BOTHERED.

BY WILLIAM H. MORRIS.

I sat alone one stormy night,
And gloomily reflected
On all the errors of the past,
And good resolves neglected!
I vowed I now would mend my ways,
And be no more a sinner—
An indignation banished sleep!
I'd eaten too much dinner!

I longed to have a happy home!—
Domestic peace and quiet [mind,
Would soothe my restlessness of
And furnish simple diet [knew.
Two friends I had, whose truth I
And both had lately wedded,
I asked them, "if the marriage tie
Were to be sought or d eaded!

"Dear Tom, thou happy man! I said,
"What do you recommend me?
In my uncertainty I beg
You'll counsel and befriend me."
"If inclination strong you have,"
Said he, "do not deny it;
"You know not all the joys that come
With married life—just try it!"

"Dear Hal, I ask the same of you—
Your answer shall decide me:
In friendship's name, you aid I claim
That truthfully you'll guide me.
The marriage bond, if you desire,
And can afford to buy it,
He answered, with a groan and shrug
"I only say—JUST TRY IT!"

THE DYING CHILD OF POVERTY.

BY ANNA RAYMOND.

It was a lovely May morning;—out in the country the sun was brightly shining upon the gently sloping meadows, where the lovely violet, peeping out from its emerald bed, welcomed the glorious light, and sweetly smiled as the sun kissed away the crystal dew-drops reposing so softly within the delicate petals; bland zephyrs were playing amid the luxuriant foliage of the grand old forest, and rippling the surface of the flowing streamlet, and the air was laden with the rich perfume of blossoming trees, while the meek dwellers of the upper deep were chanting their songs of praise in sweet strains of untaught poetry. We would that we could linger amid such beautiful scenes, but the thread of our sketch takes us where no balmy zephyrs fan the cheek of the care-worn dwellers, or kiss the brow of the pale, half-starved children of poverty as they gather in groups in the narrow, filthy streets of our great cities.

A group of dirty, ragged children were playing upon the banquette. Their lives thus far had been passed amid such scenes—they had never breathed an atmosphere of love—hunger and want had been their companions; and within the dismal dwelling they called home, harsh words ever fell upon their ears, for there was no harmony in the hearts of the parents whose duty it was to love and protect those helpless children, and their only glimpse of a peaceful life was when out in the free, warm sunshine.

There was one whose eye was often moist—whose heart went out in sympathy toward the poor friendless children he saw grouped in the filthy, reeking streets, and many a one had he led to a better home, where the nobler and purer emotions of the heart would be cultivated; and on this beautiful Sabbath morning he was passing through an obscure street, on his way to visit a sick child, when a group of girls attracted his attention by their boisterous sport. He spoke kindly to them, and inquired if they would not like to attend the Mission Sabbath School. One after another ran away, until one only remained—a pale, thin-faced girl, of seven years, looked wonderingly into his face as he spoke of the holy truths taught there; and when he repeated his question an intense smile stole over the thin face, and the light of a gentle, trusting spirit beamed from the bright eye, as she said:

"O, I shall be so glad to go," then after a moment's silence, looking down upon her ragged dress a shadow flitted across her brow and she added, "but I can't go, my dress is all torn."

"You need not stay away because your dress is ragged, and if you will be ready this afternoon I will call for you. Will you tell me your name?" "Lena Horton, and there's where I live," she said, pointing to the steps leading to a damp basement.

And the kind-hearted missionary went on his way, while Lena joined a group of children, and repeating all he had said, asked them to go with her to the Sabbath School.

Lena stood upon the sidewalk for more than an hour waiting for the missionary—she had shed many tears, for when she told her mother what the "good man" said and asked if she could go with him to the mission school, harsh words fell from the mother's lips, and she bade her child get out of her sight, for she cared not where she went—so with a sad heart the poor child turned from her mother—such a mother—for humanity's sake let us hope there are not many such in the world.

"I must wear this ragged dress, it's all I've got; but I'll have my face and hands clean," she thought, as she went to the faucet, and when she went out upon the street her face was fair, and her soft, wavy hair smooth and glossy. The clouds all passed away from that pale, thin face, and sunny smiles lighted it up as Mr. F——, the missionary, inquired if she was ready to go with him, and she said:

"I wanted all the girls to go with me, but they wouldn't, and said everybody there would laugh at me because I'm going to wear this ragged dress, and ain't no bonnet. Will they laugh at me?" and she looked up earnestly into his face.

