DEPOT HOMET WAS RAIDED Several Violators Were Caught in the Sheriff's Drag Not-

A special grand jury was called Monday to investigate some newly exposed violators and to hear any other complaints that might be made. Charles Lansden, of Marrowbone, vas elected foreman of the special venire of grand jurymen.

The list is as follows: Waiter McClure, J. A. Chaney, E. W., Richardsus, James Keitey, A. N. Woodruff, F. W. Drish, Frank Holte, John F. Miller, G. N. Lewis, H. M. Myers, J. H. Leeds, Isane Alvey, Wm. T. Rudes, F. M. Pearce, Win. Boyce, and Albert Brown of Sullivan constitution

Sheriff Scarborough and his deputies, Chas. Bristow and John Webb, wided two places, Friday that they had been watching for several days. One of the places is what is known as the depot hotel, kept by Chas. A. Craig and his wife, Elsanor Craig, the pair were arrested and placed in the county jail about 9 p. m. as there was ufficient evidence to prove that they were running a disorderly house.

The officers then proceeded to the home of Mrs. Delia Farney and arrested her and Miss Rose Siler Jordon, as this place had long been suspect-ed as being a house of ill repute. A stranger that was in the house at the time escaped.

These last two women were also lodged in jail. They demanded a trial but as no court presiding officer could be induced to leave his couch of repose, they spent the night in jail.

They were brought out Saturday morning and with Asron Miller who had been later arrested were take

THE COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Sullivan is now to have at least one block of cluster lights. At the regular meeting, of the city council Monday night. The proposition of Mayor F. B. Pifer, Mrs Stella Mc-Donald and W. A. Steele, who offered to place the poles and cluster lamps in front of their business house along the north side of Harrison St. from the corner of Main to VanBuren street at their own expense, if the ity would maintain the light service, This was accepted by the council and an ordinance was passed granting these parties the right of placing the poles and lights along this block. The city also agreed to maintain the lights. And the ordinance also provides that any other person who desire, at their own expense, may have the privilege of placing poles and cluster lamps in front of their business, or residences, and that the city will maintain the lighting.

The council also granted a fran-chise to Mayor Pifer, Mrs. McDonald and W. A. Steele the right to pave the alley way north of their blo The council meeting was adjourn-en to meet again Tuesday sight in special session to consider the ques-tion of the proposition on the Wy-

"It would be interesting to know what was," remarked Robert with humor so dry that apparently it choked him; he fell to coughing huskily. Miss Sapphira gave him a look while he was struggling in his second par-oxysm. It healed him by suggestion. "Turn," said Miss Sapphira with be-coming gravity. Robert, still under the influence of her thought-wave, sol-emnly drove her from the scene. When the last buckle was clasped— "I came out here for a quiet peaceable fashing," said Simon. Knowing how unahakable were her rusolutions, he made a desperate attempt to divert her mind: "That is settled, Miss Grace, and it's too late how to alter' the decision, for the school board has already voted us a new superintendent—he has been sent his notification. Abbott Ashton is out of it, and it's all his fault. Bob was the only one to stand up for him, but he wasn't strong enough to hold his friend above the wave of popular opin-ion. Don't ask me to interview Bob for Abbott Ashton."

Grace calmiy waited for this futility to pass; then with an air suggesting, "Now, shall we talk sensibly?" she resumed: "I approve the action of the school board. It did well'in dismissing Professor Ashten. May I ask about

Two centuries have passed since the Scottish judge Lord Monbodde was born. In his "Origin and Prog-ress of Language" he argued that hu-man beings should be studied like other animals; but this doctrine seem-ed to the contemporaries of Dr. John-son so ridiculous that the wags based many a jest upon it. His belief that men sot rid of their tails by sitting men got rid of their tails by sitting upon them would now scarcely raise a smile among anthropologists. Among his more startling propositions was the earnestly maintained one that the ourang-outing "was a class of the hu-man species, and that its want of speech was merely accidental."

CHAPTER XVI.

A Tamer of Lions. The life of a household progress usually by insensible gradations, to ward some great event, some climan for the building of which each day has furnished its grain of sand. Today, Hamilton Gregory and Grace Noir were in the library, with nothing to indicate the approach of the great mo-ment in their lives. It was Grace's impatience to drive Fran away even before Robert Clinton should bring the secret from Springfield, that pre cipitated matters.

"May I speak to you, Mr. Gregory ! She rose from the typewriter, slightly pale from sudden resolution. Gregory never missed a movement of his secretary, but now he lifted his head ostensibly, to make his observation official.

