Traction Engine Breaks Through Bridge Floor

Carl Carter and Dave Sullivan Escape Injury. Bridge Wrecked Beyond Repair. Jakey Hollingsworth to the Rescue.

The big 11-ton traction engine belonging to Carl Carter, caused the collapse of a bridge on the Coalshaft hill road, a short distance North of the bridge that spans the Okaw.

On the engine at the time of the accident, which was 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, were Carl Carter and Dave Sullivan. They were traveling North and had crossed the Okaw bridge just a few minutes before. Neither of the men was injured.

They crawled out of the wreck none the worse for their danger. Mr. Carter remarked Saturday morning that not until that time did he really feel "shaky" and realize the danger he had been in.

The bridge which is all one steel span about 45 feet in length was set in concrete abutments at each end. The steel and concrete gave way when the heavy wheels of the engine were about half way across the bridge. The collapse was gradual and the East side of the bridge gave way most. The steel girders were twisted into grotesque shapes. The steel water tank was attached to the engine.

The concrete walls at either end of the bridge were torn loose and from the time of the accident up to Saturday morning the wreck settled considerably.

Commissioner J. W. Elzy says that had bridge boards been used in running the tractor over the bridge, it would not have given way, as he and his workmen have often run the Holt caterpillar tractor over the bridge this season. This tractor weighs 10 tons.

Saturday morning Mr. Carter and his workmen and Mr. Elzy and his force began planning the rescue of the engine. After consultation it was decided to give the job to Rea (Jakey) Hollingsworth and he started on the task Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Hollingsworth on Saturday used an acetylene torch on some of the bridge's iron girders, cutting them and permitting the engine to settle to a horizontal position. On Monday with a little maneuvering the engine was extricated from its position, little the worse for the mishap.

Commissioner Elzy has prepared a detour around the broken bridge and the road is open to travel. A new bridge will be built.

MOULTRIE CO. MERCHANTS PLANNING BIG PICNIC TO BE HELD IN WYMAN PARK

Moultrie county merchants will have a meeting at Lovington this (Friday) night to perfect an organization which will arrange for a big picnic to be given in Wyman Park in this city some time during the Summer. The plan is to make it a real county affair and to have all stores in the county represented. A general invitation will be extended to the public and all will be asked to join in having a good time.

On Thursday afternoon of last week Lovington merchants held a picnic in Wyman Park. Sullivan merchants went out to join the visitors in their holiday. The matter of getting together for a real county picnic was broached by Will Boggs of Lovington and met with a ready response from the local merchants. It was agreed to meet at Lovington to perfect details and make future plans.

NOT MANY ATTENDED FARM TRIP TO U. OF I.

Because of weather conditions the number of Moultrie county farmers who made the trip to the University at Urbana, Monday was rather small. Farm Adviser Turner is planning another pilgrimage to take place the early part of September. Arrangements will be made to assure a big crowd on that occasion.

PAVING SUPERINTENDENT SEVERELY BURNED IN GASOLINE EXPLOSION

J. F. Minter, superintendent for Smith Bros. on the hard road paving job between this city and Windsor, was severely burned Friday night of last week in a gasoline explosion.

Mr. Minter accompanied Jack Frost, a representative of the Lehigh Portland Cement Company to look over the work of the McMahan Construction company which is paving the section of route 32 from Lovington to LaPlace.

On their return trip, when they had reached a point North of Lovington, Mr. Frost's car, a Dodge, started giving trouble. Mr. Minter got under the car and detached the feed pipe and blew it out. In doing so a quantity of gas escaped and got on the exhaust pipe. It flared up and before Mr. Minter could get out from under the car his arms and chest were severely burned.

The injured man was taken to a nearby farm house and given first aid. He was later brought to Sullivan where he was around the uptown Saturday morning. His wounds were so painful however, that on Saturday night it was deemed advisable to take him to the Memorial Hospital in Mattoon. He is getting along as well as can be expected.

Munson's Plea For New Trial Denied; Appeal

Case Will be Taken to Supreme Court. Attorneys Fight Every Foot of the Way. Munson States His Innocence Before Sentence.

Judge Sentel on Monday overruled the motion for a new trial for Edwin Ray Munson, convicted some weeks ago on an indictment charging that he was one of the two men who on the morning of January 19th robbed the Gays bank.

Attorneys Jennings & Elder of this city, and Andrews & Real of Mattoon appeared for Munson and argued at length the reasons why a new trial should be granted.

Embodied in the motion for a new trial were 21 reasons setting forth errors in instructions given to jury and other alleged errors on the part of the state and court.

In summing up the arguments made, Judge Sentel, before denying the motion for new trial, stated that while some of the instructions given may not have been technically correct, yet none contained such statement as to constitute reversible error.

Immediately after the Judge's ruling on this matter Attorney Jennings made a motion for arrest in judgment. This motion was argued Tuesday afternoon and the Judge again overruled it. He then called Munson before the bar and asked whether or not he had anything to say before sentence was passed. Munson stated that he bore no ill-will toward the Court or any one connected with the prosecution of the case but contended that "you are sentencing an innocent man".

Judge Sentel commended the prisoner for his gentlemanly manner throughout the trial but stated that as the jury had heard the evidence and found him guilty naught remained but to sentence him to the Southern Illinois Penitentiary for an indeterminate term.

