METHODIST EPISCOPAL

The protracted meeting being held at the Methodist church is attracting splendid audiences and the interest is extremely good. Mr. Lyle P. Con-ner arrived Wednesday afternoon and conducted the chorus work in the evening. Mr. Conner sang a solo which delighted every one present. Come out it you can sing and get into the chorus

There are quite a number of the members who have not got in line yet with the meeting. We see them on the streets every day. There is no reason when a person never misses their work for them to rob the Lord of his part of their time. Most estate, to-wit: the north half of the of the excuses given the pastor are like a sieve with which to carrywater. They have nothing to commend them but to the one who makes them, if to him. COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

The question of a commission form of government is being discussed and studied by the voters since the filing of the petition that was circulated for signers about two weeks ago.

A number of the neighboring towns have voted it out and others have adopted it. A four year experience under the Commission form of municipal government will decide many of the questions being discussed in Sullivan at present

One tenth of the voters in a corporation files the petition in the county court, then the county judge must order an election. The petition for the form of government was filed one day last week, and the court selected February 14, 1911 as the day for the special election. The question, or form of the ballot will read as iollows; "Shall the city of Sullivan adopt the Commission form of government?"

If the proposition to adopt a com mission form of government carries, the next step is to hold a primary to select the candidates. The date fixed for this is March 14 and the date for the regular election, April 14 1911. The next election would be April 14, 1915 if the city continues under this form of government as the term of office is fixed at four years.

A mayor and four commissioners are to be elected to form the sole governing body, and they are empowered to select or appoint the following officials; clerk, corporation council, city attorney, treasurer, comptroller, health officer, police, fire department, library trustees, and any essential.

The salaries fixed by the statue for city with the population of Sullivan are as follows-mayor may receive $250 per annum, the commis sioners $100 each, but the salaries may be lower as they togather with the salaries of the clerk, treasure and chief of police would be fixed by ordinance as they are at present,

The five department of govern ment are each in charge of s commissioner, who is held responsible for the affairs of that department.

The departments are—public affairs accounts and finances, public health in the vessel. and safety, streets and public improvements and public property.

The public affairs are allotted to the mayor, the other departments are assigned to the commissioners.

The council is to meet weekly, the mayor presiding. All resolutions and every move made must be submitted to public notice one week before its passage, All ordinances granting franchise or public utilities and etc can be passed only by referendum vote. That is after they have been passed, ten per cent of the voters can have it submitted to a vote people approve of it. This is called not ready to recommend it. the 'referendum.'

If the citizen's petition for the adoption of an ordinance, the council must either pass it or submit it to the vote of the people, if approved by a majority of the voters if becomes a law,

Franchise ordinances must be submitted to a vote of the people with. out petition, and must have the ap proval of a majority of the voters before the grant is effective.

If the council fails to bring up things wanted by the people, they can get the matter before the body by a petition of 25 per cent of the voters. The council must pass it is thirty days or submit it to a vote of the people. Ordinances voted in by the people can be repealed only in the same way. The people can kill any measure voted in by the council by a remonstrance on a 25 per cent petition for an election, then a referendum decides the issue.

In three 'years a majority vote by the people will put the old form of government in again.

Convictions are provided for by a penalty of $100 to $500 fine and from three to twelve months in jail.

The office of auditor of accounts is created to be under the circuit court judge of the district. He audits accounts of each department monthly, and signs all vouchers, all warrants, in fact all papers referring to the receipts or expenditures of the money. His bond is high and failures to comply with the law pertaining to his duties is punishable by removal from office and a fine of $5 to $5,000.

Candidates for mayor and commissioners are chosen in primary, each petition for nomination requiring twenty-five signers, who are legal voters. In the primary the names of all candidates for nomination for mayor and commissioners are arranged in alphabetical order under the title of their office. Then when the vote is counted the two having the biggest vote under the title of mayor. and the eight having the most votes under the title of commission other official or officials considered the candidates for the said office in the general election. At the general election the candidates are placed on the ticket in alphabetical order under their respective titles. The highest vote decides as to mayor the four highest of the eight elects the commissioners.

