SUGGESTION APPROVED

People of Sullivan lieve in Charity to All.

Judge W.G. Cochran made a sugges tion at the chautauqua that has met with the hearty probation of the people, and is likely to materialize.

His suggestion was, that if people are really working for a public benefit and really intended to educate the citizens, the proper thing to do is. raise the money in advance, pay for the chautauqua and then throw the doors open.

The Hon. Judge has given the Lincoln Temperance Chautauqua a new impetus

People with means reap the beneat and enjoy many advantages without appreciating the feast, whether for mind or body, that many a soul with a deeper emotion, broader intellect and greater soul is hungering for Tis true those that pay the money will think they have paid for the privileges and should enjoy them. Can a Christian man or woman stand up and say, let the poorer people stay at home if they cannot pay their way? Never The spirit of anarchy and envy existing between the differ ent castes of society can only be subdued by Christianity, firmness and

Love does not ascend. Love de cends The po rer classes will never ove us better, nor respect us more, it we push them back from our educat ing, elevating and really enjoyable gatherings and the only glimpse they can get of the better things of this world is by sneaking up and stealing glances into the enjoyments that the ack of admittance deprives them of Inder such circumstanc s their love will never ascend to us, they will to come to us, but if they have any backbone will stand up for self and so doing long for better days and better thing not knowing how to break down the barrier between us. Sometimes we get our spiritual selves revived and woop down upon them in their homes a few times then get tired

Love does not ascend. Love de-The love of God descends to us in vast degrees, more to us than ours to Him. He so loved us that He ga e us His only Son. We are as nothing compared to Him. We can go to those who will not come to uecause they do not understand us We can make it possible for them to enjoy as good as there is going if we make the proper use of these means which God has given us.

The idea of making this series of entertainments free is a grand one for one would enjoy standing at the farther edge of the crowd or wedging in anywhere to see the happy faces of the people in this town, that we can give these entertainments to who are not able to spend three or tour dol lars for tickets. It is certain that those having the means will never hesitate in bearing their portion Tis true; Christian religion is free and everything belongs to God and ome day we will give an account of the talent left with us.

One of the most despie of work ever done in this city and one which is liable to cause i ES - 811thors no end of trouble if their identity can be learned, was done Saturday night, when several men went about the city destroying the large posters which had been nailed up in advertising the Lincoln temperance chautauqua, which is to be held in a tent at the corner of Seventeenth street and Charleston avenue for one week, from June 23 to 28, inclusive

That it was simply a piece of spite work on the part of some people who are disposed to stop the course of temperance work which is being done tere is the opinion of the chautauqua's backers, and efforts are being made to identify the guilty parties with a view of prosecuting them.

The piano contest has been lively for several days past. Since last Saturday some of the girls are doin fine, and not a few of them are p ting after the work in a way to e their premium, which is pleasing a satisfying the merchants

The girls that are getting out and soliciting trade for the merchants are being repaid in more ways than one. If the contestants will consider, they will realize that the merchants can not afford to give the premiums away but have given them a chance to earn them on easy terms.

Some of the girls are gaining ground by soliciting from the farmers Camfield's R. R. add, to Sullivan; and taking Mr. Jenkins' trade, Mr. Jenkins' idea is this, the contestant purchaser must state when he comto buy who his candidate is, and he can then write the name of his candidate on the coupon with pen and ink and leave them in charge of the merchant or take them away if he likes, In that manner there can possibly be no chance for error. On the other estate of S. R. Oliver, deceased, and hand there can be no question as to her attorney, R. M. Peadro, appeared fairness, as the intention is to do the fair thing by all.

the merchants and clerks played a game of ball against the professional men, all being citizens of Sullivan.

Dr. Miller's bitting was one of the main features of the game; five twobases put a plume in his cap.

Fred Whitfield and Joe Michaels were the batteries for the merchants and clerks. On the opposite side the battery was shifted at different times, Lone Butler, Dr. A. D. Miller, Ray Meeker and Sam Palmer resting each

Some that engaged in the game had at one time considered themselves professional players, but Old Father Time has taken away some of their youthful activity; however, they played in earnest, to the amusement of the big crowd assembled to witness the game.

The score of the game was 29 to 16 in favor of the professional men. They contemplate another game in the mear future. No doubt it will be largely patronized, as numbers of th people of Sullivan have expresse regret at not having a chance to at tend week-day ball games. But there is some opposition to Sunday games Many firms would rather give their time to go during the week than to have them attend on Sundays.

The advisory council of the Legislative Voers' league for the Forty-fourth senatorial district of Illinois organized in the office of Attorney Sidmey Breese by electing Attorney L. O. Like Topsy, the members of the league were not elected, they "jest growed." As an example of its workings, the state league sent word some time ago that it would select an advisory council for this sen-atorial district which would safeguard the interests of the dear people. The advisory council was to be composed of three Democrats and three Repub licans, to make it non-partisan. But the members of the league were not taking any chances on a deadlock, so they selected the following men to compose the local advisory council: Democrats, Frank H. Bode, Alfred Orendorff and Sydney Breese; Repub licans, L. O. Vaught, Frank P. Nor bury and Frank Ide.