Attorneys for Munson then asked a stay of mittimus of 60 days to permit the filing of an appeal to the State Supreme Court. This plea was granted and Munson will not be taken to the penitentiary until the 60 days are up. The case will be taken up on writ of error. "An effort to have the state nolle the larceny indictment against Munson so as to reduce the amount of bail to secure his liberty pending appeal was not granted. The total amount of bail now is $23,000 and unless Munson can give that he will remain in the county jail until the appeal action is disposed of.

Cases Continued. The cases against Clarence Hinson, alias Curly Burns and Elmer Walling, both under indictment in connection with the Gays robbery were continued until the September term of Court. The action in the Burns case was taken on motion made by his attorney R. B. Foster. The state was not ready to go to trial in the Walling case at this time. Monte Crist and Elmer Murray, also indicted in this connection escaped from jail some weeks ago and have not yet been apprehended.

After granting the continuance in the Burns and Walling cases Judge Sentel informed the petit jurors that they were dismissed for the present term of court.

Attorneys Andrews and Beal of Mattoon, representing Walling, were insistent that that case go to trial. They stated that they had made all preparations and in a previous setting Walling case had really been placed ahead of that of Burns. The attorneys for the state declared that they were not ready to try Walling until after Burns had been tried.

The continuance granted means that Curly Burns will continue an inmate of the county jail for a few months more. He has already been confined therein since February. (Continued on page 4)

FIND OLD RECORD

In moving the belongings of the Sullivan Post Office into its new quarters the oldest record book found was dated 1873. In this book were records of box payments and also stamp accounts are checked up therein. On its pages appear the names of many of the old pioneer business men of the early days of Sullivan.

A strange feature about the record is the fact that the Post Master's name does not appear therein. The record is in an excellent state of preservation and the entries are made in a most artistic type of penmanship.

ANNOUNCEMENT

A modern Beauty parlor will be opened Monday morning in the Rigin Sanitary Barber shop and will be in charge of Miss Mary McCane. She is a graduate in this line of work and assures satisfaction. Appointments can be made by calling phone 873. The same efficient chair barber service for men will be continued as heretofore.

Post Office Now Occupies New Modern Home

Sullivan's Post Office opened in its new home Monday morning. The work of moving was done Saturday and Sunday.

The new location is in the Jim Winters' building, now owned and equipped by the Merchants & Farmers State bank. The equipment is modern in nearly all details and is a great improvement over the old one. The entire fixtures were bought from the Keyless Lock Company of Indianapolis.

Among the improved features are three big windows in a straight line at which the wants of the patrons can be supplied. Each clerk has his own stamp and money drawer, which fit into compartments in the safe. When a clerk quits duty he takes his drawer out of the shelf by the window and puts it in the safe. This arrangement precludes any mix-up in keeping accounts straight.

The letter drop is equipped with two steel trays. These trays are taken to the cancelling table. When one is taken the other remains in place. The same arrangement also applies to the parcel post receiving boxes.

In the private box department the new fixtures have 16 big boxes; in the old Post Office there were but 8. There are 32 medium boxes as compared to 20 heretofore. There are 96 small boxes.

There are special cabinets for every possible use. There are separate incoming and outgoing letter cases, also a large newspaper and package distribution case.

Each of the three city carriers has a separate case equipped with 160 letter separations and 29 newspaper compartments. The six rural carrier cases have 100 separations each.

The parcel post unit of the equipment has a place for a scale easily accessible. The old scale is being used. In fact, here is one feature of the Post Office equipment that is open to criticism and it is hoped that it will soon be remedied. The scales in use are old and obsolete. In fact they have been in use for about 25 years. They do not have the computing feature. The clerk weighs the mail and then decides the postage charge by referring to a chart on the wall.

Post Master McPeeters realizes the need of improvement along this line and will endeavor to get it, as with all the other improvements it will be rather an inconvenience if this feature of the service is not modernized.

For the visitors Morenz and Porter scored in the second inning and Schultz, Decatur's catcher, crossed the home plate in the 4th, the final score being 3 to 1.

Next Sunday the Macon Stars, rated one of the best teams playing in this part of the state, will be here. On July 4th "Lucky" Martin will bring his Farina Wildcats for a thrilling game and on the following day, Sunday, July 5th, Moweaqua has been signed by Manager Sona.

Plans For Water To Be Submitted At Meeting Monday

Community Club Calls Special Meeting in Circuit Court Room to Hear Plans of City Council. General Public is Urged to Attend.

There will be an important meeting of the Community Club in the Circuit Court room Monday night, beginning at 7:30. This meeting is being called by the Community Club but the general public is invited and urged to attend.

At this meeting the City Council will submit the plans it has worked out for a water supply and distribution system. Engineers will be on hand with detailed plans to explain any point that people want to know more about. The matter of financing the proposition will also be explained.

The present administration has been working hard along this line as its members felt that this was the one big thing delegated to them when they were elected to the offices which they now fill.

They have worked out a plan which they deem feasible but its success depends entirely on the co-operation which the people give them.

At an adjourned meeting held Friday night a Board of Local Improvements was created. Official publication of the ordinance creating this board appears in this issue.

A big attendance is urged for Monday night's meeting. It is perhaps the most important meeting that has been held in this city for many a day.

JOE MILLER INJURED BY FRACTIOUS MULE

Joe Miller of Jonathan Creek Township was painfully injured Tuesday. He had recently traded in a mule which had a rather vicious temper. Mr. Miller was leading the mule and he became unmanageable. He tied him to a board and wire fence. Before he could get away the mule pulled down the fence, knocking over Mr. Miller and dragging the fence over him. He was badly bruised and scratched. GOD LOVES A BOOSTER

If you can't speak well of your home town, shut up. There are so many things we Sullivan folks can boost that the fellow who stoops to look for something to knock about, ought to be booted about the time he stoops.

