A PANTHER HUNT.

From the Knickerbocker.
In my winter-home in the tangled wilds of the far Arkansas, during the last months of 1852, I was revelling amid the hardy pleasures of a hunter's life, seeking, in the exciting and invigorating chase, to recruit a constitution impaired if not shattered by the dissipation of the preceding summer. Early one bright morning in November, cheerily wound my horn, as it summoned forth for the eager hunt the eager, high-bred pack, who burst from their kennel in tumultuous joy, making the old primeval woods ring with loud and deep-mouthed baying. 'Old Croat' was the leader, and the sire of more than half the pack. It seemed as if age had only stealed the wiry muscles of his long black form, and added a clearer and more sonorous tone to his ringing notes. And 'Beauty,' too so named from her symmetrical and slender proportions, was without exception the most perfect model of the high-bred stag-hound I have ever beheld. Her thin, wide legs, deep chest, sharp, delicate muzzle, and bright, expressive eye, at once challenged admiration and proclaimed her 'Queen of the Canine Race.' And 'Old Warrior,' with privileged boldness, came up and rubbed his cold nose against my hand.

'Impatient at the delay of my faithful body guard, John, who was as fine a specimen of the Kentucky slave as one would wish to see—six feet in his socks and brave as a lion—I walked around to the stable to ascertain the cause of so unusual an occurrence. Reared from childhood in the arms of my boy, I was attached to him by no common feelings, especially as he twice saved my life at the risk of his own. He would have died without a murmur at my command; I neared the stable; John slowly led forth a magnificent black stallion, who pawed impatiently the earth, as if eager as his master for the approaching chase. I turned toward the negro somewhat sternly, exclaiming:

'Where's Medora?' I ordered her not to Alp.
'Deed, Mass' Frank,' said John, 'I could not help it; but Medora's got out and gone. I've been hunting her all night.'
The mare had escaped in the darkness, and made for the woods, and the poor fellow, knowing the explosion which must follow the announcement of her loss, had toiled the entire night in the vain attempt to recover her. In a burst of passion, I demanded:

'Which way did she go?'
'Up toward the clearing,' he answered.
'By Heaven! then she's gone! The panthers are as thick as—Quick! saddle your horse, and bring me my revolver.'
Just as the negro had disappeared on his errand, and I had mounted the impatient steed, my father, a hale old man of sixty, came to the cabin door and asked:

'Where now, Frank?'
'After Medora,' I replied. 'She's out and toward the clearing. The panthers may have her before now.'
'You had better take your rifle and dogs; you may need them.'
'No, I want my dogs fresh for the big buck, and my rifle will hinder me in riding through the brush.'
'Well! have your own way; but you may regret it.'
But my blood was up, and John just then handing me my 'Colt's,' and mounting his horse, dashed over the picket in the direction of the clearing. The clearing was a large bottom tract which had, some years before, been swept by fire, and was now covered with low dense underwood, here and there dotted by a hardy old tree, half burnt and gnarled, but defying alike the influence of fire and of time.

'After a few moments' hard riding, hearing an exclamation from the negro I turned and saw close at our heels the tree-dogs, Croat, Wattron, and Beauty. Struck by so unusual a breach of their training, and remembering my father's admonition, I cried out to John:

'Let them alone; we may want them.'
'Oh! hearing the outer edge of the clearing Alp. aroared and snorted, while his glossy mane seemed to stand erect with fright. Straight before me lay the body of my matchless 'Medora,' but torn and bleeding with a wound in the neck, too plainly pointing out the perpetrator of her death. Yes, there she lay, drained of her life blood by the hungry panther; she on whom I had so often skimmed the fashionable thoroughfares of the west, envied of my 'light limbed barb,' she who twice within a day, had borne me over the rapid waters of the Mississippi; she with whom I would have shared my only crust lay cold and dead. Alp bent down his head and snuffed the lacerated form, and then sent forth a shrill and piercing neigh, as if in sorrow for his peerless mate.

Understanding at a glance the cause of her death, grief gave place to a feeling of revenge, and wildly cheering the hounds, I swept on toward the wood, knowing that there the panther had crouched until evening, when it again comes forth to banquet on its slaughtered prey. The animals seemed to divine my feelings, and dashed madly on upon the warm and recent trail, while Alp cleared with his tremendous bound brush and underwood with which the earth was covered.

