Joel K. Martin died Tuesday night at his home on his farm Southeast of this city. He had been in failing health for the past six months.

He was one of the most prominent men of Moultrie county, and was a member of the Moultrie county bar. He served two years as states attorney and was the Democratic candidate for that office last Fall, but failed of election.

He was born in this county, January 20, 1861 and was a son of J. N. and Rachel Martin, pioneer residents of this part of Illinois. He married Miss Belle Eden, daughter of Hon. John R. Eden. Following the marriage he entered the law office of Mr. Eden and studied law. After his admission to the bar he practiced law as a partner of his father-in-law. He was successful in his profession and established a reputation for strict honest and integrity in all of his dealings with his fellow men.

His record as states attorney, for this county shows faithful service, well performed.

Due to the ill health of some members of the family, they moved to the West several years ago and at different times since the family has resided in Arizona and California. For the past few years Mr. Martin has resided with his family on the farm where he died. His daughter Blanche, died about a month ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin were the parents of six children. A son Clemens and daughter Blanche, preceded the father in death. The wife and the following children survive; Edgar, Grace and Kenneth at home and Emma, wife of Fay Denton, of Riverside, California. He also leaves one brother, I. J. Martin and sister Mrs. Nancy Harpster.

Funeral services were held at the home Thursday afternoon and were in charge of Elder E. D. Elder. The body was then brought to this city where services at Greenhill cemetery were conducted by the Moultrie Lodge 158, I. O. O. F. of which the deceased was a member. Judge W. G. Cochran spoke in behalf of the bar association.

The pall bearers were the following: J. L. McLaughlin, O. F. Cochran, F. M. Harbaugh, Homer W. Wright, Charles Edwards and R. B. Foster.

Fire Wednesday evening destroyed a barn on the Lucius Harshman place on East Jackson street. The fire department responded but the entire structure was one mass of flames and nothing could be done to save it. Hundreds of automobiles hurried to the scene and as there are no intersecting streets at that point, quite a traffic jam resulted which took some time to untangle.

—Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wood, son Harris; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hall and family were Sunday guests of Mrs. Bessie Phillips of Charleston.

Judge W. G. Cochran was elected chairman and Elliott Billman, secretary. PATRONS SURPRISED PUPILS AND TEACHER AT TWO MILE

May 1st being the last day of school at Two Mile, the parents and patrons of the district pleasantly surprised Mrs. Osa Ault the teacher, and the pupils with a big dinner and ice cream. Mrs. Ault has planned to take the pupils to Fairview Park in Decatur.

Following the dinner a short program was given. Troy Chapman sang "Hurrah, School is Over". Another song was "Mother, Dear Mother, here" a Mother Day song which fully expressed the appreciation of the pupils.

SURPRISE DINNER
A surprise dinner was planned and carried out for Miss Leota Smith, teacher of the Morning Star school, for the past year, by the patrons of the district. All came with well filled baskets and at the noon hour two tables were loaded with all good things to eat, which was enjoyed by all present.

REV. ANDERSON HAS ACCEPTED PASTORATE OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH

REV. GEORGE M. ANDERSON

Rev. George M. Anderson of St. Joseph, Illinois, has accepted the call extended to him by the Christian church of this city. He will move to this city about June 1st and will preach his first sermon on the first Sunday in June.

The congregation is planning to make of this day one of the big events in the affairs of the church.

The following news item taken from last week's St. Joseph Record, speaks very highly of Rev. Anderson and his family:

"The congregation of the Church of Christ was startled and grieved Sunday evening when at the close of the service their pastor, Rev. George M. Anderson tendered his resignation as pastor of the church, to take effect the last Sunday in May."

"Rev. Anderson and family came here a little over two years ago, and they have certainly won a place in the hearts and affection of not only the congregation of their own church, but of the people of the entire community."

"They are people of the highest type and as a pastor Rev. Anderson has more than made good. He has added many new members to the church since coming here and every department of the church is functioning at its best."

"It will be hard for the charge to get another man to fill his place so acceptably as he has done and it is with the deepest regret that they see him leave. The citizens of the community feel this just as deeply as do the members of his own congregation."

"Mr. Anderson has accepted the pastorate of the Sullivan, Illinois Church of Christ, and will begin his duties there the first Sunday in June."

"The Record joins in regret at losing this estimable family from our midst, but we join also in wishing for them the best in success, happiness and good health in their new field of labor and may his work in the vineyard of the Lord be as fruitful there as it has been here."