Fewer rains and generally drier confavored farm operations throughout Illinois, according to the weekly statement of climatological conditions issued by William G. Burns, director of the Illinois section of the weather bureau. United States department of agriculture. Summarizing conditions of the week Mr. Burns "The week opened cool, but closed very warm and sultry. There were fewer rainy days and the weather was generally drier than any for several weeks past. Much work was accomplished. The mean temperature for the week was three degrees above normal. The highest temperature was 90 degrees and the lowest 43 degrees. Heavy rains occurred in the southern tier of counties, but elsewhere the rainfall was generally light and deficient. The average sunshine for the state was about 60 per cent."

ringfield.—The custom of docking | Catholics' Petition Denied by Court The supreme court denied the peti-tion for mandamus filed by a number of residents of Scott county to compel rs' association which met in the the school board of Winchester to discontinue the reading of the Bible in the school. The case has attracted wide attention and was brought on appeal from the Scott county circuit court to the supreme court. The residents making the complaint are Jeremiah Ring, John J. Doyle, Johanna Watt, Margaret Murphy and Bridget Markillie, representing numerous Catholic families residing in the vicinity of Winchester. They objected to the reading of the Bible on the score that the King James version was used, which is not in accordance with the teachings of the Catholic faith. On the same score they objected to the saying of the Lord's Prayer, or rather that version of the prayer which is employed by the Protestants, and the singing of hymns not in accordance with the Catholic faith. In the arguments advanced in the circuit court it was held that their rights under the constitution of the United States were violated by forcing their children to listen to the teachings of a faith to which they do not subscribe. Judge Shirley of the circuit court did not take this view of the matter, and the supreme court upheld his position, denying the writ of mandamus.

Big Corn Prizes to Be Given.

Two hundred dollars for a single ear of corn, or $2,000 for ten ears! Sounds big, doesn't it? That's what it is possible to get for the best ten ears corn grown in Sangamon county this year and exhibited at the Illinois Corn exposition next November. For the best ten ears of yellow or white corn grown in the county the list of the state corn show provides a prize of five dollars. The first prize county exhibit is then eligible for competition in the division class and a prize of $100. The winner of the division prize is entitled to compete in the grand championship prize contest, embracing the whole state, for which a prize of $200 is offered. The ten ears of corn winning the state grand champion prize thereby become eligible for the premier champion prize of $500. Special prizes to be added to the above prize fund, which it will be seen aggregates $805, will increase the total to $2,000, or $200 for each of the ten ears offered.

Does Foam Count in Drink?

Can the foam on beer be counted in as part of the "suds" when it is sold to customers? The supreme court called upon to settle this frothy question when the case of the people vs. Nylin was called for argument. A subordinate phase of the vexing problem which the supreme tribunal was asked to settle was whether gases which accumulate or are forced into beer may be counted in the measure. Bartenders who are in the habit of shoving out "steins" bubbling over with creamy effervescence, but with only a spoonful of the real goods in the bottom were interested in the court's decision. The appellate court already decided that the foam doesn't count and the long suffering public is entitled to a full measure. With the supreme tribunal upholding the appellate court decision, the art of blowing off foam may become a lost

ALL ARE FATALISTS

RAILROAD MEN, AS A CLASS, SUPERSTITIOUS.

Daily Facing Death and Injury, It Is Perhaps Natural That They Should Come to Believe Strongly in Fetiches.

The most superstitious class in the United States, outside of the fet worshiping ne-groes, is the othkeen-witted rail-33 road man, writes 1. C. 1 A. W. Greely the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. He is a fatalist by circumstances of a life of constant danger. Death is a commonplace; accident and injury all in the day's work and line of duty. The railroad man lives in an atmosphere of the fatal chance, a nerve-tensing uncertainty. Death may be speeding toward him and around the curve ahead; the next pounding of the massive drivers may strike a broken rail; the tower signal man makes his awful errors in an almost unvarying average; the landslide and the tampered switch are entirely beyond prevision. And it is this dom-inancy of chance, of the unprevised, the unexpected, the unforeseen, utter baffling human ingenuity, that makes the average railroad man as superstitiously fatalistic as a whirling dervish or a warrior of the Mad Mul-

Not long ago, in a disastrous wreck in North Carolina, a train, including engine, mail, baggage and two passenger cars, plunged into a river from a high bridge weakened by floods. In the mail car were three clerks, two of them new to the railroad service, and comparatively ignorant of its traditions. The other one had seen many years of hard work with the mail bags. The two new clerks were instantly killed and horribly mangled when the mail car collapsed like an egg shell under the impact of the heavy passenger coach that crashed down upon top of it. The veteran clerk, at work between and within a few feet of th other two men, escaped almost without a scratch. How it happened he could not tell, save that after the reeling movement of the downward plunge, amid the roar from the bursting, crumpling beams and splintering wood, he found himself breasting the flood, struggling to reach the shore, which he did in safety.

In his pocket he carried a frayed and faded scrap of an old mail sack, which he had salvaged years before from a wreck in the same state. Three times had he been in wrecks since then, and in each he escaped almost without a scratch. Once, in hurriedly changing his coat before leaving his home in Washington for his train, he forgot the mystic piece of mail sack. He discovered his forgetfulness a few miles out on his run, and quit at the next station upon the plea of acute illness. An hour later the train was in the ditch. No use to talk learnedly to him about the logical fallacy of "post hoc, ergo propter hoc." He has something better than that—experience. He knows, so he thinks.

One may find, if he be sufficiently curious, in the reports by post office inspectors upon railroad wrecks, now and then, the mention of the mysterious disappearance of the torn and mailsacks. Investigation would discover the treasured pieces of them hidden in the pockets of the mail clerks. Even the skeptics and cynics say the "souvenirs" can do no harm, and perhaps-who knows?-there may be something in it after all.

And in practically every department of the great transportation business of the country there has developed a mass of traditional lore with its nere is many conductor who never starts upon his trip without a flower in his buttonhole. Retired railroad men tell of a veteran conductor on the old Fitchburg road in Massachusetts who for forty-odd years never made a trip without a red rose about him. Generally he carried it with the stem in his mouth, but when he could not get a fresh red rose every day, a faded flower would be pressed in a note book in his pocket. He sincerely believed that the rose protected him and his train from accident, and it is a fact that in his long years of service his train was never in an accident.

Berlin's Dwarf Postal Railroad.

