Jury Hears Insurance Case; Judge Sentel Rules on Other Cases

Most of Criminal Cases on Docket Disposed of. Dorothy Langford And Margaret Williams Get Divorces.

The case of John Hines vs. the North American Benefit Corporation a Springfield mutual concern was on trial Wednesday and Thursday before a jury in the circuit court, with Judge Sentel presiding.

Mr. Hines is the beneficiary of a policy for $1000 which his father held in this mutual insurance company, which the company refuses to pay. The elder Mr. Hines had two policies. One of these was paid but the company is withholding payment of the other, alleging that at the time application was made for the policy Mr. Hines was not in as good a state of health as the application said he was. On this basis they charge that the policy is invalid.

Several similar cases are pending in the courts of this and neighboring counties and the case on trial is attracting a great deal of interest. Many Lovington people have been here to testify on both sides of the case.

Mr. Hines is represented by McLaughlin & Billman, C. R. Patterson and Smith & Smith. The company is represented by R. J. Monroe of Decatur and Thompson & Wright of this city.

Other Court Transactions
Upon recommendation of States Attorney Foster the two grand larceny indictments against J. C. Pearce have been nolleed.

The same action was taken relative to the indictments against Homer Hawkins.

Fred Kirkendoll was fined $100 and costs for selling intoxicating liquor. His mother paid the fine and he was discharged.

Tom Booker, indicted for forgery entered a plea of guilty. He was required to give bond to make good the amount involved and then placed on probation with Sheriff Lansden as probation officer.

The case of William G. Davis vs. Osae and Ray Bupp was continued by agreement. It is rumored that a settlement has been reached in this case so no jury trial will be required. Mr. Davis was injured when struck by a car driven by John Bupp, a minor son of the defendants. The company in which insurance was carried has been handling the defendant's part of the case.

The distress for rent case of Mary Ray against Elva Ray was reported settled and was dismissed.

The case of E. W. Davis vs. William Bathe, growing out of a sunflower deal, was continued by agreement.

Dorothy Langford was granted a divorce from Cecil Langford and given permission to resume the maiden name of Dorothy Van Deren.

Margaret Williams who last week filed suit for divorce against Milton Williams of Decatur was granted a divorce and will resume the name of Margaret McCord.

A number of chancery cases were ruled on and referred to the Master in Chancery for taking of evidence and conclusions.

SWIPING MILK BOTTLES RESULTS IN ARRESTS

Eight young high school students of the male variety thought it rather smart to steal milk bottles and drink the contents. They were weaned from that habit this week when the law took them in charge. The milked seekers after knowledge were brought in Police Magistrate Lambrecht's court and each fined $2.00 and costs. The parents of these misguided milk-toppers do not deserve the publicity which a publication of the names would result in, hence no names are being mentioned this time.

—Mrs. W. B. Kilton, daughter Peggy and son Richard who spent several days with relatives in Monticello returned Sunday.

Miss Clarice Womack of Kirksville spent Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Tella Pearce.

Jacob Pea, who on January 20th observed his 96th birthday anniversary died Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. T. Rhodes, south of Kirksville.

JACOB PEA

county, having been born here January 20, 1831 and spent the greater part of his life here.

Up until the time of his death Mr. Pea was active and took an interest in all that transpired.

The picture of him presented herewith was taken on his 93rd birthday anniversary and was a good likeness of the aged pioneer.

Mrs. Pea died many years ago. He leaves six children, Mack Pea of Sullivan, Eric Pea of Lovington, Mrs. W. F. Wright of Decatur, Pete Pea of Hinton, Illinois, Tom Pea of Oklahoma and Mrs. W. T. Rhodes.

Funeral services will be held at the Rhodes home today (Friday) at 1:30 o'clock and will be in charge of Rev. Anderson. Burial will be in the Pea cemetery.

The pall bearers are Loren Rhodes, Glen Rhodes, Thomas Pea, Herschel Wright, Owse Wright and Louis Wright.

FINAL ECHOES OF FAMOUS OPAL ARTHUR MURDER TRIAL IN COURT HERE

One of the most bitterly contested criminal cases on the records of Central Illinois was the Opal Arthur murder trial which held public attention some years ago. Arthur was supposed to have murdered a youth named Martin in Piatt county. The case was tried and he was convicted and sentenced to be hanged.

The attorney for the defendant was Grover C. Hoff, a young attorney, now a member of the Decatur bar and of the Illinois Legislature.

