HOME FOR BURIAL

Fort Mott, Salem, N. J.
April 17, 1911.
Mr. McKendree Birch,
Sullivan, Illinois.
Dear Sir:

As stated in my telegram to you, your son Edgar Howe Birch, late Private 36th Company C. A. C., was found in the Delaware river at a point 12 miles north of here yesterday morning. His remains were brought to this post and today were given a full military funeral before shipment to you at 3:45 p. m.

The members of the 36th Company subscribed about $50.00 for flowers for the funeral services and an effort was made to obtain a beautiful display, but on account of the short time available and the fact that it occurred on Sunday, this feature was not as successful as we desired, but all those that could be obtained on such short notice just arrived as the remains were leaving the post for Salem, and they were sent along with the casket and I hope they will go through in good shape.

Now, Mr. Birch, I desire to express my deepest sympathy for myself and the 36th Company, of which your son was a member, for the unfortunate loss that you and Mrs. Birch have sustained, and I trust that it will be some consolation to have the remains interred where you can visit from time to time. I will write you again in a few days.

Very respectfully,
M. H. BARRY,
Capt. C. A. C.
Commanding the 36th Co. C. A. C.

EDGAR HOWE BIRCH,
On December 10, 1910 Edgar Howe Birch, son of McKendree Birch and wife of Sullivan, fell from a steamer and was drowned in the Delaware river near Fort Mott, N. J. He was standing near the stern of the vessel, the sea being rough, a lurch of the vessel threw him overboard. He was weighted down with the heavy overcoating which members of the regular army wear. The body was recovered last Sunday, over four months after his death. Mr. Birch was telegraphed of the fact, and the remains at once expressed to his home in Sullivan, arriving here Wednesday at 1:10 p. m.

The grief stricken parents took the remains to their home, where a short funeral service was conducted by Rev. A. L. Caseley and taken to the Greenhill cemetery for interment.

Mr. Birch was 28 years of age. This was his second enlistment. The occurrence cast a gloom over the community. The family is prominent and has many sincere sympathizers.

Edgar Howe Birch is survived by his parents, two sisters and one brother.

OBITUARY.

MRS. MARY A. BUPP.

Mary Ann Hille was born October 14, 1827. She was united in marriage to William Bupp in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, in 1849, from whence they moved to Ohio, and located in Champaign county in 1852, from there to Illinois in 1864.

To this union was born four children, three sons and one daughter, Joseph, John, Charles and Ella. But one member of the family survive, that is John Bupp, well known in Moultrie county.

Mrs. Bupp was known as Aunt Mary. She was amiable, congenial and highly respected, her friendship for others was unlimited and consequently she was blessed with many friends. She was a righteous woman, an exemplary Christian, always seeking to exert a good influence on all with whom she came in contact.

She has been an invalid a number of years, but all that loving hands and kind hearts could do to make her declining years comfortable was done.

She died at the age of 81 years, 5 months and 29 days, at the home of her son, John Bupp, living in the northwest part of the city. Would that all aged ladies could be blessed with as good a home and tender care as she was given by her son and his family.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. A. T. Cory, at the residence Saturday at 2:30 p. m., and the body taken to Greenhill cemetery for interment.

Card of Thanks.

To our neighbors and friends we extend our thanks for their kindly assistance and condolence during the sickness and death of mother and grandmother.

CHURCH SERVICES.

CHRISTIAN.

Bible School, 9:30 a. m.
Rev. J. W. Kilborne will preach morning and evening.
Prayer meeting Wednesday evening.

The twelve Christian church Bible Schools of Moultrie county held a meeting of representatives of each school at the church Monday for the purpose of organizing and laying for a united onward movement. Plans were adopted and will be carried into execution first Sunday in May.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL

Mr. Loar's address Sunday morning was fine, every one hearing it being well pleased. It is such laymen as he, who are willing to make sacrifice of time and comfort to help others, who are the real builders of Christ's Kingdom. May the Lord give us more such men, a few such in Sullivan would be a great help.

The Standard Bearers met with Mrs. E. J. Miller last Tuesday night. The feature of the occasion was an address by Mrs. Dundas, wife of our pastor at Bethany. Mrs. Dundas is a charming speaker, and is in demand all over the country for addresses.

Next Sunday's services as usual. The pastor will preach at both morning and evening services. Let all the membership be present.