The German post office department has put forward a scheme to connect the general post office in that city with the various branch offices by the construction of an underground electric railroad, by means of which the more rapid distribution of the mail hags to and from the mail trains will be effected at a speed of about 25 miles an hour. The railway will be worked without a guard or driver, and the tunnel, which will be placed close heneath the road surface, is to be only 29 inches in height by 71 inches in width. Each truck or car is intended for the conveyance of a large-sized mail bag. The complete train will be composed of a dwarf electric locomolive and not more than four trucks. The locomotive will have a pair of axles, each furnished with a motor, and the line will be double track throughout, constructed on a 16.13inch guage. Over each track will be conductor rails. A trench will be provided between the two lines of rails, so that a man will be able to pass through tunnel. — Harper's the

ALTON CITIZENS MUST PAY COSTS

Scott Bibb Case Expense Devolves on Fifteen, Says Court.

Alton.—Fifteen citizens of Alton, in-cluding Mayor Edward Beall, all of whom were members of the city council ten years ago, must pay the state of Illinois $2,503.53 as the cost of the court contest started by the refusal of the school board, ten years ago, to admit the children of Scott Bibb, a negro, to the public schools. The decision holding the 15 men responsible for the costs was handed down by Chief Justice Hand of the supreme court of Illinois. The school board was appointed by the council, so the members of the council were held responsible for the costs of the case. Bibb won the case recently, but his children are now grown. It was stated the only recourse of the defendants was to get a relief bill passed by the present council for their reimburse ment.

FISH COMMISSION RESTOCKING ILLINOIS STREAMS.

Millions of Eggs Already Distributed at Various Points in the State-Improvements at the Natural History Museum.

oringfield, June 15. - The new hatchery opened by the Illinois fish commission at Havana has distributed 15,000,000 pike and perch eggs since May 16. On April 25, 25,000,000 eggs were received from Toledo, Ohio. These produced the 15,000,000, or 60 per cent, of the entire number re-ceived. The distribution of these eggs was as follows:

Rock river, at Oregon, 2,000,000. Vermilion river, at Danville, 2,000, Deep Lake, at Lake Villa, 2,000,000. Quiver Lake, near Havana, 3,000,000. Mantanzas Lake, at Metanzas, 3.

Illinois river, at Havana, 3,000,000. Taking into consideration the long distance the green eggs were transported and the fact that all the apparatus and equipment was new and in rough, having been constructed hurriedly, the commission feels that it has made a good beginning.

The restocking of the streams in different sections of the state has done much to convince the public that the commission is doing effective work, and work that is likely to bring beneficial results. Early in the spring the commission erected two hatcheries at Havana and Waukegan. The hatchery at Havana is for the propagation of wall-eved pike perch, a high-class food was formerly indigenous to the Illinois river but now is rare. The hatchery at Waukegan is at the only point in Illinois where lake fishing is carried on to any great extent. White fish, trout and herring are the main species taken solely for commercial purposes. Several hundred men are employed during the season in taking these varieties for the market.

The spawning season commences October 15, and lasts for a period of 120 days. The law now requires fishto have the spawn taken, to strip fish and fertilize the eggs and return them to the water. This process is better than nothing, but it cannot be compared with artificial propagation, as 95 per cent. can be hatched out if properly taken care of. An expert culturist, Mr. W. E. Hutchinson, has been engaged to take charge of the two hatcheries. Mr. Hutchinson had been connected with the United States fish commission as culturist for years before coming to take charge of the Illinois hatcheries.

Natural History Museum. In the allotment of space, since the removal of the supreme court to its new building, Secretary Rose has greatly increased the space at the disposal of the Natural History museum. Director A. R. Crook immediately be gan the removal of thousands of specimens from from the basement of the state house to the museum. These materials had been stored for years. They consisted of from 20,000 to 30, 000 specimens of fossils, minerals and geological specimens. Among these specimens are materials of great value, both from an educational and entertainment point of view. Every specimen must first be washed and a name given to it. It must be classified and put in its proper posi-tion in the department of natural history to which it belongs. Unfortunate ly, a vast amount of labor which has been put on the specimens has been lost since labels and specimens have been mixed and destroyed.

The director is making his classification with a view to preparing an alphabetical card catalogue. From the classification a catalogue will be published for distribution among workers in the state who are interested in different sections. It is the desire of the director to make ment so important that its value will only last three weeks, as some of the be recognized until it shall become one of the most interesting departments in the state. It is his idea that there should be space devoted to trees which flourished in the state of Illinois in the past, or may be found

Other Departments. Another department could contain illustrations of the manner of life, the utensils, and the character of the aboriginal races, which roamed the Illinois prairies before the advent of the white man. Such an exhibit, archaeological and ethnographical in character, affords an intimate connection between the Museum of Natural History and the Historical museum, which is already partially represented in regard to modern history by the Historical library. Another room could contain handgroups of the wild animals which early were found in Illinois. Insects injurious to crops could be classified together and exhibited. another department all the useful minerals of the state should be represented in species, quantity and geographical distribution.

An attractive and educational feature would be the exhibit of minerals of economic importance which are found in every county in the state. The geographical and physiographical features of the state should be presented. It is desirable and appropriate that all of the different divisions of natural history in its widest sense should be well represented, and no locality is more peculiarly adapted for the appropriate fulfillment of this mission than Springfield, the capital

Dentists in State Institutions. In the recent annual convention of regiments are in camp

DOING GOOD WORK Illinois dentists a report was made of the dental work that is being done in the dental work that is being done in the state charitable institutions. Two dentists have been placed in the service; at the General Hospital for the Insane, Peoria, and the Eastern Hospital for the Insane, Kankakee. It is the idea of the superintendents that insane patients will be more healthy and will partake of their food with greater enjoyment if their teeth are given the same care that is bestowed upon the mouths of the sane.