"None but bad people; good people will love you and try to make you a better, happier child, and if you attend the school the ladies will give you a better dress;" was the reply, and Lena, with a lightened heart, entered the mission school.

"I'm coming every Sunday," said Lena, with a glad smile, as she left Mr. F—— on her way home.

And all through the warm, sultry Summer, that poor child was never absent a single Sabbath—kind ladies saw that she was decently clothed, and the sweet, happy smile which ever lingered upon her pale face, gladdened her teacher's heart and repaid all for their kindness. One day, when the teacher had been speaking of Him who was meek and lowly, "who had borne the sorrows and sins of men," and who loved and sympathized with poor children—for when on earth his home of poverty and he mingled with the lowly and suffering children of sorrow—Lena lingered after the other girls in the class had passed out and in low tremulous tones asked:

"And will he be with me in such a dark, cold home as mine, and when I die can I go to live with him in his home where it is never dark?" and crystal drops trembled upon the thin, pale cheek, and she in the eye raised so wonderingly to that teacher's face.

Then the teacher sat down beside her and with tearful eye told her what revelation taught us of the unseen clime on the other side of the cold, dark waters of the river of death, and if she would trust and love, all would be well there. For many weeks the teacher remembered with what a grateful, happy smile little Lena said "good-by," and the simple words of gratitude and affection from that child of poverty, is still cherished, and in all coming years they will be the sweetest recompense for the labor and time bestowed on that child.

It was the last Sabbath; little Lena's pale, but now happy face was seen in the mission school—the next day she was ill—and though the kind ladies who had learned to love the poor child saw that she wanted for nothing, and a skillful physician was summoned, yet all could not save her life.

One morning her teacher entered that dismal abode of poverty to see Lena, and found her dying. Several ragged children were grouped around, the brothers and sisters of the dying child, and at last, the heart of that miserable mother seemed to be touched, for she was crunched in one corner, and moaning loudly. When told that she was dying, Lena "did not seem unhappy," but after, in simple, touching language, thanking her teacher for all her kindness, and repeating the name of the missionary, who first led her to the school, and the ladies who had been kind to her, and saying, "Tell them I love them all," she called her brothers and sisters to her low, rude bed, and bade each good-by.

Then she spoke as though she had caught a glimpse of the green, flowery fields, and calm crystal waters of the beautiful clime where pain and sickness never come, and with a sweet, heavenly smile lighting up her thin face and dimmed eye, she said, as her head sank back upon the pillow:

"I am going to Heaven! I am so glad to go, because now my sisters will have enough to eat!" And pearly dew-drops yet trembled upon the lashes shading her eye on which death had set his seal, as the burdened spirit of that little child of poverty took its flight to a happier, holier sphere. Little Lena's wanderings were over—no more weeping and suffering—she would never know hunger and cold again. What a blissful change, to be transplanted from such a dismal home of poverty, to a home where plenty and peace ever dwell, and light and joy never fade.

A HEROINE.—One evening last week, the wife of a sea-captain, residing at Saybrook, was returning from a visit to a neighbor, when she was followed by two men. She overheard them say, "The Captain is gone" and "There must be considerable money in the house." The lady, upon reaching home, concluded to await the arrival of the parties, who, she had no doubt, intended to rob the house during the night. She had not long to wait, for at 11 o'clock a summons came to open the door. Instead of complying, she raised a chamber window and inquired who was there. No response came to this or further inquiries, and she told them to leave or she would shoot them.

They then tried to effect an entrance by clambering upon a shed, but one of them fell, and both returned to the front door, which they attempted to force. The lady, taking a revolver in one hand and a candle in the other, stood by the door to await the issue. In a few minutes the burglars had broken it in, when she told them that if they moved a step toward coming into the house, they were dead men. They looked at her, consulted together a few minutes, and then went away, desisting to take the risk. After the peril was over, she returned to her two children, exhausted with the tension to which her nerves and courage had been subjected. Such a woman as that is worth having in the house, and we regret being unable to give her name.—Barford Chron.

Cheering News.