"It's about Mr. Clinton," said Grace in a low voice, feeling her way to "that Fran

The pressure of water increases with the depth. One mile down this pressure is reckoned at more than a ton to the square inch—in other words, more than 133 times the pres-sure of the atmosphere. The depth of the see presents some interesting considerations. If, it is claimed by one authority, the Atlantic ocean were lowered 6,564 feet, it would be reduced to half its present width. If it were lowered a little more than three miles the result would be dryi-land all the way between Newfound-land and ireland. If the Mediter-remean were lowered 660 feet, Africs rain that falls, not merely upon its own surface, but upon the surface ce of own surrace, but upon the surrace of the land and upon the roots of our houses. It has been calculated that each year a layer of the entire sea fourteen feet thick is taken up into the clouds. This vapor is fresh, and, if all the water could be removed in the same way, none of it being re-turned, there would, it is figured, be left a layer of pure salt 230 feet high on the bed of the Atlantic. These figranean were lowered 660 feet, Africa would be joined to Italy, and three separate seas would remain.

Perpetual Motion. Perpetual Motion. One may well be sure that there is no "perpetual motion machine." For this purpose machines have been con-structed from time immemorial, but nothing has ever come of it. Men have gone mad on the subject, but without any practical results. It was demon-strated long ago by Sir Isaac Newton and De la Hire that perpetual motion is impossible of attainment. Even the solar system, the most wonderful ma-chine of which we have and knowl-edge, will run down in the course of time, some say in about 11,000,000 of years from now.

of opportunities for goodness and greatness, but all has been sacrificed for lusts that brings deeper sorrow to parents brothers and sisters than to have seen that beloved face covered with the coffin lid. We pass from our object of , degredation, 'come face to face with her brother's, sister's, as we greet them and notice the heaving of the chest, then compassion and charity is renewed within as and we long to right the wrong and lead the erring home.

The purest and richest human lights that shine in New Testment history came from the band of high minded, faithfui and affectionate women, who are found in connection with Christ from his cradle to the cross, his tomb and his resurrection. These ennobling in fluences have operated on society with equal benefit and power. The finishing touch which the Great Teacher put to the Mosaic view of the relations of the sexes, may be read in the Book. We refer to but one instance which may be found in the eighth chapter of John, when the scribes and Pharisees tried to tempt. Him with a woman guilty of adultery.

Immodesty admits of no defense. Lack of modesty is lack of sense. Yet we must ever do our duty if it does lay some of our good old time proverbs on the shelf. We may have a scrupulous nicety for discussing ugly things, yet a course must be pursued to change conditions. In order to save hundreds of lives and protect our boys and girls and stop these horrors beyond words, we must cast aside false notions and take up the fight, join hands with our brave sheriff and his able assistants, not only enlist in the fight, but fight, and there are enough people in Sullivau without sin to hurl boulders at such heinous habits. If our executive officers and courts would or had strictly enforced the law some conditions in our city; would never have been as they are today. It would seem some could not break the strings or obligations that bound them. We are happy today to say we have some one in office that is not afraid to serve the people, and a band of the noble young men in the county are comin to the front with the whole ar-paretaker must be familiar with this seg machine in order to secure the graatest profit per fowl. The variety kept has very little to do with the possible profit per fowl. A flock of Plymouth Rocks may be made to yield greater returns than a flock of Leghorns per capita. True it is that some varieties are better egg producers than others, but it is also trace that some varieties are better meat producers than others. No one variety has a monopoly on advan-tages or profit-paying qualities. There is no variety without some redeem-ing features that can be so managed by the skillful poultry keeper as to bring good returns.

The basis of profit does not rely The pasts of pront does not fely upon what branch of poultry keeping one follows. There are chances in every line, egg, meat and fancy. Second Highway Examination. Owing to the fact that 19 counties of the state have no eligible list from which to select a county highway su-perintendent, the Illinois highway commission sent out a circular letter calling attention to the provisions of the good roads law which makes it mandatory that a county superintend-be named before any road improvement calling for an expenditure of over $200 can be made and setting a date for a second examination in this city on November 25.

Four of the 102 counties in the state failed to present any candidates at the examination held by the highway commission recently, while no candi-dates appeared from Alexander and Pope counties, although the county board sent in its selections. The can-didates selected in 13 counties to take the examination failed to pass.

The circular letter sent out by the highway commission to counties failing to send candidates is as follows: "To the Honorable Boards of Supervisors of Henderson, DeWitt, Knox and McLean Counties: "Sirs—Your attention is respectfully called to the provision of the road law. requiring that all county boards shall submit to the state highway commis-sion the names of persons to be emamined for the position of county superintendent of highways.

"Up to this time your board has failed to comply with the law as no candidates were certified to take the examination held by the state high-way commission on October 18 last.

"As this feature of the law is man-datory and quite apart from the par-ticipation of any county in state aid, also as no business involving over two hundred dollars ($200) can be legally transacted by the highway commis sioners of any township in your coun-ties until a county superintendent has en appointed, early action on your part becomes imperative. You are advised that another examination has been set for November 25, next, at Springfield."

BIG CLOCK WITHOUT HANDS

Hours, Minutes and Seconds Are In-dicated by Arrangement of Multi-colored Electric Bulbs.

