Resolutions of Respect.

In memory of Sister Martha Ellen Reese, who died March 20th, 1914. Death has again entered our chapter hall and called to her Eternal Home a dear Sister, who has completed her faithful labor here, in ministering to the cry of the orphan, the call of want and to the piteous wail of sorrow, and as a recompense has received the welcome plaudit "Well done" from the Great Master.

And whereas, the loving Father has called our beloved and respected Sister home, and she having been a true and faithful Sister member of our Mystic Order, therefore be it

Resolved, That Crystal Chapter No. 20 Order of the Eastern Star, of Sullivan, Illinois, in testimony of its loss, be draped in mourning for thirty days, and that we tender to the family our sincere condolences in their deep affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.

"I cannot say and I will not say That they are dead; they are just away. With submissive smiles and waves of the hand They have entered into the Better Land, And left us thinking how very fair It needs must be, since they linger there. And you, oh you, who so fondly yearn For the welcome step, and the glad return, Think of them living on as dear In the land of there, as the land of here."

Judge Philbrick had many friends in Sullivan, who regretted to hear of his death. He was one of the best trial judges in Illinois, and a man of superior attainments as a common law judge.

The funeral was in Champaign at 2 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon.

MRS. CAROLINE BRANAMAN.

Caroline Trowbridge was born in Fayette county Ind. April 5, 1841. She was married to A. B. Branaman, September 3, 1867 at Decatur, Ill. She died at her home in Springfield, Missouri, on April 4, 1914, and was laid to rest in Green Lawn cemetery Sunday afternoon April 5. Her 73rd birthday. Her husband having preceded her nearly 8 years ago. While they lived near Gaymore, Okla. They were the parents of seven children, Emma dying in infancy. The living children are: Mary, wife of W. O. L. Duncan, near Sullivan; John, of Bloomington, Ill.; David and Wm. living with their mother, Hattie, wife of Daniel Booth, in Missouri; Clinton, of Des Moines, Iowa. She left six grandchildren, two brothers and many other relatives and friends to mourn her death.

She lived for over 73 years, one mile south of Arrowsmith, Ill., from which place she moved with her husband to Gaymore, Okla. She lived there about five years. She then moved to Missouri, where she died. During the War she taught school in McLean county. She was a devoted mother, and kept abreast of the time by reading, of which she was very fond.

REV. JAMES O. HENRY.

Rev. James O. Henry, a son of Bushrod and Elizabeth Henry, died at his home in Findlay, April 9. Mr. Henry was 87 years of age. His father, Bushrod Henry preached to the first settlers of Moultrie county.

Rev. James Henry had been twice married. He was the father of eleven children.

He began preaching in 1859 and was well known over Moultrie county.

He is survived by one brother Judge B. W. Henry, of Vandalia and one sister, Mrs. Laura B. Waggoner, of Los Angeles, California.

The remains were taken to Vandalia for burial.

Wood Alcohol.

Much has been written in recent years regarding the almost criminal ignorance of the general public in the use of wood alcohol, and its injurious effect not only on eyesight, but on life itself. The importance of adequate protection of the public in this regard is emphasized by a recent tragedy in New York City. Three women died and two were made dangerously ill from drinking home-made wine at a wedding feast. The wine made by the bridegroom and was drunk by the two hundred guests present. The recipe for the beverage, the police say, was sugar, water, alcohol and a red and green coloring matter. It was first thought that the women were suffering from ptomaine poison, but the coroner's physician pronounced death to be due to alcohol poisoning, and the police declared that the wine was made with wood alcohol. This dangerous poison often kills and even when life of the victim is spared, he is generally blinded for the rest of his life.

J. T. Grider

J. T. Grider, a candidate for the nomination for county Judge of Moultrie county, since being admitted to the bar, several years ago, has been engaged in practicing law and the real estate business in Sullivan. While for some years he was not actively engaged in practicing law, he was at one time a partner of Judge Meeker and several years in the office of Judge W. G. Cochran and W. K. Whitfield.

His political activities began in college, when he was elected president, and Congressman Stringer, secretary of the Hendrick's marching club of Lincoln University.

At the Congressional convention nominating Edward Lane to Congress, he was appointed on the resolution committee that went broadcast over the country first endorsing the progressive democratic stand of W. J. Bryan, two years before the presidential election.

Mr. Grider has always been active in the crusade of his party.

He may lay claim as a pioneer among those in the county and first last and all the time, as an admirer of Woodrow Wilson's courage and wisdom.

By qualification and legal training he is fitted for the important office of county Judge and probate Judge, coupling with it the interest to be determined and the rights of all to be served. Should Mr. Grider be nominated and elected at the hands of the people they will have no reason to regret their choice.

Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce met in the K. P. hall Monday evening. A quorum being present, President, W. A. Steele, called the meeting to order.

The following persons applied for membership and were received into the organization: Harry E. Davis, W. G. Harris, J. W. Finley, W. E. Day, S. T. Walker and S. T. Henman.

J. A. Bean, one of the committee on road roads, made a report, stating that the assistant state road engineer had been here, Mr. Bean thinks they can get a squad of convicts to work roads and recommended that a committee be appointed to go to Springfield to secure the convict laborers. Geo. A. Daugherty, J. E. Bean and T. C. Fleming were appointed on the committee.

H. C. Shirey, chairman of the committee of industries and publicity, reported that they had organized. Mr. Shirey was elected president and O. L. Todd, secretary of the committee.

