68TH YEAR. NO. 10.

MARCH 14TH DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY DAY

County Committee Fixes Date for Selection of Candidates for Township Officers. Four Supervisors to be Elected.

The County Democratic Central Committee held a meeting Saturday and fixed Saturday, March 14th as primary day for the Spring township elections. In some townships where only constables and justices of the peace are to be elected, conventions will be held instead of primaries, as it is expected that there will be but little contention for the nominations.

Sullivan township will have such convention in the supervisors room of the Court House at 2 o'clock on March 14th.

Lovington township will have a convention on that date at an hour and place to be fixed by the Lovington committeemen.

Marrowbone township will have a convention at 2 p. m. in the Town Hall.

Dora township will have either a convention or primary, according to the wishes of the committeemen who were not present at Saturday's meeting.

In Whitley township there will be a primary with polls at Bruce and Gays. These polls will be open from 1 to 4 o'clock.

Jonathan Creek township will have a convention at the Town Hall at 2 p. m.

Lowe township will have a convention at Arthur, at hour and place to be fixed by the committeemen.

East Nelson township will have a primary at both polls between the hours of 1 and 4.

The interesting contests this Spring will be for the four offices of supervisor. Jonathan Creek, East Nelson, Whitley and Marrowbone townships elect supervisors. The other townships elect constables, justices and school trustees.

In Marrowbone township O. C. Hoskins is an avowed candidate for the Republican nomination for supervisor. Prospects are good that Al Mayfield will be his democratic opponent. Homer Freeland who represents that township on the board at present is not a candidate for re-election.

Jonathan Creek politics are slow in getting started this Spring. Jas. Craig, Jr., a democrat, at present representing that township on the county board is expected to succeed himself.

In East Nelson township the only avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination up to Saturday was T. J. McIntire who seeks re-election. It is understood that John Hoskins is to be the Republican candidate.

A. M. Blythe, the present supervisor from Whitley township, a democrat, will seek re-election. It has not been learned whether he will have any opposition in the primary or in the election as he seems to have made a satisfactory official for all of Whitley regardless of political affiliation.

—McCUSKER GROCERY—Leonard bulk seeds; Ferry's package seeds, onion sets, 20c quart; 25 lb. sacks sugar, $1.90; Tip Top poultry tonic and Germicide; Brook's White Star linseed oil soap for linoleum, bath tub, laundry, 25c per can; bran, shorts, egg mash, chic feeds, salt fish, cocoanuts, mush, fruits, vegetables and groceries.

U. S. NAVY CHALLENGES LLOYD PIRATE SHIPS

When Frank Lloyd who produced "The Sea Hawk," the big First National drama now playing at the Photoplay Theatre, Lovington, sailed out of San Pedro, Cal., harbor with his four ancient ships, used in the picture, he passed the Pacific Fleet at the breakwater and fired a salute to his friend Admiral Coontz, in command. From the deck of the Cruiser Seattle, his flagship, Admiral Coontz watched the little fleet approach, ordered a radio officer on deck and in a few minutes Mr. Lloyd's cabin radio amplifier sang out, "Admiral Coontz's compliments to Admiral Lloyd. If it's a fight you want come on. Our ships are growling for target practice."

—Mrs. Hettie Purvis is confined to her home by illness.

TWO COUPLES OBSERVE WEDDING ANNIVERSARIES

Wednesday, March 4th was the 40th anniversary day of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. VanGundy. It was the 46th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Huff.

In honor of the event Mrs. Will Holston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. VanGundy and niece of Mr. and Mrs. Huff, planned a big surprise party at the VanGundy home.

The guests all came with well-filled baskets to help do honor to the two couples and to celebrate the anniversaries. Those present were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. D. W. VanGundy, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Huff, Mr. and Mrs. Will Holston, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey VanGundy, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Will Bathe and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McKown and sons William and Donald, Mr. and Mrs. James Elder and daughter Flossie and Francis VanGundy.

All left late in the evening and wished the two couples many more such happy anniversaries.

COUNCIL ACTS TO SAFEGUARD MILK SUPPLY

Will Pass Ordinance Prohibiting Sale of Milk From Cows Not Free From T. B. City Health Officer Makes Request.

At Monday night's meeting of the City Council Dr. W. P. Davidson appeared before that body and urged that some action be taken relative to testing for T. B. all cows from which milk is sold in this community.

The Doctor, who is the city health officer, stated that if the T. B. test was good for farmers' herds throughout the county it would certainly also be good for the city cows. He deplored the fact that some people will sell milk from cows and do not want these cows tested for fear that they may be T. B. infected and will be condemned.

After his talk, Alderman Ledbetter made a motion that the City Attorney be instructed to draft an ordinance which will prohibit the sale of milk in this city from cows that have not passed the T. B. test.

It was also decided to take the city team out of the city hall and keep them in a barn rented for that purpose, as the hall had a horsey odor, not very agreeable to the nostrils.