PAPERS SEIZED IN OPIUM-DEN RAID SHOW COLLUSION WITH CHINESE CRIMINALS.

SHAKE-UP IS PROMISED

Large Sums of Money Paid to Do partments of Many Cities by the Tongs-May Find Murderer of American Girl.

New York City.-Leon Ling, the Christianized Chinese who killed Elsie Sigel in a room over a restaurant in New York Chinatown, escap ture through the collusion of Chinese secret societies with the police departments of many cities.

This was brought to light through the seizure of papers in a raid on an opium-den here last week. Federal officers confirm-in every detail the truth of the statement that the papers put them in possession of documne tary evidence of collusion between Chinese criminals and the police.

Among the papers, all of which have not yet been translated, are said to be letters showing how Ling made his escape, and records bearing on other murder mysteries and which establishes beyond question the existence of corrupt relations between a syndicate of Chinese criminals and police officials in this and other cities.

These revelations have started an investigation, which federal, county and city authorities agree will be one of the most far-reaching and searching in the history of New York.

The seized documents are looked upon as so important by Henry A. Wise, United States district after that he will not turn them over to the New York police until the treasury department in Washington de cides upon this course. The New York police are anxions to get at the records which show how the mur derer of Elsie Sigel escaped and the sums of money they have been paid by Chinese criminals to police officials in this city and elsewhere.

Primary Bill Amendment.

Representative Karch introduced a bill amending the primary election act to make it unlawful for candidates for office to spend more than $100 for campaign expenses. Provision is made for the publication by the secretary of state of a campaign book in which the candidates may advertise their candidacies. The space in this book will sell for enough to pay for the publication, amounting to from $10 to $75 for each candidate. The book will be distributed to all of the votors in the district in which the candidate is running. Reports of campaign expenses are to be made to the circuit court in the country in which the candidate is running.

Civic Body Acts.

The legislature will find a hot fight waging in and about it on the resolutions calling for the submission to a vote of the people the question of changing the constitution so that it will include the initiative and referendum. The civic federation of Chicago is opposing this public policy question, which was favored by a large majority of the voters of the state at the last election. The federation wants a revenue amendment in the constitution and it is afraid that the referendum and initiative agitation may hinder their fight.

James Wilson or Jimmy as he is called by his friends. Jimmy was rotund and looked shorter than he really was. His ambition in life was to be taken seriously, but people steadily refused to do so, his art is considered a huge loke, except to himself, if he asked people to dinner ev-eryone expected a frolic. Jimmy marries Bella Knowles; they live together a year and are divorced. Jimmy's friends ar-gange to celebrate the first anniversary of his divorce.

"My dear," she said over the tele-phone, when I invited her, "I want you to know him. He'll be crasy about you That type of man, big and deadly earnest, always falls in love with your type of girl, the appealing sort, you know. And he has been too busy, up to now, to know what love is. But mind, don't hurt him; he's a dear boy. I'm half in love with him myself, and Dallas trots around at his heels like a poodle."

But all Anne's goese are swans, so I thought little of the Harbison man xcept to hope that he played respectable bridge, and wouldn't mark the cards with a steel spring under his finger nail, as one of her "finds" had

We all arrived about the same time, and Anne and I went upstairs together to take off our wraps in what had been Bella's dressing room. It was Anne who noticed the violets.

"Look at that!" she nudged me when the maid was examining her wrap before she laid it down. did I tell you, Kit? He's still quite mad about her."

Jim had painted Bella's portrait while they were going up the Nile on their wedding trip. It looked quite like her, if you stood well off in the middle of the room and if the light came from the right. And just beneath it, in a silver case, was a bunch of violets. It was really touching, and violets were fabulous. It It made me want to cry, and to shake Bella soundly, and to go down and pat Jim on his generous shoulder, and tell him what a good fellow I thought him, and that Bella wasn't worth the dust under his feet. I don't know much about psychology, but it would be interesting to know just what effect those violets and my sympathy for Jim had in influencing my decision a half-hour later. It is not surprising, under the circumstances, that for some time after the odor of violets made me ill.