The committee recommended that members of the Chamber of Commerce patronize no advertising schemes and recommended that the Chamber of Commerce appoint a committee to interest the merchants in a mutual protective association.

Mr. Shirey reported the following list of industries in Sullivan, and recommended that the Chamber of Commerce assist these industries financially.

A motion to the above effect was made and seconded.

Industries: broom, tile, incubator, bridge, concrete, tile roofing and ice cream factories, tomato cannery, plating mill, flour mill, the county's stone house, milk depot, and a green house proposed.

It was decided to invite Hon. W. B. McKinley to deliver his illustrated lecture in Sullivan.

The Wyman Park.

Superintendent Lambrecht and a couple of assistants have been very busy at the Wyman park this week. Alderman McClure went to Bement recently and purchased eight scrapers which arrived here Monday.

In the northwest corner of the park, on that will be built the bath house. The excavating for the lake in the draw adjoining the athletic field is already under way. Trees have been trimmed, old fences stumps etc. have been moved, and the barns on the south end of the park will soon be taken off.

Several strings of tile will feed the lake with pure clear water. A concrete wall is being built at the dam, which will be filled on either side with dirt.

Carousing Interrupted.

Early Saturday, Jim Turkey Webb was arrested for being drunk, and committed to the city bastille.

Next on the program was Miss Beadle Stoen, who had imbibed too freely of corn juice. For preservation and restoration she was taken to the Charles Lansden house. She stayed in jail until Sunday evening, when she went before Justice of the Peace Enterline and gave bond for her appearance in court, Monday morning. Betimes the maiden appeared before the court, pleaded guilty, paid her fine of $5.00 and costs and now roams at will.

Ben Reed and Chenney Neaves were arrested later for drunkenness, and placed in a cell of the calaboose. Sometime in the night they broke jail and liberated themselves. The turkey, as is the custom, strayed away and his nest has not been found yet.

Ben Reed told just how they got out and broke jail.

Sheriff Lansden took charge of Chenney Neaves again Wednesday evening and locked him in jail. Next morning he went out to look for a Justice. Enterline being out of town, he took the case before Police Magistrate C. E. Edwards, who can "finger" financially to a scratch.

But Sheriff Lansden had some experience in conveying court. Police Court was at home and Lansden accompanied Neaves to the home of his house, who was very busy planting his "laters" and would not agree to come to court until the job was completed. To hurry up matters, Lansden and Neaves very graciously lent their aid and assisted in planting the "laters."

When John Hancock was thrown in Ed Swisher withdrew from his Spoo bond and Collie Baker took his place.

When they were locked in Saturday night the cells all being full, and was placed in one not lock. He unfastened the door and got out.

It is said Chenney Neaves had a quarrel with him and broke the lock of the cell. Reed confesses in this and Neaves tells that he helped Reed pry the door open. Chenney was gone awhile, then returned to the cell to sleep.

It was for the charge of destroying public property that Chenney was taken before Police Magistrate Edwards. Although there is a fine and penalty, he was let go free. Will we ever have a better or cleaner town when the executive officers are so turned down in what should be courts of honor?

Final Examinations.

County Superintendent Roughten announced that the county final examinations would be held in Lovington and Sullivan, on Friday, May 5. All students in the north end of the county will take the examination at Lovington, which will be in charge of Professor Chatham, superintendent of the township high school. The Sullivan examination will be for those of the south end of the county and will be in charge of Superintendent Finley, of the Sullivan schools, and Superintendent Roughten.

It is expected that many more than usual will take the county final this year, as the late law requires the district to pay the tuition of all eighth grade graduates, who hold a diploma and care to enter a high school. This should especially increase the attendance of the Lovington and Sullivan schools, as the law states that such students that seek free tuition must enter an accredited high school and the Lovington and Sullivan schools are the only ones in the county having such.

Circuit Court.

Judge McNutt, of the Mattoon city court, set on the bench last week for a session of circuit court. He very graciously consented to take the place of Judge W. G. Cochran, who was sick and confined to his home. Neither of the other two judges on the circuit could fill the vacancy as both Judges Johns and Philbrick were critically ill. Judge Philbrick died Monday of this week, and Judge Johns is in a health resort in North Carolina.

Judge McNutt held a good term and the lawyers liked him. He has a knack of getting to the points in a case readily and is very clear in his decisions. Yet while he is but a young man, he is an experienced attorney and was at one time states attorney in Cuba county.

He adjourned court last Saturday until the first of June.

The case against Allen Williams for attempted murder was postponed.

The case of Dr. J. H. Vadkins vs. his wife, Nora Vadkins, was settled out of court. He was allowed the divorce as prayed and they divided the property.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Mrs. Margaret McPheeters had a paralytic stroke, Monday evening. One side of her is afflicted. Thursday her condition was improved. Near 11 p. m. Monday her son, Lee, heard his mother calling him. He went to her room and found her lying, where she had fallen in the floor. He summoned a doctor and other members of the family. Mrs. McPheeters has a large circle of friends who regret to hear of her illness and sincerely desire to soon hear of her being restored to health. Mrs. McPheeters is one among the women whose life has been a sacrifice and devotion to her family. She nursed her son, George, through a long and serious case of white swelling, then her husband, during his afflictions. Yet she has always been patient and loving with a smile and kind word to all.

