§8-EIT DULLER REW-ARD.

This cash will be paid in corn or produce to be collected at or about next karnmetin by enny wun wat ketches him, for the earls or wun STTY LOVENGODD ded ur alive an saiffe gin over tu the car uv Passon John Bullin at squire inack Junkins, fur a raisin uv 'the devil' permiscusly, discumfutin the wimen powerful, an a skarin ove folks ginerally at the ratil snax springs big metin.

Attestu tu by sined bi me
Jehua Wethorum. JOHN BULLIN
the Passon.

I found written copies of the above highly intelligible and vindictive proclamation stuck up on every blacksmith shop, doggery and store door in the Frog Mountain range. Its blood-thirsty, vindictive spirit, its style, and, above all, its chirography interested me to the extent of stealing one from a tree for preservation.

In a few days I found Sut in a good crowd in front of Capelhart's small doggery, and as he proved to be about "in tune," I read it to him.

"Yes, George, that ar document an 'in yearest' sartin. They duz want me powerful bad, but I spect eit duller wuns fetch me. I'll go myself fur fifty, planked down, ef you'll go long and see me hev jestis. Eite, lile, old feller, an let that roan ave yourn blo a little, an I'll 'splain this cased afar what has ruined my karakter as a pias pusson in the society about here. Ye see I went to las year's big metin at ratil snax springs an wer sittin in a nice shady place conversin with a frien in the buckel berry thickit, when the fust thing I node I woke from a trans, what I'd been knocked inter by a four year old hickry stik in the han of Passon Bullin, durm his aligater lookin lide! an he wer standin a straddle ov me, a fomin at the month an a preachin to me about sartin sins an my wickedness ginerally. My pore frien was gon, an I was glad ov it, fur I tho't he ment tu kill me with his club, ef he failed to preach me to deth, an I did it want her tu see me die."

"Who was the frien you speak of, Sut?"

"N-u-n-u-y-o-n-r-b-s-n-i-e—durm your little ankshus piete! But I'll tell ye one thing, George; that nite a hayber gal got a awful confounded stropplin from her manna with the strap leather uv a saddil, ole Passon Bullin had et supper that nite; an what's was nor all, she cooked it fur me, and begged him a trimblin an orvin, not tu tell on her, the durm durm, hipercritical, pot-bellid, whiskey-wastin old ground hog; but I paid him fir it all, ef I haint I will. I mean to keep a payin him all the time. Well, at nex big metin at ratil snax, I wer on han, as solum as a hat kerier at collection time, fur I hed promised the ole hog to kum an be converted, jist tu keep im from killin me. I tuck a seat on the steps uv the pulpit to prove I wer in yearest. Ther was a mostrus site uv fox in that grove, an ole Bullin wur a preachin to um at an orful rate—how the hell sarpints and sarv em ef they didn't repent—how they'd crawl over em, rap thar tails round thar necks, poke thur tungs inter thar eyes an blo inter thar years: an ef it wer a cman, how they'd quile in hur bussum, and try to crawl down under her frock-string. An he had em hot, hollerin an skeered; the fac is, the thing was a workin powerful.

Now I kotched five big grey pot-bellid lizzards, an had em in a little narrer bag what I made a purpos—thar tails all at the bottom, an packed as tite as a bundil uv stix. So while he wur a rarin onto his tip-toes, onbenownt tu any body, I ontide my poke an put the mouth up under his briches leg, an gin thar tails a squeeze an a shake, when they all tuck up his bar leg, makin uv a nise sorter like a squirrel a clumbin a shell bark hickory. He stoppt preclin an looked fur a minit like he wur a lisen fur sumthin, sorter like an ole soun dus when she hears you whistle fur the dogs. I giv a big groan and hilt my hed atween my knes.

Then he begun a slappin uv himself whar ye cut the steak outen a beef, then he'd fetch a ruff rub whar a hosses tail sprouts, then he'd stomp, then run his han atween his waistum an his shut, an reach down an roun mitily with it—then he spred his big legs an gin his back a good shakin sort tiv a rub agin the pulpit, sorter like a hog scratches agin a stump, a leanin tu his work powerful, an squirmen ginerly zif he'd jist kum outen a dog bed, ur hed elc on a piasant trail.