We have before us a letter from a citizen of Kentucky, a leading merchant of Louisville, and a long and ardent admirer of Breckinridge. At the close of a business letter to a gentleman in this city, he says:

"On Friday night, 6th inst., the Democratic ratification meeting [Douglas and Johnson] reminded me of the good old times of Clay and Harrison. The crowd was larger than any one expected—say eight to ten thousand—and the enthusiasm was unbounded. If John Breckinridge could have been a looker on and heard the expressions of condemnation given by those who had before been his devoted admirers and friends, to his desertion of them and the time-honored principles of the Democratic party, he would have blushed with shame and confusion. The facts of his high position and place, which have been given him by the Democratic party, and that, too without any marked or particular desertion on his part, now to be used by him for the purpose of disorganizing and breaking up the party, which had bestowed upon him such unmerited honors, were fully set forth and sustained beyond dispute. Nor was the Disunion company into which he had thrown himself forgotten. His friends regard and speak of him with mingled expressions of sorrow and contempt, wondering, most of all, what demon of ambition could have possessed the man to thus forsake his friends and his party.

"Kentucky will give Douglas and Johnson a larger vote than Breckinridge and Lane. Louisville and Jefferson county is ten to one for Douglas and Johnson, and my best information is that the entire State will come up pretty much the same way, Breckinridge's own district excepted."

The same popular condemnation of the Disunionists will be awarded by a majority of the Southern States. Breckinridge and Lane are regarded throughout the entire Southern Disunion candidates, and as such will meet with popular repudiation.—Chicago Times.

Arguments for the Bible.

There are four grand arguments for the truth of Bible. The first is the miracles on record; the second the prophecies; the third the goodness of doctrine; the fourth the moral character of the penman. The miracles flow from divine power; the prophecies from divine goodness; and the moral character of the penman from divine purity. Thus Christianity is built up on these four immovable pillars—the power, the understanding, the goodness, the purity of God. The Bible must be one of these things; either the invention of good men or of good angels; or a revelation from God.—But it could not be the invention of good men or good angels, for they neither would nor could make a book telling lies, at the same time saying,—"Thus saith the Lord," when they knew it to be their invention. It could not be the invention of wicked men or devils, for they could not make a book which forbids all sin, and which condemns their souls through all eternity. The conclusion is irresistible—the Bible must be given by divine inspiration.

—Douglas's Misdeeds.—The Corinthian Missionary, True Democrat, supports Douglas and Johnson. In that State, there will be but two tickets, Douglas and Johnson and the Disunion ticket. The canvass has already commenced, the Hon. B. N. Kenyon for Douglas and Gov. Matthews for the Disunionists, opened the canvass at Corinth on the 25th of June.

Tomatoes.

This delicious and wholesome vegetable is frequently spoiled by the manner in which they are prepared for the table, as many housekeepers do not seem to understand the proper manner of having them prepared and cooked. The chief error is in not having them cooked enough. We often meet with them upon the table after being barely scalded, and served up only a sour sickening broth.

To prepare tomatoes properly they require to be cooked three hours or more and until the juice is evaporated, so that the pulp becomes a mass of equal consistence. Some persons consider it an improvement to separate the seeds at the time of peeling them; the seeds may be strained out and the juice returned to the fruit, which probably somewhat to the richness of the dish, though it adds considerably to the time necessary to cook them. When tomatoes are scarce, the addition of some broken bread or crackers, not only increases the quantity but it improves the quality.

In preparing tomatoes to put up for winter use, it is better to boil them down well, nearly fit for the table before they are put into the jars, as a less number will serve for a given quantity. If properly prepared and securely put up so as to entirely exclude the air, they suffer nothing in quality by age, and form an excellent and economical dish throughout the winter and spring. Stone jugs, if well glazed, are very handy things to keep them in or the common cheap glass jars, costing but seventy five cents per dozen, and holding a quart each, we prefer to anything else. No corks are needed, but a stout cotton cloth well waxed where it comes in contact with the glass, and then thoroughly covered on the outside with wax, has never failed with us to keep them well.

WESLEY AND HIS COMPANION.—He could be noble in his reproaches in all things. Joseph Bradford was for many years his traveling companion and considered no assistance to him too servile, but was subject to changes of temper. Wesley directed him to carry package of letters to the post; Bradford wished to hear his sermon first. Wesley was urgent and insisted; Bradford refused.

