71ST. YEAR. NO. 24

July 4th at Sullivan, Bigger, Better in Every Way Than Past Years

Legion in Charge of Program Expected to Bring 40,000 or More Here for Annual Patriotic Entertainment. Past Years Big Success. This Year to Crown Them All.

It is becoming traditional for Sullivan to aid the American Legion wholeheartedly in its plans for the annual Fourth of July Celebration. It is becoming a habit with the Legion to throw its entire strength into making this event bigger and better each year. And it is becoming a custom with nearly everybody within an increasingly wide circle to come to Sullivan on each Fourth of July for their recreation, fun and entertainment on that day.

Last year we predicted a crowd of from twenty to twenty-five thousand and we were accused of exaggeration. The day, in spite of a heavy, early down-pour, brought us thirty thousand and according to best estimates. As this celebration becomes better known as an annual red letter day, it gains momentum and every indication is that the City of Sullivan will this year be a host to forty thousand people.

Nowhere else in this whole territory can any city boast that it gives so much absolutely free to the people who attend. This spirit of generosity is the largest single factor in drawing the enormous crowds to our celebration. The merchants and professional men and women of Sullivan are to be thanked, for it is they, working through the instrumentality of the Legion, who make it possible to entertain forty thousand people from morning until midnight without cost to our guests.

More entertainment, more fun, more amusement all for the same price—nothing—is the Legion's aim. The old events of the last several years have been found the best and are retained, except that in nearly every case they have been made larger, and where possible new events have been added.

BAR ASSOCIATION AND COUNTY OFFICIALS TO HONOR JUDGE SENTEL

The Moultrie County Bar Association and the County officials will have a banquet Friday night at Coventry's cafe in honor of Judge George A. Sentel, whose term as circuit judge is drawing to a close. The dinner will be followed by a short program appropriate to the occasion.

The exact time when Judge Sentel's term will expire is rather vague, but indications are that it will be this week. His successor Judge Wamsley, has already taken the oath of office. The canvassing board at Springfield is expected to canvass the returns of the recent judicial election this week and when the result is certified to Gov. Small, he will issue the commission to the newly elected judge. On the day Judge Wamsley receives his commission Judge Sentel's term in office will expire.

It is with great regret that the bar of Moultrie county and all who have had business in the local circuit court see Judge Sentel retire from the bench. During the 12 years he had held that office, he has at all times held the respect of those who had business to transact in his court.

As a token of the high regard in which he and his services are held by the attorneys and others who worked with him during these years, this banquet is being given tonight (Friday.)

The Skiff Case

In the Skiff case, a bill of particulars was asked for and this request was overruled. Motion was then made to quash the indictment and this move was overruled. The defendant was then arraigned and entered a plea of "not guilty." The Judge increased the bond to $15,000 following which the defendant made a motion for a decrease, which motion was overruled.

Judge Sentel Tuesday morning took up the matter of application for probation, filed by Jesse Chapman who had plead guilty to being one of the two men who robbed the Simpson filling station. Chapman was represented by Attorney Adams of Moweaqua. States Attorney R. B. Foster represented the state.

The Judge decided to hear witnesses in the case. A big delegation of Moweaqua business men were present to testify as to the past good character of Chapman. Their testimony was heard.

The Simpson Brothers whose filling station had been robbed were present and had a petition signed by Lovington people protesting against granting the probation.

Artistic Structure Being Erected by Southern Illinois Utilities Co., on Lots South of Telephone Building.

Hagerman & Harshman, contractors started work this week on the ice and cold storage plant which the Southern Illinois Utilities Company is erecting on the lots which were recently purchased South of the Central Illinois Telephone building.

Hagerman & Harshman are putting the finishing touches on a $100,000 school building at Eureka on which they have been working for some months. Movement May Be Started To Secure Sullivan Hospital

Those interested Say That County Has an Idle Fund of $6,000 That Might be a Nucleus of the Necessary Finances.

The matter of a hospital for Sullivan is being discussed among those interested.

Moultrie county has a fund of $6,000 realized through the sale of a farm willed to it by a man named Kinsel some years ago. This fund is intact and inactive. The will stipulated that it was to be used by the county. No use has been made of it.

Those interested say that this sum could be used as a nucleus and that people who realize the need of an institution of this kind would gladly donate additional funds.

Among places which are being discussed as being available for hospital use are the Shuman property, the Chapman property and the Steele property. On all of these places there is now a good substantial building which could be remodelled as the first unit of a modern hospital.

The need of a hospital here is very apparent. Local doctors take their patients to either Mattoon or Decatur. This works a hardship not only on the patient but also on the family, as it makes it inconvenient to be near their sick ones. It also adds greatly to the expense, much of which could be saved if local accommodations were available.

Those who are agitating the matter say that it might be possible to get the board of supervisors to turn this $6,000 over as the beginning of a hospital fund as it most certainly would be a commendable move which would benefit the people in all parts of this county.

It is stated that some efforts have been made to interest Lovington people in a hospital project for that town.

EDITORIAL

If Lindbergh is the kind of fellow we like to think he is, he'll surely tire of all of this celebration stuff soon. The big task for this young man was not that he flew across the ocean from New York to Paris but it will be to stand up and take all of the gush and salve which right now is being smeared on so thick, and come out of it a clean, unspoiled American, who feels that he has but started on a life of usefulness.