We are going to have an ideal water supply and distribution system. The people seem to be finally awake to this need, so it's coming.

We have just moved into a Post Office which is a dandy. No city in this part of the state has any better, and few, even bigger cities, have as good.

Wyman park at this time of the year is something which every city wishes it had. We've got it. Not only that but we extend a world-wide invitation to all who will, to come and share its pleasures with us.

We're going to have a 4th of July celebration that is going to be a hummer. Ask Elliott Billman and Don Campbell if you are in any doubt about the matter.

The Community Club committee is working on the Home-Coming which is to be staged here some time next Fall.

The American Legion will have a 19th district convention here in August. The Farm Bureau will have a big district meeting September 16th. The merchants of the county are planning a big get-together here in the near future.

The Chautauqua which starts August 13th offers perhaps the best program of its kind ever put on here.

Hard roads are building into the City. The North Side School building will be up by Fall. The Masonic Home is adding a big addition.

The corn is growing fine. All nature seems boosting.

ADVERTISING SERMONETTE

If a mail order house did not advertise it would do no business. Nobody would ever hear about it or know of its existence. How about the merchant who never advertises? The mail order house, which is his strongest competitor shows him the way to get business. Advertise.

Do not do your advertising hit-or-miss. That's poor business policy. By doing that you may spend your money in a newspaper which has small circulation. Advertising is not simply having something printed, in any kind of shape, in any sort of paper. Intelligent advertising is putting your business message across in a plain way so all can understand, and bringing it to the attention of the largest possible number of people.

Use cuts, they tell half the story. See that the newspaper in which you advertise really reaches the people. Is it a paper the people want or is it one forced on them? Do they read it when they get it?

The wise merchant has an advertising budget. He knows in advance approximately how much he is going to spend for advertising during the year. He sees that he gets full value for every dollar he spends. He then spreads this advertising appropriation out over the entire year. Just a once-in-a-while adv. may be all right, but it's the steady pull that counts.

Advertising begets the confidence of the buyer. If the merchant had no confidence in his merchandise, would he advertise? He would not, for with buying as with advertising, the one time purchase carries no weighty effect on the merchant's prosperity. It's the steady customer that counts. It may seem rather strange that a talk directed to merchants mainly should appear in this editorial column, but this is a big problem in which every buyer of merchandise as well as the seller is interested.

THE MERCHANTS' SHARE

It is all O. K. for a newspaper to boost a city and tell its readers what a great place it is in which to trade. That is only part of the story, however. Town boosting must be accompanied by the ads. of live merchants in which they tell of what they have to sell. That's what brings the people to town. That is why the town's biggest advertiser is always the town's best booster. The non-advertising merchant is simply trying to cash in on the other fellow's business integrity.

Mr. Spitler at one time was interested in telephone companies in this county and also in Macon county. He was president of the Mt. Zion bank and had mercantile and elevator interests in that city. Last Fall he took an active interest in the Lovington coal mine situation and endeavored to put that mine back into operation.

He was an Odd Fellow, an active farm bureau member and a Democrat who several times served as chairman of the Macon county organization. He is survived by his wife who before their marriage was Miss Ida B. Smith of Mt. Zion.

Land owners along the proposed new road have signified a willingness to donate the ground required for the highway and all the expense if the two townships will do the improvement of the road. The landowners will bear the expense of building the necessary fences.—Bethany Echo.

MANY A GOOD GIRL HAS MUD ON SHOES

Late Saturday night John H. Watson, who is spending the summer on the Henry Kruger farm, was awakened from his slumbers by a woman crying in the yard. He went to the window and asked her what she wanted and she explained that she was one of the fair ladies of the carnival company and had gone out for a little joy ride with one of the Arcola swains who had dumped her out of the car and she said she was lost and wanted some one to take her back to town. John advised her that she was facing town and if she walked lively and kept going she could walk to town in just about an hour. She took his advice.—Arcola Record Herald.

ARTHUR BOY RAISES DOGS

Francis, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stevens, living near here, instead of raising calves or pigs for market, as most boys do when they raise anything, raises and sells collie dogs. Frank has been engaged in this business for about five years.—Arthur Graphic-Clarion.

CHURCH NOTES

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
A. J. Burville, Pastor
Sunday School 9:30 a. m. Preaching at 11:00 a. m. Subject, "Growth in Grace by Confession".
Preaching on Sunday night at 7:45 p. m. Subject, "Causes of Unbelief".
We had a very appreciative crowd out to the Masonic Home on Sunday afternoon.

As a rule old folks are forgotten now a days. Read your Bibles and see how you should treat the old folks. In this day and age instead of the old folks running the home it looks as if the homes are run by the young people. We had a nice, large crowd out to church on last Lord's Day night. The children gave us a fine program. It looks like our old church has resurrected from the dead. Just come and look at the outside and the inside. We had 36 out to Sunday School on Sunday morning. One came in late and was not counted. There are plenty of children in the city to fill all of the churches.
Prayer meeting on this coming Wednesday night at Mrs. Mary Younger's on the corner of Main and King streets, at 8:00 p. m.
Cottage prayer meeting on Friday night at the home of the pastor 618 Grant street. We are having an average of 15 out these hot nights to prayer meeting; this is really good. These meetings will be at 8:00 p. m. All are invited. Please bring your Bibles.