One of the largest electric clocks in one or the fargest electric clocks in existence has just been exhibited. It is a marvel of beauty and workman-ship. The pendulum weighs over 3,000 pounds. The clock contains 5,485 multicolored electric bulbs, for which 11,000 connections were necessary and over a mile of wire. In making the compactions 140 powers of montain and over a mile of wire. In making the connections 140 pounds of special screws were required. The dial, al-though it indicates house, minutes, and seconds, has no hands. The time in minutes is indicated by 60 series of lights, each series con-taining 32 globe-covered bulbs, radiat-ing from an ornamental centerplece to the outer edge of the dial. Shorter rows of different colored lights in-dicate the hour, and these change their different position 12 times during each 60 minutes, or once every five minutes. The seconds are shown by 60 lights placed at equal distances around the extreme outer edge of the

The hour figures are three feet high, outlined in colored lights. Each sec ond the illumination in the outer cir cle of light moves forward one bulb, and when the dial has been entirely circled the lights indicating the min utes also advance, and the hour hand, formed by lights, makes its slow jour ney at five-minute intervals. Despite the huge proportions of the clock it has been found that it keeps absolute-ly correct time even to the second.

Electricity for Drying. Two applications for electric heat-ns are used in connection with dratt-ns work. One is the use of a portis combination heater and fan, ordi-rily employed by hairdressers to y their customer's hair after wash-t, to dry the ink on tracings. This winkle" shortens the time required wrinkle" shortens the time required to complete the tracing, as the fresh-y mixed lines must be dry before I-square or triangle can be moved over the tracing. More Important Than Success. The most important thing in a man's life is that which he has been striving at. All that he actually accomplished at. All that he actually accomplianed was dependent to a considerable ex-tent on purely accidental circum-stances, and in the best cases, proved only a far inadequate realiza-tion of his intentions.—John Ruskin.

CALL OF THE WHISTLE

By OLIVE E. GRAVES.

Morning after morning, week after week, and month after month she had listened to that wild, exultant cry of the monster (

it rushed in with its human freight. On a clear morning its shout: "I come_from the sea_the sea_the sea; I come from the sea_come from the s-c-a!" brought the roar of the breakers dashing against the cliffs.

To the girl listening with a strained expression on the pale face, its cry was threatening, accusing, pleading, and as the last echoes died away, they were drowned by the cry of a human soul in mortal fear. She saw him again, standing beside her on the rear platform of this same train,

"Surely you must have understood that it was impossible, such a mar-riage now would ruin my prospects forever."

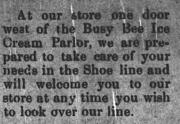

"But you promised, you promised." "Yes, as many a fellow has prom-ised in an idle summer, lured by the sbent of honeysuckle, a pair of beau-tiful eyes and, a spiendid August

But I did not dream it had come to this. Here, take this and let me know when it is gone." "The bills futtered from her nerve-less fingers, were caught in the draft of "the "rapidly moving train and whirled away. ""Ob years wall." And with a graft ³⁴Oh, very well." And with a grat-ing laugh he leaned over to flick the each from his cigar. Just then the air was rent by the shriek of the whistle, as the train dashed on to a long bridge with a hollow roar. Suddenly something seemed to snap in her head, and with a strength horn of desperation, she had thrown the weight of her slender body against him as he leaned out over the steps; int he had swayed, clutchfor a mon ing wildly at something to stay his fall, and then with that horrible cry that rang yet in her cars, he had pitched headlong down, down into the rushing waters below.

There had followed weary months of waiting, and when at last the waiting was over, the tiny life lingered only a few weeks. Afterward there had been nothing to keep her, and waiting only until the grass was green on the little grave, she had left the old home, the little she had learned of stenography was brushed of a clerkship in the superintendent's office in her way.

Each morning when her day's work began the prayer had gone up: "Don't let it come today, God-oh, not today! Give me strength to bear it. for if I go away I can never come back. Give me strength, my Father, until it is over. You have promised: "Though your sins be scarlet, they shall be white as snow.' Help me to wash them away.'

Each day the struggle had grown stronger. At the first shrill note her fingers would clench on the arms of her chair, her nostrils twitching spas-modically, as the pale lips whispered modically, as the pale hps whispered "Not today, O God; not today." As it grew louder and reached the full limit of its mighty voice, the blood would beat in her head until it seemed bursting, then as it died down to a whisper, her hands would slow-ly unclench themselves, and her breath would come slowly between the closed teeth. She had conquered once more.

On this morning she had come to work feeling strangely weak, and as she heard the crowd gathering, the vans creaking and preparations being made for the incoming train, the old and off-repeated prayer rose again to her lips: "Not today, oh, not today. Father." Then with a quiver, the air trembled with the first long-drawn note. Slowly, as moved by an unseen hand, the girl arcse and went slowly forward, her hands grasped the door-knob and clung there until the veins stood out and the halls turned white under the strain, then seemingly un-clasped by the same, unseen power, they relaxed and hung limp at her side, as with wide, unseeing eyes, she walked hatless through the crowd and into the sunlight beyond.