THAT CASE IN INDIANA

About a year ago three children in the family of Attorney General Arthur M. Gilliom of Indiana were deathly sick. As a stimulant to aid in overcoming the sickness, the attending physician prescribed whiskey. Mr. Gilliom got it and used it as prescribed. The children recovered. The whiskey may have helped or may not have helped, but Mr. Gilliom broke an Indiana law in getting it and using it.

Some time later the wife of Gov. Ed Jackson was seriously ill. A stimulant was needed. The Governor knew of Mr. Gilliom's experience and appealed to him to get some liquor for medicinal use. He did so.

And now the Anti-Saloon League, and several W. C. T. U. branches in Indiana are demanding that these two officials be thrown out of office. They brand them as "common bootleggers" and law-breakers. The superintendent of the Anti League is reported as having said that a man ought to let his wife die rather than break a law and get liquor for her.

Where will all this fanatical nonsense end? The hypocrisy of these zealots defeats the ends of real temperance. It makes a ridiculous farce of prohibition.

Our idea of a real American is a man who will violate every law man ever made and go to hell and back if necessary, if by so doing he can save the life of his wife or his children. If he hasn't got the nerve and the moral courage to do that he is a poor simpleton who is not deserving of the blessings of a family.

The gangsters of Southern Illinois are now "telling on each other." If the capital punishment laws on the Illinois statute books amount to a whoop, there ought to be a good sale for hangmen's ropes in Southern Illinois in the near future.

IS IT ADVISABLE?

By the time the paper reaches our subscribers the Legislature will doubtless have passed the 2c gasoline tax.

Under present conditions in this part of the country any new tax, or any increase in taxation is inadvisable and is an imposition on the people who must pay it.

Governor Small's crowd includes democrats as well as republicans who are always anxious to do his bidding in order to stay on good terms with him.

If they want any roads built in their districts it behooves them to keep on good terms with the governor and dance whenever he fiddles, so as to say.

The first gasoline tax bill never went to a final vote. It was doomed to defeat. But if you can't skin a cat one way, try another.

So a new bill was drafted still providing for the 2c per gallon tax, but instead of all the money so realized being paid into the state highway fund, one half of it is to be paid to the county highway departments, apportioned on the automobile tax which the various counties paid. Moultrie county under such apportionment would get about $15,000. The money so realized is then spent through local officials.

If there was one really commendable thing about the program of the highway department in past years it was that road building was done on a state-wide plan. In that way results were achieved. When you turn over big amounts to the various highway commissioners, and each commissioner has a little different program in his township, what can you expect, except a hodge-podge highway system, which will use up a lot of money without showing any appreciable results.

Higher taxes of any kind or character are an abomination. If the Legislature really wanted to serve the people, it would have devised means to reduce taxes instead of trying to plaster on a few more.

HELEN KEYES NEW PRESIDENT OF MOULTRIE COUNTY YOUNG PEOPLES S. S. CONFERENCE

At the annual Moultrie County Young Peoples Conference held at Lovington on June 10th, the following officers were elected:

President—Helen Keyes.
Vice President—Dale Landers.
Secretary—Lola Slover.
Treasurer—Charles Kellar.

The conference was fairly well attended but it was almost a boy-less meeting as far as the farm boys were concerned.

Mrs. R. V. Watson of Normal, Ill., was the main speaker present. She made some very excellent addresses.

Another good talk was made by Rev. Sauer of the Lovington M. E. church.

Everyone present received much inspiration and benefit from the conference as well as much pleasure. The banquet was very enjoyable. In short, the Conference may be considered a success even if the numbers were not large.

MOTOR CLUB SETTLES WORSHAM CASE FOR $10

The Decatur Motor club has refunded O. C. Worsham $40 out of a $50 cash bond which he was required to put up at Blue Island, Illinois on Monday morning of last week on a charge of speeding.

The circumstances surrounding the arrest and taking of the bond were such that the motor club officials were appealed to and took charge of the case, with the result that it was settled for $5.00 and costs.

When a man goes any distance from his home lot, it is a good idea to have motor club membership as a protection against speed traps and over-zealous officials.

FARMS AND MACHINES.
OIL WASTE—PAY LATER.
OUR CIGARETTE TAX.
FORD NO. 15,000,000.

The hope of the farmer is in better machinery and more intelligent use of it. It is not alone the selling price of a bushel of wheat that counts but the amount of farm time and labor used to produce the bushel. A man working with pick and shovel could not afford to dig up and sort out gold bearing gravel if it paid him five dollars a ton average. But giant dredging machines in the Sacramento Valley are making millions working gravel that pays less than twenty cents a ton.

Edwin J. Clapp shows what machinery is doing and will do to help solve farm problems, and why United States farms can compete with European cheap labor, and even survive high railroad freight rates.

On American farms, one worker on the average produces twelve tons of cereal. In Europe one worker produces one and one-half tons.

From 1910 to 1920, American farm population increased only four percent, while production of wheat increased fifty-eight percent, corn thirty-five percent, cotton forty-seven percent, cattle thirty-seven percent, hogs sixty-five percent.

The farm problem is not to be solved, according to Mr. Clapp, by "keeping the boys on the farm," but by letting the boys go to the factories using more machinery on farms and thus reducing cost of production.

