MANY ATTEND CHAUTAUQUA

Talent Has Been First-class, with Son of the Best Number for the Last Three Days Closes Sunday

The Lincoln Temperance Chautauqua begun here Tuesday afternoon. A big crowd was in attendance at the first session, as large again as on the first day last year. Dr. Parkhurst in the afternoon lectured on the "Methods and Means of Saving the Boys." His lecture was grand and pleased the audience. He was accompanied by the Nevin quartet who won great approval. In the evening Parkhurst addressed the voter with sound advice, and the audience was given another musical treat by the

Wednesday forenoon was rainy but | Three-year-old pace the afternoon fair. O. W. Blain of California opened the meeting and troduced the comedian lecturer Capt les H. Stanley, who came on the stage with a rush and began to speak at the rate of 250 words per minute. He stirs things up like a cyclone with his unique, original whirlwind dialect. His songs brought repeated encores. He set things going as soon as he struck the stage, and no one went to sleep. "You Must Unload?" was the song that seemed to please the more people. O. W. Blain a stereopticon lecturer occupied most of the evening with a fine selection of

On Thursday afternoon and night John H. Hector, the "Black Knight" delivered one of his great lectures to a big crowd, as those who heard him last year were over anxious to hear him again they were so taken with philosophical, brilliant and irresistible oratory. Tne Sutfins of New York were here at the same time, and are regarded by many as the greatest singers they have ever heard.

The talent for the remainder of the chautauqua is the lecturer, Dr. Vibbert much noted, his lectures are all of a high order. The Meneley quartet, sopranos, impersonators, ma rimbaphones, organ chimes, etc.

Hon. Frank S. Regan, the famous and popular cartoon artist and rapid crayon drawer, will draw pictures as true as life very effectively. His work is remarkable, many consider him the best one on the program. With him are the Mezicks, Prof. Mezick and his sister, by some they are said to be the most wonderful singers they ever heard.

Saturday and Sunday closes a real literary and musical treat for Sullivan. No one can afford to miss this The chautauqua meetings will continue on Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the afternoons and evenings at the chautauqua tent on the Lilly lot one block south of the square. The program for each afternoon and evening is excellent and it will be worth anyone's while to hear these entertainers

The Y. Y's, Entertain

Mrs. J. E. Morris of Arthur, a talented woman, author and lecturer, who has traveled extensively in America and abroad, delivered a lecture to the Y. Y's, and different women's clubs of Sullivan in the Woodman hall, Monday evening. Her subject was Switzerland, and she appeared in the attire of that little Republic.

Miss Rose Corbin furnished piano muric for the evening.

Mr. Eberhart rendered several selections of Swiss music.

The rooms were beautifully decorated in the club colors.

LOCAL OPTION IS SUSTAINED

Court Denies a Re-he its Decision Recently Handed Down

The last hope of the liquor interests for the defeat of the local option law was overthrown June 4th, when the supreme court denied a motion for a re-hearing of the case of The People vs. McBride. The latter is the Randolph county saloonkeeper selected by the liquor interests of the state to make a test of the law.

When McBride was fined for violation of the new act, the case was carried to the Supreme court for a test, by agreement. That tribunal found the law constitutional and valid. Following the decision, McBride's attorneys applied for a re-hearing on the ground that the court had misapprehended several arguments on the original case.

In denying a re-hearing the Supreme court justices gave no written decision, but simply reaffirmed their previous stand on the various issues.

The decision of the court puts the local option law out of danger, in the opinion of Ernest A. Scroggin, attorney for the Illinois Anti - Saloon league. In a statement issued he says: "The decision is thoroughly well considered in every respect and will be of wide significance, not only in Illinois, but elsewhere. We who are closely identified with the case are naturally well pleased, as the decision affords a firm basis not only for the present la v but for future legislation of the same character.

"It goes without saying that much legislation will be needed. Sentiment in the state at large demands it and I am confident that at the primaries in August and at the election in November men will be chosen to the general assembly who will sateguard the interests of the people on this great question.—Champaign Times.

Standing at Home

"Mr. Lux is a graduate of the University of Michigan and has been practising law in this county for ten years and his ability is unquestioned. He is now on his fourth year as state's attorney and the affairs of the office are being conducted to the entire satisfaction of the people. His experience in the office will be of value in the county should he be re-elected. Mr. Lux is a Democrat, whose party loyalty has never been questioned; he enjoys a wide acquaintance and stands high at home as well as all over the county. If nominated he will add strength to the ticket, and if elected with make a capable official. -Lovington Reporter.

Child Has Home.

Two weeks ago Bert Williams advertised for a home for his little ten year old daughter. Just fourteen different persons have inquired at this office for the child. A number of well-to-do people are anxious to adopt the child into their homes. There are many children needing good homes but we are not able to

The little girl, Pera Williams, is a very prepossessing, unusually healthy appearing, active, intelligent child. Her bright sparkling black eyes and willingness reccommend her.

Mrs. Paul Thackwell has the child and is intending to keep her.

Keep the Bell Ringing.

The I. C. railroad company arranged an electric bell at the crossing near Power's elevator to ring at such a time as to warn people approaching the crossing if a train is coming. Some boys in the vicinity have learned how to ring the bell and sometimes it is kept ringing continually for an hour and two hours at a time. If the railroad intended this as a warning let it be used as such, and strictly as intended. If it is just for the boys number along the line and more of them may be amused.

Flag Day.

June 14th, being Flag day Gover nor Deneen has proclaimed Monday June 15ih to be Flag day this year.

"In accordance with long-estab lished custom and national legisla tion, I hereby set apart Monday, June 15, 1908, as Flag day, and I recommend that the day be observed in all parts of the state by the display of the national emblem upon our public buildings, business houses and homes, and in participation in such ceremonies as are appropriate to this occasion."

Compete for Prizes.

Among the Forester teams that will compete for prizes at the Modern Woodmen Head Camp, to be held in Peoria in June, many will come from a great distance. The team from Pasadena, Cal., is making great preparations for the trip. People of that city have subscribed about $3,000 for the purpose of paying the expense of the team. The boys are figuring on carrying away the first prize.

He Had a Message for the Don Hi dalgo Tiberius.

IB and I met at the pier the circus boss just returned from England, and before the cab had landed us at the Broadway office we had consented to engineer a brand-new deal, twofold in its incentive. First we were to escort a slap-bang an imal show around the southwestern circuit, penetrating the home of the frijoles and tortillas, and wrench from the childish grasp of the Aztecs enough crude silver to pay expenses. We were to go to Chihuahua, and possibly farther. Secondly, we were to pick up a troupe of bull-fighters and Mazeppa-like dons for a big wild-west show. The latter was the real object, only we wished to invade the firesides of the Montezumas in an off-handed manner, with our mission slightly disguised.

"Well, everything went along in the rut of dull routine until after we left El Paso. Then the curiosity of the mestizos, who form one-half of the population of old Mexico, and who, by the way, are in a state of slavery but slightly removed from the conditions after the Spanish Mayflower tripped the coast, began to furnish u with annoyance

"A sun-kissed peon, with a large quantity of aguardiente concealed about his person, came to our showtent and tried to bite his way by rotund Vermont man without crossing our palms with silver. That's largely metaphor as we let them in for what they had, except the alcalde, who entered deadhead. 'Take what you can,' was our motto; but the halfbreed forestalled a shake-down by explaining, in badly-fractured English that he had a message for Don Hidalgo Tiberio, which he would only deliver in return for a front seat. was written by an Americano, he said, who was in Quelta, an adjacent town.