The Board granted the request and voted to spend $1350 for the purposes asked.

MUNSON CASE SET FOR TRIAL NEXT TUESDAY

The case of the People vs. Ray Munson, accused of being one of the men who robbed the Gays bank will go to trial in the Circuit Court, Tuesday.

It is expected that the preliminary skirmishes will be short and that the trial will get under way shortly after opening of court.

Curly Burns, whose confessions are said to implicate Munson has had a change of heart and according to latest reports will not plead guilty or take the stand to assist the state's case. As Curley's confessions have been so numerous, it is presumed that they would have little weight with a jury.

Patterson And New City Dads Now In Office

Meeting Adjourned Monday Night After New Administration Goes in. Will Meet Monday Night for Organization and Appointments.

C. R. Patterson is now Mayor of Sullivan. He was sworn in at Monday night's meeting of the City Council and then administered the oath of office to City Clerk Boyce, City Treasurer Wade Robertson and the four new aldermen—Dr. J. F. Lawson, W. H. Birch, C. E. Hankley and Frank McPheeters.

The other two aldermen are E. J. Swisher and C. E. McFerrin. The latter has been acting mayor since the death of Mayor P. J. Harsh last Summer. With the incoming of the new administration he reverts to his position as alderman of the second ward.

Mayor Patterson opened his administration by complimenting the outgoing administration on the condition of the city's finances as shown by the annual report of City Treasurer O. F. Dolan which had been read and accepted by the old council.

The new mayor then stated that no business of importance would be transacted at the meeting but asked for an adjourned meeting to Monday night at which time appointments of committees will be made and recommendations heard for filling the city's appointive offices. An informal conference will be held by the council Saturday night in Mayor Patterson's law office. At this meeting it is proposed to work out a general policy to govern the deliberations and actions of the council. This the mayor, stated would serve to the end that "possibility of disagreements in public may be avoided."

In a short talk the new mayor outlined his conception of the duties on which he and his associates have entered.

"In this city" said he "there is approximately $2,000,000 worth of property. We have been chosen as directors of this big municipal corporation. We are the officials in charge of the transaction of its business affairs."

"So far as pay for services is concerned, we all know that what can be paid is not commensurate with services which we are to render. We get our pay out of the betterment of conditions if we can effect such; also our properties, as well as all properties in the city, may become enhanced in value and really the best pay will be in the sense and satisfaction of duties well done."

Members of the Community Club had scouted up some beautiful floral decorations for the mayor's desk and for the aldermanic table.

Two of the most important offices which the new council has to fill are those of City Attorney and policeman. Guesses are numerous as to who will be city attorney. For the police job there are at least four applicants: Tobe Webb, Charles Getz, M. A. Foster and Charles Womack.

Before the opening of next Monday night's meeting of the Council all of its members will be the guests of the Community Club at its monthly meeting and banquet.

MOTHER'S DAY

Sunday is Mother's Day. This one day out of the 365 is dedicated to Mother. Show her all honor. To repay her for all that she has done for you is not possible.

If you would please her, be in Sunday School and at church services Sunday. If you are so fortunate as to be able to accompany her to these services, do so. Be the escort of honor to Mother when she wends her way to religious services on this, her day.

If the Great Creator has already called Mother home, and naught but the memory of her goodness here on earth remains—how appropriate that you do honor to her memory Sunday.

The Mothers living want to see their children in God's House and could the Mother who has passed on, whisper in your ear her wishes for the day's observance, can you not guess what it would be?

BUILD A GOOD NAME.
OUR LOSS BY RUST.
DID "FATE" GET HIM?
HONOR THE AUTOMOBILE.

What is the value of a good name? Financiers that bought the Dodge automobile company from the heirs of the two able brothers that established it have re-sold the company to the public (keeping a lot of stock for themselves) at a valuation in which the name Dodge represents $80,000,000. The public eagerly purchases the stock and bonds at that valuation.

Similarly, when Hart Schaffner & Marx made a company of their business, the name which they had established, by business ability and SOUND ADVERTISING, sold for five times as much as the actual assets. And that name was probably worth TWENTY times as much as the assets.

Build up a name by honesty, intelligence, wise advertising, and you have something that fire, earthquake or tornado cannot destroy.

Rust costs this country $300,000,000 a year and scientists wonder how they can save that money. One way is to use copper or brass instead of iron, for water pipes, gutters, etc.

