Funnel Shaped Cloud Gave Sullivan Touch Of Tornado Wed.

Considerable Damage Done in South western Part of City. Many Viewed Freak Cloud. Northern Part of County Suffers Cloudburst.

Sullivan had a touch of a tornado Wednesday afternoon 'twister" about 4 o'clock. A thunderstorm had blown up in the west and headed northeast. Thunder was loud and sharp and vivid flashes of lightning played across the sky.

People who were watching the storm suddenly noted a funnel shaped cloud to the Southwest. The cloud swept along and sometimes the lower part of it seemed to touch the earth, while it was whirling on its way. It struck the extreme southwestern part of the city and then heading southeastward did consider-

THE CORN BELT STORM

Monday morning dawned clear and bright for Central Illinois. The sun soon warmed up the moisture sodden earth. Farmers had hopes that the rain was over and that corn planting weather was now in order.

The atmosphere soon grew sticky. It became hot, sultry and uncomfortable. The sky became overcast with rain-clouds, hanging low and presaging that a thunderstorm was a-

Shortly before the noon hour vague reports circulated that "a cyclone hit Northern Illinois." Those with relatives and friends in that part of the state worried, as was but natural. about their loved ones.

In their minds they reviewed the high spots incident to the storm period which has had the middle west in its grip for many months.

The Mississippi valley is flooded and thousand are homeless. The Illinois and other tributary rivers have been overburdened with the floods of Winter and Spring and have moved out of their banks, into fields and cities and old-time sloughs. Levees and dikes have been soaked through by the immensity of the water which pressed against them. Gradually a trickle—perhaps through a mole's tunnel or some other rodent's underground run-way gave the waters their first outlet. Little by little the dam crumbled and finally with a rush and a roar the waters madly surged over the lands which these embankments had been designed to protect.

But water has not been the only agent of calamity. The elements which usually precede or accompany rainfall have also harassed humanity in their path.

Poplar Bluff, Cornland, Decatur, Peoria and other cities in the cornbelt have been visited by winds cyclonic in character, which wrote their fury in trails of wrecked homes, and other damage which has mounted into millions.

These are some of the things which people thought of Monday afternoon, when a dark bank of clouds, the advance guard of the approaching storm lifted its crest in the North and slowly started travelling southward. As this cloudbank lifted, growling thunder reverberated through the air and flashes of lightning played between the lower rim of the cloud crest and the horizon.

The clouds were black, but tinged here and there with lighter colors, where the hidden sun's rays touched them—a dull bronze, in other places where the mass formation was not quite so thick, a threatening green. Low and fleecy clouds were windblown here and there at a lower level than the more threatening and denser clouds above them which kept their steady march in the direction they had started in when the storm first hove in view.

Remembering the other stricken cities people watched this storm closely. The women had taken their wash in from the line and called in the little children at play, so as to make a dash for some apparently safe place, should evidences indicate that a "twister" was about to descend on the community. Poultry sought shelter and livestock took note that a storm was brewing and was restless and hot.

The crest of the storm passed and the clouds seemed to pile up in the southeast. It became cooler. The coat discarded in the morning felt comfortable now. There had been but little wind, but the left wing of the attacker, took on a ferocious appearance and sweeping at a more northerly angle, started for this locality. It looked even more threatening than did the first storm. The lightning was more vivid, the thunder more insistent and at times held promise of an electrical storm when crash follows crash and children seek to bury their ears in mother's lap to shut out the awful

But evidently Sullivan has been spared again, for rain and only rain is our portion today. Driven by the winds the waters sweep across the streets, off the roof the drops fly like spray. In the paved streets the gutters are flowing while the dirt streets have their ruts which are rapidly filling pools or like small rivulets are flowing to a lower level.

Another rain that was not wanted. Another rain that was not needed; another rain which is delaying the corn planting which has already been too long delayed; another rain to help the wheat and the oats, the alfalfa and the pastures; another rain which will add its overflow to the streams which gather into creeks and then into rivers, finally to the Father of Waters, the Mississippi, which is already in its fury showing those who would confine its domain with levees and like frail makeshifts that it will not yield its power and its glory to the puny hand of mere man.

Well, the shower is about over. We still have life and limb intact and uninjured. Our homes are still where they were before the storm blew up, and everything considered we may well be thankful and continue hopefully in the belief that better weather is in prospect.

