

SUITS DISMISSED

Against Alleged Violators of the Fish Laws.

A state fish warden has been in Moultrie county recently and as a result, a half dozen persons were arrested, charged with illegal fishing. Five arrests were made Thursday of last week and one since. Those arrested are Wm. Reynolds, Geo. W. Dishman, Wm. Beck, John Beck, Jesse Monroe and Mart Stevens. They each gave bond to appear for trial Tuesday. Tuesday morning found all the defendants and their neighbors and a host of witnesses in town ready to see what the strong arm of the law had in store for them. The cases were brought in Justice Enterline's court. The first on docket was that against Geo. W. Dishman, Wm. Beck and John Beck. The defendant's took a change of venue and the case finally landed in Judge Purvis' court in East Nelson township. Litigants, lawyers, witnesses and spectators drove to Judge Purvis' home and upon arrival there the state's attorney, upon the request of the fish warden, dismissed the suit and the same thing was done later in the day in the other cases.

Dismissal of these suits does not necessarily end the investigation, as the warden has a right to begin new suits whenever he thinks advisable.

Public sentiment is generally against the fish laws as they have been passed during the past few years. The men who own land on the little rivers of the state, own and pay taxes on the river and are not permitted to fish in certain ways, while the fishermen on the navigable rivers of the state do not own or pay taxes on the navigable rivers, but at the same time are permitted by law to fish in ways that the little river man is not. It is a fish trust law and people are against trusts and public sentiment is against enforcing unfair laws. The fish laws ought to apply to all people in the same way.

A Union Revival.

The officary and resident ministers representing the Methodist, Christian and Presbyterian churches of Sullivan met Monday evening and by unanimous purpose decided to arrange for a union revival meeting in Sullivan. The series of meetings is expected to begin early in September. Evangelist Scoville of Chicago, one of the most successful evangelists in the country, was decided upon to hold the meetings. A committee was authorized to extend to him an invitation and request an immediate answer. A committee consisting of Joe Sabin, Chas. Patterson and S. T. Butler were chosen to select site and plan auditorium. It now seems probable that a large temporary building will be constructed in which to hold the meetings. Evangelist Scoville is not a sensationalist, but he draws large crowds and secures many converts in all his meetings.

Gone to New Fields.

A union service was held at the M. E. church Sunday night as a farewell to Rev. A. M. Williams, who has resigned the pastorate of the presbyterian church. Addresses were made by Rev. J. G. McNutt, Rev. T. J. Wheat, E. J. Miller and B. F. Peadro. The trend of thought was along the line of church unity and brotherly feeling as well as commendatory of Rev. Williams and his work here. He leaves Sullivan with the best wishes of a community that admires his good qualities and lofty purposes. He and his wife departed the first of the week for Oregon where they will visit relatives and look over the ministerial field with a view of locating.

District Agent for Red River Valley in Minnesota.

The lands owned and held for sale by this company in the Red River Valley of Minnesota, are located in Norman, Polk, Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties.

The soil is generally a rich, black loam prairie, but in many cases the lands have a little timber on them.

Blue grass, timothy and red clover grow luxuriantly. These grasses are the equal of any in Illinois.

We are not showing our people railroad stakes, but we show them the railroads already built, with large grain elevators at all stations. This land will be sold on the very best terms, improved or unimproved, giving a thrifty renter the best chance to buy a farm. Prices range for unimproved land, from $20 down to $12 per acre. Improved farms, from $27.00 to $35.00 per acre. A man with $1000 or $1500 can secure one of the improved farms by paying this amount down and get five years time on the balance at a low rate of interest. Our unimproved land lays very close to a new railroad. We have about 70,000 acres that we want to put on the market at the very best and lowest terms to be had anywhere. We also have in Hettinger and Morton counties, North Dakota, several large tracts of land to sell from $7.00 to $8.00 per acre.

For further information about our Minnesota lands, inquire of parties who have seen this land and bought of it. Among them are Ormand Newbould, 200 acres; John F. Wright, 160 acres; S. W. Wright, 320 acres; Frank Drish, 320 acres; Walter Cazier, 160 acres.

Improved Conditions.

The advance in farm land values has brought a decided improvement in the appearance of farm premises in most parts of Moultrie county, over that of ten years ago. The candidate who has time to look for other things besides voters as he drives over the county will see many lawns which show the frequent use of the lawn mower. He will see clean premises and well kept and freshly painted buildings. Many roads are free from weeds and the majority of farms are free from noxious weeds. Farmers are keeping up with the procession in every way and farm life is coming to be more pleasant and enjoyable all the time.

Oscar Wright Dead.

Oscar Wright died at Ft. Dodge, Iowa, Monday. The news came in a telegram to his wife, who is in Sullivan. No further facts were given than the bare statement of his death. He has been in very poor health for a long time, but his death was a surprise, as it was presumed from a previous letter that he was on his way to North Dakota. Instructions were given by his relatives that the body be returned to Sullivan, and it arrived Tuesday evening. The funeral was held Wednesday forenoon and interment followed at Smyser cemetery.

Deceased was a brother of Sheriff John F. Wright, and married a sister of B. F. and R. M. Peadro of this city. His wife and one daughter, Lucile, and a number of brothers and sisters and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright, survive him. He had lived most of his life in Moultrie county and was well and favorably known in Sullivan and Whitley township, where he had many friends.

Died Suddenly.

Joseph Quiet, a popular farmer of Whitley township, died rather suddenly Wednesday of last week, from heart disease, caused by overheating in his hay field. His funeral was held last Thursday and interment was at the Smyser cemetery. He married Miss Grace Armantrout in 1893, and she and four children survive him. He was past 39 years old. He was a member of the Christian church and a splendid citizen.

TOO MUCH HOP ALE

Gets Biz Higgins and William Smith Into Trouble.

Biz Higgins was arrested for disturbing the peace and tried before Judge Fay at Allenville Monday. He was fined $50 and costs and in default of payment was lodged in jail.

Biz and Wm. Smith, both of this city, went to Allenville Sunday and became intoxicated from over-indulgence in some sort of refreshment sold in Allenville. On the way home they became noisy and quarrelsome with those whom they met. They overtook Jesse Tabor on the public highway. Mr. Tabor was riding a colt and they drove upon him in a boisterous manner causing him some trouble in managing the colt. Upon arriving at his home they followed him into the barn lot and abused and threatened him. He got out warrants for their arrest and Higgins was arrested, tried and fined as above stated. Smith got away and has not yet been arrested.

This transaction is one of the kind that follows the running of joints and saloons. Such stroufs make a town appear very lively. Fifty dollars spent for groceries does not make a town look near so much alive as a drunken spree that ends in a $50 fine.

Christian Church Notes.

Next Sunday morning the subject of the discourse is, "Illinois a Mission Field." This sermon was suggested by the discourse of G.H. Gilliland at the convention at Farmer City.

The first meeting of the C. W. B. M. was not so well attended last Friday afternoon on account of the rain, but there was a good meeting. The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Belle Hoke, the first Friday in August.

The joint boards of the three churches met at the M. E. church Monday night and voted to call Chas. Reign Scoville of Chicago to conduct a union meeting. This will give Sullivan a union meeting by one of the greatest, if not the greatest, evangelist of the United States.

The interest and the attendance at the Sunday school was good, although the day was warm. There was an increase over the Sunday before, being 165 present. Some of the classes have as many as 30. The need of the school is more teachers. There are young men and women who should be doing this work.

At the invitation last Sunday morning, four came forward to make the good confession. The house was well filled and good interest manifested, although the day was warm. Several teams came in from the country. There was no night service at the church on account of the union services at the M. E. church in favor of Bro. Williams, the pastor, going away from the C. P. church of this city.

It was too late last week to report the Sunday school picnic, but all agree that it was a success in every particular, and all are wishing that such occasions would recur more often. Five hay wagons and a number of carriages, buggies and surreys took the school out to Rork's park for the day. When the table was spread about 200 sat down on the grass to partake of the good things prepared. When the appetites of the men and children that had been whetted by playing ball, swinging, etc., had been satisfied, the table looked like a young cyclone had struck it in the middle and on all sides. A number came out in the afternoon and enjoyed the games, so that when the school broke camp there were about 250 who came back to Sullivan in the procession.

This pretty experiment shows that platinum wire may be kept red hot without the agency of actual flame. It seems incredible, but try it and see. Heat a bit of the wire in a Bunsen burner until it is redhot, then turn off the gas so that the flame is out, and instantly turn the gas on again, holding the wire in the same position. The wire will remain redhot as long as you hold it so.

The sea occupies three-fifths of the surface of the earth. At a depth of about 3,500 feet waves are not felt. The temperature is the same, varying only a trifle from the ice of the pole to the sun of the equator. If a box six feet deep was filled with seawater and allowed to evaporate there would be two inches of salt on the bottom. Taking the average depth of the ocean to be three miles, there would be a layer of pure salt 230 feet thick on the bed of the Atlantic.

