Miss Rosella Rose, te cher in the eighth grade of the public' school, had a party at the home of Dr. S. T. Butler Thursday evening This was the outcome of a contest between the pupils. As each side won in the contest and those defeated were to furnish refreshments, they had the pleasure of two treats and report a fine time,

TAFT AND SHERMAN FOR PRESIDEN

The Vote Throughout the Country Strongly Republican--Successful Democrats on County Ticket--The Result

The result of the election has been a surprise to many The plurality of eighteen for E. A. Silver, circuit clerk over his opponent, James Kelly, was a big thing consider ing the Republican avalanche that passed over the country and the strong fight made against him by various factions The democrats for the first time in many years fell back E. A. Silver states he is a stronger Democratic politician than ever and with his shoulder to the wheel will still push in the front rank of straightforward democrats. H has numbers of true and earnest friends greeting him as modestly as they humbly accepted the reports of defeat.

The next president of the United States will be William Howard Taft, Republican, of Ohio,

The next vice president will be James Schoolcraft Sherman of New York.

Deneen was elected governor of Illinois over the Democratic candidate, Stevenson.

Taft's majority in Moultrie county was nine votes. Stevenson's majority in the county over Doneen was

Adkin's total in the district was 15,944, Carter 15,644, Shaw 11,727, Field 11,514

For State's Attorney Martin defeated Myers by a majority of 146.

Dr. Miller was re-elected coroner over his opponent Harris, by 207 votes.

Hippard was elected clerk of the appellate court by a big majority over his opponent, Hon. John H. Baker.

"Talking of prize fighters, sir," said the night watchman, who had nearly danced himself over the edge of the wharf in illustrating one of Mr. Corbett's most trusted blows, and was now sitting down taking in sufficient air for three, "they ain't wot they used to be when I was a boy. They adver-tise in the papers for months and months about their fights, and when it does come off, they do it with gloves, and they're all right agin a day or two arter.

"The strangest prize fighter I ever come acrost was one wot shipped with me on the Cavendish. He was the most eggstrordinary fighter I've ever seen or 'eard of, and 'e got to be such a nuisance afore 'e'd done with us that we could 'ardly call our souls' our own. He shipped as an ordinary seaman—a unfair thing to do, as was anything but ordinary, and 'ad no right to be there at all.

"We'd got one terror on board afore he come, and that was Bill Bone, one o' the biggest and strongest men I've ever seen down a ship's fo'c's'le, and that's saying a good deal. Built more like a bull than a man, 'e was, and when he was in his tantrums the best thing to do was to get out of 'is way or else get into your bunk and keep quiet. Oppersition used to send 'im crazy a'most, an' if 'e said a red shirt was a blue one, you 'ad to keep quiet. It didn't do to agree with 'im and call it blue even, cos if you did he'd you a liar and punch you for telling lies.

"The v'y'ge I'm speaking of—we used to trade between Australia and London—Bill came aboard about an hour afore the ship sailed. The rest of us was already aboard and down below, some of us stowing our things away and the rest sitting down and telling each other lies about wot we'd been doing. Bill came lurching down the ladder, and Tom Baker put 'is 'and to 'im to steady 'im as he got to the Who are you putting your 'ands on?' ses Bill, glaring at 'im. 'Only 'olding you up, Bill,' ses Tom omiling.

'Oh,' ses Bill.

"He put 'is back up agin a bunk and pulled his-self together.

'Olding of me-up-was you?' he ses; 'whaffor, if I might be so bold as to arsk?

I thought your foot 'ad slipped. Bill, old man,' ses Tom; 'but I'm sorry If it 'adn't.'

"Bill looks at 'im agin,' ard.

Nasty, Low-Looking Little Chap Was Dodgy.

"'Sorry if my foot adidn't slip?

he ses. "'You know wot I mean, Bill, see

Tom, smiling a uneasy smile.

'Don't laugh at me,' roars Bill.

'I wasn't laughing, Bill, old pal, ses Tom.

'E's called me a liar,' ses Bill looking round at us; 'called me a liar. 'Old my coat, Charles, and I'll split 'im in halves.'

"Charlie took the coat like a lamb, though he was Tom's pal, and Tom looked round to see whether he couldn't nip up the ladder and get away, but Bill was just in front of it Then Tom found out that one of 'is bootlaces was undone and he knelt down to do it up, and this young or dinary seaman, Joe Simms by name, put his 'ead out of his bunk and he ses, quiet like:

You ain't afraid of that thing, mate, are you?'

'Wot?' screams Bill, starting. "'Don't make such a noise when I'm eaking, see Joe; 'where's your manners, you great 'ulking rascal?'

"I thought Bill would ha' dropp with surprise at being spoke to like that. His face was purple all over and 'e stood staring at Joe as though 'e didn't know wot to make of 'im And we stared, too, Joe being a small-ish sort o' chap and not looking at all strong.

"'Go easy, mate,' whispers Tom; 'you don't know who you're talk-

'You touch that man,' he ses, quietly, pointing to Tom, 'and I'll give you such a dressing-down as you've never 'ad afore. Mark my words,

"'I wasn't going to 'it him,' ses Bill. in a strange, mild voice.

"'You'd better not,' ses the young 'un, shaking his fist at 'im; 'you'd better not, my lad. If there's any fighting to be done in this fo'c's'le I'll do it Mind that.

"It's no good me saying we was staggered, becog staggered ain't no word for it. To see Bill put 'is hands in 'is pockets and try and whistle, and then sit down on a locker and scratch is head, was the most amazing thing I've ever seen. Presently 'e begins to sing under his breath.

"Stop that 'umming,' ses Joe; 'when want you to 'um, I'll tell you."

"Bill left off 'umming, and then he gives a little cough behind the back of is 'and, and, arter fidgeting about a

"''Strewth,' ses Tom, looking round

at us, 'lave we shipped a bloomin' prize fighter?'

"He was a ordinary seaman, mind, talking to A. B.'s like that. Men who'd been up aloft and doing their little bit was going about catching cold in 'is little petticuts. Still, if Bill could stand it, we supposed as we'd

"Bill stayed up on deck till we was under way, and 'is spirit seemed to be broke. He went about 'is work like a man wot was walking in 'is sleep, and when breakfast come 'e 'ardly tasted it.

"Joe made a splendid breakfast, and when he'd finished 'e went to Bill's bunk and chucked the things out all over the place and said 'e was going to 'ave it for himself. And Bill sat there and took it all quiet, and by-andby he took 'is things up and put them in Joe's bunk without a word.

You've been in a scrap or two in your time, I know,' Tom ses, admiring like. I knew you was a bit of a one with your fists direckly I see you.' 'Oh, 'ow's that?' asks Joe.

"'I could see by your nose,' ses Tom. "You never know how to take people like that. The words 'ad 'ardly left Tom's lips afore the other ups with a basin of 'ot tea and heaves it all over 'im.