Attorney Hoff put up a bitter fight for his client. He won an appeal for a new trial in the higher courts. In the new trial the attorneys became very bitter. Attorney Hoff accused the attorneys for the defense, among whom was Charles W. Firke of Monticello, of manufacturing some of the evidence which they were using in an effort to hang Arthur.

The trial resulted in conviction and a 14 year sentence for Arthur. Judge Sentel presided at these trials.

In the aftermath of the trial Mr. Firke, feeling that his prestige and dignity as a citizen and lawyer had been damaged by the allegations of Mr. Hoff, brought suit for damages in a large amount.

Attorney Hoff asked for a change of venue and on this change the case came to Moultrie county. McLaughlin & Billman became associated with the attorneys for Mr. Firke.

The case has never gone to trial. A compromise has been worked out whereby the wounded sensibilities of Mr. Firke are given the balm of a retraction on the part of Mr. Hoff.

Mr. Hoff states that he withdraws and retracts any and all statements or articles that might reflect on the integrity of Mr. Firke as a citizen or a lawyer.

He also promises that he will endeavor to give his retraction as wide publicity as was given the statements made during the famous trial.

The compromise statement was placed on file in the circuit court Monday and the suit of Mr. Firke was dismissed, the costs paid and the cause stricken.

—Mr. and Mrs. Orman Newbould, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gardner, Mrs. Cynthia Newbould, Mrs. Emma Williams and son Carl spent Sunday at the home of Miss Cora Athey in Shelbyville.

TORNADO VISITED NORTH END OF COUNTY MONDAY

A severe windstorm swept over the Northern part of this county Monday afternoon and left considerable damage in its wake. The vicinity of Dalton City was hardest hit. Several buildings were damaged, roofs were torn off, barns blown down and the Bushart, New Hope, Bohler and Dalton City school buildings sustained some damage. Some damage was also done in Lovington.

No lives were lost and property loss was the only result of the severe storm the intensity of which lasted but a few minutes.

Fire In Storage Garage Damaged 2 Cars And Hearse

Early Discovery of Flames Prevented Disastrous Fire. Guy Conklin's Car Suffers Biggest Damage.

Fire in the Jenkins Storage garage shortly after midnight Wednesday morning destroyed the body on Guy Conklin's Chevrolet sedan, burned the top of Dr. Don Butler's Ford and inflicted considerable damage on W. R. Robinson's new sedan-type hearse.

The fire started in the Conklin car and it is presumed that a short in the wiring caused it. Mr. Conklin and wife had been in Decatur and turned the car in about 10:30. About midnight Walt Jenkins passed the car while going to the coal bin. Everything seemed to be all right at that time.

Mr. Jenkins went home shortly after this. Blonson Crockett, the night man in charge, smelled smoke and investigated. He found the interior of the Conklin car afire. An alarm was turned in and the chemical hose was used. The flames had by that time gotten out of the Conklin car and the top of Dr. Butler's Ford touring car went up in a blaze. The right rear end and top of the Robinson hearse also started burning, before the flames were brought under control. The fact that the garage is a fireproof building was all that prevented a real big fire. None of the gasoline tanks exploded.

In the garage at the time were about 65 cars, it being the biggest storage in this city.

The chassis of the Conklin car does not seem to be damaged, neither did that of the Butler car suffer any. The bodies, however are a total loss. Mr. Conklin and Mr. Robinson's losses are covered by insurance.

The city fire truck is stationed in the front end of the garage and the apparatus was immediately available for fighting the flames.

Indictments Against Hawkins Dismissed; Plea In Co. Court

Sensational Case Against Former Assistant of County Treasurer Ends in a $100 Fine in County Court.

The indictments against Homer Hawkins, pending in the Circuit Court were stricken by Judge Sentel this week, upon recommendation of States Attorney R. B. Foster.

Mr. Foster acted in conformance with instructions from the Board of Supervisors as embodied in a resolution which the board adopted at a special meeting in March.

Realizing the futility of trying to secure a conviction on the evidence against Hawkins the board instructed the states attorney to dismiss the indictments in the circuit court, provided that Hawkins would plead guilty to an information which was to be filed against him in the county court.

Such information was filed in the county court. It charged young Hawkins with "Defacing Property." He entered a plea of guilty to this charge and was fined $100 and costs, all of which was paid and the defendant was discharged.

