CHARLES HART KILLED BY BULL AT MASON HOME

Vicious Animal Crushed Life Out of Home Farmer Wednesday Afternoon. Funeral Services This Morning. Remains to be Shipped to Aurora for Burial.

This entire community was horrified Wednesday afternoon when the report reached here that Charles Hart had been killed by the big Holstein bull at the Masonic Home farm.

Mr. Hart was the Home farmer and with his family resided in the two-story farm dwelling.

He had the big bull, which weighed about 2300 pounds, tethered out to graze in the morning. He was fastened to a stake by a chain which was attached to a ring in his nose.

After the dinner hour he went out to get the bull to put him in his pen. He led him into the pen by the chain. The animal had shown a grumbling disposition all morning but, although he had at various times shown a mean streak, he was not regarded as vicious.

Mr. Hart led him into the pen and the presumption is that he then turned to close the gate before taking the chain out of the ring. The bull must have turned the same time Mr. Hart did and lunged at him catching him between his burly head and the gate post. Mr. Hart went down and the bull proceeded to crush him. Mrs. Hart on the porch nearby saw the tragedy and started for the scene. At the same time some of the farm hands heard the commotion and rushed to Mr. Hart's assistance.

Billy Crist was the first to reach him and taking hold of the chain jerked the bull away. Mr. Hart was holding to the bull-ring with both hands. He was still conscious and told Crist "Be careful Billy, or he'll hurt you." By this time Logan Bathe and Cline Sipes had also arrived and the wounded man was removed to the hospital where he died about twenty minutes after the attack. It was found that all his ribs on the left side had been crushed and the jagged ends had penetrated the lungs. His face also showed bruises.

The bull was fastened to a post and was shot by Walter Jenkins. It took seven bullets to kill the brute. A scavenger was notified to call and remove the carcass of the murderer. Charley Hart came to this community with his family a few years ago and by his cheery disposition and solid worth as a man and a citizen won the love and respect of all who had the pleasure of knowing him and his estimable family. He was an exceptionally good farmer, attending strictly to business, and fair and square with all.

The tragedy leaves a grief stricken wife and three daughters to mourn the loss of the husband and father. The daughters are, Esther, wife of Lance McGough, of Glen Ellyn, Illinois; Ruhama, a teacher in the North side school of this city and Marie at home. Mrs. Hart before their marriage was Bessie May Nicholson.

He also leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hart of Olney, Illinois and two brothers and two sisters.

He was born March 18, 1877 in Richland County, Illinois and at the time of his untimely demise was 50 years, 1 month and 2 days old.

The coroner's inquest was held Thursday morning. Funeral services will be held this (Friday) morning at the Masonic Home chapel at 11 o'clock and will be in charge of Rev. G. M. Anderson and under the auspices of the Masons.

The remains will then be shipped to Sugar Grove near Aurora for interment.

One place where Charley Hart will be sadly missed is in the Men's class of the Christian church Sunday school. He first joined church at Prairie Hall in 1902 and after coming to Sullivan he and his family placed their membership with the local church. He was faithful in attendance at Sunday school and church and at the time of his death was a deacon and a member of the church's official board.

The neighbors too will miss Charlie Hart. He was a true neighbor and friend in all that those words signify. There never was a time when called upon but what he responded to the call for neighborly service and aid.

Cheerfully and willingly, always doing the very best he knew how in his daily tasks and in his contact with his fellow men, Charley Hart in a few short years established himself in the esteem and affection of this community in such a way that many hearts are touched with grief at the sudden call which sent him home to the arms of his Maker.

—Mrs. George Elliott was on the list this week.

Patrons Day Drew Crowd to STHS Fri; Results of Contests

Exhibits of Rural Schools and of the STHS Proved Interesting; Good Play Presented by the High School Students.

Patrons Day at the Sullivan Township High school drew its usually big crowd Friday. It is estimated that more than 500 people were in attendance to see the play "At the Sign of the Pewter Jug."

The rural schools which were entered in the contests were: Newcastle, Nazworthy, Dunn, Purvis, Minor, Union, Morgan, East Hudson and Reedy.

Six rural schools had entered room exhibits. In addition to these exhibits various departments of the high school had prepared exhibits of work done. Among these the more important were in Manual training, Home Economics, English, Latin and Commercial departments.

The competitive activities were scored by points.

Points earned by the three highest schools are:

Purvis 435 points—First.
East Hudson 330 points—Second.
Reedy, 160 points—Third.