Supt. George A. Zeller was the first to carry the suggestion of the state board of charities that dental internes be employed. On September 27, 1908, he secured the services of Dr. Walter J. Weatherwax. While no official report has been published by Dr. Weatherwax, the work done by him in six months is shown to have been as follows: Number of patients treated, 931; teeth and roots beyond repairs, extracted, 2,753; tartar removed and teeth cleaned for 412 patients; pyorrhea treated for 10 patients; abcesses lanced for 5 patients; pulps removed and roots filled in 3 teeth; amalgam filling for 22 teeth; cement filling placed in 67 teeth.

Dr. Weatherwax made the following statement concerning this work: "My limited experience with the mouths of the insane has been to find them in the worst possible condition. They have had no care for years. They have badly decayed teeth and roots covered with deposit. Their gums are inflamed and diseased. The plan I would suggest would be to extract all these roots and badly diseased teeth, clean off the tartar on the remaining teeth and keep them in as a condition as possible. healthy believe the patients will be in better health with these teeth out, that the food may reach the stomach in a pure condition and not be mixed with had teria that comes from teeth in such a bad condition. The breath some of these cases is so bad that it is almost impossible to stand near them long enough to extract the teeth." Commends Work Done.

No report has been received from Dr. George Mills, at the Eastern Hospital for the Insane. He has been in that institution since December 24. 1908. The Illinois Dentists' Association commended the work of the state administration in securing dentists for these institutions and recommended an extension to all institu Mayor Busse and the city of Chicago administration, and Secretary Taft, who is seeking the nomination for president: Republicanism.

A Chicago newspaper which daily calls itself "The Only Republican Newspaper in Chicago" finds itself approaching the Republican national convention in the unhappy frame of mind of a common scold. Nothing to which the majority in the party has given its approval in the last two or three years has been fortunate enough to win the indorsement of this shrewish if "only" publication.

The knowledge that the men who will be in control of the national convention, and who will control because they represent the majority in the party, are committed to ideas and policies which likewise represent the ideas of the majority in the party is the last drop of distilled bitterness in the cup of the scold.

It will be the first thought of an verage intellect that "Republicanism" is a matter for majorities to determine and not for individuals to define arbitrarily. The second thought will be that an attempt to reverse this order approaches the sublimity of ar-

Dread Disease Robbed of Its Terro by Simple Remedy.

Owing to the prevalence of pneu monia and the great mortality which attends its ravages during the winter and spring, several boards of health in northern New Jersey have been taking measures to protect the citizens of their towns from the disease. The health board of Washington, N. J., has published a remedy which is said to be a sure cure for pneumonia, and other health boards are looking into the matter with a view of having the same thing published for the good of the general public. This is the publication as it has appeared in the papers of Washington: Take six or ten onions, according to size, and chop fine, put in a large spider over a hot fire, then add the same quantity of rye meal and vinegar enough to form a thick paste. In the meanwhile stir it thoroughly, letting it simmer five or ten minutes. Then put in a cotton bag large enough to cover the lungs and apply to chest as hot as patient can bear. In about ten minutes apply another, and thus continue by reheating the poultices, and in a few hours the patient will be out of danger. This simple remedy has never failed to cure this too-often fatal malady. Usually three or four applications will be sufficient, but continue always until the perspiration starts freely from the chest. This remedy was formulated many years ago by one of the best physicians New England has ever known, who never lost a patient by the disease, and won his renown by simple remedies."

Bryan Family Life.

Somehow when we think of William JenningsBryan we associate him with the phrase which is so often heard in connection with him-"the plain people." To the great mass of American people he is a comparatively poor man, whose home is a cottage, merely that of millions of others who live in humble circumstances in the West. The fact is, however, that the Colonel, as he is called by his neighbors, is considered a wealthy man as wealth is estimated out upon the prairies. While not worth his millions, his fortune today is undoubtedly nearer two hundred thousand dollars than one hundred thousand, for he earns about the income which a million dollars would bring him if invested at six per cent. So it is that when we think of Mr. Bryan's life at home, we must consider him a life at home, we must consider him a man who is more than comfortably off-not only one of the influential, himself with not only the comforts but luxuries of life, and whose family have the pleasures and enjoyment which plenty of money will give them.-Ladies' World.

Ditching That Educates

Over at Champaign there is an Irish ditch digger. He digs ditches so well that the farmers pay him two prices for his work, and what a farmer pays two prices for is pretty good stuff. He is an old man and doesn't need to work. When asked why he still digs ditches, he said, "I can't find any man who will dig to suit me. There is more in digging ditches than just throwing mud out of a hole." He was putting in a tile and it did not lay just straight. He took out the tile and scooped up a place so as to lay it in a perfect line. He was asked why he didn't let the tile go? He replied that the water might go through it in a way, but that it would not go through it right. "When I go home at night and lie down on my bed I can see the water running through every tile I ever laid, and if anything was wrong I couldn't sleep good, so I lay them right." That is a man whose work has educated him. That man or woman and only such, has character, who, when he has anything to do, sets to work at once to find out the laws by which the deed can be done and makes the action correspond to the law just as closely as possible. Find out the right laws by which the deed can be perfectly -William Hawley Smith.

A "stibbler" was a har-vester whose duty it was to keep in the wake of the reapers (in the days of the sickle) and cut or pluck and gather from the stubble what one and another had left untouched. So a probationer, or a preacher without a charge, preached vicariously as he could and opportunity, and if he never received a perma nent appointment in the church, but lapsed into the melancholy monotony of a dominie's tyranny, he was as one that had failed or stuck-"a stickit stibbler" or "a stickit minister."—London Notes and Queries.