We all met downstairs in the living room, quite informally, and Dallas was banging away at the pianola, tramping the pedals with the delicacy and feeling of a football center-rush kicking a goal. Mr. Harbison was standing near the fire, a little away from the others, and he was all that Anne had said and more in appearance. He was tall—not too tall, and very straight. And after one got past the oddity of his face being bronze-colored above his white collar, and of his brown hair being sunbleached on top until it was almost yellow, one realized that he was very handsome. He had what one might call a resolute nose and chin, and a pleasant, rather humorous, mouth: And he had blue eyes that were, at that moment, wandering with interest over the lot of us. Somebody shoutged his name to me above the Tristan and Isolde music, and I held out my

Instantly I had the feeling on sometimes has, of having done just that same thing, with the same surroundings, in the same place, years before. I was looking up at him, and he was staring down at me and hold-ing my hand. And then the music stopped and he was saying: "Where was it?"

"Where was what?" I asked. The feeling was stronger than ever with

"I beg your pardon," he said, and let my hand drop. "Just for a secon I had an idea that we had met before somewhere, a long time ago. I suppose-no, It couldn't have happened or I should remember." He was smiling, half at himself.

I smiled back at him. didn't happen, I'm afraid—unless we dreamed it."
"We?"

"I felt that way, too, for a moment."
"The Brushwood Boy!" he said with conviction. "Perhaps we will find a common dream life, where we knew each other. You remember the Brush-wood Boy loved the girl for years be-fore they really met." But this was a little too rapid, even for me.

"Ian't he delicious?" she demanded.
"Did you ever see such shoulders?
And such a nose? And he thinks we are parasites, cumbers of the earth, heaven knows what. He says every woman ought to know how to earn her living, in case of necessity! I said I could make enough at bridge, and he thought I was joking! He's a dear!" Anne was enthusiastic.

I looked after him. Oddly enough the feeling that we had met before struck me. Which was ridiculous, of struck me. Which was ridiculous, of course, for we learned afterward that the nearest we ever came to meeting was that our mothers had been school friends! Just then I saw Jim beck-rriends! Just then I saw Jim beck-oning to me crasily from the den. He looked quite yellow, and he had been running his fingers through his hair. "For heaven's sake, come in, Kit!" he said. "I need a cool head. Didn't I tell you this is my calamity day?" "Cook gone?" I asked with interest.

"I knew there was one," I ventured mindful of certain gossip as to whence Jimmy derived the Wilson in-

Jim himself was too worried to be cautious. He waved a brasen hand at the snur room, at the Japanese prints on the walls, at the rugs, at the teakwood cabinets and the screen inlaid with pearl and ivory.

"All this." he said comprehensively,
"every bite I eat, clothes I wear, drinks I drink—you needn't look like don't drink so darned mucheverything comes from Aunt Selina-buttons," he finished with a groan. "Selina Buttons," I said reflectively.

"I don't remember ever having known any one named Buttons, although I had a cat once—"

"Damn the cat!" he said rudely. "Her name isn't Be Her nam

"It's an old business," he went on with something of proprietary pride.
"My grandfather founded it in 1775. Made buttons for the Continental army

"Oh, yes," I said. "They melted the buttons to make bullets, didn't they? Or they melted bullets to make buttons? Which was it?"

But again he interrupted. "It's like this," he went on hurried-"Aunt Selina believes in me. She likes pictures, and she wanted me to paint, if I could. I'd have given up ong ago-oh, I know what you think of my work—but for Aunt Selina. She has encouraged me, and she's done more than that; she's paid the bills." "Dear Aunt Selina," I breathed.

"When I got married," Jim persisted, "Aunt Selina doubled my allow ance. I always expected to sell something, and begin to make money, and in the meantime what she advanced I considered as a loan." He was eying me defiantly, but I was growing seri-It was evident from the pre-ous. It was evident from the pre-amble that something was coming.

