THE LONG-KNIFE SQUAW.

A BALLAD OF KENTUCKY.

BY THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH.

I was out upon the Piqua, two-and-forty years ago,

Ere my sinews lost their vigor, or my head received its snow.

I was not so skilled in woodcraft, as I should have been that day,

And toward the shade of evening, in the forest lost my way.

Yet I wandered hither, thither, till beside a gray, old rock,

I beheld the smoky lodges of a band of Shawanock.

There was peace between the race, and a welcome warm I found,

And a supper, which they gave me, by the camp-fire, on the ground.

That despatched, I fell to smoking, and, as up the round moon rolled,

With a thirsty ear I listened to the tale the old men told.

There they sat and chatted gaily, while the flickering of the blaze

Led the shadows on their faces, in a wild and devious maze.

And among them one I noted, unto whom the rest gave place,

Which was token he was foremost in the fight or in the chase.

He had been among the white men till he spoke our language well,

Tho' his speech was marked by phrases that from Western hunters fell.

There was pausing in the stories, when he turned and spoke to me,

As his red pipe he replenished—"I could tell a tale," said he.

"Those there are of daring white men, whom no danger can appal;

But I knew a squaw among them, who surpassed them one and all.

"Six good Shawanock, my comrades, did that pale-face woman kill,"

Then I said—"Pray, tell the story!"—

Quoth the other—"So I will.

"There were seven of us together, who upon an August day,

From the sullen, broad Ohio, up Salt river took our way.

"Up the Rolling Fork we traveled, seeking where we might obtain

Precious plunder from the living, bleeding trophies from the slain.

"By a spring-branch in the bottom, near a clearing in the wood,

Hidden by the sombre hemlocks, Merrill's low-roofed cabin stood.

"It was built of logs of white oak, clincked, save loop holes here and there,

With a door of heavy puncheons, made the ax's blow to bear.

"At its end a good stone chimney reared itself among the trees,

And the smoke-wreaths as we neared it, still were breaking in the breeze.

"Out we lay upon the mountain, till the midnight hour came on,

Till the darkness growing deeper told the summer moon had gone.

"Then we downward crept in silence—not a rustle, scarce a stir—

Till by chance a stone we loosened, which descended with a whirr.

"Rose the dog who had been lying in the cabin's deepest shade, Snuffed our presence in the valley, and, to warn his master, bayed.

"Then aroused he came to tear us, in his fury, limb from limb, But my hatchet's blow unerring was enough to quiet him.

"There was stirring in the cabin, and I heard old Merrill say—

"Wife, that is some wearied hunter, who perchance has lost his way.

"Rouse you, stir the ash-lud embers, and get ready to prepare Bed of feathers for the stranger, and a bait of cabin fair."

"How we chuckled as he said it; then, in English, 'House!' I cried,

While my comrades all stood ready, when the door should open wide.

"With one hand his rifle grasping, Merrill then unclosed the door,

When we poured a sudden volley, and he sank upon the floor.

"In the fall the gun exploded, lighting up again the dark;

But no finger drew the trigger, and the bullet found no mark.

"Ere we reached the open portal, tho' the journey was not far,

Lo! the woman Merrill closed it, and secured it with a bar.

"Long we hacked and long we hammered at the door with useless din,

Till at length a heavy sapling fiercely driven burst it in.

"Young Penswataway, our leader, stout old Cornstalk's gallant son,

At the breach we had thus opened, entered in the foremost one.

"He had battled at Point Pleasant, and escaped the deadly ball,

By the weapon of a woman, at the dead of night to fall.

"There she stood, that fearless woman, in her hand a heavy ax;

Came a sound of skull-bone crashing, and he died there in his tracks.

"But I never knew a terror, and a fear I never felt,

Save that midnight when the woman so upon my comrades dealt.

"And if I were young and likely, then, whatever dames I saw,

I would wed none save the equal of that daring long-knife squaw."