We had proceeded but a short distance when I beheld the panther's back, as he sprang over the impediments in his course as lightly as if they were only the long grass of the prairie. Twice did I attempt to wound him with my revolver, but the distance was too great, and bitterly did I regret the absence of my rifle.—Giant, and only rendered more savage by his taste of blood, the panther maintained his distance between us, although the dogs, mad with anger, woke the wild echoes of the deserted waste, all it seemed as if a thousand hounds were opening on the trail. Eagerly I bent over Alp's neck, with a cocked revolver in each hand, and drove the spurs into his reeking sides; yet he heeded not the incitement the noble animal strained every nerve, and on we sped—torrents less rapid and less rank. Or we sped for more than an hour, while at every opportunity I sought to stop his mad career by a ball in the panther's back; yet only once had I drawn his blood, though all except one of my barrels had been fired.

At last wearied by this severe burst, the hunted animal 'tread' in a stony swamp oak, where the yet green limbs formed a cover not ten feet above the root. The negro in his reckless race, had been double-distanced, and I was alone, with a single shot, to meet the most dreaded antagonist of the Southern forests. As I approached, still at full speed, I could distinguish his glaring eyeballs, as crouched for his spring, he lay along the knotted limb, lashing with his long and tufted tail his reeking flanks. Maddened by excitement, and regardless of danger, I dashed within three paces of the infuriated animal, and throwing my horse upon his haunches.—Simultaneously with my shot the panther made his leap, and the ball intended for his brain glanced from the surface of his rounded skull. In an instant he was upon me, but 'Alp,' true to his training crouched at the report, and the baffled beast, missing his anticipated hold, seized me by the shoulder, and hung suspended, vainly attempting to gain secure footing upon my horse's sides. I drew a heavy 'Bowie knife,' my constant companion, and, in the hands of a determined man, the most effective weapon in the world. Rapidly snatching its broad blade several times in his body, I forced the beast to loose his grip; and he fell to the ground, although having as yet received no deadly wound.

My brave dogs were upon him in an instant, but the slight symmetrical form of 'Beauty' was ill-suited to such a contest; and before I could leap from my saddle she was quivering in the agonies of death. Furious with pain, and at the death of my two favorites, I sprang into the midst of the struggle, and seizing the panther by the throat buried my knife in his heart, until the last convulsive quiver told that life had fled. With the assistance of John, who had just arrived, I removed his tawny and spotted skin, and dressed, as well as possible under the circumstances, my wounds upon the shoulder, consisting of several deep cuts, some inches long, laying the flesh open to the bone, they having penetrated through my buck-skin hunting-shirt.

Slowly and sadly I retraced my homeward way, mourning the double loss of both my favorite beasts and weakened by great loss of blood and the extreme tension of every nerve, through high excitement. A negro was dispatched to bring in the bodies and I buried them both beneath a mighty cotton-wood upon the banks of the great 'Father of Waters.' The panther's skin is now my saddle cloth; but it needs not its frequent sight to remind me of my peerless pair. I have since possessed many animals; but those at whose grave I shed a heartfelt tear, stand yet pre-eminent amid their kind. In the happy hunting-grounds of the spirit-land I hope again to remount my fleet 'Medora,' and cheer my matchless lion in the wild and joyous-madness of the thrilling chase.

'One of the Virginia dorkies, who preferred "chains and slavery" to "pika and freedom," came to his master the other day, and said:
'Massa, I want to buy myself free—I got tree hundred dollars, ar; I pay you dat down, and give you the rest when I make um.'
'Very well Tom,' said his master, 'you have been a faithful fellow, and I will comply with your request.'
The money was accordingly paid, and the inchoate freedom of Tom commenced.

A few days afterwards, Tom went out to fish in company with a fellow servant, and there came up a blow, which capsize the fishing smack, and drowned Tom's companion. The next day Tom came to his master and said:
'Massa, I change my mind, ar; please pay me back my money, ar.'
'Why, Tom,' said his master, 'you have already paid a large portion of your price, and by industry in your profitable callings you will soon earn and pay the residue, and you had better hold to the original intention.'
'No massa,' was Tom's economical rejoinder. 'I rudder hab my money back—bigger property unartin, ar.'

An Old Man's Speech on the Union.