THE GOSPEL MISSION

H. H. Smith, Supt.
9:30 a. m. Sunday School.
11:00 a. m. Morning worship.
6:30 p. m. Young peoples service.
7:30 p. m. Evangelistic services
Tuesday evening 8:00 p. m. cottage prayer meeting at Mrs. Laura Reedy's 8:00 p. m. Thursday evening preaching service at the Mission by Rev. Riley Ridgway. Mr. J. J. Harsh will have charge of the prayer meeting this week and Miss Ola Reedy will have charge of the young people on Sunday evening.

May we say just a little about our last Sunday's lesson. This lesson should mean a real blessing to every one of the Lord's children. God shows us how mindful he is of His own. How while we pray He works. As we have often said before prayers changes things. Prayers put the enemy of our soul to sleep and opens closed doors. Prayers lead the sin bound soul out of prison. Prayer leads the child of God out of trouble bound prison; prayer prevails on God to send His guiding angel who leads us past the guards through the closed doors out into familiar ways where we can again see our way clearly and walk by faith. When you pray, do not be surprised that God answers your prayer, for He is a prayer answering God. God never hides His face from us when we are in trouble, or sorrow of heart, but He is touched with our infirmities. Read the lesson over again and let the Holy Spirit give you the spiritual interpretation while you quietly wait before the Lord.

METHODIST CHURCH

Milton Wilson, Pastor
At 9:30 a Sunday School session for all ages and classes of people.
At 10:45 public worship with special music and a sermon upon the theme, "Why Men Do Not Go to Church". Men, take a little time and come to church and see if the preacher is right in his view concerning the subject.
At 2:30 the last Junior League service before the July and August vacation.
At 2:30 preaching at the Masonic Home. Serman theme, "Candles".
At 7:30 the annual installation service of the newly elected Epworth League officers. This will be a beautiful service. See the program elsewhere in this issue.
Matters of interest for the week. The Senior Epworth League in business session and social on Tuesday evening. The prayer meeting on Wednesday evening at 7:30. The folks did a little better in prayer service last week. Seventeen were present. The King's Herald in regular meeting at the church on Thursday afternoon at 8:00 o'clock.

We had a good time in all church services last Sunday but the "reducer" seemed to do effective work in every service. The Sunday School dropped back to 187. The Epworth League mustered only twenty for a fine program. While we had fairly good sized congregation for public worship both morning and evening, there was a noticeable decrease in attendance. It was annual "Father's Day". Some fathers showed their appreciation of the recognition by attending church but many showed their lack of appreciation by staying away from the church.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Another week has gone, another summer's June is all but past. Next Sunday brings us near the close of the month, when we behold waving fields of golden grain. Sunshine and showers make the corn, that a few days ago looked a pigmy plant, now a giant stock. We also note, what makes the corn grow seems good for the weeds unless they are checked. The farmer knows the worth of cultivation of the soil in regard to the harvest he is to reap. It is not amiss to bear in mind the cultivation of the soil, in the garden of the heart, in view of the spiritual harvest.
Subject for next Sunday, "The Revelation of God in Jesus".
Subject for evening, "Jesus' Friendship".

Bible study before the morning service. This service is for the children, and parents would do well to induce in a kindly way their children to go to some study. They would do even better to accompany them, and help them feel at home in the study of the word of life. We will be glad to see your genial smile.
During the months of July and August union evening services will be held in the Freeland Grove auditorium.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Geo. M. Anderson, Minister
Last Sunday morning your pastor gave the first of a series of sermons on "Fundamentals". The purpose of these sermons will be to link together God's outstanding revelations to the human family and to show how "All things work together for good to them that love God". The first of the series will be as follows: Sunday, June 28th a. m., "God"; July 5th, a. m., "Father"; July 12th, a. m., "Son"; July 19th, "Holy Spirit". If you are interested in this series, be present next Sunday morning and receive a folder explaining in outline the development of these sermons.

Bro. Earl Clark, a Sullivan boy, was ordained last Sunday afternoon at the Lovington Christian church. Many honors were given Bro. Clark for his achievements of the past and all present wished him much success and a constructive ministry for the future. Many of the Sullivan folks were present at this service.
The church building will not be ready for services until the first Sunday in July. At this time the committee in charge are planning on a dedication service in honor of the work that has been done. When the work is completed the church building will be decorated both inside and outside, the lighting system changed and basement overhauled. It is understood that the women are planning on giving some attention to the kitchen and dishes and utensils replaced. The beauty of all this work is that it is being done without any public or strenuous financial drives. Let us all make this dedication day an outstanding day in the history of the church.
Union services will begin the first Sunday in July and will continue until the last Sunday in August.
All services will be held in the Freeland Grove auditorium next Sunday. Bible School begins promptly at 9:30 a. m. Evening service at 7:30 o'clock.

INTERESTING DEMONSTRATION OF QUALITY OF SEED
J. E. Crowder the seed man, has an interesting demonstration plot in front of his place of business of the Northeast corner of the Square in this city. In this plot he shows the results of planting disease free corn and also diseased corn. He shows the growing quality of various kinds of soy beans and cow peas. Different kinds of clover are growing in spring rye and hull-less oats.

The samples are of course, small, due to limited space, but the results achieved convey a good lesson to the farmers who like to see in actual demonstration the theories which have been evolved and proven practical by the U. of I. Mr. Crowder also has in his plot several varieties of sunflowers.