A brief summary of events is as follows:

Boys Declamation—Howard Marshall, E. Hudson, first; Glenn Floyd, Nazworthy, second; Harmon Baggett, Purvis, third.

Girls Declamation—Hazel Gunter of Dunn and Adeline Baggett of Purvis tied for first; Gynith Mayberry, Nazworthy, Second; Merle Herendeen E. Hudson, third.

Room Exhibits—Purvis, Miss Martin teacher, first; Reedy, Miss Banks, Mrs. Frederick, teachers, second; E. Hudson, Miss Keen, teacher, third.

BETTER LAWN CONTEST CREATING MUCH INTEREST; STILL TIME TO ENTER

If you have not yet entered your lawn in the "better lawns" contest you can still do so, by registering at the Mammoth Shoe & Clo. store.

That store is offering cash prizes monthly and the Friends in Council club is in charge of the contest, selection of judges, etc.

A plea is again made that folks discontinue the practice of "pathing" across anybody's lawn just to save a few steps. Nothing defaces a lawn more than does this practice.

FOURTH BI-MONTHLY

The rural schools of the county are having their fourth bi-monthly examinations today (Friday.)

BRING THE CHILDREN WHO START SCHOOL IN FALL TO EXAMINATION

The Parent-Teachers Association and Friends in Council Club have arranged for an examination of children of pre-school age (those who will start school in the Fall). This examination will be held at the South Side School building on Wednesday, April 27th, beginning at 2 o'clock p. m.

All doctors and dentists in the city will co-operate in the task of examining the children to see whether they require any medical or dental attention.

Many children start to school handicapped by ill-health or some minor physical defect which will make them poor scholars. By the pre-school examination and proper care such handicaps may be removed.

One or both of the parents are requested to attend with the children.

This is a free clinic, designed to do good and people are urged to bring their children.

Patterson Ticket Victorious Tuesday In City Election

Friends of Vern Hawbaker Stage Determined Fight to Elect Him Over Mayor Patterson in "Stick-ers" Campaign.

Sullivan's city election Tuesday developed some interest when it became known that friends of Vern Hawbaker were making an effort to elect him mayor on the People's ticket.

A number of workers in each ward were handling out stickers with Mr. Hawbaker's name on them to the voters as they went to the polls. In the 2nd ward a good showing was made, 82 such stickers being used. All but 19 of these ballots were not counted as the voters neglected to put a cross in front of the name after affixing the sticker on the ballot. There is a question as to the validity of a sticker for such use, as the law seems to only permit use of stickers in a primary election and then only for the office of precinct committeeman.

In the first ward 33 votes of this kind were cast for Hawbaker and only 5 were legal; in the third ward 37 were cast, two of which conformed to law.

The total results for the day showed that Mayor Patterson had secured 300 votes. One hundred fifty-two voters showed a preference for Mr. Hawbaker but of this number only 26 voted according to law.

The vote by wards was as follows:

For Mayor	First	Second	Third
C. R. Patterson	108	96	96
Vern Hawbaker	5	19	2
Spoiled stickers	28	63	35
For City Clerk:
John Eden Martin	108	105	99

For Aldermen:

TAXES COMING IN SLOWLY

County Treasurer Carnine reports that tax collection is very slow and the bulk of taxes are still to be paid. After May 1st penalty and advertising charges will be added. Shortage of funds is very apparent among land owners as some come in and pay taxes on one tract at a time, instead of paying on all land they own at the same time.

Omer Lowe Chairman Of Supervisors; New Committees Named

Sullivan Man Only Candidate Before Board; Shelby Road Committee Here; Committee Appointment Causes Protest.

Omer E. Lowe, supervisor of Sullivan township will head the county board of supervisors for the coming year. He was elected chairman at Saturday's meeting.

The board was scheduled to meet at 10 o'clock, but at that time only a few members were in the court house. The morning was put in lining up support for the candidates for chairman. An effort was made to secure pledges for O. C. Hoskins, the Marrowbone supervisor. Chairman F. F. Fleming of Lowe township was sponsoring that move.

Mr. Lowe's support stood firm, however, and when the board met he had assurance of enough votes to elect him.

When the minutes of the March meeting had been read and approved Chairman Fleming called for nominations for chairman. Supervisor Foster of Lovington nominated Mr. Lowe. No other nomination was made and supervisor Mayes of Dora township moved that the nominations be closed. On motion of supervisor Kellar the chairman was instructed to cast the entire vote for Mr. Lowe and this was done, electing him by acclamation.