At an anniversary of the New England society, recently held in New Orleans, the venerable Jacob Barker being called on, remarked that he had been honored by an invitation from the president some days since, to address the meeting, which from age and other considerations he was constrained to decline, and came unprepared to a word beyond offering a sentiment, which he did in words following:
'Virginia and Massachusetts—sister states—they can never be separated by the Fanatics of the North, nor the Fire-eaters of the South.'

Mr. Barker said:
Although admonished by the lateness of the hour and the eloquent appeals to the patriotism of northerners by others to adhere to such determination, yet, as I cannot subscribe to all I have heard this evening, I beg leave to detain you a few moments, late as it is, to express my dissent. The few blossoms, indicating my approach to the grave, which yet deck my brow, will convince my brethren from New England of the sincerity of my remarks. First, it appears to me that our worthy president seems to be unnecessarily alarmed for the safety of the Union—like his namesake, the elder Adams, he thinks we have fallen on evil times—he seems to sympathize with the sage of Quincy. I have no such apprehension. I witnessed the Whiskey insurrection of the Keystone state under Washington, to quell which our troops were sent under Gen. Alexander Hamilton, one of the first men of the age. [Cheers.]

The work was accomplished without the burning of gunpowder, not a drop of human blood was spilt, not a crimson spot was to be found on any garment. Then came the administration of Adams, with whom there were sad dissensions. Then came the election of the illustrious Jefferson, which agitated the whole nation. The pious old women were made to believe that if the French Jacobins, so denominated by their political opponents, and of whom I was once [laughter] succeeded the churches and pulpits would be demolished, and their bibles burnt. We triumphed, and no such calamity resulted; the churches remained undestroyed, the pulpits continued to be graced with clerical robes, and the sacred bible circulated as freely as ever. [Laughter and cheers.] Then came the glorious war of 1812, in which I witnessed the flight of our troops through Washington from Bladensburg—fleeing with them myself, [laughter] carrying with me by the command of Mrs. Madison, the original portrait of Washington, by Stewart. [Applause] The army halted at Montgomery court house, without a pound of beef or bread to subsist on; the United States treasury empty; treasury notes and stock dividends, maturing unpaid. Then came the demonstration against the constitution at Charleston, South Carolina, which was snuffed out by the renowned Jackson, without shedding a drop of human blood. [Applause.]

All these lowering clouds have been dispelled without moving a single plank in our excellent constitution. [Applause.] I could enumerate many other stirring events, were there time which would admonish us not to be afraid when there is not any danger. I have never been afraid of my fellow men; and it is too late for me to encourage that feeling. We have only to be "just and fear not." [Cheers.] Great confidence is felt in the influence of the advice of the immaculate Washington, the inimitable Father of our common country, in his Farewell Address; and also in the feelings of all good men—a theme which politicians delight to dwell on. My experience tells me that we have a much more powerful guarantee for the preservation of the constitution in the influence of the "almighty dollar." [Laughter.] My countrymen have a keen appetite therefore, and know full well that if there should be a division of the Union their ships would be prohibited an entrance into southern ports and consequently would become worthless. The southerners would impose heavy import duties on the shoes, cloths, and other fabrics of New England—giving a preference to foreign articles. This would be done for the double purpose of raising for defraying the expenses of carrying on their new government, and for revenge. This would mean the close of our commerce, and the ruin of New England, and throw out of employment a thousand pretty girls. [Laughter and cheers.] We southerners also keep a sharp look out for our interest, and our appetite for gain is equally keen. [Applause.]

We know full well that our slaves would not be worth the clothes they wear if the Union should be dissolved. Their value consists in the preservation of southern rights, as guaranteed by the constitution, should it be vacated by a division of the Union, the northern section would imitate their cousins the British—making all free who should put their feet on their soil. This would depopulate the border states of their slave population, and they would one after another, become free states until not one would be left to tell how it happened.

Mr. President in that event our only redress would be war, in which conflict the odds would be in favor of the North, on account of their superior numbers and the necessity of guarding our slaves, and further, all must admit that our importance as a nation depends on the preservation of the Union. I repeat, we have only to "be just and fear not," and all will remain safe.

Call for Republican Convention.