"Paddy, honey, will you buy my watch now?"

"And is it about selling your watch ye are, Mike?"

"Troth, it is, darlin'."

"What's the price?"

"Ten shillings and a mutchkin of the creature."

"Is the watch a decent one?"

"Sure, and I've had it twenty years and it never once deceived me."

"Well, here's your tin; now tell me does it go well?"

"Bedad, an' it goes faster than any watch in Connaught, Munster, or Leinster, nor barring Dublin."

"Bad luck to ye, Mike, you have taken me in. Didn't ye say it never deceived you?"

"Sure an' I did—nor did it—for I never depended on it!"

"Oh, Jacob, said a master to his apprentice, it is wonderful to see what a quantity you eat."

"Yes, sir," said the boy, "I have been practicing ever since I was a child."

A down east poet has written an immense poem on "Natur," which commences:

"Wiggle, wiggle, pollywog,

Pretty soon you'll be a frog."

"From her mouth the foam was flying, and her eyes were glazed and green, Such a sight to shake my courage, I before had never seen.

"Turned I quickly in my terror, bounding through the darkness deep, And I never stopped my running till the dawn began to peep.

"Now, what think you of my story?" said the savage unto me—

"Was she not a woman worthy leader of a tribe to be?"

"Ay! I answered, 'but I tell you, should you try it, you would see,

We have many a hundred women that in need were stout as she.

"On the mountains of Virginia, in Kentucky's bloody ground,

In the forests of Ohio, scores of such are to be found—

"Women tender, trusting, tearful; yet if peril forced among,

They can fight as stern and fiercely, as a pantheress for her young."

Quoth the chieftain, "If so many like that woman you can find,

You should send them forth to battle, while your men remained behind.

"I have met your braves in combat when the skies were red with fire,

And the sabres of your horsemen flashed the lightning of their ire—

"When your brazen bodied cannons spoke their wrath to those around,

And the trempling of your legions shook the aw'd and trembling ground

"Where the waters of Kanawha rush to join a clearer tide,

I was there with stout, old Cornstalk, when you broke our power and pride

"With the Mingo, under Girty, at Fort Henry I was one,

When your forty kept four hundred baffled there from sun to sun.

"By Tecumseh's side I battled at the Thames the day he fell,

Where continual flash kept lighting forest, river, swamp and dell.

"But I never knew a terror, and a fear I never felt,

Save that midnight when the woman so upon my comrades dealt.

"And if I were young and likely, then, whatever dames I saw,

I would wed none save the equal of that daring long-knife squaw."

A LOT OF 'EM.

There is a village somewhere, not a thousand miles from here, which contains just exactly two score Smiths.—

There are only five score inhabitants in the place. "On a time" a traveler passed through the town, and stopped to get some directions.

"My friend can you direct me to C—?"

"No—but Bob Smith, next house, can."

Thither he went. "Sir, where is the nearest road to C—?"

"Don't know, sir; guess you'd better inquire of John Smith, over the way."

To John Smith he went and put it. "I can't inform you, sir, but old Arch Smith, just ahead, can tell you."

Thither he proceeded and made the same inquiry.

"I am unacquainted with the way, sir. Please ride to Squire Smith's and he can tell you."

"Squire Smith be drowned!" exclaimed the traveler, becoming wicked.

"How many Smiths are there in this place?"

"Just forty, sir."

"What is the name of the town?"

"Smith-ville!"

"What trade do you follow?"

"Black-smithing!"

Giving his horse a sound rowelling, wishing the place and inhabitants pummelled into "Smithareens," he departed from the vicinage, an injured man.—[Union Star]

A good story is told of Dr. McKenzie. Some time ago the doctor accompanied some fair Philadelphians to the Navy Yard in Brooklyn. The day was fine, but gusty; he was eloquently describing on the ferry-boat, the beauty of the surrounding scenery when a puff of wind gently lifted his hat off his head, and carried it, like a bird flapping its wings, up the river.