You are told that rust is caused by electricity generated by water and air combining. A way may be found to make iron rust-proof. Meanwhile, wherever air and water mix, use copper or brass and forget your troubles for a hundred years.

Oscar Palmquist went down with the Titanic. But he came back to the surface, swam for hours in the icy waters, and lived until March 23rd, last. His body was found in a shallow pond in Connecticut. He had wandered into the pond, and drowned.

That will cause solemn moralizing. You'll never be hanged, and vice versa," some will say swim as hard as you like, the water will get you."

The Turks and millions of other Orientals, deeply religious and superstitious will assure you that the day of your death was fixed millions of years before you were born. God knows exactly when you will die and how. Therefore, the hour and manner MUST have been fixed from all eternity, otherwise God could not know. And to doubt that he knows all things ahead is impious.

Cold common sense, however says that Palmquist would not have been drowned, had he not wandered into the pond, and would have been drowned, when the Titanic sank, had he not been a strong swimmer. This would be too dull if everything were fixed for us in advance. And if, as the Turks believe, all is settled in advance, and Allah and Mohammed, between them, know everything, each man's fate and destination after death, must be settled in advance. In that case, why struggle to reach Mohammed's Paradise? Struggling would not do any good, if you're sentenced before you're born.

On motoring tours, throughout the United States, seeing America first, and seeing America in the most comfortable, satisfactory way, Americans will spend this year $2,500,000,000.

This gigantic sum will be divided among the various communities along the popular motor roads of the country. And prosperity will increase greatly in the wake of the two and a half billions of cash left behind.

Respect the automobile, the men that make them, perfect and cheap. And if you have no automobile, go and get one. To be WITHOUT it is extravagance.

Daniel Clancy, father of twenty sons and daughters, drank a little too much in honor of his oldest son's approaching marriage, and was arrested.

"Go free," said the Magistrate; "the father of twenty is entitled to a little celebration."

That's judicial wisdom. You observe that it is usually the father of twenty, not the mother, who celebrates in that particular way. Any obstetrician will convince you that the mother of twenty really might celebrate with a good excuse. But the mother of twenty or more, or fewer, is content to celebrate by setting a good example.

AN ELEGY ON A COUNTRY PRINTSHOP

He's taken "thirty" off the hook; it's quitting time for "Slim"; We've closed the shop this afternoon to read the proof on him, And find it pretty middling clean, a pi line here and there, But only such a one as apt to slip in anywhere; His ticket's on the foreman's desk, all figured up, I s'pose. He had some fat takes, and some lean, but that's the way it goes; I don't know what's his overtime or what his check will be, I guess he'll strike the average, along with you and me.

He set a measure middling wide—he liked to set that way: His work was mostly solid stuff, and not much on display; He should have lived threescore or years, a friend of yours and mine. It's tough to think some, worthless chap is quadding out his line. He told me nigh a month ago, as cool as anything, His dupes were cut and pasted up—a middling longish string, He said he never skinned the shop, and guessed he'd had his share Of overtime and double price, and maybe some to spare.

He set a proof that showed up clean, and did his work up right. He never shirked by day so he could double-space the night. The make-ups dumped his matter in, his form is closed, you see; His galley's empty on the rack, his slug is twenty-three. We don't know what the cashier's desk will have to give to Slim; We'll mark a turn rule in the proof and say a prayer for him. For him the dawn is in the east, it's getting light uptown, And "thirty's" taken off the hook, the last form's going down!—J. W. Foley.

FREEDOM

By L. A. Smith

Freedom, thou wast not born of earth. Thine was a higher, nobler birth In God's great plan. Unvexed by finite bonds and bars, Thy banner waved above the stars Ere time began.

Thou wast ordained the heritage Of man in every land and age; And to be found Wherever consciences on her throne Asserts her right to stand alone, The world around.

Not by a gilded path of ease Thou camest down the centuries, To this, our day; But ceaseless conflict, and a flood Of sorrow's tears, and martyrs' blood Have marked thy way.

Oh, sacred legacy, that stands By time committed to our hands; We still must fight The banded foes of Liberty, Who seek by force and sophistry To quench its light.

But when at last the work is done— The conflict o'er, the victory won— Lord, grant that we Beyond where despot's foot hath trod, The freedom of the sons of God Shall know with Thee.

SIMPLE THINGS

By Dorothy D'Miles

A mug of milk and a bit of bread, And the sweet of a pear tree close by, A picket fence and a wide, white gate, And a slim young moon in a solemn sky.