CHURCH NOTES

CADWELL-ROSEDALE

James T. Wilson, Pastor. Last Sunday was a banner day in Cadwell-Rosedale church circles. The Rosedale Sunday School numbered forty and the church was not big enough to hold all of the people who came at two thirty o'clock to attend children's day program. The Cadwell Sunday School reached the seventy mark and a good audience present for the morning preaching at 11:00 o'clock. The church was filled at 7:30 in the evening to listen to the children's day program. The exercises at both churches were good and the children played their parts well. A fine offering was received for the fund used in the educating of deserving poor boys and girls. The total received from both places after the paying of expenses, amounted to $15.82. The committees in charge of the programs deserve much credit for the work done. The program for next Sunday:—Rosedale—Sunday School at 10:00 a. m. Epworth League at 6:30 p. m. and preaching at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Cadwell—Sunday School at 11:00 a. m.

BERTHA INIS RICHARDSON PROMINENT IN WORK OF CHURCH DIES FRIDAY

Bertha Inis Richardson, the youngest child of Isaac M. and Elmira C. Richardson, was born February 27, 1882, four and one half miles southwest of Arthur, Illinois. She spent her entire life in Moultrie county, excepting two years spent in Coles county. She moved with the family to Sullivan in 1903, where she has since resided.

At the age of eleven, she was converted under the preaching of Rev. D. T. Black. She was afterwards baptized and received into the Sullivan Methodist Episcopal church by the Rev. Milton P. Wilkins. During the revival under the direction of Evangelist Leroy J. Mitchell held in Sullivan a few years ago, Miss Richardson reconsecrated her life to the services of Christ and the church. Since that time, she has been doubly active in all lines of church activities. Many times she went beyond her physical strength but it was her soul's delight to do the work for God. She took a deep interest in music, teaching and singing in her own church, but was a faithful and an earnest worker in the Gospel Mission Society of Sullivan.

The decedent was a member of the W. F. M. S. of the Methodist Episcopal church. She was charter member of the Daughters of Veterans and the first chaplain of the local tent.

The Methodist church and the Gospel Mission have lost a devoted friend and a faithful and sincere helper; others have lost a true friend and neighbor, a kind and loving sister and one has lost not only a sister but also a faithful and loving companion of the home. The friends sympathize with all who are grief stricken because of her going.

Miss Richardson after an illness of many months, passed away late in the evening of June 19. At the time of her going she was 43 years, 3 months and 22 days of age. The immediate relatives surviving are two brothers, J. Homer Richardson of Mattoon and Elmer W. Richardson of Sullivan; and three sisters, Mrs. Susie A. Powell, Mrs. Ethel Newbold and Miss Louella Richardson, all of Sullivan. Other near relatives are five nieces, five nephews, three aunts and two uncles.

The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in the Methodist church at 3:00 o'clock with Rev. Milton Wilson officiating and assisted by Mr. H. H. Smith, superintendent of the Gospel Mission.

The casket bearers were Messrs. Lewis Richardson, Elzy Richardson, John Richardson, Herbert Powell, Denzel Powell and Merle Powell.

The ladies in charge of the flowers were the Misses Gertrude Bland, Lucy Dunscomb, Emma Edmiston, Ola Reedy, Retta Webb and Mesdames Nannie Birch, Ella Jenne and Lillie Kinsel.

The funeral hymns were sung by Mrs. Homer Wright, Mrs. Harold Ray and Messrs J. B. Martin and L. A. Thomas. Miss Fern Woodruff presided at the organ. A beautiful solo was sung by Mrs. Bluford Richardson of Decatur.

Interment in Greenhill cemetery.

Sheriff Ashbrook left Thursday morning for Wellington, Kansas to get John Herschberger, a 17 year old boy of the Amish community near Arthur. He is wanted on a paternity charge preferred against him by the father of Amanda Miller, a 15 year old girl. Herschberger is in custody in Kansas awaiting the arrival of the Sheriff.

ACCIDENT SUNDAY AT AUTO RACES WHEN WATTERS CAR OVERTURNS

Owen Watters of Windsor, driving a Charleston car, in the auto races at the old Fair grounds Sunday afternoon sustained serious injuries when his car overturned on a curve and was run into by another car driven by G. D. Allison of Bement.

The young man was at first thought to be fatally injured. A cut on his forehead seemed to have penetrated the brain, but after being cleaned up, it was found to be only to the bone. He also suffered a badly bruised shoulder and other minor injuries.

MYSELF

I have to live with myself, and so I want to be fit for myself to know. I want to be able, as days go by, Always to look myself straight in the eye;
I don't want to stand with the setting sun,
And hate myself for things I have done.
I don't want to keep on a closet shelf A lot of secrets about myself,
And fool myself, as I come and go, Into thinking that nobody else will know
The kind of a man I really am;
I don't want to dress up myself in sham.
I want to go out with my head erect;
I want to deserve all men's respect;
But here in the struggle for fame and pelf
I want to be able to like myself.
I don't want to look at myself and know
That I'm bluster and bluff and empty show.
I can never hide myself from me;
I see what others may never see;
I know what others may never know;
I never can fool myself, and so,
Whatever happens, I want to be Self-respecting and conscience free.
—Edgar A. Guest.

