Morans Outplayed And Defeated at Armory Thursday

Thrilling Spectacle of Basket Ball Staged by Manager Grafton on Armory Floor. Pump Company Team Also Defeated.

The highly touted Morans independent basket ball team of Decatur went down to decisive defeat on the Armory floor on Thursday night of last week before a strong independent team composed of the best players in Moultrie county.

As a preliminary game the regular Armory team walloped the Decatur Pump Company aggregation by a score of 25 to 17.

Then came the big game, said by all local fans to have been about the best game seen here in years.

Led by Clark Dennis, coach at the STHS, a former Eureka College star, as center, the local team outplayed the Decaturites at nearly every stage of the game. There were plenty of field goals and plenty of thrills.

Decatur played the best they had, although their alibi in next morning's paper of that city stated that Lowery and Humble were absent resulting in a crippled team.

Gregory of Lovington was the champion scorer for Sullivan having eight field goals and two free throws to his credit. Dennis was a close second with 7 field goals and one free throw. Coach Meier of Lovington played forward on the local team and Heinsch of that city and Bill Ded-(Continued on page 5)

Mrs. Cazier Leaves Sixty-Two Descendants When Death Called

Former Sullivan Resident Passed Away at Home of Her son Near Shelbyville. Had Come From Kentucky in Early Youth.

Mrs. Mary E. Cazier died at the home of her son William Walter Cazier near Shelbyville Friday morning, Jan. 13th. She had been making her home with her son since August 18, 1927. Most of this time she had been bedfast from the infirmities of old age. Since Christmas she had been much worse. She was born in Kentucky Feb. 14, 1843 and came to Illinois with her parents, Charles and Lucinda Gough while a young child. Her maiden name was Mary E. Gough. She was united in marriage with William J. Cazier April 19, 1866.

To this union were born nine children, six of whom survive the mother. The children are Mrs. Elizabeth Wallace of east of Bruce, John W. Cazier of Sullivan; Ida, wife of Elzie Taylor GETS INTO FINANCIAL of near Findlay; Pearl, wife of James Rhodes of Sullivan; J. E. Cazier of south of Sullivan and William Walter Cazier of north of Shelbyville at whose home she passed away.

The deceased children are Mrs. Susan Womack, Miss Mary Cazier and Mrs. Dora Baker. The husband, William J. Cazier passed away, Sept. who owned them. Machinery, tools, everything that is needed to do ma- of those present signified a willing-25, 1917.

Had Mrs. Cazier lived until Feb. 14, she would have been 85 years old. She was a woman of remarkable health and strength all her life up until a few years ago when she fell and broke her arm. Since that time she failed gradually until a year ago, when for weeks she was very low, no one expecting her to ever be up again Finally she rallied and was up and about the house for several months.

She was a good wife, a fond and loving mother and a woman loved by everyone. She was a conscientious Christian church at Stricklan 45 years Valpariso, Ind., where Mr. Miller is ago. Both Mr. and Mrs. Cazier placed a resident. their. membership with New Liberty Church of Christ west of Bruce, where they attended whenever circumstances permitted as long as they lived on their farm near there and after moving to Sullivan as long as Mr. Cazier lived. They moved to Sullivan in 1910.

She leaves the six children mentioned above and 32 grandchildren, and 24 great grandchildren; also one brother, Joseph Gough of Okla., and him to stop that train here and to ashandle much of the heavy work that a host of friends who will be made sure him of co-operation in getting the garages are not equipped to Notable Event in Sullivan's Social Calendar Duly Observed at the Jenne Home Monday Afternoon.

A very pretty social affair was that of the F. I. C. club's silver anniversary which was given at the home of Mrs. Ella Jenne, Monday afternoon

The invitations which had been sent out previously were printed in

The rooms were beautifully decorated in silver leaves and each one present was presented with a silver Teacher's Institute has also been seleaf. Due to the inclement weather the attendance was not as great as had been expected. Eighty-eight ladies were present. Nine of these were from out of town and eighteen were former members of the club.

The program was opened by an address of welcome by president,

Mrs. Eleanor Merriman accompanied by Miss Lula Clark.