Cigarette licenses were transferred from T. L. Craven to J. R. Purvis and from Earl Higginbotham to Nell Coventry, both of these business having changed hands within the past two weeks.

The question of what to do with the city wells again came up for discussion. Most of the wells are out of commission at this time and very little water is being supplied. Several of the wells are being worked on and the cold weather has caused a delay in putting them back in pumping condition.

The city water department is running way behind in its expenditures, being about $600 behind now. Meters are not being read and the monthly income has dwindled to very little.

CIRCUIT COURT OPENED AND ADJOURNED TO 21ST

The grand jury was impaneled after which adjournment was taken to March 21st, at which time the Judge will return to dispose of any motions that may be on file. The petit jury has been asked not to report for duty until April 13th.

The grand jury after being impaneled selected Willis Shirey of Lovington township as foreman and W. O. Funston of this city as bailiff. It has been busy since summoning witnesses and investigating cases of parties bound over to await its action.

The most interesting cases which it will have to consider are the Gays bank robbery and the Jonathan Creek moonshine cases.

H. C. Shirey of this city has been named administrator of the estate of his step-mother, the late Mrs. Kate Shirey, who died at her home in Lovington last week. Bond was given in the amount of $1000.

ELMER EXPLAINS

(Arthur Graphic-Clarion)
Just a few words about my threat that I have found out now what it is, and what causes it.

I went to Macon hospital Feb. 6. The doctors asked me if I chew on hay straw or sunflower seed or tooth pick. I told them I have. They said that cause germ and then turn to actinomycosis, and this is what I have—actinomycosis—same as lumpy jaw on cows. They laugh at me and say please let stocks chew hay and I should leave it be. Now people I hope you will do as I will, leave hay and sunflower seeds go for stocks, because I had some time of this case—since Thanksgiving Day.

GIVE THE CHICKS A SQUARE DEAL

(By Zella Wingent, Agr. Ext. Dept., I. H. C.)

About 50 per cent of the chicks hatched die. A common ordinary chick is worth 15 cents. One that can boast of any breeding is worth 25 or 30 cents. Why trust to luck and let the chicks die? Why not study their needs, give them what they require, and keep them growing into money for the home conveniences you want to buy?

We make a mistake in raising chicks on the same ground year after year. You wouldn't think of growing corn on the same ground season after season. Gape worms and many of the intestinal diseases can be prevented by changing the location of the brood coops from time to time.

Don't handicap the chicks by poor breeding and hatching. A chick that needs to be helped out of the shell isn't worth saving.

Keep hatching eggs in a clean, dry place at a temperature not more than 70 degrees. Turn them once a day. Don't keep them more than a week or ten days.

Use every precaution to keep the setting hens on their nests. If the eggs are chilled weak chicks result. Chilling chicks causes bowk trouble.

Have the brood coops rat-proof. Make them easy to clean. Fix them so they can be taken apart and stored when the season is over.

Chicks should be hatched early enough to mature the pullets for winter egg production. An incubator makes it possible to govern the time of hatching.

Leghorns will mature in from five to seven months, Rhode Island Reds and Rocks in from six to eight months. If hatched too early the pullets have a fall molt which throws them out of winter egg production.

ORIGIN OF THE EDITOR

A little boy was requested to write an essay the other day and "The Newspaper" was his subject. Here is the result. "I don't know how newspapers came to be in the world. I don't think God does either. He ain't got nothin' to say 'bout them, and the editor ain't in the Bible. I think the editor is one of the missing links you hear about, and strayed into the brush until after the flood, then stepped out and wrote it up, and has been here ever since. I don't think he ever dies. I never saw a dead one, and never heard of one getting licked."

OUR PRESIDENT

On Wednesday Calvin Coolidge, son of the Vermont hills, and the choice of an overwhelming majority of American voters, was inaugurated as president of our nation. This was the second time that he was inducted into that greatest office which mankind has to bestow.

The first time it was in an hour while the nation mourned—when Death had come to take Warren G. Harding, Ohio's son who had been called to the country's highest office.

That inauguration of Coolidge was not auspicious. It was regarded as more or less of an accident. Vice-president Coolidge had made no impression on this country during his incumbency as vice-president. Political leaders of his own party regarded him as a mistake. Instead of that he proved his party's salvation.

He took hold of the nation's reigns while his party's record was anything but brilliant. Dishonesty was rampant.

The new President said but little. When he did speak he made it count. He was not the pliable tool of political henchmen that his lamented predecessor had been. He owed his elevation to the presidency, not to political maneuvering, but rather to political chance. Yet slowly and surely did he intrench himself in the position which fate or Providence (call it whichever you will) had placed him. Politicians in his own party did not like him, yet regarded him as the party's saviour at a time when defeat at the oncoming election stared it in the face.

In a few short months the new president made a record which appealed to the country. His nomination could not be prevented. The Democrats selected as his opponent, one of the greatest men which this country could produce—John W. Davis. An abler and better qualified man never aspired to the presidency. His ideals were the true American ideals and his standards and record were without a flaw.