Mrs. Fisher Apologizes To Sallie, -- But --

"Yourself!" was Ellie's frank answer. Mrs. Fisher rose in indignation. "Really, you are impossible. Just what do you mean?" she demanded. "There's no use getting excited about it," Ellie's voice was unusually calm but in her eyes, there was a glint of bitterness, of lost faith in humanity and of a love that had turned to ashes. "Just this," she answered, "you are the sort of woman who allows herself to 'go' mentally after she's had her husband so long that she regards him as a fixture. Oh, there's no excuse for it, especially with you, for you haven't even babies. A man like your husband longs for the companionship of someone whom he can discuss subjects that are lively and entertaining. Oh, I don't mean committee meetings and Refuge homes or starving Russians. I mean he wants scintillating, responsive conversation. He can talk about the Reparation Plan at the office. He'd like to hear what you think of 'Iris Storm' and what Michael Arlen meant when she said she had a 'pagan body and a Chiselhurst mind.' He would like a few clever stories to go along with his caviar—instead of a resume of YOUR activities during the past twenty-four hours." Mrs. Fisher hung on her every word. "Has he discussed our private life with you, Miss Mitchell? That is, at least, inexcusable and an offense against good taste for which you, yourself, can find no pardon." "So the shoe fits, does it?" Ellie flung back at her, "really, I had not meant to be personal. It is the usual thing that happens when men about your husband's age begin to look outside their home for diversion." "You seem to have a fund of information on the subject." "I've been the object for their confessions for several seasons," Ellie admitted, "and yet, knowing all of it, I have not been immune to their flattering attention." "You mean?" "That is my affair, Mrs. Fisher. Personalities are contemptible. I have only dealt in them to give you the benefit of my experience." "Thank you, I think I understand better," she said falteringly, "then you believe I could win Warren's love back if—

"Certainly, if you want it" and she might as well added, "personally, I wouldn't."

"But what must I do about the Inn episode and—"

"I would suggest that you apologize to Sallie."

"No, no," I interrupted, "that is scarcely necessary and besides, it doesn't make any difference," my voice was peculiarly listless. Too many things, I suppose, had happened in swift succession.

"But, if she's innocent and it's not her fault, I AM sorry and" she hesitated, looking down at the toe of her slipper.

"Yes, what is it, Mrs. Fisher?" I asked, sensing trouble.

"I'm sorry I mentioned your name to these friends with whom I am staying. I was so upset, I couldn't help it. Really, I couldn't."

"You mean you told them vile things about my character and connected my name with your husband?" I demanded.

"Why, yes, but I'll tell them I was mistaken."

"Ah! the cruelty of it, the unfairness. I could see them, the eagerness with which older women tear into particles a young girl's reputation. I could hear them exchanging and each time exaggerating the story. "She would tell them that she was mistaken" as if that even lessened the danger. Already, telephones had carried and juicy bit of gossip over the wires. And at the same hour, the Church Circles and Sewing Societies would have it.

And Father and Curtiss Wright. How glad Anne Coddington would be when she heard the ugly story.

What was it Curtiss Wright had told me, "You who run in poppy fields are so drugged with the perfume and color of the petals that it's almost impossible not to get lost in the maze of blowing blossoms."

"Get lost" yes, that was it. For with the story abroad, all the loveliness of life was fleeting. Everywhere, I'd be conscious of sly glances and surreptitious nudges freighted with meaning. One moment of malicious scandal and the whole future of a young girl's life could be changed from sunlight to darkness.

I did not arise when Mrs. Fisher departed. I sat staring out at a tree beside a window. It lifted it's branches and in its top was a bird's nest—that little symbol of peace and safety.

That was the kind of love I had wanted. My little nest. My mate. Children. All the time these had been the things I had desired and yet I had thought that all this reckless romping had been a necessary prelude through which I could pass unscathed and untarnished.

In spite of my continued frivolity, Curtiss had, evidently, not ceased to love me. Why, he had even set me lilies of the valley the morning of my departure for Miami. Bob Chenoweth had said that upon my return he would be tired of Anne and would be waiting for me, the past foolishness forgotten.

But not now. Not with the weight of this sordid scandal resting heavily upon my shoulders.

It was so far from the thing I had wanted. Out there, the soft blue of the twilight, the sweetness of God's good, clean air, the lighter green of the trees, bursting with fresh buds like little buttonieres upon the branches.

Springtime! And for me. What? I could only sit silently without an answer.

POEM BY UNCLE JOHN

The blessing of contentment may be realized, of course, if a feller waxes thankful that the world ain't any worse. But, when a mortal sets around an' twiddles with his thumbs, he ain't the sort o' citizen to pick the ripest plums.

You'll run across the yapper nearly every place you go, who bases his distinction of the stuff he doesn't know—who favors all the ideas that is easiest to dismiss—an' demonstrates, unconsciously, that ignorance is bliss.

And then, we find the feller so averse to honest toil, that he reckons pure contentment ain't allied with midnight oil—we find, on close observance, that he seldom ever sweats, while indulgin' satisfaction over duties he forgets.

Contentment and indifference may travel side by side, and a moderate does of either one may hold us satisfied,—but if a feller wants to be of any earthly use, he'll find life's true contentment with the stuff he can produce!

—T. S. Hall who was taken ill last Friday is reported much better and is able to be up and around some.

"What the average vocabulary needs," said the speaker, "is—'REST', voice from back row.

WHY CAN'T MOULTRIE COUNTY MAKE A SHOWING?

Chicago, June 24.—Southern Illinois, that part of the state lying south of the Vandalia railroad and generally known as "Egypt", has arranged for an elaborate display at the Illinois Products Exposition, to be held in Chicago in October. Seventeen towns and cities are already at work building up exhibits from every county in the district.