"Then," said Wesley, "you and I must part."
"Very good, sir," replied Bradford. "They sleep over it." On rising the next morning, Wesley accosted his old friend, and asked if he had considered what he had said, that "They must part."

"Yes, sir," replied Bradford. "And must we part?" inquired Wesley.
"Will you ask my pardon?" rejoined Wesley.
"No, sir."
"You won't?"
"No, sir."

"Then I will ask yours!" replied the great man.

Bradford melted under the example, and wept like a child.

THALES THE MILESMAN.—A sophist wishing to puzzle Thales the Milesian, one of the men of Greece, proposed to him in rapped succession, these difficult questions. The philosopher replied to them all, with but the least hesitation and with how much propriety the reader can judge for himself.

What is the oldest of all things? God, because he always existed.
What is the most beautiful? The world, because it is the work of God.
What is the greatest of all things? Space, because it contains all that is created.
What is the quickest of all things? Thought, because in a moment it can fly to the end of the universe.
What is the strongest? Necessity, because it makes men face all the dangers of life.
What is the most difficult? To know thyself.
What is the most wonderful of all things? Hope, because it still remains man, after he has long been dead.

For State's Attorney. B. W. HENRY, Of FAYETTE COUNTY.

NOTICE. All articles signed thus, (E.), are written by J. R. EDEN, and he is not responsible for anything else that may appear in the Express.

Vandalia Convention. We attended the Congressional Convention at Vandalia, on the 18th, in company with the delegates from this county. Every county but one was represented. The Convention was carried on in the proper spirit, and the greatest harmony and enthusiasm prevailed. Hon. J. C. Robinson was re-nominated for Congress by acclamation, having no opposition. He came forward at the call of the people, and in a short speech acknowledged the honor conferred upon him by the convention, which was received with deafening shouts by the assembled multitude. Robinson will beat his opponent, "Uncle Jimmy," at least two thousand votes.

It was also understood that there would be a nomination made by delegates from this circuit, of a candidate for State's Attorney, as the candidates, B. W. Henry, of Vandalia, and Mr. Boyd, of Decatur, both agreed to go into convention and abide the action of said delegates. Mr. Boyd, however, soon after his arrival at Vandalia, ascertained that a majority of the delegation favored the nomination of Mr. Henry; he, therefore, declined going into convention at all. Under these circumstances it was agreed by all the leading members of the bar in this circuit, that Henry's name should be announced in all the papers as our regular candidate, just the same as if he had been nominated in convention.

Let everybody and his family go to Lovington next Saturday, as we expect some of the best speakers in the State to be there. Go everybody, and all that can, take their dinners, for we calculate on a large crowd, and a good old-fashioned basket meeting.

The "Potter House" at Moweaqua, is one of the first hotels in the country. Although we put up at larger houses in our wanderings last week, none were so well furnished with that that was good, as this one. Our traveling public, having business at Moweaqua, will find it to their interest to stop at the "Potter House."

Don't forget Saturday at Lovington.

BETWEEN 15,000 AND 20,000 PEOPLE PRESENT.