The three ladies who first thought of organizing the club were Mrs. Carrie Smyser of California, Mrs. Drucilla Pogue of Decatur and Mrs. Ella Stedman of this city.

A very interesting letter from Mrs. Smyser was read by Mrs. Hettie

Mrs. Minnie Gauger then told of the organizing of the club at her home Jan. 16, 1903, 25 years ago. The names of these ladies appeared in these columns last week however, two names were omitted. They were Mrs. Adilla Burns and Mrs. A. M. Wand.

"History of the club" a very interesting paper by Mrs. Adilla Burns was then read.

New Industry a Big Community As-set. Enterprize of Walker Com-pany Furnishes Employment for Sullivan Mechanics.

In boosting for the new hotel, new theatre and other uptown industries Sullivan folks have rather overlooked another industry that has been built up in the West end of this city.

Some months ago W. H. and Earl Walker bought the old C. I. P. S. building. They repaired and reroofed it, making a storage garage out of the big part of it. Proposed Factory Will Make Cornstalks Big Money Crop

Sullivan Community Club Investigat ing Proposal of Inventor to Manufacture Building Material Hhere; Creating Much Interest.

Sullivan again is courting a factory proposition. It was put in touch industrial agent of the C. & E I.

The factory would use cornstalks in making insulating board, somewhat similar to Celotex and other building materials of that kind. Friday night of last week repre sentatives of the firm which proposes to build the factory met with the community club in special meeting.

The matter was most thoroughly discussed and met a very favorable response from all present.

The proposed factory would use about ten acres of ground, erect a factory 600 feet long and 40 feet wide and use all the cornstalks and ticularly timely as he will speak on similar material that can possibly be What Proper Equipment Means to secured within a wide radius. The promoter stated that it was not unreasonable to tell the farmers that if they handled their stalks as the factory tells them to, they can realize from $12 per acre and up for them. Sunflower stalks, broomcorn stalks and similar material can be used.

Upon request of the club officials the promoter, who is also the inventor of the manufacturing process, agreed to submit a written proposal outlining the requirements necessary to get this factory for Sullivan.

CHARLEY JACKSON ACCUSED OF ROBBING KING FILLING STATION

Charley Jackson, a young man about town, who periodically gets into trouble and jail, was arrested by Sheriff Lansden Wednesday on charge of having robbed the King Filling Station on Hamilton street several weeks ago. Tires and accessories were taken.

Some of this stolen material had been found and traced to Jackson, who, however, denies his guilt.

As the parties from whom the material was stolen have religious scruples against testifying under oath in court, the authorities are trying to perfect their evidence against Jackson in other ways, as they are firmly convinced that he is guilty.

Country Club Held Annual Meeting and Elected Johnson

Well Known Medico and Ex-Mayor Heads Sullivan's Outdoor Recreational Organization. Membership and Finance Reports Are Good.

Dr. Stonewall Jackson Johnson is the new president of the Sullivan Country Club. This selection was made at the annual meeting held Tuesday night.

Emma Jenkins Called After Long Illness; Funeral Services Sun.

Had Been Teacher and Postoffice Employe. Active Worker in Church Lodge and Social Affairs of this Community.

After almost two years of lingering illness, Miss Emma Jenkins, well known in church, social and business life of this city passed away at her family residence 1608 Water street, last Friday, Jan. 13th at 10:40 p. m.

She was the daughter of Martin and Amanda Silcott Jenkins, who had preceded her in death several years ago, as did two brothers and two sisters. She leaves two sisters of this city, Mrs. A. H. Witherup and Mrs. Ella Stedman, who for several years had lived with Miss Jenkins and during all of her long illness continuously, tenderly and devotedly cared for her.

She was born in Cynthiana, Ohio and came with her parents, brothers and sisters to Sullivan in 1882.