"To understand, Kit," he went on dublously, "you would have to know her. She won't stand for divorce. She thinks it is a crime."
"What!" I sat up. I have always you know well enough what "Oh I'm driving at," he burst out savagely. "She doesn't know Bella has gone. She thinks I am living in a little domestic heaven, and—she is coming tonight to hear me flap my wings."

"Tonight!"
I don't think Jimmy had known that Dallas Brown had come in and was listening. I am sure I had not. Hearing his chuckle at the doorway brought us up with a jerk.

"Where has Aunt Selina been for the last two or three years?" he asked

Jim turned, and his face brighten "Europe. Look here, Dai, you're a smart chap. She'll only be here about four hours. Can't you thisk of some way to get me out of this? I want to let her down easy, too. I'm mighty fond of Aunt Selina. Can't we—can't say Bella has a headache?"

But Dallas was not enthusiastic.
"Anne wouldn't do at all." he declared, "She'd be talking about the kids before she knew it, and patting me on the head." He said it complacently: Anne flirts, but they are really devoted.
"One of the Messay."

"One of the Mercer girls?" I suggested, but Jimmy raised a horrified hand.

"You don't know Aunt Selina," protested. "I couldn't offer Leila in the gown she's got on, unless she wore a shawl and Betty is too fair." Anne came in just then, and the whole story had to be told again to whole story had to be told again to her. She was ecstatic. She said it was good enough for a play, and that of course she would be Mrs. Jimmy for that length of time. "You know," she finished, "if it were not for Dal, I would be Mrs. Jimmy for any length of time. I have been devoted to you for years, Billi-

But Dallas refused peremptorily.
"I'm not jealous," he explain straightening and throwing out his chest; "but-well, you don't look the part, Anne. You're—you are grow ing matronly, not but what you suit me all right. And then I'd forget and call you 'mammy,' which would re-quire explanation. I think it's up to

"I shall do nothing of the sort!" I snapped. "It's ridiculous!"

"I dare you!" said Dallas. I refused. I stood like a rock while the storm surged around me and beat over me. I must say for Jim that he was merely pathetic. He said that my happiness was first; that he would not give me an uncomfortable minute for anything on earth; and that Bella had been perfectly right to leave him. because he was a sinking ship, and deserved to be turned out penniless into the world. After which mixed figure, he poured himself something to drink, and his hands were shaking.

Dal and Anne stood on each side of him and patted him on the shoulders, and glared across at me. I felt that if I was a rock, Jim's ship had struck on me and was sinking, as he said, hecause of me. I began to crumble.

"What—what time does she leave?" asked, wavering.

"Ten: nine; Kit, are you going to "No!" I gave a last clutch at my resolution. "People who do that kind of thing always get into trouble. She might miss her train. She's almost certain to miss her train."

"You're temporizing," Dallas said sternly. "We won't let her miss her train; you can be sure of that." "Jim," Anne broke in suddenly, "hasn't she a picture of Bella. There's not the faintest resemblance between Bella and Kit."

Jim became downcast again. "I sent her a miniature of Bella a couple of years ago," he said despondently.
"Did it myself."

But Dal said he remembered the miniature, and it looked more like me than Bella, anyhow. So we were just where we started. And down inside of me I had a premonition that I was going to do just what they wanted me to do, and get into all sorts of trouble. and not be thanked for it after all. Which was entirely correct. And then Leila Mercer came and banged at the door and said that dinner had been announced ages ago and that every-body was famishing. With the hurry and stress, and poor Jim's distracted and stress, and poor face, I weakened.

"I feel like a cross between an idiot and a criminal," I said shortly, "and I don't know particularly why every the sacrifice. But if you will promise to get her off early to her train, and if you will stand by me and not leave me alone with her, I-I might

"Of course, we'll stand by you!" they said in chorus. "We won't let you stick!" And Dal said, "You're the right sort of girl, Kit. And after it's all over, you biggest kind of lark. Think how you are saving the old lady's feelings! When you are an elderly person yourself, Kit, you will appreciate what you are doing tonight."