Early on the morning of Thursday July 19th, the unterrified Democracy began to pour into our little town en route for Mattoon, where the masses of the Democracy, or the people—which now implies the same thing—of Coles and the adjoining counties by previous notice, were called to meet to hear the political issues of the day fairly discussed. By 7 o'clock our town was thronged with the Union loving voters of little Moultrie, accompanied by their wives and daughters. (How certain the ladies are to be ready when any good thing is to be done.) A procession was formed at the Eagle Hotel, headed by the Mattoon Brass Band—who, by the way, are an excellent Band of young men, and whose visit to our town, and whose music were certainly a credit to Mattoon and to themselves. Next in order came the Hickory wagon, containing twenty voters, with the finest flag and highest pole that were at Mattoon; then wagons, carriages, buggies and horsemen, several hundreds strong. After marching around the public square, the line of march was taken up toward Mattoon, the nucleus for the most magnificent political demonstration ever witnessed in this part of the great Democratic Prairie State. As we proceeded on our rout crowd after crowd fell into rank—cheer after cheer rose echoing and re-echoing for Douglas, the Little Giant of the West, till when we reached Mattoon our procession from Moultrie numbered about 1,000 persons. The Democratic masses continued to pour in until 15,000 to 20,000 persons were on the ground; when all marched in one grand procession to the Fair Grounds, where the masses were addressed by speakers from two stands: A. Thornton, of Shelbyville, A. Green, of Paris, from one; J. R. Eden, Hon. John A. Logan, Hon. J. C. Allen, and Dr. Roe, from the other, in a most powerful and masterly manner. The meeting at the Fair Grounds was one of the best and most successful efforts we have ever witnessed in vindication of the great Democratic doctrine of the rights of the American citizens to govern themselves as well in territories as in the states. At night the crowd was addressed by Hon. J. C. Robinson, Gen. W. F. Thornton, Hon. John A. Logan, and others from the Essex House and Pennsylvania House. Then—oh crackee!!—such a torch-light procession, 1500 torches and transparencies! This surpassed anything ever seen in Central Illinois. And then the fire-works. This part of the show exceeded anything ever seen by "the oldest inhabitant." The whole firmament seemed in one continuous blaze of meteors. These combined with the booming of cannon and the shouts of the multitude, produced by a genuine, heart-felt enthusiasm for the "Little Giant," the defender of our own reserved rights, was truly the most stirring, elevating and sublime spectacle ever witnessed by those present. Who can doubt when men, women and children all determine to effect the same important result, and that result the protection of their own rights as American citizens, to be secured by the election of DOUGLAS to the Presidency, that it will as surely be effected as that the Tuesday after the first Monday in November arrives. With such men as Allen, Logan, Robinson, the Thorntons, Ficklin, Richardson, Merrick, McClernand and a host of others, how can we fail. Why we will know no such word as fail, we must succeed. Democrats we have a standard bearer whose very name is the prestige of victory—unless he should unfortunately fall into the hands of "Uncle Jimmy" Cunningham or Smith Nichols!!

Three cheers for the citizens of Mattoon, and nine for the "Little Giant." This is certainly a race between Bones and Brains, Reason and Principles, Federalism and Democracy. Let the ball roll, we are all right.

Last Saturday the Republicans of this county held their county convention, which resulted in the nomination of Lee A. Bone for Sheriff, and John A. Freeland for Circuit Clerk. The gathering was very respectable in point of numbers, considering it was a Republican convention. Speeches were made by Cunningham, Nichols and Steele; the latter gentleman being by far the ablest speaker of the three. At night they had a small torch-light procession, numbering some fifty or sixty torches. They had another speech at night from Jim Huffman, of which all were ashamed, as a Republican went up behind him and whispered something to him, which was supposed to be a polite invitation to desist, as he soon closed. Oh, what giant intellect they have in that party!

Hon. John A. Logan is called, by the black Republicans, 'Dirty-work Logan,' and it seems they have given him a very appropriate name; for, since hearing him speak at Mattoon the other day, we conclude he is the very man to take the last inch of gut out of the black Republican party.

BELL AND EVERETT IN INDIANA.—The chairman of the Indiana whig committee has called a convention of the Bell and Everett party to meet at Indianapolis on the 15th day of August. We understand that it is the purpose to follow the course that will be adopted by the same party in New York, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, and Ohio, viz: A thorough and complete union with the conservative men of all parties to defeat Lincoln and Breckinridge—the representatives of the two disunion factions.

Godey's Lady's Book, for August, is received, and is a most magnificent number. It still climbs higher and higher—it will soon have a place in every household.

Home Magazine, for August, comes to hand, clothed with unusual splendor. The people are becoming interested in the "Home," and its popularity increases with every number. Welcome, "Home!"

The Republican convention nominated Henry Case, of Scott county, for Congress, in opposition to Hon. J. A. McClernand.

SOLITARY AND ALONE.—Senator Pugh, of Ohio, is the only member of the Senate, either from the North or the South, who supports Douglas.—How are the mighty fallen!—Nashville Union and American.

We admit that among the United States Senators, most of whom are Presidential aspirants, and have been so long in Washington that they know little of popular sentiment, and seem to care less, Douglas has not many adherents. In proportion as he is weak among Senators and Congressmen, he is popular with the people, who do not believe the idea of United States Senators making a President for them. The popular vote in November will stand thus, in the Union at large:

Douglas, 1,600,000
Breckinridge, 300,000

The House of Congress rejected Jackson, and the Senate censured him. The People made him President. The Senate rejected Martin Van Buren as Minister to England. The people made him Vice President and then President. The Senate is opposed to Douglas, but the people will make him President, as they did Jackson and Van Buren.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THAT PICTURE.—The Journal has a picture of Lincoln dividing the Union. The Tree of Liberty planted by our fathers is cut down, Lincoln stands astride of it, his face distorted by hideous passions; and with the mail of Abolition he is driving the wedge of Disunion, and rending the very heart of the noble tree.

