When Sullivan was wet it bent the Jowe The measy that was spent for boose— Men dien't pay their grossr dues, Nor buy sheir children any shoes.

Pathers nose was trimmed in red; Kurps washed for daily bread, The silldren were so poorly fed— They lived in poverty, want and dread.

Poor folks had no food to eat, Rum was ho't justeed of meat, A 'tad'' gang loafed upon the six Tae police were busy on their beat

The water works were on the bum,
The street-lights, they were costing some
More new sidewalks could not come
For all the "dough" was gone—for ram,

The county paid, to feed the poor,
To keep want and shame from the drust ard's door,
Pil bet, as much, as morbs more
Than the literate fig. from the whinkey store
The saloons had raked in all our "exuff"...

The town was getting awful "tuff"— We "decent" folks had had "enuff". So we set to work to "call their bluff"

We worked right up and turned ab Made the city ring with a joyful shout! We put the enery whelps to routs— Want to the polis and 'nockedition out!

Since then the poor have better fare; The children all have shoes to wear. The father has more cash to spare And gives his family better care.

Business men are gathers, too, They get their each when it is due. The debte not paid are very few—

The city lights are shinin' bright The water-works are workin' right, ... The sidewalks are all fixed up tight-We'are flyin' higher than a kite!

But ther's a greafy gang, so I am told, They'd rob the sick, or poor, or old, They'd turn a widow out in the cold, They'd pawn their soul for a pure of gold.

They'd bring the grog-shop back, 'the p They'd curse their town for a little gain They'd blot our youth with a crimon And mark us with the mark of Cain!

What fools! What fools! I shout and yell! So blinded by the tasts and small .--Good. from evil, they cannot tell! They're on the downward grade to hell. Wake up! Wake up! I shout once a Let's meet 'em as we did of yore!
We'll make the "lotaters" feet so sore—
We'll beat 'em by two-dozen score!

Corbin-Kern Recital

The Corbin-Kern recital given at the Baptist church last Friday evening, was an entertainment which merited a large audience, and all pres ent were very much pleased with the program.

Misses Corbin and Kern are from Sullivan; Ili Recently they have given entertainments at several near by towns, where they have met with great favor.

Miss Corbin has shown wonderful musical talent from her early childhoud. At present she is a pupil in the music department of the J. M. U. Her friends and teachers predict a brilliant future for her. Her select variety and won enthusiastic applause Miss Kern's readings were of the simple unpretentious sort. Her man ner and expression were natural and convincing. She worked under the disadvantage of a heavy cold but in spite of that her part of the program gave great satisfaction to the au dience,-The Arcola Record Herald.

Kidnapped Again

A few years ago George Reynolds and wife, living in the vicinity of Dalton City, were divorced and the mother given the custody of the chidien. Later they were remarried and resided near Mattoon, but storms brewing soon after, another separa tion followed. The mother and children disappeared, but owing to the serious illness of the wife's mother, she and the children came to her. Soon after the husband hearing of their return, managed to get possession of the boy. A warrant was sworn out, he was arrested and lodged in the county jail, and the child placed in charge of Mrs. Geo. Shirey. Later Mr. Reynolds was released on bond and Deputy Sheriff John Webb took the child to Circuit Judge W. G. Cochran, at Monticello where he is holding court, for him to decide who to deliver the child to. "Yes," said young Mrs. Torkins, ', 1 am

"Yes, the chickens have tested everything and they are perfectly enthusiastic,"

questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 194 Fifth Ave., Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

It is plainly evident to all observers that the number of people who take an intelligent interest in house planning and house building is increasing. The popular press reveals this tendency very clearly. Illustrations and descriptions of modern houses and descriptions of modern houses and discussions of architectural subjects are overflowing from the technical press, finding a place in the newspapers and popular magazines.

This growing interest among the people is all to the good. Architecture has suffered too long from popular ig-norance and popular apathy. General-ly speaking, people get the kind of architecture they like and the kind of building they are willing to accept. There is enough architectural genius and enough skilled craftsmanship in our midst today to transform every town and village into a thing of beauty and to provide every family with a beautiful and healthy home.