The indictments which had been found against Hawkins charged him with embezzlement and with falsifying records in the office of the county treasurer and the county clerk.

The evidence was such, however, that those in charge of the prosecution felt that no jury would bring in a verdict of "guilty". If the case had gone to trial it would have entailed a big expense for the county.

The matters charged against Hawkins were alleged to have been committed while he was a deputy county treasurer in the office of his father. There was no shortage in the county treasurer's accounts.

SALVE AND THE FARMER

The salve spreaders are on the job. From ocean to ocean and from the Gulf of Mexico to Canada the Coolidge propaganda army is smearing its salve into the raw wound which resulted among the tillers of the soil when Calvin Coolidge vetoed the farm relief bill.

Publications of national circulation such as the Saturday Evening Post, are exerting their very best efforts to make of Calvin a hero and trying to make the farmers look like silly boys who asked for something that was bad for them. The president in his superior wisdom turned down the request.

The job now is to make the farmers like the licking that they got and reconcile them to a state of mind where they will not make that threatened assault on the high protective tariff, the pet hobby of the Republican party, the cause of the high cost of living and the leaven in our industrial structure that brings to the surface those leeches on America's economic conditions—the modern millionaire.

If reports are true, the farmers are inclined to believe all the bunk that is being handed them and seem to be glad that they were not given the legislation asked for. Although Papa Calvin gave them a good spanking they still love papa and what he stands for.

Every wide awake farmer knows that the Coolidge propaganda is bunk and to think that he will be gullible enough and foolish enough to fall for the salving that is now going on, underestimates his intelligence.

The McNary-Haugen bill may not have been perfect. It would have been but a step toward a solution of the problems of the American farmers. President Coolidge effectually blocked the way. He represents that class that feels—the farmer be damned, what we want is cheap food.

That attitude will prevail while Calvin Coolidge and his associates are in charge of affairs at Washington.

Much ado is made about Coolidge economy. That economy does not affect the farmer and small business man. You've not seen any reduction in your taxes or in your cost of living. The reduction strikes in higher up, among the fellows who can afford to pay.

The American people may be divided into two classes—those who pay an income tax and those who do not. Those who pay an income tax are benefitted by Coolidge's program of tax reduction. Those who labor and struggle without ever accumulating enough to pay an income tax on, are given no relief. Their tax burdens remain as heavy and even more is piled on their load. They constitute the bulk of the consuming class upon which the tariff protected big-moneyed interests are given the right to prey.

Don't take our word for it. Study it out for yourself. Has the Coolidge economy in any way, shape or form been a benefit to you? Even the term economy is plain propaganda bunk for statistic show that the cost of government is rising from year to year.

And the farmer who still is a Coolidge man—there may be some of that kind—until proven, we absolutely refuse to believe that the intelligence of the American farmer is so low, even though the big metropolitan newspapers and the big-moneyed national magazines would have the people believe that the farmers are ready to lick Calvin's boots and love him up.

BRISBANE

WILL MAKE U. S. LEARN. WE'RE GETTING MORAL. BUYING FORGIVENESS. CHINA'S AWAKENING.

For one thing we should be grateful. Our cousins in Europe will teach us to fly, whether we want to learn or not. The British expect to send to New York next fall an airship "as big as the Mauritania," with room for 100 passengers. That will be one good lesson.

The French Academy of Sciences, a most serious body, says that Margoullis, a French engineer, has perfected a helicopter flying machine. Such a machine, enabling you to fly and rise directly from the ground, would give the inventor wealth unlimited and would be the best invention since the start of the Wright Brothers. With a helicopter in good order you could start from the roof of your apartment house or office building, go where you like, and land on any other roof or office building.

The jazz period in dances and in morals is passing in Christendom and pagan lands. Turkey is suppressing immoral dances; Japan is dealing seriously with the social evil; "all governments," says a report, "are occupying themselves with the task of checking immorality."

That is gratifying, important news, and then more important is news that tells of the discovery by British scientists of a new vitamin, 1,000 times more powerful than any known hitherto. It will cure rickets, and, most interesting, it seems to have the effect of ultra-violet light.

The new health food is called "cholesterol" and contains what is practically the pure vitamin D, a substance called ergosterol. It can be made cheaply, and an ounce of it would be enough to keep you healthy from birth to death.

Health news and educational news are the really important kinds of news. "Give LIGHT and the people will find their own way," as Dante said. Give HEALTH and they will have energy to work well. Morals change and return to normal with time. Health and knowledge are what count.