It is typical of the base party and its aims; and will arouse the indignation of the people.—Abolitionist of Argus.

We learned recently from a friend, that Lincoln could never be President!

The commercial editor of the Augusta "Constitutionalist" Mr. Pritchard after consulting with all the leading men at Baltimore, and visiting Washington and New York for the purpose of obtaining information, thinks the following States can be relied on to give their electoral vote for Douglas and Johnson:

Table listing states and their electoral votes: New York (35), Pennsylvania (27), Ohio (23), Indiana (13), Illinois (11), New Jersey (7), Iowa (4), Minnesota (4), Wisconsin (5), Missouri (9), Maryland (8), Louisiana (6).

Total and enough to elect 159

It is also believed by many, Mr. Pritchard says, that the following States will vote for Douglas and Johnson:

Table listing states and their electoral votes: Alabama (9), Delaware (3), Arkansas (4), Connecticut (6), New Hampshire (5), California (4), Oregon (3), Michigan (6).

Mr. Pritchard made up his calculation very soon after the nominations were announced. We think it safe to say at present that Connecticut is nearly certain for Lincoln and that Maine, New Hampshire, Michigan and Arkansas are certain for Douglas. Our belief is that in the North and West Mr. Lincoln has lost at least five per cent. of his strength since the Baltimore nominations were made; and that the split in the Democratic party, instead of doing us harm, is actually doing us good in every one of the free States. The Republican thunder is gone, and Abe Lincoln is scarcely thought of in the fight.

We find the following funny article in a late number of a daily newspaper published in Liverpool. The British editor gives "an opinion as is an opinion" of

THE "CRISIS" IN THE UNITED STATES.—The boasted republic so much vaunted by vainglorious Yankees, seems on the brink of a precipice, from which retreat will be disgrace, and advance destruction. The very wisest of the American statesmen—Bonner, the Smith brothers, Aaron Burr, and others—are wrangling in the House of Parliament, in the Columbia District, over a little volume called the Impending Crisis, written by an octocean named Helper, in which the author proves that unless the States south of the State of New Orleans agree to abolish negro slavery, the North will supply them with no more shoe pegs, and utter financial ruin will be the consequence. The members of Parliament who quarrel over this singular book betray all the American characteristics in their savage abuse of each other, and sometimes they even come to blows. The Hon. Charles Sumner, one of their number, was recently fired upon by a man named Hooks; and just before the Asia sailed it was reported that a member named Askins was detected in the act of throwing away a heavy rifle, which he had previously managed to carry in a pocket made expressly for it.

Though we have no particular faith in the stability of what the Americans call their "Republican institutions," we are sorry to see our cousins working their own ruin with the edge sword of political incompatibility. As free-born Englishmen, we are bound to sympathize with the so-called "Abolitionists" of the Northern States of Georgia, Nashville, Harper's Ferry, Virginia, etc., in their efforts to free the negroes from bondage. Some of the greatest Americans now living are blacks—the famous James Brown was a negro, therefore the Governor of Harper's Ferry hung him. Horace Greeley, the famous journalist, is a negro; the great sensation preacher, Henry Wood Beecher, is said to be a quadroon. Yet despite such evidences of the African natural equality with the whites in intellect as well as in everything else, the Southern members of Parliament, led on by a Mr. Sippi, are threatening to dissolve the American Union if they are not allowed to hold their slaves in New York. There can be but one termination of this state of things in America. Civil war must eventually break out among such discordant elements, and then the Union will cease to be, forever!

Ohio papers complain of a blight on the apple trees in certain sections of that State. It resembles the fire blight that affects the pear and seems to fall only upon trees which are full of fruit.

It is a general remark that all classes of persons are very ready to give their opinions. We think the lawyers must be excepted—they sell theirs.

Latest from Pike's Peak. St. Joseph, July 21.