Yes, they said they would stand by me, and that I was a heroine and the only person there clever enough to act the part, and that they wouldn't let me stick! I am not bitter now, but er, and he another, and so on and on that is what they promised. Oh, I am not defending myself; I suppose I deserved everything that happened. But they told me that she would be there only between trains, and that she was deaf, and that I had an opportunity to save a fellow-being from ruin. So in the end I capitulated.

When they opened the door into the living room, Max Reed had arrived and was helping to hide a decanter and glasses, and somebody said a cab was at the door.

And that was the way it began. (TO BE CONTINUED.

Ever since then very seventh son born in Brussels has had the same honor, and the mothers have received gifts in keeping with their station in life, King Albert, in carrying out the old adage a short time ago, had some difficulty "because the seventh son was twins," according to the Frankfurter Zeitung. "He could not stand for both boys, be-cause that would give the family two Alberts. The remedy was found by Queen Elizabeth, who suggested that her little son, the duke of Brabant, be the godfather of the eighth boy, who consequently received the name of Leopold."

ECZEMA GONE, BOILS CURED

"My son was about three weeks old when I noticed a breaking-out on his cheeks, from which a watery substance cozed. A short time after, his arms, shoulders and breast broke out also, and in a few days became a solid scab. I became alarmed, and called our family physician, who at once proinced the disease eczema. The littie fellow was under his treatment about three months. By the end of that time he seemed no better. I came discouraged, and as I had read the advertisements of Cuticurs temedies and testimonials of a great many people who had used them with wonderful success, I dropped the doctor's treatment, and commenced the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a few days noticed a marked change. The eruption on his cheeks was almost healed, and his shoulders, arms and breast were decidedly bet-ter. When he was about seven months old all trace of the eczema was gone.

"During his teething period, his hend and face were broken out in boils which I cured with Cuticura and Ointment. Surely he must have been a great sufferer. During the time of teething and from the time I dropped the doctor's treatment, I used the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, nothing else, and when two years old he was the picture of health. Routine of Daily Proceedings. nator Gamble of South Dakota Monday spoke in support of the fa-vorable report upon the election of William Lorimer returned by the committee on elections. Senator Flint of California spoke in opposition to the Cummins resolution, touching tariff revision. There was some discussion of public health bills pending.

In the house consideration was given the postoffice appropriation bill. A provision was adopted that after July 1, 1916, all mail cars in the service shall be of steel construction throughout.

The chief features of Tuesday in the senate were speeches by Senator Depew opposing the popular election of United States senators, Senator Smoot against schedule-by-schedule revision of the tariff and Senater Lodge supporting the Ballinger ocean mail bounty bill. The Indian appro-priation bill was before the senate.

In the house the postoffice appro-priation bill, carrying $257,000,000 was passed after having been con sidered for several days. An amend-ment was adopted after spirited debate fixing the salaries of rural mail carriers at $1,000 a year. Later the District of Columbia appropriation bill was taken up.

In the senate Wednesday Senato Root spoke in support of the ocean mail subsidy bill. The cause of Wil-liam Lorimer was championed by Senator Paynter of Kentucky. The Indian appropriation bill was passed. During its discussion former Senator Marion Butler of North Carolina was denounced by Senator Jeff Davis of Arkansas for connection with a claim for $1,500,000 for attorneys' fees.

The Moon bill providing for the codification of the judiciary laws was before the house, but no great progress in its consideration was made Efforts to increase the salaries of circuit court judges failed.

Thursday in the senate was devoted largely to speeches on the ocean mail ship subsidy bill and the Lorimer investigation, Mr. Shively of Indiana opposing the former and Mr. Cummins of Iowa criticising the committee on privileges and elections for its failure to pursue the inquiry as to whether Mr. Lorimer was cognizant of the bribery that was proven as existent in the Illinois legislature at the time of his election. The legislative, executive and judiciary appropriation bill was passed. The pay of the sec retary to the president was fixed at $10,000 a year. A message from President Taft transmitting the trade agreement reached with the Canadian commissioners was received.

The president's message transmit ting the Canadian trade agreement was received in the house. The day's proceedings were enlivened by an inquiry as to why 49 days had elapsed without the reports in the Ballinger Pinchot investigation having been printed for distribution.