Some General Electric genius has invented a searchlight gun that will write on clouds, buildings, banks of smoke five miles away. This opens up a marvelous advertising field. But the Government should protect it, and the heavens should continue to declare the glory of God, and the firmament to show forth His handiwork. They should not be used to declare the glory of sunders, tooth pastes or automobiles.

An old man in Illinois sends one dollar to a woman in Indiana, saying, "I stole half a watermelon from your father sixty years ago, when I was thirteen. I am on my way to heaven and do not want that melon standing in my way. Here is the money; forgive and forget."

The question is, can you buy forgiveness from heaven at the last minute, when "on your way"? A Mohammedan writes that his co-religionists do not pray for heaven. They say in their prayers to Allah. "We pray to you because we know you are great and good, deserving praise. We ask nothing in return." That seems more dignified than everlasting begging, and more tactful.

The Middle West fights the corn borer with a machine that squirts blazing oil over the fields. Huge stubble pulverizers will help the work. Blazing oil will dispose of corn borers, and of part of our surplus oil at the same time.

General Mah, formerly in the Government of Canton, tells reporters that "China will be a true democracy," not a Soviet Government.

Everybody hopes that China, exploited, despoiled and bullied by European nations, will succeed in self-government as a gigantic nation, not break into small pieces fighting each other.

But it is all guesswork. It is hard for a jellyfish to change into a vertebrate over night.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Last Sunday the attendance was such at the Sunday school, that there was some talk of extending our quarters, however there was room for a few more in the little church on the corner of Jackson and Main.

Next Sunday you recall is Palm Sunday. We would like to have one and all to join with us in lifting our Hosannahs to the Son of David. Just a little time spent in worship should help us to enjoy the day and the good things of life a little better. Besides we owe just a little to the other fellow, and if we do not need such service for our own uplift, the other fellow may, for there are few of us who do not. It would be a cold and dreary world, if we all thought only of self. The Christ, whom we seek to worship, saves to serve, even as He served and gave his life, that we might know life, and have it abundantly.

BRETHREN ASSEMBLY

A. J. Burville, Pastor

Sunday school at 9:00. Bible study and communion at 11:00 a. m.

Christian Endeavor at 6:00 p. m. Subject, "From Sin to Glory". With erring heart, I went astray in paths of sin and wandered wide, till mercy met me in the way and softly whispered, "Jesus Died." Offended at this sudden sound, indignantly I turned aside; and still the voice was heart around, and still it whispered, "Jesus Died." Then justice crossed my path, and stood erect and stern, to quell my pride. His glittering sword was bathed in blood; Ah, well for me that "Jesus died." "Come forth, thou traitor to thy God" his voice in thunderous accents cried. Oppressed, I sank upon the sod, and faintly answered, "Jesus died." Even as I faltered forth the word, He strove his blushing face to hide and sheathed, in haste his blood-stained sword. And then I shouted "Jesus died." For God so loved the world that he gave His only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life. Prayer meeting on Tuesday night. Bible class on Thursday night.

IN AN AUTOMOBILE

My! What a thrill and pleasure it is to drive a car. It takes you away from your thoughts and troubles and you forget everything. You enjoy every minute of a ride, gliding over the smooth pavements. Then, too, this gives you a greater chance with the young ladies. Sometimes it takes an extra article, such as a box of candy, but usually a car will do the work. Even an old hack with an engine, seat, and four wheels will do.

But we must not allow our minds to deal only with fun and pleasure. An automobile is a great asset to business men. They use it in their business. Then, also moving companies use large trucks which are swift and convenient.

Then, we must not leave out the disgusting and angry moods a car can bring us. An automobile does not last forever, especially its tires. The only reason tires cause you trouble is that they have such sticky treads and such taking ways. They pick up tacks, nails, wire and glass just as a professional crook would pick up money or jewelry. But, of course, you cannot stop this for there is no law against it.

Then, the engine has such an appetite. You have to feed it oil and gas just as you have to feed a child. It is a regular pig when it eats. Then, like a man, it must have its warming, stimulating drink of alcohol in the winter or it will freeze up and refuse to run.

—William Heacock.

She and the rocks reeled together. That was my eyes, giddy with rush of blood, surging and hot.

"Never, never, never!" I was shouting.

"You shan't go, I shan't go. But wherever we go we'll go together. We'll stand them off. Then if they can take us, let 'em."