Tap of rains on the window pane, Bend of trees and the swish of grass When storm gods drive and clouds draw close, Like a pack of sheep in a narrow pass.

Orchard white, when young spring nights Press tender lips to phantom lace. Beat of the sea in any angry wind, And the sting of spray on my up-turned face.

Stillness of snow and cold white stars, Glow of log when the nights are long. Shadow sweep on the smooth of your cheek, And a glimpse of soul through the veil of song.

A mug of milk and a bit of bread, Click o' the gate that evening bring; A clean white quilt on a poster bed— Oh, God, my thanks for simple things.

TIMOTHY VS. ALFALFA

Prof. W. J. Fraser of the Dairy Husbandry Department of the University of Illinois cites the difference between feeding alfalfa and timothy hay. In the article Prof. Fraser states that it takes six and one-half tons of corn silage, four hundred thirty-five pounds timothy hay, and seventeen hundred sixty pounds corn and oats to produce 3,150 pounds of milk.

Figuring the milk at $2.00 per hundred and the feeds at cost or market price, let us see what we get. 6½ tons corn silage @ $4 ton—$26.00 4350 lbs. timothy hay @ $20— 43.50 1760 lbs. corn and oats @ $30— 26.00

Total cost of feeds.....$95.90 3150 lbs. milk @ $2.00 per cwt. 63.00

Timothy hay feeding lost.....32.90 Prof. Fraser also states that alfalfa will double the production. 6½ tons corn silage.....$26.00

6433 lbs. alfalfa @ $30 per ton 69.49 1760 corn and oats @ $30 per ton 26.40

Total cost of alfalfa ration $121.89 This ration if fed to a cow of high production will produce 9450 lbs. milk at $2.00 per hundred amounts to $189.00 or $67.11 more than the cost of feed in the alfalfa ration, while the timothy ration returned a loss of $32.90.

This poem is published, not for the lack of other material, but because of its superior quality and to let our old school-mate, John Earl, know that we remember him and still appreciate the good work that he did while he was at school with us.

A RAGGED BOY

There came down the road a poor, ragged boy
With a curly little dog at his heels
And the look in those innocent, big, blue eyes
Showed the need of a good square meal.

On he came with an eager look
And said in a pitiful tone,
"Kind sir, where can I find some work?
I'm hungry and far from home."

He wasn't the hard-luck-story kind,
I could tell it in his face.
He was the kind who fights till the end
To win in a good fair race.

I asked him why he had left his home
And how he came to be here
His countenance changed immediately
To one of sorrow and fear.

He lost in the fight to keep back the tears,
And he bowed his curly head;
"I'm left alone," he murmured,
"My father and mother are dead."

I'm left to roam at my own free will
With only my dog as a chum.
I've little schooling and fetching up
But my chance for glory shall come."

"Make yourself a man," my mother said;
She bore all my troubles and cares
Brighter than gold shone her virtues,
Better than silver were those old grey hairs.

And after the much wanted food was given
He went on his dreary way,
But I shall never forget the lesson
I learned of a poor ragged boy that day.

THE LOST WILL

George DeLear and his sister, Leon, stood a little awe struck before the huge mass of stone that had been their deceased grandfather's home. There had been no will so the lawyers had sent for his nearest relatives, his son's children, who had been orphans for several years.

The lawyers knew that Mr. De Lear had had nothing to do with his son for many years because the son had become an artist against his father's wishes. For that reason the lawyers had hesitated about sending for his grandchildren but there were no other relatives and no will.

Slowly they walked up the drive at whose entrance the taxi had left them. A servant answered their ring and admitted them with a smile when he heard who they were.

The next week the brother and sister were confined to the house because it rained in torrents. This was no punishment though, for the old house was filled with many queer things their grandfather had gathered on his journeys.

They were glad to see the sun on Saturday and decided to look the garden over.

The garden was very large and was artistically laid out in many paths and flower beds. In the center there was a beautiful fountain. It was a girl seated on the ground, one hand was uplifted and in it was a horn, out of which water poured. In a far corner was a pretty summer house.

To this house George and Leon went, for the day was getting warmer and warmer. They found that all the furniture had been taken out and garden benches had been stored there. The walls were beautifully carved with queer twisted figures.

While Leon was examining these queer panels, her finger struck a tiny metal button. With a snap, a drawer shot out of the panel. George leaped to Leon's side; he was so startled. In the drawer was a long white envelope sealed with sealing wax and their grandfather's monogram imbedded in the wax.

