Clerk Gives License

No. 28

One day last week Tommy Walker brought a quantity of fish to Sulli-van that had been caught in a trap set in the Okaw near Old Nels The parties were selling the fish from their wagon on the streets, when complaint was made to the Chief of Police and the mile stopped.

One of the parties interested in the fish trap being an ex-soldier took advantage of the law permitting all Union soldier's having an honorable discharge to demand and procure license. Mr. Sutton being pos with the necessary papers brought a load of fish to Sullivan Tuesday morning and found ready sale for them.

The clause giving him the permit reads as follows:

"Upon the presentation of his certificate of discharge to the clerk of any county, town or village incorporated city or municipality in this state, and showing proof of his identity as the person named in his certificate or honorable discharge, the clerk shall issue to said ex-Un:on soldier or sailor a license, but such license shall be free, and said clerk shall not collect or demand for the county, town village, incorporated city or municipality any fee therefor. Any clerk of any county, town, village, incorporated city or municipality in this State who shall violate any of the foregoing provisions of this act, by failing or refusing to comply with such provisions, as here in directed, shall be fined in a sum not less than $10 nor more than $50 to which may be added imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding ten days."

ELECTRIC FANS AS FLY KILLERS.

Go into most any store these hot summer days and there you will find one or more electric fans very busy These fans perform the dual task of keeping the rooms cool and destoy. ing the flies.

Thers is something about the electric fans which flies dislike. Perhaps it is the strange humming noise which reminds them of some dire enemy. Perhaps it is the strong current of air which makes it difficult for a fly to navigate. Whatever it is it has been proven that the common electric fan is one of the best fly discouragers in use today. A fan kept playing over piles of fruit, the soda fountain, the candy case or any other part of the store which is apt to lure the insect will effectively drive them away.

None of the victims could swim and three struggled helplessly in the water while the fourth was pinioned in the water beneath the overturned boat.

sires for State and National Elections Discussed-Has Narrow Escape In RECOURT Automobile.

Beverly, Mass.-Former President Roosevelt, it is now known, will get into the political arch in New York. He made that evident when he re-entered the political areas at the request of Governor Hughes by sending word to the Republican or aniza tion in New York to back Hughes in the fight for direct primaries. The conference between President Taft and ex-President Roosevelt is fraught with the deepest political significance. Before Colonel Roosevelt reached here it became known Senator Lodge had been invited to attend the conference. Governor Hughes of New York was expected, as was Rep-recentative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio.

It was expected a decision would be reached on the policy to be followed nationally, and in Massachusetts, New York and Ohio during the coming campaign.

Colonel Roosevelt and Senator Lodge had a narrow escape as their automobile was crossing the Boston & Maine railroad at Park street Cambridge, on their way to Nahant. The gate tender lowered the safety gate directly in front of their machin the opposite side of the road. Not 100 yards away an express train was coming. Bystanders called to the gateman, who raised the gate just in time to allow the Lodge automobile to move out of the way of the train.

The conference is the first meeting of the president and the ex-president since Colonel Roosevelt's departure for Africa.

The Republican situation in New York, and the insurgent movement in the Republican ranks, the criticism of President Taft's administration on account of the tariff, the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy and other matters were among the important questions considered.

It is probable some plans for the next Republican national campaign will be framed.

No important prisoner of state could be guarded more closely than Colonel Roosevelt. "East Point," where he conferred with Senator Lodge, is situated at the extreme end of a high rocky point extending into the Atlantic oceon. A threatening rocky ledge stretching at places far into the water guards it from approach from three sides. On the fourth side a high iron fence adorned with long sharp points, and intertwined with barbed wire effectually prevents entrance except at a point where it is plerced by a narrow gate through which an automobile can just squeeze. This gate is guarded by an iron and wooden bar, and four policemen had orders not to permit, man, woman, messenger boy or mosquite to pass the entrance.

Colonel Roosevelt has carefully avoided all newspaper reports wishing to interview him. When he speaks it is in monosyllables. But to some of his friends he managed to convey much information in a few words. Colonel Roosevelt's first meeting

LIKES HAWAHAN PRINCESS Washington Society Finds Delegate's Wile Rapidly Adapts Nerself to Its Usages.

Washington. - One of the most striking figures in Washington official life is, "Princess" Kalanianaole, wife of the delegate from Hawaii. Since the election of "Prince Cupid," as he is popularly known, to congress, ten years ago, he and his wife have es-tablished a reputation for hospitality and have made a rarge circle of friends.

"Princess" Kalanianaole, to give her the Hawaiian title, never fail attract much attention at social func-tions. She is a fine type of Hawaiian womanhood and dresses sumptuously in the brilliant colors of which her countrymen are so fond. She is unusually tall and carries herself in the

of her people. Princess Kalanianaole is fond of society and has readily adapted herself to Washington social conditions.

Before her marriage to the scion of Hawailan royalty Princess Kalanianole was Elizabeth Kahanu Kaauwai, daughter of a native chief of the island of Maui. Her marriage to "Prince Cupid," October 8, 1896, was the occasion of great rejoicing throughout the islands. Princess Kalanianaole was educated in English schools and took a finishing course in France. She is a thorough linguist, an artist of no small ability and an especially fine musician. She been largely instrumental in creating a vogue for Hawaiian music.