If the genius of the architect and the skill of the workman are unemobjects, it is because the demand for this beautiful architecture has not yet become general and insistant, No ness of the walls and the roof and the relative positions of dining room and litchen. Let the man with $2,000 to spend determine that he will have as much good sound building as $2,000 will buy and therewith be content. If this means being content with two sitting rooms instead of the desired three, or abandoning a projected in glenook, there is a solid consolation in the knowledge that all the material used in the house is thoroughly sound and has been put together in a workmanlike manner.

When the essential thing—good building—is/secured, a man may find ness of the walls and the roof and building—is secured, a man may find it possible to indulge his fancies in many matters of detail; but he should be warned against too earnestly striving after the ideal of the picturesque. Having determined on the accommodation he desires and can afford, he will be well advised to be guided in regard to the design by his architect.

The little cottage illustrated herewith is an example of a building thoroughly constructed and arranged according to the very best ideas for convenience; yet at the same time some little thought has been given to make the building attractive in appearance without adding materially to its cost.

For $1,500 this five-room cottage has been built, using the very best methods of construction and finishing the building on the inside with oak birch and yellow pine. A glance at the floor plan will show doubt, is is also due to the fact that | the desirable features of its arrange some who appreciate and desire good architecture have not the means to command it. But the want of money is secondary. The matter of primary importance is that people should have right ideas as to what constitutes good architecture and sound building, and should insist whenever they cause buildings to be put up upon having only those which are both well designed and well built.

Good Building, the First Essential.
And here, no doubt, is a point of langer. The popularizing of architecture is a good thing so long as the demand is for good architecture, A great uninstructed public demanding "quaint" houses and "picturesque" bungalows would get what it wants, but the result is not likely to make for real progress in architecture, or for healthy conditions in the building

When the house-hunting man turns with disgust from the "desirable villa" residences" to which the house agents have directed his attention, and tried to sell to him, and determines to build himself a house according to his own right and proper course, but he is an to go about it in a wrong way. He invites an architect to design him a "picturesque" house, with nooks and bay windows and overhanging eaves. It is to contain accommodations which might reasonably be supplied for $4,000, but it is to cost not a penny more than $2,000. That is to begin at the wrong end.

If a man's chief ambition is that all the landscape painters in the neighborhood should come and erect their easels before his house, he does well to concern himself primarily with gables and nooks; but if he hold with you want trouble.

ment. The living room and dining room are of large size and open to gether by means of an arch opening.

The kitchen is well away from the rest of the house, being separated from the dining room by the pantry, an arrangement which has been found to be very satisfactory. There are two good sized bedrooms very well placed. The bathroom is conve ly located.

The attic space in this cottage valuable for storage purposes, since it is well ventilated serves keep the first story cool during ho. summer weather. The exterior is sided with clap-board, having band courses and corner boards used for ornamental effect. The cornice is rather wide and is of open timbered construction. Altogether this is an exceptionally attractive and economical little residence for the small family.

EUROPE TAKING TO BUDDHISM

Religion of the East Is Making Rapid Strides in the Countries of the Occident.

Buddhism has been making great strides in Europe for the past year. The membership of the Buddhist so clety of Great Britain and Ireland is now counted by hundreds and branches have lately been established in Liv-erpool and Edinburgh. Prof. Rhys Da-vids, the writer on Pali and Buddhist literature, is its president, and amons the vice-presidents is the earl of Mex borough. A Scottish convert to Buddhism, who is now a monk in Burma, is shortly to start a campaign in Great Britain, having been appointed first resident missionary.

Great progress has also been made by the German Buddhist society, which has two important press organs, in Leipzig and Breslau. Buddhist progagandists have been especially active in Hungary, where five editions of a Buddhistic catechism have been exhausted.

For the first time in Europe an attempt has been made there to get Buddhism officially recognized by the state, so that it could be taught in the schools. The plan was not successful, In Switzerland and Italy the number of adherents of the ancient oriental faith is also growing steadily. At Lugano appears the Coenobium, one of the most important Buddhist publications in Europe. New Buddhistic colonies, it is announced, will shortly be formed near Lausanne and also in the Italian province of Umbris.