"Good heavens!" cried the doctor, "there's some poor fellow's hat in the air. Well, that's a joke I always laugh at!"

The roar of laughter which greeted him all around, and the direction all eyes took to his head, induced him to put his hand there.

"By the powers," quoth he, "it's my hat!" But his native wit returning, he said, as he saw it plump into the waters of the East river, "That's true to nature—a beaver always takes the water!"—[N. Y. Evening Post.]

Quizzing.—Winchell, the drolliest has according to his own stories, a good many adventures—particularly funny when he relates them. His last is a trip from Cleveland to Columbus, "on a train," of course. On the cars was one of the real genus Yankee.—

Finding that Winchell was a man to be talked to, the following colloquy is reported to have taken place:

"Goin' ter Klumbus?"

"Yes." (Gruffly.)

"Goin' any further?"

"No."

"Goin' ter stop in Klumbus?"

"Yes."

"Goin' ter see any friends there?"

"No."

"Goin' ter do enny kind of business?"

"Yes."

"Goin' ter start business on yer own hook?"

"No."

"What are ye goin' there for?"

"Goin' for seven years!"

The Yankee's curiosity was almost satisfied.—[Art Journal.]

—To a man well married one of his ribs is worth all the bones in his body.

A tall, slab-sided Yankee, who made his appearance at Cape May, last summer, strolled down to the beach during bathing time. On seeing the bevy of beauties disporting in the waves, he burst into a fit of enthusiasm.

"Je-ru-sa-lem! if that don't jest remind me of something good we hev tu hum."

"What's that?" remarked a friend who heard him.

"What is it?" said Jonathan smacking his lips, "lasses and water."

A man named Roan has been convicted in Clay county, Ill., of murder in the second degree by causing the death of a blind boy by neglect and starvation, and sentenced to five years imprisonment in the penitentiary.

The best way to curb a wild young man is to bride (bridal) him.

—Why are cats so musical?—Because they are all fiddle strings inside.

An Irish Love Letter.—Oh! Paddy, swate Paddy! an if I was yer daddy, I'd kill you with kisser intirely; if I was yer bruther and likewise yer mother, I'd see that ye went to bed sirty. To taste of yer breath, I would starve to death, and lay off my hoops altogether; to joost have a taste of yer arm on my waist, I'd larf at the meaneast of weather. Dear Paddy, be mine, my own volentine—ye'll find me both gentle and civil; our life we will spend to an illegant ind, and care may go dance to the devil.

Joe Cose, on being asked what he should do if he were banished to the woods, replied, "thought he should split."

The Oswego Times tells a story of a man who is so lazy, that after sitting at the dinner table an hour and a half, he often goes away hungry, being too lazy to eat.

Why are young ladies at the breaking up of a party like arrows? Because they can't go off without a beau, and are in a quiver till they get one.

"Necessity knows no law." Well, necessity is like a great many lawyers.

The trouble with bow-legged men is that they are always going on a bender.

The poorest coward in the world may avoid "shaking in his shoes" by wearing boots or going bare-foot.

Themistocles has a daughter. Two men making love to her, he preferred the virtuous man before the rich one, saying he would rather have a man without riches, than riches without a man.

Dean Swift proposed to put a tax on female beauty, and to leave every lady to rate her own charms. He said the tax would be cheerfully paid, and be very productive.

Why is a sheet of postage stamps like a distant relative? Because they are but slightly connected.

"I will lay you a wager," said a sportsman to another, "that I will shoot more crows to-day than you!" "Oh, yes, you always could beat me crowing."

SULLIVAN, ILLINOIS. Thursday December 15, 1859.

FOR PRESIDENT IN 1860. HON. STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS.

Democratic Meeting!

The Democracy of Moultrie county are requested to meet at the Court-House in Sullivan, on Saturday the 24th day of December, 1859, at 1 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of appointing two delegates to the Democratic State Convention to be held at Springfield on the 4th day of January next.