Leon's hands trembled but she broke the seal and read:

"My will is in the uplifted arm of the statue in the garden. The hand can be removed by a slight twist and a pull.

(Signed) Selvester De Lear."

George and Leon lost no time in getting to the statue and they followed the instructions given and soon they saw a roll of paper sealed in waxed water proof paper.

They decided not to open the packet but call for Mr. Kyrke, the lawyer, to come.

They hurried to the house and sent a message by a servant for him to come at once on important business.

At three, Leon, George and Mr. Kyrke were seated in the drawing room, reading the late Selvester De Lear's will, which left George and Leon his house and all his bonds and personal property.

Leon was to have her grandmother's beautiful jewels and George the famous De Lear stables.

That evening the young master and mistress had dinner in their own home.

HONESTY

Truth and honesty show themselves in various ways. They characterize the young people of just dealing, the faithful people of business, the people who will not deceive you to their own advantages. Honesty gives full measure, just weights, true samples, full service, and a strict fulfillment of every engagement.

The truth of the maxim, "Honesty is the best policy," is fully demonstrated every day of our life; and uprightness and integrity are found as successful in business as in everything else. Truth the essence of principle, integrity and independence, and every youth needs it. Absolute truthfulness is more needed today than at any former period in our history.

Honesty above fortune and above kings; by that alone, and by the splendor of riches or of titles in glory acquired, that glory which it will be your happiness and pride to transmit unspotted to your posterity. Honesty is greatness itself, dishonesty never made a person great, and never will. Rather be honest and continue poor, while others around grow rich by fraud and dishonesty. Rather be without place or power, while others beg their way upward; rather bear the pain of disappointed hopes, while others win their way by flattery and forego the pressure of the hand for which others crawl and bend from fear.

Wrap yourself in the cloak of virtue and seek your bread with an honest hand.

Sullivan Wins First Place In Charleston Meet

Capt. Samuel Bolin, Talbot Bradley, Clarke Lowe and Henry Wright very successfully represented the Sullivan High School track team in the 16th annual invitational track meet at Charleston last Saturday. The Sullivan boys were entered in only three events winning the 440 yard dash, 220 yard dash and the mile race. Of these three entries, Sullivan won two firsts, Talbot Bradley capturing the first place in 440 yard dash. Capt. Bolin won first in the mile, defeating 540 contestants. Gold medals were awarded the victors. Sullivan took fourth place in the meet with a total of ten points. Considering that 34 schools were entered in the meet, Sullivan scored high.

County Meet Friday.

Sullivan High School is sending a full track team to Arthur today to compete in the county track meet. In view of our fine showing at Charleston it is quite probable that Sullivan win first place in this first county meet.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

Last Friday evening the Juniors entertained the Seniors at a farewell banquet.

The Latin room was used for a reception room and the guests entertained themselves there until dinner.

At 7:30 everyone was summoned to the gymnasium to dinner. The gym was beautifully decorated in May pole style. A round table in the center of the room was used for decorating purpose only, and the long tables were grouped around this one.

The orchestra played until everyone was seated. Then a quartette composed of Robert Wilson, Clara Robinson, Tolbot Bradley and Charlotte Duncan sang a welcome song, "Howdy-do, Senior Class."

A four course dinner was served by the Sophomore girls, who were all dressed in linen dresses. Four very enjoyable toasts were given by Miss Edmiston, Mr. Brown, Evelyn Keen and Keith Grigsby. Delmar Elder, Junior class president, acted as Toast Master.

Following the dinner a program was given in the assembly. "A Box of Monkeys," a two-act play, a Radio program, and a series of tableaux "Fashion's Follies" were numbers given by members of the Junior class.

The school's calendar this week is filled with important outside events. On Thursday evening, May 7th, a county oratorical contest was held in the auditorium.

Friday afternoon those wishing to attend the county track meet at Arthur will be dismissed from school.

A girl's quartette composed of Etha Bushart, Lorene Behen, Vida Murray and Marjorie Bupp and two soloists, Vida Murray and Royce Roley, will represent Sullivan at Charleston on Saturday afternoon.

Atty. Elliott Billman was at school Monday to appeal to us in behalf of the children of dead or disabled world war veterans. He is aiding the American Legion in raising funds for these children. The quota for Sullivan and vicinity is $250.

granted the prevailing impression that mail order houses can sell cheaper. When they do, it is usually at a sacrifice of quality.