She was a successful and efficient teacher for eight years in the public schools of Edgar county and taught several terms of school in Moultrie at the Titus and Morgan schools after coming to Sullivan. She gave up teaching and was employed in the local post office about ten years under the officeships of Addison Mc-Pheeters, A. T. Jenkins and A. K. Campbell. She gave up her clerkship in the postoffice to care for her aged and invalid mother for whom (Continued on page eight)

Once in a while it appears as if the newspapers in catering to the news reading public are sacrificing every sense of decency, every high standard of journalism and are simply making of themselves sewers through which the filth of the world of crime is spewed into the homes of America, there to be spread before the eyes of our boys and girls in a way that cannot do otherwise than degrade their ideals and demoralize their standards of Christian civilization.

We, in our humble position, contend that the way in which our metropolitan contemporaries play up the crime news is one of the most deplorable, unnecessary and demoralizing indecencies of the age.

If that were the real ethics of newspaper work, then we would almost be lead to confess our shame to be classed with the profession.

LAWYERS IN CONGRESS

A recent count showed that out of 435 members of the United States House of Representatives, 328 set themselves down in the Congressional Directory as lawyers. It was pointed out at the time the count was made that a considerable number of Representatives do not furnish any detailed autobiography and there are probably several more lawyers on the roll.

Out of the 435 members, barely 100 are not members of the bar. All other trades, businesses and professions-manufacturing, selling, teaching, farming, banking, preaching, medicine—are represented by fewer than onequarter of the membership of the House of Representatives.

What is the reason? Has the law a stranglehold on the political machinery of the country or is it simply that more lawyers are running

It would be interesting, too, to know just how much of the hot air wasted while Congress is in session is furnished by the lawyers members. By training the lawyer is always ready for debate, and while they make up about 77 per cent of the membership, lawyers probably do about 95 per cent of the talking.—A. N. S.

PENSIONS

The Bureaus of Pensions has just published some interesting facts about its work. Since its establishment in 1789, the Bureau of Pensions has distributed about $8,000,000,000 in cash and 69,000,000 acres of the public domain

On June 30, 1927, there were 489,942 pensioners on the rolls, including 17 widows of men who served in the War of 1812.

The figures showing the amount of money distributed seem quite impressive, but the Government owes a very real debt to the men who served in the military or naval forces when the country needed them most. Now that these men have grown old or have become incapacitated in any way, it would certainly be an ungrateful government that would fail

MEMORIAL TO COLUMBUS. EDUCATION CAN END CRIME.

Secretary Hoover summarizes the last year as regards wages and ployment thus:

"There was little unemployment except during a moderate recession near the end of the year and the rate of real wages remained higher than anywhere else in the world, or than in an yother time in the The high prospect world's history. or than in any other time in the ly an upward swing in the business cycle but was the result of that general and permanent progress which has marked the nation's business.

That is a situation for American ousiness men to keep in their minds thus avoiding damaging doubtful hesitation. Business and prosperity in this country have climbed to a permanently higher plane and, barring foolishness, will stay there.

John D. Rockefeller, eighty-eight ears old, immediately changes his ears old, immediately "stance" at golf, when told by a pro-fessional that he stood too close to the ball. That change lengthened his drive by twenty yards.

Mr. Rockefeller has said that his uccess in the beginning was due to patience and economy.

It may have been due also to his ability to listen to others and take advice. That is a thing that many young men who would like to be Rockefellers have not learned to do.

Christopher Columbus' memory is to be honored by building a magnifi-cent lighthouse costing $4,000,000. What is left of Columbus' body will lie under the lighthouse on a reserva-tion given by the Government of San Domingo.

Columbus would be puzzled by one feature of his memorial, namely, lights shooting up into the air to guide fliers. He would think angels were expected. Architects are inexpected. vited to compete in this enterprise, which should stir the imagination.

Sullivan opened with fireworks and at the first quarter had distanced the visitors 15 to 7. Decatur, who judging by dressing room talk, had expected an easy victory, then began to play real ball and before the end of the half had pulled up to within two points of Sullivan 22 to 20. At the end of the third period the score was 31 to 30, still in favor of the home team. Neville of the visitors went out on fouls and Sullivan romped away for a six point lead.