BETHANY COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES BEING HELD THERE TONIGHT (FRIDAY)

Fifteen students comprise the graduating class at the Bethany Township High school this year.

The commencement exercises will be on Friday, May 27th in the High school audtiorium. The address will be made by Rev. F. W. Ingvoldstad of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Decatur. Miss Mildred Sharp will give the valedictory.

Those who will graduate are: Florence McReynolds, Hester Roney, Hazel Rhodes, Edward Manship, Elizabeth Mitchell, Helen Brown, Lucille Jones, Juanita Hemer, Ruby Clark, Rose Ambrose, Harold Rhodes, Mildred Sharp, Donald McCord, Walter Dalton and Walker Barnett.

LOVINGTON GRADUATION

I AM A CANDIDATE

At The Election

JUNE 6th

IN THE COURSE OF MY CAMPAIGN I HAVE OFTEN BEEN ASKED

^

What Election Is That?

I will endeavor to answer that question so that all of my friends will fully understand.

On Monday June 6th three circuit judges will be elected in the sixth judicial district. There are six counties in this district, Moultrie, Piatt, Douglas, Champaign, Macon and Dewitt. These judges elected on that day will serve for a six year term. There is no need of my telling you the importance of this judicial position.

Past experience has shown that the voters usually take but little interest in a judicial election. Considering that this office is one of such vital importance this should not be the case.

I am one of the three candidates nominated by the Democratic party for this office of circuit judge.

I have never heretofore aspired to nor been a candidate for any political office. I would be deeply honored to be elected circuit judge. I am making an active campaign, but the distdict is very large and the time is extremely short (just a little more than a week to June 6th) so you see I cannot personally call on all my friends in Moultrie county.

Let me say to you here just a few of the things I would like to say to each one of you personally.

I have lived and made my home in Moultrie County for over twelve years. I have tried to practice my profession honorably. I have been interested in and worked in every cause that I felt would be for the good of the community.

I have no chance of election, unless MOULTRIE COUNTY SUPPORTS ME by going to the polls on JUNE 6th and VOTING FOR ME. If, when the election is over I find that the people of my home county have given me their loyal support, I will glory even in defeat, if defeat comes. And if my homefolks do not feel like supporting me, then I certainly should not be elected to the high office of circuit judge.

If, in your opinion, my record and qualifications are such as to deserve your vote and support, I will greatly appreciate it.

At this time I have only one promise to make to you all-if elected, I will do the very best I can to administer the office fairly and justly.

RAIN AND STORM MONDAY AND TUESDAY

The storm which blew up shortly after the noon hour Monday partially disorganized the local light plant service. In the morning workmen started digging up a tree on the Masonic lot at the corner of Harrison and Hamilton streets. The roots had been cut and when the wind came the tree toppled across the road to the East and smashed into the poles on which two of the city's transformers were attached. The poles were transformers snapped off and the crashed to the ground.

The damage could not be repaired until Tuesday afternoon and the Term 1927. power and heat circuits were back in working order about 6:30. This put Charles Kenney, Ad-) The Progress presses and linotype out of commission for about a day

The storm about the noon hour Tuesday did more material damage. The Lake City Farm-A roof on the shop of L. T. Hagerman & Company was partially blown off. Two big windows at the I. O. O. F. hall were blown in and trees were torn down in various parts of the city. The rainfall was much heavier than on Monday and continued throughout the afternoon.

OTHERWISE-MIXED ADVICE

Editors have their troubles. One of these men who presides over the destinies of a Western newspaper is mourning. One wrote asking how to raise twins safely, while the other wanted to know how he might rid his orchard of grasshoppers. The answers went forward by mail, but by accident—the editor put them into wrong envelopes, so that the man with the twins received the answer:

"Cover them carefully with straw and set fire to it, and then the little Sulli- pests, after jumping in the flames for Arthur a few minutes, will be speedily set-2-tf. | tled." And the man with the grasshoppers was told to "give castor oil 12tf Exchange.

Nobody knows how many people were drowned, but while Simon and his party remained and children, white and black, were buried in the River. The usual solemnity was absent and respect for the dead received no consideration at any of these emergency funerals.