Many are today thinking of her as they recall her ministrations to them.

Mrs. McPheeters' children are at her home paying her every attention and sympathizing with her in her affliction.

The Eavesdropper.

I will now begin my writing, on a theme that's most inviting. So with a bow to dear "Walt Whitman" I will now proceed to write. The patient eavesdropper hears by inches everything, and never flinches, when some news comes over the wire. They are there from morn 'till night, holding the receiver tight; fearing lest someone may beat them, to the rug beneath the phone. In the coldest winter weather they are up just like a feather; when the phone rings in the night. They hear all the news from here to Boston, and all the flowers that got a "frostin," women don't seem to tire at all, I know two women lady looking, who were in the kitchen cooking; when the bells began to ring. One of the lady's bumped her head, racing past the folding bed. I side stepped, I'm glad I did, just in time to save my lid. When their garden seed they'r sowing, or they are in the truck patch hoeing, it is pleasant to be knowing, that we are on safe ground. When they are feeding ducks or chickens, they may pass you like the dickens; so you see your danger thickens, when the wires begins to hum. The foot ball player would not be in it, he would find that he was up against it; when he tried to stop their ruck. They burn out batteries by the score, and then we have to go buy more; this of course we do not mind, if we can but safety find. If I were them I'd take my places, and enter some great horse races.

NICK CARTER.

Lotion For the Hands.

An excellent lotion for whitening and softening the hands is made of equal parts of pure olive oil and glycerine, beaten together and perfumed with oil of violets. Where glycerine is objected to a paste made of two ounces of beeswax and one ounce of sweet almonds may be used instead of the lotion. Place the ingredients in a jar in a saucepan of boiling water and let them melt together. Stir until well mixed and when cold put the paste and apply it as often as necessary to the hands or smear it over the sleeping gloves.

Turn on the Light.

The tax which a poor man pays on his little home isn't kept a dark secret by the government—the record of it is public.

Why should the tax which a rich man pays on his income be held in confidence?

If the income has been earned honorably, the man who enjoys it should be proud of it, and the more publicity the better.

On the other hand, if it rests on privileges and oppression, the public welfare request that it be published far and wide.

Secrecy and democracy don't mix. Tax dodging may be privileged; tax oughtn't to be.

Already it is shown that less than 5 per cent of the people pay federal taxes on incomes. Why should those less than 5 per cent have their tax contributions marked?

Make the show down complete. Turn on the light. It is the whole people's business, not an arrangement for the comfort of a law.

Sheriff's Sale.

By Virtue of an Execution and fee bill issued out of the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court of Moultrie County, and state of Illinois, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against Zion F. Baker, John H. Baker and Mrs. Mary Baker in favor of The National Bank of Decatur (a corporation) out of the lands, tenements, goods and chattels of the said defendant, I have levied on the following described property, to-wit:

Lots one and two in block three of Camfield's railroad addition to the town now city of Sullivan, Illinois, and the east half of the south half of block two (2) of Camfield's Railroad addition to the town now city of Sullivan, Illinois, as the property of the Defendant, John H. Baker.

Dated April 10th A. D. 1914. Therefore, according to said command, I shall expose for sale, at Public Auction, all the right, title and interest of the above named defendant in and to the above described property, on the 11th day of May 1914, at the hour of 2 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the west door of the Court House, in the City of Sullivan, Moultrie County Illinois.

Dated at Sullivan, this 10th day of April, 1914. CHARLES LANDSEN, Sheriff of Moultrie County, Illinois.

The Office of Coroner.

About a year ago The Journal of the American Medical Association commented on the inadequacy of the machinery in this country for proper conduct of the coroner's office and stated that thorough rehabilitation along modern lines was urgently needed. It was also stated that so long as the coroner remains an elective officer with a continuous tenure of at most four years, it is not likely that the office will be filled generally with properly trained men. A bill is now pending in the New York legislature to do away with the ancient coroner system and to substitute for it a system of medical examiners. The bill provides for a chief medical examiner, who must be a skilled pathologist with at least ten years' experience in the performing of autopsies, to be appointed by the mayor, and to hold office until he resigns or is removed for cause after a hearing. He will appoint assistant examiners, chemists, clerks, etc., as may be deemed necessary, subject to approval by the board of estimate and appointment. The power of the present coroner is limited so that this officer will hold inquests only in cases referred to him by the district attorney, acting as a magistrate. The new law also marks the abolishment of the coroner's jury, a body which is costly, useless and often ridiculous—which might be said, however, of the petty jury. The medical investigation of crime is to be the duty of qualified medical officers, capable and responsible. The bill is the result of a joint conference of committees of the New York Academy of Medicine, trustees of Bellevue and allied hospitals, district attorney's office, professors of pathology in the leading medical schools, City Club, Citizens Union and Short Ballot Association. Its passage would result in the removal of a pernicious, slow, inefficient system, which is a relic of obsolete social conditions.

A WOMAN'S MIND.

The old saying, "Convinces a man against his will and he's of the same opinion still," would seem to apply more especially to women, says the Boston Globe. If we may trust the accuracy of a dispatch from Pittsburgh, giving a report of a talk by Prof. Munsterberg before the students of Carnegie Institute of Technology. In describing an experiment with a group of Harvard men and a group of Radcliffe women, who were asked to tell which of two blackboards contained the more white spots, Prof. Munsterberg is reported to have said that 51 per cent of the men and 49 per cent of the women named the right board, but after the matter had been discussed by the class, each side attempting to convince the other of its correctness, a second vote showed that 78 per cent of the men and only 48 per cent of the women made the right decision. Commenting on the experiment, the psychologist is said to have declared that women form their opinions and judgments as rapidly and as accurately as men, "but when they have an opinion they stick to it, and no amount of discussion can change it."

