THE TEST OF LOVE.

"If I ever marry," said Margaret

Bailey to her cousin Olivia, "it will be a man who does not live entirely for himself, but who, out of the benevolence of a charitable heart, will not pass unheeded the cry of the widow and orphan who call on him for relief."

You speak warmly, Margaret.

"Because I feel it. I have always thought that a charitable man would make a good husband."

"But how will you be able to judge of this? You are an heiress, and of course you have many suitors. Do you not believe that any one of them would be willing to don a charitable mood for a while, if they supposed that upon this issue depended the hand of the wealthy heiress?"

"Perhaps you are right," said Margaret, thoughtfully; "but she added suddenly, 'an idea has just come into my head, by which I think this embarrassment can be avoided.'"

"What is it?" asked Olivia, curiously.

"Let me confess, in the first place, that among all who are generally considered suitors for my hand—perhaps fortune would be the most appropriate word—there is none whom I would think of as a husband except Herbert Lee and Henry Ainsworth. The former, you know, is wealthy, and the latter, a clerk, dependent on his income, which, I should judge, was not large. Now, I have a mind to subject these two to a test."

"A good idea; but how will you manage it?" asked Olivia.

"You know that there is a poor family on Allen-street, one of whom we heard to-day consisting of a mother, who is sick, and three young children. Now I'm going anonymously of course—to recommend to the charitable offices of both Herbert Lee and Henry Ainsworth, and we will see the result. They will not recognize your hand writing; therefore I want you to take a pen and paper and write a note to my dictation."

Olivia procured the writing material, and her cousin dictated as follows:

"DEAR SIR:—Though a stranger to you, I take the liberty of calling your attention to the cause of my poor family now living in a single room on Allen-street, who, in consequence of the illness of the mother, who has supported them by plain sewing, are reduced to extreme want. A little aid at this time would be to them like the visit of an angel from heaven. Will you extend it? At least, call upon them, and you will be convinced that this is but a simple, plain statement of the truth."

The note was copied and dispatched through the post-office to the address of both gentlemen.

Perhaps three days afterwards, Herbert called at Margaret's residence.—Margaret adroitly led the conversation to the subject of charity and charitable institutions.

"Ah," said Herbert Lee, "that reminds me of an odd circumstance. I received a letter the other day recommending to my notice a poor family in Allen-street. It was signed Charity, and advised me to go and see them."

"And did you?" asked Margaret, quickly.

"No," was the laughing reply. "I haven't time to waste in hunting up all the destitute families in the city. I should have my hands full."

"But the family may be suffering from want."

"If they are, Charity would be in better business in relieving them himself than in sending anonymous letters of advice to others."

Would Herbert Lee have laughed so merrily if he had known the effect of his want of feeling on her whom he was most anxious to please?

"I think, after all," said Margaret, when Herbert had withdrawn, "that I must go and see Mrs. Green, myself. If Henry Ainsworth is no more charitable than Herbert, he will fare very hard."

The ladies arrayed themselves for a walk. A few minutes brought them to the residence of the widow of whom they were in search.

To their surprise they found, on being admitted, the cheerful fire was glowing in the stove, while a pleasant smell of dinner filled the apartment.—On the table by the side of the widow was some medicine. The hearth was brushed up, and the room, though scantily furnished, presented a neat and very comfortable appearance.

Margaret looked around in surprise.

"I was led to believe," said she, "that you were in great want."

"So we were," said Mrs. Green; "but thanks to the generosity of a noble young man who stepped forward to our relief, we are no longer so."

"Indeed! who was it that thus befriended you?"

"His name is Ainsworth. He sent for me, and at his own cost purchased food and coal, so that, by the blessing of God I hope soon to regain my health and then all will go right once more."

After a little more conversation Margaret and her cousin withdrew, leaving with Mrs. Green some money for present necessities.

That evening Herbert Lee offered his hand to Margaret Bailey, and to his surprise, no less his discomfiture, she refused.

One week afterwards Henry Ainsworth made his appearance. He seemed unusually thoughtful.

"A penny for your thoughts," said Margaret, gaily.

He looked at her earnestly a moment, and then replied:—

"I will indeed tell you the subject of my thoughts, and ask you to forgive me afterwards. It is, I know, an act of presumption for a poor clerk to speak of love—of marriage to a wealthy heiress, but I cannot keep it a secret any longer. I love you, Margaret, with truth and sincerity. Do you pardon me?"

"No," said Margaret, promptly, "for you have said nothing that requires it; and if you do indeed think me worthy of taking, you may have me and welcome."

"Do I hear aright?" was the delighted reply. "How have I deserved such good fortune?"

"Listen and I will tell you. I had resolved never to marry, unless I was convinced that he was charitable. Last week you received an anonymous letter recommending a poor family to your charitable notice. I find that you have visited them and relieved their necessities. I feel that I can safely trust my happiness is your hands, since you have nobly stood the test."

"Truly," said Henry Ainsworth, as his eyes lighted up with gratitude, "charity is its own exceeding great reward."

THE PRINTER AND THE PRESS.

The Printers! How I love them!

For what you'd hardly guess:

Love them for patient, honest toil,

Their fellow-men to bless.

They falter not, though oftentimes,

These poor men go unpaid:

And every line the sheet contains,

Is sent without our aid.

How ignorant we all should be,

Without them and the Press,

To furnish, for our furnished minds,

A "Literary Mess."

The Printers and the Press,

God bless them, day by day,

For every high and noble thought

They shed around our way.

May wreaths of heavenly love entwine

The Press Lavinia's soul,

When knowledge spreads from clime to clime,

And truth from pole to pole. [clime,

A SPEECH ON TEMPERANCE.

BY J. M. HUME, M. D.