By order of the County Executive Committee.

How to Cure Hard Times.

Our country seems at present to be weighed down with debt, and little prospect ahead of any early relief. There are many erroneous opinions as to the cause of the hard times, and the best means of avoiding them. Those who have not yet learned that our Government has nothing to give, save what it extracts from the people in some shape or other, are expecting some law to be passed that will aid us in the premises.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. In the Senate yesterday, Senator Trumbull, of Illinois, made a lengthy speech, chiefly in defense of the Republican party, in the course of which he said, he contended that the declaration of Mr. Seward was nothing more than the views expressed by Washington and the Southern men in 1793.

Moultrie County Agricultural Society.

Sullivan, Ill., Dec. 5, 1859. The Society met as provided by the constitution, to elect officers for the next year, which election resulted as follows: J. E. EDEN, President. P. B. KNIGHT, Vice President. J. H. WAGGONER, Rec. Secretary. A. N. SMYSER, Cor. Secretary. DENIS COAKLY, Treasurer.

California Fruits.

A gentleman writing from California, says: "At our late State Fair, just concluded, the following sized fruits were exhibited: apples weighing 23 ounces; peaches 18 ounces; grapes 3 inches in circumference—bunches of grapes weighing 6, 8 and 10 pounds; gooseberries, 12 to the pound; pears, all sizes from one-half to one pound and a half. I have seen on exhibition squashes weighing severally 196, 200 and 216 pounds, raised near San Jose—1,800 pounds of squashes grew from one hill. Beets weighing from 50 to 75 pounds have been raised. Extraordinary vegetables are raised here."—N. W. Prairie Farmer.

Why are young ladies, at the breaking up of a party, like arrows?

Be cause they can't go off without a beau, and are in a quiver till they get one. Mr. F— says that the prettiest sewing machine he ever saw was near seventeen years old with short sleeves low-necked dress, and gaiter boots on.

Douglas, who is the candidate for the Presidency of the great Northwest. An effort was made to depreciate Judge D. in the estimation of the South, by associating him with Mr. Greeley. From this time he would never again notice his colleague, who shields himself from the responsibility of bringing forward proof in support of his charge. When he (Mr. Logan) made a charge in the Legislature of Illinois, and was called on for proof, he did not, like a spaniel, sink in the corner. At this point Mr. Kellogg, who was sitting near Mr. Logan, deliberately advanced toward him as if with a hostile intention, and Mr. Logan peceiving the movement, put himself in the attitude of combat. The members at once sprung to the scene, some seizing Mr. Logan and others restraining Mr. Kellogg, amidst the greatest excitement of the members all over the hall. The Clerk amid the din and stirring events loudly called for order, and requested the gentlemen to take their seats. As soon as the two Illinois gentlemen were mildly separated, Logan, resuming, said he was perfectly cool. Mr. Morris, of Pa., called for the Sergeant-at-Arms. Order was finally restored. Mr. Taylor of Louisiana, said the time for such proceedings should cease. [Applause.] The time had arrived when this species of discussion, which could lead to nothing but violence, should terminate, and Representatives of the people should proceed to the election quietly and with dignity. They should some competent to preserve order. Mr. Logan said that he had yielded the floor only for a moment. Gentlemen need have no apprehension of a difficulty between his colleague and himself. [Hisses.] Mr. Taylor said that the House should first be organized, and then there would be an opportunity to discuss all these matters in order. The interruption just quieted would have terminated in a permanent interruption, perhaps in an adjournment, if it had not been for the interposition of the representative friends of the gentleman from Ill.—[Applause.]

THE CHARLESTON CONVENTION.