April 30th will be our communion day. It is the desire of the pastor to receive publicly all those who came into the church during our revival service. Keep this in mind. Last Wednesday night was the best prayer meeting during the present pastorate. We are studying the teachings of the Apostle's Creed and find the great cardinal doctrines of the church therein. The League room was full last Wednesday. Let us repeat that splendid congregation next week.

The special program last Sunday night was enjoyed by a house full. The singing by the chorus was exceptionally fine.

State Superintendent Francis G. Blair has sent out a booklet containing 98 pages, rich in reading matter of historic and current interest, and handsomely illustrated with pictures of Illinois scenes.

CLEAN SWEEP.

A chip from the same block.

Last Tuesday the voters of Mattoon knocked the "Day Light" out of Welch and in hopes that a new broom would sweep clean they elected Edward T. Guthrie mayor by 1277. One of his aldermen elected was John C. Armantrout, a big brother of the editor of the Saturday Herald.

BUSINESS CHANGE

D. L. Enslow has bought Fred Whitfield's stock of clothing in the I. O. O. F. building.

The ladies and childrens shoes were shipped to Perry Enslow's store at Pontiac.

Mr. Enslow has been a citizen of Sullivan a number of years, and is well and favorably known, both socially and in a business transactions. He, not many years ago was engaged in the same business in the Opera House block, and conducted it successfully, made friends and pleased his customers. He is a man of integrity and good business principles and a good citizen.

C. F. Whitfield retires from the business. He did well and has many friends who are sorry to see him quit. Fred is a hustling young man of ability.

Medical Society.

The Moultrie County Medical society held its semi-annual meeting in the grand jury room in the court house Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Wiggins of East St. Louis, was the only speaker of the meeting, and spoke along the lines of surgery. This society has only been organized a few years and hold its meetings semi-annually. Their next meeting will be in October. The officers elected for the ensuing term are: Dr. G. B. Kessler, president; Dr. W. P. Davidson, secretary; both of this city and Dr. O. M. Williamson of this city, D. D. Grier of Gays and Dr. J. H. Vadikin of Bethany were elected censors.

Special Meeting of the Board of Supervisors.

Notice is hereby given that in accordance with a request in writing addressed to the undersigned, county clerk of Moultrie county, Illinois, signed by at least one third of the members of the board of supervisors of said county, I hereby call a special meeting of said board to convene on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1911, at the hour of 1 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the court house in the city of Sullivan, Illinois, for the purpose of organization, auditing claims against the county and for the transaction of whatever business as may come before the board. WILLIAM A. RADFORD
Editor

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 173 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

The great antiquity of concrete as a building material would justify a search for early examples of its use in architectural expression. But apparently this remarkable material, which, after all, is only just beginning to reveal its ultimate possibilities, was used by the ancients only for the baser purposes of piling up masses of masonry, or at best as a backing for stone and marble facings. The first suggestion of its fitness for architectural expression came when builders took the idea of constructing architectural features of cement mortar.

There is undoubtedly a fascination about being able to mold so thoroughly a plastic material as cement mortar into any desired form, or even to shape it by hand, while still soft, and so produce creditable work of decorative sculpture. But one invariably suffers a shock on discovering that beautiful stately colonades or arcades and porticos, well designed and in style, are not built of stone, but that we are looking at a thin veneer of cement mortar, in short, that they are a mere sham.

During this period of development, while architects were being led to adopt new materials, they did not concern themselves with the evolution of design in conformity with their new materials, and it followed quite naturally that no progress was being made toward the realization of a real concrete architecture. In fact no attempt was made in this direction.

It would be difficult to estimate ing instinct, and when the little house is well designed this is intensified.

Here is displayed a design of a little house that is to be built of frame and plastered on the exterior with cement mortar. We know that houses built in this manner are cooler in summer and warmer in winter than those of other construction, and the cost is very little more than that of frame construction. The effect of this design is artistic and it is of such a character as to attract attention, although there is nothing pretentious about it. Such a house will always be salable, and that is something to be considered when settling on a design. It is a one-story house, the width being thirty feet and the length twenty-two feet six inches. The porch is six feet nine inches by twenty-seven feet six inches. You enter the house by a cosy vestibule and find yourself in a central hall on each side of which are wide doors into the living room on the left and the dining room on the right. Directly ahead is a passage way that leads into the bedroom, while access to the kitchen is had through the dining room. Between the bedroom and the kitchen is a bathroom, while in the kitchen a pantry of ample size is provided. This house will look best if built on a corner lot and surrounded with flowers and shrubbery.

