Guy L. Kellar, assistant supervisor of Sullivan township was elected chairman of the county board at its organization meeting Tuesday morn-

Mr. Kellar was the unanimous choice of the board. He was placed in nomination by Supervisor O. E. Lowe. Supervisor F. F. #### City Asked To Raise $250 For Legion Fund abled Veterans and Orphans of Veterans. Nation-wide Drive For $5,000,000.

A drive to raise Sullivan's apportionment of the American Legion Endowment fund will be put on in this city Tuesday.

An appeal signed by a committee named by the Community Club appears elsewhere in this issue.

"What shall be the fate of the child whose father dies fighting for his country? No American will question the right of that child to at least as good chance in life as it would have had with a living father." This state-ment will in part convey the idea of the endowment fund of $5,000,000 which is being raised.

The government has done 'much toward the rehabilitation of its disabled veterans. But much more remains to be done. There are thousands of cases which the government's mechanical aid program cannot reach. There are thousands of poor children who are entitled to consideration because their fathers have been either killed or disabled in the World War.

The American Legion has for six years been battling for the sick and disabled buddies and for their children. This has taken time and money. America has usually responded when money was needed, but never has there been more than there was need of.

That is one reason why this endowment fund is being raised. The yearly income from this fund will support hospitals and schools and the many other little things which are needed to give disabled veterans and their children that to which, by every right as Americans, they are entitled

On Tuesday solicitors will raise Sullivan's quota of $250 of this en dowment fund. This is not a Legion proposition, but it is everybody's proposition. It is a matter that ought to be close to the heart of all who love their country. It is to help and

> Contending that he is not qualified Attorney Real of Mattoon, representing Walling and Murray, has withdrawn the pleas of "not guilty" entered by his clients and has instead made a motion to quash the indict-

Attorney Real contends that the indictments are faulty, due to the fact that the States Attorney, not a member of the bar, was present in the grand jury room when the indictments were returned.

The firm of Jennings & Elder of this city, which represents Ray Munson, whose case is the first one docketed for trial, has asked that their client's plea of "not guilty" be withdrawn and that the indictment be quashed. The objections to the indictment in this case hinge on the same contention—that A. A. Brown is not qualified to prosecute these cases as he has never been admitted to the bar in the state of Illinois.

Another objection which will doubtless be raised later is against the action of the Board of Supervisors in engaging the law firm of Mc-Laughlin and Billman to assist A. A. Brown in the prosecution of these cases. The supervisors closed a contract with this firm some time ago. Under this contract they are to receive a retainer fee of $750 and $50 per day for court service when the bank robbery cases and the bootlegging cases against Joe Miller and the Abbotts come to trial. Attorneys for the defense will try to show that the Board has no legal right to employ such counsel, although similar action was taken during Merril Wehmhoff's term as state attorney, particularly in the Steele-Whitfield bank case.

The motions to quash have been taken under advisement by Judge Sentel and he will doubtless rule on them on May 12th the date on which these bank cases are docketed for

GERMANY'S PRESIDENT

Germany, on Sunday, elected former Field Marshall Hindenburg to be its president. The decision was emphatic, a regular Republican landslide a la American style, for old and say, "I told you so." Hindy's majority is near the million stir in the world. Fear is expressed tured kidding these days, due to the that Hindenburg may be but the beginning of another monarchy for Germany. The Kaiser's influence is again feared.

Among the alarmists are Americans. Men like former Ambassador Gerard are ready with their gloomy predictions as to what may follow Hindenburg's election.

's funny, how some great champions of democracy seem to get off the track once in a while!

Democrary is a free expression of the people as to how they shall be ruled and by whom they shall be ruled, or as Lincoln expressed "government of the people, by the people and for the people".

Germans went to the polls and elected Hindenburg. He was evidently the ruler they wanted. He was their expression of democracy, or whatever idea of government they had in mind.

Such being the case, why not permit the German republic to work out its destiny along this line unhampered by its critics? Hindenburg may be just the man Germany needs in the troubles it has found itself in since the close of the war.

Ideals of democracy sometimes go to seed. Champions of human liberty become inclined to force their peculiar brand of liberty on unwilling people. They butt in where they have no business and where they are not wanted. England, while posing before the world as a liberty loving nation nevertheless holds in subjection millions of people in Egypt, India and other parts of the world. America the cradle of liberty, enforces its ideas of government on an unwilling Phillipine nation.

