Mother, Home, and Heaven.

The sounds that fall on mortal ear.

As dew-drops pure at even,

That soothe the breast, or start the tear,

Are Mother, Home, and Heaven.

A Mother—sweetest name on earth;

We hush it on the knee,

And idolize its sacred worth

In manhood's infancy.

A Home,—that paradise below,

Of sunshine and of flowers,

Where hallowed joys perennial flow,

By calm, sequestered bowers.

And Heaven,—the port of endless peace,

The haven of the soul,

When life's corroding cares shall cease

Like sweeping waves to roll.

O! weep not, then, though cruel time

The chain of love has given;

To every link, in yonder clime,

Re union shall be given.

O! fall they not on mortal ear.

As dew-drops pure at even,

To soothe the breast, or start the tear,—

A Mother, Home, and Heaven!

Too Fast vs. Too Slow.

Enter Mr. Foggy, walking backward and forward in the parlor of his parsonage.

Oh, this crazy world! this crazy world! Everything goes by steam, except what runs by lightning. Hark!

there is a screech as if a hundred devils screamed at once, and then a roar,

and the rattle of wheels, and a train of cars rush by like a comet endowed with life. Everything is on high pressure system. I verily believe that the earth is a locomotive, with volcanoes

for a smoke-pipe, and the celestials

have built a railroad to 'eternal smash,'

and we are all aboard the train, with the brakemen all drunk or asleep!—

How can a respectable, old gentleman live on this planet? Everything is in a whirl. Business men, politicians, lawyers, everybody but clergyman,

seem in a brain fever, and even a few of the clergy are forever talking of progress! progress! until life has become a great scramble to get ahead.

What shall I do? I wish I could get into one of those planets that only turn round once in seven years. Wouldn't that be a nice place for a conservative

old gentleman? One year of calm twilight, two years and a half of night! Think

'Go to the door; the bell rings.'

'Yes, in a minute. But I've got me hoops on, and can't get down stairs,

the way is so narrow. Wait till I get in a chair to climb out of my new dress.

'Wait, you lumb! There goes the bell again. I must go to the door myself or the bell wire will be broken.'

[Mr. Foggy goes to the door where a young man of eighteen, with patent leather boots, with a patent hat on his patent head, turned out by Fowler &

Wells, practical phrenologists, stands at the door, looking like a live fashionable plate from Genio Scott's.

'Ah, my boy, what do you want?'

'Boy! I am not a boy, sir, (twirling his patent goatee,) I am the general agent for the society for improving the race, and I have come to lay our plans

before you and get your patronage.'

'Ah, yes,' (with a groan,) 'walk in,

sir; walk in.'

'Well, sir, I have just ten minutes and three quarters to spare, before the lightning train leaves for the city of

'Go it while you're young,' and I can develop the grandest scheme for regen-erating men, that has ever been discovered, in that time.'

'Regenerating men! Why, sir, I have been preaching the gospel regeneration these forty years. The only way I know of is for men to repent

and live better lives.'

'O, that's all out of date. Why,

now-a-days, a man becomes a Christian in thirty seconds by the watch. It don't change his life at all. He can cheat and gamble in politics and lotteries, buy, sell, and steal negroes, and lie himself into office just as well. The parson does up the piety, and all that a fashionable sinner has to do, is to sign the paper—creeds, I believe they call them—and pay his quarterage, and he can get a free pass on the first class train to heaven, where he can

'pre-empt' the best site for heavenly maisons, and 'realize' for his lots in three days! The old idea of Pilgrims

Progress is all down in the market, and wont pay 10 cents on the dollar. But I want to show you my plan.'

[Mr. Foggy stares—too much struck up to speak.]

'You see, sir, man is but a combination of electricity and the Odyllic force clothed in flesh and blood. If, therefore, you can concentrate and combine

these elements in proper proportions,

you can make men as fast as you please.

By a recent wonderful invention, by Professor A-gass-he-is, we have got a chine is wonderful. One of them will turn out one hundred full grown men in a day. It was by this process we manufactured the voters to carry the Pennsylvania election for Buchanan.

We had several of our machines in full blast night and day, between the State and Presidential elections in that State. Mr. Buchanan paid for the our kroat to feed our machine. Our company would not take Mariposa script, and so Fremont would not employ us, and lost his election. Atchison and Stringfellow had two of our machines at work turning out Border

Ruffian voters in Kansas, for months.

