Harshman Awarded Bridge Contract on Masonic Home Road

Local Man Lands Big Contract. Will Start Work at Once. Graders For Paving Job Are Already Busy.

L. R. Harshman of this city has been awarded the contract to build the bridges on the Masonic Home road which will be paved this summer. His bid was $21,646.58. This is for a new bridge across Jonathan Creek East of the Home and for widening and rebuilding the Asa Creek bridge on East Jackson street.

Mr. Harshman expects to start work at once on building the detour bridge across Jonathan Creek.

The Loeb grading outfit of Decatur has arrived and work in putting the grade in shape for paving is now under way.

Sullivan will have a big job of work in the construction of this road and it will add materially to better business conditions in this community this summer.

VILLA GROVE UP TO EXPECTATIONS; BEAT MERCHANTS 5 TO 1

The Sullivan Merchants and the Villa Grove team had a real lively contest on the local diamond Sunday. The visitors showed real ability and took the long end of a 5 to 1 score.

Manager Sona has booked this team to play here on the 4th of July and this will constitute one of the big athletic events of a big day.

Next Sunday a team that might be classed as a mysterious stranger will be here. It consists of the Conington lads, a real aggregation of ball players who have never had a chance to show their skill on the local diamond. A good contest is anticipated.

The local management is doing its best to book games with teams that are the Merchant's equal, and Conington according to the reports will make the home boys extend themselves if they want any prizes on their side of the board.

SULLIVAN LADS NOW ORGANIZED INTO BIG BASE BALL LEAGUE

Sullivan has a Junior Base Ball League. It has been organized by the boys under 15 years of age and its sponsors are Clark E. Dennis and Col. Bally Baugher. Four teams are in this league and it is planned to have a game every day. The first game is on Tuesday of this week. The city athletic field diamond is the scene of the games which start promptly at 2:30.

The teams are made up of the following:

CUBS—George Poland, capt.; Finley, Dale Elder, Wayne Under, Wayne Carmine, J. Loy, C. Carter, Wendell Turner and Andrew Baugher.

YANKEES—Elmer Dunscomb, John McDonald, Howard Under, Dean Foster, Raymond Brecht, Dean Pickle, Billie Under, Leo Horn and Victor Under.

CARDINALS—Paul McDavid, Eddie Coventry, Billie Under, Donald Pearson, Melvin Under, Mose Perry, William Under, Joseph McLaughlin and Chy Schneider.

GIANTS—Hugh Grote, capt.; Edmins, J. Poland, Harold Under, Cecil Fultz, Leonard Under, Old Conrad, George Under, The $1 Clarence Walker.

The schedule as worked out this far is:

June 15—Cubs vs. Giants.
June 16—Cardinals vs. Yankees.
June 17—Giants vs. Cardinals.
June 18—Cubs vs. Yankees.
June 19—Cardinals vs. Yankees.
June 20—Yankees vs. Cubs.
June 21—Cubs vs. Cardinals.
June 22—Yankees vs. Cubs.

The object of this league is to give the boys good clean competition during the vacation season and develop good material for the big league teams.

HOUSEHOLD S. MEETING

The Household Science Club will have a postponed meeting Friday afternoon, beginning at 7:30 at the home of Miss Eva Under. Mrs. Ruth Poland will be in charge of the program.

Only One Standard of Honesty

JUDGE FLOYD E. THOMPSON

Insisting that there is but one standard of honesty for people in office and out of office, Judge Floyd E. Thompson turned loose a broadside against the opposition in an address delivered at the meeting of Women's Democratic Committee at the St. Nicholas hotel in Springfield, Tuesday, June 12th.

Honesty in public life is the keynote of his campaign which is now rapidly getting under way. He expects during this campaign to visit every county in the state. He says that in reply to his charges made against the Emmerson ticket recently the candidate and his friends have responded with the reply "vote 'er straight." The more interesting portions of the

100TH ANNIVERSARY OF WAGGONER FAMILY TO BE CELEBRATED

The Waggoner family, one of the early pioneer families of the county will hold a centennial celebration in Wyman Park, Sullivan, sometime near August 1 this year. These hardy people emigrated by wagons, on horseback, and on foot from their homes in North Carolina landing in what is now Whitley township, Moultrie county in the latter part of March 1828.

