inside was a man sitting on a three-legged stool, gazing vacantly at the wall.

"His is an unhappy story," said the attendant. "He was in love with a girl, but she married another man, and he lost his reason from grief."

They stole out softly, closing the door behind them, and proceeded to the next inmate.

This cell was thickly padded, and the man within was stark, staring mad.

"Who is this?" inquired the visitor.

"This?" repeated the attendant. "This is the other man!"—Tatler.

How He Got It.

"Yaas?" replied the jealous neighbor. "Dat Mistah Green sho' is de mos' keerless, unsuspectin' man!"—Philadelphia Press.