The senate on Friday decided to hold no session on Saturday and adjourned until Monday on motion by Senator Hale, the Republican leader Most of the day was occupied by Senator Cummins, who concluded his speech opposing the majority report of the Lorimer investigating mittee.

THE SCHOOLS OF WESTERN CANADA

In Some of the Cities and Towns the School Suitdings Cannot Accom-modate the increasing Num-bers.

One of the most important factors in the building of a new country is the attention that is paid by the authorities to the education of the rising generation. Fortunately for western Canada, the settlement of that new canada, the settlement of that new country began in such recent years that it was able to lay a foundation for this work, gained by the experi-ence of older countries. In this way the very best is the result. Through-out the entire country are to be seen the most improved style of architecture in school buildings. The cities and towns vie with each other in the efforts to secure the best of accom-modation and at the same time get architectural lines that would appeal. architectural lines that would appeal. Sufficient to say that nowhere is there the greater attention paid to elementary and advanced education than is western Canada. A report just to hand shows that in Calgary, Alberta, there are eighty teachers employed, and the enrollment 4,228 pupils. In the Province of Alberta there was a total of 46,000 pupils attending schools in 1909. The total enrollment in 1909. The total enrollment for the year in city, town and village schools was 22,882, and the total in rural schools was 23,165. There are in the province 970 schools with 1,323 departments. At the close of 1995 there was a total of 1,096 school districts in the province. Great attention is paid also to agricultural education. The best uses of the soil and such other matters as tend to make the agriculmatters as tend to make the agricul-ture less of a drudge and more of a success are employed. When there is the combination of good soil, spien-did climate and healthy and advanced ideas in the methods employed in agriculture, we see accomplished the results that have placed western Cap-nada on its yearset bits places to ada on its present high plane in the agricultural world. There is to be found men of high standing in literary spheres as well as in financial circles who are carrying on farming. not alone for the pleasure they de-rive but for the profit they secure. Mr. Adler, a wide-awake business man of New York, has a ranch near Strath-more, Alberta. He is highly pleased with his success the past year. He says:

"On July 25th we estimated our cropat 6,000 bushels of wheat. A week later we increased our estimate to 12,000 bushels. A few days later we again increased our estimate, this time to 18,000 bushels, but after harvest in September we found we had 20,150 bushels. If that isn't a record, what is?" he asked.

"This crop was made with practi-cally no moisture," he continued, "and we now have a better opinion of the fertility of Alberta lands than ever and value our lands higher than we ever did before."

Mr. Adler, who has been on the ranch for about a week, leaves for New York Saturday.

This gentleman is conducting a farm on a large scale, and has plenty of means to develop it, and his may not be taken as a fair case. There are, though, instances of thousands who have begun life on small farms in western Canada with but brains and the determination over and above the couple of hundred dollars in ready money that they possessed, and today are owners of large farms and handsome incomes, all the result of their efforts on land that was responsive to the touch of the hand that held the plow. Instances such as these can be quoted if you will communicate with the nearest Canadian government agent, who will also mail you free descriptive literature.

The word bungalow is an Anglo Indian term, meaning in India a species of rural villa, a house of light species of rural villa, a house of light construction, usually of unbaked brick with a thatched roof. The bun-galows which are the residences of Europeans in India are of all styles and sizes according to the taste and wealth of the owner. In its earlier use by white men the word bungalow was taken to denote a lightly con-structed habitation, not exceeding one story in height, and presumably de-signed for temporary occupation. But signed for temporary occupation. But during the past few years the bunga-lows have been built in both the United States and Canada as all-year esidences and are constructed with a strongous attempt on the part of many to resuscitate their eleeping patriotism, which they express in a great measure by fire and smoke, the heritage of our warring ancestors.