It will seem from the call published in this week's issue that our Republican friends are going to have a public meeting at the court house on next Monday. We are pleased to see this and have been greatly amused at the reading of the call itself. It will be seen by reference to this document that they are not going into any contest with the Democracy here, upon the questions dividing the Democratic and Republican parties. They propose to enter the lists against the Disunion Democracy! Well, if they can find any of that stripe, we shall be much pleased to witness the battle between them, and will have about the same sympathies that the old woman had upon witnessing the contest between her husband and the bear—we don't care the "loss of a copper which whips." As we suppose the Republicans of Moultrie are acting in concert with the Republican party of the North, as led on by Giddings, Chase, Lovejoy and Sewall, and we know of no party so essentially Disunion as the one with which they co-operate; hence it is wise in our Republican friends to decline a contest with the Democracy of Moultrie County, and search diligently for an enemy whose principles are as odious as those inculcated by their party leaders. One thing strikes us as remarkable in the call, and that is that we look in vain for the everlasting Nigger. The Nigger, the chief corner stone of the Republican party, is to be ignored by the brethren of this county. That divinity at whose shrine Seward, Lincoln, and other leaders of the party bow themselves in humble submission, is no longer enshrined in the hearts of their followers here. Here is a field for missionary labor! But seriously we look upon this as a very thin veil. We have no doubt but a number of the gentlemen who signed the call are opposed to the Abolition proclivities of the Republican party. But we suppose the majority of them intend to support the Republican nominee for President, whether it is Giddings, Seward, Chase, Garret Smith or Lloyd Garrison. And some of the cunning ones got up the document in order to bind as many as possible in advance, and to throw dust in the eyes of the wavering.

Our thanks are due Hon. J. C. Robinson, for continued favors.

Club Meeting.

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 23 at the Democratic Club met as per adjournment; called to order by the president; minutes read and approved of; ten additional names taken.

The committee on constitution reported the following preamble and constitution which were received.

CONSTITUTION.

We, the Democrats and National men of Sullivan Precinct, who are willing to co-operate with the Democratic party of the Union in the great contest now pending, being desirous to maintain the Constitution of our country intact, as it was made by our fathers, as the safest remedy for the evils brought upon us by the constant and ceaseless agitation of the Slavery question, do organize ourselves into a Democratic club the object of which shall be to sustain the principles inculcated by Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and Clay, upon the questions now at issue, and particularly to enforce their teachings in opposition to the success of all sectional parties and in favor of the maintenance of the Constitution and the Union; and to aid in establishing truly national and conservative principles.

- 1. This organization shall be called the Sullivan Precinct Democratic Club.
2. The officers of this club shall consist of one President, two Vice Presidents, one Recording Secretary one Corresponding Secretary, and one Treasurer.
3. All the officers provided for in article 2d shall be elected by the members of the Club and shall hold their respective offices until after the ensuing November election.
4. In cases of vacancy in any of said offices by resignation or otherwise, the same may be filled by election, at any regular meeting of the Club.
5. It shall be the duty of the President when present to preside at all meetings of the Club, and to preserve order in the same.
6. It shall be the duty of the Vice Presidents to assist in preserving order during the absence of the President, or when called on by him, either of them may preside over the Club.
7. It shall be the duty of the Recording Secretary to keep correctly the proceedings of the Club.
8. It shall be the duty of the Corresponding Secretary to carry on all the correspondence of the Club.
9. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to have the custody of all moneys that may belong to the Club, and to pay the same out on the order of the President, when so directed by a vote of the Club.
10. This Club may meet at such points within the Sullivan Precinct, to be fixed on at some preceding meeting, and at such times as the Club shall direct.
11. For the purpose of fully carrying out the objects herein set forth, the Club may, from time to time appoint such committees as may be deemed proper.
On motion of Dr. A. Kellar that the constitution be adopted, A. N. Snyser moved to amend by adding an article that the constitution may at any time be amended by a two-third vote of the Club—carried as amended. On motion of Dr. A. Kellar, J. E. Eden was elected President David Patterson and E. D. Cleveland vice Presidents, Dennis Coakley Recording Secretary, A. N. Snyser Corresponding Secretary, and John Perryman Treasurer.
On motion of Dr. A. Kellar officers excepting Treasurer, constitute a finance committee—carried. The committee appointed to select a speaker to address the club at each meeting reported the name of A. B. Lee as a suitable person on the present occasion. The Captain, being called on, responded in a happy and elaborate enunciation of the principles of the Democratic party as taught by Washington, Jefferson, Madison, and other patriots who labored for the glory and perpetuity of the Union. He also examined the doctrines of the Republican party and clearly demonstrated to every candid mind their revolutionary tendencies, and the disastrous results which would follow in their wake if carried into effect.