"Light automobiles and trucks are being produced in greater volume than ever before." Such is the official report. There is only one cloud on the automobile horizon, and that's an oil cloud.

Reckless production and reckless price cutting in the oil industry mean trouble ahead for motor owners. Oil is being wasted, poured out and squandered on sandy roads, wherever public officials can be persuaded to buy it at public expense.

Oil production is wastefully managed, prices are low—but today's low prices will be paid for with high prices later.

The country needs a continuous oil and gasoline supply, at fair prices, which the Government should regulate.

The nation now is acting like a drunken youth, squandering a rich inheritance.

Lindbergh has good ideas. An enthusiastic French lady intended to spend 150,000 francs for a cup to celebrate his flight. He accepted gratefully and asked that the 150,000 francs be spent instead on children of French aviators who lost their lives promoting aviation. Lindbergh is a good representative of this country in Europe.

When Count White was in this country, representing Russia in the peace arrangements with Japan, he told this writer the national monopoly of vodka, the Russian drink, forty per cent alcohol, and sixty per cent water, which he originated, gave a profit just big enough to pay the cost of the Russian army.

It would interest Witte to know that the United States tax on cigarettes just about pays the cost of our army. Uncle Sam collected $227,000,000 in ten months this year from cigarette smokers.

A full fiscal year's cigarette tax will about pay all army costs. If Government could collect the tax that public pays to bootleggers it might pay for ALL Government expenses.

Henry Ford last week watched his machinery grind out Ford car No. 15,000,000, and celebrated by taking a ride in the first car he ever built. Old car No. 1 with its two cylinders was taken out of the Ford museum and driven by Henry Ford with car No. 15,000,000 driving beside it.

A new Ford car, with a different gear shift, double the old Ford power and a speed of sixty miles an hour and more, will be seen in the late Summer or early Fall. That will begin a new Ford family.

How much have 15,000,000 Ford cars meant in happiness to this country—through freedom of movement? How many BILLION miles have they traveled?

DALE GRIGSBY APPEARING IN "LISTEN DEARIE" AT GARRICK IN CHICAGO

Sullivan people are always glad to hear from Dale Grigsby and it is an even greater pleasure when they can see him, as for some years past he has been appearing in some of the best musical comedies staged. Dale was at one time a reporter for The Progress but his nimble feet and sense of rhythm were talents wasted in the reporting business so he developed his natural inclination and followed the call of the stage. The following letter will be of interest to his many friends:

Dear Mr. Brandenburg:
Just a little note for your news columns which will perhaps put me in touch with a few of my home friends.

I am appearing at present at the Garrick theatre, Chicago with a show of the musical variety called, "Listen Dearie." I am not particularly enthused with the show, but fortunate to be employed at this time of the year, when not more than a dozen shows grace the theatre in America at present.

"It is amusing however and entertaining so if any of my Sullivan friends find time to spend a little time with musical comedy while visiting Chicago, will like to hear from them.

By the way this happens to be the fourth show I have danced in this season, the first being a show which closed in this "Windy city" after 2 weeks in October called, "Bubbling

Over", next followed by "Sweet Lady," not the Chicago company but previous in season "Cherry Blossoms" followed a 15 week run in New York, 44th Street Theatre and then the present production.

Now that I've been so kind not to mention myself will close. Hoping Sullivan still remembers me though the years have flown by pretty fast since I was once star reporter for the Progress. (Thanks to Martin Bros.) A copy of the Progress will be appreciated.

Very truly yours,
Dale Grigsby,
Garrick Theatre,
Chicago, Ill.

P. S.—Excuse writing, never was much with the pen and pencil and of the English I say nothing.

All Hail to You "Lone Eagle" for your contribution to aviation history and for the finer instincts by which you made the whole world kin. By your action you have gripped the minds and stirred the hearts of all the people on the globe.

On the land lap [St. Louis to New York] of his hop to Paris, Col. Lindbergh used Stanolind Aviation Gasoline manufactured by the Standard Oil Company

(Indiana)

This company appreciates Col. Lindbergh's recognition of its product. From the beginning this company has shown in substantial ways its faith in commercial aviation. The Standard Oil Company [Indiana] was a pioneer in developing gasoline and oil for aviation use. Today it furnishes a major part of the supply for airplanes in this country.

Red Crown Ethyl is on the land what Stanolind Aviation Gasoline is in the air. Motorists throughout the Middle West have discovered that Red Crown Ethyl gives amazing performance. It uses carbon—turning it into power. It knocks out that knock. It costs a trifle more but it's worth more than it costs. Everywhere and everywhere the same.

While riding in an auto today, and slipping into a rut, and staying there ever so long, though trying to get out we were reminded of how easy it is to slip into a spiritual rut, and then how hard to climb out, and there are many such ruts. My church, my preacher, my doctrine, these are just the large ones, there are many smaller ones. You slip into them only when you get too close to the edge, play safe and stay far away from them. There is a way free from ruts and that is the blood sprinkled way.

CADWELL—ROSEDALE M. E. CHURCH

James T. Wilson, Pastor.
Both Sunday schools showed a decrease—Rosedale numbering 22 and Cadwell 17—A total of 39 in both schools.