"Listen," she chided, her hand grasping my sleeve. "They would take me anyway—don't you see? After they had killed you. It would be the worse for both of us. No, Mr. Beeson, I have closed a good bargain for both of us. He is impatient. The money—you will need the money, and I shall not. Please turn your back and I'll get at my belt."

The chief was advancing accompanied by one warrior.

I could not deliver her tender body over to that painted swaggerer—any more than I could have delivered it over to Daniel himself.

At last I knew, I knew! History had written me a fool, but it should not write me a dastard.

We were together, and together we should always be, come weal or woe, life or death.

I leaped before her, answered the hail of the pausing chief.

"No," I shouted. "You go to hell!"

He understood. The phrase might have been familiar English to him.

I saw him stiffen in his saddle; he called loudly, and raised his rifle, threatening; with a gasp—a choked "Good-bye"—she darted by me, running on for the open and for him. In a stark blinding rage I leveled revolver and pulled trigger. The chief uttered a terrible cry, his rifle was tossed high, he bowed, swayed downward, his comrade grabbed him, and they were racing back closely side by side and she was running back to me and the warriors were shrieking and brandishing their weapons and bullets spattered the rocks—all this while yet my hand shook to the recoil of the revolver and the smoke was still wafting from the poised muzzle.

What had I done? But done it was.

She arrived breathless, distraught, instantly to drag me down beside her, from where I stood stupidly defiant.

"Keep out of sight," she panted. And—"Oh, why did you do it? Why did you? I think you killed him—they'll never forgive. They'll call it treachery! You've lost, lost!"

"But he shan't have you," I declared. "Let them kill me if they can. Till then you're mine. Mine! Don't you understand? I want you."

A burst of savage hoots renewed interrupted. "They're coming!" She knelt up, to peer; I peered. The Indians had deployed, leaving the chief lying upon the ground, their fierce countenances glaring at our asylum.

A glory glowed in her haggard face and shone from her brimming eyes.

"We will fight, we will fight!" she chanted. "Oh, my man! Had you kissed me last night we would have known this longer. We have so little time." She turned from my lips.

"Not now. They're coming. Fight first; and at the end, then kiss me, please, and we'll go together."

Furious yells vibrated among our rocks. The Sioux all were in motion, except the prostrate chief.

Straight onward they charged, at headlong gallop, to ride over us. It was enough to cow, but she spoke steadily.

"You must fire," she said. "Hurry! Fire once, maybe twice, to split them."

So I rose farther on my knees and fired once—and again.

It was a miracle. All swooped to right and to left as if the bullets had cleaved them apart in the center, pelting in bullet and nearly spent arrow.

She forced me down.

"Low, low," she warned. "You have fifteen shots left, for them; then one for me, one for you. You understand?"

"I understand," I replied. "And if I'm disabled—"

She answered quietly.

"It will be the same. One for you, one for me!"

A double circle had been formed, to move in two directions, scudding ring reversed within scudding ring, the bowmen outermost. Around and round and round they galloped yelling, gibing, taunting, shooting so malignantly that the air was in a constant hum and swish. The lead whined and smacked, the shafts streaked and clattered—

"You must stop some of those fiends from sneaking closer," she counseled. "See? They're trying us out."

I had been desperately saving the ammunition, to eke out this hour of mine with her. Every note from the revolver summoned the end a little nearer. But we had our game to play; and after all, the end was certain. So when the next painted ruffian bore down, I guessed shrewdly, arose and let him have it.

She cried out, clapping her hands. "Good! Good!"

The pony was sprawling and kicking; the rider had hurtled free, and went jumping and dodging like a jack-rabbit.

Now they all charged recklessly from the four sides; I had to stand and fire, right, left, before behind, emptying the gun once more ere they scattered and fled.

Upon My Lady's shoulder a challenging oriflamme of scarlet.

"You're hurt!" I blurted, aghast.

"Not much. A scratch. How many left. Nine." She had been counting. "Seven for them."

We looked one upon the other, and smiled. We faced a future together, at least; we were in accord.

The Sioux retired, mainly to sit dismounted in close circle, for a confab.

The Sioux had counseled. We waited tensely and watchful.

Then without even a premonitory shout a pony bolted for us. He bore two riders. They charged straight in, and suddenly the rear rider dropped to the ground, bounded briefly and dived headlong, worming into a little hollow of the sand.