About this time wun uv my lizzards (skerd an hurt, I spose, by all this rubbin an scratchin an slappin) poked his hed out atween the passon's shut collar an his ole broun neck, tuk a peep at the circumstanes, an dodged back agin. Ole Bullin's speech now cum tu him; his eyes stikin out like two buckeyes flung agin a mud wall, an his voice trumblin; sez he, 'Brethrin, take keer uv yerselfs, the hell sarpints hev got me! Sum uv the minin fotch a painter yell, an a ramrod leged doctor what sot near, allowed it wur a clar case of delicious tremendjus, an I tho't he wur rite, fur it wur tremendjus afore it wur dun with. Off went the clau hammer coat, an he flung it alhind him like he wur a gwine into a fite, (he hed no jactin on.) Nex he foch his shut over his hed faster nur I got outen my pastid wun, an he flung it up in the ar like he didn't kur a durn ef kep on forever, but it lodged outen a blackjack. I seed wun uv my lizzards a racin about over the big ole dirty lookin shut, skeert like he seemed. Then he gin a sorter shaik an a twist, an he cum outen his briches, an he tuck 'em by the bottom uv the legs an swung em roun his hed a fu times, an then fotch em down clernup over the front uv the pulpit. You culd've hearn the nise a quarter uv a mile! Nigh onto bont fifteen shordent biscit, a briled chickin with its legs crossed, a big dubilbladid nite, a slab uv terbaccer, a pipe, sum cooper ore speciments, a heap uv brocin glass, a cork, a sprinkel uv whiskey, a shut an three of my lizzards liz permiscusly all over that ar metin groun, outen the uper cand uv them big flax briches.

Wun uv the smartest uv my blew lizzards lit hed jist inter the bussum uv a fat oman, as big as a skind hos, an nigh onto as ugly, who sot thirty yards off a fanum herself with a turkey tail, an smart tu the last, commenced runnin down.

So she wur bound to faint, an did it fast rite; jist flung her tucky tail up in the ar, ruled down the hill, tangled her legs an garters in the top uv a hunkilberry bush, an wur thar all safe, fair, and quiet, when I lett.

Now ole Bullin had notin left on him but a par uv hevy low quartered shuse, short woden socks, an eel skin garters to keep off the cramp, an his scare wur a groin on him fast. He wur plum crasy, durle jist spit in his hans an leaped over the pulpit rite inter the middil uv the pins part uv the congregation, kerdy! an sot in jn gutin away. He run, or rather went in a lumbin gallop, hevly, like a old wagon hoss scured at a locomotive. When he jumped a bench he shook the yerth an himself an. The bonnets an fans cleerd the way, and he had a far trac tu the woods. He waid nigh onto three hundred hed a bla stripe down his back like a ole bridil rane, an his belly looked about the size an kuller uv a beef ponch, an hit a shakin from side tu side. He leaned back from it like a little feller a totin uv a big drum at muster, an I hearn it slosh plum tu whar I wur. Thar wur cramp nots on his legs as big as warnits, an all over he munded me uv a crazy ole elefant wat wur possessed by the devil, with its ears, snout an tushis sand off, an rared up an a gwine on its hine legs awa from emediate trubal an trebulashun. He did the londis an scariest an fustiest runnin I ever seed sence Dad run with the hornits, to be no faster than it wur. Well, he disappeared in the thickit, an uv all the nises ye ever hearn it wur thar in a surkil uv of two hundred feet or thar abouts—sum wimen screamin—they was the skeery ones; sum cryin—thar wur the fool ones, (sorter like the Lovengoods;) sum larin—thar wun weickid ones; sum tryin tu git awa ur hide thar facis—thar was the modest ones; sum lookin arter ole Bullin—thar was the curious ones; sum hangin tu thar bows—thar was the sweet ones; sum on thar nees with thar eyes shot, but thar facis turnd the way the ole mudturkil was a runnin—thar was the desaitful ones; sum doin nuthin—thar was the waitin ones, an the dangerousist uv all uv em by a durnd site. I tuck a big skeer myself, arter a bibil about as big as a brick, a diap-line, an a book called kataplasm, a fu rocks, an sich like frute spattered into the pulpit ni onto my hed; an as the Lovengoods, durn em! nise nuthin but to run, ef tha git scared, I jist put out toards the swamp on the krick. As I started, a black bottil uv baldface smashed agin a tree forninst me. Some durnd fule, perfessor durm this, who had more zeal than sence; fur I say that enny man who'd waist a quant uv a good whiskey fur the chance uv nock in a poor chap like me down with it, ef the bottil wus wuth nuthin, aint as smart as ole squire Mackmullin, an he sot hisself with a hoe handil, an it wernt loaded at that. Well, you know, George, I orter run fast—jist look at these legs—I used em sum atween that metin groun and the swamp, an tha haint kotch me yet.