But we were compelled to feed the machine so much whisky, in order to supply the border ruffians with the necessary spirit, that the job did, not pay.

We don't like such jobs. We prefer fine work. We have now in contemplation a contract with the leading denominations to supply them with clergymen. The Theological Seminaries fail to meet the demand, as you see by the newspapers. There is a great clerical mourning in the land, and we alone can comfort these mourners.—

We can make a Calvinist, or Armin-ian, an orthodox or heterodox man, as you like, by varying the component, mental and moral material. To make a Calvinist, we dissolve Calvin's Institutes and Dr. G.'s Commentaries in our machine. If he be a Baptist we put in a volume or two of Andrew Fuller's works. A Methodist requires a volume of Wesley's sermons and Fletcher's checks. In this way, you see, we can vary the article to suit the market. For a nice young city preacher, like Spurgeon, we put in a few novels, a little rosewater, a decoction of moonlight &

'balm of a thousand flowers.' We can make a $500, or a $5000 article to order. We tried once to make a Henry

Ward Beecher, but it took so much electricity to dissolve a Bible and Sharpe's rifle, that the machine blew up, and we gave it up. Now, sir, what do you think of our plan?'

'What is the name of your machine?'

gaped out Mr. Foggy.

'Public Sentiment! sir. Public Sentiment! Ah, there goes the bell! I have but thirty seconds to reach the depot. I shall be compelled to swallow a streak of lightning! You see I put my mouth to this orifice, and the lightning streams down my throat.—

Write me by telegraph. The shock

may startle you, as I turn on the lightning, but here goes—

Douglas in Vermont.

The statement of the Boston Post,

made just after the late convention of the Democracy of Vermont, to the effect that there was not the "slightest warrant for the report" that the delegates from that State are for Douglas for the next Presidency, has been extensively copied, and is still circulating. We have frequently showed it to be an error; but in the extracts of an article which follow

from the Vermont Patriot, we have an authoritative correction of it. The Patriot of last week says:

"The article in the Boston Post, alluded to, was, no doubt, well intended, and the "highest authority,"

it is fair to think, aimed to state facts, though it did not. The reports of the Vermont State Convention given in the Boston papers, were essentially correct. There was a regular and systematic rally of the Democracy and the Cow Boys at the convention.

The thing was fully and fairly understood by every Democrat and Cow

Boy in the State; and the latter, especially, rallied to the last of their ability. The issue was distinctly made up before the convention—

Douglas and popular sovereignty

against the Cow Boys and a slave code.

The Democracy turned out to see that the first were endorsed, and the Cow Boys to see that they were reputed. The Cow Boys were most gloriously beaten and annihilated.

For the "highest authority," through the Boston Post or any other paper,

to say that this is not the truth, is to say what the entire Democracy of the State know is entirely outside the fact."

[The "Cow Boys," it will be remembered, are a set of political mercenaries whose description answers to that of the Danites of Illinois.] The Patriot further says;

"This matter would not have been alluded to at all, were it not that the enemies of Judge Douglas have sought from the article in the Post

to draw the inference that the Ver-

Open to the World.

We have an official announcement, (received too late for insertion), that competition for the premiums offered by the Illinois State Agricultural Society, is OPEN TO THE WORLD. There will be a large attendance from the Northwest, and there will be no better place to advertise than at the Fair at Freeport.—Emery's Jour. of Ag.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY, for August, has been received, but not examined, from the fact that we are crowded with job work this week. It speaks for itself, however, to those who take it, and to others we say call at this office and examine this number.

Any lack of editorial in this issue must be attributed to our having to dive into the mechanical department this week a little deeper than is our wont.

The Decatur Magnet announces the marriage of the editor of the Express. We were not aware that this thing had happened so recently, friend; we do remember, however, of cheating a woman about eighteen months ago. We're not Mormon.—Our younger brother was "tied" two weeks since.

The European news, this week, is confirmatory of what was announced in our last issue. The Italians are indignant at Napoleon for the game he has played off on them.