RED CROSS NEEDS FUNDS TO CARE FOR FLOOD SUFFERERS

A situation without a parallel exists in the Mississippi Valley where thousands of families have been driven from their homes by the floods which are now inundating millions of acres of bottom lands.

The plight of the refugees is pitiful. Many are living in tents and box cars and they are looking to the Red Cross for food and temporary shelter.

The St. Louis headquarters of the American Red Cross is making an urgent appeal for funds. Financial assistance is absolutely necessary if great suffering is to be prevented.

Moultrie county people are generous. They are asked to open their purses and donate liberally. Help those who need our help. We know not when we too may need such assistance.

John A. Webb at the Sullivan Merchants & Farmers State Bank is treasurer of the Moultrie County Chapter. Send all your donations to him.

The laborer knows what his
be. The manufacturer knows manufactured goods will sell for. The farmer, contending with wind and weather and other unforeseen difficulties, does not know what he will get for the food he manufacture. He may raise a crop and then again he may not. He takes what the other fellow is ready to give him for what he does raise.

Labor has by its influence caused laws to be passed restricting immigration. Industry has by a tariff wall shut out competition. Both labor and industry, (by industry we mean the manufacturers) have secured these special privileges from the government. These privileges are costly, for the consuming public (including the farmers) pay the advanced prices which protection enables the protected to charge.

The Democratic party is now and always has been opposed to a high protective tariff policy. It is special and unfair privilege. It is what breeds our millionaires. The McNary-Haugen bill was framed to give the farmers some of this tariff-protection prosperity. Both manufacture and labor opposed the measure.
They objected to the farmers being placed on the same plane on which they were operating.
The Coolidge administration felt the same way about the matter. The President believes in protection but not as applied to the farmers.
At the same session where the farm relief measure was passed and vetoed he signed a measure raising the tariff on steel.

The Democratic party is not a party that advocates tearing down, but it demands equality of opportunity for all. If government protection is right for the steel trust; if it can assure the railways a specified return on their investment; if it can regulate rates of utilities so as to give them a fair return on their investment; if by laws, labor can be protected against a flood of immigratory competitive labor; if practically every other phase of American industry can come under the government's protective wing, then pray tell us, why discriminate against the farmer?

The fact that the Eastern magazine and newspaper propagandists declare that the farmers are either prosperous or poor managers does not make them so; though they de-ride the threat of peasantry which hovers over American agriculture, that does not change the fact that you can't raise 50c corn at a profit or even break even.

All of their gibberish and gush does not help the farmer who is face to face with bankruptcy. You may moralize and you may theorize but that gets you nowhere. The hard, cold facts of failure are staring millions of American farmers in the face.

Calamity can be averted only by giving the farmers some of the protective relief that the rest of this country's workers and manufacturers enjoy, or you must scale down the cost of living, by breaking down the high-tariff wall, throwing open the gates to unlimited immigration and bringing the cost of living down where it will place the farmer's dollar on a par in buying power with the price that he realizes for what he has to sell.

LIBRARY NOTES

Two books were donated last week.
One by Mrs. Sallie Barton, "Dawn" by Eleanor Porter; one by Mrs. Wm.
Davis, Story of a Bad Boy, by Aldrich.

We received two beautiful posters
this week from Rand McNally representing their juvenile books.

The Platoon library suystem is being ushered into effect in the cities and larger towns and will be a wonderful help to the schools when well under way. The idea is to use all the books in the public libraries that will supplement any of the text books used. The teachers must know what they can draw on from the library and the librarian must understand the curriculum of the schools to be able to direct the pupils in search of material for the various subjects under consideration.

The books of our library have been so well chosen that by a little research work one can get information on most any subject. Teachers and librarians should cooperate in such a manner that the books may be used in the most helpful way.

CHOOSE! CHAPTER II

This time the game she was playing began to bring forth results. She applied herself to the practical arts of war—telegraphy, signaling and things like that; she perfected herself in swimming and running and shooting; she even went so far as to inure herself to privations.

She became as sound and hard as a maple sapling. It became more and more difficult to get through those blue lines, but she always succeeded, and often as a boy in the uniform she hated.

Sometimes she would spend three or four days at the plantation. And oddly enough, it was during one of these visits that she stumbled upon the secret which was seriously worrying the Confederate leaders.

Richmond always knew what was going on in Washington, but Washington was now getting some truths about Richmond.

No one will deny that there exists such a thing as servants' news.

Beaufort, some time before the war, had given freedom to one of his slaves. The youth had gone to Richmond, and once a year he would return to his people.