A statistician to whom this problem was once propounded declared it was impossible to accomplish such a feat, but the following explanation shows that it is not only possible, but very easy to accomplish: Put one lump in one cup, two lumps in another cup and seven lumps in the third cup, and then put the cup with one lump in the cup with the two lumps. By placing the cup that holds one lump inside the one that holds two lumps it can be correctly stated that every cup contains an odd number of lumps, for if a cup con-tains another cup it also contains the ontents of that second cup.

Live Wire Caused Death.

The tragic death of Walter H. Shumard at Staunton, Ill., Wednesday, was instantly heralded to homes and business houses in that place.

Shumard was a lineman, A misstep sent 30,000 volts of electricity through him, and his body, talling across a network of wires while still in contact with the high-tension cables, burned out thirty-five telephones in the city exchange and the telephone switchboard in the dispatcher's office of the Illinois Traction Company.

For a month Shumard had been repairing phone lines for the McKinley system. Wednesday he ascended a pole directly in front of the main office of the interurban line in Staunton. A slip caused him to lose his balance and he fell across the three high-tension cables, each carrying 10,000 volts, used in feeding the substations that furnish power for operating the cars.

He was instantly killed, and his body plunged down thirty-five feet, striking on the head in front of the door of the main waiting-room and in tull view of the passengers awaiting the arrival of cars, then nearly

PUTS END TO NOTED CASE

Executive Glemency Granted to Men Who Were Convicted of Com-, plicity in Assassination of Goebel.

Frankfort, Ky. — By announcing the pardon Saturday of Caleb Powand James Howard, Gov. Willson closed the last chapter in one of the most noted criminal cases in the history of this state, in which the people of all sections of the United States have formally expressed their interest by signing the petitions for pardon. Both were released from prison and went to their homes. In the closing days of January, eight years ago, while the contest of William Goebel for the gubernatorial seat occupied by William S. Taylor was being heard, Goebel was shot, dying later from his wound. The shot was believed to have come from a halfopen window of the secretary of state's office and as Caleb Powers was then filling that position, suspicion was at once directed toward him and his arrest followed. Four times has Powers been put on trial for his life on the charge of com plicity in the murder.

Many Setbacks for Powers The first three trials resulted in conviction and sentence, death being the penalty in two trials.

On the fourth trial, which came after the case had been carried to the United States court, being finally appealed to the supreme court, which turned it back to the state courts, the jury disagreed and thereupon the efforts for a pardon for Powers, as well as for James Howard, who had been convicted some years ago on charge of complicity, were renewed. Gov. Willson Gives Reasons.

Gov. Willson gave out the follow ing reasons for pardoning Caleb Pow ers and James B. Howard:

"Application has been made to the governor for the pardon of Caleb Powers, who stands charged by indict ment found in the Franklin circuit court and afterwards transferred on change of venue to the Scott circuit court, with the crime of 'being accessory before the fact to the willful murder of William Goebel.' The application is supported by petitions recommending the pardon of the accused, signed by nearly 500,000 persons, some 240,000 Kentuckians, and a large pro portion are Democrats. It is not likely that at any time during my term of office I shall be called upon to decide matters of graver importance than those presented by the applications for pardon of Caleb Pow ers and James B. Howard.

Anticipates Harsh Criticism. "I realize that whatever my decision may be it will be harshly criticised. more than eight years this group of cases has held the attention of the whole state and, indeed, of the whole country, as no cases in this state ever did before. The murder of Senator Goebel destroyed a remarkable life, brought the deepest grief to his family and thousands of friends who loved him; overthrew a whole state election, destroyed the peace and good feeling of the state for eight years, set neighbor against neighbor, made politics almost war, stained the good name of Kentucky and shocked the civilized world. There was and is no shadow of excuse or palliation for this base crime. There can be no mercy for any one guilty of the murder or of aiding or abetting it; but the more grave the crime, the more serious is the responsibility of deciding the question of guilt and the more imperative the duty of guarding against injustice and wrong imposed under the pressure of public excitement.

Says Release Is Popular Demand. "I may say, that, in my judgment, after the fullest inquiry, the release of the accused from liability to further prosecution of the charge preferred against him is desired by the vast majority of the people of Kentucky without distinction as to party. The court of appeals has reversed three trials and conviction of Caleb Powers for errors against him. On the fourth trial, ten of the twelve jurors, members of both parties, voted for his ac quittal and signed a petition for his pardon. Although the governor is authorized to pardon in advance of or without reference to the trial of a case. such power should never be exercised except under the most extraordinary circumstances. Honorable and friendly contests in our elections, and loyal and friendly support of the officers when elected according to our rules governing elections, shall at last make our contentions fair and reasonable instead of angry and hostile. Then we shall have made a great gain not only in the respect of the world but in the happiness and welfare of every man, woman and child in Kentucky.'

PASSED BY NEW YORK SENATE AND SIGNED BY GOVERNOR.

Not One Vote to Spare—Senator Foel ker, Near Collapse from Illness, Decides Fight.

Albany, N. Y.—After a struggle, the like of which no man in or about the legislature has ever seen, or expects to see again, the famous Agnew-Hart anti-racktrack gambling bills are now laws of the state of New York.

Gov. Hughes, by his signature affixed to each of the bills at 4:35 p. m., Thursday crowned a legislative victory, the brilliancy of which, equaled only by its unexpectedness, is conceded even by those who fought him in the matter to the last ditch.

A few minutes before two p. m. the truly extraordinary session of the legislature of 1908 adjourned without day. The decisive votes, which passed the bills, were cast by Senator Otto G. Foelker of the Fourth senate district of Brooklyn, who crawled from a sick bed and made a 60-mile railroad journey to do it, so weak and distressed in mind and 'ody that he seemed on the verge of utter collapse, and by a new

While colonel of the Thir teenth Tennessee regiment his horse was shot from under him at the battle of Belmont.