Marcus Cato divorced his wife, the mother of his children, in order to oblige his friend Hortensius, who was in love with the lady and wanted to marry her. Then Hortensius died, perhaps to oblige his friend Cato, whereupon the rugged Roman took her to wife again along with the enormous fortune left her by Hortensius. It was a good stroke of business. Love and lucre both got their dues. These noble Roman ladies and gentlemen were the Pittsburgers of the ancient world.

A REMARKABLE "HOUSECLEANING."

New Orleans—The work of a remarkable city house-cleaning party, which placed 150 negro men and women on board a passenger train at Lake Charles, La., and shipped them out of town and parish, is told in dispatches to the Picayune. They were placed on the same train with the body of a negro who shot and killed the city marshal of Jennings, La., and who subsequently died in jail at Lake Charles from wounds received while attempting to avoid arrest. Shortly after midnight the negro district known as the "hole in the wall" was invaded by several hundred white men, including some members of the state militia on their way to the annual state encampment. The dispatch says: "House after house was visited, and the inmates, not even being given time to dress, were taken out and turned over to a guard. The motley group was marched under guard of pistols to a water tank about a mile from town, a passenger train was stopped, and the negroes were put aboard and their fares paid as far as the parish line, members of the guard riding that far with them. Some of the negro women were shipped away in their night dresses."

DREYFUS VINDICATED

SUPREME COURT OF FRANCE ANNOUNCES DECISION.
Entitled to Restoration of Rank as Though He Had Never Been Accused.

Paris—The supreme court has announced its decision annulling the condemnation of Capt. Alfred Dreyfus without a retrial. The effect of the decision is a complete vindication of Dreyfus, entitling him to restoration to his rank in the army as though he had never been accused. The court-martial of Dreyfus began September 19, 1894. He was found guilty December 22 of the same year. He was degraded on January 5, 1895, and under a law passed for the purpose, he was deported to Devil's island, off the coast of Guiana. There he was kept until brought back to undergo a new trial ordered by the court of cassation.

A Bloody Duel.
Paris—The scene of tumultuous disorder which marked the enactment of the law restoring Alfred Dreyfus to the army was followed by a bloody duel in which Under Secretary of State Sarraut was dangerously wounded by the sword of M. Pugliese-Conti. The duel assumed the aspect of a veritable conflict between the government and the opposition, as M. Sarraut's seconds were Ministers Clemenceau and Thomson, while M. Pugliese-Conti's were M. Millevoye and Gen. Jacquart, who were drawn from the elements which bitterly resist the government's rehabilitation of Dreyfus.

Dreyfus Reinstated.
Despite this sanguinary conflict, laws were finally enacted by the chamber of deputies reinstating Dreyfus, who obtains the rank of a chief of squadron of artillery, and Picquart, who is made a brigadier-general. Both houses were overwhelmingly favorable to Dreyfus and Picquart.

The Guatemalans and Salvadoreans Have Been Busy Since the Declaration of War—Invading Guatemalans Repulsed by the Soldiers of Honduras—Nicaragua Remains Neutral.

Washington—Guatemala and Salvador have accepted the tender of the good offices of this government, looking to a settlement of their differences. This information is conveyed in official dispatches received at the state department from the American diplomatic representatives in Guatemala and San Salvador.

War and Invasion of Honduras.
Panama—Salvador and Guatemala are at war. An engagement has been fought, in which the Salvadorean army was defeated and former President Regalado, leader of the Salvadorean troops, was killed. The Salvadorean army retreated, and the Guatemalans followed, and it is said have invaded Honduras.

A San Salvador dispatch says: The Salvadorean army attacked the invading Guatemalans and obtained a victory over them, the Guatemalans suffering a loss of 2,000 men in killed, wounded and prisoners. The Guatemalan army, which invaded by way of Santa Fe, was repulsed by the Honduran army. Honduras is making common cause with Salvador.

President Zelaya of Nicaragua wires: "Nicaragua has been and will remain neutral."

In the meantime, Guatemalan rebels are reported to have defeated a detachment of Guatemalans. Gen. Toledo, leader of the revolutionists, has secured some good artillery, and has a number of Americans in his ranks as soldiers of fortune.

ASSASSIN KILLS AN ADMIRAL.

Commander of Black Sea Fleet Shot Down in His Garden.

Sebastopol—Vice-Admiral Chounkin, commander of the Black sea fleet, who was shot, supposedly by a sailor of the battleship Otchakoff, died without having regained consciousness.

Chounkin was shot in the left lung by an assassin, who hid in the bushes and fired upon him as he was walking in the garden of his villa.

The assassin leaped back in the shrubbery after firing the shot and escaped. Several persons witnessed the attempted assassination, but could not prevent him getting away.

Vice-Admiral Chounkin had been blamed for his severity, and it was to his treatment of the crews of the ships under his command that the mutiny on board the battleship Kniaz Potemkin, in June and July last year, was attributed. The admiral displayed considerable activity in attempting to capture the mutineers at that time, and in suppressing the sailors' mutiny at Sebastopol in November last.

GOVERNMENT TAKING CHARGE OF QUARANTINE STATIONS.

South Carolina Turns Over Stations, and Louisiana is Following After.

Washington—Under the act passed by the last session of congress, the secretary of the treasury, through the public health and marine hospital service, is negotiating for the transfer of quarantine stations and sites to the federal government by the states of the Atlantic and gulf coasts.

The South Carolina legislature has already turned over its stations to the government—at least, it has authorized the state board of health to make the transfer.

The legislature of Louisiana has passed a joint resolution authorizing the governor to make the necessary arrangements with the secretary of the treasury for the sale or lease of the quarantine station at the mouth of the Mississippi river, the most important in the service, and which protects the Mississippi valley. This is a state plant.

Texas has two quarantine stations, at Galveston and Port Arthur, and it is believed these will be relinquished to the government soon.

The government now owns all of the gulf stations except those of Texas, Louisiana and in Mobile bay. The other stations are New Orleans, Ship Island and Pascagoula, the two latter in Mississippi; Pensacola, Appalachicola, Carrabelle, Tampa Bay, Boca Grande and Key West.

The secretary of the treasury is authorized to pay a reasonable compensation for the sites and plants owned by the states, if, in his opinion, their purchase is necessary to the United States for quarantine purposes, and the quarantine stations established by authority of this law are to be used to prevent the introduction of all quarantine diseases.

Jurisdiction must be ceded by the state, however, before any compensation is paid. A half-million dollars was appropriated for the purchase of the stations.

SAVED BY THE SUPREME COURT.

Arkansas Woman Admits She Swore Falsely Against a Negro.

Little Rock, Ark.—Associate Justices Riddick and Wood, of the state supreme court, granted a stay of execution in the case of Govan Beard, a negro, sentenced to be hanged at Helena, the stay to be effective until further orders of the court. At the same time they directed the attorneys to file with the court their motion for a rehearing of the case.

Mrs. Annie Harley, white, claimed that the negro assaulted her, and so swore at the trial, positively identifying him. A few days ago she signed a statement that she had testified falsely against the negro. An appeal was made to Gov. Jeff Davis to save the negro, but the governor refused to interfere. The matter was brought to the attention of the justices of the supreme court, and the stay was granted.

A CORNER SENDS PORK UP.

Advanced Three Dollars Per Barrel Since June 1, and May Go to Twenty-Five.

Chicago—Despite the fight which the public and the government is making on hog products, Swift & Co. have cornered July pork in the provision pit on the board of trade. The prices have advanced $3 a barrel since June 1, and is now selling at $19 a barrel. The advance in two days was almost $1.50 a barrel. The trade figures the short interests at 15,000 to 20,000 barrels, all owned by Swift. Stocks here are 22,000 barrels of regular pork, and none is being made.

The run of hogs has been light for four months. The price is the highest in four years, and it is believed that $25 a barrel may be seen before the month closes.

Quakes in New Mexico.

Dr. Jordan on Earthquakes.

San Jose, Cal.—Dr. David Starr Jordan, in his lecture delivered at the Unitarian church, located the origin of the recent seismic disturbance in Behring sea and prophesied that the next center of trouble would be in the vicinity of San Leandro and Hayward, Cal.

HARRY THAW HAS NOTHING TO SAY

MOTHER HAS TAKEN CHARGE OF HIS DEFENSE.

SHE HOLDS PURESTRINGS

The Firm of Lawyers Dismissed by Thaw Have Been Directed to Resume Charge of the Case by Mrs. Thaw, Sr.

New York—Immediately following an affecting interview with her son Harry K. Thaw in the Tombs, Monday, Mrs. William Thaw assumed full charge of the defense and arranged to retain the services as counsel of the firm of Black, Olcott, Gruber and Bonyng, who were dismissed by young Thaw a few days ago. This action is taken to mean that Harry Thaw's desires and opinions regarding the defense will be ignored, and that reliance will be placed on the plea of insanity, insistence on which by Mr. Olcott resulted in the rupture between himself and his client. Whether an application will be made for the appointment of a committee on lunacy to determine young Thaw's mental condition will probably be determined at a conference to be held by Mrs. Thaw and the counsel.