On real honest-to-goodness stuff they can't beat the local men very much on prices, and then there is always the freight to figure. Furthermore you're buying on faith; you don't see the stuff you buy and you pay cash before delivery.

One morning this week a farmer walked into a local grocery. He had the proper price comparison idea. He had a list of groceries and Sears-Roebuck prices for them. He asked the local grocer to figure on the list. He did so. Without cutting price on any item, he surprised the farmer when he figured up the prices and found the total 30c lower than the S-R. prices. The groceries were right at hand where he could see them; there were no freight charges to be paid and a responsible firm stood back of the goods ready to make good anything that might prove unsatisfactory.

And then too, that farmer's money stayed right here in this community where it will do him and his family and his friends some good.

The surest way to help kill your old home town is to send your money to big-city mail order houses.

The latter day idea of a flapper of the three Rs seems to be "Rouge, ride and rest."

The BULL'S EYE

Editor and General Manager WILL ROGERS

An Unknown Historical Fact

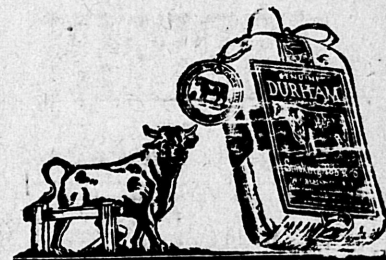

DID you know that George Washington, The adopted Father of our Country, just before he got on the Ferry to cross the Delaware for the Photographing of that now famous Picture, Did you know that he smoked two sacks of 'Bull' Durham while he was waiting for the Ferry? (things were just as late in his War, as they were in our last one). Now I have never heard of this 'Bull' Durham episode before, neither have I ever heard it denied. So if it's never either been affirmed or denied, there is no reason to disbelieve that it's not true. 'Bull' Durham originated in Virginia, and Washington lived in Virginia, and he was a great man to patronize home industries. And as Washington was the best man of his day, and Durham the best tobacco of its day, there is no plausible reason to doubt that these two most excellent Institutions didn't readily recognize the good in each other and get together.

Nice to Have Money

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

(Copyright.)

"If you had five hundred thousand dollars left you, how would you spend it?" Kerry Allen put the question to his friend Don Burgess as the two sat sorting tackle preparatory to a raid on an up-country trout stream.

"Me? Five hundred thousand dollars? Why waste time imagining a combination like that?"

"Well," persisted Kerry, "I'll tell you what I'd do. I'd buy up the entire town of Westburg—all but that darned Sherman property—and I'd put a fence around that."

Don laughed. "Pat Sherman been giving you the frosty eye again?"

"Pat? You mean Miss Patricia Van Alstyne Sherman. Funny, we were kids together, and lately I can't get near her with a ten-foot pole. I went to her father to buy that corner lot. Gave me to understand that not an inch of Sherman property was for sale, or ever would be. Hello, what's this?"

In at the slit of the door the postman was slipping a long official-looking envelope, and Kerry hastened to pick it up and run a finger under the flap. A moment later he sank back into his chair, his eyes fairly bulging.

"Ha, ha!" he laughed weakly. "Five hundred thousand dollars! Mine!"

Kerry's speculation concerning the money and its pat arrival were not so coincidental as you might think. He had read in the paper a day or two ago of the death of his uncle, who was reputedly worth exactly that amount. Unfortunately, Kerry, although the only heir, was on such bad terms with his uncle that he had not the slightest idea but that the estate would be distributed among the eccentric old fellow's pet charities.

It came then as a terrific shock to learn that his uncle had died in between the destroying of one will and the drawing up of another, and consequently Kerry inherited the entire fortune.

Kerry's act was to get a list of owners around the Sherman place.

And when, little by little, he began buying up that property he let himself in for the most adverse criticism on all sides. His friends feared that not only was the making himself appear a fool to be squandering his money for purely personal revenge, but that he was throwing it away where no returns were possible.

His only recreation was an occasional afternoon trout fishing, and it was from such an expedition that he was returning around twilight one day when he noticed at the corner of Sherman's best meadow a large "for sale" sign. He made his way up to the Sherman place.

Patricia's father sat on the veranda. "Saw my sign," he grunted. "Suppose you've come to buy and gloat? Been making a fool of me, grabbing everything around me? Heard you were going to fence me in."

Kerry sank comfortably down on the upper step and crossed his long legs. "Not at all, Mr. Sherman. In fact, I've come on an entirely different errand—to urge you to hold on and not sell at any figure!"

