FIVE INDICTED FOR ROBBING BANK AT GAYS

Munson, Crist, Burns, Walling and Judge Sentel Disposes of Many In-Murray Said to Have Pulled the Deal. Burn's Furnished Information and is Ready to Plead Guilty.

The grand jury on Thursday morning returned five indictments against men charged with the robbery of the Gays bank on January 19th.

The men indicted are Elmer Walling, Ray Munson, Monte Crist, Edward Murray and Clarence Hissong, alias Curly Burns, all of Mattoon.

The men were arraigned in court in court, but it is understood that the formation furnished by him and subsantiated by a thorough investigation of the sheriff and sates attorney's ofbut wanted to consult with his attorney before making that plea.

Christ, Murray, Walling and Munson entered pleas of not guilty. Jennings & Elder represented Munson. Attorney Real of the firm of Andrews & Real of Mattoon represent Crist, Murray and Walling.

The indictments charge the five men with conspiracy to rob, robbery and grand larceny. The bond in each case is $10,000. The attorneys made a plea to the court for a reduction in bond. These arguments were made Thursday afternoon.

Judge Sentel announced that all these cases would be set for trial April 27th and that he had instructed the petit jurors to report at that time. Besides these indictments the grand jury returned two more for gaming and then adjourned, subject to recall by the court.

MARY ADELINE SPENCER DROWNED IN LAKE AT THE MASONIC HOME

Mary Adeline, the 3-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Spencer met death by drowning at the Masonic Home Saturday at about the noon hour.

Nobody witnessed the sad accident. The parents were busy and the little tot wandered away. When search was made her lifeless body was found in the lake, into which she must have fallen while at play.

Efforts made to bring the child back to consciousness were unavailing. An inquest was held by Coroner McMullin Saturday afternoon.

Mary Adeline was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Spencer. The father is employed as the Home chaffeur and Mrs. Spencer is also employed at the home.

Funeral services were held at the Home Sunday afternoon at 1:30 and were in charge of Rev. D .A. Mac-Leod. After the services the remains were shipped to Texaco, Illinois, North of Mt. Vernon, where Mrs. Spencer's folks reside.

A trip of a few hundred miles to the Southwestern part of this state last week showed most excellent crop prospects for this year. Wheat fields are looking fine. The other day at Vandalia, we asked some of the natives how long Fayette county would continue to use the old State House for a Court House. "Why until some of our saps can make up their minds where they will build the new one" was the reply. Natives take great pride in showing you the window of the State House out of which Abraham Lincoln jumped during a session of the Legislature, in order to break a quorum. Vandalia was the state capitol from 1819 to 1839 and the old state house, which is still in a good state of preservation, is a point of great interest to all Illinoians. #### THEATRE, SHOE FACTORY AND CITY ELECTION DIS-CUSSED BY CLUB

The meeting of the Sullivan Community Club Monday night was well attended. The banquet was served by the Loyal Daughters Class of the Christian church.

Among the guests present were one range gasoline stove; one bed, Messrs. Dolan, MacCready and Palm-

15-tf Masonic Home. President Robinson announced that the committee which is to appeal to the Board of Supervisors for funds to erect the Lincoln marker consists of J. L. McLaughlin, N. C. Ellis and

J. H. Smith. Among the matters brought to the attention of the club was a proposition for a new theatre to be erected on the North side of the Square. Dr. S. W. Johnson explained what steps he had taken in the matter and that in his opinion it was feasible to finance the proposition and that it would be certain to be a profitable venture. He was asked to submit his proposition to the public improvements committee which consists of J. A. Webb,

A. H. Miller and J. H. Smith. Dr. S. T. Butler brought before the club the necessity of the club members getting out a big vote Tuesday for the candidates which the club has selected and who are running for city officers on the Citizens Ticket. It was decided to have a number of workers in each ward to get out a big vote, to make sure that all of the Citizens party candidates are elected and to give them the encouragement which they are entitled to. Secretary Homer W. Wright announced that the sum of $88.41 had been collected here to defray the expenses of the two men sent into the storm district to help in the work following the storm's devastation. The president and secretary of the club were instructed to pay these men out of the club funds.

C. R. Patterson, candidate for mayor, made a plea for co-operation on election day.

Secretary Wright stated that a shoe company had made a proposition that they would move their factory to this city if the club could furnish them with a three story building with floor space of 200 x 40. An effort will be made to secure this factory as it promises a pay roll of $275,000 per

SUPERSTITION

"Lots of things happen at sea, Sparks, that can't be accounted for; tomato, he held it for a second over I don't admit that I am more super-stitious than the average sailor, but I "kerplop" and the deed was done. will say that I've heard lots of things The flash light went off with a click be accounted for in books."