Ye friends of moderation,

Who think of reformation

Of moral renovation

Would benefit the nation—

Who deem intoxication,

With all its dissipation,

In every rank and station,

The cause of degradation,

Of which your observation,

Gives daily demonstration,

Who see the ruination,

Distress and degradation,

The open violation

Of moral obligation,

The wretched habitation,

Without accommodation,

Or any regulation

For common sustentation—

A scene of depravation,

Unequaled in creation—

The frequent desecration

Of Sabbath ordination—

The crime and depredation,

Defying legislation—

The awful profanation

Of common conversation—

The mental abomination,

And dire infatuation.

With every sad gradation

To maniac desperation.

Ye, who, with consternation,

Behold this devastation,

And utter condemnation

On all inebriation:

Why sanction its duration?

Or show disapprobation

For its extermination?

We deem a declaration

That offers no temptation,

By any palliation,

Of this abomination,

The only sure foundation

For its extirpation;

And under this persuasion

Hold no communication

With noxious emanation

From brewers fermentation,

Or poisonous preparation

Of spirit's distillation,

Nor any vain libation

Producing stimulation.

To this determination

We call consideration,

And, without hesitation,

Invite co-operation.

Not doubting imitation

Will raise your estimation.

And, by continuation,

Afford your consolation;

For, in participation

With this association,

You may, by meditation,

Insure the preservation

Of a future generation

From all contamination;

And may each indication

Of such regeneration

Be the theme of exultation

Till its final consummation.

CHAPTER I.

In a beautiful log cabin in the mountains of Old Virginia our tale opens. Around Nature's wild loveliness was sublime. The lofty trees hung out their green leaves in perfection, and the high rocks caught the gray mists of the morning and pressed them to their rough bosoms, until they melted in tears against their sides. A lovely maiden was sitting by a table, combing her hair with a fine-tooth comb—a manly form entered the door, and stealthily creeps up behind her, and—

CHAPTER II.

"Ah, John!" exclaimed the lovely heiress of that beautiful cabin and the extensive potatoe patch behind it, "you ought not to do that way!"

"Lay it all on my love, gal."

"Love! There's no such thing among folks!"

The turtle-dove,

Only knows love,

as the poet sings.

"Then you don't love me."

"No!"

"No! Jane call back that word!"

"No! oh, no! come back here!"

"Twon't come John—'tis gone."

"Then I'm gone too!" the impassioned youth rushed from the lovely cabin like a maniac.

CHAPTER III.

Sadly did the young man run along the road, while the girl, firm and submissive in the discharge of her duty, proceeded to fry some onions for dinner. Meanwhile the youth rushed madly on; the burning fever of his heart maddened in his brain, and he thought of self destruction. Jerking his pocket comb from his vest pocket, vainly did he try to cut his throat. Nature, however, who blessed him with a tough hide, proved to strong for him; but he was not to be balked that way—he rushed to a wagon rut, where there was water at least two inches deep, and threw himself into it. There he lay for full five seconds, when Henry Cleft, Esq., the father of the girl, passed by.

CHAPTER IV.

John soon unfolded his sad tale to his friend, and finally consented to live if Mr. Cleft would give him a chew of tobacco. He returned to the house, and in his haggard countenance Jane saw his unhappy condition. He never got over it though. About twenty years after, he fell from a wagon, and his neck was broken, for a sheriff had thoughtlessly slipped a rope around it.

THE END.

"That was a horrible affair—the murder of Dean, and the sealing up of his remains in a tin box!" "What Dean?" asked a half-dozen voices at once. "Sar-Dean!"

For the benefit of those who did not see the great comet last year, we will mention that it will appear again during the autumn of 2147.

Romantic Murder Case.

The following singular circumstance related in a German journal, is worthy of serving as a pendant to that of the famous Dog of Montargis:—"A wealthy tanner named Kraits, residing in the neighborhood of Sins, in the Arch-duchy of Austria, was in the habit of making journeys several times a year to sell his goods and enter into contracts for supplies of different kinds. These rounds generally occupy him about ten days or a fortnight. On the morning of the 12th of October last, he started as usual, but the same night his wife and son were surprised at hearing his cabriolet come up to the door, and their surprise was changed into horror on finding in the vehicle the lifeless body of the tanner weltering in his blood. The horse, finding itself at liberty, had returned home. The authorities had made inquiries, but without leading to the discovery of the murderer. The tanner had with him a large and powerful dog, but as the animal was fastened under the cabriolet he could not render any assistance to his master. After the death of the tanner, his son, a young man about twenty-five years of age, took on himself the management of the business, and like his father, made the usual journeys. About a fortnight ago, in passing near a roadside public house, at the door of which the landlord was sitting, smoking his pipe, the same dog which had been in the habit of accompanying the father, and which was running along quietly by the side of the vehicle, began to bark in the most violent manner, and rushed towards the house. The man, seeing its approach, ran in and closed the door, while the dog kept howling and barking most violently. A suspicion immediately entered the mind of the young man, but, instead of showing what he felt by any movement which might have been observed by the inmates of the house, he fastened the dog beneath the cabriolet, and, driving on to the nearest town, gave information to the authorities. Some police officers were immediately sent to the house, and in it were found the empty money-bag of the tanner, his watch, and his pocket-book. The landlord and his wife were immediately arrested, and will be tried for the crime.

A CHILD WITH TWO HEADS.—On the 18th of September last, John and Mary Ward, at Palmyra, Maine, had a child born to them with two heads. The first, a natural head, seemed as nearly perfect as that of an infant usually—the second, or unnatural head, was connected by a neck of about the usual length and size, to the back or posterior part of the first one, a little above the point where the head and neck naturally join. Both heads were of about the same size and facing opposite ways. Hair grew perfectly natural on both scalps, but the second head was entirely wanting in features—there were a few small irregularities where the face or features should have been, appearing as if nature had attempted to form features, but without success. The health of the child seemed good, and it grew well until the 10th of October, when the unnatural head was successfully amputated at the neck by Dr. Mason, of Pittsfield; a dissection of this showed the skull to be composed of bone and cartilage; also what have been bone in the neck proved to be cartilage. The head contained a substance almost perfectly resembling brain, but of less density. At last accounts the child was fast recovering.