"'Take that, you insulting rascal," he ses. "'Get up,' ses Tom, dancing with rage. 'Get up; prize fighter or no prize fighter, I'll mark you.' 'Sit down,' ses Bill, turning round.

"'I'm going to 'ave a go at 'im, Bill," ses Tom; 'if you're afraid of 'im, I ain't.'

'Sit down,' ses Bill, starting up. 'Ow dare you insult me like that?'

"'Like wot?' ses Tom, staring.
"'If I can't lick 'im you can't,' ses Bill; 'that's 'ow it is, mate.'

'But I can try,' ses Tom. "'All right,' ses Bill. 'Me fust, then if you lick me, you can 'ave a go at 'im. If you can't lick me, 'ow can you lick 'im?'

That was the beginning of it and instead of 'aving one master we found we'd got two, owing to the eggstrordinry way Bill had o' looking at things.

"In about three days our life wasn't worth living, and the fo'c's'le was more like a Sunday school class than anything else. In the fust place Joe put down swearing. He wouldn't 'ave no bad langwidge, he said, and he didn't neither. If a man used a bad word Joe would pull 'im up the fust time, and the second he'd order Bill to 'it 'im, being afraid of 'urting 'im too much 'imself

"Then Joe objected to us playing cards for money, and we 'ad to arrange on the quiet that brace buttons was ha'-pennies and coat buttons pennies, and that lasted until one evening Tom Baker got up and danced and nearly went off 'is 'ead with joy through havin' won a few dozen. That was enough for Joe, and Bill by his to look arter the ship's cat."

"Wot with Joe's Sunday school ways and Bill backing 'em up, we was all pretty glad by the time we got to Melbourne.

"Arter we'd been there two or three days we began to feel a'most sorry for Bill. Night arter night, when we was ashore, Joe would take 'im off and look arter 'im, and at last, partly for is sake, but more to see the fun, Tom Baker managed to think o' something to put things straight.

There'll be an end o' that bullying Joe, ses Tom, taking Bill by the arm. 'We've arranged to give 'im a lesson as'll lay 'im up for a time.'
"'Oh,' ses Bill, looking 'ard at a boat wot was passing.

'We've got Dodgy Pete coming to see us to-night,' ses Tom, in a whisper; 'there'll only be the second aboard, and he'll likely be asleep Dodgy's one o' the best light-weights in Australia, and if 'e don't fix up Mis ter Joe, it'll be a pity.'

"At about ha'-past six Dodgy comes aboard, and the fun begins to com-

"He was a nasty, low-looking little chap, was Dodgy, very fly-looking and very conceited. I didn't like the look of 'im at all, and unbearable as Joe didn't seem to be quite the sort o' thing to get a chap aboard to 'ammer a shipmate you couldn't 'ammer yourself.

'An' what's that in that bunk over there?' ses Dodgy, pointing with 'is

"'Hush, be careful,' ses Tom, with a wink; 'that's a prize fighter.' 'Oh,' ses Dodgy, grinning, 'I thought it was a monkey.'

"Bill, who is that 'andsome, gentlemanly-looking young feller over there smoking a half-crown cigar?' ses Joe.

"'That's a young gent wot's come down to 'ave a look 'round,' ses Tom, as Dodgy takes 'is cigar out of 'is mouth and looks 'round, puzzled.

"'Take that lovely little gentleman and kick 'im up the fo'c's'le ladder,' ses Joe to Bill, taking up 'is jacket agin; 'and don't make too much noise over it, cos I've got a bit of a 'eadache. else I'd do it myself.'

'Wot's the game?' ses Dodgy, staring.

"'I'm obeying orders,' ses Bill. 'Last time I was in London, Joe 'ere half killed me one time, and 'e made me promise to do as 'e told me for six months. I'm very sorry, mate, but I've got to kick you up that ladder.'

You kick me up?' ses Dodgy, with a nasty little laugh. 'I can try, mate, can't I?' ses Bill, folding 'is things up very neat and putting 'em on a locker

"The fust blow Bill missed, and the next moment 'e got a tap on the jaw that nearly broke it, and that was followed up by one in the eye that sent 'im staggering up agin the side, and when 'e was there Dodgy's fists were rattling all round 'im. "I believe it was that that brought

Bill round, and the next moment Dodgy was on 'is back with a blow that nearly knocked his 'ead off. Charlie grabbed at Tom's watch and began to count, and after a little bit called out 'Time.' It was a silly thing to do, as it would 'ave stopped the fight then and there if it 'adn't been for Tom's presence of mind, saying it was two minutes slow. That gave Dodgy a chance, and he got up again and walked round Bill very careful, swearing 'ard at the small size of the

He seemed to think the whole fo'c's'le was full o' Bills sitting on a locker and waiting to be punched, and the end of it was a knock-out blow from the real Bill which left 'im on the floor without a soul offering to pick 'im up.

"Bill 'elped 'im up at last and shook hands with 'im, and they rinsed their faces in the same bucket, and began to praise each other up. They sat there purring like a couple o' cats, until at last we 'eard a smothered voice coming from Joe Simmins' bunk.

'Is it all over?' he asks.

"'Yes,' ses somebody. "'How is Bill?' ses Joe's voice again.

"'Look for yourself,' ses Tom. "Joe sat up in 'is bunk then and looked out, and he no sooner saw Bill's face than he gave a loud cry and fell back agin, and, as true as I'm sitting here, fainted clean away. was struck all of a 'eap, and then Bill picked up the bucket and threw some water over 'im, and by and by he comes round agin and in a dazed sort o' way puts his arm round Bill's neck and begins to cry.

"'Mighty Moses!' ses Dodgy Pete, jumping up; 'it's a woman!

"'It's my wife!' ses Bill. "We understood it all then, least ways the married ones among us did. She'd shipped aboard partly to be with Bill and partly to keep an eye on 'im, and Tom Baker's mistake about a prize fighter had just suited her book better than anything. How Bill was to get 'er home 'e couldn't think, but it 'appened the second officer had been peeping down the fo'c's'le, waiting for ever so long for a suitable opportunity to stop the fight, and the old man was so tickled about the way we'd all been done 's gave 'er a passage back as stewardess

AMERICAN SOCIETY PASSES AWAY.

LONG SOCIAL LIGHT

New York Woman Who Was Know as First Among Country's Aristocrats Taken by Death-Heart Trouble Cause.

New York,-Mrs. William Astor who for 30 years had been regarded as the social leader of New York, died Friday night of heart disease at her nome on Fifth avenue.

For nearly four weeks Mrs. Astor, who was 82 years old, had been in a critical condition owing to the return of a heart affection that had given her trouble for years.