"It seems there were four 'poor devils,' all Americans. They were to Quelta, the letter said, waiting to be sent to the salt mines for life. Now a man who knows Mexico would rent the salt mines out to his dearest enemy and live in Hades—if he owned both. The letter was a brief one, the writer merely stating his prospects, and saying he had heard from his guards of Smith's presence in Chihuahua. He begged Tiberius to rescue him if he had any love for the children of the Star-Spangled Banner.

"Tib knew Spanish more or less chiefly less, but he carried a giltheaded cane that would make up the uifference in effect on the average alcalde and a quick trot to the halls of justice gave him an insight to the situation. It seems Murphy, the writer, and his friends had been foolish enough to hire out as a train crew on the Central, and that their train, near Quelta, had run over a big bug's hired man. Now the average peon, after absorbing all the visible supply of aguardiente, will hunt all over the map for the most outre place in which to sleep off his Alice-blue rabbits, and nothing appeals to his sordid imagina tion so much as a busy railroad track

"The upshot of it all was I hustled back to El Paso, where we had some green-room effects of a new opera stored, and as fleet-footed as possible hiked back to Chihuahua, accompanied by two big trunks. Meanwhile Tib had sent our bill poster to Quelta to hang up a few valentines, advertising the coming of the show, and incidentally to slip into Murphy's hand a note of minute instructions.

"This done, Tib tried to get me to go north and sit on the farther bank of the Rio and await the last curtain Of course I wasn't for that, and he blessed me and said we would probably wind up as salt miners. Then he directed me to throw some hardware and cartridges into the cages, and on Saturday morning, with two closed animal wagons, we started for Quelta. We had one man who could drive chain-lightning, let alone the most erratic Mexican mule, and, best of all, we could trust him.

"It took us a day to cover the short stretch over their rotten roads, but at last we arrived at Quelta amid a Toltec buzz of excitement, and pitched the side-show tent, as if preparing for the Sunday performance.

'My plans are built like a watch. and if it don't happen in five minutes I've missed fire,' groaned Tib, as we unlocked the covers to the carts.

"Then it happened. First we heard a yell; then half a dozen champagne bottles opened in quick succession, and the little chapel bell began ding-donging excitedly.

"Next, with fierce panting, four men burst through the chaparral that came up to the rear of our tent and plunged inside the white walls. I had just time to notice they were haggard and unkempt and then in a second the wooden covers were down to allow them to enter the cages, and then snapped back in place again.

'I'm afraid, Billy,' declared Tib, calmly, as he began sorting out some posters, 'that the rest of the show won't arrive in time for to-morrow's

"Just as he said this a bevy of villagers, headed by our trusty driver, Collins, burst through the canvas, yelling and brandishing carbines and other impedimenta.

"Four men escaped from the soldiers, Mr. Smith, and I told the guard thought they came this way,' panted Collins, with an expressive wink.

"'What?' roared Tib, in Spanish.

Law-breakers escaped! Free passes to the brave men who capture 'em. believe they did pass this way behind the tent in the brush. I heard a crashing and thought it was a mule. My lion growled fiercely. Hark! He is growling now!'

The gang paused in running away to hear the growl and Tiberius, standing near Murphy's cage, hissed: 'Growl, you villain, growl!'

"And thereat a most blood-chilling roar came from Murphy's den, and the others, to make sure, began to throw in a series of yells that would cause a Bowery gallery-god to go home and through sheer envy take lessons. The crowd fell back in a wave; it simply swept 'em off their feet, sir. To cap the imax Collins cried: 'Don't let 'em get excited. Mr. Smith! Remember the three men mauled to death in El Paso!'

"After they'd gone, Tib turned to me and grinned. 'I think we'll win the trick. And isn't that Collins

"Now each cage was divided by a grating of bars, and in each cosy nook was one of the comic opera suits I'd brought from El Paso. In signing these animal make-ups Tib had made use of air chambers, so that when a man got tucked into one and the bicycle pump had been agitated

By HUGH PENDEXTER when it comes to the trundle beds. | course, at the best it was a fierce | left leg!"—the last in English. "They | yet, Billy," cried Tib to me, in disgust counterfeit and when the quadruped forgot and stood on his hind legs the effect was simply stupendous. First Tib ordered Murphy to slip into the lion's pelt, and Murphy was mad. He said he was Irish and would pose as a harp, but never as an emblem of Merry England. Tib talked to him like a hired man to a sick horse, and at last the metamorphosis was effected. Then the others were speedily transformed into a black bear, a tiger and a hyena respectively.

"After they had struggled into their masquerades and Tib had used the pump on the air-pockets we dropped the covers to get the tout ensemble "Tib snapped the barricades in place in a jiffy, and said stiffly: 'I never give a performance unless I have all my animals. These are but the advance wagons and tent. If the others do not arrive I cannot exhibit.'

"'But, senor, I have tickets. I have invited my friends. As alcalde I shall command you to exhibit to-morrow to prove you are not a humbug,' cried the intruder

"That comes of profanity, Murphy,' groaned Tib after the alcalde left 'I brought these suits along as a safeguard, so that if anyone should get a peep the fleeting glance would not arouse suspicion. Now, hang it all! we've got to give a performance to placate the mayor. For if we don't we can never leave town. So you've got a flea, began to clamber to his hind

Nero, here, your excellency, ate three men and two women before he was brought low in captiv ity, and has added a choice collection of thumbs and fingers to the total since then. The villagers near his wild, free home called him "Ah-Ghee Dah," which being interpreted means "He-Who-Eats - Men - Gladly." Growl Murph. Ah, not so loud. Even a lion has limitations.' And the sound of the Irishman buying freedom with a series of bull-like beliows swept by me and caused the chocolate populace without to shudder.

"Now we come to the hyena, the most treacherous of all beasts,' con tinued Tib, skillfully drawing the spec tators away from Murphy's cage, as that animal, I observed with horror trial to scratch his left shoulder blade with a most union-like contortion. 'His record was kept for three years by my head trainer as to the number of digits he has chewed off, then the task was given up because of its monotony. So, not too near senors and senoritas—not too near See him show his teeth in vain-show your teeth, Reynolds—repining for his native lair. "But Nero, in desperation to escape

'It's them to the salty brine all right, I guess.'
"This caused the quartet to overdo
it as they attempted to cinch freedom by cunning acting. None of them had ever read nature stories, however, and only Tib's ready cane and warning-'Back! back! Not too near!'-saved the day. 'Where I can approach with impunity,' he explained, turning easily to the alcalde, 'you would feel their cruel fangs. Ah, bite, would you? This to the bear, who was lying per fectly quiet, and Tib gave him a poke that brought a cloud of dust from his flanks, whereat he raised his paw to straighten his head, that now was at right angles with all the laws of nature.

"'Behold the lion about to spring! shricked Tib, thrusting into the ribs of the king of the forest and thus bringing him into a more reasonable posture.