Finance dictates government, even in a democracy. It punishes those people who may venture to oppose its ideas of government at the polls. This threat is now made relative to Germany's decision. Hindenburg's election may mean that international bankers will show their displeasure by withdrawing financial support from Germany. Are we perhaps drifting into phase of government where our ideals of government must be made to conform to the wishes of the masters of finance? Which shall be supreme in a democracy, the will of the people, or the dictates of a few individuals who constitute the world's money

Sooner or later these two forces must clash. Through their votes the people must throw off the yoke of Morgan and his kind and re-assert that they are the masters.

Just a few flower seeds, or a few world in the looks of things. The cost is but a trifle when you consider this matter in the right light. We have this week a clean-up campaign. Why not follow it with a flower planting and sowing campaign. Flowers grow well where rubbish piles have Speakers who come and address our Community Club invariably tell us "A number of enthusiastic boosters such as are gathered here tonight, can do anything they set out to do". Can we? Talk is cheap. Can we back it up with action?

Bank robbing in Illinois will soon be classed as a "very risky" occupation, unless the amalgamation of free and unfettered robbers can get legislation which will tend to protect them.

Illinois Central System Shows that Railroads Must Borrow Money for Improvements

Some persons may have a mistaken idea about the financial condition of the railroads because of the large sums of money spent recently for improved railway facilities. In the last five years the railroads have installed 9,979 new locomotives, 8,988 new passenger cars and 584,982 new freight cars and have made other improvements to their properties at great expense. Anyone not familiar with how these improvements are financed might take them as indicating that the railroads are immensely prosperous.

Such, however, is not the case. What the railroads have left out of their revenues after meeting their current obligations is far from sufficient to pay for all the improvements they need to make. In 1924 the railroads of the country spent more than one billion dollars for property improvements. The Illinois Central System alone spent approximately $29,000,000 for these purposes. In both cases the expenditures for improvements required the investment of considerable new capital. The railroads had to raise large sums of money from investors in order to finance this expansion.

As a result of economies of operation made possible partly by their investment in improved properties, the railroads as a whole have effected in recent years a substantial improvement in net earnings. In 1921 the rate earned on the tentative valuation placed upon their properties by the Interstate Commerce Commission for rate-making purposes was 3.33 per cent; in 1922 it was 4.14 per cent; in 1923 it was 5.22 per cent; in 1924 it was 5.00 per cent. But it should be borne in mind that the rate of return has not at any time reached the 5.75 per cent which the Interstate Commerce Commission has décided is the fair and reasonable rate that the railroads ought to be permitted to earn.

The present outlook, all things considered, is decidedly favorable to continued good railway service. The facilities of the railroads are sufficient for present needs and are being expanded to meet the increased needs of the future. By means of their increased facilities the railroads are realizing greater economies and providing better service than ever before. The public, by reason of its closer acquaintance with the railroads and improved understanding of railway problems, looks with favor upon allowing the railroads the earnings necessary to attract the new investment they need. This is as it should be. The country requires adequate transportation for its continued growth and prosperity, and adequate transportation cannot be provided except as the railroads are enabled to grow and Service is the standard by which railroads can and should be judged. The Illinois Central system is constantly endeavoring to uphold and improve its service to the public.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM, President Illinois Central System.

Rev. A. J. Burville, Pastor. Sunday School on this coming Lord's Day at 9:45 a. m., preaching 10:45 a. m. subject, "Only be Thou Strong and very courageous", Joshah 1:7 ver.

Please remember our song service on Sunday night, also song by the children. The Lord's supper will be observed after morning worship. Please do not be absent from the morning worship for while the Lord's supper is a testimony of the death of our Lord and Saviour, it is also a means of grace and command of our Lord. "Do this in remembrance of me, and as oft as ye do it ye do set forth the Lord's death till he comes." The time is short, of course we do not know the day or the hour when the Lord will come.

But the signs of the times point to His second coming. On March 11th there sailed from New York harbor the first steamer for Palestine. The big ship, the President Arthur, was father who has been sick for several big ship, the President Arthur, was crowded to its capacity with Hebrews, men and women. The Jews are going back to Palestine. Look up proprecy in your Bibles. This is a fulfillment of prophecy. The Jews return to Palestine shortly before the second coming of Christ. Are you messages last week. On Thursday evening Mrs. Andrews from India delivered a missionary message. On Friday evening Rev. R. R. Brown, supt. of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, Omaha, Nebr. preached a regular sermon, using as his text "The Sting of Death". On Saturday evening Mrs. Ekvall of China, delivered another missionary address, and at 11:00 a. m. Sunday preached a sermon on the steadfast Elijah and the compromising Obadiah. Rev. Andrews from India spoke to the young people at 6:30 Sunday evening and gave a missionary lecture at the 7:30 service, using his picture slides of some of the different fields. services were all fairly well attended. While the Mission has always given some to foreign missions, I trust these services have increased our zeal for the Lord's work in other lands. It is very easy to become self-satisfied and self sufficient and expect the other folk to be likewise, but our Lord's command was to carry the gospel story to all the earth; our money and our prayers will help carry the glad tidings of a living all sufficient Christ when we are not able to