FOR PRESIDENT IN 1860.

HON. STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS.

Harper's Ferry Again.

As we predicted sometime ago, the leading Republican journals of the country, begin to take their position on the side of old Brown. When we saw the persistent efforts that were made from the start by the New York Tribune and kindred prints, to create a sympathy in favor of Brown and his fellow-murderers, we felt certain that they were only preparing the minds of their followers, to seize hold of the execution of these condemned criminals, as another pretext to fan the flame of sectional excitement between the North and South, and thus hold the Republican party together for the next Presidential election. We are well aware that without the excitement and bad feeling engendered during the last Presidential canvass, by the murders and other outrages perpetrated in Kansas, mainly through the instigation of demagogues in the East, that the Republican party would have suffered such an overwhelming defeat, as forever to have put at rest all hope of the success of a political party built up upon the prejudices of the Northern people against the institution of slavery. And notwithstanding the irritation growing out of the Kansas difficulties, has left many wounds to heal before the people of the North and South can again live together upon the amicable terms that formerly subsisted between them, yet the political desperadoes who have staked their all upon the continuance of the "irrepressible conflict" between the two sections, dreading the reaction that must follow if the public mind is suffered to cool down to the reasoning point, seize upon every pretext to open afresh the bleeding wounds. Virginia seizes upon a desperate band of murderers, taken in the very act, upon her own soil, which is still wet with the blood of her citizens; she gives the criminals a fair trial according to the laws of the commonwealth, and as everybody could easily foresee, they are condemned to death. Does any man honestly believe them to be innocent? We suppose not. Yet every act of the court, jury, and counsel, as well as of the excited community in which the daring outrage was committed, is criticised with the greatest severity by leading Black Republican journals, with a view to bring our Southern brethren into contempt. Because the authorities of Virginia have been prompt to punish the violators of Virginia law, they are denounced as worse than Jeffries—because the people of Virginia have not kept perfectly cool, with their murdered brethren weltering in their blood before them, they are denounced by such pinks of perfection as Greeley, as the merest barbarians. There is a cause for all this. The negro excitement will die out unless it is fed, and those who fed it on murder and bloodshed in Kansas, will try the same in Virginia, so far as they safely can.

When we hear men of intelligence smothering over rough places in old Brown's career, and severely criticising the conduct of Virginia in her conduct toward him, we set them down as Brown Republicans.

Democratic Meeting.

The Democracy of Moultrie county are requested to meet at the Court House in Sullivan, on Saturday the 24th day of December, 1859, at 1 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of appointing two delegates to the Democratic State Convention to be held at Springfield on the 4th day of January next. A general attendance from all parts of the county is requested.

By order of the County Executive Committee.

The Fall Elections.

The Osawatomies have done a deal of crowing over the fall elections. They are only whistling to keep their courage up. Iowa, which at the recent election went Republican by 3,000, gave Fremont a majority of 16,000. Wisconsin, where their majority at the late election is less than 1,000, gave Fremont, if we remember rightly, about 8,000 majority. But they have crowed loudest and longest over the State election in New York. But as the smoke of battle clears away, we find that the Democrats have elected all the most important State officers, by majorities ranging from 300 to 2,500. Our readers will remember that Fremont led Buchanan in that State, 80,000 to 100,000.

The only States in which the Democracy have been worsted are Pennsylvania and New Jersey; and in these States our enemies have taken advantage of foolish divisions in our ranks by running a people's ticket, composed of a mixture of Republicans, Americans, and sore-headed Democrats, thus achieving a temporary victory.

The pressure of the Presidential election to come off next year will drive the traitors in those States into the camp of the enemy, where they will no longer have the power to foment divisions in the Democratic party; and when the Democratic column moves in a compact body in those States, they will scatter the Brown Republicans like chaff before the whirlwind. When the Democratic party ceases to quarrel about rival candidates for the Presidency, and puts a quietus upon an unprofitable discussion of abstractions and impracticable issues, the great old party will again stand erect and bid defiance to every foe. E.

Judge Douglas.

The telegraph operators and a few sensation newspapers have, for the past few days, attempted to create an excitement throughout the country by giving publicity to various rumors in regard to Judge Douglas' health. They need not trouble themselves. The people cannot spare Judge Douglas now, and inasmuch as Providence is always with the people when they are right, He will not call Judge Douglas home till after 1864. The conservative people of the United States and the mass of the Democratic party want Judge Douglas for President of the United States.—Herald, St. Louis.

Disturbances in Virginia.

Several telegrams in this morning's impression, from various points in Virginia, indicate a renewal of Abolition disturbances. It is believed at Charlestown that it is seriously in contemplation to attempt the rescue of old Brown. Numerous barns have been fired, and threatening demonstrations are made in other ways. Great uneasiness is felt in all parts of Virginia. If by these wicked and foolish menaces the Abolitionists think to aid old Brown, they sadly misjudge. Perhaps it will be deemed prudent by Gov. Wise to hang the murderers and insurgents at once and have done with the business.—Chicago Times, 18.

"So here I am between two terrors, said a fox at a public table, where a couple of young tailors were seated. "True," was the reply. "We are new beginners and can only afford to keep one goose between us!"

Rescue Rumors.

Richmond, Nov. 17, p. m. A dispatch was received this evening from Col. Davis, at Charlestown, to Gov. Wise, requesting him to send immediately two companies of cavalry, and stating that five barns and out-houses had been fired to day—it was supposed by sympathizers of Brown.