"'Fer th' love ly-o-o-o-gh!' spoke and snarled Murphy, in his rich brogue. Wonderful!' gasped the alcalde and his followers. "But I never heard a lion use such a delightful Irish accent before or since in giving his howl of rage.

"'Now we come to the Royal Bengal tiger, bought by me from the sultan of Skowhegan for $10,000,' rattled Tib, rapidly, drawing his auditors to the second bin. To his horror he found the royal stretched out on his stomach, legs straight behind, while the head, turned upside down stared complacently at the top of the cage. Notice the wonderful elasticity of his neck,'-and snap! Tib had reached in and turned the head-piece into place. It simply swept 'em off their feet, sir. It didn't need a naturalist sharp to detect that the tiger was abnormal in some respects.

"'Thanks, mate, growled Weisman. 'The dust-

"But the lion and the hyena prompt. y came to the rescue and drowned the visitors' exclamation of wonder in a series of prolonged yells that put crimps in my tympanums even out at the entrance. "'Ah, he purrs, senors. He purrs, senoritas.—Purr, Weisman. At last he is in good humor,' cried Tib. Then in sotto English: 'Group your legs, you would-be suicide! Cluster yourself!

"Then we held a council of war and decided we would leave immediately while the alcalde and other citizens were having their siestas. And the way Collins and a dozen peons emulated the Arab in striking that tent was a caution. From the natives we learned the guards had got no trace of the fugitives and that Chihuahua was being searched by inches. Tib accordingly decided to skirt the town and make for the Rio.

"We got away from Quelta all right,

SCENES IN CAIRO

A first drive in Cairo is a joyobjects of interest are so unceasing and so replete with historical meaning. The first thing to stir one's memory is he opera house, built in six weeks, so there might be a fitting home of song for the company of great French singers brought over by the royal spendthrift Ismail to assist in the gorgeous celebration attending the opening of the Suez canal. Here was given the first performance of Verdi's opera "Aida," written expressly for the occasion. The performance was further unique from the fact that Mariotte Bey, the great Egyptologist and discoverer of the ssetta stone, gave his attention to the production, so that every detail of cenery, costume and plot was historically correct, while the Egyptian museum was ransacked for properties and jewels. It was probably the greatest stage production ever seen, or that ever could be given, and was only possible at a time when Ismail spent $21,000,000 on the celebration attending the opening of the canal that was, first and last, his country's ruin.

In the Monski, as well as other characteristically native streets on way to the bazaars, every phase of life may be seen. Open shops, scarcely six feet across, with imperturbable proprietors smoking waterpipes, a constant procession through the streets of donkeys, carts loaded with veiled women, camels treading stealthily, one of which was seen daintily nibbing at the flowers on the Parisian bonnet of the lady in a victoria just ahead. Flocks of geese and turkeys might be seen driven along the street by venders, who guide them with a little switch, keeping them under perfect

Very laughable is the rivalry between the keepers of the bazaars and bitter the denunciation that fills the ear of the foreigner as he stops to make a purchase. The strange medley of tongues and the stranger pronunciation of his own language makes the buyer stare and then double up with laughter.

If he selects an article from the proprietor of the stand on his left will shrick in his ear: "No buy of heem! Heem verra bad man! Heem tief! Heem fadder tief! Heem mudder tief! His granfader tief! Heem gran-mudder tief! No buy of heem!" While the imperturable proprietor on the right will respond in a low guttural, like a bass solo following a soprano cadenza: "Heem big liar! Heem go jail! Heem got notting! Me got ebberyting! Look you! Shmakkin kip (smoking cap), packet snif (pocket knife) 'ooble-booble (hubble-bubble, or waterpipe), preera-beed (prayer beads, or rosary)." Then, with a shout of triumph: Shlippers all! Shlippers mooch! Beada shlippers! Silka shlippers! Golda shlippers! Me got all! Heem big liar! Heem go jail!" and so on ad infinitum.

By which my reader will perceive that shopping in Cairo is not all of heaven, nor yet of the other place, and that the amenities are much subordinate to that love which is the root of all evil.

A wedding is quite likely to follow next in the wonderful street procession. First a clown or mountebank, dancing, grimacing, rolling in the dirt, going through all sorts of antics for the amusement of the people. He is followed by men playing on a collection of shricking and wailing musical instruments. Then comes the bride, sometimes in a closely-shuttered carriage, draped with tinsel-trimmed velvet, or, what is much more picturesque, a curtained litter slung between two camels. After her comes the fur-niture for her new home, for a bride is expected o provide everything, even to the bridegroom's trousseau. This plenishing is all piled on camels, who go swaying along, sneering supercili-ously as if deploring the foolishness of these human customs. A camel's ex-pression of conscious superfority must be rather trying, if one sees much

o much ceremony attend so eas-solved a relation as marriage is have so much cerem in Cairo. A man, with or without any just cause, has only to say before witnesses, "Woman, I divorce thee!" and repeat it three times, and he is as free as before he married her. He has to return to her her house plenishing and she returns her dowry to him. This dowry consists of one-third of a man's possessions, which he settles on her

According to the Mohammedan faith a man may have four wives, that is, all to onct, as they say in the west. He may divorce and re-marry, still keeping to his allowance of four, as many times as he likes.

All these sights, and many more may be seen during a drive to see the dancing, or, more properly, whirling dervishes, who dance every Friday afternoon. Friday is the Mohammedan Sunday, and in the afternoon they conduct this performance, which is a religious ceremony, but palpably worked up for the benefit of the hun-dreds of tourists who flock to see it.

The performance takes place an inclosed circular floor, with rugs about the edge, upon which at the legin-ning the dervishes, to the number of about 16, sit, wrapped in big black cloaks and wearing tall felt hats. The sheik, in a green turban, sits on a rug of extra elegance, with the koran on a cushion in front of him. A solo on a wailing flute opened the performance piercing squeals and breathless trills putting our nerves and teeth on edge, until an unseen man in the balcony cuts it short by beginning to intone in a high-pitched voice a long incantation about a young person by the name of Mall; at least her name was all we neard. After that the dervishes arose, cast their cloaks on the ground and stood revealed in white robes, with exceedingly full skirts, from under which their bare feet peeped out.

Then they began a solemn process sion about the space, bowing to their neighbors either way as they reached the rug of the sheik. This was done three times, the men walking and bowing, not without grace and dignity Suddenly, as the third round was completed, the first man flung out his arms and began to spin rounds and round, his skirts standing away stiffly from his limbs. One could not but expect to see him suddenly duck, his skirts billowing up around him, as little girls do when they play the game of "making cheeses." Momentarily he was joined by others, until the ring became filled with whirling agures, each holding its arms and head in some distinctive position, some going about sedately in one spot while others piouretted airily in and out among the other dancers.

One man had his arms held out in singularly appealing manner, while his head was cuddled down on his shoulder, giving him a ridiculously coy ex-nomination who conduct their religious worship on different lines.

This is the last act, for after about 15 minutes of this whirling the der vishes cease, resume their cloaks and the performance is over.

The commercial instinct of this sec eems more highly developed than that of the other, for here the sum of two plastees each was charged for admittance. As we entered the door a great volume of sound greeted us and rose and fell like the sound of men's voices chanting.