THINGS TO BE REMEMBERED

One in the List of "Must Not" is the Use of Poison or Poisoned Weapons.

Few persons know how many restrictions hedge round the privileges of the warrior under the regulations of modern international agreement.

Some of these have a grim touch of humor. A spy, for instance, is exempt now from the dishonorable death of Ruskin's influence in bringing about a restoration of truthfulness in design. While it cannot be said to have extensively effected immediate and tangible results, it did set men to thinking, and in recent years—within the present generation, in fact—this subtle influence is gradually asserting itself, and naturally bringing about a revival of artistic inspiration.

It is hard to depart from beaten paths, and men as a rule will not and dare not till some genius carves the way. It is hard to give up the old familiar forms that have become a veritable architectural alphabet, which seems to most of us sufficient for the expression of our architectural ideals. And now that we have entered on an era of concrete construction with a suddenness that is characteristically American, we cannot expect designers to throw aside all tradition and make for a new style. That will take time. Nevertheless they are coming to recognize in concrete a material that will afford abundant opportunity for originality and individuality, and accordingly bold excursions have been made into the new field, with creditable results.

Some of the most pleasing work with this new material has been done in the construction of small houses. The small cottage or bungalow has about it something that appeals to the hom-

THE PRICE OF LAND INCREASING

THE "BACK TO THE LAND" CRY IS EFFECTIVE.

Traveling through the state of Iowa the other day, and Iowa is no exception to the story about to be related, the writer was shown a farm that was offered three years ago for $250 an acre. That appeared to be a high figure for land upon which the owner depended upon the crops of corn, hogs and cattle that could be raised upon it. But it wasn't. A few weeks since the farm changed hands at $325 an acre. Over in Illinois, down in Indiana, up in Wisconsin, across the line in Minnesota, the same experience was met with. And then attention is directed to Canada, which has been the Mecca of so many hundreds of thousands of Americans during the past few years. Not only in Eastern Canada has the price of lands increased, but in Western Canada, during the past few weeks, farm lands have increased from three to five dollars an acre, with the prospect of a similar advance during the next three months.

The reason for this is very apparent, and in a few words it may be pointed out that the lands are worth a great deal more than the present prices. The Northwestern Agriculturist of Minneapolis, a paper that was one of the first of the American farm papers to discover the real merits of the lands of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, says: "The reciprocity schedule would encourage American farmers to move to Canada, where the virgin soil will produce greater crops of grain with less labor than can be produced in our own farms in the Northwest. The result will be to enhance land values in Canada." This paper is afraid land values in Canada will be enhanced at the expense of land values in the United States. In face of the fact that land values in the United States are increasing the reasoning scarcely holds. The reason for the advance in value of Canadian lands is partly accounted for from the fact, admitted by this paper, that Canada's virgin soil will produce "greater crops of grain with less labor." But that is not the only reason. During the past twelve months 320,000 people have made Canada their home and these are mostly of the farming class. They want farms, and the demand as well as the wealth of the soil is regulating the price. A study of the increase in the acreage of land put under crop last year, which can be had from any Canadian government representative, will prove the point, that the demand is increasing at a greater rate than even the most sanguine would have predicted.

DE LAVAL Cream Separator

Occasionally the intending buyer of a cream separator who has but a small amount of ready cash to invest is tempted to put his money into one of the so-called "cheap" machines which are being largely advertised.

Why pay your hard earned money for a "cheap" trashy machine when you can buy a reliable DE LAVAL upon such liberal terms that

It will more than earn its cost while you are paying for it.

When you buy a DE LAVAL you have positive assurance that your machine will be good for at least twenty years of service, during which time it will save every possible dollar for you and earn its original cost over and over again.

If you purchase the so-called "cheap" separator you must pay cash in advance and then take the chance of the machine becoming worthless after a year or two of use, to say nothing of the cream it will waste while it does last,—all of which means that you have virtually thrown away the money invested in the cheap separator and wasted your time, labor and product in the bargain.

The DE LAVAL separator pays for itself. It runs easier, skims cleaner and lasts longer than any other cream separator. Be sure to see the local DE LAVAL agent and try a DE LAVAL before you buy any cream separator.

Even now we barely tolerate an individual whose opinions do not coincide with those of the majority. The older members of society can still remember when the term of "abolitionist" was as stinging an epithet as could be hurled at a man. He was supposed to be filled with ideas subversive of good order and destructive of state. Even at the very last people argued that since slavery was guaranteed by the Constitution it was the duty of all good citizens to protect the peculiar institution at whatever cost, and when Jefferson Davis declared that the southern planter had a right to take his slaves into any part of the union there were plenty of people who insisted that this was sound logic and good law.