Some American editors have just learned that in France and Germany recruits for the army who come from some rural districts are inferior in stature and stamina to the young men bred in cities. The result of this new knowledge is an amusing set of speculations as to the way modern science is making the city the best place in which to rear children. The real explanation is very different. Defective rural recruits come from sterile regions known to ethnologists as "miserable spots," where conditions of life are so hard as to stunt growth and impair health. Such a "miserable spot" in France is found in the Limousin hills, not very far from Limoges. A little district in those hills has one of the shortest populations in Europe. Recruits from this place are bound to make a bad showing when compared with those of Paris, whose population is drawn from all France, and, therefore, represents the average of all France. Modern science has done much to make city life healthier than before; but it has not yet enabled cities to breed a race of men taller and sounder than those of well-to-do country districts.

One of the many centennials and semi-centennials that are celebrated is that of the centennial of the birth of Giuseppe Verdi, the composer of many of the most charming operas ever produced, and whose production made the fame of many songsters. The actual date of his birth in 1813 is not given without a doubt in the biographies, but no matter what the date, his "Il Trovatore," "La Traviata," "Rigoletto," and, less known in America, strange as it may seem, his "Othello" and "Falstaff," know no date and no ending.

It is alleged that when you get milk that tastes of the Jimson weed, you may be sure that it is pure. That is a non sequitur, since the cow may absorb typhoid or tuberculosis germs as well in combination with the weed, as with alfalfa or cow peas. Anyhow, most people will prefer milk that does not taste of physic, even if the repellent mess is aseptic.

The New York hotel proprietor who advised his out-of-town guests not to expect busy New Yorkers to waste time on mere politeness had the wrong idea. It is one thing for a city to have a rude population, but quite another to advertise the fact publicly as an attraction for visitors.

Ladies who object to having aigrettes forcibly removed from their hats on entering this country have two ways of avoiding the experience. One is to wear no aigrettes at all. The other is to wear the imitation kind. With such liberty of action all trouble should prove avoidable.

A German professor has discovered a method of dyeing trees permanently in twenty-four hours. This discounts nature's justly celebrated autumn coloring in the permanency and speed of turning the leaves and the trick simultaneously and manufacturing landscapes to order.

The dressmaking art will not have reached its highest degree of perfection until a woman can change her gown as quickly as she changes her mind.

Professor Munsterberg says women do not change their minds. Evidently the professor never saw the exchange desk of a drygoods store.

Last Saturday a Sullivan bootlegger stepped from the train coming in from Mattoon, a jostling of the crowd caused a rattling of bottles, a sound that could not be mistaken. Some backbone and action of officers in this town would certainly stop some of this. Owners of adjacent property might do well to look after their own interests. A nuisance may become an annoyance beyond endurance.

Bad Whiskey and a Gun

Thursday afternoon a son of Chenny Neaves, that was employed in the Eden House got very drunk and went to Walker, the second hand man and bought a rifle. He then went back to the hotel shot through a window and did some other cavorting. In the fracas the landlord, Mr. Alexander was shot in the foot.

Mr. Walker, soon after selling him the gun, met the boy's father, Chenny Neaves and told him he sold him the gun and as boy the was drunk he had better look after him as he might hurt some one.

Mr. Neaves was soon at the boy's heels took him in hand and turned him over to Sheriff Landsen

The boy after recovering from the excitement named the parties he obtained the whiskey of.

He was tried on the charge of drunkenness, and settled the bill.

This is but a mere boy and a pitiful case. May the ones who gave him the whiskey suffer the penalty.

A List of Don'ts

In contrast to the many lists of "don'ts" for employes distributed broadcast by railroads annually is the following "don't" list for railway officials, compiled by C. E. Carson, superintendent of the Fort Dodge, Des Moines and Southern Railroad:

Don't nag. Many a good man has been nagged into inefficiency.

Don't humiliate a man by advertising his shortcomings from the honsestops, but point them out to him quietly. He will lose an arm for you.

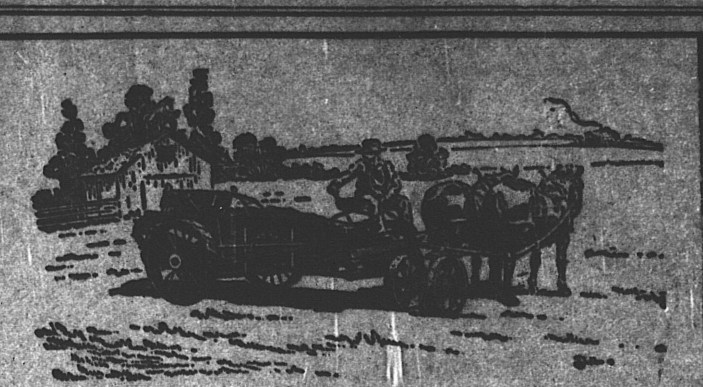

Don't treat your men as if they belonged to the kindergarten class. Chances are they are better posted than you are.

Don't forget that if the subordinate has as much gray matter as you have he might be holding your job. Try to be bigger than any man on your payroll.