RAILROAD TIES FROM HAWAIL

Five Millions Will Be Shipped from Island Forests to California.

Forced to leave the mainland in its earch for timber for railroad uses, the Santa Fe company has contracted for 5,000,000 ties in Hawaii—the biggest order ever placed for such material to be shipped in by water, says the Los Angeles Times.

The ties for which the Santa Fe has contracted are cut from ohia timber, otherwise known as Hawaiian mahog any. It is used extensively in the manufacture of furniture islands. It is extremely durable and experiments that have been carried on for a number of years are said to have proved its great value as tie timber. The 5,000,000 ordered will weigh about 90,000,000 pounds, it is esti-

The supply is enormous, its cost is relatively low and the discovery of its value in railroad building is looked upon as a great find by the transportation companies, especially those in the west, where oak ties, once so common in the east, can be delivered only at great cost because of the long rail haul. Many unsatisfactory substitutes are used here—redwood for one—but the constant expense of renewing such ties is enormous.

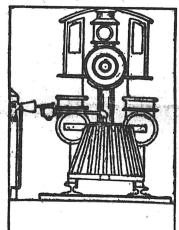

The ohia timber, or koa, is looked upon as the coming tie and the predic-tion is made that it will be only a short time before thousands of miles of railroads in the west will be laid with this product of the Hawaiian islands.

To save the long rail haul of 452 miles from San Francisco to Barstow, as compared with 141 miles from Los Angeles to Barstow, the Santa Fe naturally looks with greater favor San Pedro as the port from which to reship the ties; and it is not considered strange that the company should discuss the advisability of buying three or more steamers to engage in the trade between Honolulu and San Pedro, especially as much other freight and many passengers may be handled in both directions.

an apparatus for that purpose. shown in the illustration, it is very simple in operation, consisting of an operating lever which is attached to one side of the locomotive. A signal arm is placed near the track, the arm moving in conjunction with the regular semaphore or other signal. When the arm is set at danger it lies directly in the path of the operating lever on the locomotive. As the latter passes the signal the arm comes in contact with the lever and forces it down, automatically throwing off the steam and applying the airbrakes. In the event that the engineer has seen the danger signal and has put on the air brakes, the operating lever drops out of position. The employment of this device on railroads would place the actual operation of trains in the hands of the signal operator.

Reading Rooms for Employes. One of the most successful efforts at industrial education has been that accomplished by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad. It has been six or eight years since the company be gan to establish reading rooms for employes at points along the system where many men are employed. There are 20 of these reading rooms now established between Chillicothe, Ill., and Needles, Cal.

The Santa Fe railroad has $250,000 invested in the reading rooms. From the inception the road's employes never have been asked to make any contribution toward these clubhouses. the entire charge being assumed by the railroad company. No charge is made for the use of the rooms, except a very nominal one for sleeping accommodations, and for bathing, billiards and bowling. The total number of books in the libraries is somewhat over 18,000, of which 40 per cent. is fiction. 25 per cent. history, 20 per cent. biography and 15 per cent. technical works.

"About four years ago I had a very severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism. My skin peeled, and the high fever played havoc with my hair, which came out in bunches. I also had three large bed sores on my back. I did not gain very rapidly, and my appetite was very poor. I tried many 'sure cures' but they were of little help, and until I tried Cuticura Resolvent I had had no real relief. Then my complexion cleared and soon I felt better. An All-Round Book.
The book agent had spent a discouraging morning, and when he had an opportunity to scan the face of Eli Hobbs at close range, he felt that there was small chance of making a sale. However, he had more than one method of suggestion.
"Sitting out here on the piazza afternoons with your wife, this would be the very book to read aloud," he said, ingratiatingly, to Mr. Hobbs, taking the other rocking chair and opening the large red-covered volume.

"I don't read and I haven't any wife," replied Mr. Hobbs, dryly. "Dear me!" said the book agent.

Well, if your wife is dead, perhaps there are children. Now, children find this book-" "There are no children," interrupted Mr. Hobbs. "There's nobody but my-

"Internal Revenue" Collections.

The term "internal revenue" has been restricted in its meaning to such revenues only as are collected under the internal revenue bureau connected with the treasury department, and does not include all revenues that are, properly speaking, from internal sources, that is, from sources other than duties levied at the frontiers upon foreign commodities. Thus, moneys arising from the sale of public lands, from patent fees, or the revenues of the postal service, are not generally known as "internal revenues."

Gentlemen of the Convention: thank you most sincerely for the great honor you have done me in choosing me to preside over your deliberations

Achievements of the Party.

No political party in modern times can show such a record of achievement during the last 50 years as the Republican party. Upon that record can stand and challenge all comers to the lists. The American people must choose next November between us and the Democratic party. With the Democratic party, and with that the Democratic party, and with that alone, must the comparison be made. We differ from that party in some important particulars. We both, it is true, have a past and a history, but we treat those possessions very different-They wish to keep their past a profound secret. We seek by all means to publish ours to the world. If we refer to their history they charge us with calumny. We regard ours, truthful and undistorted, as our greatest glory. To the youth of the country they say: "Judge us solely by our undiscovered future." We say: "Read our record; judge us by our past and our present, and from these learn what we are—what we have been and what we mean to be." Recall the cries which have sounded from the lips of these two parties during the last half century. On the one side: "Slavery, secession, repudiation of the public debt, flat money, free trade, free silver, the overthrow of the courts and government ownership." On the Republican side: "Free soil free men, the union, the payment of the debt, honest money, protection to American industry, the gold standard, the maintenance of law, of order and of the courts and the government regulation of great corporations." The old shilbboleths of the Democrats are to-day the epitaphs of policies which are dead and damned. They serve only to remind us of dangers es caped or to warn us of perils to be shunned. The battle cries of the Re publicans have been the watchwords of great causes. They tell of victories won and triumphs tasted-they are embodied in the laws and mark the stepping stones by which the republic has risen to ever greater heights of power and prosperity.