The Pike's Peak Express Company's coach reached here last evening. Our advices by this arrival are as follows:

Denver City, 15.—This city was yesterday visited by a severe thunder shower. For one hour rain fell in a perfect sheet, accompanied with hail. The streets were flooded with water, and quite a large amount of goods was damaged by cellars being flooded with water where they were stored. So dense was the falling rain that persons could not see across the streets. The Metropolitan Billiard Saloon was struck by lightning, shattering one corner of the building and stunning several persons, but seriously injuring none.

We have enjoyed fine showers every afternoon for a week, much to the joy of our gardeners.

A large building with a brick front on Blake street, in process of erection, fell in during the storm, owing to the walls being undermined by the flood.

There are reported discoveries from the west slope of the range, one hundred miles from the California Gulch, of marvellous richness.—Lumps are said to have been found the size of a hen's egg. The report needs confirmation.

The Disunion Vote in Illinois.

It is conceded by the Republican papers that, in a straight fight between their candidate and Douglas, Lincoln would be beaten. All intelligent men know perfectly that Douglas' majority cannot possibly fall below 10 or 12 thousand. But the Republican papers are not yet willing to give up Lincoln; they still pretend to hope that they may carry the State through divisions in the Democratic party. The pretense that the Lane-Breckinridge vote of this State will be considerable, is put forth with the sole object of inspiring a false hope among the Lincolnites of other sections of the Union.—The Republicans are just now making the most of a laughable statement of the faction post master at Chicago.—We have seen in several of the eastern papers this statement: "Ike Cook's estimate of the Breckinridge vote in Illinois is about ninety thousand." They print it, hoping to encourage the disunion candidate to remain in the field. That is the sole object; while the truth is, the factional, slave-code disunionists have no friends in Illinois. If the Lane-Breckinridge ticket finds above 1500 or 2000 supporters in all this State, then it will have more than anybody here believes it will.

Accordingly, dyeing is the most stupid of blunders, unless one prefers the parchment skin of a mummy, which is the invariable consequence. How little confidence in good mother Nature is shown by her fidgety children.

Heenan is said to have grown considerably since his departure, and is now a very giant in his proportions, and would seem to be very much taller if he had not acquired an English stoutness and rotundity with his increased height. He seems more manly, and his broken nose, short hair, and burned face, make him look quite the phlegmatic gentleman he is, says a New York reporter.

The iron interest of Lake Superior region is very flourishing. The shipments for June are more than double the amount sent forward in the same time last year.

The London College of Surgeons gave a learned man—had Tom Sayers down not long ago to test the weight of the blow, he gives—not on any of the doctors, but upon a machine which is made like a stomach, and recedes with the blow, registering the number of pounds weight it gets. The figures to Tom's credit are 320 lbs.

Town Ordinance.

Be it ordained by the President and Trustees of the town of Sullivan, Moultrie county, Illinois, That any person or persons, who shall ride, drive, or lead any horse, mare, mule, or jackass on any of the side-walks of the town of Sullivan, shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in a sum not less than FIFTY Cents, nor more than FIVE Dollars for every such offense.

Every person who shall leave a team of horses, mares, or mules, or one horse, mare, or mule, hitched to a buggy or other vehicle, within the town of Sullivan, without securing them by hitching them to a rack, or some other suitable or secure place, shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in a sum not less than FIFTY Cents, nor more than FIVE Dollars for every such offense.

This ordinance to take effect from, and after, the 6th day of August 1860.

Who Shout for Disunionists?

At a recent Democratic meeting in Princeton, Ill., a number of Republicans attended and proposed three cheers for Breckinridge. Only two men were mean enough to respond, and one of them was John H. Bryant, the Republican representative of Bureau county in the legislature, and brother of the editor of the New York Evening Post.

Fairbanks' Scales.

It is with some business firms as it is with some individuals, that they stand alone in the walk or department of trade to which they direct their attention. It becomes a specialty with them, and by making it such, they carry it to the highest perfection of which it is capable. This is the case with the Messrs. Fairbanks, the celebrated Scale Makers. They have devoted themselves so entirely, and with such thorough science and skill, to the manufacture of weighing instruments, that they seem to have left nothing to be done by others.—New York Evening Post.