Trask Rook Marks Historic Maine

Was the Landing Place of American Troops and is Named for a Drummer in the Way

Portland, Me.—Popular as a sur mer resort, and teeming with interesting bits of historical notes, bordering on Penobscot bay waters, is the little town of Castine, Me. It was once surrounded by water, by reason of the trenches dug by the British while the territory was in their hands in 1812, but it is now part of the

The town has relics and historical the town has relies and historical bits of interest, forts of French, British and American build, and an old blockhouse, all of which interest the historian. One of the most interesting of these old sites is "Trask rock," once called "Hinckley's rock." It is situated on the western shore. It was the landing place of the Americans at the time of the Penobscot expedition, when they made an attempt to secure possession of the island.

Trask rock is of a peculiar white-ness. It is large and showy, made conspicuous by a background of bowlders and a precipice. It is situated about half-way between the point where the blockhouse was located during the war, and the present site of the lighthouse on Dyee's Head. This side of the island being weakly protected in 1812, the Americans were enabled to make a successful landing.

The landing took place on the night of July 28. The weather was damp, and a slight swell tossed the vessels as they moored along the coastline just beyond the reach of the British musketry on shore. About three o'clock in the morning preparations were made for a landing. In the screen and a low-hanging fog about 400 marines and militia landed on and near the Trask rock.

A section of the landing force was under command of Captain Hinckley, who, landing on the Trask rock as the British opened fire, urged his men on up the steep bank. He was killed in the rush by a shot fired from a force of the enemy on the rock which long bore his name. As "Hinckley rock" it was known until after years, when a Mr. Trask, who was a drummer in the American ranks, visited the town.

Trask Rock. He had played martial airs all through the fight and the name was changed to Trask rock in commemoration his bravery. Trask at the time of the war was a boy of eighteen, and long after the war he visited the site of the rock and the battle and told the story. It is said that more han 100 lives were lost on the American side in that fight out of about 400 engaged.

In the year 1828 the Dyce's Head lighthouse was built on the north side of the entrance to the harbor, being named after the first settler in that part of the town. It was originally built of wood and was very shabbily constructed. It became so much in need of repairs and so unsafe that in 1858 it was torn down and another one built in its place. The head was properly named for John Jacob Dyce, who owned it in 1775.

His estate includes $,000,000 acres of fertile land and extends 150 miles east and west and 200 miles north and south. On its mountains and through its valleys roam over 1,000,000 cattle, 700,000 sheep and 100,000 horses, these being tended by an army of 2,000 horsemen, herdsmen and shepherds and hunters. Each year at least 150,000 head of cattle and 100,000 sheep are slaughtered, dressed and packed, this ranch being the only one in the world which maintains its own slaughtering and packing plant.

On this gigantic estate are five reservoirs, which cost $500,000, and 300 wells, which cost over another $500,000. Don Lais Terrazas is a scientific farmer, and raises every kind of east and west and 200 miles north and

COULD NOT STAND SUFFERING FROM SKIN ERUPTION

"I have been using Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment for the past three months and I am glad to say that they cured me of a most annoy-ing skin eruption. It began by my noticing red blotches appearing on my face and scalp. Although they were rather disfiguring, I did not think anything of them until they began to get scaly and dry and to itch and burn until I could not stand the suffering. Then I began to use a different soap, thinking that my old kind might be thinking that my old kind might be hurting me, but that didn't seem to do any good. I went to two different doctors but neither seemed to relieve me any. I lost many nights' sleep in continual scratching, sometimes scratching till I drew the blood on my face and head. Then I started in to use the Cuticura Remedies and in two months I was entirely relieved of that swful pest. I am so delighted over awful pest. I am so delighted over my cure by Cuticura Remedies that I shall be glad to tell anybody about it." (Signed) G. M. Macfarland, 221 West 115th St., New York City, Oct. 5,

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

We are authorized to announce as a candidate for Justice of the Peace subject to the decision for the Democratic primary of March 18, 1911.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

At noon March 4th, the most remarkable change in history will take place in the United States senate. The change will come just the same whether President Taft calls an extra session or not, for the Sixty-first congress dies by law at that I divide the dough in equal parts. To one time.