A resolution was offered by B. W. Henry authorizing the committee appointed to select a speaker to address the Democratic Club at their regular meetings to invite Republicans and speakers to attend their meetings and discuss the doctrines laid down in the preamble of the constitution of the Club by giving reasonable notice.

J. R. Eden addressed the Club on the various topics at issue between the Republican and Democratic parties in a bold and masterly manner. His denunciations against Abolitionists and Fire-eaters were alike pungent and pertinent, and both parties received no favor from his hands.

It was moved and seconded that the next meeting of the Club be held at the court house on the third Monday in March.

School Exhibition.

A public exhibition of the scholars of the Moultrie County Academy came off on the evenings of the 8th and 9th. The house was crowded to overflowing both evenings and the audience were well repaid for coming out. The exhibition reflected honor on both pupils and teachers. This school is now in a more flourishing condition than ever before, owing to the indefatigable efforts of the teachers and patrons and is now surrounded by the most promising prospects of success.

Montreal, March 7. Edmonston, Allen & Co., have received a telegraphic dispatch from Barington, saying that the body of a man had been found at Cable Island. REPUBLICANS BALLY!

The free voters of Moultrie county are requested to meet at the court house in Sullivan, on the 10th day of March A. D. 1860, at 11 o'clock, M., for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Republican State Convention, and to take such action as they may think necessary to a thorough organization of the opposers of the present disunion Democratic party. Believing as we do, that the policy of the so-called Democratic party is in direct opposition to the principles and policy of the founders of our Government, therefore, we believe it to be the duty of all true friends of the Union to co-operate with us in electing to office men who will restore the government to its original purity and its first principles; and earnestly request all such to meet and act with us in the furtherance of said principles, they being the principles of Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, Clay, and a host of other worthies, the founders and devoted friends of our Government in its purest days.

OBITUARY.

Died at the residence of his father, in Sullivan, Ill., on the evening of the 7th of March A. D. 1860, WILLIE M. CLEVELAND, youngest son of E. D. & P. Cleveland, in the 19th year of his age.

Seldom has it been our lot to chronicle a death that brought more grief to sympathizing hearts than that of WILLIE. The idol of his parents and the delight of his friends, he was cut off suddenly in that period of life when the foundation is laid for future life; his, however, had been laid for some time: it was the foundation of Apostles and Prophets, Jesus Christ being the chief corner stone. While the tear of sorrow flowed and the heart was torn with anguish, from the eternal world was heard the soul inspiring truth, "In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so I would have told you; but I go to prepare a place for you, that when I come again I may take you to myself, that where I am there you may be also." Whoever saw and became acquainted with WILLIE, loved him. The circle of his friends was large. Without an enemy on earth, had he lived, he would have been an ornament to society—in fact, was so, as a young man. But his race is run, his sun is set; but it will rise in great splendor in the morning of eternity, when the crown of life shall be placed upon his brow by the Savior, saying, "To him that overcomes will I grant to sit down with me on my throne, as I also overcame and set down with my Father on His throne." While his fond parents and sympathizing friends mourn his loss, he has entered on the full fruition of his hopes, and rests secure from all the storms of life, safe beneath the shelter of his Heavenly Father's love. We shall all see WILLIE again where parting is no more, and where the tears and water of life invite the saints to endless joy and everlasting rest; and the redeemed shall rejoice with the angels, and swell the hallelujahs of God and the Lamb, forever.

Emigration.

Leavenworth March 9. A few advanced parties of emigrants for Pike's Peak, have arrived in this city. To prevent a recurrence of the distressing scenes of last year, it is urged that those intending to emigrate, wait until the 1st of May before starting, as subsistence on the plains for man or beast will be very precarious before that time. The overland express from this city is crowded to excess, all the seats being engaged to April 1st, at which time the proprietors will commence running coaches tri-weekly, and soon thereafter a daily line. The running time to Denver is seven days. A hungry lawyer who was dining at a hotel, shoveled the food into his mouth with his knife, till he accidentally cut his mouth, which was observed by a way-seated opposite, who bawled out, "I beg pardon, don't cut the hole in your countenance any larger, or we shall all starve."