Here was another inclosed circular space, another venerable sheik in green turban and about 20 dervishes seated around the rail, all chanting:
"Allah il Allah!" their bodies swaying from side to side as they shouted the assertion that "God is God" over and over again.

They next stood up and, swaying back and forth convulsively, emitted gusty sighs that gradually grew into horrible noises as leader after leader sprang in front of them, setting the pace faster and faster, a new leader taking the place of the exhausted one as he turned and bowed to the sheik, signifying that he could do no more. All this time a blind sheik chanted un-ceasingly in a high piccolo voice.

The bodies swayed and jerked more and more quickly, the noises grew to frenzied howls and animal-like sounds that reminded one forcibly of the zoo at feeding time. A tall, gaunt desert priest stepped in front of the men, bowing and swaying, his long hair al ternately covering his face and tossed back over his shoulders.

Under his leadership the dervishes became frantic, their eyes were glazed, foam flew from their lips and some fell prone from exhaustion. We stayed to see no more, but hurried out followed by the volume of inhuman cries and howle. FIVE MONTHS IN HOSPITAL

"Eczema appeared on my son's face. We went to a doctor who treated him for three months. Then he was so bad that his face and head were nothing but one sore and his ears looked as if they were going to fall off, so we tried another doctor for four months, the haby never getting any better. His hand and legs had big sores on them and the poor little fellow suffered so terribly that he could not sleep. After he had suffered six months we tried a set of the Cuticura Remedies and the first treatment let him sleep and rest well; in one week the sores were gone and in two months he had a clear face. Now he is two years and ha never had eczema again. Mrs. Louis beck, R. F. D. 3, San Antonio, Tex., Apr. 15, 1907."

She Said So, Anyway. The young man who was endeavoring to win the favor of Bobby's pretty sister met the boy on the street one morning, and greeted him with much cordiality.

"Er-do you think your sister was pleased to know I had called the other day?" he was at last forced to ask, bluntly, after several efforts to guide Bobby's conversation in that direction.

"Sure!" said Bobby, with gratifying promptness. "I know she was. heard her say so.

Kangaroo as a Food.

Twenty or 30 years ago the back country squatters, in order to destroy kangaroos, used to dig huge pits at the corners of their paddocks, running yards of calico along their wire fences drive the pits, clubbing and shooting them. In those days kangaroo skins were of no value; now that they are almost extinct, there is a great demand for them. The flesh of a young kangaroo is by no means to be despised, and kangaroo tail soup is a delicacy now hardly to be obtained.

This remarkable book (by William Jennings Bryan), of 575 pages, voluminously illustrated and elegantly bound, has been issued by "The Thompson Publishing Company" of St. Louis, Mo, and is sold by subscription.

We would advise our young friends who are out of employment to seek the agency and canvass for th's book. It is certainly one of the most readable, entertaining and edifying volumes we have read in a long time. It was almost like retracing our first trip around the world, with less than one-thousandth of the money and one-hundreth of the time required for our "first trip."

The great problems of civilization, religion, philosophy and government in Japan, China, the Philippines, India, as well as Europe, are presented in a clear light by a great brain.

Mr. Bryan was accompanied on this trip by his wife and two younger children, William J. Jr., and Grace, aged 16 and 14 respectively. They started September 21, 1905, and reached home September, 5 1906, sixteen days less than one year. While most of this trip was in the North Temperate Zone, they for days and days with water and soda over a slow fire. They emptied it into barrels and allowed it to settle into a mud, says a writer in the Philadelphia North American of Mme. Slodowska Curie and her husband, the discoverers of radium. They washed the mud and washed it again. Then they boiled it afresh, with carbonate of soda. They let the mud settle anew and commend ed afresh to wash it. They treated the final sediment with hydrochloric acid and secured a colorless liquid, which they subjected to a series of reactions and crystallizations, followed by refinings and rerefinings, until in the end they had several infinitely tiny flakes. these were radium. In the course of their experiments they discovered polonium, named for Mme. Curie's native land, and actinium, as well as radium.

London's Shabby People.

Let the reader keep his eyes open as he walks about London, and he will see on every side of him the broken soldiers of this innumerable army. The old journalist, the old clerk, the old actor, the old shopman, the old nondescripts of those odd and multifarious employments whose very names are unknown to most of us-there they go, pensionless, comfortless and home living on the gratuities of their chil-dren and seeking in chance employ-ments to earn a casual sixpence for their hunger. The common lodging houses, the miserable garrets in court and alley and the cheap bedrooms in small suburban streets are always full of London's shabby people. - London Strand Magazine.

"Lambaste" is a sinewy, heroic word. We prefer it to its variant "lambust." And it is a word of respectable age. "Stand off awhile and see how I'll lambaste him" was written in 1637. It comes from the word "lam," to beat soundly, and "baste," which means the same thing. The tautology is here only intensive. But the word should always be spelled with a final "e."—London Standard.

ACHES OF THE PAST.

Tyrants and Toothaches-Mary May Have Had Indigestion.

In a medical contemporary regret is expressed that we are left in ignorance and must forever remain so-of the afflictions sore which great men of the past bore either for a long or short period.

We have no idea what "carried off" certain historical persons, and we are very hazy as to the complaints of some diseases were "best interred with their bones" and that at this distance of time it could make but little difference whether Milton suffered from glauco na or cataract or whether Charles II had phthisis. But, on coming to think it over, perhaps it would make us take a different view of the characters of dead and gone celebrities if we knew exactly how their nerves were affected and what they had to bear. We could make excuses for Milton, for example, were we sure that his eye trouble caused pressure on certain blood vessels which induced extreme irritability. We might regard Queen Mary in a wholly different light did we know the exact state of her digestion. Robes pierre might not have been at all a bad fellow had he had proper treatment for yout, and if it comes to that this document might never have been signed, that war might never have been waged, certain people might have kept their heads to the end of the chapter, while others might have lived happily ever after, if only it had been recognized in their day that they were the victims of certain complaints.

Our whole history perhaps has be changed through toothache, just, as it is surmised, was the disposition of the tyrannical Pharaoh, and nervous dyspepsia doubtless brought about many cruelties of other days.

The Mystery Of a Grio

[Original.] house on the hill was the principal residence of Heyfordville. and it and its occupants were du reverenced by the people. It had passed down from one generation of Heyfords, from whom the town derived its name, to another till it fell into the hands of Lawrence Heyford. bachelor about thirty. He kept servants there and stayed there himself at times. Since he was a man of the world, the neighbors wondered why he stayed there at all, but he had little or no intercourse with any of them, and there was no way of finding out why he did so.

Some suspected that a young woma named Agnes Dow had something to do with Heyford's visits to the stone house. This, however, was because he had once or twice been seen with her and for no other reason. Miss Dow was not especially handsome but there was something about her attractive to men. She had no friends among omen. Whether this was because she did not care to be intimate with these of her own sex or they did not care to be intimate with her was a mooted question among the men. The women knew all about it, but either could not or would not make any explanation

One day Edwin Tower, who knew Heyford, when passing through a town far removed from Heyfordville read in newspaper of a singular trial that was going on. A men named Gesell was being tried for the murder of one Picton. Gesell bore evidence of refin ment, though he did not show at in his appearance or his clothing. There was the best circumstantial evidence that he had committed the murder, though the prosecutor for the state could not the slightest motive. The man would tell nothing of his antecedents. and no information with regard to them could be derived from others.