There is not a name in the social register that is so well known from one end of the land to the other as that of Mrs. Astor. Despite her advancing years, Mrs. Astor continued to hold her social domination up to a year ago, when failing health compelled her to retire into comparative eclusion.

in III Health a Year.

was in the summer of 1907 that Mrs. Astor's friends learned of her ill health. While she was abroad last year, her son, Col. John Jacob Astor, made the announcement that Beechwood, the summer home of Mrs. Astor at Newport, would not be opened and this led to the discovery that Mrs. Astor was in poor health. Word came later from Mrs. Astor, while she was in Paris, saying that she would open her Newport villa and that she would make the season there one of the gayest in years.

This premise was not fulfilled, however, for when Mrs. Astor returned from abroad she broke down in Boston and had to return to New York. She nad remained at her home ever since.

Society Functions in History. The society functions given and presided over by Mrs. Astor have gone down into history as the most brilliant on record. It is said that the ballroom in the mansion on Fifth avenue would accommodate 1,000 people. It was Mrs. Astor who established the famous '400," her visiting list being confined to that number of names. In 1905, however, Mrs. Astor was said to have "let down the bars," when she invited 1,200 persons to one of the most memorable social events ever given in New York. Mrs. Astor received her guests at these gatherings seated in a high backed chair beneath a portrait of herself, painted by Carolus Duran. Spouse Not Tall Socially.

The Astor jewels were worn by Mrs. astor on these occasions. It is said the Astor emeralds are the finest in the world. William Astor, who died in Paris in 1892, took little part in the social activities his wife enjoyed. Mrs. Astor, before marriage, was Miss Caroline Schermerhorn, a daughter of Abraham Schermerhorn, a well-to-do merchant. She was married to William Astor on September 23, 1853. John Jacob Astor was their only son. There were four daughters, two of them, Mrs. Ogilvie Haig and Mrs. Orme Wilson, are now living. The eldest daughter, Miss Emily Astor, who married J. J. Van Alen, died some years ago.

Pioneer Lumber Merchant Dead. Grand Rapids, Mich.—Delos A. Blodgett, for 60 years closely identified with the lumber industry of the country, died at his home here, in his eighty-fourth year.

He was born in Otsego county, New York, in 1825. In 1847 he began work in an Upper Michigan sawmill, finally becoming one of the heaviest timber operators of the state. In 1885 he be gan buying southern timber land and was one of the first northern men to make such investments. He and his associates are among the largest holders of southern pine to-day.

Montgomery Again Convicted.

Pittsburg, Pa. — William Mont-gomery, cashier of the Allegheny National bank until the discovery of a shortage in its funds of over $1,250. 000 early last summer necessitated closing the institution, was for the second time this week found guilty Wednesday of embezzlement and abstraction of funds his neculations in the two cases amounting to $613,000.

Costly Hallowe'en Prank.

Belton, Tex.-Fire started by Hallowe'en roysterers late Saturday night totally destroyed the Belton compress and 10,000 bales of cotton. The loss will exceed $250,000, which is covered by insurance. Twenty residences were damaged by the fire and water and 17 loaded freight cars burned, which will increase the total loss by $10,000.

Political Murder in Oklahoma

Washington .- In view of the order of the secretary of the navy revoking the prohibition he recently against officers who attended the Newport conference from discussing its action, an officer who was prominently identified with the entire proceedings of the conference stated Sunday that it had substantiated the charges of defects pointed out in Commander Keyes' letter on that subject, with a few minor exceptions. This officer has been foremost in his denunciation of naval defects.

Venezuela Doesn't Yield-Blockade of Its Ports by Warships of The Netherlands is Expected.

Willemstad. — The Netherlands government fixed November 1 as the limit of time for Venezuela to re-Willemstad. voke the decree of President Castro, ssued on May 14, prohibiting the trans-shipment of goods for Venezuelan ports at Curação. President Castro has refused to revoke this decree, but as yet, so far as is known here the Netherlands government has not decided upon definite action.

There has been much activity here but in an interview Sunday the governor of Curação said that Holland ought to have assurances that Venezuela had not revoked the decree at the last hour of the day fixed according to the ultimatum before taking any active measures. He believed that his government had made ample prep arations for any eventuality. The opinion is held among naval officers here that no direct steps will be taken within a week.

There is no question that Venezuelans believe the Netherlands government is preparing to blockade their ports. Advices received by the steamer Zulia from Maracaibo state that it was reported on October 24 that President Castro had ordered the mobilization of 50,000 troops to be ready November 2. Two days later there were rumors in Maracaibo that Gen. Nicholas Rolando, who previously had been charged with leading a revolutionary movement in Venezuela, was crossin the frontier with 20,000 men from Cucuta, Colombia. No further account of this movement could be learned because mail and telegraphic communications with Cucuta were suspended the following day. Large shipments of nowder and shells have been received at Fort San Carlos on Maracaibo lake and there is much activity around the frontier.

At Willemstad a wireless system has been established so that uninterrupted service can now be secured. The last target practice of the Dutch warships showed 75 per cent, of hits, while the vessels were making a speed of 12 knots.

CHAIN THEMSELVES TO GRILLE.

Suffragettes Create Remarkable Scene in House of Commons.

London.—Suffragette disturbances have driven the government to the unusual course of temporarily closing the strangers' and ladies' galleries in the house of commons. Wednesday evening a sensation was caused by the display of a placard and sudden shrill cries from the ladies' gallery, demanding votes for women, while simultane ously a bundle of handbills fluttered down from the strangers' gallery at the opposite end of the chamber, and s man shouted protests against "injustice to women."

Attendants hurried to the galleries and the male offender was unceremoniously ejected, but from the ladies' gallery sounds were heard of a desperate struggle. Two suffragettes had firmly chained themseives to the grille and resisted for a time all efforts at removal, crying continuously in shrill tones their demands for votes.

The scene was watched with amaze ment from the floor of the house, but finally the suffragettes were dragged from their posts and removed, but only after portions of the grille were removed with them.

NEW FARMERS' ORGANIZATION.

Society of Equity is Formed at Indianapolis Convention.

Indianapolis. Ind.—The Farmers' ciety of Equity was organized here Thursday afternoon at a convention of representatives from a number of states. The constitution of the ciety embodies practically all of the basic principles of the American Soclety of Equity, the principal change being that all delegates to the conventions of the society must be producing farmers.

The following officers were elected: J. A. Everitt of Indianapolis, president; W. E. Creflick of Travis City, Mich., vice-president; J. C. Rous of Indianapolis, treasurer. The directors are: N. N. Ashby of Sebree, Ky.; J. A. Myers of Ramsey, N. J.; R. Sherad of Keosauqua, Ia.; W. H. Mitchell of Hutchinson, Kan.; L. H. Johnson of Attica, Ind.; and F. W. Morris of Rochester, Minn.