The story he told came to Jeanne through the garrulity of her old darky mammy. A loft in a deserted warehouse, meetings held late at night by men in full mask, who came singly and departed singly; this was sufficient to rouse something more than idle curiosity in Jeanne.

She instructed the old mammy to get the name and locality of this warehouse of mystery. When she secured these two facts she returned to Richmond.

The Cleghorn warehouse occupied a third of a block, and was flanked by two buildings whose ground floors were tenanted. It was unguarded. The lighting was bad; here and there a dim beacon told one which way the street ran.

The big warehouse was one story higher than its neighbors. The east side was blank; three windows faced the west, looking out upon the roof of the adjoining building; the panes of glass were cobwebby, dust-and-rain splashed, and all them cracked or broken.

In the center of the loft, which included the whole floor, stood an ordinary deal table. It was night outside. Jabbed into this table was a single bayonet. In the lock of this was stuck a lighted candle, which flickered or burned steadily as the night draughts waxed or waned.

Seated about this table on empty crates and boxes, were eleven men. The night was hot, and most of them had thrown aside their coats. They wore masks—the kind that hides chin and mouth under a limp curtain.

This not only concealed the face effectually but disguised the voice as well.

The man seated at the table was evidently the chief; he was also the oldest. His head was peppered with gray.

"Our business in Richmond is done. You have all been of great assistance to me; but I have this day myself discovered the things we sought. I know the number of men, arms, rounds of ammunition, and food supplies. In other words, we now have our fingers on the pulse of the enemy; we can feel it growing feebler and feebler. I shall no longer be your chief after tonight. We shall each of us go on our own again. We leave tonight. The horses are ready at Moriarty's stables, three blocks away. We ride west first. Then we turn toward Maryland. No main pikes until we are near the boundary in the sealed envelop. I have just given each of you facts and information. Some one of us will reach Washington. And gentlemen, we all leave together, eleven of us, all of us." He put peculiar emphasis upon these words. "Any man who falters, hesitates, offers excuses—Well, I'm a rough soldier; you are all familiar with my ways. The man who hesitates—dies."

One of their number sprang to his feet and dashed toward the window. The gray man's revolver flashed in the candlelight.

"Quick!" cried the man who had caused this agitation. "Some one on the roof!"

They followed him pell-mell through the window. Crouched close to the wall was a form. They pounce-ed upon it roughly, hustled it to the window and those yet inside hauled the offender into the loft.

"I saw a hand flash across the window-space, in the act of throwing something. A boy!"

The gray man shook the boy violently. The hat fell off.

"Good Lord, a woman!" cried some one.

"Hold her!" said the chief. He ran downstairs to the street, searched doorways, cellar-window pits, but found no one; nor could he discover a runner, east or west. He ascended to the loft again.

"So, a young woman!" He laid his revolver on the table. "What were you doing there by that window?"

She did not answer. In reaching her point of vantage outside that window she had been forced to crawl through cellars, worm her way over bales of cotton, through grime and dust. What with the dust and the sweat of her exertions, she looked like the urchin she pretended to be.

"How did you find out our presence here?" demanded the gray man.

No answer.

"You refuse to answer questions? Your life depends upon it."

"Well, then you must pay the penalty. You must die."

Then she spoke. "And who among you will be so brave as to do the killing?"

"I," said the gray man. To her ears there was something terrible in that cold, unemotional tone. He whipped the mask from his face suddenly.

"I will let you look upon my face to prove to you that I will never let you leave this loft alive, unconditionally."

It was the face of a fanatic. She had only to look into those metallic blue eyes to know that he would keep his word. She sent a roving glance among the other masks.

"Will you permit such a thing?"

"Does an oath mean anything to you?" asked her grim questioner.

"Yes!" with proud, uplifted chin. "Will you take an oath to reveal nothing you have heard?"

"No. I have given my oath, heart and soul to the South. Either let me go or shoot me—if you can!"

"Wait a moment, Parson," pleaded the young man to whom she owed her capture. "I have an idea. We can't really permit you to shoot her."

"Her? She has no sex," said the leader placidly. "We can't be bothered with a prisoner at this hour."

"We can tie her up and leave her here. But this is my idea. I'll handle this pretty viper. No doubt she's pretty under that smudge," he added, ironically.

"Pull my fangs if you can," she replied.

The gray man frowned thoughtfully. She had courage.

Said the young man: "You say you are bound heart and soul to the South. Well your body shall never belong to it."

She stepped back—her first sign of fear.