On Wednesday about 10 o'clock the midships of all our citizens resumed their proper position, having, for the last few weeks, been hanging downward. Did anybody see one frowning face, after the ruin of the

We call the attention of our readers in general and the afflicted in particular, to the advertisement of Bragg's Liniment, in another column. The Arctic Liniment, prepared by Dr. Bragg, is recommended as the best article of the kind in the world and we believe is destined to supercede all similar preparations. It has but recently been introduced to the public, but has long been successfully used in private practice, and was thoroughly tested and approved by the late Dr. Kane, on the Grinnell Arctic Expedition. Dr. Bragg has for years enjoyed a well earned and widely extended reputation for his medical preparations, which is of itself a sufficient guaranty of the value of the article now advertised.

FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—It was a noted saying of the great Dr. Magendie, when lecturing before his class, "I care not a button for theories; give me facts." This is likewise the motto of the celebrated Dr. Bragg, who, by a careful observance of facts alone, has been enabled to bring his medical preparations to such perfection. His latest invention, the ARCTIC LINIMENT, is also his greatest invention; and it may be stated as a "fact for the people," that it is the best liniment now in existence, and destined to supercede all others. Another fact is, that it never fails to cure those diseases for which it is recommended. The best evidence of the value of a medicine is, that it effects a radical cure, and this is eminently the case with the Arctic Liniment. It cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Sprains, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, &c., and all eruptive diseases; and is equally efficacious in curing the diseases of animals, such as spavin, ring bone, poll evil, &c.

For sale in Sullivan, Illinois, by H. F. Vadakin, and others. An agent wanted in every town and village. Applications should be made to Bragg & Barrowes, St. Louis, and must always be accompanied by good reference.

A Good Daughter.

There are other ministers of love conspicuous than she, but none in which a gentler lovelier spirit weels, and none to which the heart's warm requitals more joyfully respond. There is little which he needs to covet, to whom the treasure of a good child has been given. Her idea is indissolubly connected with that of his happy fire-side. She is his sunlight and evening star. The grace, vivacity, and tenderness of her sex have their place in the mighty sway which she holds over his spirit. The lesson of recorded wisdom, which he reads with her eyes, come to his mind with a new charm, as blended with the melody of her voice. He scarcely knows weariness which her song does not make him forget, or gloom which is proof against the young brightness of her smile. She is the pride and ornament of his hospitality, the gentle nurse of his sickness, and the constant in those nameless, numberless acts of kindness which one chiefly cares to have rendered because they are unpretending but expressive proofs of love. And then what a cheerful sharer she is and what an able lightener of her mother's cares! What an ever-present delight and triumph to a mother's affections? Ah! how little do these daughters know the power which God has committed to them, and the happiness God would have them enjoy.

State Fair.

The opinion prevails to some extent that the premium list of the Illinois State Agricultural Society allows only the citizens of our own State to exhibit and compete for premiums to be awarded at its Fair, to be held at Freeport, commencing on the 5th of September. It is, however, a misapprehension; our list is open to the whole world, and we invite exhibitors from any State or country to exhibit and compete for premiums on the same conditions as the citizens of the State of Illinois. Louis K. Lawrence, President. Naperville, July 22d, 1859.

Whatever hope the Republican party of the country have received from the factious opposition of a few miserable political renegades in this State, and however strenuous have been their efforts to keep up that opposition and make of it a convenient loop-hole through which some one of their number might creep to the Presidential chair in 1860, it is certain that in all their calculations they are doomed to disappointment. With one or two inconsiderable exceptions the finger of the press and the disposition of the country is pointing with the same significance to the "right man for the right place," Stephen A. Douglas. In him alone the integrity of the Democratic party can be concentrated; in him alone the faults and errors of James Buchanan can be corrected. With a courage which has proven him worthy of the high position he holds before the eyes of the nation he has battled manfully against the unconstitutional tendencies of the Republican party, while at the same time he has pointed out by the most convincing arguments the only course the country can safely take amid its numerous contending factions. The few, the very pitiful few who have chosen to array themselves against him are hardly worthy to be counted as elements of opposition, and but that they are seconded by the highest officers of the country, who, forgetful of his national dignity in his political intrigue, condescend to conspire with a set of ambitious office seekers and placemen, they would be entirely unworthy of notice. Without the first particle of political character in them—panderers to the lowest and vilest elements of political life,—they have been thrust into public position by one of their betters upon whom the country has conferred dignity and power. How the country has been deceived in its choice, the littleness of the acts which have marked at last two years will too faithfully testify.