But Cal Coolidge had caught the nation's fancy. His penuriousness (or stinginess); his ability to say nothing and continue saying it in the face of bitter attack (much of which was doubtless merited); his general attitude toward the high office which he was holding; and his family life and connections, made him an impregnable fortress against which political storm raged and thundered in vain.

He was victorious. He was overwhelmingly elected.

Wednesday he was inaugurated. Not as a president to fill the shoes of his dead predecessor, but as a president in his own right. His is a commission without a flaw. America has handed him the reigns of government for four years. Not only that but it has given him a Senate and a Congress of his own political complexion.

The aftermath of the war has come and gone. Stability of industry, commerce and agriculture seems to have been re-established. An era of prosperity looms ahead. Never has man taken this high office under circumstances and conditions more favorable.

We wanted March 4th to witness the inauguration of John W. Davis. It was not so to be. So hail to His excellency, Calvin Coolidge, our president! May success and prosperity bless the land under his reign and may peace and good will be our portion among the nations of the earth, while his hand steers our ship of state.

One thing can be truthfully said for Medill McCormick. When he might have chosen to lead a life of luxurious ease, like so many of our millionaires do, he nevertheless led a life of ambition and endeavor. Granting that all faults ascribed to him may have been true, he yet stood head and shoulders above the riff-raff which constitute the class known as our idle rich.

H. Y. Kingery and family who have been living in this city for some years have moved on their farm North of this city on the East road to Lovington. Walter Daum and family who had been tenant on the farm have moved to this city.

A number of relatives and friends tendered Mrs. F. L. Algood a surprise birthday dinner, Sunday. The day was spent in a social way. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Holbeck and grandson; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Newlin and family; Mrs. Eva Dow, Isaac Dickerson and Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Algood and daughter Miss Gladys.

This Week

OUR GIFTS TO JUSTICE DEFECTIVE TEETH AND HANDS. OUR FEEBLE IMAGINATION. NEIGHBORLY NATIONS.

A man in the Sing Sing death house, sentenced to die next month, hangs himself. Doctors work over him for hours, trying to bring him back to life. The interesting feature of this death in the death house is the violent effort to resuscitate the man after he had strangled himself. The law said he must die, why not let him die?

What do the higher powers above think of the corpses that we send up from our gallows, electric chairs and lethal chambers? How much better does our civilization seem up there than that of the ancient Mexicans that ripped out the heart of a living human sacrifice, offering that as a welcome gift to their gods?

How do our gifts to the goddess of justice impress real justice?

The French army has tested and approved a new stabilizing device for airplanes, without the use of a gyroscope. That means one step nearer to absolutely safe flying, safer than any mode of travel on land.

Ten to twenty years should see the end of long distance rail travel and of ocean surface travel. Wise real estate investors will make their plans with the flying machine in mind.

The British worry because the national eyesight grows weaker. One hundred and fifty in every 1,000 lack good sight at the age of twenty and ten at the age of four.

The human eye, like the teeth that nature gave us, is defective, a poorly made instrument. Our teeth cause suffering and death. Teeth better planned would not do that. Even our five-fingered hands, would have been much improved by adding one finger. With that extra finger we should use in arithmetic the superior duodecimal system, instead of the inferior decimal system, and we could play stringed instruments of a higher, more complicated kind.

Floyd Collins' suffering is over. This man's death illustrates the power and the weakness of human imagination. A hundred men risked their lives to save him. Doctors went to his rescue by flying machine, but could do nothing. The entire nation followed closely the tragic story.

Imagination showed the man lying in the low cave, his leg crushed by the 14,000-pound rock, existing day after day for nearly two weeks in horrible agony and discomfort.

It was possible to imagine clearly that dreadful situation. And the nation sympathized. Any legislature would gladly have voted $100,000 to save Collins.

The same nation, through its legislatures, refuses to pass the Child Labor amendment that would free tens of thousands of children from years of slow torment.

The feeble public imagination cannot see clearly those children in the mills.

The Prince of Wales, whom Americans recently made very welcome, is interested in a plan to send British students to this country. That is common sense, as well as a pleasant compliment.

The Rhodes scholarship system, that now sends American boys to British universities, will be reversed in the new plan. The way to establish peace is to increase intelligence. When nations know each other, they will compete instead of fighting.

There is disappointment because the British Church can't find a way to make a saint of Florence Nightingale, and supply her with a halo. The answer to that is that Florence Nightingale is a saint already, and needs no halo.

When she went to Scutari, with her group of devoted nurses, to save from needless death the wounded men in the Crimea, sticking at her work, although prostrated with fever, she made herself a saint. Nothing that the Archbishop of Canterbury might do would make her saintliness more genuine than it is.

Illinois Central System Tell how Railroads

View the Problem of Prosperity

Our country cannot live half prosperous and the other half bordering on poverty. We cannot have real prosperity unless all kinds of business and all classes of our population share in it. None of us can afford to benefit at the expense of others. We must work together and profit together.