Hale, Republican, of Maine, senior in point of membership, having served since March 4th. 1881, remains in the fighting ranks to the last. His final ambition was to prevent the adoption of reciprocity during his term in the senate.

Aldrich, third in rank, whose service dates back to Oct. 5th, 1881, passed from the scene two months ago, As a parting contribution to legislative proposals he left his central bank plan and he hied to Jekyl Isle, Florida, His health, it was explained.

demanded the change in climate. Burrows of Michigan, with fifteen years as a senator; Kean of New Jersey; Scott of West Virginia, and Depew of New York, each of twelve years' service and of commanding influence under the Aldrich reign, retire to private life.

Beveridge of Indiana, the brilliant progressive, will pass, at least temporarily, after twelve years in the senate:

Nineteen senators in all, three of them democrats, will lay aside their togas. The republicans include besides those mentioned: Bulkely, Connecticut; Burkett, Nebraska; Carter of Montana; Nebraska; Carter of Montana; long established to sent and sentence of constinuing treatment of constinuing the candy. They may which is eaten just like candy. They may Piles, Washington; Warner, Mis. be taken at any time, either souri, and Young, Iowa.

Young, J. P. Doliver's successor, who serves until March 4th. by appointment of the governor of Iowa, was until he quit the race a few days ago, in a deadlock for election by the Iowa legislature. Flint and Piles were not candidates for re-election,

The retiring democrats are M ney of Mississippi, Taliferro of Florida, and Frazier of Tennessee. While the latter two mentioned in connection with new terms, none of them made serious efforts for re-election.

With the old leaders gone, the senate will require a complete re organization. The com paratively new progressives will step torward and the whole aspect of the body will be changed.

The republican majority will be only eight or nine, and nearly every big proposition will cause an open fight. - Exchange.

TWO CAKES FROM ONE RECIPE.

When we lived in the country my neighbor next door and I used to bake cakes and divide them with each other, as both of us had small families, and thus we always had fresh cake But when we moved into the flat we had no neighbors, so I solved the cake prob lem in this way: I bought two small loafcake tins, and when I bake a white loaf cake half I add finely sticed apples, currents, nut meats and spices. This makes a nice moist fruit cake, whether 1 use a plain sour milk receipt or a fancy sunshine cake. The fruit cake I put away in a jar, and the little white cake, used with a variety of frostings, goes very quickly, and if we are tired of cake by the time it is gone, I have the fruit cake in readiness for unexpected company. Sometimes I have two or three little fruit loaves in the crock, but they are better for age, we think, and after a fortnight or so make nicer afternoon-cake, with hot cocos, than a

Avoid Harsh Drugs Many Cathartics Tend to Cause Injury to the Bowels

If you are subject to constipation, you hould avoid strong drugs and cathartics. They only give temporary relief and their reaction is harmful and sometimes more an noying than constipation. They in no way effect a cure and their tendency is to weaken the already weak organs with which they

We honestly believe that we have the best ecustipation treatment ever devised. Our faith in it is so strong that we sell it on the positive guarantee that it shall not cost the users cent if it does not give entire satisfaction and complete remedy constipation. This preparation is called Rexall Orderlies. These are prompt, soothing and most effec-tive in action. They are made of a recent chemical discovery. Their principal ingredient is odorless, tastless and colorless. Com-bined with other well known ingredients, long established for their usefulness in the without fear of their causing any inconvenience whatever. They do not gripe, purge nor cause nausea. They act without causing pain or excessive looseness of the bowels They are ideal for children, weak, delicate persons and aged people as well as for the most hearty persons.

They come in two size packages, 12 tablets 10 cents, 36 tablets 25 cents. Remember you can obtain them only at our store—The Rexall Store: JOHN R. POGUE.

A family moved from the city to a country locality and were told that they should get a watchdog to guard the premises at night. So they bought the largest dog that was for sale in the kennels of a neighboring dog fancier, who was a German. Shortly afterwards the house was entered by burglars, who made a good haul, while the big dog slept. The man went to the dog fancier and told him about it.

"Veil. vat you need now," said the dog merchant, "is a leedle dog to vake up the big dog.