Harper's Ferry, midnight, 17. A messenger has been sent to Charlestown to obtain reliable information regarding events there, but he has not yet returned. Great excitement exists here, and armed guards are patrolling the streets and roads. It is rumored that 280 men, armed with pistols, are encamped near Barryville, a town near Charlestown, meditating the rescue of Brown. The report is too improbable for any confidence to be placed in it.

Harper's Ferry, Nov. 18—2 a. m. The messenger dispatched to Charlestown has not yet returned. He left at 10 o'clock and was to have been back in two hours and a half. It is probable that he has been detained by some of the guards.

Harper's Ferry, Nov. 18. The messenger sent to Charlestown last night was detained outside of this town over two hours and a half before the guard would permit his departure, and he was also detained till 4 o'clock on his return.

A large fire occurred during the night about four miles from Charlestown, and the military were ordered out, expecting an attack, but none was made. The particulars of the fire could not be ascertained by the messenger, but they will probably be ascertained on the arrival of the trains from Winchester.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 18. Six companies of military are under arms ready to start for Charlestown at a moment's warning. None have left yet.

Washington, Nov. 18. A company containing 87 infantry and riflemen left Alexandria for Charlestown by the early train via the Relay house. Capt. Duffy's company of 60 men and 4 guns went by a special train on the Manassas road via Strasburg; from thence they are to march 18 miles to Winchester.

The Latest Report.—Full credence is not given to the above.

An Experiment Easily Made.

"If any of the readers or borrowers of this paper should be so ill prepared for the winter feeding of his stock as to have nothing beside dry hay for them—nothing even for his cow, or cows but dry feed, let him be assured that his cattle are suffering in comfort, and that he is suffering in purse, on account of his not having provided some additional food. If he doubt this assertion, let him put an end to this doubt by an experiment of no great expense or difficulty. Let him procure from a neighbor a few bushels of turnips, carrots, parsnips, mangolds or beets or any other roots used in feeding. Let him also procure some bran, shorts or meal of corn and cob ground together, oil-cake meal, or anything of the kind. And now, regularly once or twice a day let him cut hay enough to fill nearly a bushel basket, slice up one or two pecks of any of the above named roots, put them into a half-barrel tub, add to two quarts of any of the meals which we have named, and then pour on a pailful of hot water. When all these are well stirred together with the additional, sometimes, or regularly, of a little salt, say one teaspoonful or so, and the mess of the proper temperature let the cow with which you are trying this experiment have the mixture. Perhaps the best time to let a cow have such a mess is just before milking time. She will be the more likely to give down milk freely.

Having noted the quantity of milk given before this experiment, and also the quantity and color of the butter, make a note of the same things during the time of your experiment, which ought to continue not less than four weeks. Calculate the returns you have received in increase of milk and butter, both as to quantity and quality, not forgetting the increased comfort of a creature made dependent on you therefor. If the result is not a resolution that next year you will raise your own roots, and feed your cows some such way, then we are mistaken."

FATAL COUSING NAR.—A young man and woman were courting last Saturday evening at the house of Mr. Blackwell, in Slopewell Township, N. J., and both fell asleep while sitting beside a warm stove. During their nap the dress of the young lady took fire, and when they awoke her clothes were all in flames. She was so shockingly burned that she lived but a few hours. The young man was also seriously injured by the fire in his efforts to save his companion. They were engaged to be married, and the young woman had made her wedding purchases on the day of the accident.

A Good Preach.

If we can't practice everything we preach, it is no sign we should hold our peace, for them what good things would be lost! As this, for instance:—

Take life like a man. (Why is it not also to be said—take life like a woman!) Take it just as though it was—as it is—an earnest, vital, essential affair. Take it just as though you personally were born to the task of performing a merry part in it—as though the world had waited for your coming. Take it as though it was a grand opportunity to do and to achieve; to carry forward great and good schemes; to help and cheer a suffering, weary, it may be, a heart-broken mother. The fact is, life is undervalued by a great majority of mankind. It is not made half as much of as should be the case. Where is the man or woman who accomplishes one tithe of what might be done? Who cannot look back upon opportunities lost, plans unachieved, thoughts crushed, aspirations unfulfilled, and all caused from the lack of the necessary and possible effort? If we knew better how to take and make the best of life, it would probably be far greater than it is. Now and then a man stands aside from the crowd, and straight way becomes famous for wisdom, intellect, skill, or greatness of some sort. The world wonders, admires, idolizes; and yet it only illustrates what each may do, if he takes hold of life with a purpose. If a man but say he will, and follows it up, there is nothing in reason he may not expect to accomplish. There is no magic, no miracle, no secret to him who is brave in heart, determined in spirit.

Pretty good preach, dear Boudoir guest: now go out and practice it, for us!

A Sensible Widow's Opinion.

A strong-minded woman, out West, in commenting upon the circumstance of the elopement of the wife of one of her neighbors with the husband of another, indignantly repudiates the idea that the woman was 'seduced.' Hear her:— "Does not all the world know that it is much easier for a fascinating, designing woman to lead men from the path of rectitude than it is to turn a virtuous woman from a known path of duty? And if a married woman has not moral rectitude to keep her from that most degrading bondage, of yielding her person to go at the beck and nod of unprincipled men; if she has not sufficient virtue to keep her from such a course, she is equally guilty with him. There is no 'seduction' in such a case. Talk of the seduction of a married woman! If she was not a criminal at heart how long do you suppose she would listen to seductive words? My blood boils with indignation. I fairly pant from exhaustion of anger to hear the remarks made by society in such cases. It is an outrage on womankind. It places us on no equality with men at all. It places a woman's soul in most abject servitude to those monstrous lords of creation with oily tongues. I object to any opinion that does not accord to women sufficient intellect to know what is right and what is wrong, and the ability to act in accordance."