And it is by fomenting the enmity of this political few that the Republican party looks for its shadow of success in the election of the next President—by the protraction of a schism which is so small that it can work neither good nor evil when brought practically to the test. The few poor shreds of political beggary which Jas. Buchanan has tagged so ignoble to his coat tail for the last year or two, will drift on the first wind, and will not even prove sufficiently strong to operate as a scarecrow. The Republicans, however, can no longer realize hope from such a hand. They are growing "small by degrees, and beautifully less" so fast that there will soon be no record of their existence saving in a receipt for salary or a record of their deficient returns in the books of the treasury. The accessions to the Democratic party of the country are daily and numerous, and with one voice they unite in their selection of a man to fill the forthcoming Presidential chair.

The political tatterdemalions who will oppose that selection from the meanness of personal motives, eschewing truthfulness and honesty in almost all particulars, will retire at last, within the precincts of their own abominable corruption, and learn the folly and cost of shameless conspiracy in politics. Mr. Douglas has beaten them at every turn—whipped them into their own kennel—bearded them in their own den;—and he will continue to beat to whip, and to beard them until they reap the dissatisfying fruits of their own misconduct, and see in his sleazebath the inevitable confusion.

What a worthy friend who would be so kind as to find the slatman. The next day they met, and the lady said, "I called upon you yesterday." Yes, I saw your card on the piano. Mr. Douglas has beaten them at every turn—whipped them into their own kennel—bearded them in their own den;—and he will continue to beat to whip, and to beard them until they reap the dissatisfying fruits of their own misconduct, and see in his sleazebath the inevitable confusion.

What is the difference between a good soldier and a fashionable lady?

Great Excitement in Saline, Mo.

Three negroes hung, and one burned alive. Yesterday, July 20th, at 10 o'clock, the day set apart for the trial of the negroes who murdered Hinton in the adjoining county of Saline, some two months since. It will be remembered that the friends of the deceased manifested a strong disposition to take the law into their own hands at the time of the murderer's arrest, to prevent which Mr. Smith, Sheriff of Saline county, run him off to an adjoining county.

Yesterday the friends of young Hinton went to Marshall, where the trial was to take place, and as soon as he had gone, through the form of trial he was taken by them and burned. Two other negroes, one committed for stabbing a young man, and the other for an attempted rape upon a white woman, were also taken from the jail and hung up to the limb of a tree. Considerable excitement prevailed throughout the day, though these scenes passed off rather more quiet than could have been anticipated.

Night before last a negro man was hung up to a tree by the citizens of Arrow Rock, for committing a rape upon a young white girl. She, with other children, was playing near her home in the dusk of the evening, when he picked her up in his arms, ran with her to the woods, and ravished her. I understand that a number of ladies were present and aided in his execution, and that one lady tied the rope about his neck. This is fulfilling Lynch law upon the negroes with a vengeance—four in less than twenty-four hours—in one county. KENO.

'Manny's Premium' for Twenty acres Winter Wheat, the Growth of 1860.

For the purpose of stimulating the enterprising farmers of Illinois, to produce, by proper and improved cultivation, large crops of wheat, from year to year regularly, upon a given quantity of land, Messrs. Talcott, Emerson & Co., of Rockford, have donated to the State Agricultural Society, a 'Manny's Combined Reaper and Mower'—to be made in the best possible manner. In order that this magnificent premium may be productive of the most good, it is offered for the best crop of winter wheat, to be grown on twenty acres of land in Illinois, and to be harvested in 1860.

The object of publishing this notice at this early period is to stimulate the investigation by our farmers, accompanied by experiments, of the best course of culture to secure good crops, if possible irrespective of the seasons being what are commonly called favorable, or not. It is not desired to award this premium on whoever chances to have the best field, by accident, but to encourage investigations—to try the effect of frequent plowing of the land—of deep sub-soil plowing—of alternating crops—of surface draining—of underdraining—of thorough harrowing—of broadcast and drill sowing—of rolling the ground after sowing. It is desired also to experiment with the different kinds of wheat, now numerous—and the benefits of often changing the seed.