Victim of Crime Is Found. Detroit, Mich.—The almost nude body of an unknown man, 35 to 40 years old, was found Thursday in a sack bound with ropes and a driving rein in Lapham's Lane, Springwells township. The man's throat was cut from ear to ear, there was a bullet hole in one temple and the back of his head was crushed in. Apparently he had been dead three weeks.

Big Lease of Grazing Land.

Winnipeg, Man.—A syndicate of Minnesota, Montana and Oregon cattlemen have leased 10,000 acres of grazing land near Chilico lake, some distance from the head of Butte In et, British Columbia, and thousands of yearlings will be shipped in.

NEW DISTRICTS AND

WESTERN GANADA AFFORDS BET-TER CONDITIONS THAN EVER FOR SETTLEMENT.

To the Editor — Sir:—Doubtless many of your readers will be pleased to have some word from the grain fields of Western Canada, where such a large number of Americans have made their home during the past few years. It is pleasing to be able to report that generally the wheat yield has been good; it will average about 20 bushels to the acre. There will be many cases where the yield will go 35 bushels to the acre, and others where 50 bushels to the acre has been recorded. The oat and barley crop has been splendid. The prices of all grains will bring to the farmers a magnificent return for their labors. An instance has been brought to my notice of a farmer in the Pincher Creek (Southern Alberta) districtwhere winter wheat is grown—who made a net profit of $19.55 per acre, or little less than the selling price of his land. 30, 40, and 50 bushel yields are recorded there. The beauty about the lands in Western Canada is that they are so well adapted to grain-raising, while the luxuriant grasses that grow everywhere in abundance make the best possible feed for fattening cattle or for those used for dairying purposes.

The new homestead regulations which went into force September, 1908, attracted thousands of new settlers. It is now possible to secure 160 acres in addition to the 160 acres as a free grant, by paying $3.00 an acre for it. Particulars as to how to do this and as to the railway rates can be secured from the Canadian Government

"The development throughout Western Canada during the next ten years will probably exceed that of any other country in the world's history," is not the statement of an optimistic Canadian from the banks of the Saskatchewan, but of Mr. Leslie M. Shaw of New York, ex-Secretary of the United States Treasury under the late President McKinley and President Roosevelt, and considered one of the ablest financiers of the United States. "Our railway companies sold a good deal of their land at from three to five dollars an acre, and now the owners are selling the same land at from fifty to seventy-five dollars, and buying more up in Canada at from ten to fifteen."

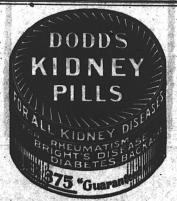

The editor of the Monticello (Iowa) Express made a trip through Western Canada last August, and was greatly impressed. He says: "One cannot cross Western Canada to the mou tains without being impressed with its immensity of territory and its future Where I expected to find frontier villages there were substantially built cities and towns with every modern convenience. It was formerly supposed that the climate was too severe for it to be thought of as an agricultural country, but its wheat-raising possibilities have been amply We drew from Ontarlo many tested. of our best farmers and most progresssive citizens. Central Illinois dairymen in large numbers, with others from all parts of the state, will gather in Clinton, January 19, 20 and 21 for the annual convention of the Illinois State Dairy association. The selection of Clinton as the place for the next convention is particularly fortunate in that Clinton is E. Sudendorf's home town and the association will have "Sudy's influence and help to make the convention a success. The meeting of the association last year was held in the northern part of the state though it rightly belongs to the central section. But beside that fact, the dairy industry in central Illinois is growing rapidly. A creamery at Bloomington is a success and has a lot of satisfied patrons and the Illinois dairy school's creamery has awakened by its milk purchases, a great deal of interest in immediate neighborhood. Clinton is connected with Bloomington by interurban car line and with Champaign and Urbana, the location of the state dairy school, by railroad and the distance is short. But what is more to the point as indicating dairy interest in and about Clinton is that Mr. Sudendorf will open a creamery in that city in January. His plans are all made and the preliminary work toward arousing interest in the enterprise has been done. There is no reason why a creamery will not be as great a success in Clinton as in Bloomington, and it will be.

Street Railway Tax Higher,

Increased assessments of the capital stock of Chicago's street railway corporations will be made this year ording to Dr. Samuel M. Barnes, chairman of the capital stock com mittee. The increases will be based upon the advance in market price of the companies' securities, due to the successful working of the traction settlement ordinances. The report of the Chicago Union Traction Company, now the Chicago Railways Company, shows a capital stock of $100,000 and bonds and securities aggregating $37,091,881. Market reports show its stock to be worth par, and its bonds and securities at an average of 90. This makes their actual value $33,482,693. The local as essment of tangible property is $12,-513,445, full value, making the dif-ference, or assessment of tangible values, $20,969,248. Last year the Union Traction interests had no franchise and got off without any assess ment on their stocks and bonds. The Consolidated Traction Company also will pay this year on the basis of actual values. It reports capital stock of $15,000,000, but this stock, it is admitted, is worthless. The bonds and securities are given as $6,750,000 and these are said to be worth practically par. The local assessments of tangible property are $2,142,355, full value, making the difference $4,607,645 assessible as the intangible value.

Would Increase Mayor's Salary.

A movement to increase the salary of the mayor of Springfield to $4,000 per annum was started in the city council when Alderman Neuman in troduced an order fixing the salary at this figure. The city's head now receives $2,500 per annum, but Alderman Neuman is of the opinion that the kind of man needed for the office is worth $4,000 and that it would be conomy to pay a good executive the higher price. The order was referred to the finance committee. A number of orders tending toward the betterment of conditions in the city and improvements were introduced. An ordinance designating the First Trust and Savings bank as trustee for the revenue to be derived from the street car company was introduced and re ferred to the finance committee.

FIRST SECTION OF ATLANTIC FLEET AT OLONGAPO.

Second Division at Amoy, China, Tells Indifference of the Natives-Few "Passes" Cause.

Olongapo, P. I.—The first squadron of the Atlantic battleship fleet arrived here Saturday.

The weather was fine throughout the entire trip from Japan and the ships have been occupied with squadron evolutions and careful preparations for target practice. Otherwis the journey has been uneventful. Wireless communication will be maintained with Manila while the fleet is at Olongapo.

Amoy. — Chinese people were in different regarding the arrival here Friday of the second squadron of the United States Atlantic fleet. Only a few natives turned out to see the battleships composing the strongest naval force that ever entered this port.

Not more than 100 Chinese guests were admitted to the grounds which the celebration planned for the reception of the American officers and sailors was held, and resentment at the severe measures to exclude the natives was the cause of the apathy. The British consul issued a circular stating that the local officials have declined to issue more than 60 passes to the inclosure to British subjects and that in consequence he refused to accept one.