An Affecting Meeting.
The meeting between Mrs. Thaw and her son at the Tombs was an affecting one. After the first greeting they were left alone together to converse through the bars of the cell for half an hour. During the interview the prisoner's wife stood in silence in the corridor a few feet away from the cell door awaiting her turn to speak with her husband.

"Mr. Thaw Has Nothing to Say."
From the Tombs Mrs. Thaw was driven directly to the office of Lewis L. Delafield, where arrangements were made for former Judge Olcott's firm to resume charge of the case. When a note was sent to Harry Thaw, Monday afternoon, asking whether he concurred in the new arrangement, the reply returned was "Mr. Thaw has nothing to say."

Monday evening Mrs. Thaw, accompanied by her son Josiah and her son-in-law, George L. Carnegie, went to the latter's country seat at Roslyn.

TÉXAS ELKS' TRAIN WRECKED.

Fortunately All the Passenger Cars Remained on the Track—The Engineer Was Killed.

Trinidad, Col.—Through passenger train No. 7 on the Colorado & Southern railway, carrying hundreds of Texas Elks to the convention in Denver, was wrecked three miles north of Forbes Junction, early Monday. Engineer Martin J. Cullen was killed and Fireman Charles T. Garrell badly hurt.

That the whole train was not carried into the deep gully, resulting in serious loss of life, is probably due to the fact that it was running slowly on account of the recent heavy rains.

GOV. FOLK IS AFTER DEFIERS OF THE LAW

Jefferson City, Mo.—Proceeding under the direction of Gov. Folk, Assistant Attorney Generals Kennish and Gentry departed, Monday night, for St. Louis, to investigate and conduct prosecutions against alleged violators of the Sunday saloon closing law in St. Louis county.

The governor has directed that quo warranto proceedings to annul their charters be instituted against two summer gardens in St. Louis county, reports of them having violated the "lid" law having been brought to his attention.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS FELT IN NEW MEXICO

M.—Quite an amount of property damage was done, Monday afternoon, at Socorro, San Marcial and nearby settlements by an earthquake shock, which was the severest of the 200 shocks that have occurred in that part of New Mexico during the past two years. The shocks are local and are caused by earth slides in the Magdalena mountains.

He Finds It Too Easy Being a Sergeant and Begs to Be "Ray-Dooced to th' R-ranks."

(Copyright, by the Century Co. (Copyright, 1906, by Joseph B. Bowles.) That Policeman Barney Flynn is still Patrolman Flynn is due entirely to himself. Others are patrolmen because they cannot be sergeants or lieutenants or captains; Flynn is one man of choice. He is probably the only man on "th' foorce" who, having been promoted, has made a special and earnest plea to be "ray-dooced to th' r-ranks," as he himself put it. In this he is unique, but in many other respects he is typical of a certain class of policemen of whom the inhabitants of a city hear little. He is resourceful and honest; if he were not it is probable more would be heard of him in the newspapers and the police reports. A few rascally men on a police force can do a world of harm to the reputation of the whole body, and if they attain high rank they can demoralize a good part of it. Integrity is so important in those to whom is entrusted the enforcement of the law that there is a natural tendency to magnify the evils that are seen to exist, and the department is gauged by the worst rather than the best that is to be found in it. The men of the rank and file, as a rule, are faithful, earnest and reasonably clever. So, if Policeman Barney Flynn does not seem to you typical, you may rest assured it is because you know little of the police departments of the great cities. It is the spectacular that gets in the limelight of publicity, and faithfulness, perseverance and honesty are not often spectacular, so we hear more of things we admire less; and, hearing more of them, we gain the idea that they are the predominating features of modern life.

True, Policeman Flynn may be more resourceful than some of his brother officers, and he may have more of hard-headed common sense, but he is no more conscientious than the great majority of them. Like them he has many faults, not the least of which is a desire to have as easy and comfortable a life as possible, but he acts always according to his best judgment, and he defends his acts with rare philosophy when they are assailed. For instance, it might be charged against him that he has made fewer arrests than any other man of his length of service, and this would carry weight in quarters where a policeman's usefulness is judged solely by the number of prisoners he brings in. But there are men of experience who will insist that this is not a true gauge of merit, and Policeman Flynn is one of them. He does not like to make arrests; he does not deem it necessary in instances where others do.

"This a nuisance," he says, "to be draggin' ye'er man to th' station an' th' be after gettin' into court th' nex' day to prosy-cute him. S'nd him home whin ye can; that's me wa-ay iv doin' it. 'Tis easy done if he have money in his pocket to pay fr th' cab." And as Policeman Flynn for many years had a night beat in a district frequented by the gilded youth and others who celebrate, "not wisely but too well," his opinion has weight.

"I'll not go home."

"I'll not go home," once retorted a young man who had received good advice from him.

"Ye'll not?" returned Policeman Flynn, in a tone of mild astonishment.

"No, I won't; and I'd like to know what you're going to do about it. You can run me in if you want to."

"R-run ye in!" repeated Flynn.

"Oho! D'ye think I'm lookin' fr a chanst to make throuble fr meself? I'll do nawthin' iv th' kind."

"Then what will you do?" demanded the obstreperous youth, defiantly.

"I'll jump on ye," responded Policeman Flynn. "'Tis easier done, an' t'll give wor-kr for the amblance instid iv th' hurry-up wagon."

As the policeman was an exceedingly active man, who could jump high and come down hard, the argument ended there, and the young man moved on.

It will be seen from this that Policeman Flynn's methods are peculiarly his own—except when they are his wife's. She has prompted him in many ways, has given him various valuable suggestions when he stood in need of them, and he is always quite ready to let her have all the credit due her. "Fr a woman," he is accustomed to say when speaking of her, "she do be th' gr-reatest ma-an I ever see. 'Til her that's more injane-yus than th' whole po-lis boord, and many's th' f'm tip she's give to me, though 'tis a mighty onpleasant way she have iv doin' it sometimes." At any rate, Policeman Flynn and his wife, between them, made an excellent record on his beat. It is not the policeman who makes the most arrests who is necessarily of the greatest value, and in this instance order was maintained with less friction and fewer cases on the docket than ever before.

That was why Policeman Flynn was finally made a sergeant. He had faithfully performed his duty for many years in many parts of the city, and the marks against him were few and far between. He had been a crossing policeman, he had "traveled beat" in a residence section of the city, he had had his nerve tested in a really tough district, and wherever tried he had been found equal to all emergencies. But it was on a "Tenderloin beat" that he had been most successful. Every large city has its "Tenderloin beats," and they are the ones that call for the exercise of the most tact and judgment on the part of the night patrolman. To this he returned after a brief experience as a sergeant and a few encounters with politicians.

His promotion was held to be deserved, and there was not a man who knew him who was not pleased when the announcement was made. But Sergeant Flynn shook his head doubtfully. "Sergeant Flynn!" he repeated to himself. "Listen to that, now! 'Tis not th' same ol' Barney at all; but th' good woman says 'tis right, an' I'll make a pla-ay at it." He did, for one whole week. Then he asked to be reduced to the ranks again. "'Tis not to me likin'," he explained. "I'm not ma-ade to be better thim annywan else. I can't sthand fr th' say-lutin' an' th' flimflamin' an' all that. I have no fr'nds anny more. Ivery man I like has to treat me with rasy-picit, an' 'tis no spoort fr me. Whin I says, 'Hullo, Patsy, ol' bye!' to wan iv the men, an' am lookin' fr an answer in kind, he up an' say-lutes me an' says: 'Good avenin', sergeant; I beg lave to ray-poort that I jist chased two gazabos down th' alley.' Oh, 'tis no job fr me. I niver was made fr a soo-peer-yeer man, niver at all. Put me back on me ol' job where I can have me fr'nds again."

"Well, is that your only complaint, Flynn?"

"M-m-m, well," replied Sergeant Flynn, drawing his hand thoughtfully across his mouth and chin, "I don't mind tellin' ye, private an' confidential, that I'm missin' thim little pa-aper see-gar judes that's been makin' so much trouble fr me, an' th' fellies that don't want to go home, an' all th' rist iv th' Tenderline gazabos. I don't seem to get used to bein' without throubles iv some kind. 'Tis too easy bein' a sergeant, an' I don't sleep nights fr thinkin' iv drawin' me pa-ay without wor-kin' fr it. An' thim, bechune ourselves, 'tis not me nature to be watchin' th' bys an' s'ndin' thim to th' thrial boord fr derry-lickshun iv juty. Whin I see wan iv thim takin' a little nip on th' shly, it ma-akes me wish I was bor-r blind—it does so."

"How would you like to be the mayor's private policeman?" asked the chief.

"Oho! Privit po-lis-man to his nibs!" exclaimed Sergeant Flynn. "'T w'd be a fine job. What's th' char-acter iv th' wor-kr?"

"Oh, you'd be a sort of doorkeeper, and have the task of keeping the applicants for office and for political and other favors of all sorts in order while they're waiting to see him. If you're looking for something to do, there's a job that will keep you busy."

"M-m-m, well," returned Sergeant Flynn, slowly, "'t is a shtep in th' right direction." But he left the chief's office solemnly shaking his head.