Political Corruption in

An Illinois correspondent Writes no

"I wish to thank you for the article on the condition of politics in Illinois. I have confidence that you are doing more good than you sup pose. We notice that the smaller politicians are becoming more cours than they were two or three years ago, Punishment of those higher up would do a lot of good."

Illinois farmers have a serious prot em on hands. If half the current reports of the daily press is to be believed, if the state is ever cleaned up the farmers must do the cleaning, It can not be done until they forget their politics affiliations and many of their old-time political friends, and resolve to put only houest men in high places, no matter to what political party they belonged. It is true not merely in Illinois, but in every state in the Union.

The most disgraceful thing that we have heard of lately is the sale of votes by tarmers. The Psalmist once said: "If the foundations be destroyed what can the righteous do?'! If the American citizens thinks so little of his birth-right as to sell it for dollars, he is no better than Esau, who sold his birth right for a mess of pottage. He at least had the excuse that he was tired and hungry; an excuse which the farmer does not have who sells his vote for cash. There is a vast amount of cleaning up to be done in every state, and more or less in every county. The hopeful sign is that we are beginning to clean up.

LENT BEGAN

Lent began on Wednesday, March I this year.

How Ash Wednesday and the Lent season are reckoned seems to be a mystery to many people. Lent always is reckoned from Easter Sunday, but to many people this is equal ly mysterious, Easter Sunday always is the first Sunday after the first tull moon after the apring equinox, March 21. It the full moon is on Sunday, Easter is the Sunday following. Easter comes on April 16 this year.

Lent always is forty days before Easter. There usually are six Sundays intervening, but they are not counted in the forty days. This makes Lent always begin on Ash Wednesday. It is always preceded by Shrove Tuesday, which is the last day before Lent.

WASHINGTON HEAD OF RESEL AGENCY REPORTS END OF WAR ASKED.

LINE PARLEY PROPOSED

Texas Bureaus Wire Chief of Indire Overtures to Cease Hostilities Mexican Revolutionists Isaue Ultimatum.

Washington, D. C .- Dr. Vasquez Gomez, head of the confidential agency in Washington of the Mexican revo lutionists, announces that he indirect ly had received overtures for peace from the federal government.

Dr. Gomez said the confidential agency in Washington had been advised by its junta in El Paso, Tex., of the desire of Gov. Ahumada of Chi-huahua to confer in Chihuahua with Francisco I. Madero, leader of the rev olution, and also had been informed through its junta in San Antonio, Tex. that three delegates of the Diaz gov ernment wished to meet Dr. Gobe on the border and arrange for the termination of hostilities.

Dr. Gomez, who was the family phy sician of President Daiz, and who in the last election was candidate for the vice-presidency of Mexico on the same ticket as Francisco I. Madero, the candidate for president, said the provisional government would not dertake any negotiations of peace ex cept under the condition that the del egates shall be legally and fully authorized with written powers."

He added it was further desired by the revolutionists that the arrangement for peace negotiations "should be published and recognized by the federal government officially."

These steps, he explained, were nec essary because of the repudiation of the federal government of connection with the peace conference arranged by Gov. Sanchez last November.

Dr. Gomez asserted the revolution ists would insist on the abdication of the presidency by Diaz and that he had telegraphed to the junta at San Antonio for information as to the source of the overtures for peace and the names of the three peace en voys sent there by Diaz.

SYNOPSIS.

James Wilson or Jimmy as he is called by his triends. Jimmy was rotund and looked shorter than he really was. His ambition in life was to be taken seriously, but people steadily refused to do so, his art is considered a huge joke, except to himself, if he asked people to dinner everyone expected a frolic. Jimmy marries Belia Knowles; they live together a year and are divorced. Jimmys friends arrange to celebrate the first anniversary of his divorce. Those who attend the party are Miss Katherine MoNair, who everyone calls Kit, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Brown, the Misses Mercer, Maxwell Reed and a Mr. Thomas Harbison, a South American civil engineer. The party is in full swing when Jimmy receives a telegram from his Aunt Selina, who will arrive in four hours to visit him and his wife. Jimmy gets his funds from Aunt Selina and after he marries she doubles his allowance. He neglects to tell her of his divorce, as she is opposed to it. Jimmy takes kit into his confidence, he tries to devise some way so that his aunt will not learn that he has no longer a wife. He suggests that Kit play he hostess for ome night, he Mrs. Wilson pro tem. Kit refuses, but is finely prevailed upon to act the part. Aunt Selina arrives and the deception works out as planned, as she had never seen Jim's wife. Jim's Japservant is taken ill, his face is covered with spots. Bella. Jimmy's divorced wife, enters the house and asks Kit who is being taken away in the ambulance? Bella insists it is Jim. Kit tells her Jim is well and is in the house. Bella tells Kit it wasn't Jim she wanted to see, but Takahira, the Jap servant, as she wished to secure his services. Harbison steps out on the porch and discovers a man tacking a card on the door. He demands an explanation. The man points to the placard and Harbison sees the word "Smallpox" printed on it. The man tells him he is an officer of the board of health and tells him the house until after the guarantine is lifted.