There is also direct connection between kitchen and front hall, a very

I would first say that this ought and ought not be so, all depending on what we mean with patriotism. If patriotism be of the right kind, we would indorse it. If to be patriotic means to be loyal, not to a mere selfish cause but to a secretarial to be supplied to the second but the second b means to be loyal, not to a mere sel-fish cause, but to a general high and noble cause, then we indorse it. Our dear "U. S. A." though large, is not large enough. We would have the whole world, hay, more, all the worlds; yea, the heavens, too. The duties of the subjects of one state would often be in opposition to those of the subject of another, and men might inflict aril or misery more neighbor neflict evil or misery upon neighbor na-tions in conforming to the Christian

Christianity is designed to benefit not a community but "the world." The promotion of the interests of one community by injuring another—that is, "patriotism in opposition to gen-eral benignity"—Christianity utterly rejects as wrong.

Still would not a doctrine of gen eral patriotism be rational? We would answer in the affirmative. And Christianity does not appear to encourage the doctrine of being a "citizen of the world," and of paying no more regard to our community than to every other. That opposes to the natural and virtuous feelings.

If it were put in practise, it would destroy confined benignity without effecting a counterbalancing amount of universal phlianthropy. Who indeed shall support and cherish and protect a child if its parents do not?

That speculative philosophy is vain which would supplant these dictates by doctrines of general philanthropy. It cannot be applicable to human affairs until there is an alteration in the human constitution. Not only religion, therefore, but reason and nature, re-ject that philosophy which teaches that no man should prefer or aff an-other because he is his countryman, his neighbor or his child.

This is an idle system of philosophy which sets out with extinguishing those principles of human nature which the Creator has implanted for wise and good ends. Wise and good ends.

He that shall so far succeed in practising this philosophy as to look with indifference upon his parent, his wife and his son, will not often be found with much zeal to exercise kindness.

Here is our point of discrimination which we will enlarge upon presently—a point which vulgar patriotism and vulgar philosophy have alike overlooked. I dare not stop by saying that the do good to my nation, and by doing this, not to do any menace to other nations. That would just simply be changing the Golden Rule to nothing.

By having this kind of an idea I would say: "Do nothing unto others." Then a person (in order to be a gen-eral "patriotic" would need do "noth-

A Mosque for London.

It is proposed to erect a mosque in the capital of the greatest Moham-medan power in the world, and the only surprising feature of the project is that it has not been executed before. The building is to cost £100,000, to which the aga khan has already contributed £5,000. The committee in control of the scheme is presided over by Amir Ali and in-cludes the Turkish and Persian ministers, as well as three members of the council of India.—London Globe.

> EASY CHANGE When Coffee is Doing Harm.

A lady writes from the land of cotton of the results of a four years' of the food beverage—hot Postum.

"Ever since I can remember we had used coffee three times a day. It had a more or less injurious effect upon us all, and I myself suffered almost death from indigestion and nervous ness caused by it.

"I know it was that, because when I would leave it off for a few days I would feel better, But it was hard to give it up, even though I realised how harmful it was to me. "At last I found a perfectly easy way to make the change. Four years ago I abandoned the coffee habit and began to drink Postum, and I also influenced the rest of the family to de the same. Even the children are allowed to drink it freely as they do water. And it has done us all great

ood. "I no longer suffer from indigestion,

"I no longer surer from ineigestion, and my nerves are in admirable tone sinc. I began to use Postum. We never use the old coffee any more.

"We appreciate Postum as a delightful and healthful beverage, which not only invigorates but supplies the not only invigorates but supplies the best of neurishment as well." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Remember this; it is always possible to sell a bungalow when a plain house of the same cost would find no sale. This is the most important factor financially, concerning the subject of home building. Too often home building. Too often home builders construct houses that lack style and when a rainy day comes and they want to sell the house there is no buyer because the house is "like thousands of others."

The reason why a house will not sell in nine cases out of ten is because it has no individuality. The cause it has no individuality. The Remember this; it is always pos-will be experienced.