"'Tis all right fr thim that likes it," he explained afterward, "but th' chop-houses is all on me ol' Tindeline beat."

SCENERY OF UNITED STATES

It Is Not Necessary for Tourists to Go Abroad to Revel in Nature.

Have you any idea of visiting the far-famed lake regions of Italy or Switzerland the coming summer? Are you aware that among the mountains of Idaho are lakes that experienced travelers tell us far excel in scenic grandeur and picturesque beauty the lakes of Europe, of whose charms poets have sung for ages? The average American traveler seems blinded by the enchantment of distance, and yearns for the far-away hills and valleys of Europe while passing regions that are their equal, and often their superior, near at home.

The Alps, the Rhine and Lucerne seem to ring in our ears with more enticing magnetism than the Rockies, the Hudson and Lake George, the Adirondacks and the Columbia, but those who are equally familiar with all are free to declare their preference for the American wonderlands, says the Four-Track News. There is a greater majesty in the Rockies than in the mountains of Switzerland. The natural beauty of the Hudson far excels that of the Rhine. What would you think of the American student who studied Roman history to the neglect of the history of this country or give his whole attention to the heroes of foreign lands? The best educated man is the man who knows his own country best. Let this be our motto—America first, the world afterward. European tourists are generally astonished that American globe-trotters leave this land of superior claims to brave the sea, and, at far greater expense, search out the attractions of foreign lands. See the world if you can, but see America first.

WITHOUT AN AUDIENCE.

Plays Sometimes Given in London When Spectators Are Not Wanted.

Occasional performances are given at London theaters when no audience is desired. These plays are advertised in the most furtive way, a single small bill being printed without display and posted in some corner of the entrance where it is hoped no one will read it. As a further precaution, an admission fee of ten dollars is charged to the man or woman who happens along and offers to go in because he sees the door of his favorite theater is open.

The plays referred to are copyright performances and are given to comply with the laws made for the protection of authors. Before the piece is staged it must be sent to the lord chamberlain. If he thinks it is all right a provisional license is obtained from the official reader of plays. Then the theater is opened and the performance is given.

Of course, the actors do not act. They merely read their lines from the manuscript in monotonous tones and the curious visitor who paid his two guineas would be disappointed and feel that he had not received his money's worth of dramatic action. For short plays, or a sketch of not more than two acts, curiously enough the price of admission is cut in two and one may see the copyright performance for a guinea.

But there must be a paying audience at these plays and some interested person about the theater buys a ten dollar ticket at the box office and thus complies with the law.

IN AN ART GALLERY.

Mrs. "Jack" Gardiner Gives a Good Reason for the Framing of Pictures.

Mrs. "Jack" Gardiner's superb collection of paintings are not massed in one room, in one gallery, as is the usual custom, but are hung with wonderful discretion about the beautiful Gardiner house. A room, in some cases, will be devoted to a single masterpiece, and in no instance does a wall boast more than two, or at most three, pictures.

"Pictures are not painted to be hung side by side, frame touching frame, along a great wall," Mrs. Gardiner said one day. "Hung so, they are at a great disadvantage, and it is very difficult, it is almost impossible properly to appreciate them."

She smiled.

"They who hang their pictures so," she said, "remind me, in their lack of all feeling for art, of a boy and his father in a picture gallery."

"As the two looked at the pictures, the boy said:

"Father, why have they all got frames?"

"The father murmured impatiently: 'So that the artists can tell where to stop, you blockhead.'"—Buffalo Enquirer.

Old Vets' Chaplain.
Dr. J. W. Sayers, of Philadelphia, has just been reelected chaplain of the Grand Army of the Republic in Pennsylvania, this being his thirty-fifth consecutive term in that position. He served with company B of the One Hundred and Twenty-second Pennsylvania volunteers during the civil war and participated in many battles with the army of the Potomac.

Cheap Advertising.
Sued in Bloomsbury, England, for the balance of an account for an advertisement in a weekly paper, a court dressmaker contended that the terms of her agreement had not been fulfilled, viz., that she was to receive a notice weekly in "Answers to Correspondents," such as "Dear Matilda, the best place for you to get the hat is Madame —."

Is Prisoner Four Months on a Ship

BOY SHANGHAIED AND MADE TO WORK LIKE A SLAVE.

GETS FREEDOM BY ACCIDENT

Falls Through Open Hatchway and Taken to a Philadelphia Hospital — Worries About Fate of Mother and Sister.

Philadelphia. — Shanghaied five months ago and forced to ship with the crew a tramp steamer which has been almost continuously at sea since January 24, worrying night and day over the safety of his mother and sister, whom he has not heard from since he left San Francisco, William O'Brien lies in a cot at the University hospital suffering not only from a broken arm and shoulder but enduring such pangs of anxiety that his life is seriously endangered by his mental state.

O'Brien was brought to the hospital from Wilmington. While swabbing the decks of the steamship Craigard, into the service of which he was impressed five months ago the night before he left San Francisco on his cruise around the continent, he fell through an open hatchway. He was allowed to lie there unconscious until a member of the crew more humane than his fellows picked him up and carried him to his bunk. Then a Wilmington physician was called to Pigeon Point, where the ship was anchored, and he diagnosed O'Brien's injuries as compound fractures of the shoulder and elbow. He advised his removal to a hospital.

All the way up on the train O'Brien disregarded the pain his injuries were giving him and begged that information be given him concerning his mother and sister whom he left so unexpectedly and so suddenly on the Pacific coast.

"They have always depended upon me for their support," he moaned. "And now I don't know how they have managed to live since I left. I don't even know if they are alive. They may have been killed, both of them, in the earthquake."

After the doctors had finished dressing his injuries O'Brien began again on the recital of his troubles. "I was told how after talking with a sailor about the pleasures of a life on the sea he had suddenly been attacked from the rear. When he woke up again he felt the rolling motion of a ship. He scrambled out of a dirty bunk and went on deck to find that the ship was already out of sight of land."

When he attempted to register a complaint to the officers of the ship he was told roughly to "shut up" and was set to work swabbing the decks. Every outburst of anger on his part was met with blows and curses. Because he complained he was given the hardest and dirtiest work to do.

Never having been at sea before, he soon became seasick, but he was compelled to do more than his share of the work in spite of his illness. He had to rise two hours before anybody else in his watch and he was always the last to get through at night.

Instead of being allowed to eat the food given the other men he was often forced to forego his breakfast and then eat only biscuits and tea. Though he shipped January 24, there was never a letup in the cruelty with which he was treated, he says.

On its long journey the Craigard stopped at many ports in South America, but though shore leave was accorded the rest of the crew O'Brien was ordered to stay on deck. During a stop of a week at the mouth of the Orinoco in Venezuela O'Brien was the only member of the ship's company who was not allowed to land.

When the ship put into the harbor of Barbados June 1 a sailor brought on board a copy of a New York paper in which O'Brien read for the first time of the calamity that had visited

HE WAS CONSTANTLY BEATEN AND CURSED.

San Francisco. Since then his worry increased a hundredfold. Unable to land anywhere, he had no opportunity of communicating either with his family or his friends in the stricken city.

O'Brien is 22 years old, clean-cut in appearance and talks like a man of refinement. When seen at the hospital he said:

"I used to think I liked the sea, but my liking has been cured forever. All I want now is to get back to my poor mother and sister at home."

"Just think of it!" he broke out tearfully. "I was their only support. What can they do without me?" He has little fear of the earthquake, though that is an added anxiety.

"Just as soon as I get out of the hospital I'll go back to them if I have to walk all the distance," he concluded. "And, besides, I am going to make it hot for the people who are responsible for my being shipped on a filthy tramp steamer against my will."

Boy Leads Searchers To Rescue of Father

Man, Hurt in Woods, Near Death from Starvation—Is Found in Exhausted Condition.

St. Louis.—A fallen tree, a runaway horse, and a badly sprained back combined to force F. C. Pfander, a former lumberman of St. Louis, to spend several days in the swamps of southwest Missouri without anything to eat, and part of the time without any water to quench his thirst.

Pfander left recently for Earle, Mo., where he contemplated accepting a position over a small tree which had fallen across the path, and stumbled and fell, pinning the rider to the ground. Pfander got his horse to move a little, and so extricated his right leg from under the horse, but in attempting to help the horse up he fell again, and his left leg slipped under the horse.

This time Pfander was forced to dig the pinned limb from under the horse with his hands. As he tried to remount his horse Pfander experienced severe pains in his back, and had to give up the attempt.

In the meantime Pfander's son, Walter, had arrived at Earle on a visit to his father, and was told where his father had gone and that he would return in the evening.

After waiting until the next evening without any word from his father, Walter Pfander started parties out to find him, thinking that perhaps his father had been lost in the timber. Three days later one of the searching parties found the elder Pfander lying close to a small stream running through the woods in an exhausted condition.

He was taken to town as quickly as possible, and ate for the first time in several days. He said that he had been forced to sleep the first night with the saddle for a pillow; that he had kept hold of his horse's bridle reins day and night to keep the animal from leaving him, and that, after being without water or food for two days he finally dragged himself through the brush until he came to the small stream beside which he was found.