She always had attacks like that when things went wrong. I was quite despairing by that time; I come downstairs and take her up and put her to bed like a Christian, so she could giggle her soul out. But after a bit she quieted down and began to cry softly, and I knew the worst was over. I gave her a shake, and she was so angry that she got

But it was my turn to grip Bella. From behind the furnace were coming the most terrible sounds, rasping noises that fairly frayed the silk of my nerves. We stood petrified for an instant. Then Bella laughed. "They are not all gone," she said carefully. "Some one is asleep there."

We tiptoed to where we could see around the furnace, and, sure enough, some one was asleep there. Only, it was not one of the servants; it was a portly policeman, with a newspaper and an empty plate on the floor on one side, and a champagne bottle on the other. He had alld down in his chair, with his chin on his brass buttons, and his helmet had rolled a tons, and his helmet had rolled a dozen feet away. Bella had to clap

"Fairly caught!" she whispered.
"Bartor Resartus, the arrester arrested. Oh, Jim and his flawless service!"

· But after we got over our surprise we saw the situation was serious. The policeman was threatening to awaken. Once he stopped snoring to yawn noisily, and we beat a hasty retreat. Bella switched off the lights in a hurry and locked the door behind us. We bardly breathed until we were back in the kitchen again, and everything quiet. And then Jimmy called my name from above somewhere.

"I am going to call him down, Bella," I said firmly. "Let him help you out. I'm sure I don't see why I should have all this when the two of

"If I leave you here," I debated, "what about the policeman?"

"Never mind him" — frantically. "Listen! There's Jim up in the pantry. Run, for the sake of heaven!"

So—I ran. At the top of the stairs

I met Jimmy, very crumpled as to shirt-front and dejected as to face.

"You're not going until you hear me, Kit," he declared miserably. "In the first place, for all you are down on me, is it my fault? Honestly, now, I refused to speak.

"I was coming home to be miserable alone," he went on, "and—oh, I know you meant well, Kit; but you asked all these crazy people here.

"Perhaps you will give me credit for some things," I said wearily, "I did not give Takahiro smallpox for instance, and—if you will permit me to mention the fact—Aunt Selina is not my Aunt Selina."

"That's what I wanted to speak to you about," Jimmy went on wretchedly, trying not to look at me. "You see, when they are rowing so about who would get the breakfast—I never saw such a lot of people; half of then never touch breakfast, but of course now they want all kinds of things— when they were talking. Aunt Selins said she knew you would get it, being said she knew you would get it, being the hostess, and responsible, besides knowing where things are kept." He had fixed his eyes on the orchids, and he looked shrunken, actually shrunken. "I thought," he finished, "you might give me a few pointers now, and I could come down in the morning, and—and fuss up something, coffee and so on. I would say you did it! Oh, hang it all, Kit, why don't you may something."

"What do you want me to say?" I emanded. "That I love to cook, and demanded. That I love to cook, and of course I'll fix trays and carry them up in the morning to Anne Brown and Lella Mercer and the rest; and that I will have the shaving water ready.—"I know what I'm going to do." God Uses Pain to Refine Humanity

By DR. HAROLD PATTISON - of Park Popular Co.