He lay half concealed; the pony had wheeled to a shrill jubilant chorus; his remaining rider lashed him in retreat leaving the first digging lustily with hand and knife.

That was the system: an approach by rushes. "We mustn't permit it," she breathed. "We must rout him out. Can you reach him?"

The tawny figure, prone upon the tawny sand, was just visible, lean and snakish, slightly oscillating as it worked. And I took careful aim, and fired, and saw the spurt from the bullet.

"A little lower—" she pleaded. And I fired again.

She cried out joyfully. The snake had flopped from its hollow, plunged at full length aside; had started to crawl, writhing. A recruit took his place into the hollow; and the courier snatched the snake from the ground. The fellow in the foreground burrowed cleverly. I fired twice—we could not see that I had even inconvenienced him.

Suddenly, as I craned, the fellow fired again; he had discovered a niche in our rampart, for the ball fanned my cheek with the wings of a vicious wasp. On the instant I replied, snapping quick answer.

"I don't think you hit him," she said. "Let me try. I'll hold on the spot—he'll come up in the same place, head and shoulders. You'll have to tempt him."

And I edged farther, and farther, as if seeking for a mark, but with all my flesh a-prickle and my breath fast.

Abruptly it came—the snake's strike, stinging my face with the spatter of sandstone and hot lead; at the moment her Colt's bellowed into my ears.

"I got him!"

"Thank God," I rejoiced. She had sunk back wearily.

"That is the last."

"Won't they try again, you think?"

"The last spare shot, I mean. We have only our two left. We must save those."

KENNETH WEGER GETS
DIVORCE DECREE CORRECTION

Kenneth Weger a former Sullivan resident appeared in the Circuit Court this week to secure correction of date as pertains to his decree of divorce.

He is a World War pensioner and through dealings with the Pension Department was informed that according to a copy of a decree forwarded them, his divorce had not been granted until September 1923, instead of September 1921.

In Tuesday's court action the decree was dated 1921, it being established that that was the date of granting.

We are living in the dispensation of Christian crosses, and our Lord says to us, Matt. 10:38 "And he that taketh not his cross, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me." You will remember the story told in the scripture of how Jesus bore his own cross, and the weight of it was too much for his already over-taxed strength, and we are told, that three times, as he ascended the hill, he fell under the weight of the cross the world had put on him. At the crucial hour, when it seemed that His life would be crushed by the weight of the cross the world had thrust on Him there came one Simon, a Cyrenian, who took his cross and bore it the rest of the way to Calvary. Simon is a beautiful type of the Christ, who through this experience learned the better how to come to us, when we fall under the weight of the cross the world has thrust on us.

Don't be fooled on house paint!

"Cheap" paint isn't cheap at all!

When you are tempted by wonderful claims, elaborate guaranties and a very low price to buy "cheap" paint, remember this:

"Cheap" paint sells at a low price because it is low in quality—poor stuff. That's the only reason a manufacturer can afford to sell at a low price.

By the gallon it costs you less. But don't let that fool you. It will cost you many times more than good old SWP on the wall—by the job and by the year—because it covers only about half the area per gallon—and lasts only about half as long.

Come in and let us tell you the truth about the high cost of "cheap" paint—why SWP House Paint is the least expensive.

GOOD HOUSE PAINT WINS ENERGETIC CHAMPION

Local Paint Merchant says— Cheap Paint Isn't Cheap at All

If you have a house that hasn't had a new "make-up" for a long time, and if you want to get some real, sound, and, at the same time, unique advice on the best and most economical house paint to use, there is a paint dealer in this town who is waiting to greet you.

One look at this merchant's store and display window will convince you that he is loaded with facts on the way to save money and get the best results on house paint.

"For years," this dealer says, "people have been hoodwinked by 'cheap' paint. Thousands of them have been led to believe that a 'low priced' paint can be just as good as a high grade paint and at the same time sell at a low price."

"As a matter of fact," this dealer points out, "cheap paint is usually the costliest paint a man can put on his house."

"Being low in price it must be correspondingly low in quality or quantity of materials used. That is the only way a paint can be made to sell at a low price—unless some one is selling paint at a loss, which isn't reasonable."

"Being deficient in materials, this 'cheap' paint is also deficient in hiding and covering power and in durability. It takes nearly twice as many gallons of inferior paint to cover the surface. Then where a high grade paint will look good for four or five years, the inferior paint usually has given up the ghost in one and a half or two years. This means frequent re-painting, which is costly."