The fleet appeared off Tai-Tan island at 6:30 a. m. Friday, having been met ten miles out at sea by the torpedo gunboat Fei-Ying, which escorted the visitors to their anchorage. The ships entered the harbor in single file, the Louisiana, flagship of Rear Admiral William H. Emory, leading, and after forming a double line they dropped their anchors at 9:30 o'clock while the forts on shore and the flagship of the Chinese squadron, the Hai-Chi, fired the usual salutes, to

JAMES KERR PASSES AWAY.

Democratic National Committeeman Dies at New Rochelle, N. Y.

New York. - James Kerr, Democratic national committeeman from Pennsylvania, died Saturday morning at his summer home in New Rochelle, following an operation for an intestinal disorder made him practically an invalid for a year. His wife and sons were with him at the end.

William J. Bryan visited Mr. Kerr last Monday, and the latter was much elated over the visit of the Democratic candidate, but almost immediately afterward suffered a nervous collapse which greatly aggravated his already weakened condition. There have been several consultations of physicians within the last few days, and it was determined Friday that the only chance of saving Mr. Kerr's life lay in performing an operation.

Helpless Inmates Rescued. Rome, N. Y.—Ward building B of the state custodial asylum here for feeble-minded women was burned Sunday. There were about 150 patients in the building, including the old and decrepit, about 30 of whom were confined to beds. All the sick and helpless were safely removed. It will cost $100,000 to replace the burned building and $25,000 to furnish it.

Thus Aeronauts May Return to Starting Point Easily.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Something new in aeronautics was attempted Friday afternoon when a monster bal loon with a capacity of 110,000 cubic feet of gas shot up into the air with an automobile in the place where a basket is usually suspended. The as cension was made in the north part of the city, the balloon carrying two occupants—Carl G. Fisher of Indiaapolis and G. L. Baumbaugh of Springfield, Ill. The idea of the aeronauts in using an automobile instead of the usual basket is to be able to immediately roll up the balloon, load it in the automobile and return to the place of starting or other destination.

Michigan Prisoners Tell Police How Woman's Husband Was Slain by His Half-Brother and Body Hidden.

Detroit, Mich.—After confessing their guilt to the police Monday, John Kurka, a teamster, and Mrs. Anthony Schultz were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Gerhard in Hamtranck township and pleaded guilty to the charge of murdering Mrs. Schultz's husband, who was a halfbrother of Kurka.

The latter said that the crime was attributable to an illicit affection between himself and his half-brother's Kurka had been living in the of the Schultz couple,

"Annie, I've told them all about it," said Kurka, when the woman was brought before the police after Kurka's confession, and the woman dropped, sobbing and hysterical, into a chair. The police officials sat silent for ten minutes until she controlled herself, and then listened to her story.

According to the two confessions the police say, Schultz was murdered in his bed about 3:30 a. m., the wife in another room being able to hear the fatal blow of the ax each time it fell. She then was called into the room and lifted the feet of the dead as Kurka lifted the shoulders while they carried the body to the green dump wagon in which Kurka took it from the extreme northeastern limits of the city, down through Detroit's business section, seven miles, to the secluded lane in the western suburbs, where it was later found hiden under a pile of straw.

BIG FIRE IN PHILADELPHIA.

umber Yards Are Destroyed, Loss Being $750,000.

Philadelphia.—A spectacular fire hat was marked by many thrilling indents destroyed the lumber yards of R. A. & J. J. Williams, in the north-western section of the city Monday night, entailing a loss estimated at $750,000.

While the fire was in its incipiency Harry Wilkinson, a fireman, drove chemical engine No. 45 into the yard between the big piles of lumber. The flames ate their way around the engine, and Wilkinson and a companion narrowly escaped with their lives. They could not get the apparatus away from the flames and both horses were burned to death. Wilkinson was seriously burned trying to save the animals. It is believed the fire was of incendiary origin.

Niagara Falls, N. Y.—Charles A. Hengerer, son of the late William Hengerer and former vice-president of the William Hengerer Company, one residence on Bay Street road, the parade was reviewed by Cardinal Gib-Buffalo, committed suicide here Monday by jumping into the river and going over the falls.

Hengerer was connected with the Willis K. Morgan Company, a Buffalo furniture and draperies store. He was at work in the morning and appeared to be in a normal state of mind. No cause for suicide is known. He re-tired from the William Hengerer Company soon after the death of his father.

ONE DEATH; SCHOOLS CLOSED.

St. Joseph Suffers Because of Broken Natural Gas Main.

St. Joseph. Mo.-One death by sphyxiation, the dismissal of all schools heated with natural gas and cold meals as the result of no fuel, was the result Monday of the breaking, near Leavenworth, Kan., natural gas main, with which St. Joseph is supplied most of its light and heat. The gas was shut off until five o'clock Monday evening. Joseph Chartrand was found dead in his room, it is thought, as the result of the fire going out and fumes escaping when the gas was turned

It was at first reported that in the race for circuit clerk, E. A. Silver was beaten and started up Salt Creek via of the Wabash, but about 10 a. m. word came in that by some means a count had been sent in wrong from Bethany. A "phone" message stoped his rash venture at Windsor and he returned on the next train with a smile on his face.

"The Fighting Parson."

The title of the play might indicate that the Parson is always looking for trouble, but such is not the case

The word "fighting" may be used in many ways. It may be said that every Minister of the Gospel is a "Fighting Parson." Does he not lead the fight in the battle of Right? The character in the play is a noble one. He had during his studies for the ministry, developed himself into an unusually clever athlete. While engaged in his settlement work, he is called upon frequently to make use of his athletic propensities. hence he is called "The Fighting Parson."

The role of "The Parson" will be in the hands of John A. Preston who will be supported by a strong company of players including the popular comedienne, Lida Hall has been a prominent factor in Musical Comedy for several seasons past,

Their Idea of Right

Those who habitually correct their children in their faults by whipping and boxing them, must not be surprised when they find them slapping others in return, and rough and abusive towards one another. They are simply trying to enforce their own little ideas of right as they have; seen their elders do. The mother who spends most of her time fussing the waves, fell asleep. over the wardrobes of her children and herself, starching, ironing and plashing languidly. The first thing I deporating and making them fashion able, will find the lessons she taught before. I drifted between many opincropping out in ducleism; in vanity that prevents are development of solid character and useful habits, and figure I could remember, while The father who smokes and drinks hers I remembered distinctly. and spends his substance in riotous living, will have better luck than management if his children turn out cabin. It was a rudy place, the only to be strong healthy and honorable decoration being a dithograph of the to be strong, healthy and honorable citizens.

Idleness is a Crime

The sooner children are brought to understand that no amount of fine culture can make them pass for valuable in the world's eye if they are unable to earn a livelihood and so must become "hangers on" for others to support, the better for them. That daughter who helps her mother cook and scrub, is far more worthy than she who only paints and plays, and obliges her overworked father to pay a servant that she may not soil her dainty hands.