The problem in Job's time was, why the righteous suffer? but the problem in our day has broadened to why hould there be any suffering at all? I we have stood near the bedside of ome dear one whom we could not car to see suffer, we have wondered to see outlet to see suffer. God could stand it. Personally, I not believe that God is a being at goes about shattering our homes breaking our hearts. It is thought t he permits such things, but it y well be said that God cannot be good and make exceptions e and there in the workings of the at laws of the universe, that were put irreguarities in the place of rmity, to introduce anarchy an ake confusion worse confounded.

are to remember, too, that we are clined to mistake the part for the hole, and in the matter of pain our tandard of measurement is apt to be alse. The actual amount of pain in world is only as great as that borne by any single human being.

A partial answer to this problem is found in the present uses of pain.

Pain may be a punishment, but not always, for pain would seem quite as often a punishment for weakness as for wickedness. Great pain purifies. As the psalmist says: "It was good for me that I was afflicted."

Pain is power. Pain stimulates us to do our best. It is a goad and spur that discovers our best paces. We often say we learn by experience, but if we stop to think of it the experipainful. It takes fire to temper steel and the sword blade never yet took and held its temper without it. A California apple is large and beau-tiful, but tasteless like cork; it needs the frost of New England to ripen the Baldwin and pippin. We none of uswant to live over again the difficult rises of our lives, yet not one of us would be willing to part with the expariences those crises gave us. Great pain warns us. A wounded dog holds, up its foot and so keeps out the dirt. ain told it to do that

The cross of Christ sheds the trongest light on the mysteries of pain. Jesus never seemed to be per-plexed at the existence of pain. How eat a part of his ministry consisted in banishing pain, yet Jesus and Chris tianity have done much to increase the pain of the world. Gethermane and Calvary show us that in our lives as well as his the best and truest in human life comes from pain. The cross is the appeal of suffering.

The vicarious suffering of Christ is said to conflict with our sense of justice. It does not do it. We interpret it by the old view of theology, but rightly viewed it is the climax and complete expiration of the forces to which we owe entire evolution of our race. We must not confuse vicarious suffering with vicarious punishment. When life is seen at its deepest and truest it seems as though there were nothing else but vicarious suffering through which the world

Pain is incidental. It does not last Pain is unnatural. Jesus came to heal and banish it. Pain is not eternal, and "God shall wipe all tears from and God shall wipe all tears from their eyes and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crime, neither shall there be any more pain, for the former things are passed

New Opportunities.

Today we all face new opportunities for growth in grace and in the knowledge of Christ. It is only the man of the hours offer to him a new spiritual chance a chance to be more like Christ when the sun goes down upon his newly dawned day. It must be that we fail to see the significance of this line of mercies so freely offered to all men. Each morning comes with this invitation: "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters." This is simply the call to accept the divine mercies of character. Every morning is alive with that opportunity. If we do not see these mercies it is because we are spiritually blind. What unconquered regions of kind-ness lie before our souls! What unexplored fields of divine benevolence! What untried paths of consecration These are the possibilities that God sets before us now. Tomorrow morn-ing should see us setting out on the stubborn and courageous march toward our ideal. The height and adth and depth of the love of God in Christ give us an ambition equal to the efforts of an eternity.

Pain is actually a mental perception of nerve pressure, and your per-ception of it may be altogether dis-pelled by some sudden demand on your attention, and you may forget all about the pain—in other words, it is often true that pain depends on the amount of attention you are willing to give to the nerve pressure record—Rev. How to Cure Chronic Colds and Bronchitis

Bluevale, Ont., May 4, 1910. "I was sick for two years with a chronic cold and bronchitis and a consequent run-down condition. d no benefit from doctors, and had to give up work. VINOL was recommended and from the second bottle I commenced to improve — I gained in weight and strength, my cold and bronchial trouble disappeared, and I am at work again. I want to recommend VINOL to anyone who is in need of such a medicine."-THOMAS HIGGINS.

It is the combined action of the curative elements of the cods' livers aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron contained in VINOL which makes it so successful in curing stubborn colds and bronchitis. VINOL is a constitutional rem edy for chronic coughs, colds, bron chitis and pulmonary troubles, not a palliative like cough syrups. Try a bottle of VINOL. If you don't think it helped you, we will return your money. Sam B. Hall, Sullivan III.