No Mother.

"She has no mother." What a volume of sorrowful truth is comprised in that single utterance—no mother! We must go down the hard, rough path of life, and be injured to care and sorrow in their sternest forms, before we can take home to our own experience the dreadful reality—no mother—without a struggle and a tear.

But when it is said of a frail young girl just passing from childhood towards the life of a woman, how sad is the story summed up in that one short sentence.

Who now shall administer the needed counsel? Who now shall check the wayward fancies? Who now shall bear with the errors and failings of the motherless daughter?

Let not the cup of sorrow be overflowed by the harshness of your bearing or your sympathizing coldness. Is she heedless of her doings? Is she forgetful of her duty? Is she careless in her movement?

Remember, oh! remember, she has no mother!

A single drop of ink has moved millions of men.

THE GLOBE.

The Official Paper of Congress. I publish now my annual prospectus of THE DAILY GLOBE and the CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE and APPENDIX, to remind subscribers and inform those who may desire to subscribe, that Congress will meet on the 1st day of next December, when I shall recommence publishing the above named papers. They have been published so long, that most public men know their character, and therefore I deem it needless to give a minute account of the kind of matter they will contain.

THE DAILY GLOBE will contain a report of the debates in both branches of Congress taken down by reporters equal, at least, to any corps of shorthand writers in this or in any other country. A majority of them will each be able to report, verbatim, ten thousand words an hour, while the average number of words spoken by fluent speakers rarely exceed seven thousand five hundred words an hour. When the debates of a day do not make more than forty-five columns, they will appear in THE DAILY GLOBE of the next morning, which will contain, also, the news of the day together with such editorial articles as may be suggested by passing events. THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX will contain a report of all the debates in Congress, revised by the speakers, the messages of the President of the United States, the annual reports of the heads of the Executive Departments, the laws passed during the session, and copious indexes to all. They will be printed on a double royal sheet, in book form royal quarto size, each number containing sixteen pages. The whole will make, it is believed, between 3,800 and 3,900 pages, the long sessions for many years past having ranged between those numbers, and the next session will be a long one. This, I believe is the cheapest work ever sold in any country, whether a reprint, or printed from manuscript copy, asking for ditto the average number of words on a page is 2,307, consequently the average number of words of a long session is 9,200,772. As I have sold to subscribers that number of words for six dollars, it follows that they have paid less than six and one-half cents for every 100,000 words I have furnished them, while I have paid my reporters $6 20 for every 2,307 words of this work in manuscript.

The coming session will, without doubt, be an unusually interesting one because the candidates of the respective parties for President and Vice-President of the United States will be nominated before it closes, and therefore, the debates will be mostly on such political questions as, it may be thought, will tend to influence public opinion in regard to the persons to be supported for these offices, and the GLOBE will be, as it has been for many years past, the only source from which the full debates of Congress can be obtained.

THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX pass free through the mails of the United States, as will be seen by reading the following Joint Resolutions passed by Congress Feb. 6th of August, 1852:

JOINT RESOLUTIONS providing for the distribution of the Laws of Congress and the Debates thereon.

With a view to the cheap circulation of the laws of Congress and the debates contributing to the true interpretation thereof, and to make free the communication between the representative and constituent bodies—

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That from and after the present session of Congress, THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX, which contains the laws and the debates thereon, shall pass free through the mails so long as the same shall be published by order of Congress: Provided, That nothing herein shall be construed to authorize the circulation of the DAILY GLOBE free of postage.

Approved August 6, 1852.

For a copy of the DAILY GLOBE during the session $5 00
For one copy of THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX during the session $6 00
For two copies ditto, when ordered at the same time $10 00
No attention will be paid to any order unless the money accompany it.
Bank notes, current in the section of country where subscriber resides, will be received at par. The whole or any part of the subscription may be remitted in postage stamps, which is preferable to any currency, except gold or silver.

I cannot afford to exchange with all the newspapers that desire the GLOBE; but I will send the DAILY GLOBE during the session to the editors of those papers who publish this Prospectus three times before the first Monday of next December, and send to me one number of their paper containing it, marked with a post to direct my attention to it.

VICTORIOUS OVER PAIN
DR. BRAGG'S ARCTIC LINIMENT.
Agony or ease!—Sickness or health!—Life or death! These are the questions involved in the adoption or rejection of this specific for the martyrs to external diseases and injuries. Having received the endorsement of the distinguished DR. KANE, and its efficacy tested during two winter seasons in the regions of eternal cold, it is now coming into general use in every section of the civilized globe, and its marvelous cures are everywhere exciting astonishment.

THE AFFLICTED REJOICE.
HUNDREDS and THOUSANDS have tested its virtues, and are rejoicing in freedom from long lingering PAIN and DISEASE, which other remedies had failed to cure. Have you Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Toothache, Ache in the joints, Stomach, or Sore Throat? Are you afflicted with Old Sores—Suffering from Bruises, Strains, Corns, Sore Eyes, Piles?
THE ARCTIC LINIMENT will afford you instant relief.
Everybody is liable to

BURNS AND SCALDS.
For those dreadful accidents the ARCTIC LINIMENT should be kept on hand, for it affords sure and immediate relief, often saving from death. Every steamboat and railroad train should keep it. Who that has heard the shrieks of anguish uttered by the sea and land victims of explosions and collisions, does not feel that some means of relieving their suffering should always be accessible? Such a means exist in this balmy pain controlling agent.