Washington, Dec. 7. The National Executive Democratic Committee met this evening at Willard's hotel. All the States were represented except Maryland, Georgia, California and Alabama. After free interchange of opinions, Monday, the 23d of April, was fixed for the time of the meeting of the Charleston National Democratic convention. A resident committee was appointed to superintend the printing and publication of documents, etc., consisting of the following members: Hon. C. L. Vallandigham, of Ohio, chairman; Hon. John Cochran, of New York; Hon. John A. Logan, Illinois; Hon. Wm. Bigler, Pennsylvania; Hon. Wm. Barksdale, Mississippi; Hon. Miles Taylor, Louisiana, and Hon. W. H. English, of Indiana. On motion of Mr. Vanater, of N. J. the chairman and secretaries were authorized to procure a suitable hall at Charleston in which to hold their convention, to issue tickets of admission to the delegates to said convention duly appointed by the regular Democratic organizations of the party in the respective States, and to make such other arrangements as may be necessary for the assembling and holding of said convention. A resolution was adopted with a view, if possible, to correct the telegraphic misrepresentations concerning the interests of the Democratic party. The committee then adjourned sine die.

THE GLOBE:
The Official Paper of Congress.

I publish now my annual prospectus of THE DAILY GLOBE and the CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE and APPENDIX, to remind subscribers and inform those who may desire to subscribe, that Congress will meet on the 1st day of next December, when I shall recommence publishing the above-named papers. They have been published so long, that most public men know their character, and therefore I deem it needless to give a minute account of the kind of matter they will contain.

THE DAILY GLOBE will contain a report of the debates in both branches of Congress taken down by reporters equal, at least, to any corps of shorthand writers in this or in any other country. A majority of them will be able to report, verbatim, ten thousand words a hour, while the average number of words spoken by fluent speakers rarely exceed seven thousand five hundred words an hour. When the debates of a day do not make more than forty-five columns, they will appear in THE DAILY GLOBE of the next morning, which will contain, also, the news of the day together with such editorial articles as may be suggested by passing events.

THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX will contain a report of all the debates in Congress, revised by the speakers, the messages of the President of the United States, the annual reports of the heads of the Executive Departments, the laws passed during the session, and copious indexes to all. They will be printed on a double royal sheet, in book form royal quarto size, each number containing sixteen pages. The whole will make, it is believed, between 3,800 and 3,900 pages, the long sessions for many years past having ranged between those numbers, and the next session will be a long one. This, I believe is the cheapest work ever sold in any country, whether a reprint, or printed from manuscript copy, taking for data the average number of words of the long session since the year 1848. The average number of pages is 3,876 and the average number of words on a page is 2,397, consequently the average number of words of a long session is 9,290,772. As I have sold to subscribers that number of words for six dollars, it follows that they have paid less than six and one-half cents for every 100,000 words I have furnished them, while I have paid my reporters $6 29 for every 2,397 words of this work in manuscript.

The coming session will, without doubt, be an unusually interesting one because the candidates of the respective parties for President and Vice-President of the United States will be nominated before it closes, and therefore, the debates will be mostly on such political questions as, it may be thought, will tend to influence public opinion in regard to the persons to be supported for these offices, and the GLOBE will be, as it has been for many years past, the only source from which the full debates of Congress can be obtained.

THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX pass free through the mails of the United States, as will be seen by reading the following Joint Resolutions passed by Congress the 6th of August, 1852:

JOINT RESOLUTIONS providing for the distribution of the Laws of Congress and the Debates thereon.

With a view to the cheap circulation of the laws of Congress and the debates contributing to the true interpretation thereof, and to make free the communication between the representative and constituent bodies—

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That from and after the present session of Congress, THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX, which contains the laws and the debates thereon, shall pass free through the mails as long as the same shall be published by order of Congress: Provided, That nothing therein shall be construed to authorize the circulation of the DAILY GLOBE free of postage.

APPROVED August 6, 1852.

For a copy of the DAILY GLOBE during the session . . . $5 00
For one copy of THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX during the session . . . $6 00
For two copies ditto, when ordered at the same time . . . $10 00
No attention will be paid to any order unless the money accompany it.