The quarterly conference was very well attended. The reports of the Sunday school superintendents showed an increase for the quarter. We can make next quarter even better. Our next quarterly conference will be August 28th. This is the day of our annual basket dinner. It will be at Rosedale this year. Be sure and save this date.

The pastor was granted a two weeks vacation. He is planning to take the first two Sundays in August.

The County Young People's Convention at Lovington was well attended by the young people of Cadwell and Rosedale. There were 24 registered delegates which was the largest delegation in the county. This proved a very profitable day for all. We are very thankful to Miss Elder and the rest of the officers for their fine work.

SIX YOUNG PEOPLE FROM MOULTRIE AMONG U. OF I. GRADUATES

Urbana-Champaign, Ill., June 16—On Wednesday morning when the 56th annual commencement of the University of Illinois was held, it marked the final award of more than 1900 degrees to be conferred by that institution this spring. More than 200 of this number received their degrees from the professional branches in Chicago.

The graduates come from every section of the state and from every walk of life. The fathers of some are extremely wealthy men but too, there are those whose fathers are unskilled laborers. Some of the boys, and girls, have worked for every penny that they have had at their disposal during the four year period; others received from home even more than they could use. Some of these graduates have been very brilliant students and have made unusual scholarship records; others barely "got by", while the vast majority proved a true cross section of life and struck a good average which should result in their ability to enjoy life and contribute to their respective communities in general citizenship activities.

The following are included in the list of graduates from Moultrie county:

Henry Purvis Parks LL. B. and Elliott Raymond McDonald LL. D., both of Sullivan; Louis Frank Knoblock B. S. and Byron Birke Phillips B. S. both of Arthur; Maurine E. Brock A. B. Bethany; John Hanson Bandy M. S. Lake City.

BOUND to the NORTH

Jeanne Beaufort, daughter of a Virginian, swears vengeance against the North for the deaths of her father and two brothers in the Civil War. She is enrolled as a spy for the Confederate government and instructed to use the wiles of her sex to bring Parson John Kennedy, a Union spy within the power of the South. Discovered in the act of spying upon the group of Secret Service agents of whom Kennedy is the leader, Jeanne is given the alternative of death or marriage to one of their number. They are all masked, but Jeanne rejects one volunteer and chooses another of the eleven as her husband. To herself, she calls him Irony. Parson Kennedy performs the ceremony and the bride and groom ignorant of each other's names and she not even knowing what he looks like, sign the marriage certificate as "Mary Smith" and "John Jones." As Witnesses the group sign as follows:

John Kennedy, D. D.

C-WG-L
A-NK-S
G-RD-A
J-WG-S
F-WG-S
H-RD-M
P-PA-G
J-NK-F
F-BN-S
W-BE-H
They leave her bound and disappear.

Henry Morgan, a Southern officer and spy for the Confederacy, is in love with her but she rejects his advances. One day getting a letter signed "your husband", Jeanne realizes that her identity is known. Disguising herself with a brown wig and staining her face, Jeanne assumes the name of Alice Trent, she goes to Baltimore to carry on her work. She is unaware that a real "Alice Trent" lives in Baltimore.

John Armitage, a Union officer rescues Jeanne from a drunken man. Jeanne induces Morgan to abduct Kennedy so that she may question him about the names on the certificate and about a curious tattoo mark on the arm of the man she married. Armitage rescues him, but Jeanne escapes. She sees placards announcing a reward for her capture, "dead or alive."

General Armitage, father of the Captain, is discussing plans for the final campaign against Richmond when Jeanne, attempting to steal them, is captured. Though she is in boy's clothes, Captain Armitage recognizes her, but says nothing, and is bound to face a firing squad in the morning.

Armitage helps Jeanne to escape and she makes her way back to her home. It is now the Center of a Confederate encampment. Sentries bring word that a Union spy is on the grounds.

The spy attempting escape is killed. Jeanne reads a dispatch in his pocket indicating that he was G-RD-A and on his arm sees the tattoo mark. She now believes that he was her husband. Morgan is discovered to be a Confederate and swears vengeance on Kennedy. Jeanne hopes to obtain by torture if necessary the truth about her marriage from Kennedy. The parson and Armitage accordingly are kidnapped and taken to a deserted cabin. There, bound, they are seated when Morgan lights a short fuse attached to a powder barrel.

Jeanne saves them and tells Armitage, with whom she is falling deeper and deeper in love, that she gives him "a life for a life." Armitage, rejoining his father's command is present when she runs away with a federal locomotive. He fires at the engines and hits her in the arm. She makes her way back to the Confederate lines and while recuperating Morgan gives her a sheet of paper containing the names of the "eleven!"

CHAPTER X

Parson Kennedy, Charles Lowell, Arthur Snell, George Armstrong, John Armitage, Philip Gardner, Jas. Fogarty, Franz Schmidt, Wallace Henderson, Frederick Skinner.
The WG, Washington, NK, New York, RD, Richmond, BN, Boston, PA, Philadelphia.

It seemed strange to her that there had ever been any mystery. J-WG-A, that meant John (Washington) Armitage—the man's name and his headquarters.

She idly counted the names—and instantly became animated. Again she went over the list. Including Parson Kennedy, there were but ten names, and there had been eleven men that night! Oh, she had counted them with particular care—eleven, always eleven. Morgan had missed one.