The task confronting those in charge of the work was gruesome enough, but no less necessary. The dead had to be disposed of quickly in order to save those still living. Those who had drowned or who had died on the levee were towed to mid stream, their stomachs ripped open and filled with weights, and the bodies sunk in the river. ### OPTOMETRIC MEETING TALKS ABOUT ILLUMINATION; DR. WALLACE TO TOUR EAST

The matter of school house illumination as it affects the eyesight of oupils was the subject of discussion of the Sangamon Valley Optometric Research Society's meeting at the St. Nichols Hotel in Springfield, Friday evening. A film demonstrating the proper and improper usage of light was shown and it was announced that this film is available for use of parent-teachers associations and civic clubs where it will prove of benefit to the public. Dr. O. M. Myers of Rock Island was the principal lecturer at Friday night's meeting. Dr. Tatmeyer of Litchfield and Dr. Wuesterman of Champaign also participated in the program.

The Sangamon organization is oranch of the State Optometric society of which Dr. J. F. Wallace is president. Dr. Wallace has for many years been paying this city a professional call monthly.

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week he met with the society's executive committee in Chicago.

On June 10th he and Mrs. Wallace and grandson will leave Decatur by car for Rochester, New York where their son, Dr. L. R. Wallace will reto Washington where Dr. Wallace will represent the Illinois society at a national optometric convention.

(Chicago Producers Commission

Association) All classes of cattle show a strong indertone. Finished heavies are very scarce, selling upward to $13.85, with the bulk at $12.75 to $13.25. Last Week's flood of yearlings abated losses were regained and little steers and heifers are now practically as high as any time this season, with large and small killers competing. Tonnage deficiency is helping the general trade. Practically every thing is coming fat and consequently replacement prices have not been changed. On Monday of the week under review the run at approximately 30,000 was the largest of the year, yet everything moved into killer channels at steady to unevenly lower prices but most of the decline was regained on the ensuing session. Most fed steers sold at $10.50 to $12.50; yearlings $9.75 to $11.50; heifer yearlings $9.25 to $10.25, with finished kinds at $10.50 to $11.00. A $6.75 to $8.75 fat cow trade, with practical top of $9.75, although specialities sold above $10.00, reflects the continued scarcity of cows and cheap steers of value to sell un der $10.25. The active manner in which this week's liberal run of steers and yearlings were grabbed can only mean broad domestic beef consumption. Cows, medium, heif-

TIME NOW TO AWAKEN COOLIDGE ADMINISTRATION

A number of people in Piatt and surrounding counties have expressed themselves very forcibly regarding the present administration and its neglect of the farmers and there seems good reason for this sentiment. It has been said by some of the leaders that although the farmer does a lot of kicking on election day he will be found voting the Republican ticket straight. Whether this is true or not we do know that if the voters of the 6th Judicial District would start a revolt in the election District June 6th, they can do more to bring about farm relief at the next session of Congress than all the talk that has been made in the last five years. If the voters of this district should elect the Democratic nominees as judges farm relief would come quick and There never was a better time to do this than now. The Democrats have selected a very able ticket and the district would be well served under these men as under any that could be selected. By electing them you would still maintain high standard courts and at the same time cause Washington to sit up and take notice. Talk about the shot that Revolutionary heroes fired that was heard around the world, it is nothing compared to the kick you can jar Washington with by electing these three Democratic judges. They do believe that your protest is meaningless and that you will never desert the party even if you get no relief. This is the best time in the world for you to disabuse their minds. You will lose nothing in the judiciary and you may gain farm relief. It is worth trying anyway. Besides if you are disgusted with the treatment accorded you by your party you owe them a rebuff that will set them thinking. Then help yourselves by voting for the Democratic Judicial ticket on June 6. -Monticello Bulletin. The first batch of chinch bugs are fly-

CRITICISM OF LAW IS NOT CRITICISM OF

COURT OR JUDGE Some exceptions have been taken to recent articles in The Progress commenting on inadequacy of punishment meted out to chicken thieves. In explanation will say that these articles were not intended as a reflection on the court or on the manner in which Judge Grider imposed

Their intent was to call attention to the inadequate methods which the law provides for such petty misdemeanors in counties such as Moultrie. The offenders are locked up in jail for a certain length of time. Their habits and temperaments are such that a jail sentence like this does not seem an adequate punishment.

In some counties the rock pile furnishes the solution, but that is of course not available in counties of the size of Moultrie.

The courts cannot remedy this defect. They mete out punishment according to the law as it is given to them to enforce. The problem seems to be up to our law-makers to find the solution which will result in deterring men and boys from committing crimes such as stealing chickens, etc., because they really fear the punishment which the courts can impose on them.