The older man regarded him suspiciously. "Why are you telling me this?" he asked.

Kerry stood up and faced him squarely. "Because," he said firmly, "I cannot play other than fair with the father of the girl I love, however little she cares for me."

"That's funny," said John Sherman. Then he bent down. "Fact is, Pat loves you," he said. "I'm sure of it, but she fancies it would not be reciprocated, and so takes special pains to conceal the fact. Result is—" he shrugged his shoulder. "You know how girls are!" Suddenly, before Kerry could protest, he lifted his voice. "Oh, Pat, come here! See if you can worm out of this young man just why he won't buy my land!"

Some months later when the Koly-nac Perfume corporation built their huge factory and sidings in Westburg, and all the nearby property rose tremendously in value, Kerry's former critics changed their tune and had nothing but admiration, somewhat grudgingly but none the less genuine, for their young townsman's marvelous insight. How had he foreseen a condition which more than trebled his investment?

It would have given them great pleasure to have overheard a little conversation between Kerry and the girl he was shortly to marry one afternoon as, side by side, they fished a rippling trout stream.

"What sort of a hunch did you have, Kerry? You have never told me, you know, and I am very curious. Think of my husband being a man with such a clever mind that he could foresee anything like the coming here of this world-known business!"

"I hate to confess it, to you of all people," sighed Kerry, "but I see that I will get no peace until I do! Fact is, darling, there was not the slightest bit of a hunch about it. On the day that I came back from settling up my uncle's affairs two men sat behind me on the train. Suddenly, one of them leaned forward and asked me if I could point out Westburg. When I replied affirmatively, he turned to the man beside him and I overheard him say, 'That is the town where my brother, the head of the Koly-nac factory, is going to build his million-dollar plant!' I merely took a chance that he was telling the truth—and there you are!"

With so many things to smile about, it's downright sin to frown; here comes the keenest joy of all—it's clean-up week in town.

Get out yer pail and scrubbin-brush and tighten up yer cinch — Our battle with the other trash is comin' to a cinch.

It might be well to plug yer nose in scientific terms—it takes discretion when you tackle woolly-whiskered germs! There's mebbe several pop-corn bags and old tomatoer cans, reposin' front of your abode — which civic virtue bans. Might even stir a polecat or a reeklin' funny-side, which shows how any smelly thing can damage civic pride.

Don't take no bombs or hand grenades to slam the garbage dump—put on yer army gas-mask and deport it in a lump. If you enjoy a payin' job, relinquish it today, and jine the city's clean-up squad — you'll find it better pay! Stab any feller in his tracks that registers a frown,—pull off yer coat an' swet by jacks—it's clean-up week in town!

"At the Gate of Heaven"

By MARTHA WILLIAMS

(Copyright.)

"HALLO! HALLO! Joy—I mean Miss Joy—can I take you to the moonlight Saturday night?" Joe Gentry stammered across the Wilcox gate. "Scuse me not gettin' down—in the awfulest hurry, I am," he ran on. "We're shy a band, you see, so I'm after Old Shed and his crew before they git snapped up."

"On your way! Quick—and then some! Hurry! Hurrree!" Joy Wilcox chanted from the porch steps, waving him away with both hands. Joe grinned happily, swung his hat high with his best flourish, and galloped down the long shady lane. He had lost sleep in his fear of being too late—that town fellow, Roger Elton, had been rushing Joy so hard ever since he landed at his uncle's, three days back.

Joe was fair-minded. He admitted to himself that under other conditions Roger wouldn't be wholly a bad sort. Say as a brother-in-law. Just right for Peggy Gentry—if only he would think so. Peg was mighty pretty—even prettier than Joy; also she was wild for towns, travel, what she called seeing life. The fact had worried Brer Joe no little. Roger could give her these desires of her heart. If only he could be shown his role of special providence. Joe stood ready to dower Peg with his one big winning, the Reelfoot Stake, plus the astounding price of Light Heels, the unexpected winner.

Old Shed swore by his conjure-bag to "be dar Saddy night, right at chicken-roost time, wid three fiddles, er banjo, er gittar, an de triangle." So after dinner—the hour was noon, understand—he flung himself full length in the hammock as happy as he was tired.

Peg, framed in the doorway, looked ostentatiously over his head, saying carelessly: "Joy is giving herself a surprise party tonight, and wants us to come. Are you too tired?"