Having lost the certificate, the eleventh name—the initials—had passed from her recollection.

Meantime, Armitage's telegrapher had restored communications and his command was saved.

It was Parson Kennedy who brought information of the Confederate trap. He had stumbled upon this information by the merest luck. He had left his comrade back there, dead.

"Who?" asked Armitage.

"Gardner."
The two, sent out to feel the way from headquarters, had run plump into a scouting party of the enemy. The two never hesitated; hesitation would be to invite death. They struck the astonished group before they thought to raise their carbines, broke through and went on, followed by a storm of bullets. The younger man twisted oddly in his saddle. A mile or so beyond, he called out in agony. Kennedy was beside him almost as soon as he fell.

"Gardner, boy?"
"Parson—if you ever see her again—" Gardner was dead.

Armitage, with compressed lips and frowning eyes, listened to this vivid recital. Six gone: Armstrong, Fogarty, Schmidt, Henderson, Skinner and Gardner—six brave and gallant officers. Clark, the telegrapher, had told him it was a woman who held him up. Six comrades were dead; but Jeanne Beaufort lived; and she was free besides. He stiffened in the saddle, and the lines in his face grew hard. He would find Jeanne Beaufort; and woe to her when he did!

The ragged army had settled down for the winter. The living-room was temporarily deserted, the chief in command and his staff having gone on a tour of inspection. Beyond the window the camp-fire blazed brightly.

The door opened and closed softly, and Morgan stood with his back to it for a while, absorbing the lovely picture Jeanne presented.

"You are very lovely tonight," he said.

She did not reply. She could not hate this man. She vaguely wondered what her attitude would have been had he been less handsome.

"Have you ever paused to think, Jeanne, that a man falls in love involuntarily? That it is instinctive on his part to elude it as long as possible?"

"Between you and me, Major, love is taboo," she said, rising.

"Ah, you may draw that taboo line as much as you please; but I am always bound to cross it. You made a confession to me one night, under stress."

"You are under my roof, Major."
"A Yankee!"
"Still an honorable man."

"And yet his name was on that list I gave you. Will you not tell me, not as a woman to a man, but as comrade to comrade, what this list means?"

"No. Besides, there were eleven, and you brought me the names of but ten."

"Eleven? I secured what I could. Didn't I tell you I got them in Parson Kennedy's room? I didn't have much time. You can be like granite sometimes."

"If our meetings are unpleasant, you have only yourself to thank. I do not love you; but there was a time when I respected you, admired your courage and resourcefulness."

"You hit straight. Well, a thousand times you have signed John Armitage's death warrant." He spoke without apparent anger. "All I want is Armitage in front of my sword. I wish to conquer him before I kill him."

"The death of John Armitage will in no wise alter my sentiments in regard to you, Major. You ought to realize that."

He reached for his hat, but did not put it on his head. For two troopers entered, wheeled right and left and stered at attention. A man followed them, blinking. Two more troopers came after him. Then came the staff.

John Armstrong and Jeanne Beaufort looked into each other's eyes once more. He took off his hat.
"Do you know this man, Major?" Morgan was asked.

"Yes, General; he is Captain Armstrong of the Federal Secret Service, one of the eleven I have often told you about."

"He was found within our lines," grimly. "He shall be shot at dawn."
"Did you find any papers on him?"
"No."

Jeanne walked to the farther door, opened it and passed out of the room; but she remained close to the door, her brain awhirl. After several minutes she heard Morgan speak again. There was no doubt of the hatred in her heart now.

"He has left his dispatches or his notes elsewhere. Perhaps I had better go and look over the ground where you found him."

Presently Jeanne heard the men filing out. She opened the door cautiously. Armitage was seated before the fire stretched out in his chair, his chin in his collar. He was alone. The guards had been stationed outside. Jeanne entered and approached within a few feet of him. He heard her, turned and rose.

"Jeanne Beaufort!" he said quietly.

"Yes; this is my home, Captain Armitage."

"Do you know why I am in this room tonight? I disobeyed orders for the mere sake of seeing you once more. In the back of my watch are my notes of observation."

"You tell me this!" horrified.
"Yes. You played with me, you sought my love to break it. Well, here they are, love and life. Break them. I was there that night, as you know. Take your revenge. They will have me shot anyhow."

"I do not want your life. God forbid!" she cried brokenly.

"I have ceased to regard it as anything valuable. I have stamped upon this love, but it is too strong for me. So here I am, contemptuous in my own eyes and doubtless in your own."

"You forced me to play traitor!" He leaned toward the fire and spread out his hands.

"Will you give me the name of the man I married that night?"
"Say that I was the man, and let it go at that."

"It is impossible, because you are the man who first stepped out."
"On my word of honor, I was not that man."

Should he tell her that it was Morgan, Morgan, whom she trusted? He doubted if she would believe him; so he let the opportunity pass.

"You will not tell me the truth?" Armitage smiled into the fire.
"Suppose I tell you that I did not play with you, that I admired you beyond all other men?"

"I'm afraid of you, Jeanne Beaufort," was all he said.
"Then God help us both!" And with this passionate cry she ran from the room.

The cry lingered in Armitage's ear for a long while. He fought against it resolutely. She was a consummate actress, but all her arts were useless now, of no avail.