The great body of the American peoing, the men and women who earn and save, have no base envy—no fanatic hatred of wealth, whether individual or corporate, if it has been honestly gained and is wisely and generously employed with a sense of responsibility to the public. But this great body of our people, by habit and instinct alike wisely conservative, these people, who are the bone and sinew of our country and upon whom its fortunes and its safety rest, began to observe, with deep alarm, the recent manifestations of the new economic conditions. More and more they came to believe that these vast fortunes and these huge combinations of capital were formed and built up by tortuous and dishonest means and through a cynical disregard of the very laws which the mass of the people were compelled to obey. They began to fear that political power was being reft from their hands and put into the possession of the money holders, that their dearest rights were in danger, that their hopes of success and advancement were cut off by business systems which they could not understand but by which the individual was sacrificed and held down.

Call to the Government. To those who looked beneath the surface an ominous unrest was apparent. The violent counsels of violent men, who aimed at the destruction of property and the overthrow dustrious masses of the American peoaration of a bill for the revision of ple turned away from these advocates of violence, but, at the same time, demanded that their government should give them, in lawful and reasonable ways, the protection to which they were entitled, against the dangers they public services of the last half cen-tury, was imposed upon the Republican party and they have not flinched from the burden. Under the lead of the president, the Republican party has grappled with the new problems born of the new conditions. The re sponse of the people to the policies urged by the president, has been so emphatic that it has been made clear, once for all, that the government of the United States is never to be dominated by money and financial interests, and that the political party which permits itself to be ruled by them is thereby doomed to defeat.

Laws Must Be Enforced. Nothing is more destructive to the espect for law—the chief bulwark of civilized society—than to place laws upon the statute book in order mere ly to still public clamor and satisfy the people but which it is never in-tended to enforce. The worst laws imaginable are those which are allowed to rust, unused, because, if enforced, they might interfere with vested abuses or curb the rich and power-

The president has enforced the laws as he found them on the statute book. For this performance of his sworn duty, he has been bitterly attacked. It was to be expected. Vested abuses and profitable wrongs cry out loudly when their entrenchments are carried, and some one is sure to be hurt when the bayonets of the law are pushed home. In the great American electorate, money has few votes, but it can command many voices and cause many birds to The result is that the president is the best abused and the most popular man in the United States to-day. He has been more abused than any president except Washington, Lincoln and Grant. He possesses the love and confidence of the American peo ple to a degree never equaled except by Lincoln and Washington. May it not be said, in sober truth, that the fearless performance of a sworn duty is not without its exceeding great reward?

Laws That Have Benefited Country. But the work has not ceased with the enforcement of existing laws. A Republican congress and a Republican president have placed new laws upon the statute books, designed to carry out the Republican policy of government regulation in a safe, reasonable and effective manner. The Elkins law, aimed at preferential rebates, which have been the curse of our transportation and our business: the railroad rate law, which made the supervision of railroads more effective, and the pure food law, which has been, in the highest degree, beneficent to the masses of our people, are all monuments of the policy and the labors of the Republican party.

The president, who has led his party and the people in this great work, retires, by his own determina-tion, from his high office, on the fourth of March next. His refusal of a re-nomination, dictated by the loftiest motives and by a noble loyalty to American traditions, is final and irrevocable. That man is no friend to Theodore Roesevelt and does not cherish his name and fame, who now from any motive, seeks to urge him as a candidate for the great office which he has finally declined. The president has refused what his countrymen would gladly have given him: he says what he means and means ple, neither very rich nor very poor, what he says, and his party and his the honest, the thrifty, the hard-work-ing, the men and women who earn and they honor his high character and great public service. Party Pledged to Policies.

But, although the president retires, ne leaves his policies behind him. To those policies the Republican party stands pledged. We must carry out as we have begun, regardless alike of the radicals of reaction and the radicals of revolution. We must hold fast to that which is good while we make the advances which the times

We ask for the confidence and support of the American people because we have met the problems of the day and have tried patiently to solve them We believe in the maintenance of law and order and in the support of the courts in all their rights and dignity. We believe in equal rights for all men and are opposed to special privileges for any man, or any class of men, high or low, rich or poor. We, who established the gold standard are pledged to the cause of sound finance. We stand for protection to American industry and American labor, and we will resist all the assaults of free trade under whatever name it comes disguised. We will see to the defense of the country. We mean to have a navy worthy of the American name. We seek peace and friendship with all the nations, but alliance with none. Yet, we have no intention of being a "hermit nation." The great services of the president to the world's peace will be continued by the party which he has led. We are a party fit to rule and govern-to legislate and administer, and not a fortuitous collection of atoms whose only form of thought or motion is to oppose. Above all, we are true to our traditions and to our past.

USED AS FATE'S PLAYTHING.

Real Hard Luck That Was Visited on New York Man.

He had been down on his luck for some time, and a few days ago had exhausted his money, with the exception of a solitary nickel. In a newspaper office where he went to look over the "Help Wanted" list he saw an advertisement to the effect that a man liv-ing near One Hundred and Twentyfifth street, Harlem, wanted to purchase a shaggy dog.

The Brooklyn unfortunate has a dog which certainly comes under the desig nation of shaggy, having a trace of the St. Bernard in his makeup. The man had owned the dog for years, but he had reached his limit, and in the "ad" he saw an opportunity to be grasped.

"I guess it's up to you, old pal," he said to the dog. "You must go or your boss don't eat. Come on."