THE MOTHER'S COMPANION.
It cures Cakes in the Breast, Sore Nipples, sore Lips, Pimples, &c. Ladies who prize a pure skin, void of pimples, blotches, and all discolorations and excrescences, should at once use this preparation on beauty's domain as soon as they appear with the Arctic Liniment. It is excellent for the hair, giving it a healthy glossy appearance. It is

Good for Man and Beast.
It is a sovereign remedy for the various diseases with which horses are afflicted, curing the most alarming cases of Bruises, Sprains, Strains, Ring-bones, Head-ache, Poll-evil, &c. No farmer, livery stable keeper, or any person owning valuable horses, should be without this valuable remedy.
For sale by all respectable druggists & dealers. Price of the Liniment, 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1 a bottle. A one-dollar bottle contains as much Liniment as eight 25 cent bottles.

Extraordinary Announcement.
Every purchaser of a dollar bottle of the ARCTIC LINIMENT receives, at Dr. Bragg's expense, the UNITED STATES JOURNAL, of New York, for one year. The Journal is a large illustrated paper—each number containing sixteen pages, beautifully printed on clear white paper, and filled with original matter from the most brilliant writers of the country. Of the novel and full particulars of the novel and philanthropic enterprise, of which this offer forms a part, will accompany each bottle.
An AGENT WANTED in EVERY TOWN and VILLAGE.

WE DO NOT HESITATE TO A SERT
WHAT ALL ARE BY RESULTS,
Compelled to Admit,
Viz: That in Dr. Mann's Ague Balsam we have a perfectly triumphant remedy for chills fever and ague and all diseases arising from a diseased or morbid condition of the liver.
Indeed it will never fail, and the one who fails to use it at once will deeply regret the neglect. Reader you will never again shake or have fever that season if you take it as per directions, and continue until the system is perfectly re-established; if this be done there will be no one who will suffer long from chills, fever and ague.

Dr. Mann & Co., Galien, Feb. 25th 1858
Gentlemen:—I would say for the benefit of those suffering with chills fever and ague, that I am confident, recommend your Ague Balsam as it is what it is recommended to do, having used it myself, and in my family also; have known it used in many other cases, where it has universally proved effectual; leaving the patient soundly cured. I give this for the benefit of all whom it may concern.
Respectfully Yours,

How to MAKE MONEY.—We will tell the secret to our young men. Enter the Commercial College of Bryant, Bell & Stratton, in Chicago, as soon as you can, and go through the course of study thoroughly. You can thus qualify yourselves to fill the most respectable and lucrative situations in business and receive the very highest salaries, or fit yourselves to conduct business intelligently on your own account, and advance your position and prospect. The cost of this education is trifling—to acquire it requires only some eight or ten weeks, and we sincerely believe it will prove the best paying capital invested by a young man in these hard times. As was to be expected, the highest premiums for "best business penmanship" and for "best book-keeping" were awarded at the late United States Fair in Chicago to this popular Institution. The principals are at the very head of their profession, and the excellence and superiority of its course of study, the peculiar mode of instruction adopted in it, and the substantial benefits that result from its labors to our whole community, gives it a proud and pre-eminent position in the public estimation, and places its merits entirely beyond competition. The patronage of this College is certainly extraordinary and it is really to be hoped that our young men will be true to themselves and make every effort to acquire the valuable education which this famous institution affords. See their advertisement.

Arthur's Ladies' Home Magazine.
Is now admitted by the press in all parts of the union, to be, without question, the leading Two Dollar Magazine published. To gain this distinction, was the aim of all parties interested in the work; and no expense was spared to give its readers choice original literature, fine engravings, and beautiful typography. For 1859, the work is to be still further advanced in excellence, and having distanced the two dollar magazines in all the essentials of a first class periodical, it will offer new attractions, and emulate its higher priced and more ambitious competitors.

The plan and purpose of the Magazine will remain the same. Its aim is to bring to the homes of the people a pure, useful and attractive literature; and in doing so, it offers, at the same, the elegancies of art, to charm the eye and improve the taste. As in periodicals of this class, matters of fashion for the ladies are included, the Home Magazine presents the latest styles, both in colored steel plates and engravings on wood; in which are included an almost endless variety of patterns for needlework and embroidery.
The price of this Magazine is within the reach of all. Think of getting the monthly visits of such a work at $1.25 a year, which is the price when four copies are subscribed for in a Club. Terms, $2.00 a year; Two copies for $3.00; Four copies for $5.00; Twelve copies for $15.00, and an extra one to the getter up of the club.
Address T. S. ARTHUR & Co., 323 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

We have received the first No of Moudy's new paper—it is a spicy sheet; and what is better still, it is in favor of Judge Douglas for the next President. Go it your best, Jim.

If then will live comfortably, let God alone with his providence, and man with his rights.
The difference between a young girl and an old hat is merely that of time. One has feeling, and the other fails.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION.
PHILADELPHIA.
A Benevolent Institution established by Special Endowment for the Relief of the Sick and Distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic Diseases.

The Howard Association, in view of the awful destruction of human life caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practiced upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases, in all their forms, and to give medical advice gratis to all who apply by letter with a description of their condition (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty, to furnish medicine free of charge. It is needless to add that the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of their surgeons in the cure of Spermatorrhea, Seminal Weakness, Gonorrhea, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism, or Self abuse, Disease of the Kidneys and Bladder, &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.
An admirable Report on Spermatorrhea, or Seminal Weakness, the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope), free of charge, on receipt of two stamps for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of Sexual disease, diet, &c., are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution, and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year, are of great value.

Address, for Report or treatment, Dr. J. SKILLIN HOUGHTON, Acting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2 south ninth street, Philadelphia, Pa.
By order of the Directors, EDRA D. HEARTWELL, President. GEO. FAIRCHILD, Secretary.

New York Weekly.
A Handsome Quarto Publication, BEAUTIFULLY ILLUSTRATED. It now Universally Acknowledged to be THE BEST STORY PAPER IN THE WORLD.