All branches of economic activity are inter-dependent. We need prosperous factories in order that raw materials may be turned into finished products most efficiently and cheaply. We need prosperous farmers and laborers because these influential and productive factors of our population must have money in order to purchase the goods and services which the rest of us have to offer. We need prosperous railroads because no other kind can render the adequate, efficient service essential to the carrying on of other kinds of business.

The complex economic system under which we deal with one another requires of its component elements, both corporations and individuals, an unselfishness that is commonly characterized by the expression, "Live and let live."

Because they perform a public service that is intimately related to all other kinds of business, the railroads are profoundly conscious of this inter-dependence of all of us for prosperity. The railroads contribute largely to general prosperity through their essential service and their vast expenditures, and they know that the best interest of the public, in turn, is to be found in railway prosperity, for that is what insures continued railway expenditures and adequate and efficient service. The record of railway efficiency in recent years is a record of benefit to the public.

One of the quickest ways to halt general prosperity would be to cripple the railroads. But we do not believe the country stands in danger of that since the public has become better informed on the railway question. Public sentiment toward the railroads had undergone a great change in recent years. There once existed a feeling of hostility and distrust which is now largely gone. Many things have helped to produce that improvement, including a change in the attitude of railway managements toward the public. The one thing that perhaps has done more than anything else to bring about the change is the wider knowledge of the fact that the railroads perform a vital service which, in the public interest, must be maintained through allowing them to share in the prosperity they help to create for all.

Railroads are subject to all of the mistakes of policies and practices that other human agencies are subject to. But railway managements are keen to correct abuses and are animated by a sincere desire to do their part to bring about general prosperity. The sincerity of their intentions is attested by their willingness to avail themselves of helpful ideas presented to them by their patrons.

The very nature of the railway business makes those who are engaged in it approach the problem of prosperity from the viewpoint of inter-relationships. The Illinois Central System has sought to prove itself a good neighbor and a good citizen wherever its lines are located. It has found that it has benefited itself the most when it has done its best to contribute to the prosperity of others.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 8
Losses if incurred in a taxpayer's trade or business or profession or in "any transaction entered into for profit" not compensated for by insurance or otherwise are deductible from gross income in determining net income upon which the income tax is assessed. To be allowed, losses not incurred in trade, business, or profession must conform closely to the wording of the statute. For example, a loss incurred in the sale of a taxpayer's home or automobile, which at the time of purchase was not bought with the intention of resale, is not deductible, because it was not a transaction "entered into for profit." Losses sustained in the operation of a farm as a business venture are deductible. If sustained in the operation of a farm operated merely for the pleasure of the taxpayer, they are not deductible.

OBSERVATIONS

Folks, do you who read this ever try to dope out how much work there is to getting out a paper like this issue of The Progress?

Let us cite you just a few statistics: In last week's issue there were 1243 names mentioned in the news items. Looks like a good many, in fact we were quite a bit surprised when we had tallied them up to note how many folks we had gotten into print.

On the first page there were 256 names, not including that of the editor. Page 8 had just one more, or a total of 257, as near as we could figure out. These were names and whenever the item stated "and family" we did not count the family.

About one half of these names were in our country correspondence. Did you ever note the big list of correspondents who regularly send in news from nearly all parts of the county? A staff of correspondents, such as ours, is rather hard to duplicate. If you know who the correspondent is in your locality, help her (all of them are women folks) to gather in her items. Party items are especially desirable.

Another thing, did you ever realize how much territory one edition of The Progress covers? Laid end to end, lengthwise one edition of The Progress would cover a strip about a mile and one fifth long and 30 inches wide. That's a lot of paper.

We are always planning to improve The Progress. We want it to give you all the news possible.

Every subscriber can help some and by helping the paper help himself. The main support we ask from our subscribers is prompt renewals. We don't like to dun people. Why wait for a dun when your label each week tells you when your subscription expires?

Old Nick Longworth of Ohio, who became famous when he married Alice Roosevelt is now speaker of the Lower House of Congress. He was awarded this plum while his wife was in the hospital at Chicago where she had given birth to Paulina, the couple's first child after 18 years of married life. Nick beat Martin Madden, a very able statesman from Illinois who also had speakership aspirations. Things seem to be coming Nick's way.

In the state institutions of Illinois are 37,546 wards. Of this number about two thirds are insane and the other third is made up of orphans, soldiers, soldiers' widows, blind, deaf and dumb and feeble minded. It costs Illinois about $290 per head to care for these unfortunates. This does not include the inmates of almshouses and county poor farms who are also supported by the public. This great work of Christian charity is perhaps the most benovolent which any Commonwealth can engage in.