POULTRY SHOW DREW BIG CROWD; OFFICERS ELECTED FOR NEXT YEAR

Predictions that had been made that the poultry show this year would not draw a big crowd because it was not held in connection with the farmers institute, were not fulfilled. The attendance was fine especially in the evening. More people availed themselves of the opporunity to see the high class display than perhaps in any previous years.

Judge Shellabarger was much pleased with the quality of the birds on display, especially the exhibits of the boys and girls club.

This club work will continue for the coming year but will be more or less under the supervision of the Farm Bureau. Farm Adviser C. C. Turner has agreed to try and secure a U. of I. poultry expert to be here during the farmers institute to organize the club along the lines approved by the University. In connection with this meeting the Poultry Association will select a director fro meach township in the county to help in this and other poultry work.

After playing high class ball for a few weeks the Sullivan Township High team seemed to kind of let up Friday night and as a result Arcola wallopped it by a top-heavy score of 35 to 20, right on the home floor.

Arcola did not play any too well, and both teams showed sporadic bright and fast streaks and then let up. Guarding of both teams was not up to standard.

Los Angeles, Calif.-After a summer's adventuring in the uncharted land and waters of Alaska and the Bering sea, Miss Beth Curtis, daughter of Edward S. Curtis, photographer, writer and owner of the Curtis Biltmore studios, has returned to Los Angeles with her friend, Miss June Mc-Nichol of Nome, Alaska.

Miss Curtis accompanied her father on the Far North trip, where he is doing research work among the Eskimos to complete a 20-volume effort on American Indians and Eskimos. Their journey took them to Nunivak island Nome, far out of the beaten steamer the secluded spot.

Traveled Alone. Miss McNichol's adventure came and desolate portage from Unalakleet, preciated. on the Bering sea, to Kaltag, on the Yukon river.

Miss McNichol was on the long hike of 90 miles for five days, walking across the marshy portage, wearing hip rubber boots and heavy netting about her face to ward off the vicious attacks of the huge northern mosquitoes. She was, for a time, feared lost in the Arctic swamp.

Miss Curtis' adventure began when riving at Nunivak island after the dangerous journey in the boat, Miss Curtis and her father discovered a colony of Eskimos governing theming as their ancestors have lived, ap- asking to be accredited. parently for hundreds of years, on the tiny island in the ley, watery waste of JOHN W. PIFER ASKS the Bering sea.

Followed Everywhere.

Miss Curtis, a striking blonde, was the first woman with hair of that color on the island and created considerable interest among the natives. They curiously followed her everywhere she went.

The natives, she said, are governed by a chief who proves his prowess as a hunter and fisherman. The men and women live in separate sections of the island village, and prior to a hunting, fishing or sealing trip, no woman is allowed to approach the habitation of the men.

After Mr. Curtis obtained data on the Eskimos, Miss Curtis flew from Nome to Kaltag, where she picked up Miss McNichol in the wilderness outpost and traveled from there to Fairbanks and then southward. Miss Mc-Nichol leaves again shortly to spend the winter at her home in Nome, and will be "frozen in" until the middle of next June.

It was near 15 o'clock before the little typewriter ceased clicking.

"But just stop to follow this out. Let's suppose, for the sake of argument, that this battery is all it might ment, that this battery is all it might be; that it is a genuine short cut to unlimited power. The gas and elec-tric companies would simply have to go out of business. Why should any-body buy anything of them? Reach-ing out from that, think of the corre-lated industries that would be more or less affected—"

"What would be your suggestion?" asked Grimstead.

asked Grimstead.

Davenport laughed boyishly.

"My goodness! That's a large order! But I suppose it might be fed out through a single industry at first—say, motorboat engines, or something of that kind. If we held the patents, we could regulate that exactly".

"Then you finally prefer the stock proposition?"

"I guess it's what I ought to have."

Gardiner disappeared with a flash-light in the direction of the car, to re-turn after a few moments carrying a portable typewriter. Grimstead met him just at the circle of firelight. "No shenanigan about this, Ross," he warned in a low voice. I want this contract drawn absolutely fairly, so that any lawyer he may consult will approve of it. I don't want a chance for an objection once we leave this place."