Don't forget that a man who is made of the right kind of stuff will resent a brutal calldown and you should not complain if he knocks you down.

Don't forget that while you are checking everybody else up it might be a good thing for the company you represent to make a careful inventory of yourself. You may be twenty-five years behind the times.

Originally let each action be sweetened by the milk of human kindness. It will cause you to have pleasant recollections after you have been laid on the shelf and enable you to look your old associates in the eyes.

TO LIVE ETERNALLY

Such is the Glorious Message of Easter Revealed by the Empty Tomb.

This supreme glory of Easter day is Jesus Christ. He brought life and immortality to light and the world does him honor. Long before we awake on Easter morning, Easter bells and anthems toll around the world. Up and down the Rhine, over the German ocean, through Merry England, across the Atlantic, beyond America and the Pacific to Sunny Japan—one continuous roll and resonance of music, declaring Jesus is Risen, and the Tomb is empty!

Twenty-four hours of gladsome music! In every home and heart, heard in every street and boulevard, heralded on land and sea. Think of it! And all about the incomparable Christ!

So was it in the remote past, on the resurrection day. Men and women spoke in superlative terms and gave evidence to enthusiasm that beggared the mind of its doubts, and intensified the heart in its love. Christ was the inspiration of the soul in the first great Easter, and he is that today. His face is not in eclipse now. His glory fills the earth, and humanity responds to it, gratefully singing.

But why is this? How came it about that his name is the theme of ology and song, of prayer and thanksgiving?

The heart answers in loud acclaim: "Christ is the glory of Easter, because he lays bare to man the infinite tenacity and vitality of the soul. He assures the world that the soul endures and persists. The body alone goes down, but personality continues forever."

Therefore, there is a ring of triumph to Easter day; it declares and attests the immortality of the soul. It evidences beyond the shadow of a doubt that what we essentially are endures. The soul, with its great hopes, persistent aspirations and spiritual attainments, is as eternal as God. The breath of life, that was breathed into man at the beginning, is imperishable. A million years cannot exhaust it; death cannot annihilate it. We began in God and God is our goal. Immortality is the logical and indisputable predicate of our nature, and the resurrection of Jesus Christ is a fact that we can believe, because our nature anticipates it. Jesus Christ we crown Lord of All, because he converts human hope into certainty, and man's fear of death into abounding optimism.

Now this concerns everyone of us and appeals strongly to each heart, for in the last year many new graves were dug in the Greenwood of the world. In spite of the brilliant and beautiful Easter colors, the signs of mourning greet us on every side. Under the draperies of sorrow is the heart that never ceases to inquire: "If a man die shall he live again?" There have been tears, and there will be more. There have been painful separations; ties that endured for years, are broken. There are vacant chairs, and every one of them is an interrogation point. The path to the tomb is in constant use; men and women are coming and going. Though it be Easter day, the surrounding world is kneeling in the God's Acre of Time, and pondering the great thought of Job. And oh! the joy that the spring breeze bears in its boom the soul-stirring message—the tomb is empty, the grave is shorn of its powers, death is swallowed up in victory! Though the sepulcher were of granite, sealed and rebound with bronze and iron, it cannot hold the soul in bondage; it leaps in majestic affluence and vigor to continue uninterrupted in the presence of the eternal God.

Imperishable Life Ours. With the Christ we live eternally. Our lot is not that of the grass which withers, nor that of the beasts that perish. We are not like star-dust that gleams in the night and drops in the abyss of space and is no more. The stone is rolled away, and the angels speak to us, as to the disciples of old: "Seek not the living among the dead; the Gibraltar of Death is taken and dismantled, and he who was its prisoner is as free as the air that stirs in the trees and kisses the immeasurable deep!"

Come, friends, as we live and journey together, let us plan our lives in the light of this great day. Let us hold ever in our thoughts that immortality is a postulate of being, and eternity is our native clime. Let us not imagine for a moment that death is an interruption of life's plans; the dismal end of virtue, the fruition of sorrow; the destroyer of hope. But, like Victor Hugo, let us meet the future, believing that we are rising toward the sky, toward heaven our home.—Rev. Calvin W. Laufer.

It issued last year from its agencies abroad 1,941,761 volumes of Scripture, largely in the great Asiatic languages. Its 12 foreign and nine home agencies cover nearly the entire home and much of the foreign missionary field, and it has correspondents in more than 30 countries, outside of those included in the agency fields.

SAVING ON MEAT BILL

IDEA OF RETAIL BUTCHER AS TO HOW TO DO IT.

High-Priced Cuts, He Asserts, Are Not Necessarily the Best—More Nourishment in Many of the Cheaper Grades—About Chops.