The exterior treatment of this house is in a very appropriate bungalow style. Rough boards are used, stained with creosote oil. The foundation courses from grade to window sills are covered with wide boards with horizontal batten strips. Above this the boards are lapped like the beveled siding, but with a wider lap. A wide extending open rafter cornice completes the design. Brown stained walls with green roof and sash painted white makes a very typical and artistic color arrangement for this cozy

BLAME PHYSICIANS FOR GROWTH OF DOPE HABIT

Druggists Say Prescriptions and Not Patent Medicines the

New York. Blame for the prevalence and growth of the morphine habit was placed on the shoulders of physicians, who prescribed the drug, at a meeting of druggists here to-night to protest against the recently enacted city ordinance prohibiting the sale at retail of any preparation con-taining morphine or its salts except upon a doctor's prescription.

The ordinance is aimed primarily at paregoric and at stomach remedies according to members of the board of health who were instrumental in ob-taining its passage. Caswell Mayo, one of the druggists, said he had one of the druggists, said he had made a canvass by mail of several sanitariums and the replies convinced him 90 per cent, of the victims of drugs formed the habit as a result of using prescriptions given by physicians and only 8 per cent, from using proprietary medicines.

Painted While Asleep.

It is the craze of the pretty ladies of the Tiergartenstrasse's plutocrat society to be painted while asleep writes a Berlin correspondent. The Austrian Countess Czivek started the bright idea. The well-known portrait-ist who had given her an appointment for the sitting has the vicious habit of making you wait. Tired of turning over French novels in an ante-cham-ber, the beautiful countess fell asleep. At last the procrastinating artist turnabout 200,000 lads enrolled in the Boy Scouts of America in 46 states, though the organization is only a few months old. Those who have been watching the movement here say that nothing has ever seemed to appeal so strongly to the boys of America.

Ten years ago Mr. Seton organized the Woodcraft Indians. About 100,000 boys became members, but soon after Gen. Baden-Powell's organization, begun only two years ago, attained such quick and wide popularity in England Mr. Seton and those working with him adopted its best features and merged the Woodcraft Indians into the Boy Scouts.

Every American boy a hundred years ago, he points out, lived either on a farm or in such close touch with farm life that he reaped its benefits. He had all the practical knowledge that comes from country surroundings; that is, he could ride, shoot, run, swim; he was handy with tools; he knew the woods; he was physically strong, self-reliant, resourceful, well developed in body and brain. In addition, his moral training was got at home, and it was good. He was re-spectful and obedient to his elders, and, as Mr. Seton thinks constituted altogether the best material of which a nation could be made.
"We have lived," says Mr. Seton to see an unfortunate change. Partly through the growth of immense cities, with the consequent specialization of industry, each individual has been required to do one small specialty and shut his eyes to everything else, with the resultant perpetual nar rowing of the mental horizon. "Partly through the decay of small farming which would have offset this condition, each mixed farm was a college of handicraft. And partly through the stereotyped forms of religion losing their hold, we see a very different type of youth in the country today.

The new boy scout is a tenderfoot. He is usually about 12 years old. In time he will become a second-class scout, the next higher grade, and finally a first-class scout. To become a graduate in this out-door school a boy must do these things:

FLAVORING

BURDONS

Weary is the back that bears the burden of kidney ills. There's no rest or peace for the man or woman who has a bad back. The distress begins in early morning. You feel lame and not refreshed. It's hard to get out of bed. It hurts to stoop to tie your shoes. All day the ache keeps up. Any sudden movement sends sharp twinges through the back. It is torture to stoop and straighten. At night the sufferer retires to toss and twist and grown. Backache is kidney ache—a throbbing, dull aching in the kidneys. Plasters or liniments won't do. You must get at the cause, inside.

How To Tell When The Kidneys Are Disordered--

Painful Symptoms: Backache, sideache, pains when stooping or lifting, sudden sharp twinges, rheumatic pains, neuralgia, painful, scanty or too frequent urination, dizzy spells, dropsy.

Urinary Symptoms: Discolored or cloudy urine. Urine that contains sediment. Urine that stains the linen. Painful passages. Blood or shreds in the urine. Let a bottle of the morning urine stand for 24 hours. If it shows a cloudy or fleecy settling, or a layer of fine grains, like brick dust, the kidneys are probably disordered.