Bank notes, current in the section of country where subscriber resides, will be received at par. The whole or any part of the subscription may be remitted in postage stamps, which is preferable to any currency, except gold or silver.

I cannot afford to exchange with all the newspapers that desire the GLOBE; but I will send the DAILY GLOBE during the session to the editors of those papers who publish this Prospectus three times before the first Monday of next December, and send to me one number of their paper containing it, marked with a pen to direct my attention to it.

W. C. RUSSELLS.

GODEY, for January, is a superb number—no better, however, than the Dec. No. The steel engravings and fashion plates are really beautiful. Godey seems determined to keep a little in advance of every thing in his line. Every lady should have this magazine.

PETERSON, for January, just received, bears upon it many marks of improvement. It is considerably enlarged and otherwise very materially improved. This number contains more pages than any lady's magazine that we have examined, but whether it will keep it up remains to be seen. Only $2.00 a year.

Home, for January, comes to us with its smiling face, claiming, (as it deserves), a large portion of our praises. No lady can fail to appreciate what this number contains—it is a perfect gem of itself. Only $1.25 to clubs of five.

Smyser and Eden ask for money, and we are in partnership with them—in the asking. Now if you've got any money, let's see it.

DARKEY PIETY.—A very pious negro went out into the field one day and knelt down beside a stone wall to pray. He told the Lord how good and holy he was, how much he tho't of his Bible and heavenly things, ending with: "Now, Lord, if I ain't a tellin' de trufe, an' ef I don't lub you more dan eberything else in de world, jis' let dis here stone wall fall right down on me."

A mischievous fellow on the other side pushed over the wall, to the utter terror of the darkey, who dropped on his knees and tearfully cried: "Oh! Lordy, Goddy! Can't a poor nigga say a word in fun but what you take him in arnest?"

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.

DR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pastures a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, From the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth. One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Two or three bottles will clear the system of bile.
Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the stomach.
Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of erysipelas.
One or two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
Fifteen to twenty bottles will cure scaly eruptions of the skin.
Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of ringworm.
Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
One to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of dyspepsia. I know from the experience of thousands that it has been caused by canker in the stomach.
One or two bottles are warranted to cure sick headache.
One to two bottles are warranted to regulate a costive state of the bowels.
One to two bottles will regulate all derangement of the kidneys.
Four to six bottles have cured the worst case of piles: a relief is always experienced; what a mercy to get relief in such an excruciating disease! A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.
No change of diet ever necessary; eat the best you can get and enough of it.
The MEDICAL DISCOVERY is admirably adapted to the western country where FEVER AND AGUE, DYSENTERY, BILIOUS COLIC, BILIOUS FEVER, LIVER DERANGEMENTS, are so prevalent in their respective seasons.

The great cause of the prevalence of these diseases is that many have secreted in their system some Acrid and Fatal Humor which is the source of all diseases, and many a young man and woman in the BLOOD OF LIFE are wasting away whose faded cheeks and sunken eyes warn their friends of a speedy dissolution through the effects of some Acrid Humor preying upon the vitals, and many thousands die annually from the effects of these humors, who, if they but purify their blood with a few bottles of Medical Discovery would live to a ripe old age.

Another great cause of diseases is Constipation for this the Discovery is an infallible remedy, its action on the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels is all that you could desire.

For Scrofulous Ulcers you will follow the directions in pamphlet around the bottle.

For Ulcerated Sore Legs you will find full directions in the pamphlet. Directions For Use—Adults, one table-spoonful per day; children over ten years, dessert spoonful; children from five to eight years, tea spoonful. As no directions can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

MANUFACTURED BY DONALD KENNEDY, No. 120 Warren Street, Roxbury, Mass. PRICE $1.00. For sale by every Druggist in the United States and British Provinces. In Sullivan, by Elder, Vadakin, Perryman, and other merchants and Druggists.