He allowed his horse to drink, and while he himself was enjoying his first drink in two days his horse slipped away from him, and he would no doubt have starved to death if his son had not rescued him.

Cat Steals Rat Trap.
Greenfield, Ind.—Mrs. Matilda Caldwell, of this city, is the owner of a cat that has collected more than half a hundred mouse-traps, presumably from as many houses. The cat comes to the screen door and scratches until Mrs. Caldwell releases the mouse from the trap the cat has stolen. The cat then carries the mouse to her family of kittens. The collection of traps is increasing each day.

Illinois Happenings.

State's Attorneys Hold Convention.

Springfield—The annual convention of the State's Attorneys' association of Illinois was held in the hall of representatives. Gov. Deneen delivered the address of welcome on behalf of the state, and spoke of the excellent work being done in the state institutions. Gen. Alfred Orendorff delivered the address of welcome on behalf of the Sangamon County Bar association. Judge J. M. Wilkin, of Danville, of the supreme court, made an address on the duties of the state's attorney. In his address he referred to the growing defalcations of men in positions of trust, and said he believed they had, in most cases, started with appropriating small sums of money to their own use, with the expectation of returning the money, but they had never been able to do so, and had, therefore, appropriated still more money in the same hope. He thought the law should proceed slowly in their cases, and investigate them thoroughly.

Strong Man Does Horse's Work.

McLeansboro—Jack ("Fatty") Hazelwood, the 250-pound center rush of the University of Illinois football team of 1904, is now appearing in a new role. He is touring the country as the champion strong man, and to make good his claims is doing various stunts. Hazelwood is engaged to pull a three-horse sulky plow which is being exhibited to the farmers. For this heroic deed the former gridiron giant has a special harness. In his exhibition here he pull the plow through the hardest kind of soil, with a 200-pound man on his back and another 200-pound man seated on the plow. The strain was so heavy that Hazelwood twice broke his harness while accomplishing the feat.

Chicago Labor Troubles.

Chicago—A flurry of labor troubles has broken in upon an unusually peaceful summer. The cement workers' strike has swelled beyond all calculations, and now involves 2,200 men employed in constructing sidewalks and concrete walls in buildings. Five hundred laborers and a number of drivers and grain shovellers are also out.

Sleeping Men Caught in Wreck.

Harrisburg—W. H. Wheeler, of Louisville, was crushed to death, and James Thompson, Norris City, was probably fatally injured, in a car of lumber which was wrecked here. The men were in charge of the commissary department of the Big Four construction gang here, and were sleeping in the car on a sidetrack.

Little Girl Accidentally Shot.

Alto Pass—Ethel Stockman, 13-year-old daughter of a Cobden business man, was accidentally shot at a children's party by Florence Forman, a girl of her own age, who was playing with a cat rifle. Sixty-three No. 12 shot were extracted from the girl's chin. She is expected to recover.

To Elect Linn's Successor.

Springfield—Gov. Deneen has issued a proclamation for a special election to be held for circuit clerk of Cook county on November 6, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John A. Linn, who is in the Joliet penitentiary.

Chicago—In an effort to stop the brutal criminal attacks on women and children which have been so prevalent in this city recently, the city council unanimously passed a resolution urging capital punishment for such outrage.

Springfield—Gov. Deneen has offered $200 for the arrest and delivery to the sheriff of Madison county of Edward Blankenship, under indictment on the charge of murdering Otis England in Alton.

Illinois C. E. Program.

Shelbyville—Programmes are out for the Illinois state Christian Endeavor convention, which will be held on the Chautauqua grounds here July 26 to 29.

Bulldozing Peddler in Jail.

Waterloo—Nicholas Barnum, a spectacle peddler, who tried to compel Mrs. Wm. Winkle to cook him a meal at the point of a pistol, is in jail.

Thresher Wrecked by Train.

Edwardsville—A threshing outfit belonging to Edward Neahrer, of Edwardsville, was demolished by a passenger train on the Illinois Terminal.

Aged Pana Shoe Merchant Dead.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

John Got It Twice, and from a Cloudless Sky, Consequently Was Indignant.

It frequently happens that during severe storms the wires of the different public service corporations, such as electric light, electric street railway, telephone and telegraph companies, become entangled at different points, and consequently the wires utilized for carrying but light currents become charged with the much heavier and dangerous currents.

To this condition serious accidents are sometimes due; again, ludicrous conditions arise where no particular harm is done, except to the feelings of the participants.

Some years ago such a storm swept over the territory between Boston and Portland, Me., and, after some hours of duration, had mixed matters generally. The following day was bright and clear, and the work of clearing up began.

An old-time telephone lineman was started from Portland to connect the long-distance wires to Boston, which were unbeknown to him, twisted up with electric wires in the city of Portland. After driving out some miles this man saw the wires broken down, and prepared to connect them. At the first attempt to handle them he was knocked down. Being somewhat unfamiliar with such conditions, he tried again, with the same result.

He at once drove back to Portland and reported at the office, where the following conversation took place: "Well, John, did you get your trouble?" "Trouble be d—," said John. "I was struck twice by lightning, and not a cloud in the sky."

THE LIBRARY RESEARCHER

Men Employed by Cranks to Delve Into Musty Tomes for Information.

Says the New York Times: In the reading rooms of the New York public libraries one may see almost any day mysterious, often seedy-looking persons surrounded by musty tomes, making copious notes. These individuals are frequently the subject of remark. Who employs them, and where are their notes published? The explanation is that most of these mysterious persons are experts in research, and at least two of them are able to scrape together $1,500 a year, but they are the very princes of their profession. They are not seedy. Both are highly educated, cultured men past middle age, and were at one time wealthy.

There is a vast multitude of cranks in our country, and as most of them are people of means, they are often of use to the needier members of society. Many library researchers receive a good slice of their yearly income from these cranks. Thus some unknown gentleman has conceived the idea that Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire is crawling with errors, and he has been employing for some time three library researchers at a salary of $20 a week each to make a systematic examination of every statement of fact in that mighty work and collate all the evidence obtainable on each work! Another gentleman has a peculiar idea about the head of Paul Jones and, contemplating a treatise on the subject, is paying a researcher a good salary to ransack every book in the New York public libraries likely to yield a grain of information.

DIFFERENCE IN METHODS.

Americans Get Right to Work on a Project, Germans Call for Bismarck.

The conversation in the smoking room of the sleeping car had drifted around to the characteristics of the races, relates the Saturday Evening Post.

"I like your people," said a German, who had been listening. "I have been in this country for 30 years, acting as an immigration agent for my people and assisting them to settle here when they come to this country. "Now, take a party of Americans when a new territory is opened or some public land thrown open for settlement. They ride or drive in, get their land, select a place for the village, stake out the streets and then somebody gets up on a stump calls a meeting and nominates John Jones for mayor. In ten minutes they have a municipality and everything is going along all right. "If a party of Germans was in the same place, what would they do? When it came time to organize their village they would stand around for three hours and then somebody would ask: 'Where is Bismarck?'"

MAKING MORE ALUMINUM.

United States Leads with Three Out of Nine Works of the World.

It was the United States which began the manufacture of aluminum by the electrolytic process. That was in 1888. In 1889 almost the same process was in use in Switzerland, having been worked out independently.

Since the latter year, says Cassier's Magazine, the production of aluminum has increased enormously, and at the present time the annual output of the metal is estimated to be 8,000,000 tons, as compared with 85 tons in 1889. In England the price has fallen in the same period from ten shilling six pence per pound to one shilling three pence per pound. If a cheaper raw material than refined aluminum could be used in the process a still further reduction in price would be possible.

Nine works are now using this method, three in the United States, two in France, one each in Great Britain, Germany, Switzerland and Austria. The demand for the metal is growing in connection with motor car and railway carriage work, the latest example of this use of the light metal being for the inside of the cars for one of the London underground tube cars.

Very large amounts of the cheaper brands of aluminum are now being employed in the casting of iron and steel. The Goldschmidt's thermite process for welding tramway rails is a new use, responsible for the annual consumption of many tons of aluminum in the form of powder.

OLD STONE WELL MOVED.

Slid Down Hill Without Even Making the Water in It Muddy.

The residents of Bainbridge are much excited over a remarkable landslide which took place on the south side of that village recently, for sections of the hill continue to slide away at intervals. The slide, reports the Chillicothe News-Advertiser, is on what is known as Higgins hill, where a stone quarry has been operated for many years.

The hill was over 40 feet high, and a great deal of valuable rock had been removed from it during the last few years, but the greater part of the broken stone and earth has been dumped on the hillside. The recent wet weather caused this to loosen and a portion of the hill commenced to slide on Thursday night, and has been going down ever since.

A mud roadway, which was used by teams to bring down the stone, was entirely obliterated, but the remarkable part of the slide is that an old stone well which was on the top of the hill slid down the embankment for a distance of 22 feet and was not destroyed.

The well, which is 16 feet deep, has always had from 12 to 15 feet of water in it, and there is an old windlass on the top. As has been stated, that well slid down the side of the hill, windlass, stone and water, and it did not even cause turbidness of the water. The windlass, which is nearly worn out, appears as good to-day as it was before the well moved.