"Won't be after I snooze an hour," from Joe drowsily—then suddenly wide-awake: "Did she tell you who else is comin'?"

"Everybody in three miles round—with the Eltons for good measure," Peg answered. "Looks to me her cap is set Roger-fashion, and pinned fast and tight. I don't see such a much in him—do you?"

"Yes, d—n him!" Joe exploded. "He's got manners, looks, money to spend as he likes; he knows things we never heard of—but he shan't have Joy—I'll scalp him first."

"Don't!" Peg counseled, grave, but twinkling. "The best people don't wear scalp locks any more. Besides, 'twould be mean to crab Tommy Nolen's act."

"Good Lord! Why?" Joe demanded. "I'm why," Peg giggled. "Tommy's so crazy about me he thinks Roger is stuck on me, too."

Joe sprung up, laughing in spite of himself. "I wish Tommy was a seer," he said mysteriously. "Say, Peg, if he knew what he was talkin' about, what would you say?"

"I'll say to you, 'Oh, you goose!'" Peg flung over her shoulder as she ran away.

The surprise party went with a rush. Dancing on the piazza, cards in the living room, solitudes for two on benches out in moonlit shade. Joy was a marvelous hostess—she played no favorites—not even Roger. Joe admitted as much to himself, but grudgingly. Certainly Roger's eyes clung to her wherever she moved, entreatingly, almost despairingly, it seemed.

By two in the morning there remained only the patient Wilcoxes, the persistent Tommy Nolen, Roger, Joe and Peggy. She had been in wild spirits all evening; now she crouched at the end of the huge mahogany sofa, her eyes downcast, her face musing. Tommy and Roger, making caryatides of themselves, stood either side the tall chimney-piece, making talk elaborately, but evidently with ears strained toward the piazza, whither Joy had dragged Joe—without much trouble.

If only the ears had been long enough, fine enough, they would have heard this: "Joe, you must help—I don't know how to ask it—but it's about Roger."

"Well, what about him?" Joe gloomed.

"I—I—that is—we feel rather responsible for him—Tommy Nolen is a donkey—flat—but donkeys can kick frightfully, you know."

"What's Tommy got to do with Roger?" from Joe breathlessly.

"Why—don't you know he swears he'll kill him—for cutting him out with Peg?"

Explosive silence—then a howl of laughter, a rush of feet—Joy fell upon Tommy crying: "Come out! Come out! Nobody has proposed to me tonight, and the moon almost down!"

Joe laying violent hands upon Peggy to drag her toward the front door where his car stood in waiting. At the door, as by second thought, he called cheerily to Roger: "Brother, if it suits your notion, we'll take you on home."

His eyes, his voice, above all, his laughter, made Roger take heart. In a wink he was beside Peggy, had taken her arm and was half carrying her outside. There he lifted her bodily in, swung himself beside her and said almost huskily: "Make it the long way round, Joe; remember, I'm just at the gate of heaven."

"Me, too, brother! Shake!" Joe answered, stretching back to them a strong, warm hand.

A long table was erected and a fine dinner was spread and enjoyed by every one present. The afternoon was spent in playing ball, ciphering and other games.

The following pupils received prizes for not having missed a day nor being tardy during the term: Verne Righter, Lloyd Cochran, Thomas Jesse Pound, Margaret Cochran and Bernice Bolin.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Next Sunday just the morning service and we will be glad to see you.

Let us make this service a real good one. You can help by your presence, and your genial smile may do some other heart good. Life is somewhat a struggle for the best of us, and if you are bearing some burden, just think there are some who are bearing a heavier one. If you have much to be grateful for let a ray of sunshine out to the other fellow. If you have home and mother, you should be grateful for the same, if you have not you should be glad for the sweet memories of a life that is in you, in some way a living presence, and a light midst the shadows. So may the light of other souls, manifested in faith, hope and love still live, and shine in this our day to make it brighter by our being.

Subject for the morning, "A Light Midst the Shadows."

Sunday school before the service and you will be welcome in one of our classes. Bring some one who is not in the habit of attending Sunday School.

NOTES ON TUBER-

CULIN TESTING
 When owners of cattle are notified fied that I am coming to your place, you are instructed to have your cattle either tied by the head or in a close place and you must be on hand to help. In several cases I have had to pass up owners who are gone or are not around. It is not my place to tramp several miles to find you, and if your cattle are not tested at this time, it is doubtful if they will be tested at all. Kindly bear this in mind and govern yourselves accordingly.