In a word, the object of this premium is to induce through cultivation, and secure a basis upon which a system of cultivation can be inaugurated by which good crops of wheat can be secured by a thorough system of cultivation. Progressive farmers will appreciate the motives of Messrs. Talcott, Emerson & Co., in authorizing the State Society to award this premium; and we are confident they will take such measures to secure the rich prize as will be of vast benefit hereafter to the farmers of Illinois, and to the interests of the State, depending upon their success.

S. FRANCIS, Cor. Sec. Springfield, July 19, 1859.

The rush of emigration from Germany has been arrested by the war. The war caused such an appreciation in the value of real money, and consequently such a depreciation in the price of salable property, that the Germans could not sell their farms and houses and stock for ready money, which they bring with them to invest in the cheap and fertile lands of the West. The return of peace will speedily restore this species of property to its former value, and this, combined with the withdrawal of the extraordinary military restrictions, will tend to increase the amount of emigration for the latter half of the year.

What is the difference between a good soldier and a fashionable lady? One faces the powder and the other powders the face.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ANGLO SAXON. Another Paper, July 30. Gladstone introduced his Annual Exchequer Budget. The following are the principal figures: Revenue for the year, £65,467,000; expenditures of the year, £64,663,000; estimate revenue for the current year, £64,340,000; estimate expenditure, £69,207,000. Mr. Gladstone proposed to add four pence to the income tax on the income over £150, and an half-penny on the income £150 and £100.

The Times' city article says: "The general feeling in regard to the budget can be said to be completely satisfactory. It is to be regretted, however, that there is not even allusion made to the expediency or otherwise of an export duty on coal, the equalization of sugar duties," &c. The necessity that the income tax shall be all levied in half a year is disputed. Le Nord says that although the preliminaries of the treaty of peace have been arranged by the principals at Villafranca, it will then be officially communicated to the courts of Europe in obedience to those organic and international stipulations which form a part of the public law of Europe.

FRANCE.—The announcement of peace is said to have caused signs of commercial improvement in France. The Paris flour market was dull and wheat lower. The Paris correspondent of the London Herald says the greatest activity prevailed all along the French coast. The channel coast was being fortified, and from Cherbourg to Dunkirk earth batteries were being constructed at the distance of every three thousand yards. The Paris Fays says that the whole Imperial Guard, a division of the infantry of the line, and a battalion of Chasseurs selected from the different corps of the army of Italy, had received orders to march immediately for Paris, where they will receive a distinguished reception. On the Paris Bourse rentes closed on the 9th at 68f. 20c.

ITALY.—There were strong indications of discontent in some parts of Italy. Great agitation existed at Florence. The provisional government of Tuscany has issued a proclamation describing the fairest hopes that the Tuscan government participated in, and were the sentiments of the people, and declaring that the Tuscans will not be replaced under the yoke and influence of Austria against their will and rights. Le Nord says that a French corps of 40,000 will remain in Italy until the reorganization of the country according to the treaty of Villafranca.

The Piedmontese correspondent of the Daily News says that fresh Piedmontese troops are going to Romagna, with Napoleon's consent, to maintain order and take away from the Pope all hope of recovering it by the help of the Swiss guards. The most important towns of the Roman States has sent a deputation to confer with Garibaldi in regard to the condition of affairs. Modena and Parma are said to be in a state of revolt. The Austrian troops remain in their present position the same as if peace had not been declared.

The Beautiful.

All the world worships beauty. The infant exhibits unmistakable, though inarticulate delight, on perceiving certain motions or sounds, and is attracted by any bright color or dazzling glitter, be it of the costly jewel or gew-gaw like painted dab, or the marvel of art, flower or star. The young man, "whom she comes whom God sends," finds the whole face of things more lovely may gloried for her sake—beauty—"amid all beauty beautiful," having made for itself a silence in his heart. The old man, "after gazing in silent wonder on the setting sun," speaks kindly to those merry children, who have been gathering buttercups and daisies; his thoughts wander away and dwell with a lingering fondness on "the days that are no more," and as he gives the little one his blessing the subdued sweetness which beames from his face tells that a chastened heart is filled with the "beauty of holiness."