Morgan came in, smiling. "So here we are at last!"
"At least it will not be murder."
"You and the Parson were in my way. Lord, how I fooled you all!"
"Not recently, Major."

"Alice Trent—there was drama for you. How she laughed behind your back!"
Something impelled Armitage to say, "You lie!"

"I have stirred you, then?"
There was a sentry outside the window, one on the veranda, three more distributed around the house. Armitage had made careful note of this. A great many things might happen within an hour.

"Suppose we play a game of piquet to while away the time. We used to try our hand at that."

"I shouldn't mind in the least." Armitage instantly formed a purpose. He believed he saw a way out. There was a chance of a bullet missing his back tonight but no chance of a dozen missing his breast in the morning.

They sat down at the table and Morgan riffled the cards. "I'll always remember you as a cool one, Armitage. For my part, I'd much rather have you at the end of my saber." He dealt a hand.

Armitage led.
The butt of his revolver protruded just above the table edge.

Banter of a deadly character began to pass between the two men. One was sure of the situation; the other was watchful and ready to seize upon the slightest advantage.

"Armitage," said Morgan, finally. "I hate you more than anything else on earth. But you are a brave man."

"I pass the compliment back—only, I do not hate you, Morgan. I despise you."
"That renegade Parson Kennedy will mourn for you."

"But he has my dispatches by this time. For two nights I have been inside your lines. If I lost my head, it is because I wanted to make sure that Jeanne Beaufort did not play fast and loose with me. She will never be yours either, Morgan."

"No?" Morgan gazed at his enemy through half-closed eyes. "If, as they say, the dead come back, you will see."

PRINCIPAL AT TUSCOLA

Kenneth Roughton has been employed as principal of the South Side grade school in Tuscola. This is the position held last term by Irtys Alvey. Mr. Roughton filled out the unexpired term this Spring following Mr. Alvey's resignation. He was at that time teacher in manual training in the Tuscola schools. He went to Charleston this week to enroll in the Teachers College for the Summer term.

COMMISSION AND TELEPHONE FOLKS TANGLE ON 'THANK YOU'

The Illinois Commerce Commission called the Bell Telephone Company on the carpet this week to explain why operators say "thank you" instead of repeating the number asked for. The commission holds that repeating the number adds to accuracy, and insists that so it shall henceforward be. The telephone company questions the right of the commission to dictate what central shall say when you place a call.

At the local exchange the girls are still saying "thank you" and no orders have been received from the higher-ups to change this habit.

Police Magistrate L. Lambrecht who went to West Baden, Indiana last week, expected to stay several weeks, returned Monday. He reports that the heavy rains have played havoc with this popular resort and conditions are far from desirable.

races, all have or are being arranged for. Something is planned for each minute of the day and night to suit the wishes of forty thousand different people.

Lawrence Jones and his Californians have played for us the past two years and will come back to a greater welcome than ever before. As a new feature we are planning for them to play almost continuously from two o'clock in the afternoon until midnight or even later if the dancers wish it.

The Princess Olga Shows came to us for their contract more than six months ago. They like our day and our crowd. We believe them to be one of the cleanest and most satisfactory carnivals on the road. Last year they had only three rides besides their shows and concessions. This year they have added two new rides and additional shows and concessions. Last year they were handicapped by unsatisfactory transportation from their last place and we didn't get up until the middle of the day. This year they will move in Saturday night and will be all ready to go early Monday morning.

Two free acts, one a tight wire and the other a tumbling act, will each give three performances—one in the morning on the court house lawn, and one in the afternoon and one in the evening at the park. These acts have been added to the program at a considerable expense. We hope that the entertainment they afford will justify the additional cost. We are also negotiating and expect to secure a trained dog act for the especial amusement of the children.

Plans for advertising by auto banners are going forward. Within a few days three or four hundred automobiles going out of Sullivan will be giving notice to the world of our celebration. A booster trip, fireworks display cards, carnival posters and newspaper advertising will also play their part in bringing the crowd. It is not too early to be making your plans to get your relatives, friends and acquaintances here on that day. Send them this paper and tell them more will be written here next week.

RAIN AGAIN STOPS CORN PLANTING, ALREADY TOO LONG DELAYED

Just about the time the farmers were figuring on how many more days it would take them to finish planting corn, another rain came along Saturday night. It was one of those rains which was generous in the extreme in amount of water which it showered down.

By Sunday morning many planted fields of corn were ponds and all streams were rushing along hurriedly with another excess load of dampness.

Not only did it hit the corn planting, but also many fields of hay which had been cut the latter part of last week. Especially was this true on farms 50 to 100 miles south of here.

The rains delayed planting for a few days more and made conditions less favorably for germination of the fields already planted. In those fields planted early, the weeds were given another lease on life. From the standpoint of the farmer, this last rainy spell was uncalled for, not wanted, and an unmitigated nuisance.

While wheat prospects are still good, the excessive and continued dampness is causing rust and preventing the wheat ripening.

In some counties about a hundred miles South of here, the writer saw fields Sunday, which will be ready to harvest the latter part of this week. Wheat seems to be about the only crop which may bring the farmer something. Oats does not look any too good. Pastures are uniformly good.