FUNDS COLLECTED BY SCHOOLS ARE RETURNED

On Thursday afternoon of last week County Superintendent Nettie L. Roughton received a telegram from State Supt. Blair asking her to call off the drive for funds to rebuild school houses in the storm-devastated regions of Southern Illinois. This drive had been put on through instructions from Supt. Blair and had met with a ready response from pupils and teachers. Supt. Ives had already sent in a check for $61 which was Sullivan's share.

All of this money is to be returned to those who gave it.

The change in plans is due to the fact that the people of Southern Illinois are endeavoring to get a sufficient emergency appropriation from the Legislature to finance this rethe members of the Y. Y. club Friday building program. It was deemed advisable to call off the other plan, as the two might conflict and the Leg-Mae Newlin spent the week end in islature might be reluctant to come across with the aid asked.

Many Moultrie county schools had already made up their apportionment and were ready to send it in, when Mrs. Roughton's message calling off seriously ill in the St. Mary's hospital the campaign reached them.

TREATMENT FOR DRUG HABIT I want to get away from the drug habit and the only way that I can do it is to be committed to a state hospital where I will be removed from all opportunity to secure the drug," said Robert Noble, 57 years old, recently when he requested Judge Frank Perrin to commit him to the Alton State Hospital as a voluntary patient.

Noble said he acquired the habit 28 years ago after he suffered a broken leg and the drug was administered to him to relieve him of pain.

"Drug is hard to get and it kept me working to satisfy my cravings," said Noble. He said that he paid menu is a directory of things good to from 75 cents to $2 per grain for the eat. drug and that it required three grains

WHAT FEES SUPERVISORS ARE ENTITLED TO EARN

States Attorney Brown has secured a ruling from the Attorney General relative to what earnings of a supervisors consist of in the handling of the county's funds. The Attorney General rules that no commission can be charged on the funds used for town purposes; on the road and bridge funds the supervisor may collect 2% on the first $2,000 spent each year and 1% on all sums expended over that amount.

The question was raised in some townships as to whether the 2% applied for the entire year or from the time of each semi-annual audit. In some cases the supervisors collected the 2% on the first $2,000 spent in the first half of the year and after the audit, again collected 2% on the first $2,000 spent in the second half of the year.

This practice has been in effect in some townships for quite a number of years.

CROCKETT PLANS CLEANUP AROUND CITY'S SQUARE

ent of hard roads in this part of Illinois has been discussing a plan for cleaning the streets of this city which surround the Square. His plan is to engage the aid of the city's "laboring people" and have a Sunday morning clean-up which will leave the streets spick and span. Here's hoping that Al puts his plans into execution. The streets surely need it and as "cleanliness is next to Godliness" it is a practical certainty that no objections will be raised. If the work is done before Sunday School hours, the writer will volunteer his services to push a broom or handle a shovel.

TEACHER APPOINTMENTS REPORTED THIS WEEK

Mrs. Osa Ault has been re-employed to teach the Two Mile school eight months at $125 per month. Mrs. Ault is closing a very successful school year.

The Lake City schools will be in charge of Maurine Evans and Vera Powell next term. Miss Evans will serve as principal. The Allenville schools have re-employed Juanita Durburrow for the lower grades and Vern Smith succeeds Mrs. Carnine as principal. Mrs. Carnine did not seek re-employment. Miss Helen Sherman succeeds Lucretia Walker as teacher at the Sunny-side school in Dora township for an eight months' term at $120 per month. She formerly taught at the Hinton school. Miss Walker has accepted a position to teach in Macon county.

Les Sharp and John Baucom spent some time in Chicago this week at the government hospital where they had dental work done. Both are

Warren Fisher Flirts, Aided By Poetry

The Florida East Coast!

As we sped southward, the whole country side, brimming with a tropical beauty, held out fresh, inviting hands. Gay hibiscus flaunted their crimson faces against an ever changing backround of palms.