"Come, come," warned the chief, "none of that. Better let me take the burden upon these shoulders. It is one thing to shoot a spy; it is another thing to—"

"You haven't heard me through," interposed the young man. "What I mean is, her body shall be bound to the North."

"And how?"

"By marriage to one of us."

One of the number gave a start of surprise at the suggestion.

The gray man smiled for the first time. Marry her to one of these mad young cockerels, bind her and leave her!

"But if by chance I should already be married?" she inquired, her courage returning.

"If you wish to commit bigamy, that's no concern of ours." With a swift, unexpected gesture the young man caught her hands. The fingers were ringless. He laughed and flung aside the hands.

"Who's for this fool adventure?" demanded the gray man. His comrades stirred uneasily. "Make up your minds; it is death or marriage. I stand ready for the ceremony."

She wanted time, time, time! It would take her confederate fully an hour to return with men. She had written in code enough to condemn them all to the wall or the noose.

Wrapped around a pebble, it had been flung into the street. She had not known that these desperate men would really be here; she had put hardly any faith at all in the darky's tale.

And now to play with them, to hold them until aid arrived. They would all be dead in the morning—so what mattered if she went through with the farce?

"And what of the man who marries me?" All this meant time.

"Oh," said her tormentor, "he shall call it a sacrifice to the altar of war. You will serve the South, but by the Lord Harry, you'll belong to the North. We'll punish you with doubt, doubt and fear; always you'll be wondering who and what this man is who marries you. Of course, we are still ready to take your oath."

"I have declined to give it."

"Very well. Line up, comrades, and she shall choose among us, woman's ancient prerogative,—so it can never be said that we forced ourselves upon her. Death or marriage, mass or the Bastille!"

"I consent," she said. "I am young; I do not want to die."

Already a quarter of an hour had been consumed. If only she could hold them long enough! She stared speculatively at the circle of flashing eyes.

"There is, then, a minister of the gospel among you?" she asked incredulously.

"Yes. I am he." The gray man laughed.

Each hair at the base of her neck stirred at the sound of that laughter.

"Come, comrades!"

But these comrades demurred. It was one thing to risk one's life, for one might risk it and still save it; but it was another thing to marry an unknown woman, simply to save her life, a woman whom they might never see again.

The gray man took up his revolver. "I will shoot her. It is war; it is thousands of lives against hers."

"I'll marry her." The man who spoke was he who had a little while earlier given the start of surprise.

"I thought I was to choose," she said, looking at the stern-visaged man fingering the revolver. More time—closer and closer the net was drawing.

"And choose you shall. Trust me; your marriage shall be as legal as though performed in a cathedral."

Don't be fooled on house paint!

"Cheap" paint isn't cheap at all!

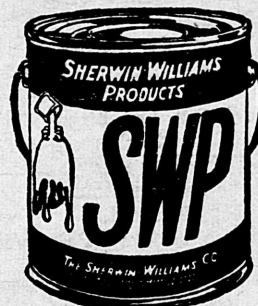

When you are tempted by wonderful claims, elaborate guaranties and a very low price to buy "cheap" paint, remember this:

"Cheap" paint sells at a low price because it is low in quality—poor stuff. That's the only reason a manufacturer can afford to sell at a low price.

By the gallon it costs you less. But don't let that fool you. It will cost you many times more than good old SWP on the wall—by the job and by the year—because it covers only about half the area per gallon—and lasts only about half as long.

Come in and let us tell you the truth about the high cost of "cheap" paint—why SWP House Paint is the least expensive.

INSPIRING EASTER SERVICES
AT M. E. CHURCH CLOSED WITH CANTATA AT NIGHT

Easter Sunday was observed at the Methodist Episcopal church with appropriate services during the entire day. The sunrise prayer meeting, which was conducted by the young people's societies of the three churches in the Presbyterian church, was well attended by members of this congregation. It was a splendid beginning of a very full and inspiring day.

The morning service was made up of the merged program of the Sunday school and morning worship. After a short lesson period, the Sunday School was reassembled for a program presented by the pupils of the primary and intermediate departments. This was composed of songs and readings by several of the younger pupils, and closed with a beautiful pageant in which about thirty of the intermediate pupils took part. This was prepared and presented under the direction of Miss Anna McCarthy, and was one of the most beautiful and touching presentations ever seen.