Moultrie County plants about 100,000 acres of corn each year. In past years the matter of seed corn has been a rather hit or miss affair. The Farm Bureau is endeavoring to get the farmers to test their seed before planting. The early months in the year, when work is slack on the farm, is an ideal time to do such testing. If through proper care and attention to selection of seed the average yield for Moultrie county can be increased only 5 bushels per acre, it will add 500,000 bushels to the yearly crop. As to what that means in dollars and cents, you can figure out for yourself.

A worm in search of modern culture removed his hat and asked a Vulture:

"Excuse me, sir, I'm rather green—But what's the difference between The process called financial dealing And plain, old-fashioned, honest stealing?"

The Vulture merely shook his head: "Please crawl away, I'm tired," he said.

"But, sir," the little pest persisted: "I know my views are rather twisted; But why, when you're considered great, Should I be merely used for bait? Why should I be the butt of Nature, When you control a legislature?"

The Vulture ruffled up a wing: "Squirrm on," he said, "you tender thing!"

"Oblige me, please," the poor worm gurgled, "With this queer problem oft I've struggled—

Why profiteers as great they hail, While common thieves are clapped in jail?"

Here came a pause—and very neatly The Vulture ate the Worm completely. Remark: "Had I spared his life, This creature would have stirred up strife."

HE WAS NOT DEAF

Miss Melissa Jenkins was a young (or perhaps you would call it old) maid of about forty. She and her mother were termed by the gossips the two most ambitious people of the small village of Hamsbrough.

In vain for many years had Melissa and her ma tried to capture a husband; always something had happened to prevent it. First, it was a young sailor, but alas, when the day of his arrival came just before the marriage, he failed to appear. No one knew whether it was done purposely or by accident. Then, it was the miller, and he became ill and died too soon. Next, came the widower, but his children wouldn't permit it.

A space of several years intervened. But now, there was nothing to prevent it, and this was the best of all. Oh! How glad Melissa was that she hadn't married the others. Of course, she really didn't care a thing about old man Bodkins but gracious, think of everything she and her Ma could have after he passed away!

Now, Mr. Bodkins was an extremely wealthy old man. For many years he had had heart trouble and very recently was confined to a wheel chair. Melissa had heard that he was stone deaf, and the doctors thought he had few years to live.

Mr. Bodkins realized this too, and since he had no heirs, he resolved to marry rather than will all his money to some institution. Most of his life he had looked upon women as enemies, gossips, and a general nuisance, but of late he had softened and had more than once looked kindly on Melissa. So it was natural that he should think of her as a wife. At last all arrangements were made, and the wedding was to be held the following month.

But to make sure about the sincerity of his bride to be, Mr. Bodkins made a plan. Although he was slightly deaf, he could hear fairly well. During their engagement he had pretended that he was very deaf. So Melissa firmly believed this, but so far had said nothing insincere in his presence.

But one afternoon just as she and her mother were leaving after paying a visit to Mr. Bodkins, Melissa said, "Oh, Ma, I just thought of something else I'm going to get after this old fogey dies."

"Now, Melissa, don't forget that fur coat and the mulberry parlor set."

"I sure wish next month was here. I'm dead tired of shouting myself hoarse. Besides I'm just dying to get all those things. Ma, you have got to visit him to-morrow. I'm not going. Say I've got a headache or anything. He's as apt to think you said toe ache as not."

"Now Melissa, don't you think it 'ud better for you to go? He might think it sorta funny."

"No, I'm not. It's settled. You must go."

So the quarrel went on and on, their voices constantly rising.

Mr. Bodkins had heard all, for they were just out in the hall. Angrily he called to them, and the startled two went back into the room. He told them what he had heard and declared he would go down into the grave womanless. Not a penny of his would ever go to the faithless creatures.

The one great thought, filled with horror that possessed Melissa was that he was not deaf.

About six months after this episode, there appeared in the paper an account of the death of Mr. Bodkins, and later it was found that he had bequeathed his entire fortune to an old bachelors' home.

—Martha J. Harkless.

That she could hardly realize 'twas so late,
And crash! "It was just brother's crutch."

She had had such a wonderful time,
And had danced every dance but one;

She had really meant her mother to mind—
And really she—B-i-n-g! went the toy gun.

She had helped entertain most all the guests.

There was Ralph and William and Ned—

She felt she had really been quite a success,

But—"Oh, gee! Would she never reach that bed!"

The electric light she didn't turn on
For she wished to be as still as she could;

Her parents sleep in the very next room,
And it was sure to wake them if she should—

So silently, silently she crept round that room,

Then she combed out her curly, black hair,

Then she thought, "In bed I'll be soon!"

But alas! They awoke—for she stumbled over a chair.

—Jennie M. Cummins.

A ROBBERY

The sun was sinking in the West
When Linda heard the noise,
It was a noise which certainly
Did topple all her poise.

At first Miss Linda just stood still,
Then to the phone she fled,
"Oh, Mister Policeman, please come quick,
Someone is almost dead."

I'm sure they're killing her", she said
"The screams are something awful,
And if you don't come mighty quick
I'll call it plain unlawful."