The native instrument of Hawail, a variety of guitar which lends itself readily to Kanaka folk music, is frequently heard in the drawing room of the fine residences in Massachusetts avenue maintained by the Kalanfanaoles. Former Queen Lilliuokalani of Hawaii, the aunt of "Prince Cupid," is a much feted guest when she come to visit her young relatives.

Princess Kalanianaole has a fine collection of native jewelry and curios. Among them is the war helmet of the national hero, Kalakaua I Some bits of pottery which she not sesses are of untold antiquity and are highly valued by collectors. The "hofuka," the native dress of the Hawaiian women, is shown in great variety in a collection made by Princess Kalanianaole. The garment is a sort of sublimated mother-hubbard and is often made of costly fabrics and even ornamented by precious stones. The princess possesses, by the way, some of the finest jewelry in Washington.

Senator Stanton C. Pemberton of Oak land and Representative Joseph S. Clark of Vandalia would be set, for an aignment within the next few days. Broderick, Clark and Pemberton were indicted on the charge of conspiracy to solicit a bribe as a result of the confession of Senator D. W. Holtslaw of luks, who declared he was offered $1,500 for his vote on the furniture deal, the alleged offer being made by A. B. Johnston, of Springfield, who is under indictment for bribery and per-jury. New indictments against Penrton, Clark and Broderick will be had Saturday. A motion to quash the indictments A motion to quasi the innertments will be made by the defense, and if that is overruled the defendants will have to go to trial, though they may ask for a continuance until the September term of court.

The average Panamanian would con-sider the question foolish. The bay on the Pacific side abounds in sharks, and none of the natives will ever take the Pacino side abounds in sharks, and none of the natives will ever take a swim in the deep waters of it. Some foreigners used to do so until one of the engineers working on the canal during the French regime, a young Colombian named Jules Patterson, was killed by a shark a number of years ago. When his body was recov-ered it had been almost entirely stripped of flesh. This incident led to a war of reprisal on the sharks. Many of the natives are content with simply catching and killing them, but the favorite method is called "orucifying." The shark is hooked and drawn on deck, care be ing taken to see that he cannot use his terrible mouth for biting. He is hid down on boards and his fine se-curely nailed thereto in such a way that he cannot use them. The tail is then cut close of, and the unfortunate animal thrown overboard. He cannot swim and he cannot stoer himself. He is helpless and the other members of his own family attack and devour him.

and the movement of one affects other by means of a series of cogwheels operating in relation to each other. The feet of the mannikin have grooves running transversely to en-gage the wire or cord on which it walks. A rod with a weight on the which are a sendulum, is attached to the hand of the figure. As this pendulum swings it moves the arm back and forth and the co-related cogwheels cause the legs to move backward and forward and the figure chward and forward and the figure to walk as if human. The case with which the mannikin retains its balance is one of the most spectacular features of this entertaining perform-BDCe.

TO TRAIN CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Bodily Defects Sometimes Entirely Cured by Physical Exercises Directed by Teacher.

Corrective physical training for corippled children is of great import-ance, as bodily defects can be partly and sometimes entirely cured by spe-cial physical exercises under the di-rection of a trained teacher.

Twenty-three such classes for crip-pled children, with an enrollment of over 350 children, were carried on free of charge in New York last year by the People's University Extension society of No. 105 East Seventeenth street.

Ninety-six free classes in annual and domestic training were given to an enrollment of about nine hundred crippled children by the same society, besides 24 free classes for mentally de fective children.

The manual work taught included basketry, bookbinding, chair caning, economic cooking, dressmaking, elementary carpentry, embroidery, cord work, sewing, shirtwaist making and weaving. One badly crippled boy of ten learned chair caning so quickly that he soon hung out a sign for chairs to cane.

One of the largest departments of the work of this society is supplying free lectures by physicians to meet-ings of tenement mothers, giving actica advic the care of children and prevention of contagious and other disease. More than $7,000 mothers were given such instruction last year in English, Italian, German and Yiddish.

UNIQUE GAME OF SALMAGUNDI

Differs From Other Progressive Games in That Different One is Played at Each Table.

Of all progressive games none is more popular than this. As in all others, a small table is provided for every four players, but Salmagundi is distinguished from other games in that a different game is played at each table.

Games of cards may be chosen, if preferred, such as hearts, euchre, five hundred, sniff, etc., or such games as dominos, jack straws, lotto, heima, pit, fish-poles. The rules for playing these are supplied with the game when purchased. There is no rule against such games as "Patent Medicines," "Menagerie," etc., which cer-tainly contribute to a merry uprear.

The winners progress at sound of the signal given at the head table, and play a new game. The losers keep their places and must play the same game over again.

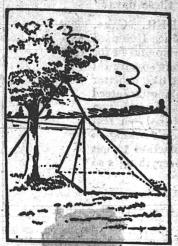

The introduction of variety adds to the pleasure, and as there is a change of partners at each "progression, everybody meets everybody else.