"The good paint costs no more in the beginning even at a higher rate per gallon because fewer gallons are needed. It lasts several years longer and reduces re-painting expense—which means more saving. That is why a good paint actually costs less per job—less per square foot—less per year than even the cheapest paint because the cheaper it gets the more is needed and the shorter its life."

"If you could buy one house paint at 25c a gallon and another house paint at $4.00 per gallon, you would make a big saving by using the 'four-dollar-paint.' And that does not mean eventually but NOW!"

"So, you see, 'low-price-per-gallon' is a snare and a delusion. It misleads you shamefully. It mesmerizes you so you think you are saving money—and all the time it is laughing up its sleeve at you."

"It is all right for a rich man to use 'cheap' paint. He can afford to buy many extra gallons. He can afford to re-paint every year or so and pay the cost of having the old paint burnt or scraped off every time."

"But for the average man, who wants to make every dollar count, the cheapest paint by far is the best paint money can buy."

Not being an expert on the paint question, the writer is not prepared to argue this question either pro or con. But if you are interested you can get all the facts and a very interesting exposition in the store of O. J. Gauger & Co.

LIBRARY NOTES

The list of books following will be on the shelf in a few days. They were donated by Mrs. Wm. Davis:

Adventure and Romance of Northern Mexico—Capt. M. Reed.

Francis Kanes Fortune—Mrs. L. T. Mead.

Good Luck—Mrs. L. T. Mead.

Norse Stories—H. W. Mabie.

Tom Brown's School days—Thomas Hughes.

An Old Fashioned Boy—Martha Finley.

The Editorial page of the Pictorial Review has this to say: "According to the latest figures available there are over four million citizens in the United States who are totally illiterate. Think of it," and that illiteracy costs this country $825,000,000 annually.

The Review of Reviews for April has an article on the cost of crime. The figures are startling. It says: "criminal activities costs this country $13,000,000,000 a year."

Every one should read these two articles. We all know that crime and illiteracy go hand in hand. How many in the home town of school age are not there?

Chicken fanciers should read the April Geographic before the car arrives.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NEEDS MORE FUNDS IN ORDER TO FUNCTION EFFICIENTLY

(By I. J. Martin)

For several years past the total assessment in the city has been reduced each succeeding year, thus reducing the annual revenue of the public library. The library is not like the public schools and some other taxing units. It cannot raise the rate of taxation to replenish loss from reduced assessments. The library tax is limited by law to eighteen cents on each one hundred dollars of assessed value.

When the 18 cent rate was first established the total assessed values in the city enabled the collection of about $1850 for library purposes. At that time the expense of maintaining the library was less than now and a balance of several hundred dollars was available each year to buy new books. But now increased expense and reduced revenue have eliminated this balance.

The total library tax extended for the present year is only $1525 and the cost of extension and collection and allowance for forfeitures and failure to collect will probably reduce the library revenue to about $1450. There will probably be $35 collected for membership cards and fines by the librarian making a total revenue of about $1485.

The estimated expense, $720 for librarians salary; $300 for rent; $100 for fuel; $70 for light and water; $60 for insurance; $90 for periodicals; $25 for janitor service; $60 for incidentals such as building, repairs, postage, express, printing and other supplies. This very close and accurate estimate makes a total expenditure of about $1430 which leaves only a little more than fifty dollars for books.

In the past years the available book fund was used for the most part in buying childrens books and the smaller revenue this year will probably all be used in that way.

It is found upon investigation that in all of the smaller cities in Illinois the library fund has suffered a similar depletion for the same reason—a shrinking of assessed values.

Many other libraries are trying to meet the difficulty in some way. In some, book clubs or reading clubs are organized to buy books for circulation among the members of the club. As soon as all the members of the club who care to read a book have done so, the book is donated to the library. The librarian is secretary of the club and superintends the circulation of the book among the members in the same way that the library itself is managed.

Another plan is to purchase a list of popular books and loan them at a small rental—say 10 cents per volume—until the books are paid for in rentals when they are placed in free circulation. This plan can be started by a book club who in that case would select the books or at least have the right of approval or it could be started in the first instance from the library fund. In either case the plan would make it self-sustaining as new books would be purchased with the rental receipts.

SPRING BUILDING GETS UNDER WAY; SEVERAL NEW FARM BUILDINGS

Contractor C. E. Hankley last week poured the concrete for the basement and foundation of the new house being erected by contractor D. D. Kingrey at the Guy Bolin place northeast of this city.