Man and dog started for One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. With wonderful prevision he decided to save the nickel for a return trip if neces sary and walked from his home to Harlem. It was a long and tiresome trip. The dog was panting, and the man had to stop every now and then for rest, but finally he reached the place designated. The man rang the bell and inquired for the advertiser. Dogs are not allowed in the house, so the Brooklynite had to wait in the hall, his heart beating hopefully and the faithful dog looking up at him, as if wondering what was going to happen. It may have been five minutes but it seemed an hour to the anxious man before the advertiser stepped out of the elevator. The suspense

"You're Mr. So and So, who advertised for a shaggy dog?"

"Well, here's the dog." "Tain't shaggy enough." And the dvertiser turned away.

Imagine the feelings of that poor crooklynite. His last hope gone and miles from home, with one nickel in his pocket.—N. Y. Morning Telegraph.

Best to Avoid Native Dishes,

A writer in Die Woche warns tour ists against the temptations of the bill of fare and commends the old German adage, "What the peasant knows not he will not eat." "Special or national dishes," he says, "should be avoided because, in order to appreciate them, one must be accustomed to them. We always form an idea as to what these dishes should taste like, and our first experience with them is always dis appointing. It you must eat these na tional products of the kitchen, order them in the best hotels or at the first class restaurants, for there they are idealized by careful preparation and superior ingredients.

The writer gives special warning against the dishes with queer names which are served in Austria and advises tourists to ask what these preparations are before ordering and eating them. As an example he quotes "Hun-garian partridge," which may be found on nearly all bills of fare. This is really a dish made of pork "leavings," namely, ears, tails, muzzles, etc. "and as little like the name as the Englishman's cheese preparation is like a Welsh rabbit."

Urge Tea for Soldiers.

Tea is being strongly recommended by the German military authorities as a beverage for troops on long marches in place of the coffee which has hitherto been the sole refreshment sun plied. Special tea-making machines are being constructed, for the troops Tea consumption in Germany is very slight compared with other nations the Germans ranking fourth in 1903 with a consumption of less than two ounces per head of population. compared with the British six pounds per head, the Russian 15 ounces, and the Dutch 11/2 pounds. The French consumption is very small, and remains at less than one ounce pe

Thrifty Tenors.

Italian tenors seldom retire from the stage nowadays with shallow pockets. There is generally a pic turesquely located villa somewhere down in the boot-shaped country to which they can withdraw between seasons to hold communion with themselves and count their money and later on to enjoy their sunset days Bonci, Caruso, Zenatello-not one of them within sight of the "farewell" age—already own ideal residences in Bologna, Florence and Verona, re spectively. Bassi, too, has an imposing Florence retreat. Masini, a tenor of note throughout Europe, one of sunny Italy's elder sons, has decided at last to bring his public career to ar end with a series of special appear ances at the Italian opera in Petersburg, and he, too, now full of years and riches, has a handsome villa at Vomero, Naples, in readiness.

THREE THOUSAND TENTS AT PINE PLAINS BLOWN DOWN.

PAPER MONEY SCATTERED

Gale Sweeps Away the Paymaster's Fund-Mimic Attack on New York City by Ships is . Planned.

New York.—Pine Plains, the con centration camp of the federal sol-diers and national guardsmen, was torn up from one end to the other of its seven miles of territory Sunday by the most severe wind and rain storm that has visited that section for years.

Three thousand tents were blown down, mess shelters were leveled and more than 100 horses stampeded and escaped from their corrals.

It was the soldiers' first drill of the field maneuvers, which take place this week under Gen. Fred D. Grant, commander of the department of the east, but it was not of the kind anticipated.

Paymaster John S. Malloy was paying off the Twelfth United States infantry when the storm descended. He had arranged the money in heaps of bills, preparatory to distributing them among the men. Maj. Mallory and his assistants made an attempt to get the money back into the strongboxes, but they were unsuccessful, and in a moment the air was full of currency.

Bills of many denominations were found scattered over a territory of a mile or more, and probably the greater part of the money will be recovered.

The troops will be kept busy with day and night maneuvers, solving various problems of defense and attack; outpost duty and other activities of troops in the field at war.

While the regulars, a brigade of Massachusetts militia and a regiment and several troops of a battery of the New York National Guard are strug-gling with the rules and rigors of mimic war at Pine Plains, ships classed as foreign fleets will endeavor to capture New York city, which will be defended by regulars and New York National Guard regiments of the coast artillery. Under the direction of the regulars the state troops will essay the task of operating the big defense guns in the four forts guarding the harbor approaches.

MOTOR CAR RUNS INTO RIVER.

Four Persons Drowned in Accident at New York.

New York.—Four persons were drowned Monday night when an automobile carrying a pleasure party of six became unmanageable, shot at wild speed down West Fifty-sixth street and bounded from an open pier into the North river. The machine turned over in its plunge from the pier, holding the four victims fast in their seats. The dead are: Adeline Berdon, aged 19 years; Mrs. Rose Coleman, aged 23 years; John Coleman, aged 27 years, and Virginia Knight, aged eight years.

John Bauer, the chauffeur, was carried into the river with the machine but managed to free himself and swim to safety. John Nolan, one of party, jumped from the runaway machine as it neared the river.

Ossining, N. Y.—A confederate flag flying from the printing office of William J. Physioc on Main street was hauled down Monday by Commander Sumner A. Smith of Morell Post of the Grand Army. Physicc was cited to appear before the post and explain his action in hoisting the flag so that it overlapped the American flags, also flying from poles on the roof.

Des Moines, Ia.—The Hull-Prouty contest in the Seventh Iowa district still hangs in the balance, with the prospects that the ultimate decision will have to be made in the courts As a result of the recount by the board of county supervisors of the ballots cast in the recent primary election, the vote stands at a tie for the two candidates.