Captain Harrison, the first and second mates, and myself commonly against his teeth shut his mouthknown as Sparks, were in a discussion about the superstitution of A choking cough soon followed by sailors. The captain's eyes had a far- muffled curses issued strong and away look in them when he asked, "You remember our last Sparks, don't you? He signed the ship articles with the name Robert Foster and was the best wireless operator I ever hired. One night a heavy wind snapped one of the arerial wires but he insisted on repairing it himself. Well, to cut the yarn short, he lost his grip and crashed down to the deck. In his dying words he expressed his desire to repay us in some way for our kindness. However, this was impossible, for he died a few minutes later. We buried him at sea as he request-At the end of the story a profound silence had fallen over the entire group and was quite evident that the Captain was very much attached to the unfortunate operator. He was the first to shake himself from the reverie and arose saying, "No, Sparks, me!" you don't want to laugh at a sailor's superstitutions. If you do, you may have some experience yourself which you won't fancy. I've known such things to happen.'

I sought to divert my mind from the sad story by going up to the radio shack. It was a bare, dismal looking room with cold looking instruments and a green-shaded lamp hanging directly over the desk. I seated myself before the operating table, adjusted the receivers comfortably over my ears and turned on the electricity. Just as I expected, the static was very bad for there seemed to be a storm brewing outside. Tiring soon, I tried reading a novel but soon threw it aside in disgust for my thoughts kept turning back to the captain's story. I started to whistle but broke off in the middle of the note for I had a queer over-whelming feeling of the presence of somebody or something. It seemed as though there were eyes boring through the back of my head but after carefully looking into all corners of the room I could see nothing except the soft black shadows. The wind was still rising and waves beat severely against the side of the empty tanker. Suddenly the static died down almost entirely and I could feel the presence stronger than ever. My hair was now standing on its very end, and the blood drained slowly from my face. As I, watched, the tuning dial turned as though the hand of an experienced operator grasped it. There was not a sound in the receivers while the dial continued its slow intelligent movement -a pause, a slight backward motion and then suddenly a voice:- "derelict dead ahead; stumps of three mast, floats just awash." The static sounded again and I felt free from the presence. I pushed back my hair from a forehead clammy with cold sweat. The clear, cold tones rang over and of a song. After twirling the dials around for some time in a vain attempt to pick up the voice again I gave up. At last after debating the matter over with myself for sometime, I decided to go down to the bridge where the Captain would likely be found. As soon as he had heard the story he did not laugh as I expected but instead called the mate whom he immediately gave the fol-lowing orders: "Put a lookout in the bow and give the engine half speed."

At exactly ten minutes after ten the dim hulk of a derelict was sighted. As we neared it the stumps of three masts barely awash could be seen. Had it not been for the radio message which put us on guard our ship would have been horribly crippled. "I wonder," said Captain Harrison thoughtfully, "I wonder, do you remember what I told you about the last wish of that other, Sparks, who said he would like to do something to show his gratefulness—" He did not complete his sentence; it was not necessary.

INJUSTICE TO A LAD

MEANS A COME-BACK The moon smiled pleasantly on the small village that he was keeping watch over on that cool summer night. A cloud came wandering over and covered the moon's mellow light making the atmosphere very dark.

The Judge stuck his head out of the window; spitting furiously and telling the 'guilty one" what he thought of him in very "plain English", broadcasting the results of that tomato. You didn't need a radio to get in on that midnight program, all you had to do was to just listen in. It came in fine through the near neighbor's window sounding as if the announcer was in the room.

The boy outside laughed silently and then began to pity the sufferer but as he felt of his right hip all of the pity left for the Judge had kicked him the day before, only for crossing his pasture. As the boy clambered over the high board fence he yelled in a shrill young voice. "You will kick

HAT INDICATES

CHARACTER OF WEARER "By the manner in which ye wear ye hat shall ye be known" may soon be a proverb in the opinion of Professor Warner Brown of the University of California department of Psychology.

Hat worn well down over the forehead indicates the man is solemn and thoughtful; hat pushed back far on the head, signifies a hayy-go-lucky youth. When a man's hat is tipped to the right, you can figure he's a rowdy; but a hat tilted to the left is conclusive evidence that the wearer is a mental deficient with no social status whatever.

"A man who doesn't wear any hat at all" say Professor Brown, "may be classed as one who ignores the efforts of society to set the fashion."

SULLIVAN TELEPHONE COMPANY DOES NOT

SEEK RATE INCREASE

A communication received by the city officials last week created the impression that the Sullivan Home Telephone company was seeking an increase in rates. The city was asked to be represented at a hearing relative to this matter at Springfield and City Attorney Foster went to that hearing Thursday of last week.

Manager Frank Witts states that the increase will not affect the local rates in any way, shape or form. During the war, while the government had control of the telephones, it raised rates. These rates are still in effect here. Since going back to private ownership, however, these rates had not been authorized by the state department which grants such authority. Some companies went back to pre-war rates. The local company did not, hence any ruling on this matter will not affect the local situation. The rates in question apply only to long distance or toll calls.