When every couple has made the ound of the tables and played all the games, the prizes are and refreshments served.

It is sometimes said that a good breeder always has his ideal animal in his mind.

A mule is no more prone to kick than a horse unless he is taught to do so by had treatment. Cabbage and all other plants of the cabbage family require a very fertile and cool, moist soil for good growth.

It is a significant fact that cort this year at this season is going down instead of up, as is the usual custom in spring. What we want to do in working a horse for the first time is to teach it to do things which it has neve done before. When the butter is well drained it is ready to sait, and this is done in the churn when the butter is 'in granular form.

If an animal will ever make profit able gains, it will make them in warn weather on green grass, supplemented with shade, cool water and some con-centrated feeds. 1

Goats, more perhay any othe animal, have an exclusive affection for their keeper, and sometimes fight des perately even at home against being milked by anyone else.

Where possible one should make sure that the birds he selects for breeders have been bred from sound, healthy stock, so that they may have a hereditary tendency to health.

It is true that a farmer can, by a careful selection and examination materially change the constituents of his corn, thus growing a corn that is of higher feeding value for his farm animals.

Don't forget that the temperature of the cream at churning should be 56 to 58 degrees Fahr. in summer and 60 to 62 degrees in winter. The best churning results will be had at these respective temperatures.

A good hen is expected to lay in year about five times her weight in eggs. This means a reproductive process on an average, at least every third day during the year, or perhaps in rare instances, every other day.

In calling to your attention the per-plexing problems included in the title of this sermon, you are, no doubt, willing to admit that it is impossible to give an exhaustive review of the underlying conditions and causes. If we are successful in making you think arrive at a conclusion and form a resolution, the sermon has accom-plished its purpose. In fact, it is not the purpose of a sermon to relieve the undignee of a sermon to relieve the audience of mental exercise. Its best work has been done when it creates an appetite for Bible study, investigation and honest thought; when it provokes the auditors to think and forces them to arrive at logical, sane, spiritual conclusions.

spiritual conclusions. The work of this pulpit has always been done along that line. If does not try to inject hypodermic doses of encyclopedia into the addience. It leaves that work to superficial, al-leged students. If in this sermon you can be provoked to think, to act and to do your Christian duty, every one will be astisfied. will be satisfied.

Wine, women and wages have been, since the catastrophe in the Garden of Eden, very obstreperous subjects. No man pretends to know everything about them. In fact, one of them is very elusive, and perhaps will never man be fully understood until she reaches Paradise regained. The more elusive the subject the more fascinating the study and the more exciting the pur-study and the more exciting the pur-suit of knowledge. These three problems are ever with us, and will remain with us, and will continue to be serious problems until the end of the ages. Many ridiculous, foolish and harmful solutions remain roolish and harmful solutions remain unsolved. One is prone to think and believe the time has arrived for seri-ous, sane, righteous efforts to be made at remedying the conditions now confronting us. The harmful effects of intoxicating beverages have been apparent to stu-dents for the last 5,000 years.

Drunkenness is a crime against God, against man, against society, against the home, church and child. There is no excuse for it. There is no logical reason to sustain it. It has been tried and condemned before every har of justice, before public opinion and by very thinking man who has ever lived or who now lives.

Drunkenness must cease. If the man who makes a beast of himself were the only one involved we might become cold hearted and cruel enough to say: "Let him drink himself to death, go to the dogs, and be de-voured by the vultures." The man who makes a beast of himself, who destroys his life by strong drink, and who wallows in the gutter, perhaps, deserves no more consideration. How-ever, he is not the only one involved. His family are to be considered, his children are to be pitled, society is to be protected, and posterity is to be prevented from inheriting his habits, tendencies and diseases. Many remedies have been tried for drunkenness. The man who comes into this world cursed by heredity, with a tendency to drink, is to be pitied. He ought to have every effort made in his behalf that could pos-sibly prevent him from following his inclinations to the drunkard's grave and to the drunkard's cell. It is impossible for a man who dies a drunk-ard to be saved. No drunkard who dies a drunkard can inherit the kingdom of God or receive the blessings, joys and citizenship of heaven. There are no drunkards in heaven. In order for a drunkard to be saved he must turn from his evil ways, give up his life

Some of us would be more sur prised than pleased if we knew the impressions we make on the minds of those who know us only slightly. How many of you girls are remembered as coleasantly as was the lady described in the following incident?

A lady called at the house of a meighbor on an errand; but, as the family were away, she asked the hired anan to tell his employer that she would call again. Being in a hurry, and not thinking but that the man knew who she was, she did not leave ther name. The lady of the house returned before the rest of the family, and the man told her that a lady had een there who said she'd call again.

"Who was it?" inquired Mrs. H. "Oh. I don't know her name," re plied the man.

"But you should have asked her," said Mrs. H., "so we would know who had been here. Can't you tell me anything by which I can know who came Where does she live?"

"I don't know," said the man, "but he's the one that always smiles when he speaks."