WHERE LIGHTNING STRIKES

At Junctions and on Sharp Curves and Bends of Trolley Lines.

H. H. Adams, a Baltimore street railway man, has a clever method of finding out where lightning is likely to strike one of his cars.

According to the Street Railway Journal he keeps in his office a large map of the system, and whenever a car crew reports that a car has been damaged by lightning, he sticks a pin in the map at the point where the car was at the time.

It is astonishing how quickly a record of this kind will show up the locations that seem to be especially susceptible to lightning discharges. In the course of the season a few points will have a miniature forest of pins grouped around them, while long stretches of track will show no pins at all.

When a particular location begins to accumulate a collection of these tell-tale pins, a lightning arrester can be installed at this point and the trouble at once eliminated or at least materially reduced. From graphic records kept in this way over a period of years it has been determined that the most vulnerable points are at junctions of lines and at sharp bends and curves.

Kaiser Contributed Soap.

In the course of recent conversation at Potsdam, Princess von Buelow, wife of the German chancellor, remarked to the kaiser that her maid needed cleaning. The kaiser was amused. "May I help you to clean it?" he asked, and, taking the remark as a joke, she assented. The next day several large crates were delivered at the princess' house, and an autograph letter from the kaiser saying that he was doing his share in the cleaning by sending her a ton of soap.

Fish with a Roll.

While fishing in the lake at Geradmer (Vosges) recently a man caught a large pike weighing about 30 pounds, which was subsequently sold to the proprietor of a hotel. In preparing the fish for the table the cook found a purse containing $45 inside, and this was afterward identified by one of the guests at the hotel, says the Radical, who a few days before had dropped it into the lake.

Rev. T. J. Wheat went to Graham chapel Wednesday and preached the funeral of sermon for John Hinton. Mr. Hinton was an old resident of that community and had amassed a large fortune in farm land. Prior to his death he divided all his land among his children in order to settle his estate in his life time. He was a devout Methodist and a splendid citizen. His wife died some years ago.

H. W. Hogg and family have moved to Blue Mound, where Mr. Hogg has secured a good position as baker. He has been foreman in the Illinois Bakery since its organization, and has given entire satisfaction. He and his family have made many friends during their residence in Sullivan who regret their removal.

W. J. Warren was on the Chicago market Wednesday of last week with a mixed load of cattle and hogs from the county farm. The hogs sold at $7 per hundred and were the first hogs in four years to bring that price in Chicago. The steers brought $5.75 per hundred and topped the market for cattle of their age.

The first attraction of the season, Lena Rivers, dramatized from the famous novel of that name by Mrs. Mary J. Holmes, will be presented by the Nixons with their large and capable company at Titus' opera house on Monday night, July 30. This play will be given by the Nixons, is full of high and clever comedy and presents all the pleasing features of the book.

Chief Hale's fire fighters and circus exhibited here Thursday of last week. The crowds were not such as usually turn out to a circus in Sullivan. The exhibition of fire fighting was disappointing to the spectators, and the circus features were mixed, some good acts and some very tame, and only a few altogether. Most everybody pronounced it a poor show.

MILLIONAIRES GO PACE THAT KILLS

Pittsburg Men of Wealth Unequaled in Furnishing Sensations for the Lovers of Scandal—Allurements of Painted Stage Beauties Fatal to Domestic Peace and Harmony.

New York.—Now that the crime of murder has been added to the eccentric doings of the dozen or more Pittsburg millionaires, it is probable that the limit of their capacity for sensationalism has been reached.

Remarkable divorces, remarriages, breaches of promise, alimony and chorus girls have hitherto been ordinary features of their lives. They seem to have become rich so suddenly that they have lost their heads. Never before, however, has any one of them been accused of murder.

Years before Harry Thaw ever heard of Evelyn Nesbit or Stanford White he was eccentric to the verge of craziness.

sprung up between Mr. Phipps and his wife. The breach gradually widened, and Mr. Phipps brought suit for divorce, naming Hart McKee as co-respondent. Pittsburg society was disrupted by the news, and the McKee and Phipps factions waxed bitter in their denunciations.

Kidnaped His Children.

Following the return of Mrs. Phipps to this country, her two little children were forcibly taken from the Waldorf-Astoria by Mr. Phipps and hurried away to Denver, where he had resided for some time. It was openly stated that when the divorce proceedings were over Mrs. Phipps would marry Hart McKee, but in the meantime that eccentric young man had become enthralled with Mrs. Hugh Tevis, who a few years previous had been wed and widowed within six weeks.

Mrs. Tevis and Mr. McKee sailed away to Europe on the same steamer, and shortly afterward were married. Things were rather dull in the Pittsburg colony for awhile until Mrs. Phipps went out to Denver, where the divorce case was brewing.

Mrs. Phipps began a contest for the possession of the children, but eventually terms were reached under which holding a roll of bills as large as an elephant's trunk. The run broke all records. Fifteen engines were used. There were eight passengers, and to transport them in lower berths instead of upper-cost $1.13 a minute for 59 hours, or nearly two dollars a mile. But Mr. Peacock was from Pittsburg and did not care.

When some Englishmen sent over $150,000 to back Shamrock II. Mr. Peacock headed a syndicate who covered it with $250,000. He played in a poker game on the steamship Deutschland in which $500,000 changed hands. Peacock won, although there were nine other Pittsburg millionaires at times in the game. There was a $90,000 jackpot.

They tell how when Mrs. Carnegie was buying her wedding trousseau in this city years ago she was waited upon by a handsome young saleswoman to whom she told her secret.

"I'm to be married, too," confessed the young woman. "That is my intended over there—Mr. Peacock."

"That's a Scotch name," said the future Mrs. Carnegie. "Where does he come from?"

"From Dunfermline, ma'am," replied the salesgirl. Andrew Carnegie learned about the incident, and in due time the ironmaster brought Peacock to Pittsburg and made the floorwalker a millionaire.

At the Waldorf one morning Mr. Peacock was discovered scribbling on a sheet of paper in the writing-room. A friend asked him what he was doing. "Oh, my wife at breakfast set me out insisted that I was worth $10,000,000. I think it is only $7,000,000. She is usually right, but I can't find the other $3,000,000 this morning."

Married Mother's Maid.

John Alston Moorhead is one of the latest. He was a heavy man on the Yale football team and also pulled in the crew. He never did anything else to deserve particular distinction. Only a few weeks ago he eloped with his mother's French maid. They have not been entirely forgiven yet, but it is understood that John Alston is being treated in a New York sanitarium, his father paying the bills, and it is said the little French maid is crying her way back to sunny France, well paid, if cash can make it good, but with her foolish little heart broken.

More recently the limelight of notoriety has been turned upon W. E. Corey, one of the best known of the Carnegie group of Pittsburg millionaires. He dined upon New York several years ago on a special train consisting of one dining car, four sleeping cars and two baggage cars, which carried the entire office forces of the National Steel company and the National Hoop company. In the baggage cars were 50 trunks filled with ledgers and account books and 12 typewriter girls who took down dictation as the train rolled along.

Corey's Lurid Exploits.

Some time afterward Mr. Corey gave Mr. Schwab a Lucullian feast. The costliest wines, the daintiest hot-house fruits and the rarest flowers were lib-of Miss Gilman, and at present Mrs. Corey is in the west, where she is residing with a view to securing a divorce.

During the course of business in Pittsburg Andrew Carnegie transformed Gibson D. Packer from a poor man into a millionaire. Mr. Packer did not miss his chance to get before the public. Mrs. Mary I. Vetter, armed, it is said, with 140 love letters, prepared to sue Mr. Packer for $100,000 for breach of promise. There were many pledges of affection in the shape of jewelry.

Contemporaneously with the Thaw murder Mrs. Scott Hartje, the wife of Augustus Hartje, Pittsburg millionaire paper manufacturer, has begun suit against her husband for divorce. Mrs. Hartje says that her husband wore paper collars for years; that he would buy a $1,500 horse over the telephone and the next minute refuse Mrs. Hartje's request for three dollars for a pair of shoes. Some of the charges of both Mr. and Mrs. Hartje cannot be printed here.

Cooked His Own Meals.

Charles Clarke, son of Mrs. Eliza Clarke, cousin of James King Clarke, married Miss Elizabeth Stocking, of Atlanta, Ga. "Chic," as he was known, was a jolly good fellow. Before his marriage he tried newspaper work in Pittsburg. He essayed a publication similar to Town Topics, but the United States could only stand one such at a time, and the Pittsburg production died and the owner was in debt. Times went hard with him about the time he married, and he apparently lost all his money, it being tied up in legal broils. Either he tired of his wife or she tired of him.

At any rate, he sued for divorce and told that he had endeavored to maintain the two by doing the family cooking in a chafing-dish in their little room over in Allegheny. He got his divorce, and the next day the wife became the wife of "Sport" Donnelly, son of a Pittsburg millionaire.