Tower's curiosity was excited, and having time to kill, he went to the courtroom. The prisoner was evidently terribly depressed. He wore a stubble beard and a tramp's clothing. There was something in his appearance familiar to Tower. Tower was sure he knew the man, but could not ple

Tower was obliged to leave for home that evening. On reaching Heyfords ville he went to the stone house on the hill and asked if Mr. Heyford was there. He was not. On the street Tower met Agnes Dow. He asked her if she knew of the whereabouts of Lawrence Heyford. She drew down her brows and the corners of her mouth in a singular fashion, paling slightly, and asked him why he expected to gain such information from her. He apologized and went on. Fo awhile after that he was observed by his friends to have something on l mind.

When Heyford made his next visit to the stone house he shut himself there for a long while. Indeed, he had been there some time before any on knew of his arrival. He was seen once or twice, but it was winter, as he was much muffled. After awhile he vent away again. Tower had kept in touch with the rial of Gesell and learned that he was acquitted rather from the fact that the chain of evidence against him was imperfect than as to any doubt that he was guilty. There are times person will connect different happ ings without being conscious of any reason for doing so. Tower made such connection in his own mind between three persons-Agnes Dow, Lawr Heyford and Gesell, the murderer. For his life he could not get rid of grouping this trio in some mystery.

Meanwhile the gap between Dow and the women of Heyfordsville rew broader. Then there were certain whisperings. The class of people have but little knowled edge of the superstition of the lowe classes. Where the idea emanated from no one knew, but the children of another in whisper as a witch. When they met her on the street before pa ing her they would cross to the oth Young women of her own simply avoided her. Their moth were divided on the matter. So coffed at the treatment she received while others forbade their daugh to have anything to do with her. for the young men, some of them weu have been glad to pay court to the object of all this variety of opinion, had of late Agnes would not permit any them to come near her.

Years passed, and Lawrence Heyfe did not return to the stone ho Where he was no one knew. Two see ants who had from their birth gre old in the service of the family stare in the house simply as caretakers. Pe ple often asked them where the own was, but they said they did not kno All their communications were Mr. Heyford's agent in the city. Age Dow outlived the other members of 1 family and dwelt alone in the he they had occupied together. No conelse ever went into it, and she no went into any home but her own. B ole wondered why she did not go to live in some other town. They also w dered why she who had been so po lar with men never married. The valling opinion was that she cov Lawrence Heyford: that she could i get him and she would have no celse. She lived to be fifty years old.

One day Heyford came back a bro old man. This was several years at Agnes Dow's death. Soon after his m turn he died and before his death fessed to a clergyman that he had i wildly in love with Agnes Dow. In had influenced him to quarrel with an kill a man who he afterward learns had jilted her. ABIGAIL TREAT

Springfield.-Gov. Deneen signed the bill passed by the state legislature en abling the city council of Chicago to fix the salaries of aldermen. He also signed the bill appropriating $10,000 for the purpose of printing the report of the asylum committee, which, he declared, should be entitled a bill to assist the Democratic party. The bill providing additional protection to coal miners by requiring that all miners shall pass an examination conducted by an examining board of three members, appointed by the circuit judge of that district, was approved and be comes effective July 1 next. Other bills signed by the executive were Compelling corporations to make re ports to the state bureau of labor statistics as asked for by that bureau. Legalizing the issuing of county bonds for the purpose of constructing county buildings. Providing that employes shall be allowed two hours' relief from work on days of special elections the same as already provided for in regular elections. Appropriating an additional $10,000 for the Training School for Girls at Geneva. To prevent pan dering and providing severe penalty for the same. A movement is on foot among a number of lawyers of the state to make an effort during the coming campaign to wipe out the fee system in the offices of the clerks of the supreme and appellate courts. A bill providing a straight salary of $6,000 a year for the clerk of the supreme court was introduced but failed to pass the recent general assembly.

Corn Show Dates Are Set.

The Illinois State Corn exposition will be held in Springfield November 23 to 28. The men who are back of it include some of the best-known land owners in Sangamon county, and they are putting up their money and giving their time for purely patriotic reasons. President Roosevelt has called the attention of the country to the impor tance of taking immediate steps toward the conservation of national re sources. Indian corn is by far the greatest of the resources of Illinois, and in line with the president's warn ing, the Illinois State Corn exposition formed and financed by publicspirited citizens of Springfield. It is the ambition of the company to inter est every corn grower in the state in the modern, scientific ways of raising corn, so that the yield and the quality may be increased and improved in every county. Besides the corn itself, will be exhibits of kindred cereals and grasses, feed and farm machinery and displays of most of the 107 by-products, showing the process from the raw material to the market article. The corn kitchen will show the many ways corn is used as a food and there will be a course of lecture by men high in the agricultural world on the scientific raising of corn.

Coal Car Ruling May Halt Traffic.

In an effort to have a ruling of the interstate commerce commission re quiring a new system of coal car distribution set aside, the Chicago & Alton and Illinois Central Railroad companies have filed injunction suits the United States circuit court at Chicago. The commission's ruling, which becomes effective July 1, followed complaints by the Illinois Collieries company that it was being discriminated against in the distribution of coal Certain operators, the Illinois Collieries company charged, obtained the use of foreign, leased and private e company was forced to remain satisfied with what regular cars were available. In times of shortage, it was alleged, this discrimination was of serious consequence.

Speaker Seeks Honor.

That Speaker Shurtleff is ambitious to succeed United States Senator Hopkins is the belief of many Illinois politicians who are watching with interest the McHenry county man's fight to return to the lower house of the legislature. With Shurtleff back in the house and again speaker he is figured by some as a probable candidate for the senatorial toga now worn by the Aurora man. The vote of the people at the August primary is not binding upon members of the legislature and it is believed by some of those who keep their political ears close to the ground that Shurtleff may try and secure the nomination.

Illinois Owls Hold Session.

The annual convention of the Owls of Illinois met in this city. The address of welcome was made by A. G Murray, corporation counsel of Springfield. President Fred S. O'Hara of Springfield delivered an address and committees were appointed.

To Attend Convention.

A transportation committee to ar range for rates to the Democratic convention at Denver and to ascertain how many of the Springfield Demo crats would go, was appointed by Presi dent James M. Boost November Corn Show.

A special committee composed of Nicholas Roberts, just elected execu tive secretary of the chamber of commerce; A. L. Bowen and Jerome Le land, attended the annual convention of the Illinois Press association at Champaign for the purpose of booming the big corn show. They secured a hearing on the matter on the floor of the convention and urged the Illinois newspaper men to give the widest possible publicity to the enterprise. The Illinois Press association is composed of the publishers of newspapers throughout Illinois and has a large membership. The convention was in session for three days and much im portant business was transacted. The committee which boomed the corn show to be held in this city November 23 to 28 cited many interesting facts why the members of the press as tion should lend it their support. They demonstrated that Illinois is the great est corn producing state in the union.