Old Barbelly Bullin (as the call iur sene his tribulation with the hell sarpints), haint preclaid but outen an hadnt a oman to hear him. His tex wur 'nakid I cam inter this world an I'm a gwine outen it the same way ef I'm spared till then.' I'm told 'twas a powerful sarminit—it was hearn three miles. He proved that nakidness wernt much, arter all, ef you take the rite uv uv the thing—that hell sarpints uv all sizes was skeery, cold an trubulsum—that it wernt tu be expectid uv him, a poor, weak frale wun uv the dust, to be sarpiunt ur lizzard proof either—that one small sarpiunt uv the tribe uv Milkizidick ruind a world thur an oman—while he wur beset with a barril full uv em. An sixteenthy an finally, that Suttty Lovengood is the biggest raskil, fule an scaercrow ever latched in the Frog Mountain range.

Now, George, that all may be so, but I want tu tell the clergroun this fir me—ef he'll let me alone I'll let him alone, an ef he dont, ef I dont lizzard him agin I wish I may be durnd inter a pollice. Lets go to the spring an mix a little ov it with this yere whiskey, (shaking bottil), afore you start. Mind, tell ole Barbelly whar I seed about another big scaer, with—say a peck—melby more, uv lizzards—try an cheer him ef you kin! Good-bye."

A BACHELOR'S SOLILOQUI.—An old bachelor after all his matrimonial failures, pathetically exclaims:

"When I remember all the girls I've met together, I feel like a rooster in the fall, exposed to every weather; I feel like one who trelds alone some barnyard all deserted; whose oats are fed, whose ears are dead, and off to market started."

PLEASURE, BORN OF PAIN.

BY WHELAN D. PARSON.

There is a pleasure born of pain
When all its outward sighs depart—
A triumph, when the steadfast brain
Floats calm o'er the struggling heart

By slow degrees this pleasure came;
Just as a little rill of rain
Flows slowly o'er a level plain
Before it earns itself a name.

When Hope had folded up her wings,
And sorrow had me by the hand
To lead me to the Tearful Land
Where Memory in secret stings,—

When Pain had license to bestow
Her malison upon my heart,
And I had borne my bitter part,
And tasted of the fruit of woe.—

When suffering with sore defeat,
And wounded by the shafts of Shame,
I sought to hide my guilty name,
And gathered ashes round my feet,—

Then, then it was, just when the night
Was darkest, that there came to me
The first wave of that endless sea
Whose waters give a calm delight.

There was a pleasure for my pain,
There was a triumph in defeat,
The bitter slowly changed to sweet;
And Reason was enthroned again.

Above the breakers of my heart
A calmness floated, such as gives
A strength to him who truly lives
And firmly acts his little part.

The pain—the struggle—were not long;
I heeded not their transient power,
For in that short and bitter hour
I learned to "suffer and be strong."

First Love and Fifth Husband.

"Twelve years ago a bride was a young lady of twenty, the daughter of a wealthy merchant in Washington Pa. In her father's employ was a young man named Robert —, who the young lady being bewitchingly beautiful, as in du y bound, fell desperately in love with her. She reciprocated the attachment, and they were betrothed. Unfortunately the young lady's father entered his protest against this pleasant arrangement, and accordingly the young couple put off the happy day indefinitely. About a year afterwards she received a most tempting proposal, which urged by her father, she accepted, and to the eternal despair of poor Robert, was married. But alas for the poor bridegroom! Scarcely three months had elapsed when a kick from a vicious horse killed him. Robert consoled the widow, and determined at the end of a year or two to marry her. He had too much respect for her to press the suit immediately, and did not for fifteen months, when he proposed. To his horror, she informed him that she was already engaged, and that in three months more her second marriage would be consummated.