In the speech of Kosciusko, delivered in Cragov, there occurs a passage which deserves enshroument by itself, for its impressive truth and beauty. Here it is: "I have lived too long and too practical a life to do vain things. Sympathy is not a virtue, it is a duty, that flows from the lips of a tender girl, and dies in the whispers of the breeze. People in their individual capacity may know of sympathy, but when a people's aggregate sentiments become collected in the crucible of policy, wishes in the air, like the sympathy when burnt, and nothing there remains but an empty crucible, surrounded with the ashes of gross egoism. The time has not yet come when nations will act from sympathy. What may be done when the world shall know of one Christian nation on earth. Until now, I know of Christian men and women, but I know of no Christian nation, because I know of none which, in its national policy, ever has acted upon the Christian command, "Do unto others as thou wouldst have others do unto thee."

THE TOMATO AS FOOD.—Dr. Bennet, a professor of some celebrity, considers the tomato an invaluable article of diet, and ascribes to it very important medical properties.

1st. That the tomato is one of the most powerful aperients of the liver and other organs; where calomel is indicated, it is probably one of the most effective and the least harmful remedial agent known to the profession. 2d. That a chemical extract will be obtained from it that will supersede the use of calomel in the cure of disease. 3d. That he has successfully treated diarrhea with this article alone. 4th. That when used as an article of diet it is almost sovereign for dyspepsy and indigestion. 5th. That it should be constantly used for daily food, either cooked, raw, or in the form of catsup, it is the most healthy article now in use.

We are authorized to announce the name of Col. J. W. R. MORGAN as a candidate for the office of Treasurer and Assessor, at the ensuing November election. MANY VOTERS.

MR. EDITOR: Your monkey has gone up the tree again—call him down: paint his eyebrows; have him utter some of the big words he has learned; and people not seeing his tail may mistake him for a man.

This is an unpleasant business; to be attacked in print and compelled to fight a nameless adversary. It seems to me that the love of fair play, should make every man my friend in this case. And every woman should remember that the suspicion for which Snyder is whitewashed, is no greater than he deserved even if innocent, for the notorious neglect and abuse of his wife in her last sickness.

Let me repeat some of the epithets of LUCRETIA show that while using abusive language he still has a degree of respect which will "out" in spite of him. The first is Don Quixote; Don Quixote is an ideal personage, in whom are embodied so much learning, chivalry and generosity, as to fill his head more than fell; and consequently he is a little crazy. But then in the next clause when he says "poor Lucina feels like Belshazzar," the wicked king of Assyria, when God wrote on the wall—MENE, MENE, TEKEL, PHAR-SIS,—he certainly implies attributes as belonging to me, which reverence will only allow a mortal to hint at.

Did he dare attack me so foully because he thought "this light of other days" is entirely quenched and intended to belie me to the new-comers in that I was stingy, when every old settler knows that I was as liberal as any man in the county.

In every controversy it is useful to retrace the important points without burying the whole with two columns of words. When, from my own knowledge and the doctor's statement, I suspected Snyder had poisoned his wife, I wrote to her brother, her natural protector, and considered my whole duty done. I was not asked for money to make the examination. I gladly nursed the sick wife, and circumstances compelled me to board the worthless husband. If I had been called on, as a relation, to furnish money, I should have felt it my duty to first pay the doctor's and the coffin-maker's bills.

For doing what I considered my duty, I was attacked with two columns of abuse, thoroughly imbued with falsehood. Though not fearing the dirt thrown would stick, I cast a stone at my nameless assailant and in my answer put in the sworn statement of two respectable men, one of whom is "a gentleman in the highest sense," that your correspondent's statement was false. Now, when proved a liar, he has the impudence to come forward again with a long tirade of foul words. I generally search for causes, and am in this case much puzzled why your correspondent instead of circulating his lies about me, as he had done successfully, should have put a part of them in a shape that they could be disproved, unless some respectable man would cover up by the cry of "Stop thief." I will endeavor when I have more leisure, to send you a certified copy of the testimony of a witness not yet published, and subjoined to it, the certificate of the best known physicians in the cities and in the country, that "any man who would thus wantonly, is totally destitute of knowledge in that branch of medicine or regardless of the sanctity of an oath." E. NORRIS.