More than thirty minerals, a greater number than in any similar area in the United States, are produced in "Egypt" and one of the plans is to exhibit a complete set of these. The district is also Illinois' premier fruit belt and tree products will be shown. Forty-eight exhibitors in Illinois, outside of Chicago, and sixty in Chicago, have reserved spaces ranging from one to twenty-four booths in a block. The Exposition, which will be held in October at the American Exposition Palace, 666 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, under the auspices of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, will be a complete display of Illinois products of all sorts and only Illinois-made or Illinois-grown products will be shown.

THE COURT OF THE PEOPLE IN CONTINUOUS SESSION IN COURT HOUSE

Some people are under the impression that the only two courts we have in our Court House are those of the County and Circuit.
Right here is where people are mistaken. These two may be the only official and legally constituted courts but there is another court which is in continuous session from day to day and where matters of any and all kinds are brought up for discussion.
This court holds its sessions in the outer anteroom of the Sheriff's office and the barristers are men who have never been admitted to the bar. No one is barred from practicing here and presenting his ideas and opinions on any and every subject of interest.
Here are discussed and settled matters of international importance. Politics and religion are argued fluently and wisely and unwisely as the case may be. Family affairs are given a thorough airing and all evidence, hearsay and otherwise is carefully weighed and considered. Nothing is ruled out on objections.
Cases that may come up in the courts on the second and third floors of the Court House are here threshed out long before the culprit is ever brought to the bar of justice and sentence is pronounced.
Under a cloud of tobacco smoke and with cuspidors nearby these men with the judicial temperament present the side of the case that they favor and defend it with oratory most eloquent and fluent.

The only trouble about this court is that it has no way of enforcing its verdicts. Opinions formed here and cases here disposed of are the result of free speech and free thought.

And at that, perhaps the verdict is often more just than that which can be arrived at in the legally constituted courts where hairs are split and attorneys paw the air and argue often about legal technicalities so trivial and insignificant that the layman can do naught but sit and stare open-mouthed and wonder what it is all about. The fact of the matter is that the attorneys must make a showing to earn their money. In the people's court, just described no money changes hands; none of the arguifiers have received retaining fees and none are expected. They argue for the good of their souls and for the benefit of all humanity. The world might profit by all of the wisdom and eloquence here so liberally handed out, were it made available so "all who run may read."

BUSY WITH CULTIVATORS IN FIELDS OF GROWING CORN

Saturday was an ideal day for cultivating the cornfields of this vicinity. After the rains of the preceding days the soil had dried enough to make it easily tillable and the farmers had every available cultivator in the field early Saturday morning and staid on the job until late in the evening.

The belated rains have caused weeds in profusion to sprout and the uncultivated fields are carpeted with a blanket of them. Turning them up to the glare of the sun with a cultivator kills them off before they have an opportunity of again becoming a menace the shade of the corn will keep down most of them.

At the rate the corn is growing it will be but a question of days until it has reached such height as to make cultivation impossible.

Although the season is little later than last year, corn looks as promising or even more so than it did at this time a year ago.

GASOLINE AND BALLOON TIRES BLAMED FOR HEART DISEASE

Springfield, June 24.—Blaming preventable infections and high speed modern life, which features gasoline engines and balloon tires at the expense of feet and legs which are threatened with becoming useless appendages instead of a natural means of locomotion, Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director out in a bulletin issued today that heart disorders have come to be decidedly the most important disease that affects human beings. Burdened with the blame for unhappy conjugal experiences since time out of memory the troubled heart is now charged with nearly 12,000 fatalities annually in Illinois, a number almost twice as great as the mortality caused by any other disease in ordinary years.

"Mortality from heart diseases has increased 145 per cent in Illinois during the last two decades" said Dr. Rawlings. "The number of fatalities jumped from 4491 in 1902 to 11989 in 1923. The rate per 100,000 population climbed from 90 to 176 during the same period. From third place on the list of causes that yielded the greatest mortality at the opening of the century, heart disease has moved up to first place and by virtue of the fact it takes nearly 2 lives to each 1 by its nearest competitors in the "grim reaper" business, it appears to be secure at the top for some time to come.

"Not only is heart disease the most fatal of all human ailments at the present time but it frequently incapacitates its patients over considerable periods. It is estimated that for each death from heart disease there are 17 recognizable causes that are in active need of medical attention. That means that there are about 200,000 cardiac patients in Illinois.

"Heart diseases are caused largely by infections and bad living habits. Rheumatic fever, syphilis, infected tonsils and teeth, scarlet fever, diphtheria and other communicable diseases are all important causes of heart diseases, especially among those under 45. After that age, when indolence and opulence conspire with gas engines and balloon tires to make loafers, bad habits of life cause a lot of cardiac mischief. The muscles of the heart of a loafer, lose their reserve power while legs become appendages until an emergency calls for unusual physical strain that frequently leaves the heart in poor repair and a source of trouble thenceforth until an all too frequent fatal outcome.

EGG PRODUCTION DECREASES; RAINS AND BETTER PASTURES BOOST DAIRY PRODUCTS

Receipts of eggs for the past week at Chicago, New York, Boston and Philadelphia show a decrease. The Chicago market on extra firsts is quoted today at 29½ to 30½ cents, while the New York market is quoted at 32½ to 33½ cents, this being an advance of ½ cent at Chicago and 1 cent in New York. The accumulation of eggs in Chicago is gradually clearing up, and with continued lighter receipts a slightly higher market is forecast.

Quality is an important factor in determining values, and producers can materially increase the value of eggs by gathering daily, keeping in a cool place, and marketing at least three times a week.