At the hour for the morning worship, a class of thirty was received into church membership. The class entered in a stately procession, and took their places before the chancel in silence. The ordinance of baptism was administered to several candidates and the whole class then received into the church. They had been trained so that the responses to the questions were made from memory and the whole service was solemn and beautiful. The younger members of the class presented a striking and attractive appearance with the girls wearing white veils and the boys white flowers.

Following this part of the service, the pastor, The Rev. C. D. Robertson, preached on "The Resurrection."

The evening service was given over to the cantata, "The Greatest Love", sung by the combined choirs of the Christian and Methodist churches under the direction of Miss Gertrude McClure. Miss McClure also was the organist of the production. This cantata is one of Petrie's best, and was presented in most inspiring fashion. The united chorus of thirty voices sang in perfect harmony and with much feeling.

SULLIVAN'S FOUR-SQUARE = PLATFORM =

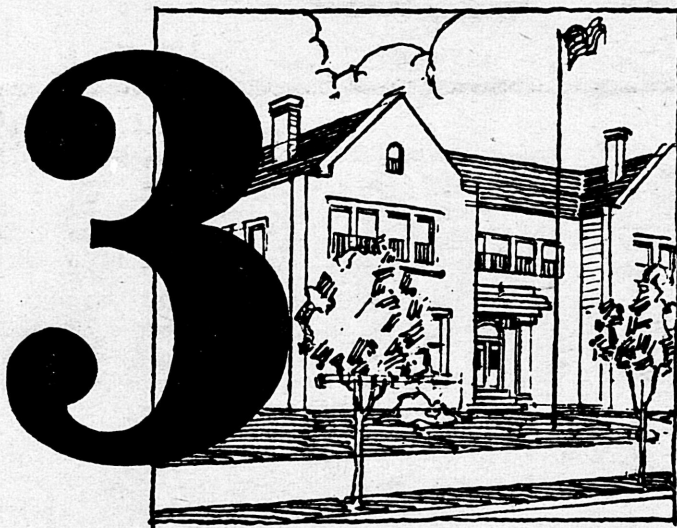

Like the house builded upon the rock, Sullivan's prosperity rests upon a solid foundation, comprising these essentials

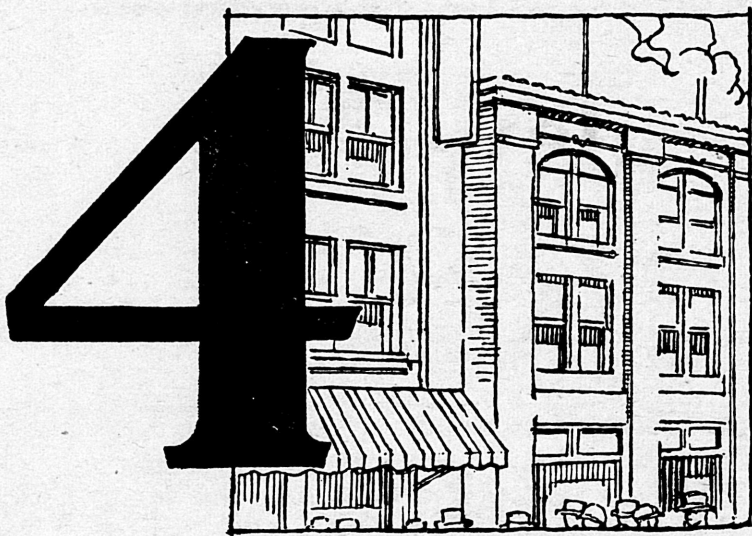

1. Sullivan is a city of homes. And we are particularly fortunate in having so large a proportion of home owners, and so many more who will eventually attain to home ownership.

2. Sullivan is a city of churches. We are proud of the handsome edifices which house our various congregations of worship. May they increase and prosper.

3. Sullivan is a city of schools. Claim to educational leadership need not be based on number of schools alone; rather, it rests upon the character of instruction afforded. Sullivan is abundantly justified in claiming leadership.

4. Sullivan is a city of business. Our varied enterprises not only afford employment to a large nnmber of our people, but likewise render a real service to all of our people.

Sullivan's claim to greatness, present and future, rests upon the four-square platform of better homes, better churches, better schools and better business.

May we all contribute our utmost to a realization of this platform

Church Notes

ALLENVILLE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Easter Sunday was a great day with this church. A good attendance at all services was a stimulating feature. The bible school was unusually good and the service was inspiring.

The sermon subject for next Sunday morning will be "God's Adventurers." In the evening we will preach from the text, "Visiting the Iniquity of the Fathers upon the third and fourth generation of them that hate me."