Parents Set the Example What is needed most of all in bringing up children is example, people. Presently a boat was lowered. What they see and hear and take in by absorption in their young years, will, in most cases become the ruling to the sky, its stern now sliding down traits of their lives. Parents rarely out of sight. By the Sea.

One summer moonlight night I wa by the waves. I would rather be near them on moonlight nights than at any other time, especially when broken clouds give the sky and the waters variety. I never go to the hotels. I get as far away from them as I can, pping usually at some fisherman's tage. On this occasion I had ottage. On this occasion I had inhabited it alone. I was lying under my canopy, the flaps thrown aside so that from my bed—blankets only—I could look out on the ocean. There was the sky, light clouds slowly drift ing across the face of the moon, the line of the horizon dividing the lighter from the darker hemisphere. The ocean plane met the path of moonlight broadening toward me from afar, the waves lazily rolling in and bursting on the

I have wondered since if the music of the waters put me to sleep and I awakened or whether I did not sleep. At any rate, my attention was arrested by something white, at least lighter than the sand, down near the verge. I watched it. There was an occasional fluttering about it, like a woman's skirts gently moved by a breeze. It appeared to be about the height of a human figure, though really in my perception of it there was no such thing as size, and was gently swaying like a very young tree shaken

Presently it moved. Then I was conscious that it was coming toward me. I had no superstitious fear. I was simply curious. As the thing approached it came gradually out of nebula into the form of a woman. There was a certain grace of movement, a lightness which, mingled with a slight rising and falling, was confusing. Had the figure appeared on the water surface I should have thought my eyes were transfiguring a sail that was rising and falling on the waves.

It was only when it came near that I distinguished the outline of a girl's figure—not a summer visitor, one of plainer mold, doubtless a fisher las-sie. She stopped a few yards from me, turned and looked out on the ocean. Then, turning again without appearing to notice or care who was in the tent, she asked:

"Is that a boat out there?"

"What are you doing out here at this time of night? Do you know what "No."

I drew my watch from my vest pocket. I slept in my clothes. "It's half past 1."

"Is it?" She manifested no interest at the hour. She stood looking out at sea, apparently watching for another sight at the boat.

"There it is. Heavens, how they bend to the work!"

I raised myself on my elbows and strained my eyes to diacern if I could see what the girl saw. Surely there was no hoat out where ishe was look ing. The dark face of the ocenn was expressionless except where the moon light trailed over it.

see no boat." I said.

"It's in the trough of the sea now."
"There is but a slight trough. Even if a boat were lost to sight between the waves it would reappear in a few

She stood peering out on the ocean A cloud floated over the moon. She said with a monn a note of despain rather, it seemed to me: "Oh, how black!"

The gloud was denser than any that had obscured the moon before. The last words I heard spoken by the girl were, "They're coming," and she began to move toward the ocean, fading away in the shadow of the cloud. When it passed I looked for her, but she was nowhere to be seen. I lay thinking.

When I awoke the sun was rising out of the ocean, while the waves were thought of was the girl of the night ions. Possibly I may have dreamed it all. But never before had I dreamed about one a stranger to me whose face she not some girl who had been de-mented by misfortune?

I went to breakfast at a fisherman's Virgin Mary, but I got there plenty of sea food. The fisherman was preparing to go out in his boat while his wife waited on me. I was full of my dream, or whatever it was, and related it.

The man stopped his preparations and listened with a look of horror. making the sign of the cross, while his wife turned and covered her eyes with her hands.

I looked at them wonderingly. It was plain that I had struck some blight in their lives. Should I probe it by questions or spare them? had I to gain by forcing a recital that would give them infinite pain? If there was any connection between them and my apparition it needed no strong imagination to replace it. Lying in my tent during that day I wove the story. I saw a ship out en the bar, the waves beating furlously against it. The shore was lined with

Adopting an Orphan

[Copyright, 1908, by T. C. McClure.] Parson Williams, feeling sorry Deacon Flint's widowhood, sugges that he take a girl from the orpha asylum to keep house and for co

The deacon started for the city next morning and returned in the evening with the orphan. Her name wa Ruth. The deacon liked her at fire glance, and he kept liking her better all day. Before going to bed that night she was shown over the house and through the pantry and told what to get for breakfast and at what hour to have it ready, and the deacon's heart swelled up as she called to him:

/'Good night, my own dear old pape Your little daughter is awfully glad she has come to live with you."

Breakfast was to be ready at 6 The deacon overslept, and it was ? before he got out of bed and went downstairs. There was no one about He knocked at the daughter's door but got no answer. He went outside to look for her, and, finding nothing, he returned and opened the door of her room. She was still asleep, but when he called to her she woke up and demanded to know what was wanted.

"You should have had breakfast all ready an hour ago."

"Not on your life!" she exclaimed. When you get it ready come and call

"But-but, what do you mean?" de manded the astonished man.

"You skiddoo and don't ask questions. Say, pop, you might as well understand right now that I'm a lady and must be treated as such. After this I shall take my breakfast in bed."

The deacon got breakfast, and Miss Ruth came down. She found fault with everything and when reproved gave him such back talk that he reached over and boxed her ears. The next minute everything on the table she could reach was flying at his head. After being hit by three plates, the cruet, the coffeepot and the sugar bowl he flew the coop and made life way to the parson's house.

"Ah," said the good man, "I was wondering if you came home last night and brought the orphan with you." "I did!" exclaimed the deacon with a great deal of energy. "And-and"-

"And you come over and see her. She was as humble as a kitten last night, but this morning she seems to be a limb of Satan."

When the house was reached the dopted orphan was found in the yard throwing pieces of the broken crockery at the hens, and she had already lamed an old rooster and knocked a speckled hen gally west.

"Morning, parson," sile called out "I suppose pop's been telling what a bad kid I am? If he wasn't a dirb he'd. have stayed and fought it out with "My dear calld, I am sorry to hear such reports of you," solemnly replied the parson. "You seemed to me the other day to be such an innocent, humble young girl that"-

"That was in the game: parson. was after a papa and a home. Oh, I can be an angel when I want to. See me knock that black hen's head off." The parson and the deacon walked side to consult, and the latter asked in anxious tomes:

"Well, what shall I do about it?" "Sit down with her and talk of heaven and angels and appeal to her I think you will knye better nature. her crying in five minutes: It seems hat in some way I must have got a wrong impression of the child." The good man returned home, and the deacon sat down to try moral suasion. The village graveyard was in sight, and he looked over at the stones and asked the girl if she knew where good folks went to when they die

"Ob, come off!" she answered. "Can't we go to a circus or something today? I knew you was an old poke, but I've come to stir you ap. Come in and skave. I don't like your whiskers.