The policeman hastened to the spot,
But when he did arrive,
He found the neighbors doing naught
But robbing a bee hive.

The screaming I must now confess
Was only little Jane,
On whom the bees their vengeance took
For robbing their domain.

—Eileen Hagerman.

JOKES

Dean Bell: "I c-c-can't find words to express my indignation".

Elda Wallace: "Then why get offended when I say you are ignorant."

Miss Sullins: "Rex, will you define the genders?"

Rex Donaker: There are two genders, masculine and feminine. Mascline is divided into two parts, temperate and intemperate and femine into torrid and frigid".

Mr. Sterling: "What's wrong with the pie crust? It doesn't half cover the pie."

Mrs. Sterling: "Why dearest, I asked your mother how to make them to suit you and she said to make the crust very short."

Miss Hobbs: "What are the different ages in history?"

Roy Bailey: "The stone age, bronze age, iron age."

Miss Hobbs: "What are we living in now?"

Roy: "The hard-boiled age."

Jennie Marguerite: "Is Tom a loud dresser?"

Carleton Purvis: "Is he! You should hear him hunting for his collar buttons."

James Shull: "You should think of the future."

Francis Webb: "I can't. It is my girl's birthday and I have to think of the present."

—Gladys Sickafus.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

A very exciting contest is being enacted among the American History classes. Miss Hobbs has promised that the class which brings in the most material for the bulletin board and keeps it well filled with current events, pictures, etc. shall be exempt from the last history reports of the semester. Each class has charge of the bulletin board for one week at a time. It goes without saying that everyone is working untiringly to win this reward.

Gladys Elder has returned to school this week. We are all glad to have her with us again.

Freda Edmiston is quarantined with the measles. We especially miss her on the bulletin board committee.

Some rousing debates over slavery have been taking place in the Public Speaking classes. According to some of the decisions rendered by the judges, the U. S. will once more have slavery because the decisions already referred to were in favor of the affirmative side, i. e., that slavery in the U. S. is right.

Everybody is exceptionally busy this week. Six-weeks tests on every corner.

—Vera Wooley.

SULLIVAN WINS FROM HAMMOND

The Sullivan High School had little trouble in winning 31-7 from the Hammond High team here Saturday night. Lowe, a Sullivan forward, was easily the star of the contest, scoring ten goals from the field. The Sullivan guards effectively held Bandy and the Hammond forwards.

In a preliminary, the All-star league team lost to the Sullivan seconds 25-16, in a good game. Sullivan lost to Findlay, Friday night 27-13 on the latter's floor.

DALE MARKED TWO HOGS WEIGHING 1780

J. W. Dale, residing southwest of this city, last week turned over to the Sullivan Shipping Association two of the biggest hogs ever handled on the local market. One was an old sow, weighing 840 lbs. and the other a stag weighing 940.

At the same time he sold 28 hogs from 5 months to 5 months and ten days of age, which averaged 210 each. These were shipped to the Indianapolis market and came within 10c of hitting top. They brought $12.20.

These hogs were Mr. Dale's big type Poland Chinas and were even better, he states, than his ton litter which received so much publicity about two years ago.

COUNTRY CLUB STARTS PLANNING SPRING PROGRAM

The officers of the men's section of the Country Club, the executive committee and building committee, the officers of the women's section, also the division leaders met at the home of Mrs. W. P. Davidson Monday night and planned to make several improvements at the country club, immediately.

The porch is to have new flooring and is to be screened with copper screening, card tables are to be purchased, the sink is to be drained and tiled and sheds are to be painted.

The social activities will probably start in May, if the weather permits. A party will be given each month until each one of the eight divisions has served its month. Each division is to keep the club house clean for one month. The parties will be "pay parties" as was the custom during the past year.

Sallie Misses a Bridge---To See Curtis

As soon as the social columns announced that Ellie had arrived, our house became the rendezvous for all the crowd.

I didn't mind, except for the fact that I wanted to see Curtiss alone. I had only caught a glimpse of him the following day after our conversation at dawn and then he hurried away, giving the excuse that he was working day and night on sketches for the plant.

I couldn't understand why he had changed. Although, he was plainly disappointed at the way I had behaved, he had been so gentle and kind when he realized I was cold. And even though I knew then that he was disapproving of my frivolity, I still believed that I had his love.

The party at Marjorie's had been on Saturday night. All day Sunday, I had remained in bed. Ellie came in the afternoon. I could stand the suspense no longer. I had to see Curtiss Wright, and see him soon.

Ellie was popular in Jacksonville and there were endless bridge parties, dances and teas planned in her honor by my friends and by those she had already made. Personally I am dead tired of bridge parties and teas. For five years, I have gone to so many of them that I feel as if I have served my time. There's the same insincere gossip about the ones who aren't there, the same frozen salads, individual angel cakes and mousse. The same hypocritical remarks about the prizes over which the hostess had wracked her brain for weeks.

I never had thought much about things like that before I met Curtiss Wright and besides I had always gone because—well, I suppose because everyone did. There was nothing else to do at the time.