REGULAR CONTRIBUTORS
will be found the names of some of the BEST MALE AND FEMALE WRITERS IN THE UNITED STATES!
Such writers as
JUSTIN JOX S. (HARRY HAZEL) AUGUSTINE J. H. DUGANNE. WILLIAM EARLE BINDER. HARRY HAZLETON. JAMES REYNOLDS. FRANCIS S. SMITH. MRS. MARY J. HOLMES. HELEN FOREST GRAVES. MARY G. VAUGHAN. MARGARET VERNE. ANNA RAYMOND. E. D. MAYVILLE.

Write for it regularly, while a score of others well known writers occasionally contribute to its columns.
THE NEW YORK WEEKLY has now engaged a force of talent that cannot be rivaled by any establishment in the world!

NOTICE OF THE PRESS.
Never before has any new candidate for public favor in the Literary World received such flattering notices from the Press. From all quarters, our editorial brethren have cheered us on by speaking of our enterprise in a manner to stimulate our vanity, and to excite the envy of our rivals.

GENERAL CHARACTER OF THE NEW YORK WEEKLY.
The WEEKLY is designed more especially as a FIRST-CLASS STORY PAPER in which we intend to give our readers a succession of THE BEST STORIES EVER PUBLISHED IN THE UNITED STATES! The aim and object of these productions will be to inculcate useful knowledge under the pleasing guise of fiction, or to teach great moral lessons through the same means. We shall never publish a word or line, the tendency of which is to injure the morals or taste of the reader. Every issue of the New York Weekly will contain short Sketches of Life and Manners, No-tings of Travel and Adventure, Short Stories, General Summary of Events, Humorous Gleanings, Poetry, Editorials, &c., &c.
As specimens of our serials, we would point to A. J. H. DUGANNE'S Great Story.

GARIBOLDI, THE HERO OF ITALY!
HARRY HAZEL'S EXCITING INDIAN ROMANCE, THE MUTE SPY! FRANCIS S. SMITH'S INTERESTING DOMESTIC STORY, MAGGIE, THE CHILD OF CHARITY!

While, as specimens of our standing departments, we point with pride to OUR BALLADS OF THE BIBLE, admitted by all to be the most chastely written and beautiful scriptural poems ever produced. OUR KNOWLEDGE BOX, in which is weekly contained a number of paragraphs of the greatest importance, to housekeepers and others. OUR PLEASANT PARAGRAPHS, an interesting MEXICAN, tracing from grave to gay, from lively to severe. OUR LADIES' COLUMN, prepared especially for the ladies by one of the most brilliant lady writers of the present day. OUR MIRTHFUL MOMENTS, OUR ITEMS OF INTEREST, &c., &c., &c., &c.

In a word, its Editors will use their best endeavors to get up just such a paper as will eventually find its way to every fireside in the land—that shall be a welcome visitor wherever it goes—equally popular in the workshop and the office—at the fireside of the farmer, or in the counting-room of the merchant—a paper that parents can, with safety, place in the hands of their children without note or comment, feeling certain that its influence will be to stimulate their minds to the pursuit of knowledge, or lead them to abhor vice and wrong.

CIRCULATION & PROSPECTS.
The New York Weekly has gone up to a circulation which places it second in point of circulation in the list of publications of the day. There is but one weekly publication in the world having a larger circulation than the Weekly. The indications are, at present, that the circulation of the Weekly will soon reach half a million. Where the newsmen were taking tens, they are now taking hundreds of copies. This is the general effect, among the five thousand News Agents who are now regularly selling the New York Weekly, while from nearly every Post Office in the country, we are daily getting subscriptions and orders for specimens.

How and Where to Get the "Weekly."
Wherever there is a News Agent, get the paper from him. By so doing you do not run the risk of losing your money through the Post Office, or having to pay for what you will never get. If the paper you are buying from the Agent stops, you do not lose advance subscriptions, sent to a place where you have no means of looking after it. We trust the day is not far distant when every town, large enough to sustain a Post Office, will have its News Agency.

OUR TERMS:
The price of the NEW YORK WEEKLY is four cents, but where Agents have to pay extra freight or postage, a higher price is necessarily charged. When sent by mail, the price will invariably be $2.00 a year, in advance. Subscriptions taken for three months. Two copies will be sent for one year for $3, four copies for $6, eight copies for $12. Postmasters and others who get up clubs of ten, and send us $15 at one time, will be entitled to an extra copy for their trouble. The bills of all solvent banks taken at par for subscriptions. Canada subscribers must send twenty-five cents extra with every subscription, to pre-pay the American postage. All letters and communications in relation to the Editorial or Business Departments of the New York Weekly must be addressed to

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.
DR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, From the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth. One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face. Two or three bottles will clear the system of bile. Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the stomach. Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of eczema. One or two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes. Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair. Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers. Fifteen to twenty bottles will cure scaly eruptions of the skin. Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of ringworm. Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism. Three to four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum. Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula. One to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of dyspepsia. I know from the experience of thousands that it has been caused by canker in the stomach. One or two bottles are warranted to cure sick headache. One to two bottles are warranted to regulate a costive state of the bowels. One to two bottles will regulate all derangement of the kidneys. Four to six bottles have cured the worst cases of dropsy. One to three have cured the worst cases of piles: a relief is always experienced; what a mercy to get relief in such an excruciating disease! A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken. No change of diet ever necessary; eat the best you can get and enough of it. The MEDICAL DISCOVERY is admirably adapted to the western country where FEVER AND AGUE, DYSENTERY, BILIOUS COLIC, BILIOUS FEVER, LIVER DERANGEMENTS, are so prevalent in their respective seasons. The great cause of the prevalence of these diseases is that many have secreted in their system some

Putrid and Fatal Humor which is the source of all diseases, and many a young man and woman in the BLOOM OF LIFE are wasting away whose faded cheeks and sunken eyes warn their friends of a speedy dissolution through the effects of some Acrid Humor preying upon the vitals, and many thousands die annually from the effects of these humors, who, if they but purify their blood with a few bottles of Medical Discovery would live to a ripe old age.
Another great cause of disease is Costiveness; for this the Discovery is an infallible remedy, its action on the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels is all that you could desire.
For Scrofulous Ulcers you will follow the directions in pamphlet around the bottle.
For Ulcerated Sore Legs you will find full directions in the pamphlet. Directions for Fox—Adults, one table spoonful p. day; children over ten years, desert spoonful; children from five to ten years, tea spoonful. As no directions can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

VICTORIOUS OVER PAIN.