"Yes. You, of course, have not thought of this as much as I have, for it is a new proposition. But I've been pondering on it for a very long while. It's the terrific upset in industry that must come from this."

"Of course there will be readjustments," agreed Grimstead.

"But instance of the ittle typewriter ceased clicking, and about 11 when Davenport affixed his signature to the agreement to sign. The drinks mixed, Simmins handed one to each. Grimstead arose.

"Here's 'to the Universal Power Corporation!" he pronosed.

They drank. Larry saw the toil-driven millions and the lifting of yet another of the great pressures of life. Burton saw confusedly an angel with a flaming sword somehow reonening. "Of course," smiled Davenport, relapsing from his tense eagerness. "And then besides there are hundreds of thousands of workmen who would be thrown out of employment for a time until a readjustment had been made."

"All right. Now just to cover the point you brought up, add this: That for the first five years Mr. Davenport is to have the veto right as to any contemplated extensions of business. That suit you, Davenport?"

"That's fine!" cried the young man. Gardiner disappeared with a flashlight in the direction of the contemplate of the contemp ceeded in landing only four, and they were rather small. Plunketty-Snivvles and Rapscallion

Burton, coming from her tent a few minutes later, found Larry smoking his pipe alone.

"Deserted. Everybody. Even the dogs," he answered her inquiry.

"Like to go walking?"

"Surely!" she cried eagerly.

The top of the rock was perfectly flat, but at two elevations, one two feet higher than the other. It was carpeted deep with moss.

"Hop down," advised Larry, himself descending to the lower of the two elevations. "Now sit down and lean your back. Can you beat this?"

The natural seat thus formed and cushioned commanded to the right a view up the stream which at this point ran straight ahead and wide for some distance. Birds flitted and midges hovered in the sun.

CHAPTER XIV Burton Finds It Curious

"That is the most interesting thing I ever heard!" breathed Burton. "And t sounds so reasonable! But you know we started to talk about you, not about quails and ants. I believe you are a craft sidestepper."

"We're headed toward me. If things were all working along the way they should, man would have this same access to universal wisdom that the lower creatures have. As respects all the things he would norrespects all the things he would normally run against in his every-day normal life he would see, or feel—perceive is a better word—the causes and effects and results; because the stream of life would flow through him by certain abanyals turning contain by certain channels turning certain wheels."

"That's what you do!" she cried excitedly. "I see!"

"In a very small and practical way; a little more than the average. People have just about lost that power. They have little remnants of it. You've heard of 'premonitions' that have worked out; or a 'feeling' that have worked out; or a 'feeling' that once to scramble up over the jagged talus. "Yes." she cried, "what about it?" "You probably thought of all as 'uncanny.' It wasn't uncanny at all. Simply old, choked channels letting through a trickle through a trickle.

She pondered this a moment, her brows puckered prettily.

"It is our fault—this choking?" she asked. "How did it happen?"

"I don't know, of course; but I surmise," he repeated. "It is the intervention of mind, of intellect. Man's intelligence is a fine tool, and complicated. But it was supposed to be plicated. But it was supposed to be only a tool for the purpose of examining and making practical what came to it by direct channel. Mankind got so tickled with it that he began to run all his affairs by it alone. That blocked the channel. The mind took control, instead of working under control. Instead of playing with a fresh supply on first handcall it inspiration; that's what it is— we make over and refashion old stuff. If it were'nt for the fact that some people's channels are not completely blocked, so that a kind of trickle does get through; and if it wasn't for an occasional crazy genius who busts out we'd tie ourselves up in our minds and dry up and blow away."

"Then," she summed up slowly,
"you could tell about the rain and the tree falling, because this current flowed through you?"

"That's roughly it."

"How do you do it?"

"It's hard to say. I set my mind aside and then take what comes to me. I turn my attention to the type of thing that is useful for me to know."

"Do you think everybody ought to have this power?"

18,513 Stockholders receive dividend checks this quarter

In order that the public generally in the territory served by the Company may have an opportunity to learn of the current activities of the Company in rendering service to its present and new customers, there is reproduced below the Dividend Letter which is sent to stockholders with each quarterly dividend.