I decided I wouldn't go to the bridge luncheon Amy Bennett was giving for Ellie that afternoon at the Country Club. Ellie knew everybody and one of the girls could stop by on her way out.

I would stay at home and read.

The happy crowd of girls had scarcely driven off in Agnes Hoyt's car before I grew restless and paced the floor.

I had to see Curtiss Wright. It never occurs to me that people shouldn't have the things they want and do exactly as they please. So I raced to the phone.

I called the club. He was not there. I called Father's office. They said he was at the plant.

I ran upstairs, got into my new Spring coat with its collar and cuffs of gray squirrel and from a bowl of roses I selected one of deep, lustrous red which I fastened near my mouth. A small hat that fits snugly was adjusted at its most becoming angle and I was off.

"The silken bully," someone had called me because I smiled at all the cops—That's the way I stayed out of jail. If I had been arrested all the times I had broken the law father's bank account would have been ruined. I loved the brisk breezes in my face. I thrilled as the accelerator responded. The roadster purred deliciously and the distance stretched behind.

Finally, I reached the plant. Yes, he was there. Standing about giving directions to the men. I adored the fine ring in his voice and I noticed that the workmen moved happily about their tasks as if he were their captain and they his men.

He was a born leader. But not so much by force as a sort of understanding that existed between him and those to whom he gave commands. He did not see me at once, but a big Irishman ran to the car as I coasted to a stop nearby.

"Anything I can do for you Ma'am?" He was courteous though rough in manner and clothes.

"I would like to speak to Mr. Wright. You know him. Do you not?" I asked nervously.

"That I do, Ma'am. He's the finest gentleman in the world. And he had got a 'cart that's big as all out doors. It was just last night that he sat til almost maw'nin' with Miss Cassie's lad. He that was boined so bad. We love him to a man. I'll never be forgettin' the toim that he—but then—I'll fetch him for yer ma'am."

And he was gone.

"I've come to get you," I said gaily as Curtiss approached the car.

THE GOSPEL MISSION

H. H. Smith, Supt.
9:30 a. m. Sunday school.
6:30 p. m. Young peoples services.
7:30 p. m. Evangelistic services.
7:30 p. m. Mid-week prayer meeting.

Our special meetings conducted by Rev. Ridgway closed on Sunday night. While there were only six at the altar for salvation, we were well pleased with the services, and are claiming victory for our Lord. There was one little boy saved. Who knows but he may be a Moody or a Spurgeon or a missionary to some darkened heathen land. Our Lord only knows. The cottage prayer meeting this week will be at Dave Gentrys and next week at Mrs. W. S. Reedy. Mrs. Fern Langford, who was converted during the special meetings will lead the prayer meeting this week. J. J. Harsh will have charge of the young peoples services on next Sunday evening. We are expecting Paul B. Fisher of Chicago, to be with us on Thursday evening of this week. He is a lawyer preacher, and will preach for us at the Thursday evening service, and will possibly stay over Sunday. We are not able to announce just how long he will be here, until he arrives and we talk with him. Mr. Fisher had quite a record as a lawyer also as a preacher.

We were assisted quite a little in the special meetings by members of the different churches. I surely wish to thank them, also the Mission workers for their faithful work and prayers during the meetings. Let us keep praying and laboring and may the revival never cease.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The last week has been a gentle reminder that summer has not come to stay, but we are glad to see the sunshine through the rift of the passing cloud. However cold may be the March wind we are looking forward to the good old summer time. But the calendar says look ahead one week, for the first day of Spring. Well winter or spring, we are glad to be alive with health and strength to enjoy the passing day, and hope to worship in the regular services next Lord's day.

Subject for the morning service, "The One Ideal Example".

Subject for the evening, "A Great Opportunity".

Sunday school and Bible study at ten o'clock. You are welcome and cordially invited to attend.

Young peoples service at 6:30 p. m.

METHODIST CHURCH

Milton Wilson, Pastor.

When a person unites with the Methodist Episcopal church this is the vow he takes relative to his interest in the same: "I will be loyal to the Methodist Episcopal church; will uphold it by my prayers; will uphold it by my presence at worship; will uphold it by my gifts; will uphold it by my service."

No comments necessary. We have a big program arranged for next Sunday. Hope to see a large audience for every service.

The Sunday school at 9:30. Still looking for the 225. District Superintendent will preach at 10:45 a. m. Depend on hearing a good sermon. The Junior Leaguers will have a happy time at 2:30. The Senior Leaguers will meet in league room at 7:15 and be ready for the big program given by the League in church auditorium at 7:30. See the program elsewhere in this issue. We are expecting a full house. This program will take the place of the regular public worship.