LINDBERGH

(By F. A. D.—Masonic Home)
A young man came from out the west
With faith and courage rare
He had within his mind a thought
Of a voyage through the air.

He marked a course for the Emerald Isle

Across the Ocean deep
And kept that course so straight and true.

It was a wondrous feat.

He landed in a Foreign clime
To him a strange new shore
And all the people welcomed him
With one spontaneous roar.

They honored him in many ways
Decked him with jewels rare
Proclaimed him master mariner
And a wizard of the air.

Kings joined with lowly peasant men
To give unstinted praise
And then the people one and all
Did their glad voices raise.

We like his true and manly ways
His courage very great
He's an honor to his Native land
Our country and his State.

HORSE GETS IN A WELL

Sammie Voyles had the misfortune of letting a horse fall into a well on Saturday evening at the John Voyles home. Several neighbor men were called in to help get the animal out. The horse was only slightly hurt, but the wall of the well fell in and the well is ruined.—Findlay Enterprise.

however, that if in the judgment of the court, it was deemed advisable to give Chapman another chance, they would not stand in the way of such action.

The defendant himself took the stand and was questioned at length as to the events on the night when he and John Skiff robbed the station. He admitted that he had been drinking on that day.

Following the taking of testimony Judge Sentel questioned the man at length and then heard a plea from his attorney. The States Attorney stated that he had no course to recommend in the case, thus leaving it entirely up to Judge Sentel to make his ruling.

The Judge indicated that he would grant the probation requested but laid down the following rules to be followed by Chapman for a period of one year:

He must not touch liquor, gamble or frequent poolrooms. He must attend church or Sunday school once each week. He must read books and report monthly to the parole officer what books he has read. He may not loiter on the streets. He may not leave the state for a period of one year without permission. He may not smoke cigarettes, but pipe and cigars are not taboo; if he knows of any law violation (including bootlegging) he is to report such offense at once to the proper officials; he must keep an account of all money earned and for what purposes spent during the year and report it regularly to the parole officer.

The Judge stated that the prisoner had made a good showing as a witness in his behalf and that the appearance of so many responsible business and professional men from Moweaqua in his behalf had prompted him to grant the probation.

New Trial in Hines Case

The North American Benefit Corporation of Springfield won its plea for a new trial in the suit which has been instituted against the company by John W. Hines of Lovington. Mr. Hines sued the company to collect a $1000 insurance policy. The case was tried here and a jury found in favor of the plaintiff. The company has continued the fight however, and has won its contention that it be granted a new trial.

Chancery Cases

A decree of sale was entered in the partition suit of Elza Hutchings and Burton Hutchings against Callie Cook and others.

In the partition suit of Charles J. Bathe and Daisy P. Frantz against Logan S. Bathe and others, the Master in Chancery's report was received and approved and a decree of partition entered. Henry C. Ray, J. B. Tabor and O. F. Dolan were named commissioners.

A decree for sale was entered in the partition suit of Martha V. Enterline and others against George Ballard and others.

The suit for construction of will and partition filed by Clara M. Wood and Sarah M. Fultz against Mary A. Hubbard and others was brought to the court's attention in a petition for appointment of a receiver in the estate. The petition was allowed and O. F. Dolan was named receiver and bond fixed at $4,000.

FORREST RESOURCES

Illinois, though called by pioneers, "The Prairie State," originally had immense forest resources, and still could meet almost all its own needs for forest products if the land not suited to agriculture were devoted to the growing of trees, according to reports issued by the State Natural History Survey.

Facts brought to light during the last six years, in the Survey's investigations, show that farm woodlots and idle lands could produce wood crops at a profit to the owners and could supply the demands of local wood-using industries.

Fifteen million acres—almost half of the entire area of the State—was originally wooded.

Three Million Acres

Illinois still has three million acres of wooded land. About one-tenth of this consists of continuous tracts of timber in the southern part of the State. The other nine-tenths is made up of farm woodlots. Two out of every five farmers in Illinois have woodlots.

The annual wood crop in Illinois is worth thirteen million dollars, which is a greater value than all the butter made or all the orchard crops grown in the state in a year.

Wood is now being cut in Illinois almost twice as fast as it is being replaced by growth, and wooded land is being cleared at the rate of 4,500 acres a year. If the present rate of consumption were to be continued with no attempt to make good the deficit, the State would be completely stripped of forest in 31 years.

WE'VE SEEN 'EM

He sat at the lunch counter in a cafeteria. He glanced at his watch. Only ten minutes to make that class. He'd have to hurry. He gulped down a sandwich and glass of milk, and then pointing to a pie at the back of the counter, said:

"I'll have a piece of that blackberry pie."

"That ain't blackberry," said the waitress, as she drove off the flies, "it's custard."

ILLINOIS HOLDS HIGH RANK IN MINERAL WEALTH

Urbana, Illinois, June 15—Illinois exceeds 41 other states in the value of minerals produced in a year. According to statistics compiled by the State Geological Survey in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Commerce, the amount for Illinois is $231,680,000.

States known primarily for their mineral resources, such as Arizona, Utah, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Idaho, Nevada, and New Mexico, fall far below Illinois in annual output of mineral products.

For example, Arizona, with all its gold, silver, copper, and lead, has a total production valued at less than one-half that of Illinois. And New Mexico, with all its copper, coal, zinc, and oil, has a total production valued at less than one-ninth that of Illinois.