While George Lauder Carnegie has figured somewhat among the Pittsburg prodigals, his brother Coleman, or "Coley," also a high-roller, has decided to "straighten up." Hitherto he has been piking along on $125,000 a year without saving much of it. It is said that if Coleman will continue to straighten up his uncle Andrew will take him to Scotland and make a real laird of him.

Laundry work at home would be much more satisfactory if the right starch were used. In order to get the desired stiffness, it is usually necessary to use so much starch that the beauty and fineness of the fabric is hidden behind a paste of varying thickness, which not only destroys the appearance, but also affects the wearing quality of the goods. This trouble can be entirely overcome by using Defiance Starch, as it can be applied much more thinly because of its greater strength than other makes.

New Fruit of Value.

A new fruit that seems likely to prove of considerable value has been developed by the cultivation of the very familiar "maypop," a plant which is very familiar in the southern states quite ornamental, easily grown from seeds and affords a handsome cover for arbors and verandas. It is known to botanists as passiflora incarnata. The fruit in its improved form is somewhat bigger than a hen's egg and decidedly palatable. It looks like a May apple.

With a smooth iron and Defiance Starch, you can launder your shirtwaist just as well at home as the steam laundry can; it will have the proper stiffness and finish, there will be less wear and tear of the goods, and it will be a positive pleasure to use a Starch that does not stick to the iron.

Prof. Edward C. Pickering, of the Harvard observatory, proposes to establish an international observatory. His committee is to be composed of the eminent astronomers of the world, who are to raise a sum of money, have a gigantic telescope built and placed on the most suitable spot on earth, and all to go to work.

By following the directions, which are plainly printed on each package of Defiance Starch, Men's Collars and Cuffs can be made just as stiff as desired, with either gloss or domestic finish. Try it, 16 oz. for 10c, sold by all good grocers.

What is a Backache?

IT IS NATURE'S WARNING TO WOMEN

Diseases of Woman's Organism Cured and Consequent Pain Stopped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"It seems as though my back would break." Women utter these words over and over again, but continue to drag along and suffer with aches in the small of the back, pain low down in the side, "bearing-down" pains, nervousness and no ambition for any task.

Miss Maude Morris

They do not realize that the back is the mainspring of woman's organism, and quickly indicates by aching a diseased condition of the female organs or kidneys, and that the aches and pains will continue until the cause is removed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been for many years the one and only effective remedy in such cases. It speedily cures female and kidney disorders and restores the female organs to a healthy condition.

"I have suffered with female troubles for over two years, suffering intense pain each month, my back ached until it seemed as though it would break, and I felt so weak all my work but had to stay in bed a large part of the first two or three days every month. I would have sleepless nights, bad dreams and severe headaches. All this undermined my health."

"We consulted an old family physician, who advised that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it regularly and soon found that I could sleep and eat better than I had done for months. Within two months I became regular and I no longer suffer from backache or pain."—Miss Maude Morris, Sec. Ladies' Aid and Mission Society, 85 E. Hunter St., Atlanta, Ga.

ness. He was known as a cigarette fiend, a heavy absinthe drinker, an admirer of chorus girls and a reckless spendthrift. He gave dinners costing tens of thousands of dollars, and like the general run of Pittsburg millionaires he always had one or more "affairs" on hand with women of the footlights.

It is a strange fact that chorus girls and actresses seem to appeal to the Pittsburg millionaire past all power of resistance. Four of them who have made New York their home during the past few years, and whose wealth amounts to $50,000,000 in the aggregate, have become infatuated with stage beauties more or less widely known throughout the country, according to the World of that city.

Three of them have married actresses, and the infatuation of the fourth for a beauty of the footlight is being used against him in divorce proceedings. Although Harry Thaw was probably the wildest among the Pittsburg high rollers who have sowed in the wild winds of the Tenderloin, young Hart McKee was almost as well known, but in a different way.

Forgot Marital Obligations.

His father, E. Sellers McKee, a multi-millionaire glass manufacturer of Pittsburg, supplied him with practically limitless funds, with which the young man proceeded to cut a wide swath. He was handsome, dapper and fastidious, with the red and white complexion of a healthy girl. Soon after leaving college he married a Miss Sutton, from whom he separated a year or two afterward, giving her $300,000 outright in lieu of alimony.

In Mrs. McKee's allegations against her husband she testified that he was not with her much during the two years of their married life, and that he became more neglectful as time proceeded. Finally Mrs. McKee left him, "owing to his entire neglect." She made affidavit that he cut off her personal allowance and household allowance and put at the head of the household a butler, who was objectionable and very insolent, and over whom she had no control. He was given the money to pay the servants, and was empowered to hire and discharge them. Mrs. McKee protested, but was told that she had no power to discharge him.

McKee became acquainted with Mrs. Genevieve Phipps, the wife of Lawrence Phipps, another Pittsburg millionaire, then living in Denver. McKee and Mrs. Phipps were frequently seen together, and an estrangement divorce was granted on the ground of desertion. Then almost before their friends had ceased talking about their case Mr. and Mrs. Phipps made up, and it is said that they will be remarried. This seems to have finished the calendar of sensations as far as the Phipps and McKee millionaires are concerned.

Another Pittsburg millionaire who had a varied and noteworthy career was James King Clarke, known to his friends as "Jamie."

Young Clarke inherited a part of the millions of his father, Charles J. Clarke, of Pittsburg. He was in the habit of spending a part of his time in Washington, and it was there that he met Miss Esther Bartlett. They were married on April 26, 1899, in Washington, and with the best man, Mackintosh Kellogg, journeyed to New York, where they took rooms at one of the big hotels.

As related by Clarke in the suit for divorce, which began a month later, upon their arrival in this city he left his bride in his room with Mr. Kellogg while he went downstairs to look after some baggage. He was detained for some time. On his return he found the door locked, and when it was finally opened Mr. Kellogg's shirt front was stained with the violets which Mrs. Clarke wore as a corsage bouquet. That settled it. Mr. Clarke waxed wroth and left his bride.

Mrs. Clarke afterward sued for and obtained a divorce, after which she became the wife of L. T. Whitehead, of Erie, Pa. Mr. Clarke then married a Miss Katherine Willoughby, of St. Augustine, Fla., thus closing another chapter of Pittsburg millionaire sensationalism.

Career of A. R. Peacock.

Mr. Alexander Rowland Peacock is another Smoky City candidate for fame. Mr. Peacock is worth many millions of dollars. When he came to New York he evidently made up his mind to live up to the traditions and habits of the lively Pittsburgers who had preceded him. To perpetuate his name he had a $17,000 peacock made of genuine diamonds, sapphires and emeralds and gave it to his wife. He also had a peacock put on the livery of his servants.

Once Mr. Peacock was in Los Angeles. There were only upper berths left in the train to Chicago. "Give me a special train, then," he ordered.

"It'll cost $4,000," said the passenger agent.

"I'll take it," replied Peacock, un-erally provided. The waiters wore colonial costumes with powdered wigs, and the souvenirs were silver card-cases. Previous to this, however, Mr. Corey had emulated other Pittsburg rich men by figuring in a swimming party of which Miss Maybelle Gilman, an actress, was a member. The party took place at the Pittsburg natatorium. There were hot birds and cold bottles and some very pretty exhibitions of plain and fancy swimming.

At this party an infatuation for Miss Gilman is said to have sprung up on the part of the millionaire. An estrangement took place between Mr. and Mrs. Corey supposedly on account the millionaire oil producer, of Pittsburg, distinguished himself by committing a burglary.

The suicide of young T. O. C. Jones, the only son of the millionaire steel man of Pittsburg, a few weeks ago, fittingly rounds out the record of the young Smoky City high rollers. He had lost his mind because of his love for his first cousin, a charming Pittsburg girl. He killed himself when she married another.

This almost exhausts the crop of Pittsburg's gilded youths, but there is a new crowd growing up. They are as yet in knickerbockers.

BAD COMPLEXIONS

Deprived Blood Causes Pimples and Boils—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Make New Blood and Cure Follows.

"I abused my stomach, my blood got out of order and then my face broke out with pimples and boils," says T. E. Robertson, of 197 Addison street, Washington, Pa. "This was over two years ago. My stomach was in bad shape. After eating I would have to rest awhile or I would suffer the most severe pains in my stomach. On arising I would often be so dizzy that I could hardly stand up. The slightest exertion would start my back aching so that I often had to sit down and rest awhile. At times I experienced a pain around the heart which alarmed me but which I suppose came from my stomach trouble.

"I began to break out on the face with pimples and later with boils which confined me to the house a week or more at a time. One day I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People advertised in a pamphlet which was left at the door and I thought I would give them a trial. I took several boxes of the pills before all the pimples and boils left me, but I am now glad to say that my blood is good. I do not have any eruptions and I no longer have the head and stomach troubles I have described. I am very grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me and I have recommended them and always will advise those who are suffering from bad blood or stomach trouble to try them."

If you want good health you must have good blood. Bad blood is the root of most common diseases like anemia, rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, nervousness, indigestion, debility, partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c. per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

British Colonial Order.