Telegraphic!

A Ship Wrecked and 100 Lives Lost.

St. Johns, N. F. March 8. The steamship Nova Scotian from Liverpool on 23d February, put in here this p. m., short of coal. Her dates are four days later than those already received. She has twenty passengers.

The steamship North American, from Portland, arrived at Queenstown on the 20th of February.

The ship Luna, from Havre for New Orleans, had been wrecked on the French coast, near Chorboung. She had 88 passengers and 23 crew on board. Only two persons were saved, whose names are not given. The vessel proved a total loss.

Mr. D'lanah's motion for the consideration of the French treaty in advance of the discussion of the budget, caused a warm debate. The result of the vote was as follows: For the motion, 230; against it, 293; majority for the government, 53. This considerably guarantees that the treaty will be ratified.

Lord Lucan's motion against the reduction of the tariff and increasing the income tax, was under discussion.

It was reported that the French government will agree to a modification in the coal stipulation.

The French ministerial circulars demand obedience to the laws from the clergy on the Roman question.

The Paris bourse had advanced and closed at 68f.

Prussia and Russia, it was reported, had joined in a proposal for a conference of the five great powers.

Hanover had consented to submit the question of the state dues to a general conference.

A Hong Kong letter says that the claims of American citizens for losses sustained at Canton in 1856 are in a fair way for liquidation. A dividend is to be paid forthwith, and the remainder is guaranteed.

Liverpool.—The ship Dewit Clinton, from Liverpool, is ashore south of Squam inlet, with broadside on the bar. No communication with her has yet been effected. Further particulars will be sent as soon as possible.

St. Johns, N. F. March 9.

The steamship Nova Scotia, which arrived here yesterday p. m., sailed for Liverpool at 11 o'clock, on the morning of the 22d of February, touching at Queenstown next day. The steamship Glasgow also sailed from Liverpool on the 22d ult. for New York, and the steamship New York was to leave Southampton for the same destination on the same day. The steamship Niagara was to take the place of the America and sail for Halifax and Boston on the 25th ult. The steamship America from Boston, arrived on the morning of the 22d ult., and the steamship City of Baltimore, from New York, a few hours later. Heavy gales had prevailed around the coast at England. The steamer Odions, from Dublin, for London, came in collision with the schooner Heroine on the 9th ult. The steamer sunk in twenty minutes afterwards, and from forty to fifty persons drowned. Rumors were current of an address attributed to Victor Emanuel, himself calling Sicily to insurrection. The armament in Piedmont were being accelerated. A convocation held at the Vatican had decided that the king of Sardinia should not be excommunicated whatever political events might supervene. There was a report current that a plot against the emperor of the French had been discovered.

A Madrid telegram states that the garrison of Uellela had made a sortie and the Spanish loss was thirty-three killed, one hundred and forty-six wounded, and twenty-one missing. The Spanish prices were unaimons in their demand for an energetic policy against Morocco.

The Nova Scotia takes 180 tons of coal and will sail this p. m. for Portland where she will be due on Monday next.

There was a gale from the south-east last night with rain.

In Press, and will be Published, on March 17th.

A NEW WORK BY THE DISTINGUISHED AMERICAN AUTHORESS,

MRS. E. D. E. N. SOUTHWORTH.

THE HAUNTED HOMESTEAD.

With an Autobiography of the Author.

BY MRS. EMMA D. E. N. SOUTHWORTH.

Author of "The Last Heiren," "Deserted Wife," "Mining Bride," "India," "Wife's Victory," "Retribution," "Curse of Clifton," "Vivia," "The Three Beauties," "Lady of the Isle," etc., etc.

Complete in one large duodecimo volume, neatly bound in cloth, for One Dollar and Twenty-Five Cents or in two volumes, paper cover, for One Dollar.