In the Woman's Home Companion a retail butcher writes an article entitled "Reducing the Meat Bill," in which he shows how people who buy the high-priced cuts don't get the best meat. He says that some of the cheapest meats are the best. He takes an itemized weekly meat bill of $4.62 and shows, item by item, how that bill can be reduced to $3.21, just by using cheaper cuts, which he says are better cuts. After dealing with the various kinds of steaks—in which, by the way, he tells us that the steak that the butcher eats at himself—he goes on as follows about roasts and chops:

"A roast of beef costing $1 or $1.50 at the present time is not much; a hungry and healthy family will probably finish it in one meal. You can still enjoy good roast beef, and surely for less money, only buy the right cut. From past observation the writer has found that nine out of ten customers ask for the first cut of the rib roast. Of course, they are the most expensive cuts. The fifth, sixth and shoulder ribs are hardly in demand, and the butcher has a hard job selling them. These end ribs or shoulder ribs of roast beef are not only considerably cheaper to buy, but are richer in nourishment and food value. When buying one of the three or four ribs of beef, say, for instance, weighing five pounds, you will find that you hardly have sufficient meat left after it is carefully trimmed and the bone taken out. The difference in price between the first out on the rib and the last two cuts is at least six cents a pound, and when you ask for a shoulder rib roast ask the butcher to insert a piece of suet in the center of the roast, or, if he has time, to lard it with thin pieces of fat. Another good piece of meat for roast beef is the top sirloin which is not so cheap, but it is recommended because it has no waste."

"The next important item on the meat bill is chops—either lamb, pork or veal chops. Lamb chops, however, are the kind mostly demanded, and, of course, the demand is for loin and rib chops, the most expensive. There is the same solution as with steaks—buy shoulder chops; they cost less and are sweeter. This same principle applied again to pork chops. The shoulder chops are very sweet and tender, and the butcher will sell them for less, but very few people know about them."

Work Basket. This stand may be made of three bamboo canes or three broomsticks. These should be 30 inches long. Fasten them firmly in the center with wide, fasten a shallow basket with wire near the end of the canes. It will be more secure if holes are bored in the canes to pass the wire through. White enamel the whole. If a cover is desired for the basket, sew a strip of pretty cretonne or China silk to the inside of the basket and run a drawstring of narrow ribbon or cord on top. Use bows of ribbon to cover wire, where the canes cross and where basket is attached to stand. Ribbon used should match cretonne or silk that is used for basket trimming.

Prune or French Plum Mold. Soak three-quarters of an ounce of gelatin in half a pint of cold water. Stone one pound of French plums, put them in a steapan with one-quarter pound of castor sugar, three-quarters of a pint of water, and a strip of lemon peel. Stew till tender; remove the lemon peel, add the gelatin, still dissolved, add a wineglassful of wine, port or claret, and pour into a mold with a hole in the center. When set turn it out and fill the center of the mold with half a pint of whipped cream.

Southern Tea Cake. Beat together four eggs and two cups of sugar, then add one cup of butter, one even teaspoon of soda and a teaspoon of vanilla. Add four cups of flour or as much as it needed. Place on molding board, roll thin and cut with biscuit cutter. Sprinkle sugar on top of the cakes, cinnamon also if you care for it, just before putting in the oven.

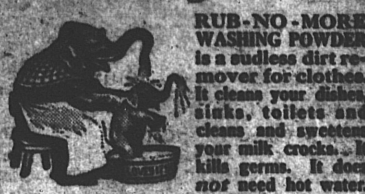

To Remove Spots From Carpets. To remove grease spots from carpets the following is excellent: Lay a piece of blotting paper over the spot and set a flatiron on top of the paper, just hot enough not to scorch. Change the paper as often as it becomes soaked.

To Remove Finger Prints From Piano. To remove finger marks on a highly polished piano, wipe with a cloth wet in pure cold water. It does not injure in the slightest if wiped dry, and restores the new look at once.

Keeping Flatirons Smooth. Flatirons can be kept clean and smooth by rubbing them first with a piece of wax tied in a cloth and afterward rubbing them on a paper or cloth strewn with coarse salt.

Restoring Gilt Frames. When gilt picture frames become discolored, rub them with a sponge dipped in turpentine. This is very satisfactory, as it restores the brightness.

The opportunity of securing free homesteads of 160 acres each, and the low priced lands of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, will soon have passed.

Canada offers a heavy welcome to the settler, to the man with a family looking for a home; to the farmer's son, to the renter, to all who wish to live under better conditions.

Canada's grain yield in 1913 is the talk of the world. Luscious Grapes give cheap fodder for large herds, cost of raising and fattening for market is a trifle.

Business Proposition. A boy who had done something to incur the wrath of his mother and then had taken to his heels was hotly pursued for some distance by her. Finding it was useless to continue the pursuit, and almost beside herself with rage, the old lady shouted at the top of her voice: "I'll give anybody a dime to catch that boy!" The boy instantly stopped and, turning round, shouted in reply: "Give me the dime, and I'll come back."

PIMPLES ALL OVER FACE. 1413 E. Genessee Ave., Saginaw, Mich.—"Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me of a very bad disease of the face without leaving a scar. Pimples broke out all over my face, red and large. They festered and came to a head. They itched and burned and caused me to scratch them and make sores. They said they were seed warts. At night I was restless from itching. When the barber would shave me my face would bleed terribly. Then scabs would form afterwards, then they would drop off and the so-called seed warts would come back again. They were on my face for about nine months and the trouble caused disfigurement while it lasted.

"One day I read in the paper of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I received a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it was so much value to me that I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment at the drug store. I used both according to directions. In about ten days my face began to heal up. My face is now clear of the warts and not a scar is left." (Signed) LeRoy C. O'Brien, May 12, 1913.

TOAD A VALUABLE SERVANT

Its Uses in the World Have Not Been Accorded the Recognition It Has Long Deserved.

Few well-meaning creatures have been more thoroughly misunderstood than the homely, meditative and retiring toad.