PRESENTS HIGH SCHOOL IDEALS

In Short Talk Before Community Club, Principal of S. T. H. S. Gives Aims of School Under His Manage-

One of the very best talks ever neard by the Sullivan Community Club was that made at the meeting of that organization Monday night by Prof. R. G. Brown, principal of the Sullivan Township High School.

His talk was on the relation of the High School to the community. The three requisites for a High School in any community he said were, a community ready to pay; a good school board and a good school man at the head of the institution. School work and ideals change from year to year and as Mr. Brown stated "this year I am trying to conduct a 1925 model high school, while next year it will be a 1926 model". To keep abreast of who later come here to take an active these school developments the man at part in our community activities." the head of the school must attend the Summer courses and keep himself informed as to the new conceptions of education.

The manual training department in high schools he characterized as "a dead letter" and cited opinions from leading educators of the country to prove his statement.

High schools, the first of which was organized at Boston in 1821 were at first preparatory schools for higher education; in Benjamin Franklin's time they became academic schools and later drifted into what might be termed cultural schools. Present day development is more along the vocational line and while directed partly to fit the student for higher education, it also aims to fit for American citizenship. "The high school" said Mr. Brown. "is both a direct and an indirect way to serve a community. It develops men and women. We seek to discourage the development of shieks and shebas, of lounge lizards and cookie pushers". In line with this policy athletics fits into the program. It roughens up things a bit and put the spirit of pep and real manliness and womanliness into the developing student.

"We try to strive to inculcate the proper ideals of citizenship into the pupils, to give them a proper conception of honesty and justice. We seek to give them the proper standard of relationship, one to another and a proper respect for law. We have a very few rules, but those that we do have must be obeyed." Continuing along this line Prof. Brown stated "One grievance of this country today is too numerous laws. Laws are made without any idea that they will really be obeyed. Take for instance our laws pertaining to motor ing in cities. The state law says 10 mile in cities but we all know that we do not obey that law. Laws like these create a disrespect for law.'

"We try to create a proper attitude toward work. We find a tendency in the times to create a disrespect for menial labor. Parents are partly to blame for this tendency. They say that 'my children are being given an education so they will not have to work as I have done' and through that attitude the child regards hard labor as more or less disgraceful.

"Students who come to our High School come there to learn to work and not to shirk. We seek to dignify all labor for all labor is a dignified calling. There is no reason why farm- the place of the one cent wrapper for ing and all labor on the farm should newspapers.

not be classed as a calling or a profession. The parents can help much in making farm life attractive to their children by teaching them the proper attitude toward hard labor.

"We do not tolerate students who come to school with the idea of 'visiting'. If they come there with that idea in mind, we do not want them and I have asked several parents to take their children out of school because they did not want to work or study and were wasting time.

"Another thing that does the high school no good is the mistaken idea that some children have that high school education is being forced upon. That is an entirely incorrect impression. High school education presents an opportunity for all who have the enterprise to see it and it is a hardship for none. "It is true that our High school educates many young men and women who later leave this community and apply what they have learned here elsewhere. But it is also true that other communities educate the folks

Prof. Brown then announced that the High School Board of Education had decided to add to the local curiculum the study of Agriculture. He told why that course was particularly well adapted for the local school. Such a course will make farming more attractive and it develops in the students who take it, a scientific attitude toward agriculture. His next remarks were a presentation to the board of the high school band which was furnishing the music for the evening. He stated that "this club is really the father of this band" and complimented O. C. Worsham and W. R. Robinson for their efforts and suggestions which led to the organization of the band last Fall. The object of the band is to be of community service. It takes years of hard work to develop a band and the high school band may be far from perfect at this time but it is a step in the direction which will insure Sullivan plenty of band material for years to come. Mr. Brown stated that the band was ambitious to furnish music for the Summer concerts and stated that with the aid of some of the older musicians this might be possible.

Prof. John A. Lucas, who has been in charge of the band since its organization was given due credit for nis diligent work. He stated that the band was coming along fine and that all that was needed was the continued cooperation of the community to make of it a real success.

President Robinson of the club named O. C. Worsham, Guy Kellar and Ed C. Brandenburger as a committee to co-operate with the high school in all matters pertaining to the future of the band and the prospect of furnishing music for the Summer with Buttermilk. Some have doubled their egg yields. And no wonder! This correctly balanced Sucrene Egg Mash with Buttermilk makes more and bigger eggs just as surely as good flour makes better bread. You can't help but get more eggs when you feed "Sucrene," made from meat scraps, oat flour, corn gluten feed, wheat flour middlings, wheat bran, corn meal, alfalfa meal, calcium carbonate and vitamines from buttermik. We know poultry feeds. We know, too, that "Sucrene" is the fastest, surest egg-producing mash you can get anywhere. Cheap feeds break no records—but "Sucrene" does. It's a better mash that costs no more than the ordinary. Start today—get more eggs—with "Sucrene." Be sure you get a sack like this. HOME MILLING Sullivan, Ill.