"They're like lovely women," Warren Fisher said as he nodded toward a dense growth of the vivid blooms, for a brief span, they give freely of their matchless beauty and then-you will see as the day grows older, they fold their petals to make room for the new and fresher buds." "A gruesome thought," I shuddered," is one's hey-day of brightness so

"Ah! but in this instance, there's a lesson to be learned." 'Tell me?" I encouraged.

It seems to me that the hibiscus makes the most of it's fullness of youth, it has evidently adopted carpe diem" philosophy of life." "And the lesson?" I asked.

I was just wondering if we mortals would not be happier perhaps if we, too, followed some such creed instead of making a sort of endurance test of

"Here, here, what are you doing, advocating the primrose pathway?" exclaimed lightly.

"And you? What do you think about it?" he laughlingly answered. "Well, I don't think any of us have been particularly annoyed with what the psycho-analysts call inhibitions."

"You're dealing in generalities, may I ask your personal opinion?" he pressed the point.

"Some other time, certainly, but right at this moment, the scenery is too perfect to discuss problems of any happily from moss-garlanded trees. Along the sun-kissed Indian River, picture houses nestle far back from the sparkling water. There is an undefinable appeal about these Spanish houses with their drifting, rainbow colors. Others, too, built by a colony of artists are modelled coquina; their doorways framed in trailing morning glories -- so blue that they must have borrowed their tint from the first clouds of an April morning.

began to break. Through the river's hedge of wild grapes and rattling palm fronds, the lightning streamed the shore line and the rain drops fell softly. But only for a fleeting moment. Soon the sun, blinking mischievously, came from behind the clouds and shone more brightly.

"I picked this up at a collector's the other day," said Warren Fisher, referring to a book of verses he had taken from his suit case, while I was day dreaming. It was exquisitely bound in Florentine leather.

"Don't get alarmed," he laughed, 'it isn't 'India Love Lyrics' or 'The Spell of the Yukon'. I wouldn't in flict them on you."

He was openly amusing. It was startling how much he knew of the little devices of wooing.

"And YOUR selection?" I inquired "You may judge for yourself, Adoree." he said tenderly, "here's one I marked for you."

He turned the thin pages.

His voice held lights and shadows and the lines gave out a charming newness of feeling: We, the lovers of life, in unknown places Shall taste of ancient wine And put flowers in golden vases, And open precious books of song And look upon dreaming Buddahs, And marble masks of genius.

We shall hear the sound stringed instruments. Voicing the dreams of great spirits

We shall know the rapture of kisses and long embraces And the sting of folly-"

It was not so much the sentiment of the words as the throbbing timbre of his voice, rising to dramatic heights then falling to a low seductive whisper.

He stopped in the middle of a stanza.

"Do you care for this sort of thing?" he inquired, gazing deep into my eyes.

"Yes, they're so firey and pagan, who is the poet?"

"Masters, I think. I was sure they would strike a note of sympathy between us."

"You read beautifully," I said in

"Nonesense!" he replied, "if one feels a thing, its an easy matter to convey it to others. I've always fancied reading. I took part in quite a few plays in college."

"Then your interpretation, in this instance, is not due entirely to practice?" I said in a teasing manner.

He turned and faced me. "Don't please," he said as his gaze met mine, "these are YOUR poems, Adoree, and no one's eyes but yours shall ever see them." (To be continued)

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT SUNDAY AND MONDAY

AT ILLINOIS THEATRE Theatre goers of this community will have the opportunity of seeing one of the greatest pictures of the year Sunday and Monday when "Capital Punishment" will be shown at the Illinois theatre.

All people who have ever thought about punishment for crime have been confronted with the question-is it right for the law to kill to mete out justice to a criminal?

"Capital Punishment" is a preachment against present day social conditions. It indicts our system of laws that permit of legalized murder under the guise of justice and retribution. It calls for enlightenment and for real justice as compared to miscar riage of justice.

Do not get the idea that this pizture is a dry sermonizing attraction. It is not. It is a picture that will entertain and instruct. The cast which includes such well known actors as Elliott Dexter, Mary Carr, Clara Bow, Alec B. Francis, George Hackathorne and others cannot fail but to be a big masterpiece of the screen.

DRY SPELL AND COLD WEATHER CHECKS WORK OF PLANTING CORN

Many farmers have already started planting their corn. Practically all corn land has been broken and is ready for the planter. The dry weather and the cold rough days this week have caused many farmers to slow up. Some of the older ones say that corn planted too early will tassel at a time of the year when the greatest heat of the summer will have a bad effect or it. They prefer waiting until about the middle or 20th of May.

Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Hopper have moved into the property near the park recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Witts and family. The Witts family moved into the Swain property on N. Main street, last week.

METHODIST CHURCH

Milton Wilson, Pastor. Lots of news, but a little to write. Next Sunday morning at 10:45 the pastor will use for his sermon theme, "Selling our Brethren." The sermon theme for 7:30 p. m. will be "Golden Calves". We are anxious to have you present for all services in the church but we trust that all will make a

Be in our live Sunday School at 9:30. Let big and little boost for the little Junior Leaguers at 2:30. Let many of us help Miss Margaret Herrington have a good Senior Epworth League service at 6:30. Let us look for something new and special in every service.

A few matters for the week. Fellowship supper and program on Wednesday evening. An all day Decatur district meeting in Bethany Thursday. Thursday night p rayer meeting. The choir rehearsal on Saturday night.

Things have been happening in a hurried way. The Sunday School numbered 208 last Sunday. The $62 purse needed to pay for new song books was completed at the close of the Sunday School session. The W. F. M. S. Thank Offering program was a success. Offering amounted to more than $30,00. The Junior League at 2:30 numbered only nine. The Epworth League was divided on Sunday night. The League gospel team went to Bethany to conduct the League service there. Attendance, 39. Joseph Getz made a good leader and got much out of the lesson. The attendance at public worship was good. The attendance at night was much better than in the morning. Percentage in choir attendance rather low. The young maidens quartette sang beautifully for us at Sunday School and evening worship. As usual, the orchestra rendered beautiful music.

Corn planting is being delayed somewhat in this vicinity by the cold weather of the last few days. Farmers are through plowing and are waiting for warmer weather. A good rain is needed for grass and oats also would make the ground work better in many instances.

For Those Who Gave The Most

We all remember those breathless days when the battle of the Argonne was being fought, when all America was praying with the vision of a million of its sons going forward in the face of death, straining its ears for the words that came from the battle front. Those were days of hope and doubt and faith, and faith was strongest. Every section, every state almost, knew that its own sons were in that battle. Each state counted upon its own to do their part. Its fathers and husbands, sons and brothers, were fighting not only for country, but also for their own honor.

Just seven years ago the whole country was looking to the fighting men to do their duty. Today the fighting men of seven years ago are looking to the country.

The American Legion, the Nation's fighting men of seven years ago, are raising a fund of five million dollars, from the nation at large, which will be kept intact year after year, to provide the anqual income needed in caring for disabled soldiers and their orphans

Not only the Legion, but the people of America at large believe that the providing of an American home for the orphans of every man who fell in the nation's service is so obviously right that it needs no discussion. These children are entitled to the same chance in life which they would have received had their father not given his life to America. That is the very minimum. "A home for every homeless child of a veteran" is the basis of the Legion's child welfare program, which will be made possible by the raising of the endowment fund. The constantly growing casualty list, as men die by the thousands each year, accentuates this need. The accumulation of these children in almshouses, poor farms, in the very streets and alleys sometimes has wrung the hearts of every American citizen who has given the matter thought. One of the purposes to which it to be put the income of the Five Million Dollar endowment fund is to give every homeless child of a veteran, a fair, square chance at life and an honest, happy American home and a proper education.

While the idea of raising the fund, keeping it intact in perpetuity and using the income therefrom for these purposes was originated by the American Legion, still the movement is, in reality, that of the Nation. President Coolidge is the chairman of the National Honorary Committee, and has endorsed the movement, as have other men and women of national prominence. The caring for disabled veterans and their orphans is a national obligation.

The undersigned, being a committee appointed from the Sullivan Community Club to investigate the movement, to determine whether it should have the support of our local people, say, without hesitation, that the cause is extremely worthy, and deserves the united support of all the people of the community. The quota of Sullivan is two hundred and fifty dollars. Solicitors will call upon the public for subscriptions and donations and the drive for the same will be made Tuesday, May 5th. We recommend that the gifts be liberal and generous.

EDITORIAL BORROWING

In Webster's dictionary the definition given to the above term is "receiving an article with the implied or expressed intention of returning," or in another sense of the term, imitating. However, some persons have given it an entirely different mean-

Borrowers are divided into two main classes, permanent and temporary. The former are those who may have the most sincere intentions of returning the article which was so kindly lended, but in some inexplicable way the article is never returned. The latter are those who only borrow in the greatest necessity and return the object as soon as they are through

Among the numerous borrowed objects can be found gloves, fountain pens, pencils, ink, rubbers, compacts, Most of these are permanently borrowed. The ideas of others are borrowed from books, learned people and from other worthy sources. Often they are gained unfairly. We should remember and heed the following maxim. "Who goes a borrowing, goes a sorrowing.