The Publishers take great pleasure in being able to present to the American public another new and charming work by the popular American authoress, Mrs. Emma D. E. N. Southworth. She is excelled by no living female writer in the world. Her style is free from insipidity on the one hand and bombast on the other; and though we meet with forcible, we are never startled with inflated language. Her characters are rarely under, but never over drawn. Her scenes are life pictures, her incidents founded on facts, and her sentiments are characterized by a singular purity both of conception and expression. She has the rare faculty of saying what she means, and of saying it in such a manner as that her meaning cannot be misinterpreted. In short she possesses in an eminent degree those qualifications which are the peculiar prerogatives of a good writer; while she delights the reader's imagination with her descriptive beauty, she applies home truths to their understanding with the force of rational conviction. The "Haunted Homestead" has been pronounced by those who have read the proof-sheets, to be her best work. This is sufficient to commend it to perusal, and we anticipate for it a great popularity. For sale by all Booksellers.

Copies of either edition of the work, will be sent to any part of the United States, free of postage, on remitting the price of the edition they may wish, to the publishers, in a letter.

Published and for Sale at the Publishing Establishment of T. B. PETERSON & BROS., 306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

Sullivan, March 15, 20th.

Curious PITCHER.—Prominent among the curiosities at the hermitage once the home of General Jackson, is a wooden pitcher, remarkable both on account of the artistic skill displayed and the celebrity of the tree from which the wood was procured. It was made of wood from the elm tree under which William Penn made the celebrated Indian treaty. The pitcher was presented by the coopers of Philadelphia; and though it was not larger than a common cream-jug, it contains seven hundred and fifty quarts. The hoops, lid and handle are of silver; the bottom is a magnifying glass, by looking through which one is enabled to see the joints, which are invisible to the naked eye.

A TALENTED LAWYER.—Alexander Hamilton was once applied to as a counsel by a man having the guardianship of several orphans, who would on coming of age, succeed to a large and valuable estate of which there was a material defect in the title deeds, known only to their guardian who wanted to get the estate vested in himself. Hamilton noted down the faithful executor's statement, and then said to him, "Settle with these unhappy infants honorably to the last cent, or I will hunt you from your skin like a hare!" The advice was strictly followed, and the man who gave it was an ornament to the bar and to the age he lived in.

HOW BLYON REPUBLICAN CONGRESSMEN ARE ELECTED.—The Bangor Union leads by private advices from Augusta, that Elder Peck is making a clean breast of the treasury defalcation and, so far from implicating Democrats "in high office," in the transaction, he has made developments that go to the very heart of the Republican party. The Union is informed that Peck has made a statement that he expended thirteen thousand dollars to elect Daniel E. Simes, in the first Congressional district; eighteen thousand dollars to elect Ezra B. French, in the third district; and four thousand dollars to elect Steven C. Foster, in the sixth district; and eleven thousand more to one of the most prominent Republican leaders in Maine.—[States and Union.]

In considering the advantage and disadvantages of tobacco culture, Prof Brewer thus states the case: The sole advantage is that an individual may grow rich from raising it. On the other hand, a nation never will; for the one man's gain is obtained at the cost of his son and son's son; in getting his fortune he has taken from his children the means of future gain, like the owner of the goose who laid the golden eggs. The crop terribly exhausts the soil; is very precarious because of the weather and insect enemies; the laborers who cultivate it suffer in health; and the land which must always be of the best quality, could be employed in raising breadstuffs to more general profit.

SERVED HER RIGHT.—A fashionable young lady a few days since went into a store in Norfolk, Va., and after a thorough examination of its contents bought a dime's worth of thread which she ordered to be sent to her residence, over a mile distant. The proprietor procured an express wagon, the driver of which took the package, backed up to the door, lowered the tail board, delivered the package and collected fifteen cents, the usual charge.

In a village school, recently, when the scholars were parsing, the word "wait" occurred in the sentence. A bright-eyed little fellow, the youngest of the class, puzzled over the word for a few minutes, and then a bright idea struck him, he burst out with, "I can conjugate it,—positive wait, comparative waitary, superlative seal-ing-wax."

HOWARD ASSOCIATION.
PHILADELPHIA.
A Benevolent Institution established by Special Endowment for the Relief of the Sick and Distressed, afflicted with Venereal and other venereal Diseases.
The Howard Association, in view of the awful destruction of human life caused by Venereal diseases, and the deceptions practiced upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases, in all their forms, and to give medical advice gratis to all who apply by letter with a description of their condition (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty, to furnish medicines free of charge. It is needless to add that the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.
The Directors of the Association in their Annual Report, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of their surgeons in the cure of Spermatorrhoea, Seminal Weakness, Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism, or Self-abuse, Disease of the Kidneys and Bladder, &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.
An admirable Report on Spermatorrhoea, or Seminal Weakness, the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self-abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope), free of charge, on receipt of two stamps for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of Sexual disease, diet, &c., are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution, and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year, are of great value.
Address, for Report or treatment, Dr. J. SKILLIN HOUGHTON, Acting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 3 south ninth street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.