The deacon rose up and took her by the ear and led her into the house-and locked her ups in a closet and said something about bread and water until she could beliave herself. He then went to the field to put in a shortsfore At 12 o'clock, when he came back, the closet door lay on the floorbacks, and the girl was getting ready to smash windows. The deacon weat out and cut and trimaned a peach tree limb and worse it out around her shoulders and locked her up in another loset. At 31 o'clock in the afternson his barn was found to be on fire and condn't be saved. He went to the house to find the prisoner gone, every thing a wreck and the following note sinned to a door:

Dear Papa—You are no gentleman, and I don't like your style. As you can't hustle, I will.

And on top of that the good parson ame around to condble with him and to say:

Instead of trying the adoption plan again why not take a wife?" The purson had a spinster sister for ty-two years old, and public gossip had said that she would marry the deacon if asked. The brother had heard noth ing of this, and the sister was not in his mind in the least when he put the question, but the deacon turned from surveying the wreck and answered:

"Not by a durned sight, and you, get right out of here or I'll throw you over av best help her 'usba acquiring the art of holding her ongue says Clara Morris in the Novmber New Idea Women's Magazine.

When a man is embarrassed by his emations he hides them as quickly as possible; above all, he never, never speaks of them. A woman analyzes her emotions; be they sorrow, she takes them a part, puts them together again, lives them over, and must talk of them.

So if a husband confides bis omentary embarressment to his wife she shows a quick comprehen tion of his dangerous position, sympathetic and offers to make certain economies, to do anything, in short to help him, and is much moved and uplifted by her husband's expressed trust and confidence in her.

Then, just so surely as her two feet are strong enough to carry her, so surely her husband gone, she will nail her hat and rush, glowing and prideful, to her friend Mrs. Brown, and tell bostfully of how poor John had counseled with her. She will exaggerate his troubles, not with harmful intention, but simply to heighten her effects and to exalt her own touching devotion.

Now, when Brown comes home for dinner, Mrs. Brown will tell the whole story of the Joneses' troubles, and will add her own exaggerations. Then Brown cries: "Is Jones as hard hit as that? And we were intending to make him father of a little scheme that he appeared just the man for! But we had better draw back if heris as deep in the mire as all that. I'll go over to Rebinson's lones' -- then, in an undertone. What a Heaven-forsaken fool he life." was to talk to his wife! She means well, but-"

So the wife who desires to help her husband will do well to acquire the art of holding her tongue; then will she be held as precious above rubies. But, for the present, these Biblical words describe the situation perfect-

"The tongue is a litte member, and boasteth."

THE LIVE STOCK EXPOSITION

The International Live Stock Exposition. ield this year from November 28 to Decem her 10, is the supreme court of the year's prize winners, justly styled the show of shampions, the show within whose poraris the bluest blood of the bovine, owine and porcine families struggles for supremacy, the exposition whose educational value camot be overestimated.

FEEBLE OLD LADY Has Strength Restored By Vinol

Mrs. W Pa who is 80 years of age, says: a long time I have been so feeble that I have had to be wheeled around in an invalid's chair. I had no strength and took cold at the slightest provocation, which invariably settled on my lungs, and a cough would result. My son learned of the cod liver preparation called Vinol, and procured bottle for me. It built up my strength rapidly, and after taking three bottles I am able to do most of my work, and I can walk a quarter of a mile easily. quires strength should try Vinol. I am delighted with what it has done for me."

Some parties entered the hou and stole some of the refreshments the girls had prepared for their repast. The girls hearing the noise, made an investigation and saw someone on the walk. Miss Laura Mattox leaned out the window to get a better view, when someone squirte an acid in her face, it struck her in the eye, from which she suffered inintensly. Dr. Davidson was called and did what he could to relieve her suffering. It was thought for several hours that her eyesight was gone, but now it seems her eye will get alright. The acid did not get to the sight. The acid used has a very obnoxious oder, and it is conjectured that the intruder aimed to get it on their clothing. Nevertheless it was a dangerous piece of business. The girls recognized the boys, and could testify to who did the mischief but dislike to do so.

try seeking chemical problems which he may solve for his own amusement. No man in the world's history has solved as many intricate puzzles in the realm of inventions as has Edison, and most of his achievements have been in the line of electricity, but despite his many marvels with the mysterious currents, he has not the love for that study that he has developed for chemistry. While there was plenty of mysteriousness about electricity to draw the whole intellect of an inventor, Edison has taken far more interest in the study of chemistry, and, it is recorded, no chemist the world over is quite as efficient as Mr. Edison.

Chemistry was the first science to captivate the wonderful intellect of this man, but he says himself that he has never had the chance to delve into its mysteries with the full power of the fertile mind he possesses. B And now he is taking advantage of the opportunity which made itself by reason of his marvelous success in all lines of invention.

He is now taking life more easily than since the time he started out to earn his living as a newsboy at the age of 12 years. His education was a limited one, but, thanks to his mother, he received the essentials of a grammar school education.

He promised his friends that since his announced refirement he would give up slaving days, nights, Sundays and holidays in his laboratory at Liewellyn and he has kept his promise faithfully. He invades the dark corners of his workshop only when some fanciful probchemistry presents itself and he feels impelled to get at the bottom of it.

This fall Mr. Edison took jaunts about the country in pursuit of some of the pleasure which his years of work compelled him to miss. He promised himself that he would see something of the world. He aimed to travel a great deal during the remaining years of his life, and he has already laid out a route of travel which will probably occupy his time for several years to come

Towards the last of August he departed for the Pacific coast with his family, and he announced on leaving New York that he would be there perhaps a month if the west interested him to that extent. It is hard to interest Thomas A. Edison, and his friends and family know it. He has seen so much more of the wonderful accomplishments of mechanics, chemistry and electricity that there are few problems which can prove of interest.

That the life of Thomas A. Edison has entered a new epoch was evidenced by his recent visit on a fun-mak ing tour on Long Island, where he spent three days. Soon after that visit, however, the spell of delving into chemistry took possession of him and he repaired to his laboratory and was not seen for several days among his friends. Then he departed for the Pacific coast, and Florida will see him early in 1909.

To the art of telegraphy Edison has given many inventions of the greatest imaginable efficiency. automatic repeater was an evolution of Edison's ideas and also the quadruple telegraph, printing telegraph It was in his early life, soon after he left the employ of the telegraph companies of the country. Later in life he perfected machines for quadruplex and sextuplex telegraphic transmission; the carbon telegraph transmitter; the microtasimeter for detection of small changes in temperature; the phonograph, the aerophone, the incandescent light system; the kinetescope and hundreds of other inventions of somewhat

If one scans the average American home of to-day, he sees dozens of Edison inventions in every-day us and many which the housewife finds she cannot go and many which the nousewife must ane cannot get along without. The visitor entering the hall of a big apartment building is admitted to the flat he wishes to visit by a tap upon an electric bell, the evolution of Edison's experiments with electricity. The place is which the world must thank Thomas A. Edison, but, besides these, there are dozens of other small contrivances which few persons know as his in-

Edison is known as one of the country's most noted men, and, it is recorded, the fame of the inventor seldom attaches itself to his name until after his remains are laid to rest, therefore even greater credit should be given him, for he is a world-famed character despite the fact that he is not dead.