It is by thus attending to every demand in the wide world that this house has become the great national scale manufacturing establishment of the United States. From Maine to Texas, and from Florida to Washington Territory, their scales have become the established standard weighing balances of the age.—N. Orleans Picayune.

The Indians had ceased to be troublesome since the U. S. soldiers had been posted at the exposed points. The hostile tribes have gone to Oregon and the Humboldt mountains.

It is conceded that the Democratic candidate to Congress from Oregon is elected, and that such a Legislature has been chosen as renders certain the defeat of Gen. Jo. Lane and Delusion Smith to the U. S. Senate. Democratic papers, however, claim that no Republican can be elected to the Senate, and intimate the Leocompton Democrats will compromise their difference so as to secure two Democratic Senators of moderate sentiments.

DEMOCRATIC MASS MEETING AND POLE RAISING AT LOVINGTON.

There will be a grand rally of the friends of DOUGLAS & JOHNSON, at Lovington on Saturday, the 28th day of July. Some of the best speakers in the State will address the people on the occasion. ## Patent Medicines. THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.

DR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, From the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth. One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face. Two or three bottles will clear the system of bile.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the stomach. Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of erysipelas. One or two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure itching of the ears and blotches among the hair. Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers. Fifteen to twenty bottles will cure eruptions of the skin.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of ringworm. Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism. Three to four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula. One to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of dyspepsia. I know from the experience of thousands that it has been caused by canker in the stomach. One or two bottles are warranted to cure sick headache.

One to two bottles are warranted to regulate a costive state of the bowels. One to two bottles will regulate all derangement of the kidneys. Four to six bottles have cured the worst cases of dropsy.

One to three have cured the worst cases of piles; a relief is always experienced; what a mercy to get relief in such an excruciating disease! A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

No change of diet ever necessary; eat the best you can get and enough of it. The MEDICAL DISCOVERY is admirably adapted to the western country where FEVER AND AGUE, DYSENTERY, BILIOUS COLIC, BILIOUS FEVER, LIVER DERANGEMENTS, are so prevalent in their respective seasons. The great cause of the prevalence of these diseases is that many have secreted in their system some

Fetid and Faint Humor which is the source of all diseases, and many a young man and woman in the BLOOD OF LIFE are wasting away whose faded cheeks and sunken eyes warn their friends of a speedy dissolution through the effects of some Acrid Humor preying upon the vitals, and many thousands die annually from the effects of these humors, who, if they but early take their blood with a few bottles of Medical Discovery would live to a ripe old age.

Another great cause of disease is Constipation for this the Discovery is an infallible remedy, its action on the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels is all that can be desired.

For Scrofulous Ulcers you will follow the directions in pamphlet around the bottle.

For Ulcerated Sore Legs you will find full directions in the pamphlet. Directions For Use—A child, one table spoonful per day; children over ten years, two spoonfuls; children from five to ten years, one spoonful. An no directions can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

WE DO NOT HESITATE TO ASSERT WHAT ALL ARE BY RESULTS, Compelled to Admit, Viz: That in Dr. Mann's Ague Balsam we have a perfectly triumphant remedy for chills fever and ague and all diseases arising from a diseased or inactive condition of the liver. Indeed it will never fail, and the one who falls to use it at once will deeply regret the neglect. Reader you will never again shake off fever fever that season if you take it as per directions, and continue until the system is perfectly restored; if this be done there will be no one who will suffer long from chills, fever and ague.

Burgess, Ohio, Feb. 2th 185
Dr. MANN & Co., Gallon, Ohio—Gents: We are at a loss to find language sufficient to portray to the public the great esteem in which your Celebrated Ague Balsam is held in this community. The fact is it never fails to cure ague in its worst forms, and we can sell nothing else.

Yours, &c.,
HOLOBERT & TAYLOR, Druggists, Corinth, Miss., Oct. 20th 1857.

Messrs. S. K. MANN & Co.—Gents: Having procured a supply of your Ague Balsam, and testing it thoroughly in many severe cases of long standing where all the popular remedies of the day had failed, I found in all cases your Balsam effected a safe and speedy cure. JOSEPH BUCHANAN, Druggist, Gallon, May 9th 1858

Messrs. S. K. I give this for the benefit of all of whom it may concern.

Gallon, O., May, 1856. B. F. MYRTON, St. Louis, Sept. 10th 1858.

Messrs. S. K.