Shurtleff Gives Candidacy Notice. Speaker Edward D. Shurtleff has an nounced himself a candidate for renomination, and also a candidate for re-election as speaker in the event of his election. The formal statement made to his constituents in McHenry "To the Repub licans of the Eighth senatorial district: I desire to announce that I shall be a candidate for the lower house of representatives of the general assembly from the Eighth sena torial district, subject to the Republican primaries to be held August 8 1908. In the Forty-fourth general as sembly, 1905, and the Forty-fifth general assembly, 1907, in substantially four sessions, the Eighth senatorial district and McHenry county have had the honor and influence of filling the speakership of the lower house How fairly or how poorly I have filled that position I can only leave to the judgment of others."

Miss Lathrop Is Reappointed.

Miss Julia C. Lathrop, who has been appointed by Gov. Deneen a member of the state board of charities, to suc ceed herself, was appointed to the board in 1906. She was also a mem ber of the board in 1901. Miss Lathrop's home is in Rockford, but she has been for a number of years an as sistant to Miss Jane Addams at Hull house. She is well-known as a leader of reform movements. Miss Lathrop is a daughter of former Congressman William Lathrop, who was one of the best-known lawyers in northern Illinois. Since the completion of her school days Miss Lathrop has been connected with a number of philanthropic and charitable institutions.

After Dishonest Dairies.

Dairymen who have shipped adulterated milk from this state to Missouri will be prosecuted in the United States district court in this city. Thir ty-one informations have been filed by Assistant United States District Attorney Henry A. Converse, upon in vestigation carried on by government inspectors. The milk that was in spected by the government officials was found to be diluted with water and below the standard in butter fat The investigation was carried on un der the pure food act. The inspection was carried on last winter, at the request of the St. Louis city officials, but absolute secrecy was maintained until a few days ago.

Weather Conditions Are Better.

Weather conditions throughout Illinois are more favorable to crops than for several weeks, according to the report issued by Section Director William G. Burns. High winds with damaging effect were reported in some districts. The report follows: "The weather conditions were somewhat more favorable than during the last three weeks. The high temperatures of the previous week were continued until the 31st, when a decided fall oc curred. The mean temperature for the week was three degrees above normal, the extremes being 48 degrees and 95

Option Law Again Upheld.

The supreme court denied the petition for a rehearing in the case of the People against McBride, in which the court again held the local option law to be constitutional.

Ridgely Petition Is Withdrawn The petition for a grade crossing in the former village of Ridgely filed by the Illinois Central Traction company was withdrawn at the meeting of the railroad and warehouse commission It is probable that the petition will be re-filed at a later date. The matter has been pending for several months. When the matter was called for final disposition attorneys announced that the petition would be withdrawn. Railroads that were to be affected by the crossings opposed the proposition made by the traction company.

Shocking Case of Incendiarism Near Berlin, Where Throng Gathered to Hear a Famous Dominican Monk.

Berlin.-An attempt was made Monday to burn down the old St. Paulus Catholic church at Moabit, belonging to the Dominicans, which was crowded with people assembled to hear a sermon by the famous Dominican monk, Bonaventuri. About 1,800 persons were present, including more than a thousand women and children, to hear the mass.

While the congregation was kneeling in silent prayer some one informed Father Bonaventuri that the church was afire. Without alarming the congregation, he coolly stepped over to the priest who was celebrating mass and requested him to close the serv-

The priest left the altar and spoke to his six assistants, who walked down the aisles and whispered to the pewholders that an insignificant blaze had broken out and that they had better leave the building as soon as possible.

At this time the entire roof of the church was a mass of flames fire brigade was hurrying to the burning building. Those in the church, not knowing the extent of the blaze, fortunately did not realize their peril, and on the clergy's request made their exit rapidly and in an orderly manner.

When they reached the streets they found the firemen drawn up, with ladders against the walls. The fire fighters discovered that nearly a dozen firebrands, soaked with petroleum had been distributed about various parts of the roof. The flames were extinguished with difficulty after great damage had been done. The police suspect a gang of incendiaries, who, it is stated, set fire to the old Garrison church, which was destroyed on April 14 last.

The firemen declare that only the coolness of the clergy prevented a great disaster.

RECEIVER FOR A RAILROAD.

Wheeling & Lake Erle Fails, Owing Over $28,000,000.

Toledo, O.—On claims aggregating $8,791,047 due the National Car Wheel company of New York, the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad was thrown into the hands of a receiver late Monday by United States District Judge W. ## IN THE PUBLIC EYE

SON OF ADMIRAL EVANS

Although Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans re-inquished the command of the battleship fleet a short time ago, yet there is another member of the family in the naval service and at present at-tached to the battleship Louisiana, with the fleet

This officer is Lieut, Franck Taylor Evans the only son of the former commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet. Resembling his father in looks, the younger Evans had made a very creditable record since his entrance in the navy, 14

He was born in Switzerland, while his father was attached to the European fleet in the 70's September 6, 1894, he was appointed to the naval academy at large. Completing his four-years course of instruction at the academy in 1898, he vas graduated from that institution. In April of that year, and just before the outbreak of the Spanish war, he was assigned to the battleship Massachusetts, commanded by Capt. Francis J. Higginson. He served on the Massachusetts through the war, taking part in the bombardment at Santiago, San Juan and in a number of engage ments in Cuban waters. He remained on the Massachusetts until 1899, when he was transferred to the gunboat Nashville. In 1900 he was assigned to the Brutus on the Asiatic station.

In 1904 he was assigned to President Roosevelt's yacht Sylph as her commanding officer and remained on her until the latter part of 1905, when he was ordered to Newport News for duty in connection with the fitting out of the new 16,000-ton battleship Louisiana. When she was commissioned in 1906 he was assigned to duty on her. He made the trip on the Louisiana, when she took President Roosevelt to Panama, and also on the cruise from Hampton Roads to San Francisco He was promoted to the grade of lieutenant on July 1, 1904.

"FIDDLER BOB" TAYLOR

Robert Love Taylor, better known throughout Tennessee as "Fiddler Boh." devoted his maiden speech in the United States senate recently to an attack upon the Republican party and the executive. Some of his similes were very effective, as when he compared the federal power and the states to the centripetal and centrifugal forces that rule the universe, and when he said this of the railways:

"They are only one string of the harp of a thousand strings upon which our modern Orpheus is playing the triumphal march of federalism."

Senator Taylor got his nickname of Fiddler Bob from the campaign he waged in 1889, for election to the United States congress. He had nothing to aid him but his wits and his fiddle, but being a mountaineer himself he knew how to reach the hearts of the people of the hills. He set out for the mountain regions carrying his fiddle and wherever he stopped he brought it out and a dance was organized right away. The young folks danced to his music while the older ones were won by his merry chatter. He was elected. His next am bition was to become United States senator and he made the run. He received a telegram that he had been elected by a majority of one, but later he received another that one of his supporters had changed his vote and elected his opponent. Taylor said nothing, but he made the run for governor of the state, this time having his own brother for an opponent, which gave to the contest the sobriquet of "War of the Roses." The ancient fiddle was effective and Bob was elected. He was twice re-elected. His opportunity to achieve his final ambition effered itself at last election and he ran for the senate once more, being triumphantly elected this time.