Formerly the toad was considered a venomous reptile, but in our day its habits have been more carefully observed and its great value to the promologist and gardener has been fully established on account of its propensity for destroying insects.

We should, therefore, cultivate the friendship and assistance of the insectivorous reptiles, including the striped snake, as well as that of birds.

Every tidy housewife detests the cockroach, mice and other vermin. Two or three domesticated toads would keep the coast clear of these and would be found more desirable than a cat, as they are wholly free from trespassing on the rights of man as does the cat. The toad is possessed of a timid and retiring nature, loving dark corners and shady places, but under kind treatment becoming quite tame.

Many instances might be cited of pet toads remaining several years in a family and doing most valuable service with no other compensation than that of immunity from persecution.

In Europe toads are carried to the cities to market and are purchased by the horticulturists, who by their aid are enabled to keep in check the multiplication of the insect tribes which prey upon their fruits, flowers, etc.

Grape Seed Oil. Oil from grape seeds has become a byproduct of the wine industry in portions of France, Italy and Wuerttemberg. The Bulletin of the American Association of Commerce and Trade, published in Berlin, says that the first pressing, obtained cold, is of edible oil; that extracted by pressing and heating is dark and bitter, and is used for lighting purposes and in the making of soap. It is described as a good substitute for the expensive oils used in the textile industry. About 2.2 pounds of oil may be expressed from the seeds of grapes yielding 26.42 gallons of wine.

Phones for Turkey. The Anglo-French Telephone company which secured a concession from the Turkish government for Constantinople three years ago, has completed its installation, and the official inauguration of the public service has just taken place. About 28,000 miles of wires have been laid. This includes eight submarine cables under the Gulf of Iamid. There are already 4,000 subscribers. The operators are all native girls—Greeks, Armenians and Jewesses, and even seven Turkish girls.

Student Housing. The Drexel Institute of Philadelphia has a woman's problem on its hands in regard to older women who come there from out of the city, for whom there is no place in the city high schools or who are ineligible for the city schools. It is proposed that these girls shall live in approved boarding houses and not remove without special permission of the dean. An assistant dean is especially in charge of the women students.

Found a Tintoretto. A municipal councillor, Adrien Mithouard, is responsible for the discovery of a masterpiece among the piles of old canvases put aside as almost valueless in the municipal storerooms at Auteuil, Paris. His curiosity was aroused by the aspect of one of the canvases, which was so black that practically nothing was visible, and ordering the picture scrubbed, an "Adoration of the Magi" by Tintoretto was disclosed.

Natural Ending. "Was there any sign of mourning when Miss Pretty face snapped up the best matrimonial catch of the season?" "Sure there was. All the belles were told."

An Agreeable Cure. "If I ever have to choose a disease," said Weary Walker, "I'll pick neurasthenia."

"Wot's good for it, Weary?" "Complete rest."

Good Cheer Aids Digestion of Food

Dyspeptics Can Make the Rest of the Family Happy by Using a Laxative-Tonic.

The temper of the family and the good cheer around the table depend so much on the good digestion of each individual present that the experiences of some former dyspeptics who overcame their trouble should be of interest to those now suffering in this way.

The best advice one can give—but it is advice that is seldom heeded—is to eat slowly and masticate each mouthful carefully. However, if slow eating and careful mastication fail the next aid is one close to nature, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This remedy is an excellent digestant, and in addition to helping in the digestion of the food, acts gently on the liver and bowels, ridding them of the accumulation of waste that should long ago have been passed off. It is safe, reliable, pleasant-tasting, and results are guaranteed.

Maj. S. Martin, of Joplin, Mo., now 77, thinks Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has helped him to a longer and happier life. He has not felt so good in years as he has since taking this excellent medicine, and in spite of his 77 years he says he feels like a boy.

It is the ideal remedy for indigestion, no matter how severe; constipation, no matter how chronic, biliousness, headaches, gas on the stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances.

MAJ. S. MARTIN. You can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar, the latter size being bought by heads of families already familiar with its merits. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

When you use Syrup Pepsin you will see the fallacy of chewing mints and tablets or of taking cathartics, salts, pills and similar drastic medicines. Unlike these, Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect, and by automatically training the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work, soon restores these organs to normal.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 203 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Chicagoan Comes Out with Five But Not Radical Plans

James C. McShane, the Democratic nominee for State senator, has a platform, which is: I am now, and always will be, a Progressive Democrat. The country is full of trusts, monopolies and of an infinite variety of petition, destroying them among the people, and in a measure nearly everything that small merchant and gradually being driven from agriculture, becoming a nation of employers, and over-lords of employees.

The corruption of these trusts, so far as they are concerned, is, in my opinion, the most necessary of all reforms. I favor legitimate strikes, kind, whether large or small, I would do nothing to hinder them, but nothing to hinder them. I subscribe, however, to the proposition: "That private property is inviolable and inalienable." I believe that the laws which are now maintained by force should be maintained by force.

I stand for full and complete freedom, for the courage, faith, and fortitude, and that will bring about the best of all possible conditions.

The laws regarding the capital and labor are inadequate and unjust conditions, and are a hindrance to employment. With the use of modern and scientific methods, the work of working people are full of dangers. The case of railroad strikes show that the performance of their duties is more dangerous than they are exposed to in their own homes.

I consider human life more precious than any other. I believe that justice, the public policy of the courts should be made to provide all approved and in all respects to be reasonably safe, health and general safety of their employees.