Tuesday and Wednesday, the pastor and others will attend the District Conference in Decatur. Bloomington and Decatur districts will join in this convention. Wednesday evening we meet for prayer at 7:30. Thursday afternoon the W. F. M. S. meet with Mrs. J. H. Pearson at 2:30. Thursday night the choir will meet for practice at 7:30. Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock the Junior Leaguers will hold their monthly party in church annex. This is the week that the collecting stewards are busy in squaring up accounts with those who support the church financially. If the collectors fail to find you, remember that T. B. Ewing is church treasurer and will be glad to see you. Let us do our best to remain in the 100% column in district superintendent's second quarterly report.

Interest at a low tide in public worship last Sunday. Small congregations. The Sunday school number 126; the Junior League, 13; the Epworth League 40. A good choir for morning worship. The choir was absent Sunday night for the first time in eighteen months. The orchestra was loyal and filled its evening engagement. Good audience at the Masonic Home in the afternoon.

FOR SUPERVISOR

I am a candidate for re-election as Supervisor of East Nelson Township subject to the Democratic primary. Your vote and support will be appreciated.

GETTING READY TO GO TO WORK ON ROUTE 32

Representatives of the McMahan Construction Co., of Rochester, Ind., have been here the past week looking over the ground preparatory to beginning work on the construction of Route 32, between Lovington and Cerro Gordo. Their contract does not call for the building of the bridge at the river, west of town, as this piece will go in a separate letting. They are already at work at LaPlace erecting cement sheds and other temporary buildings which will be necessary in their work.

The McMahan contract totalled $247,000 exclusive of the cement. There is 12.53 miles in the award. They will employ better than 100 men. Their permanent staff consists of 15 men, so it will mean that the road job may furnish labor for 85 or 90 men from this locality.

The company expects to be down to work in earnest within the next sixty days, depending of course largely upon the weather. They hope to finish the job by September 1st.—Lovington-Reporter.

LAW ENFORCEMENT—FOR THE MASSES

This law enforcement is great stuff—for the masses. President Coolidge is for law enforcement but he appoints as Attorney General the president of two sugar companies charged with violating our anti-monopoly laws. He keeps in office Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who is heavily interested in the aluminum trust which his fellow cabinet officer, Attorney General Stone, recently had occasion to denounce for some of its practices in restraint of trade.

Speaking of law enforcement we should like to have listened in on that breakfast President Coolidge gave to Judge Gray and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., as representatives of the Committee of One Thousand for enforcing the Volstead Act. Of course, no one was so untactful as to remind the president of the steel corporation of those guarantees of freedom of speech and assemblage which his corporation so successfully ignored in the last steel strike. Judge Gary, we understand, is an honorary member of the Fascisti, and the Fascist principle is to make the other fellow obey the laws that suit you. It is a principle not unpopular in America.—Illinois Miner.

We know of a man who hasn't been away from home one night in the past ten years. He's paralyzed.

At the request of the village board Arthur stores discontinued deliveries Monday night. The trucks were cutting up the streets and alleys terribly and the board thought best to have the deliveries discontinued till the roads get solid again. Continually pulling them through the mud is also hard on the trucks.—Arthur Graphic-Clarion.

HEADS OR TAILS

CLOVER, NATURE'S

NITROGEN PLANT

(By Edgar W. Cooley, Agr. Ext. Dept. I. H. C.)

For thousands of years sweet clover, alfalfa and other members of the clover family have been gathering nitrogen out of the air and converting it into fertilizer to enrich the soil and increase the production of farm crops. So quietly, so mysteriously have the clovers performed this beneficial task that it was not until a few years ago that we even knew they were doing it at all.

We have not learned even yet just how the clovers are able to do this work but they showed us that it could be done, and since then scientists have been at work endeavoring to find some method of converting the nitrogen in the air into a commercial product.

In this they have been successful. Our entry into the war resulted in the expenditure by this government of something like $30,000,000 for the erection of a nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, Alabama. By a scientific process the nitrogen in the air was to be converted into ammonium nitrates for the manufacture of gunpowder and other high explosives.

But just as the plant was completed and the first samples of the output turned over to the government, the armistice was signed.

The practically unlimited amount of raw material available is shown by the fact that the air above, one acre of ground at sea level contained 35,656 tons of nitrogen.

Nitrogen is worth about 20 cents a pound. If you own a 100 acre farm there is over $14,000,000 worth of nitrogen in the air above your land. At sea level, air weighs nearly 15 pounds to the square inch and a trifle over 77 per cent of it is nitrogen.

Every farmer can have his own nitrogen factory. Ten, 20 or 40 acres of sweet clover or alfalfa will gather the nitrogen out of the air and use it to fertilize his soil. The clover patch means fertile soil, hay, live stock, dairy products, meat products, prosperity.

COUPLA CYNICS

Big—"Well, Jack Dempsey has resigned his title, quit fighting, and has married.

Bigger—"Yep, that's right to a certain extent. He's resigned his title and married. As for the rest—well, you're married aren't you? So am I.

Every thing has its drawbacks. There were no children in the Garden of Eden.

I like to hear a man talk religion, says a local pastor, but I'd rather see him live it.