The order of St. Michael and St. George, the chapel of which was dedicated in St. Paul's cathedral, London, the other day, is the order conferred on British colonists, distinguished or otherwise. Another Australian Experiment.

Suitable farming land is provided by the Australian government for groups of men and their families that will ultimately form village settlements, but they are not to be cooperative—each settler will stand or fall on his own merits. Government overseers will guide and instruct the settlers for two years, and the house erected for his use can be used as a public hall or school. Plain rations, implements, a small stock of cows, poultry, etc., will be supplied for the first year. This will be charged as a loan and must be eventually refunded to the state.

OUTDOOR LIFE

Will Not Offset the Ill Effects of Coffee When One Cannot Digest It.

A farmer says:

"It was not from liquor or tobacco that for ten years or more I suffered from dyspepsia and stomach trouble, they were caused by the use of coffee until I got so bad I had to give up coffee entirely and almost give up eating. There were times when I could eat only boiled milk and bread and when I went to the field to work I had to take some bread and butter along to give me strength.

"I doctored with doctors and took almost everything I could get for my stomach in the way of medicine, but if I got any better it only lasted a little while until I was almost a walking skeleton.

"One day I read an ad for Postum and told my wife I would try it, and as to the following facts I will make affidavit before any judge:

"I quit coffee entirely and used Postum in its place. I have regained my health entirely and can eat anything that is cooked to eat. I have increased in weight until now I weigh more than I ever did; I have not taken any medicine for my stomach since I began using Postum. Why, I believe Postum will almost digest an iron wedge.

"My family would stick to coffee at first, but they saw the effects it had on me, and when they were feeling bad they began to use Postum, one at a time, until now we all use Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Ten days' trial of Postum in place of coffee proves the truth, an easy and pleasant way. "There's a reason."

MOROCCO LETTER CARRIERS

Some Similarity Between the Mail System of That Country and Ours.

The rural free delivery system in America is the outgrowth of many years' experience. It comes as a late result in the process of development. In Morocco, on the other hand, it seems to be the basis of a system yet to be formed; only there is one respect in which the two methods differ: that of the United States is maintained at an expense to the government, but the Moroccan system is a source of revenue, according to the following account given by the author of "Moorish Lotus Leaves":

Swinging along at a dog-trot, a native courier—a barelegged and bareheaded fellow, with a pair of coarse slippers thrust into the hood of his ragged cloak, and a wallet on his back—approached our party, and, halting, leaned upon his long staff, while he informed us that the head of Cid Meled's oppressor adorned a gateway in the principal market place of Marakesh.

Mail trains and native post offices being non-existent, these hardy letter-carriers represent the whole postal system of Morocco. Superintended by a government commissioner, a corps of couriers, as trustworthy as they are indefatigable, is to be found in every town.

Ready at an hour's notice to undertake the longest journey, perhaps through disturbed districts, always over miserable roads, generally sleeping in the open air, the courier has been known to do the double trip from Mogador to Marakesh—about 270 miles—within five days and a half, the fee, of which a small portion goes to the government, being just eight shillings.

This, it should be borne in mind, is the pay of a special courier. On any additional chance letters he may carry the charge is something under a penny.

BLACKENED WITH TURTLES

And the Skipper Has the Latitude and Longitude to Prove Assertion.

"Yes, sir," remarked Capt. Quick, of the steamer El Alba, which reached port from Galveston. "The sea was simply black with turtles. There must have been a million of them—monsters, too, and many were so covered with barnacles that they looked like they were hundreds of years old. For a time we thought that they had been hurled up from the bottom of the sea by an earthquake.

"It was in latitude 35 degrees and 41 minutes, longitude 36 degrees and 31 minutes, that we ran into the field of turtles. As they scraped along the iron sides of the vessel, they sounded like tugs. One big fellow kept alongside for some time. He was over six feet long and five feet broad and had barnacles all over him. We tried to catch one of them, but they wouldn't bite."

Objection to Graduation.

After all, when you come right down to it, the great objection to graduation is that it bars many a promising young man from the athletic field. Under the circumstances it is rather humbling to have to go out into the so-called world and make a living.

Attractive Colorado Booklet.

One of the most attractive of the summer vacation booklets that have been issued is "A Colorado Summer," put out by the passenger department of the Santa Fe railroad. The picturesque mountain scenery and the descriptions of it which the booklet gives impress the reader with a new idea of the grandeur of the mountain crags of Colorado, and will start one day-dreaming of the time when he can view for himself the magnificence which the booklet describes. After reading the booklet one must certainly be convinced that Colorado offers both pleasure and health for every summer tourist. "A Colorado Summer" may be secured from Mr. W. J. Black, Pass. Traffic Manager, Santa Fe Railway, Chicago.

Vitality Sapped by Years of Suffering with Kidney Trouble.

Capt. J. W. Hugin, former postmaster of Indianola, now living at Austin, Texas, writes: "I was afflicted for years with pains across the loins and in the hips and shoulders. I had headache also and neuralgia. My right eye, from pain, was of little use to me for years. The constant flow or urine kept my system depleted, causing nervous chills and night sweats. After trying seven different climates and using all kinds of medicines, I had the good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy has cured me. I am as well today as I was twenty years ago, and my eyesight is perfect."

SWEDES TAKE FINN NAMES

Curious Form of Recreation That Is Setting In Among That People.

Recent agitations in Finland are producing a curious form of reaction. The country is full of Swedes, among whom, perhaps, with a view to the possible contingencies of a Russian break up, the Swedish government has always encouraged a movement of solidarity.

The Swedish party has always been one of the strongest in the diet, and latterly there have been strong signs of anti-Swedish feeling among the other sections, and in public opinion throughout the province. Fortunately, the Swedish population in the country has realized the danger in time, and recognizing that Swedish associations were all in the past, while all future interests lay in Finland, has taken practical steps to merge itself absolutely in the life of its adopted country. The Heisingfors Official Gazette a few days ago contained a list of 20,000 Swedes, who were discarding Swedish for Finnish names.

Nickel and Its Name.

The word came from the Swedish and is connected with Old Nick, an evil spirit. The reason it is applied to the metal we know as nickel is because its ore, which is copper-colored, deceived the miners, who expected to obtain copper from it.

TORTURE RELICS ON SALE

Such Instruments as Drunkard's Cloak, Iron Boot and Foot Squeezer Offered.

Several torture relics were put up for auction at Stevens', Covent Garden, the other day, but they did not excite much competition. There were no eager calls, even for a hangman's rope. A paltry 7s. was all that was given for one which had been used by the renowned Berry, says the London Daily News.

An iron screw, or foot squeezer, was bought for £1, and the same figure was paid for a set of double stocks, and also for what is termed a "drunkard's cloak."

The last named is one of those instruments of old which was intended to put the delinquent to shame. It is shaped like a huge pall and the drunkard who was to be disgraced was fastened into it with only his head visible through a narrow aperture at the top. The cloak gave the wearer the minimum of room, the hands being practically pinned to the sides, and walking was only possible in a kind of shuffling movement.

Other articles sold were an ancient whipping post with shackles from Oxford, two sets of shackles which were used in old Newgate prison, ancient branding irons and an iron "boot," into which the victim's naked foot was placed and boiling oil poured in, all of which sold at 12 shillings each. An ancient chair from the castle of Norenburg, in which people were secured for torture, fetched 18 shillings, and an iron torture collar with spikes, 21 shillings.

Tax on Church Chimes.

Included in this year's budget of the town council of Santa Cruz, Tenerife, was a tax on the ringing of church bells, at the rate of 20 cents a chime, but the civil governor vetoed the scheme.

noused Her.

"I could die for you!" he cried. "Could you?" retorted the girl, indifferently. "And," he continued, "my life is insured for $50,000." "I am yours," she cried, "till death."—Answers.

TIMBER WASTE BY FIRE.

Need of Scientific Forestry in the United States Is Very Great.

A forest fire is a terrific thing to fight when it once gets a fair start. Often it is practically beyond human control not long after its destructive work begins. And it is a prodigious waster of the natural resources of the United States. Probably no other country suffers so much from fires in forests, says the Cleveland Leader.

If the timber of America could be saved from damage and destruction by fire the day of the exhaustion of the forest wealth with which this republic was wonderfully endowed would be indefinitely postponed. Fires not only ruin trees ready for use, but kill millions of young saplings. They prevent reforesting in many wide areas which have been denuded of their original timber.

The tragic news from northern Michigan and neighboring districts in Wisconsin is a grimly impressive reminder of the havoc and peril of forest fires. The story is old. It has been told over and over in the United States. Many thousand lives have been cut short, in the aggregate, by fires in the woods. Uncounted millions of dollars worth of extremely useful property has gone up in smoke. The nation's resources have been wasted.

There is room for vast improvement in the guarding and care of American forests. It is possible to prevent many fires which would be terribly destructive if permitted to get well started. Others can be put out while still small enough to control. The whole wide field of forestry is open for progress which will mean much to the United States.

Varying Weight of Timber.

The weight of most timber varies according to the part of the tree from which it is cut; as a general rule, that cut from the top of a tree may be taken as about three to five per cent lighter than that cut from the butt.