Compared to Alaska

The value of all the gold, silver, copper, and coal mined in Alaska in a year must be multiplied by thirteen to equal the wealth obtained from the ground a year in Illinois.

Only six states, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, California, Texas, West Virginia, and Ohio, exceed Illinois in mineral production, but not one of them possess as wide a variety of abundant mineral resources as Illinois enjoys. Besides ranking high in coal, petroleum, cement, and clay, four of the products which it has in common with these states, Illinois holds first place in the production of flourspar, agricultural limestone, and silica sand, and possesses inexhaustible deposits of sand, gravel, and stone suitable for construction purposes.

COTTON IS COOL

You can wear cotton to be cool. There are many kinds of cotton fabrics, each useful for a specific purpose, according to the way in which it is made, says the Bureau of Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture. For example, if you want to feel cool you will dress so as to permit evaporation of moisture from the body, a process which requires a constant circulation of air through the clothing. Cotton as a fiber is a good conductor of heat; that is, heat passes through it readily. For coolness, however, you must choose the thin, open, flat, smooth weaves among the cotton goods—those which inclose no air and permit a maximum of air circulation. Fabrics of this type are voile, batiste, organdy, lawn, and dimity. These materials do not absorb great amounts of perspiration. It is evaporated by the air directly from the skin giving the sensation of coolness.

You will avoid in hot weather the flat, firm, solid weaves such as heavy muslin, denim, and khaki. These fabrics are so dense that they are impervious to air, and because of their smooth, hard surface the perspiration is not absorbed. This permits the body to be enveloped in a layer of dead, damp air. These impervious fabrics are hot and very undesirable for summer and are never suitable for wear next the skin. Don't put long denim overalls and twill middies on the children on hot days. You can dress them for play in cool, thin sateen or smoothly woven prints, leaving as much of the arms and legs uncovered as you can.

For summer underwear choose thin muslins, such as crossbar or nainsook. For winter underwear turn to the knitted cottons. These are so porous that they inclose the air and also permit absorption of perspiration.

"BARGAIN" SEASON HERE FOR FEEDS DAIRYMEN USE

Urbana, Ill., June 15—Savings of $5 to $15 a ton in the cost of feeds like linseed oil meal, wheat bran and cottonseed meal may be made by buying during the summer instead of waiting until the winter feeding season opens, says Dr. W. B. Nevens, assistant chief in dairy cattle feeding at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

"Besides the saving made in buying during the season of low prices, further price reductions can be secured by several farmers ordering a carload of feed together instead of each buying a small quantity as needed. Such an order is conveniently handled through the local dealer. Still other savings can be made by hauling the feed directly from the car upon arrival and paying cash instead of having the dealer carry the account. By thus economizing on the winter feed bill, many of those in the dairying business can make it more profitable.

"Figures covering feeds which the dairyman needs to supplement his farm grown corn and oats show that prices of such feeds usually decline as soon as the pasture season opens and reach their lowest levels during the spring or summer months. The highest prices, on the other hand, are generally reached during the winter feeding season when there is an active demand for these feeds. Prices of farm grains are usually lowest soon after harvest. Unusual crop conditions in any year may change these conditions radically, of course.

"General farm work often prevents the herd owner from giving the matter his attention until the barn feeding season begins, when demand for feeds soon sends prices up. Most feeds like linseed oil meal, wheat bran, cottonseed meal and gluten feed, will keep well for a year or more if stored in a dry place, so that one need not hesitate from the standpoint of keeping quantities in buying now for next winter's use."

CAUSE OF TROUBLE

"Yes," said Mrs. Newrich to the automobile salesman, "I understand about the carburetor, and all those other parts. Now please show me the depreciation. I've been told that it gives more trouble than anything else."

BUTTER SUPPLIES LESS THAN LAST YEAR; POULTRY AND EGG STORAGE LARGER

The report on cold storage supplies of butter show that this year there are 28,548,568 pounds as compared to 33,064,362 pounds last year.

This year there are 5425,500 cases of eggs in storage as compared with 4,189,703 at this time last year.

Poultry reports show that the increase in dressed storage stuff is about 11,000,000 lbs. over last year's record. The figures are for 1926—30,034,908 pounds; for 1927—41,123,992 pounds. American people must eat more chicken if prices are to be kept anywhere near what they are now.

LINCOLN SHRINE MAY BE VISITED ON SUNDAYS

No place in Illinois, and probably few places in the United States, is visited during the year by as many prominent people, not only men and women of national but international importance, as Lincoln's Home and Tomb at Springfield, Illinois. The great majority of the tourists passing through Springfield by automobile visit both historic points.

In the future, in order to accommodate the thousands of people who revere the memory of Abraham Lincoln, Lincoln's old home at the corner of 8th and Jackson, Springfield, will be open for visitors on all holidays from 10 to 12 o'clock in the forenoon and from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and for the benefit of the thousands of people who are unable to take the time to come to Springfield during the week, it will be open from 1 to 5 o'clock Sunday of each week.

Lincoln's life is an inspiration to all the people but especially those of his home State, and the students of our colleges as well as grade and high schools, and all visitors are always welcome. Their visits are made very instructive and interesting by the efficient custodians of these two outstanding memorials.