There is a good volume of poultry moving and this is likely to increase, especially on fowl, as the egg production falls off.

Holdings of frozen poultry in storage still show considerable excess, as compared to the same time last year. There can be no improvement in the general poultry situation until more of this stock enters trade channels.

During the week under review, butter markets were quoted lower, but buyers have been rather cautious, limiting purchases for storage on account of prices which are ruling higher than a year ago. Some fear has been expressed that the mark would not equal that of a year ago, and a slight decrease was reported by the American Association of Creamery Butter Manufacturers for the week ending June 20. Last week's figures are not yet available, but it is expected the figures will show some increase over the previous week and over the same period last year.

Today, 90 score Standards are quoted at 43 cents in Chicago and Extras at 43½ cents in New York. The Chicago market is unchanged, while the New York Market is ½ cent higher.

Rains have been plentiful throughout the larger dairying area, and pastures are in much better condition than a month ago. It is expected that production, instead of falling off, as was the case last year, will continue to increase or the next two or three weeks. If there is an increase, the tendency will be toward somewhat lower prices during July.

ALFALFA IS "CRANK" ABOUT PLACE TO GROW

Urbana, Ill., June 24.—Every farm, generally speaking, has a place for alfalfa, but that place must measure up to certain requirements before success can be had with the crop, according to Dr. W. L. Burlison, head of the agronomy department of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. Alfalfa is the aristocrat of the legume kingdom and therefore is just a little choicy about its place of growth, he pointed out.

For one thing, alfalfa will scarcely start on wet, poorly drained land or on land that is sour. In fact, lack of lime in the soil has caused thousands to fail in growing alfalfa. If the soil is very sour, two to four tons of limestone an acre will be needed to make the soil fit. As the acidity of the soil decreases, of course, the amount of limestone required will be less. Often times it is best to apply limestone twice a year in advance of the time when alfalfa is to be seeded upon the land.

Adding limestone to the soil sometimes makes it fit for alfalfa and sometimes it does not. If the soil is not well supplied with organic matter, farm yard manure, in addition to limestone, will pay added profits and handsome ones too, according to Dr. Burlison.

There are cases when phosphate will put land in shape for alfalfa. On the soil experiment field which the agricultural college maintains near Joliet, phosphate has given an average increase of one and a fifth tons of alfalfa an acre, while on the field near Sidell the increase for phosphate has been three-fifths of a ton of alfalfa an acre. Here at Urbana, phosphate has given an increase, as an average for 12 years, of one ton of alfalfa an acre. In all of these tests the phosphate was used in addition to organic measures and limestone.

Phosphate applied in addition to limestone, but used without organic manures, gave increased yields of almost three-fourths of a ton an acre on the field near Joliet and more than a half ton an acre on the field near Sidell. At Union Grove, the increase for phosphate used in this way was two-fifths of a ton an acre.

At the regular monthly meeting of District No. 68, I. O. O. F. of Moultrie county, which was held in this city Friday night Leslie Atchison, the tire and battery man of this city, was elected president for the ensuing six months. In a short talk after his election Mr. Atchison promised to make things hum if his fellow lodge members will give him their co-operation.

Waterworks
And Growth

Did you ever stop to think how big New York or Chicago would be if neither of these cities had a public water supply? Possibly you think they have public supplies because they are big. As a matter of fact, they could not have become big if they had not built waterworks when they were still villages.

Water is an essential to commercial growth as it is to plant and animal growth. If our town cannot furnish water to its citizens, its growth is automatically stunted. It is not attractive to industry or to individuals looking for new homes.

The construction of a good public water supply costs little, when you consider what you get—greater comfort—fire protection—added safety from water borne diseases. When public waterworks are available, sewers can be constructed. All these together form an attraction to new inhabitants and result in greater prosperity and increase in property values.

The present city officers are about to undertake the work of obtaining for Sullivan what the best engineers in this section of the state say is an inexhaustible supply of water of the best quality and the installation of a distribution system to make the supply available to all the people of the city. We believe in our officers and their ability, and we believe in water and more water for Sullivan.

FARMERS' MUTUALS TAP NEW FIELD OF SERVICE FROM I. A. A.

A new branch of service to the farmers of Illinois will be instituted shortly by the Illinois Agricultural Association when the newly created "Farmers' Mutual Reinsurance Company" gets under way.

The new company, according to the Moultrie County Farm Bureau, will put the local mutual fire and lightning insurance companies of Illinois in a position to take care of all the insurance needs of the farmer. It is an outgrowth of 20 years of need for it by local mutual insurance companies, and 10 years of discussion. The hazy plan of the past has now taken form in the new company and will be pushed by the Illinois Association of Mutual Insurance Associations, which saw the need and brought the negotiations to a head, and the Illinois Agricultural Association, which will render service in this field upon request of farmers' mutual insurance companies.

"When a local mutual company belongs to the Farmers' Mutual Reinsurance Company," an announcement to the Moultrie County Farm Bureau reads, "it will not be necessary for a farmer-member to go to an old-line company to secure the full amount of insurance he needs. He can keep his business under farmer control, which is cheaper. The reinsurance company merely supplements the activities of the local company and does not enter into competition in any way with it. The activities of the reinsurance company will depend upon the use made of it by the local company, as the agent of the local company will be the agent of the state company."

"It frequently happens that the local company may have excessive losses, thus causing the assessments to be extra heavy. The reinsurance company will protect locals in such occurrences."