Bob Ingersoll long ago remarked that no one was ever persecuted for having a low and mean opinion of the Deity. Every man who insisted that God was filled with hate, in the language of Jonathan Edwards, "regarded man with more contempt than we look upon the most loathsome reptile or insect," was applauded. No one was ever derided for painting hell in the darkest colors. The persecution comes when we insist that the world is governed by absolute law, and that nature never turns from her course because of the tears and supplications of man. If we transgress a law, we are obliged to suffer. Theology insists that we can escape by a trick, but science continually reiterates the truth that if you put your fingers in the fire you will be burned.

INCOMES $40 AN ACRE

SINCE THE PAULDING BEET SUGAR FACTORY STARTED

That's the substance of the reports coming in from all our fieldmen who are out looking for good northwestern Ohio farms that can be bought.

It's got so that it is a good deal harder to buy a Maumee Valley farm than it is to sell it when bought. And the reason is not hard to understand. The people there are prosperous and they know that their farms made them so; there is no inducement to sell out and invest elsewhere, for they well understand that nowhere else in the Central States can they buy such farms for any where near the same money. And now, since the beet sugar factory at Paulding started up in time to handle the 1910 crop, and the farmers of Paulding and adjoining counties realize the enormous profits in sugar beets, it is harder than ever to get farms.

Mr. Delaet, in Paulding county, raised 163 acres of beets last year that netted him, over and above cost of production, $74 an acre.

Do you think we could buy his farm at $150 an acre or at $200, or at $250? And yet there are plenty of farms all over that section just as good as Mr. Delaet's.

If sugar beet crop will pay even an average net profit of only $40 an acre, which is low, what is the land worth that grows that crop?

Figure it out for yourself. For our part we should consider $250.00 an acre a cheap price for land that would pay an income of $40.00 or about 17 per cent. That's the way the owners of these farms are getting to feel, too; hence the increasing difficulty of buying them.

Corn, of course, will always be the principal crop or Northwestern Ohio, for every farmer will grow it. But some of them will put all their land, and many more a half or quarter of their land, in sugar beets. Either way, 65 to 75 bushels of corn, or 16 to 18 tons of beets per acre, on land that costs $145.00 to $165.00 means profitable farming.

Some of you are expecting to buy an Illinois or Western Indiana farm this season, and to pay for it anywhere from $175.00 to $250.00 an acre.

You can't afford to do it

It will be throwing away a round $50 on each acre you buy; for in Western Ohio you can buy exactly the same kind of soil just as well improved, and better located, on stone roads and close to better markets, for about that much less money. A few dollars spent for railway fare will prove it.

WE NOW OWN About 130 of these splendid farms, many of which are described and priced in our Spring Catalogue. Let us send you a copy. Or, if you wish, our District Manager, Mr. Geo. C. Ferris of Decatur, Ill., will be glad to call on you and tell you all about the country and our farms.

Fox Committed Suicide.
During a run of the Gedworth (Eng.) foxhounds recently the fox in order to escape from the hounds jumped down a 30-foot well, and it is presumed that he committed suicide. After being told the story an official of the Zoological society said that no animal ever intentionally ends its life. "I can only recall two creatures," he said, "who are supposed to commit suicide, and they are the scorpion and the wasp. I have never quite satisfied myself as to these creatures. They both appear to kill themselves by their own stings, but I have always thought the death was accidental."

A Jam Thief in Court.
Little Willie, nine years old, was noticed by his stepmother to pay many quiet visits to his bedroom. She followed and found him eating from a jar of jam. She beat him until he told her he had stolen it, so she took him and the jam to a nearby shop. Willie was charged at Oldstreet with stealing the jam, but the magistrate said it was perfectly ridiculous to bring such a little boy when his father, if not his stepmother, could deal with the matter himself. The boy was discharged.—New York Press.

Timber the Ore Mined Here.
One of the most curious mines in the world is in Tongking, China, where, in a sand formation at a depth of from 12 to 20 feet there is a deposit of stems of trees. The Chinese work this mine for the timber, which is found in good condition, and is used in making coffins and troughs and for carving and other purposes.

ACKNOWLEDGE IT.