Thomas Alva Edison is an Ohio production. He was born at Milan, O., February 11, 1847. He was the favorite son and his parents Samuel and Nancy E. Edison, while they took great pride in their boy, found themselves incapable of giving him the education that such a bright lad deserved. His mother, however, realized that his intellect was above the average of that of a lad of his age, and having had a fairly good education, as learning went, in those days, tutored him at home in reading, writing and arithmetic.

At the age of 12 years home ties were broken and he left the hearth which he had known since his birth to take up a position as newsboy on the Grand Trunk railway. He fell in with many railway telegraph operators, and his love for the mysterious about that vocation led him to study it at the instance of his friends among the knights of the key.

Soon he went into telegraphy actively as an opera-tor and, though he was yet a very young man, he clicked off messages in all parts of the United States and Canada.

Soon familiarity with his instruments led him to see flaws in them and the possibility for evolving new ideas to add efficiency to the system. Telegraphy then was young and there was plenty of opportunity for a wide-awake person to add improvements to the sys-

A few years as an operator sufficed to show him where there was an opening for his ideas. He established a workshop at Newark, N. J., working there evenings while he was employed as a telegraph operator near by. In 1876 he removed to Menlo, N. J., and later to West Orange, N. J.

In 1873 he married Miss Mary G. Stillwell, and his home now is in the town where he established himself when his work first showed signs of success-West

Many honors were conferred upon Mr. Edison in his later years. -The French government, because of a favor which he conferred, bestowed upon him the titles of chevalier officer, and afterwards he was made honorary commander of the Legion of Honor. In 1903 he was appointed honorary chief consulting engineer of the St. Louis world's fair.

AGAINST AMBIDEXTERITY.

Sir James Crichton-Browne, lecturing recently at Cambridge, said that in the present movement in England and Germany in favor of ambidexterity he fancied he detected the old taint of faddism. Ambidexterity on a large scale is impossible and undesirable, ac a large scale is impossible and undesirable, according to Sir James. It was by the superior need of his right hand that man gained the victory and to try to undo his dextral preeminence is simply to fly in the face of evolution. There has been no instance, said Sir James, of any tribe, community or people that has grown out of it or broken away from it and found salvation in ambidexterity. A recently published book alleged that the Jananese were by law and practice ambidextrous but Japanese were by law and practice ambidextrous, but he had the authority of the Japanese ambassador emphatically to deny this, lame back rheumatism is causing considerable discussion among the medical fraternity. It is an almost infabilible cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. The following formula is effective; "To one-half pint of good whiskey add one ounce of Toris Compound and one ounce Syrup Sarsaparilla Compound. Take in tablespoonful doses before each meal and before retiring."

Toris compound is a product of the laboratories of the Globe Pharmaceutical Co., Chicago, but it as well as the other ingredients can be had from any good druggist.

A Difficult Task.

An old Irish laborer walked into the luxurious studio of a New York artist and asked for money to obtain a meal, as he was too weak to work.

The artist gave him a quarter and then, seeing possibilities for a sketch in the queer old fellow, said: "Til give you a dollar if you'll let me paint you."
"Sure," said the man, "it's an easy way to make a dollar, but, but—I'm wonderin' how I'd get it off."

How many American women in lonely homes to-day long for this blessing to come into their lives, and to be able to utter these words, but because of some organic derangement this happiness is denied them.

Every woman interested in this subject should know that preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by the use of SALEM HOUSE 228 YEARS OLD.

Well Preserved Specimen of Colonial Architecture of Seventeenth Century.

Boston.—One of the best preserved pecimens of domestic colonial archi-ecture of the seventeenth century is the Narbonne house on Essex street, Salem, Mass., which was built in 1680, and is sound to-day and good for another century at least.

Belonging to a period in which the colonists had very little money to lavish on their homes the house represents the conservative tastes of the thrifty resident of Salem 100 years be-

In fact she rarely suffered anyone to remain long under her roof, although she greeted callers on their arrival at her door with state ly courtesy.

One story told of her is that she re quired the few friends who came to take tea with her to fetch their own teapots and cups, as she did not care to have them use hers.

The house was well filled with old furniture and curios, collected chiefly by her father, and she was greatly anloyed by collectors, for whom she entertained a cordial contempt.

SELLS HIS HEAD FOR SCIENCE

Prof. Tyler, Son of America's Greatest Greek Scholar, Receives $10,000.

Amherst, Mass.—Prof. John Maso Tyler, stone professor of biology at Amherst college and son of America's greatest Greek scholar, is reported to have made an extraordinary compact with scientists of wealth whereby he has sold his head after death for $10,000.

Mrs. Tyler is very much disturbed over the suggestion of such a contract. At the college, when the port was circulated and Prof. Tyler vas asked for its verification, he de clined to make a direct statement, but said that in his student days at Liepzig he believes he made some such agreement.

It is because he is reputed to have the best shaped head in America, with a most extraordinary brain develop-ment, that the question becomes of interest to science. All the experts in America are familiar with Prof. Tyler's head, and it is common knowl edge that they regard it of great value to the scientific world.

PUZZLE SOLVED.

Coffee at Bottom of Trouble.

It takes some people a long time to find out that coffee is hurting them. But when once the fact is clear most people try to keep away from the thing which is followed by ever increasing detriment to the heart stomach and nerves.

"Until two years ago I was a heavy coffee drinker," writes an Ill. stockman, "and had been all my life. I am now 56 years old.

"About three years ago I began to have nervous spells and could not sleep nights, was bothered by indigestion, bloating, and gas on stomach affected my heart.

"I spent lots of money doctoringone doctor told me I had chronic ca-tarrh of the stomach; another that I had heart disease and was liable to die at any time. They all dieted me until I was nearly starved but I seemed to get worse instead of better.
"Having heard of the good Postum had done for nervous people, I discarded coffee altogether and began to use Postum regularly. I soon got better, and now, after nearly two years, I can truthfully say I am sound and well.

"I sleep well at night, do not have the nervous spells and am not bothered with indigestion or palpitation. weigh 32 pounds more than when I began Postum, and am better every way than I ever was while drinking coffee. I can't say too much in praise of Postum, as I am sure it saved my life." 'There's a Reason.'

Unusually Severe Drought.
The water in Lake Champlain during the recent drought reached the lowest point recorded in local history, nine feet below high water mark. Steamers were obliged to abandon many of their trips on account of the impossibility of making landings at the docks. The mountain brooks became almost dry, and the beds of some of the largest rivers were more threads. est rivers were mere threads of water. The drought and forest fires were ruinous to agricultural interests. New York Sun.