Hagerman & Harshman has the contract for the erection of a new farm residence on the George Monroe farm where Clarence Elder lives. The old residence was destroyed by fire some weeks ago.

Work has been begun on the remodeling of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dolan on Jefferson street into a modern bungalow. Mr. Kingrey also has this contract.

The work on the new armory is progressing rapidly.

BASKETBALL BANQUET FOR THE GRADE SQUAD HELD FRIDAY NIGHT

The basketball banquet given Friday night at the M. E. church dining room in honor of the basketball squad of the grade schools was a very pleasant affair.

J. L. McLaughlin, president of the school board presided as toastmaster. Miss Gertrude McClure played the march while all took their places at the tables. Rev. D. A. MacLeod offered grace after which the banquet was served by the Ladies Aid.

Following the banquet, Rev. Robertson spoke on "The Community and Sport Life". The response was made by Donald Pearson, captain of this year's winning team.

Short talks were then made by J. J. Gauger, president of the Community club; C. L. Brewer, superintendent of the grade schools and Ed C. Brandenburg.

The response to these talks was given by Earl Freemon, captain-elect for next season.

The main address of the evening was that of Coach Clark Dennis of the S. T. H. S. who spoke on "Basketball and School Life."

The last speaker on the program was Coach Kenneth Roney who told of developing the winning team and of the encouragement and assistance given by the community and all others interested in clean athletics.

President McLaughlin then called on the cheer leaders, Alberta Harsh and Helen Gauger and they led those assembled in a rousing cheer as the closing part of a good program.

WINE MERCHANT AND HIS SELLER RUN AFOUL THE LAW, BOTH PAY HEAVY FINES

Bill Gritmacher, a local railroad man knows how to make good wine. Since Volstead days most everybody does. Bill, looking around him saw the condition of many friends who looked as if they could be considerably pepped up with a stimulant.

Bill's wine was in his cellar. He had more than he needed. To dispose of the product he needed a seller. To sell the wine he had in his cellar, Bill engaged Freddy Kirkendoll as seller. The seller started selling the wine out of Bill's cellar.

A number of youths became intoxicated and the parents blamed the condition on Kirkendoll, the seller for the contents of Bill's cellar.

Fred was indicted by the grand jury. Bill was hailed into Police Magistrate Lambrecht's court and there fined $50 and costs. He said he gave the money back to the boys and that he was not in the bootlegging business. When Kirkendoll's case came up in court Monday he was fined $100 and costs which his mother paid.

And so another flourishing industry was nipped in the bud and Bill will henceforth stick to his railroad while Mr. Kirkendoll will seek other means of employment

SCHOOL DISTRIBUTIVE FUND RECEIVED; OTHER INTERESTING SCHOOL NOTES

County Superintendent, Mrs. Nettie L. Roughton this week received from the state treasurer the sum of $18,304 as Moultrie county's share of the state distributive fund. This fund is now being apportioned among the schools of the county. The county budget calls for $23,524.07, and will be over $5,000 short according to the amount received.

Superintendent Blair has called a meeting of county superintendents to meet in Springfield May 2-3 and talk over this and other revenue matters as they pertain to the school funds.

Mrs. Roughton has two more trips to make in finishing the annual school visitation. During the past week she visited Rosedale, Lincoln, McDonald, Younger, Center in Marrowbone, Mt. Pleasant, West Hudson, Pulltigh, Forest View and Hewitt. The Hewitt school is planning a big community dinner on the day of its closing May 6th. There is some talk of not having school at Pulltigh, Northwest of this city, next season due to the fact that only two pupils are enrolled there. Miss Valeet Car-nine is teacher.

Superintendent Patterson of the Bethany Township High school brought a number of his pupils to this city Wednesday to attend the local circuit court, as a lesson in civics.

PLENTY OF SERENADES FOR MR. AND MRS. DOLAN

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dolan, nee Nettie Bristow, who were married in Vandalia on Wednesday of last week returned to their home in this city Friday.

Since their return their friends have gotten busy to help celebrate the happy event. On Tuesday night the high school students serenaded them and Mr. Dolan stood the treats at an uptown refreshment parlor.

On Wednesday night the Loyal Daughters Class of the Christian church tendered the newlyweds a serenade and gave them a truck ride around the uptown, accompanied by a din made by almost every imaginable noise-making device.