Sullivan Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Endorsement Prove It.
After reading the public statement of this fellow-sufferer given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this: Mrs. J. W. Richey, 715 S. Thirty-Second Street, Mattoon, Ill., says: "I never used another medicine that did me as much good as Doan's Kidney Pills: For years I suffered from backache and I found the greatest difficulty in stooping or lifting. At times I felt so languid and weak that it was almost impossible for me to put one foot before the other. My condition was alarming and I was constantly trying one preparation or another without being helped. My husband finally procured a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills for me and I began their use. In a few days I was relieved and by the time I had finished the contents of one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, I was practically cured. Only those who suffer as I did can understand how grateful I am to Doan's Kidney Pills." (Statement given March 1, 1909.)
A SECOND STATEMENT.
On January 25, 1910, when Mrs. Richey was interviewed she said: "I have not had an ache or pain since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. It gives me pleasure to confirm all I have previously said about this preparation."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Horse Killed For Spite.

Shelbyville, Ill., April 18.—The people in the western part of the county are much worked up over one of the meanest pieces of revenge ever committed in this vicinity. Mr. Charles Blue is the victim of the deed which was perpetrated by some unknown person. One night last week some miscreant took a valuable horse from Mr. Blue's barn and after trying it down in the road cut its throat leaving it lying in the road where it was found in the morning by the passerby.

Although every effort has been made to discover the doer of the deed no clue has been found.

Repairing The Temple

(Suggested by the Sunday school lesson for April 23.)

Our meetin' house needs fixin'
From the pulpit to the door.
The wind blows in like blizzen,
There are cracks along the floor.
The seats are ruff and skeaky—
Like sittin' on a rail—
The lamps are dim and leaky,
(Don't you sit down on that nail!)

The carpets' worn and dusty,
The song-books are all torn,
The stove is getting rusty—
The whole place looks forlorn.

The roof is gettin' "holy"
From the eaves up to the crown—
The wind blows in quite coldy—
The chimney's tumbled down.

The shutters are all broken,
The window lights are out
(These things are but a token
Of the people roand about.)

When our chure-house is a ruin,
And a home for owl and bat
Our religion needs unscrowin',
For you see just where we're at.

We should get some "good" religion
That will reach down to our purse,
For we have't got a "smigion"
And we're still a-gettin' worse.

Then wake up my Christian brother
And repair the house of God,
For His patience you may smother
'Till He smites you with His "rod"
HARVEY, THE FAOBY POST.

MAYBE!

There'll be a time when woman kind
Will always be of settled mind;
When all that sex we know as fair
Will wear their own, their native hair—
Maybe!

There'll come a time when man will roam
Infrequently away from home;
When he'll respectfully decline
To stay out late and juggle wine—
Maybe!

There'll come a time when candidates
Will never promise consulates
And other jobs, unless they should
Be positive of making good—
Maybe!

There'll come a time when poets will
Possess the sesame of the till;
And editors will never bluff,
But hurry up and buy their stuff—
Maybe!

There'll come a time when plumbers will
Omit all fiction from a bill
When dairymen will never jump
To swell their output by the pump—
Maybe!

There'll come a time when the suns are cold
The stars are black and babies old;
When they will be our earthly moon—
Maybe!

THE STOCKING.

The clothing of the feet is another important matter to be considered. Stockings which have not fitted have deformed a number of feet and have been responsible for many of the troubles of which one complains. The stockings are often too short and double the toes over, which brings pressure upon the toe joints. Before putting on the shoes, the stockings should be well drawn down so that the toes can wriggle freely in the stockings. Care should be taken in putting on the shoes not to draw the stockings down, with the shoe so that the toe will be cramped. A stocking that is too large has faults in another direction. It wrinkles on the foot, across the toes, on the large toe joints, where bunions are found, or on the tender part of the heel. If one is the unfortunate possessor of stockings which are too long, the extra length should be pulled down beyond the tops and smoothly folded under the toes in the space between them and the ball of the foot. This may seem an unnecessary direction, but to avoid stockings that shrink the manufacturers have succeeded in making those that stretch instead, especially cotton stockings. Care should be taken in washing stockings. If they are too long they should be hung by the toes to dry, and not by the upper part; and stockings that are too short can be lengthened by hanging with the feet down, after pulling them well in shape for drying.—"Health and good looks," in The Ladies' World.

Shiftless went to a sale yesterday and started the bidding on some old tools, used when his father was a boy—and got them. "Well," he said "If they done the work alright in dad's time, they're good enough for me"—and went home pleased with his bargain.