BRAGG'S ARCTIC LINIMENT.

Agony or ease?—Sickness or health?—Life or death? These are the questions involved in the adoption or rejection of this specific for the martyr to external diseases and injuries. Having received the endorsement of the distinguished Dr. J. C. KANE, and his efficacy tested during two awful winters in the regions of eternal ice, it is now coming into general use in every section of the civilized globe, and its marvelous cures are everywhere exciting astonishment.

THE AFFLICTED REJOICE.

HUNDREDS and THOUSANDS have tested its virtues, and are rejoicing in freedom from long lingering PAIN and DISEASE, which other remedies had failed to cure. Have you Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Ear-ache or Tooth-ache—Are you afflicted with Old Sores—Suffering from Bruises, Strains, Corns, Sore Eyes, Piles?

THE ARCTIC LINIMENT

will afford you instant relief.

BURNS AND SCALDS.

For these dreadful accidents the ARCTIC LINIMENT should be kept on hand, for it affords sure and immediate relief, often saving from death. Every steamboat and railroad train should keep it. Who that has heard the shrieks of anguish uttered by the scalded and maimed victims of explosions and collisions, does not feel that some means of relieving their torture should always be accessible? Such does exist in this balmy pain controlling agent. It is

THE MOTHER'S COMPANION.

It cures Cakes in the Breast, Sore Nipples, sore Lips, Pimples, &c. Ladies who prize a pure skin, void of pimples, blotches, scurf and all discolored and excrescences, should attack these trespassers on beauty's domain as soon as they appear with the Arctic Liniment. It is excellent for the Hair, giving it a healthy glossy appearance. It is

Good for Man and Beast.

It is a sovereign remedy for the various diseases with which horses are afflicted, curing the most alarming cases of Bruises, Sprains, Stringhalt, Wounds, Scatches, swellings, spavins, Ring-bone, Blisters, Poll-evil, &c. No farmer, livery stable keeper, or any person owning valuable Horses, should be without this valuable remedy.

For sale by all respectable druggists and dealers.

* Prices of the Liniment, 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1 a bottle. A one-dollar bottle contains as much Liniment as eight 25 cent bottles.

Extraordinary Announcement.

Every purchaser of a dollar bottle of the ARCTIC LINIMENT receives, at Dr. Bragg's expense, the UNITED STATES JOURNAL, of New York, for one year. The Journal is a large illustrated paper—each number containing sixteen pages, beautifully printed on clear white paper, and filled with original matter from the most brilliant writers of the country. Cerificate of subscription and full particulars of the novel and philanthropic enterprise, of which this offer forms a part, will accompany each bottle.

WE DO NOT

HESITATE TO A SERT

WHAT ALL ARE BY RESULTS,

Compelled to Admit,

Viz: That in Dr. Mann's Ague Balsam we have a perfectly triumphant remedy for chills fever and ague and all diseases arising from a diseased or inactive condition of the liver.

Indeed it will never fail, and the one who fails to use it at once will deeply regret the neglect. Reader you will never again shake or have fever that season if you take it as per directions, and continue until the system is perfectly re-toed; if this be done there will be no one who will suffer long from chills, fever and ague.

Bucarus, Ohio, Feb. 25th 1858

Dr. MANN & Co., Galion, Ohio—Gents: We are at a loss to find language sufficient to portray to the public the great esteem in which your Celebrated Ague Balsam is held in this community. The fact is it never fails to cure ague in its worst form, and we can sell nothing else.

Yours, &c.

HOLMES & TAYLOR, Druggists.

Corinth, Miss., Oct. 20th 1857.

Messrs. S. K. MANN & Co.—Gents: Having procured a supply of your Ague Balsam, and testing it thoroughly in many severe cases of long standing, where all the popular remedies of the day had failed, I found in all cases your Balsam effected a safe and speedy cure. It is just the medicine we want here in the south.

Respectfully Yours,

JOSEPH BURMAN, Druggist.

Gallion, May 9th 1858.

Messrs. S. K. MANN & Co.

Gentlemen:—I would say for the benefit of those suffering with chills fever and ague, that I can confidently recommend your Ague Balsam to do what it is recommended to do, having used it myself and in my family also; have known it used in many other cases, where it has universally proved effectual; leaving the patient soundly cured. I give this for the benefit of all whom it may concern.

Gallion, O. May 1858. B. F. MATIAS.

St. Louis, Sept. 10th 1858.

Messrs. S. K. MANN & Co.

Gents:—After using several other preparations for fever and ague, and only getting partial relief, for the disease soon returned again on me. I took two bottles of your Ague Balsam, and I have had neither chill nor fever since I took first dose. I believe it to be the only thing that will never fail, and hence I recommend it to others.

Yours Truly,

J. G. WILSON.

Alexandria, Mo., June, 1858.

Messrs. S. K. MANN & Co.

Gentlemen:—Please send us 4 doz. of your Ague Balsam. It gives the best satisfaction of any ague preparation we have had in our place. The fact is it never fails when properly taken.

Respectfully Yours,