Senator Taylor was born in Happy Valley, Tenn., in July, 1850. He graduated from Pennington college and in 1878 was admitted to the bar. He was an elector-at-large on the Cleveland ticket in 1884 and again in 1892. After retiring from the office of chief executive Mr. Taylor entered the lecture field He is an attorney by profession, and he is also editor of Bob Taylor's Magazine, a publication that reflects the character and the idiosyncrasies of the

OPPOSES REVOLVING DOORS

Louis Lepine, prefect of police, by issuing the ordinance forbidding the use of revolving doors in restaurants, hotels and other public buildings capable of holding more than 100 persons, on the ground that they are dangerous in case of fire or panic, has again demonstrated that he is the wielder of the "big stick" in Paris.

The order has aroused the indignation of those who have installed these doors at great expense, but the prefect is used to grumblings and mutterings. To use an American expression, he allows their complaints to go "in one ear and out of the other."

That the edict will stand goes without saying, for the office of prefect is more important than that of a cabinet minister. He is appointed by the president and is answerable neither to parliament nor to Paris.

M. Lepine is supported by a small army in carrying out his edicts. He controls 50,000 troops, 12,000 police and 8,000 guards. He is a gentleman, a scholar and brother to a great medical luminary, Prof. Raphael Lepine, of the faculty of Lyons, and editor of the Revue de Medicine. It is a family of what was called in other days "noblesse de robe," descending from generations of lawyers, doctors and government functionaries.

M. Lepine was born in Paris in 1846, became a lawyer and entered the "administration" in 1877 as sub-prefect, and has risen through all the grades to prefect, to which he was appointed in 1893. So well has he met the require ments of his strenuous office that every president since that time has reappointed him. He was a charge of Paris during the Dreyfus troubles, with its rioting and violent possibilities.

NEW PRESIDENT OF PERU

Senor Don Augusto B. Leguia, who was re cently elected to succeed Dr. Pardo as president of Peru, is said to be one of the best friends the United States ever has had in South America The richness of Peru is proverbial, and for years Senor Leguia has maintained that every effor. should be made to encourage the investment of American capital in enterprises intended to develop and exploit the resources of his country His liking for American methods is probably partly due to the fact that the large part of his early commercial training was acquired in the Spanish-American department of the New York Life Insurance Company. He was with this corporation for years, and when he resigned his place, in 1889, he had worked his way up from a clerkship to the man gement of all the interests of the New York Life in Peru. Since retiring from the insurance business Senor Leguia has been the managing director of the British Sugar Estates, Limited, which has several million dollars invested in sugar estates in different parts of Peru, and he is also the largest stockholder in six other important industrial and commercial enterprises.

Senor Leguis entered political life in 1903 as minister of finance in President Candamo's government, of which the present president of Peru, Dr. Jose Pardo, was prime minister. President Candamo lived only six months after taking office, and when the vacancy caused by his death was filled by the election of President Pardo, Senor Leguia was made prime minister and intrusted with the forming of a new cabinet. He retired from this office only a tew months ago, in accordance with a custom which requires a candidate for an elective public office to resign before opening a campa Senor Leguia is 45 years old, having been born at Lambayeque, in the north of Peru, on February 19, 1863.

BOILER TUBE ON THE CRUISER TENNESSEE BURSTS.

TEN OF THE CREW INJURED

Rear Admiral Sebree and Other Officers Have Narrow Escapes-Vessel Was on Speed Trial Near San Pedro.

Pedro, Cal. - A terrible occurred on board the United States armored cruiser Tenat 11:30 o'clock Friday morning while the ship was steaming at 19 knots on a speed trial off Point Ruenene, Cal., a steam pipe in the starboard engine room bursting under 235 pounds' pressure, killing four men and injuring ten others-all of the men in the compartment at the time. The explosion, the cause of which is unknown, occurred only a few minutes after Admiral Uriel Sebree, Capt. F. B. Howard and Chief Engineer Robertson had left the engine room on a tour of inspection Names of the Victims.

The dead: George Wood, water ender, Scranton, Pa.; E. C. Boggs, second-class fireman, Woodlawn, Ala.; A. Reinhold, machinist's mate, second class, Germany; George W. Meek, tlass, Germany; George W. Mc first-class fireman, Skidmore, Kan.

Fatally injured: S. Stematis, first class fireman, Norfolk, Va.; F. S. Maxfield, second-class fireman, Toughkenamon, Pa.

Men Scalded with Steam.

The tube, which is four inches in diameter and inclosed with water in-side the boiler, blew out, driving a torrent of scalding steam, coal dust cinders and hot ashes through the ash pit and showered the half-naked men. A blast of white steam from the venti lators told those on deck of the accident, and Lieut. Commander S. S. Robinson, the navigator, instantly sounded a general alarm and dropped 20 lines of hose ready for instant use in case of fire.

Within the doomed fire room, amidship on the starboard side, the surviving seamen were fighting for life. Reinhold and Meek were stricken dead at their posts. Boggs and Wood crawled or were dragged into the adjoining fire room, and died almost impediately. The other seamen in the starboard starboar mediately. The other seamen, all of whom received some injuries, acted with the greatest heroism in aiding their unfortunate mates.

Close Call for Sebree. Rear Admiral Sebree himself escaped death or serious injury in the fated fire pit by a mere moment's time. He had left the room where the exoccurred not 50 seconds be fore the fatal blast. The admiral stood in the engine room adjoining the fire room with Chief Engineer Robert son and Capt. Howard. His first intimation of the tragedy was as he mounted the ladder and a half-naked fireman leaped past him suffering from severe scalds.

When the smoke came from the fire room, the fire call was sounded and all the crew went to their stations in rfect order and in a few seconds 15 to 20 lines of hose were ready to turn on the fire. Several of the crew behaved with heroism and will be reported to the department later.

MAJOR DREYFUS IS SHOT

MILITARY WRITER WOUNDS THE NOTED FRENCH OFFICER.

Louis Gregori Says He Fired Bullet as Protest Against the Glorification of Emile Zola.

Paris.-Just at the close of the ceremonies attending the interment of Emile Zola in the Pantheon Thursday, when the president of France, the premier and a host of ministers of state were taking their departure, Louis Anthehne Gregori, a military writer of note, drew a revolver and fired two shots point-blank at Maj. Alfred Dreyfus, for whose liberty Zola fought and won.

Men distinguished in all walks of life filled the Pantheon and when the shots rang out there was intense excitement in fear that the president had been assassinated, but even the attempt on the life of Maj. Dreyfus created a profound impression. Soldiers speedily surrounded Gregori and he was taken to jail, bruised and bleeding, with his clothes almost torn from his back.

The affair has created a tremendous sensation in Paris and the motive of the would-be assassin is the cause of much mystification, for Gregori, instead of being an ordinary fanatic, such as is carried away by the political passions of the moment, is a man of mature age; having been born in 1844, and was highly esteemed in the circles where he was known. Some do not hesitate to express the opinion that he may have been the tool of a little clan of Royalists, who, under the name of l'Action Française have never ceased to insist that the court of cassation illegally prevented an appeal of the Dreyfus case, nor abandoned hope of seeing a revision favorable to the contentions of the Nationalists.

Maj. Dreyfus was not seriously injured. A bullet entered his forearm, but did not injure the bone. At a late hour the official statement was made that his condition was very favorable and that no complications were feared.