Dividend Lette Illinois Public S Company

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS:

During the last quarter your company had a net increase of 2,738 electric customers, adding to its lines 2,799 kilowatts in lighting and 967 kilowatts in power. In addition power contracts were secured aggregating 493 kilowatts. New electric franchises and/or street lighting contracts having been granted your company by twenty-two communities in the territory served The Company also secured contracts covering the power requirements for the Menzies Shoe Company at Carbondale and the Illinois Electric Porcelain Company at Macomb, covering more complete electrification of that company's plant. Wholesale power contracts were also secured covering electric service to six coal mines and to the Illinois Central Railroad Shops at Carbondale.

During the last quarter your company completed a 33,000-volt transmission line extending from Gibson City to Forrest. This transmission line forms a loop in the Division P territory and provides material improvement in service to all customers in the western part of that division. The transmission line extending from Havana to Forrest City was also completed, enabling the Company to supply transmission line service to Bishop, Topeka and Forrest City.

During the last quarter your company com-pleted the installation of an electric switching station at Hoopeston, equipped with circuit breakers on the 33,000-volt transmission lines extending to Watseka and Paxton. This equipment was stalled to improve service in that territory. Work is nearing completion on a truck type switch board at Quincy governing all local distribution feeder lines. Work is progressing rapidly on changing the old steam driven ice plants at Anna and Lincoln to electric driven fresh water installations. Work of removing the old equipment and the necessary building changes is being rushed to completion so that the manufacture of Cipsco ice may be started in these plants promptly for the

CENTRAL ILLINOIS PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

Electric light and power companies are custodians of the savings of millions of people. The investor's willingness to put his money in the busioundation of this growing industry, in which an average of five dollars must be invested in facilities for each dollar of annual gross revenue.

When economical transmission of electricity over broad areas was made technically possible it opened up an era of construction and consolidation of electric facilities outside of the large cities, a period of building widespread efficient systems in non-metropolitan areas to replace inadequate local plants in small towns and to serve rural sections for the first time. The public utility investment company represents equally the investor whose savings it puts to constructive use and the customer whose electric service it provides by assembling the capital with which to construct the necessary facilities. Between these two, investor and customer, it has established an identity of interest. Earned confidence and soundness of investment have enlisted millions of investors and thus assured that ready flow of capital necessary to the ample, economical and expanding electric service upon which the new industrial and social life of the nation is builded.

On the last page of this folder is an interior picture of the Marion office opened during the past quarter. The new Marion office building is equipped with the latest modern and complete lighting equipment, display fixtures and counters for the convenience and comfort of the Company's customers. The first floor of this building is used for the service of the Company's customers in Marion, while the second floor is used for the headquarters of Division C.

Respectfully yours,

January 14, 1928.

IMPOSING ARRAY OF INSTRUCTORS BOOKED FOR BIG INSTITUTE

(Continued from page 1) cured to speak to the Farmers' Institute. He is a widely known leccurer and writer. He speaks before the large audiences Institute on the evening of Feb. 2nd.

Dr. W. L. Burlison Dr. Burlison is head of the Agronomy Department of the University of Illinois. He has been with the Department for some years and was a co-worker with Dr. Hopkins, having scriptions, ladies' aprons, large and had charge of the crop investigation work prior to becoming Chief of the department. He is one of the foremost crop experts in the country and an authority along crop lines. His extensive research and experimental work at the University has given Illinois much valuable crop information. He is intensely practical and knows how to interpret experimental results for the every day benefit and use of farmers. No man in the middle west Demonstration. has a more comprehensive understanding of crop needs and requirements on niddle western farms than Dr. Burlison. He is an interesting speaker and has a message of practical value for every farmer. He will speak on the afternoon of February 2nd on "Significant Farm Movements and What They Mean."