Two years passed. In the meantime the widow and her husband removed to Syracuse, N. Y., and Robert, possessed by some strange hallucination followed them. That season the cholera swept that city, and among its victims was the second husband. Robert allowed a year to pass and was on the point of urging his claims, when he received an invitation to her wedding! She was to be married to her late husband's partner. Robert remonstrated. The lady assured him that her present step was not one of love, but purely of necessity. The partnership affairs of her late lamented were in such a state that settlement was impossible, and to save great losses she had determined upon marrying the surviving partner. She begged him also, that her sentiments towards him were unchanged, and that should she ever become a widow again, she would give him the preference. She was married, and in a short time removed with her third husband to Detroit, Mich.

But a fatality seemed to pursue her. Herself and husband were on board a steamer that was wrecked near Buffalo, some years since. The husband perished, and she escaped only through the superhuman exertion of a friend who happened to be on board. This friend was young, unmarried, and his gallantry inspired such sentiments in the breast of the widow that she married him before Robert had time to claim her. When he learned the state of affairs he was somewhat indignant, but she told him the circumstances and managed to satisfy him with the promise that if she ever became widowed again, she would most positively marry him. The lady, with her fourth husband, settled upon a farm near Bucyrus, while Robert removed to Mansfield, that he might be near her. In the course of a year, they removed to Pittsburg, where the husband went into mercantile business on Liberty street, residing, however, in Alleghany City. Robert followed them, and finding employment, determined to watch the chances closely.

One day he was passing the store of Mr. —, when he saw a terrible commotion. Rushing in he saw Mr. — a mangled corpse upon the floor. A cask of rice which was being hoisted had fallen and killed him instantly. He inquired if any one had been sent to acquaint his wife of the accident, and was told that the first clerk had just started. Looking once more at poor Mr. —, to make sure he was perfectly dead, Robert started to Alleghany as fast as his legs could carry him. The first clerk was only a trifle ahead of him, and Robert, knowing the importance of being in time from past experience, and fearing that the clerk had designs upon the widow, ran like an Indian.

Side and side they ran until they reached the Hand street bridge. The clerk was obliged to stop to make change, while Robert, who paid by the year, passed without delay. He reached the house, told the heart-rending news, and obtained a solemn pledge from the widow before the clerk arrived. This time she was true to her promise, and after a year passed they were married. As all her husbands died wealthy Robert is very comfortably fixed. His history shows what perseverance will accomplish.

PARRY GOOD.—A lady down East gives her views of Woman's rights to the world. She is against the interference of women with politics. She asks pointedly: "If men can't do the voting and take care of the country, what is the use of them?"

The list of British outrages reported up to the present, foots up twenty-eight.

Two Irishmen were put in jail, in different cells, one for stealing a cow, and the other for stealing a watch, when one said to the other, "Hallo, Mike, what time have you?" "I don't know, but I'd suppose 'bout milking time."

The ceremonies of laying the corner stone of the monument to the memory of Ethan Allen, by the State authorities of Vermont, were postponed for the season that the remains are missing. No trace of Ethan Allen can be found on the spot where he was supposed to be, and the supposition is that his bones have been stolen or mislaid. As Vermont has no living heroes the lacrima of the bones of a dead one is deeply felt by her citizens.

To Farmers who are acquainted with this celebrated machine comment upon its merits is unnecessary. To those who are unacquainted with it, the following considerations are worth notice.

II. It is the strongest machine in use, and will not fail you when most wanted.

III. It is the simplest Reaper and Mower in use, and can be comprehended and kept in repair by any farmer.

IV. It will work equally well in light or heavy, damp or dry, standing or lodged grain; and will MOW as well as it will REAP.

V. It has Received 110 Premiums; among which are that of the PARIS WORLD'S FAIR!! the NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR!! and lastly, that of the NATIONAL AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY, at the Reaper Trial at Syracuse N.