WE DO NOT HESITATE TO ASSERT
WHAT ALL ARE BY RESULTS,
Compelled to Admit,

That in Dr. Mann's Ague Balsam we have a perfectly triumphant remedy for chills fever and ague and all diseases arising from a diseased or inactive condition of the liver. Indeed it will never fail, and the one who fails to use it at once will deeply regret the neglect. Reader you will never again shake or have fever that season if you take it as per directions, and continue until the system is perfectly restored; if this be done there will be no one who will suffer long from chills, fever and ague.

Bucyrus, Ohio, Feb. 29th 1858
Dr. Mann & Co., Gallon, Ohio.—Gents: We are at a loss to find language sufficient to portray to the public the great esteem in which your Celebrated Ague Balsam is held in this community. The fact is it never fails to cure ague in its worst forms, and we can sell nothing else.
Yours, &c.,
Hologert & Taylor, Druggists,
Corinth, Miss., Oct. 20th 1857.

Messrs. S. K. Mann & Co.—Gents: Having procured a supply of your Ague Balsam, and testing it thoroughly in many severe cases of long standing, where all the popular remedies of the day had failed, I found in all cases your Balsam effected a safe and speedy cure. It is just the medicine we want here in the south.
Respectfully Yours,
Joseph Buchanan, Druggist,
Gallion, May 9th 1858.

Messrs. S. K. Mann & Co.
Gentlemen—I would say for the benefit of those suffering with chills fever and ague, that I can confidently recommend your Ague Balsam to do what it is recommended to do, having used it myself, and in my family also; have known it used in many other cases, where it has universally proved effectual; leaving the patient soundly cured. I give this for the benefit of all whom it may concern.
B. F. Mathias,
St. Louis, Sept. 10th 1858.

Messrs. S. K. Mann & Co.
Gentlemen—After using several other preparations for fever and ague, and only getting partial relief, for the disease soon returned again on me, I took two bottles of your Ague Balsam, and I have had neither chill nor fever since I took first dose. I believe it to be the only thing that will never fail, and hence I recommend it to others.
Yours Truly,
J. G. Wilcox,
Alexandria, Mo., June, 1858.

Messrs. S. K. Mann & Co.
Gentlemen—Please send us 4 doz. of your Ague Balsam. It gives the best satisfaction of any ague preparation we have had in our place. The fact is, it never fails when properly taken.
Respectfully Yours,
Moore & Scott.

THE GREATEST
MEDICAL DISCOVERY
OF THE AGE.

DR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, From the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple.
Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth. One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Two or three bottles will clear the system of bile.
Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the stomach.
Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of erysipelas.
One or two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
Fifteen to twenty bottles will cure sealy eruptions of the skin.
Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of ringworm.
Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
One to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of dyspepsia. I know from the experience of thousands that it has been caused by canker in the stomach.
One or two bottles are warranted to cure sick headache.
One to two bottles are warranted to regulate a costive state of the bowels.
One to two bottles will regulate all derangement of the kidneys.
Four to six bottles have cured the worst cases of dropsy.
One to three have cured the worst cases of piles: a relief is always experienced; what a mercy to get relief in such an excruciating disease! A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.
No change of diet ever necessary; eat the best you can get and enough of it.
MEDICAL DISCOVERY is admirably adapted to the western country where FEVER AND AGUE, DYSENTERY, BILIOUS COLIC, BILIOUS FEVER, LIVER DERANGEMENTS, are so prevalent in their respective seasons. The great cause of the prevalence of these diseases is that many have secreted in their system some

Putrid and Fatal Humor which is the source of all diseases, and many a young man and woman in the BLOOM OF LIFE are wasting away whose faded cheeks and sunken eyes warn their friends of a speedy dissolution through the effects of some

Acrid Humor preying upon the vitals, and many thousands die annually from the effects of these humors, who, if they but purify their blood with a few bottles of Medical Discovery would live to a ripe old age.
Another great cause of diseases is Costiveness; for this the Discovery is an infallible remedy, its action on the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels is all that you could desire.
For Scrofulous Ulcers you will follow the directions in pamphlet around the bottle.
For Ulcerated Sore Legs you will find full directions in the pamphlet.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE—Adults, one table spoonful per day; children over ten years, dessert spoonful; children from five to eight years, tea spoonful. As no directions can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.