We all find this true when borrowed articles are lost, when borrowed ideas fail us in tests, when our own borrowed articles are never returned and many, many other times, so it is far better to follow Shakespeare's idea: "Neither a borrower nor a lender be."

-Martha Harkless.

PLEASING HIMSELF

James was unually a very obedient boy, doing all his tasks promptly and cheerfully. Seeing some of his little friends having such a good time at their play and being entirely thought less of others, he decided that his lot was a pretty hard one and his parents were exacting and arbitrary. He forth-with made complaint to them and after a very serious talk with them, they told him that he might try for one day, the plan of doing just as he pleased. No one was to ask him to do anything for them; no one was to tell him how to do a thing nor was he to ask any favors of them. The very next day was to be the day of

No one called him in the morning and when he awoke the sun was shining and he could hear the rest of the family going about their daily tasks. He took his time about dressing because he didn't intend to do any chores about the house that day. He thought about all the good times he was to have and all he was planning to do. When he went down stairs, breakfast was over. He felt pretty hungry and wanted to ask his mother to fix him something to eat, but remembering that he was to ask no favors all day, he went out into the street where some boys were playing. He just couldn't get interested in the play while his other brother was at work weeding the garden. Presently he went to the corner store and bought some candy which he ate immediately. He was at home in time for dinner but he didn't want any dinner and along in the afternoon he began to feel hungry. He didn't have any more money so he had to just go hungry the rest of the day. That evening he thought he had never tasted such good supper, and when the meal was over, he even wanted to help his mother put away the supper things. He had learned after all it was better when they all helped with the work.

SLEEPS 90 MINUTES A DAY "If you're sleeping more than an nour and a half each day, you're ruining yourself physically".

This startling statement comes from Anderson Frey, Freshman student at Marshall College in West Virginia, who has slept only ten hours a week for the past five years. To sleep longer, he believes, is a criminal waste of time.

"Some folks say I'm crazy," he says, "but they don't call a person crazy if he cuts down on his eating, and I think it's just as bad to oversleep as to over eat. I don't intend to spend a third part of my life asleep."

Frey, apparently, is in excellent physical condition. Although sixteen hours of class-work is the program of the average student, he is taking twenty hours. In addition to this, he waits on the table in the girl's dormitory to earn his upkeep. He is circulation manager of the Parthenon writes several columns of feature copy every day, is cheer leader for the college teams and an active mem ber of the campus Y. M. C. A.

THE SPRING

I bring new hope for those who mope In grief or sadness drear; I lift the shroud, like darkening clouds, Outcasting gloomy fear. In fever I hurry the styles that worry The sweet maids one and all, As with faces bright, and eyes alight

They hasten to my call. I hold the main of fashion's reign I lead forth the rainbow tints For the younger maids, the brighter

And softer golden glints.

I melt the snow on the mountains below,

And coax out the red buds shy; I deck with flowers the shady bowers, And paint a glowing sky. From the school boy's books, I steal his looks, I draw his mind to the summer camp; He thinks of brooks and sylvan nooks, Of many a hike and tramp. From snow-bound bed, the moss is led,

To kneel at the feet of trees vires cent; The grasses brown, don vernal gown, And rivers leap effervescent.

O'er emerald lawn, the infant dawn Earlier now is born; With triumphant delight, the glorious light Awakens a glowing morn. From far awing, the blithe birds sing Of a love new-known to them; A cozy nest on a gentle rest

Is hidden from spying men. I bring above the plants that rove Deep in the underground gloom; silently laugh at the cold epitaph That I paint on winter's tomb. -Mary Crane.

PEACH CROP IS NOT DEAD, SAYS BEECHER

"Beecher" Martin takes exception to the statements of the horticulturits and certain state crop experts who killed the peach crop several weeks ago and says they are mistaken when they say that there will be no peaches this year. He points to the peach trees now blooming and says that when there is bloom there is generally a peach crop following.

The experts officially killed the peach crop several weeks ago and then held an inquest over the remains giving out the following verdict; There will be no peaches in Central Illinois this year. All peach buds were killed by the low temperature of December 28, 1924.'

However, it has been the fashion to kill the peaches annually, so perhaps they did not mean for us to take the verdict seriously.-Arcolian.