I believe that the government which has so long been special interests and the existence of corrupt political agents of special interests largely responsible for from which we suffer the breaking up of our elimination of corrupt and the overthrow of the visible government of the to the restoration of order and truly representative government.

I favor the initiative, referendum and the short ballot. The most important thing the voters to elect the candidates, are: Vote, nominate and elect special interests, and is he honest, trust worthy and potent?

The record and life of respective candidates, the best evidence of their ability to perform their duty. If a candidate's work show that he firmly on the people to assume that it should be main on their side.

Upon the other hand, if the date's record and life show that he has been on the side of the special interests, he is unable to support the would remain on the side of the special interests. It is hardly necessary to say that no man should be high office, whose record is not one of high ability, and certain confidence in these respects. If a man's record is not in itself a guarantee of high official position, not only for the man who has such a record, but for the people who varyingly discover it. It is also because the man himself, if he has confidence and respect in and for the law. My position is: Important questions should be finally referred to the people, by the initiative, referendum and the short ballot. The platform of the present National Convention.

M'SHANE FOE OF CORRUPT BOSSES

CANDIDATE FOR U. S. SENATOR CHAMPIONS CAUSE OF INDUSTRIAL FREEDOM AND REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT.

STRIKES SPECIAL INTERESTS

Chicagoan Comes Out With Progressive But Not Radical Platform.

James C. McShane, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator, has just issued his platform, which is as follows: I am now, and always have been, a Progressive Democrat.

The country is honeycombed with trusts, monopolies and combinations of an infinite variety. They stifle competition, destroy equal opportunities among the people, regulate the output, and in a measure fix the prices of nearly everything the people use. The small merchant and manufacturer is gradually being eliminated, and aside from agriculturists, we are rapidly becoming a nation of comparatively few employers, and over increasing millions of employees.

The correction of these conditions, so far as they are capable of correction, is, in my judgment, the paramount necessity of the day.

I favor legitimate business of every kind, whether large or small, and if elected, I would do everything to help but nothing to harm it.

I subscribe, however, to the proposition: "That private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable." Such monopolies are almost invariably created for improper purposes and are usually maintained by unfair means.

I stand for full and complete industrial freedom, for laws that will encourage fair, and forbid unfair competition, and that will insure equal opportunities and fair play for all the people.

The Tariff and Currency Bills, passed by the present administration, and the administration's proposed anti-Trust Laws will go far towards accomplishing these objects, but much more remains to be done to restore normal conditions.

The laws regulating the relations of capital and labor are, in my judgment, inadequate and unequal to present conditions, and are unfair and unjust to employees.

With the use of modern machinery and methods, the lives and limbs of the working people are exposed to frightful dangers. Take for instance the case of railroad employees; statistics show that they are exposed, in the performance of their duties, to greater dangers than those to which soldiers are exposed in times of war.

I consider human rights more important than property rights, and I believe that justice, humanity and sound public policy alike require that employees should be compelled to provide all approved safety appliances, and in all respects to do all that can be reasonably done to secure the safety, health and general welfare of their employees.

I believe that the unholy alliance, which has so long existed between special interests and the Government, and the existence and activities of corrupt political bosses—the business agents of special interests—have been largely responsible for the conditions from which we suffer most, and that the breaking up of such alliances, the elimination of corrupt political bosses, and the overthrow of the so-called invisible government are indispensable to the restoration of industrial freedom and truly representative government.

I favor the initiative, referendum and the short ballot.

The most important questions for the voters to decide, in respect to each candidate, are: Would the candidate, if nominated and elected, stand for the special interests, or for the people; and is he honest, trustworthy and competent?

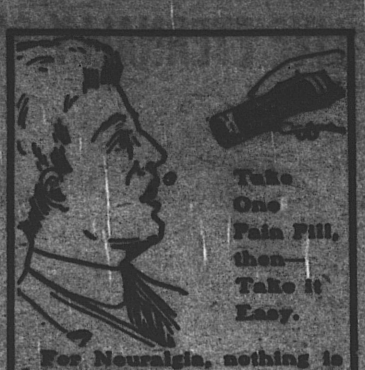

The record and life's work of the respective candidates is, of course, the best evidence on these questions. If a candidate's record and life's work show that he has been uniformly on the people's side, it is fair to assume that if elected he would remain on their side.

Upon the other hand, if a candidate's record and life's work show that he has been uniformly on the side of the special interests, it is reasonable to suppose that, if elected, he would remain on their side.

It is hardly necessary to suggest that no man should be elected to a high office, whose reputation for honesty and integrity is even questionable, and certainly not if his reputation in these respects is in fact bad.

If a man's reputation is bad, that fact in itself should disqualify him for a high official position. This is true not only for the reason that a man, who has such a reputation, almost invariably deserves it—for where there is much smoke there is some fire—but also because the election of such a man lessens, if it does not destroy, the confidence and respect of the people, in and for the law and government.

My position, in reference to other important questions not herein specifically referred to, is sufficiently indicated by the statement, that I subscribe to the National Progressive platform of 1912, and I am in full accord with the policies outlined by the present National Administration.

To Whiten Linen.

Taukerchiefs and white clothes are whitened in the following simple manner: After they have been washed in the usual way lay them to soak overnight in clear water, into which cream of tartar has been put. A teaspoonful to a quart of water is the right proportion. When rinsed they will be as white as snow.