The next great event in the church life will be Mother's Day, watch for further announcement.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

C. D. Robertson, Pastor
Now that Easter is past, the inspiration and uplift of that wonderful time must not be allowed to languish. Surely the memory of the touching baptismal and reception service last Sunday morning, and the inspiring music of the evening will not soon fade.

Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Hugh Murray, superintendent.

Morning worship at 10:45 a. m., in charge of the pastor, who will preach.

Epworth League devotional at 6:30 p. m. Evening evangelistic service at 7:30 p. m., with rousing music, genial fellowship and evangelistic sermon. Prayer meeting every Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

The church where there are no strangers bids you welcome.

BRETHREN ASSEMBLY

A. J. Burville, Pastor
Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Bible study and communion at 11 a. m., Christian Endeavor at 6:30 p. m., subject, "Our Relation to God." We know we are children of God because of the Holy Spirit abiding within us. If we have been born again of the Spirit, we have the Spirit of God abiding within us. And we do not have to wait for the Baptism of the Holy Spirit, or the second blessing, or sanctification. The moment a man really believes, or is born of the Spirit, he receives the Holy Spirit, and is Sanctified, or set apart and made holy by the living abiding presence of Jesus within his heart. There is only one Baptism. When we are saved we are baptized into his mystical body, the Church, but there are many infillings.

Prayer meeting as usual on Tuesday night, Bible class on Thursday night and we invite all of God's people.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Last Sunday was an ideal Easter, and the services of the day were inspiring and helpful to all.

The Young Peoples early morning service, was well attended, and the young people from the various churches made this an inspirational service.

A fine program was rendered in the Sunday school hour, both by adults and children. The record attendance in the Sunday school hour was greater than at any time since October 12th, 1924. It was good to see so many out, both of the young and the older grown.

The regular service of the morning was given in Service of Song. The choir rendered the cantata, "Victory" in a most efficient manner, and revealed faithful effort on the part of the singers. Such a service as this requires work, and we thank those who made possible such a wonderful easter service.

Subject for Sunday morning, "Distributing to the Saints." Sunday evening, "The Ideal Given Us."

THE GOSPEL MISSION

H. H. Smith, Supt.
9:30 a. m. Sunday school.
11:00 a. m. Morning worship.
6:30 p. m. Young Peoples service.
7:30 p. m. Evangelistic services.
Cottage prayer meeting this week at Mrs. W. S. Reedy's. Regular service at the Hall on Thursday evening. While meditating what we should say this week, our eyes rested on an advertisement laying on our desk which reads, "The Sunshine Way to California". Then we thought of another Sunshine way, to a Land where there are no shadows nor clouds. Just as the way to California is not all Sunshine, neither is the way to the Land of Cloudless Day, all sunshine, there will be cloudy days on the way, dark nights to pass through, when in the darkness one almost fears they will lose the way, or be wrecked in the night. But when we realize there is One who is constantly watching, His eye is ever on us, and on conditions surrounding us, our fear changes to confidence, and with our hand in His we go on into the night, knowing that soon the morning star will arise, which tell us the day will soon break.

This chapter on different breeds of cats supplies the different information.

Cats that are made for boys and girls to tease are called maltese.

Some cats are known by their queer purr. These are called Persian cats. Cats with bad tempers are called Angora cats. Cats with deep feelings are called Feline cats. All other cats are just plain alley cats.

O. C. Hoskins, Henry Hortenstine, F. F. Fleming.

County Farm—O. C. Hoskins, M. E. Foster, Walter Wiser, N. S. LeGrand.

Purchasing—M. E. Foster, Henry Hortenstine, J. L. Mayes, Guy L. Kellar.

Sewerage—F. F. Fleming, Walter Wiser, O. C. Hoskins, Henry Hortenstine.

Tuberculosis—J. L. Mayes, Guy L. Kellar, Henry Hortenstine.

Hard Roads—O. E. Lowe, F. F. Fleming, J. L. Mayes and M. E. Foster.

One appointment provoked a storm of protest. Mr. Hoskins of Marrowbone township had been a member of the hard roads committee. He was taken off that committee and Mr. Mayes was named in his stead. It had been contended that this was a permanent committee and not subject to change yearly. Mr. Hoskins protested strongly to his being replaced on that committee by Mr. Mayes. Ex-chairman Fleming joined Mr. Hoskins in the protest.

Various motions were made but nothing definite came of them and the chairman announced that his appointments would stand as made unless the States Attorney or some other legal authority could show him where a mistake had been made.