A. C. Everingham

Mr. Everingham of Hutsonville is an experienced and practical farmer who has given special attention to soil fertility problems. He is farming under southern Illinois conditions and his success demonstrates the value of ample applications of both limestone and rock phosphate. Crop production has increased materially with the use of these fertilizers as has also the profits from the farming operations. Mr. Everingham is a business farmer who is interested in making the most of his opportunities and has a message of help for the brother farmers who are operating under similar conditions. His address on the evening of Feb. 3rd will be on "Where Do Wc Go From Here." Dr. Caroline Hedger zation" are two subjects which have come to women with greater significance since the war than in all the years past. They are considered among all "after the war" work. Dr. Hedger of Chicago, a physician of note stands among the leading Americanzation workers. Her outlines for study will be followed the country over. We are indeed fortunate in being able to hear Dr. Hedger in our small communities for she is a busy woman in her profession, but sacrifices much to present this most helpful subject to mothers. She will speak on the evening of February 1st on "What the Community Owes the Child.

"Child Welfare" and "Americani-

Mrs. Agnes Kellar Moultrie County people will be glad to know that Mrs. Kellar has been given a prominent place on the institute this year. Her wide experience and untiring energy in club work surely fits her to speak with authority. Her address will be "The Woman's Workshop" and will be given the afternoon of Feb. 2nd.

Mrs. J. L. Murray Mrs. Murray of Bloomington, has the unique name "The Made Over Lady" and the "Millinery Genius." For years it has been a joke among Mrs. Murray's friends that she preferred making garments from cast-

Livestock Management This important subject will be discussed at the Moultrie county institute on Feb. 2nd by J. M. Dowell, manager of the B. F. Harris farms in Champaign county. Mr. Dowell has active charge of 2,250 acres devoted to the production of better livestock and grain. He feeds from 400 to 500 beef cattle per year, raises over a 1,000 hogs a season, several hundred lambs which he markets by the carload, and is an expert livestock breeder of pure bred hogs and sheep.

This feature of the program will offer a most interesting and instructive discussion which will appeal to all farmers and livestock men, and prove one of intense practical value at the morning session on "Hogs as a Cash Crop" and one at the afternoon session on "Sheep Increase Farm Re-

I. D. Heckman

As a corn grower, judge and exhibitor, Mr. Heckman of Cerro Gordo is in a class by himself. He not only knows good corn but can and does produce it on his own farm year in and year out. He is a real corn farmer and has taken many championships ribbons in State and National corn shows. While he likes best to judge and talk cern, he is also a past master in discussir; community and other farm topics in a way that both entertains and instructs. Few farm speakers have a better knowledge of farm methods and agricultural condition generally than Mr. Heckman.

Prof. W. B. Nevens Prof. Nevens is well known among Illinois farmers and dairymen. He has been engaged in special dairy work for some years and is well in-formed on all phases of the dairy business, especially from the standpoint of the producer. His message is intensely practical and of great value to farmers generally. What he has to say appeals equally to men having large or small dairy herds and to farmers keeping only a few cows. He will speak at the morning session on February 1st on "Feeding for Economical Production of Milk in Winter" and at the afternoon session on "Summer Pasture for the Dairy

EMMA JENKINS CALLED AFTER LONG ILLNESS FUNERAL SERVICES SUNDAY

(Continued from page 1) she tenderly cared for over eight years. She was the local correspondent for the Decatur Herald from 1906 to 1915.

She united with the local Methodist church in 1887 under the ministry of J. M. Driver and was until the day of her death a consistant and devoted Christian and always a faithful member and attendant of both church and Sunday school until failing healtn prevented.

She was a prominent and devoted member of Crystal Chapter No. 39, O. E. S. of Sullivan, she being the 3rd candidate to be initiated into the local chapter. She had held almost all the chairs in chapter and was one of the Past Matrons.

During all her long illness and suffering she bore up with the great-est fortitude, and exhibited most wonderful patience, was never heard to murmur or complain but always met her friends and neighbors with a bright smile and cheerful welcome at her bed-side.

The funeral services were held at the M. E. church Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. conducted by Rev. D. A. McLecd, assisted by Rev. C. D. Robertson. Burial services were by the officers and members of Crystal Chapter No. 39.