DR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth. One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two or three bottles will clear the system of bile.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of erysipelas.

One or two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Near to six bottles are warranted to cure corns and running ulcers.

Fifteen to twenty bottles will cure scaly eruptions of the skin.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of ringworm.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most severe case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

One to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of dyspepsia. I know from the experience of thousands that it has been caused by canker in the stomach.

One or two bottles are warranted to cure sick headache.

One to two bottles are warranted to regulate a costive state of the bowels.

One to two bottles will regulate all derangement of the kidneys.

Four to six bottles have cured the worst cases of dropsy.

One to three have cured the worst cases of piles: a relief is always experienced; what a mercy to get relief in such an excruciating disease! A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

No change of diet ever necessary; eat the best you can get and enough of it.

The MEDICAL DISCOVERY is admirably adapted to the western country where FEVER AND AGUE, DYSENTERY, BILIOUS COLIC, BILIOUS FEVER, LIVER DERANGEMENTS, are so prevalent in their respective seasons. The great cause of the prevalence of these diseases is that many have secreted in their system some Putrid and Fatal Humor which is the source of all diseases, and many a young man and woman in the BLOOM OF LIFE are wasting away whose faded cheeks and sunken eyes warn their friends of a speedy dissolution through the effects of some Acrid Humor preying upon the vitals, and many thousands die annually from the effects of these humors, who, if they but purify their blood with a few bottles of Medical Discovery would live to a ripe old age.

Another great cause of disease is Constipation; for this the Discovery is an infallible remedy, its action on the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels is all that you could desire.

For Scrofulous Ulcers you will follow the directions in pamphlet around the bottle.

For Ulcerated Sore Leg you will find full directions in the pamphlet. Directions for Use—Adults, one table spoonful per day; children over ten years, dessert spoonful; children from five to eight years, tea spoonful. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Viz: That in Dr. Mann's Ague Balsam we have a perfectly triumphant remedy for chills fever and all diseases arising from a diseased or inactive condition of the liver.

Indeed it will never fail, and the one who fails to use it at once will deeply regret the neglect. Reader you will never again shake or have fever that season if you take it as per directions, and continue until the system is perfectly re-tooled; if this be done there will be no one who will suffer long from chills, fever and ague.

Bucyrus, Ohio, Feb. 25th 1858
Dr. MANN & Co., Gallon, Ohio—Gents: We are at a loss to find language sufficient to portray to the public the great esteem in which your Celebrated Ague Balsam is held in this community. The fact is it never fails to cure ague in its worst forms, and we can sell nothing else.

Yours, &c.,
HOLMES & TAYLOR, Druggists, Corinth, Miss., Oct. 20th 1857.

Messrs. S. K. MANN & Co.—Gents: Having procured a supply of your Ague Balsam, and testing it thoroughly in many severe cases of long standing, where all the popular remedies of the day had failed, I found in all cases your Balsam effected a safe and speedy cure. It is just the medicine we want here in the south.

Respectfully Yours,
JOSEPH BUCHANAN, Druggist, Gallon, May 9th 1858.

Messrs. S. K. MANN & Co.
Gentlemen:—I would say for the benefit of those suffering with chills fever and ague, that I can confidently recommend your Ague Balsam to do what it is recommended to do, having used it myself, and in many families also; have known it used in many other cases, where it has universally proved effectual; leaving the patient soundly cured. I give this for the benefit of all whom it may concern.

Gallon, O., May 1856. B. F. MATTHIAS, St. Louis, Sept. 10th 1856.

Messrs. S. K. MANN & Co.
Gentlemen:—After using several other preparations for fever and ague, and only getting partial relief, for the disease soon returned again on me, I took two bottles of your Balsam, and I have had neither chill nor fever since I took that dose. I believe it to be the only thing that will never fail, and hence I recommend it to all others.

Yours Truly,