Shelby Road Committee

The road and bridge committee of Shelby county appeared before the board and asked that Moultrie county assist in building a grade on the county line, in the southwest part of this county on the West approach to the county line bridge. A new bridge was built last summer West of the big bridge and the road between these two bridges has been impassable since last Fall. The grade which is planned will open this road for traffic. As the conditions now exist, Moultrie and Shelby counties have an investment of about $55,000 in bridges on this road and the road is in such condition that very little traffic is possible except during the dry summer months.

On Monday Chairman Keller, J. L. Mayes and M. E. Foster, the committee from this county, accompanied by Supt. of Highways Fleming visited the scene and conferred with the Shelby officials. No definite course of action was agreed upon. If Moultrie does join with Shelby in building this grade, the expense for this county will be about one third of the total cost. The matter of maintenance has not been agreed on.

TURNER GOT BACK THE WOOD THAT HE WANTED

Wednesday evening there was a mixup in which lumber and fists played their parts. The happening was near the hatchery in the West end of the city. Through a misunderstanding some of the wood and kindling at the hatchery had been loaded and was being carted away. Mr. Turner had given instructions to have the refuse and kindling taken away but did not want to part with good boards, etc. When he saw the boards and some other things on the wagon he protested and told the driver to unload and he would sort and put back on the wagon what he wanted taken away.

The driver was doing the hauling for W. C. Neaves who with his son appeared on the scene about this time. Words led to blows and in a short time a general battle was raging. Reinforcements on the Turner side ended the fray. Mr. Turner got back the wood which he did not want hauled away. Thus ended the "Battle of the Hatchery."

—Mrs. Nancy A. Waggoner and Rusha Tull and Carlisle Allison spent Sunday with Mrs. Mary Lane.

Prof. Finley Does Not Feel Coolidge Criticism Justified

126 1/2 Washington Blvd.
Oak Park, Illinois
April 12, 1927.

Mr. Ed C. Brandenburger,
Sullivan, Illinois
Dear Mr. Brandenburger:

I have been reading your editorials with much interest, and sometimes with a bit of resentment. I do not for one minute think you desire to pervert the truth, but you certainly do not get all the truth before you write in some of your editorials. In your editorial you say, "You've not seen any reduction in your taxes or in your cost of living." I quite agree with you, but with the cost or the location of the increase of tax I am at variance with your views.

I sincerely believe you will see the thing a bit differently if you will read "The Horoscope of Taxation", by Mark Sullivan in the March issue of The World's Work. It was very enlightening to me, and I believe it will be to anyone who reads it. I commend it.

Our own state has jumped into a siege of taxation by allowing Len Small and his crowd to control the state government. The taxes have gone up in this state and will not be lower for some time to come. The roads bonds will be a burden to the state and the good resulting will not off-set the ill effects for years—if ever. If I mistake not the Community club of Sullivan voted the 2c gasoline tax in meeting. Another added to the former if passed.

Another quotation, "Even the term economy is plain propaganda bunk for statistics show that the cost of government is rising from year to year." I quite agree with you and I thoroughly believe after you have read the article you will understand where the rise is coming.

Arthur Brisbane spoke of Mr. Coolidge as a man of courage and conviction. The New York World (if I mistake not is the largest democratic paper in the world) spoke of Pres. Coolidge as a man of unusual courage and character. They may all be wrong.

I am not holding any brief for the President—he does not need it. I have a thousand times more respect for him than for the congress who passed the bill. He told them to frame a bill which was sound in principle and they insisted in passing a bill which they knew he would veto. I tried to find out who wrote the McNary-Haugen Bill. I was told by a man who was reared in a democratic family whose father lived and died a democrat that the bankers of Iowa wrote the bill. I cannot verify the statement. I am giving it to you as given to me.

About two years ago a storm of protest broke over Mr. Coolidge's head because he vetoed the Bill for Soldier Compensation. He told Congress he would if they passed a bill that had no provision for the payment of the bonus. He did. Later congress passed a similar bill in principle, with the sound provisions and he signed it with pleasure. He will do the same for the farmers with pleasure. I do not believe for one minute that he belongs to the class, that feels "the farmer be damned." I believe he has too much Christian character for any attitude of that sort toward any class at any time or any where.

Now my friend I am sure you will take this in the spirit it is written. I admire you in the point that you are not afraid to express your convictions. I would not have it otherwise, but my conviction is that this time you have overstepped and I feel free to give my thoughts on the subject. I have no intention of influence, but you recall that I never backtracked when the question of courage was at an issue. I might make mistakes, but