Gregori made a statement to the police directly after his arrest and during a second interrogation Thursday night he said: "I did not wish to kill Dreyfus. It is true I aimed at him, but I only wanted to graze him. My object was to protest against the participation of the army in the glorification of Zola and the rehabilitation of Dreyfus. My blow was aimed less at Dreyfus than at Dreyfusism."

A curious feature of the ceremonies in the Pantheon was the absence of many of the foreign ambassadors. It is understood that the Turkish ambas sador was the prime mover in the plan to induce the members of the diplomatic corps to abstain from going to the Pantheon

GOING TO HUNT IN AFRICA

PRESIDENT WILL LEAVE WHEN HE GOES OUT OF OFFICE.

Statement from White House Puts Quietus on Third Term Talk-Kermit to Accompany Father.

Washington. — Important significance in connection with President Roosevelt's determination against a third term is contained admission made Friday for the first time, that the president is making definite plans to leave the United States in April next year for Africa, where he will pass a year hunting big game. Rumors that Mr. Roose was to leave the country at the conclusion of his term of office have been printed heretofore, but when ation was sought at the White House the answer has been that no definite conclusion had been reached as to the president's plans.

But Friday it was stated positively that Mr. Roosevelt, with his son Ker-mit, would sail from New York, for Cairo in April, 1909—just as soon as the necessary arrangements for the departure could be made after March It is the desire of the president to bring back at the end of the year from the wilds of Africa specimens of every species of big game to be had on the dark continent. He will visit no other country, it is stated.

The outfit for the expedition will be obtained on reaching Africa, but an active correspondence in this connection already is under way. The exact size of the hunting partynumber of guides and retainers, ani-mals, etc.—has not been determined The president, however, will take with him an assortment of arms which he will require in the variety of hunting contemplated. This outfit will include, of course, guns of the highest power. During the absence of Mr. Roosevelt in Africa Mrs. Roosevelt and other members of the family will remain at the family home at Sagamore Hill, Oyster Bay.

LOSES BRIDE OF A DAY.

Girl Wife of Macoupin County Man Deserts Him.

Alton.-Clarence Maybery, a 29-yearold farmer of Macoupin county, lost his 19-year-old bride of a day. Maybery and Miss Mamie Grace first appeared at the marriage license office but when asked her name she refused to give it, saying her mother opposed the marriage. They were married, however. Maybery got a warrant for the arrest of Edgar Suttles, a 22-yearold druggist of Elisbury, charging him with kidnaping his bride on the street and taking her into her mother's home where she was locked in. Sheriff Crow refused to serve the warrant when he found Suttles, at the bride's mother's home, a cripple, unable to walk alone, and Maybery's bride told him she was not abducted and that only married Maybery after he made threats, finally yielding to his importunities. Later she returned.

WATER DAMAGES CROPS.

Farmers of Illinois Lowlands Will Suffer Heavily.

Alton.-Much damage has been done to wheat and corn crops in Illinois by the high stages of the Mississippi and Illinois rivers, according to reports by farmers in the lowlands. Farmers in the Dardenne prairie, extending from the Missouri river to the Wabash railroad at Elm Point in St. Charles county, say their wheat and corn lands were under three feet of water, and that the Missouri river was rising. Missouri Point, at the junction of the Missouri and Mississippi rivers, was inundated, and the ferry boat could not land.

Big Judgment Awarded. Chicago.—Judge Kavanaugh in the superior court here rendered a judgment against the Black Hills Portland Cement company of $30,000 each in favor of F. W. Stanhope and Samuel W. Engs. Stanhope claimed to have been retained by the company to supervise the construction of a cement plant and brought suit for $35,000 he claimed was due him for services.

Alleged Horse Thief Jailed. Carlinville.—Joseph Spurgis has been placed in the county jail here on an indictment charging him with stealing a horse and other property from E. A. Bowman of Girard. The theft was committed in 1905. Spurgis has just been released from the reform school on parole. He was held for a horse theft committed in Madi-

SIXTY CARS PASS OVER CHILD.

Little Girl Miraculously Escapes Death Trying to Follow Father.

Murphysboro.-Beulah. three-yearold daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bagley, residing 16 miles west of this city, had a miraculous escape from death when an Illinois Central freight train of 60 cars passed over her and left her unconscious lying in the center of the track. The family live near the track and the child attempted to follow her father to work. In crossing the track she fell, and before she could regain her footing the train was upon her, the engine and 60 cars passing over her body. The unconscious child was picked up by the mother. She was suffering from an ugly gash in the back of her head and had many other bruises. Her clothing was badly soiled and torn, telling of her horrible experience and narrow escape from death. In a few hours doctors restored the little tot to consciousness and she is now recovering nicely.

"DREAM GIRL" IS A BRIDE.

Lide Bridges of East St. Louis Led to Altar by Youth.

East St. Louis.-Miss Lida Bridges, who slept four days last fall and returned to consciousness with a vivid description of heaven, and Raleigh Taylor, who sat by her side during her trance, are to be married this month. The license was issued here. Bridges fell into her four days' sleep following a long illness. When she awoke she told of her rambling through the groves and meadows of heaven, and repeated conversations she had had with her grandfather and four brothers, who are dead.

SEEKS HIGH OFFICE.

Springfield.-Friends of L. T. Dickason of Chicago believe he will be elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic at its national encampment in Toledo, O., next August. He has the solid backng of the Illinois delegation. Dickason has large coal and hotel interests throughout the country, with extensive offices in Chicago. In 1885 he was appointed president of the Illinois Sailors' and Soldiers' Home at Quincy. At the first call for troops by President Lincoln Mr. Dickston enlisted as a private in an Ohlo regiment. He moved to Danville, soon after the war and was elected mayor in 1871, serving ten years. in 1887 he removed to Chicago.

Rigid with Lockjaw; Recovers. Freeport.—A remarkable recovery from lockjaw of the most critical kind has been completed by George Sherbonds. It started when he ran a sliver into his hand. When the disease was at its height his body was so stiff that the combined weight of several men could not bend it.

Hard Time for Kentucky Jailers

Behold Kentucky, the traditional radle of all good whiskey! In less than two years the liquor traffic was practically obliterated, and yet this state has $160,000,000 invested in distilleries. Only four counties are wholly wet at this writing, and the Jailers' State Association has petitioned the legislature for regular salaries because under prohibition conditions the empty jails do not bring them fees enough to live on .- Carrington A. Phelps, in the June Broadway Magazine.

Good News

Many Sullivan readers have heard it and rofited thereby. "Good news travels fast," and the thou. sands of bad back sufferers in Sullivan are glad to learn that prompt relief is within tneir reach. Many a lame, weak and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Many grateful people are telling the good news of their experience with the old Quaker remedy. Here is as example worth reading:

M. C. Mann, living at 1402 DeWitt Ave. Mattoon, says. "About one year ago I had a severe attack of kidney trouble. I suffered greatly from pains across the small of my back and left side and my back at times be came so lame that I was unable to do my work without intense suffering. The kidney secretions were irregular and in passing would burn and smart. I treated with a physician and used many medicines but all failed to furnish relief when my attention was called to Doan's Kidney pills. I procured a supply, and took them as directed. The result was a complete cure, and I have never had an attack since of the complaint.

Plenty more proof like this from Sullivan people. Call at Hall's pharmacy and ask what customers report.