They became one of the leading families of the county and one of the most numerous, holding family reunions for many years, during the '80's and '90's.

This being the one hundredth year since their first coming to the country, their descendants now living here are planning a big celebration and family dinner as above stated.

All relatives and friends of the family are asked to help in every way possible to make this celebration a success.

The program and full details will be announced later.

MR. AND MRS. WILL JORDAN VOLUNTARILY BANKRUPT'S

Mr. and Mrs. Will Jordan were adjudged bankrupt in the Federal court at Danville, Friday, June 8th, in accordance with a petition in voluntary bankruptcy which they filed in that court.

They list their assets at approximately $3500 and their liabilities at $8,300. The creditors will meet in Danville June 25th to name a trustee.

Mrs. Jordan before her marriage several years ago was Mrs. Witts. She resides at the extreme southeastern part of the city. Mr. Jordan has for some time been employed in Decatur, but has maintained his place of residence here.

HIGHWAY OFFICIAL HERE

A. C. Roth of Springfield, commandant of the state highway police was here Tuesday conferring with the Legion boys relative to their request for state police to handle traffic on the 4th of July. The request of the Legion had been made to Mr. Roth through Rep. H. H. Hawkins. He agreed to furnish four men and stated that he would be here the latter part of this month to work out a traffic plan.

Clint Coy, the shoe man went to Chicago on business Tuesday.

Community Club had Interesting Meeting Monday Night. Will Push Hospital Project. Three Speakers Address Meeting.

The last banquet of the Spring season was enjoyed by the members of the Sullivan Community Club at the National Inn Monday night.

Several very important community projects were brought to the attention of the members.

F. W. Wood reported that arrangements had been made to have two band concerts weekly, one uptown on Thursday nights and one in Wyman Park on Sunday afternoon. He stated that finances were still a little short on paying for ten week's of such concerts.

D. K. Campbell for the American Legion reported progress on arrangements for the big 4th of July celebration. He stated that there would be a carnival, dance, water carnival and other amusements and that there may be a horseshoe pitching contest with an exhibition by the world's champion in that line of sport. The program for the day is not yet complete, but Mr. Campbell assured the club that it would be bigger and better than ever before.

Farm Adviser Turner advised the meeting that the farm bureau picnic for the 19th Illinois district will be held in Wyman park.

TWO IMPORTANT TOURS PLANNED FOR MOULTRIE FARMERS SOON

Farm Adviser Turner has announced that there will be a Beef Cattle tour at the U. of I. on June 22nd and efforts will be made to have a big delegation from this county make the trip. All who are interested in this matter are asked to get into communication with Mr. Turner without delay.

A week later, on June 29th, there will be a general tour to the University. The University will have open house and a large number of people from this part of the state are expected to take advantage of this tour to familiarize themselves with the excellent work the University is doing for agriculture.

Chal Newbould, Harry Bathe and James Foley attended a convention and banquet of Wadley Company employes at Mattoon Friday night.

Parents too are invited.

This work is being sponsored by the Household Science department of the Farmers Institute and the various household science and similar clubs in this county.

Offer $5.00 in Prizes in The Progress Town Improvement Campaign

If we make the uptown of Sullivan more attractive it will benefit all. Weeds, ashpiles, rubbish, etc., are very unsightly. It creates a bad impression. It makes a city look careless and slothly.

People are entitled to know who is responsible for ill-kept property.

With this end in view we are starting a contest and are going to pay some hard cash to get results.

We will confine the territory to be covered to the uptown bounded on the North by Jackson street, on the west by Hamilton Street, on the east by Worth street and on the South by Water street.

We want to know who has the four most unsightly pieces of property in that territory, on or after July 1st. The contest will end July 10th.

We want pictures of what you consider the most unsightly pieces of property. Take them yourselves or have them taken. You may make one or more entries in this contest.

For the picture of the worst looking piece of real estate we will give a prize of $2.00; second $1.50; 3rd, $1.00 and fourth 50c. The picture must be accompanied by the name of the owner and tenant of the property and date when picture was taken. Prizes will be given to the parties who turn in the photographs, although their names will not be made public unless they give permission.

The photographs submitted will be sent to competent out-of-town judges for classification. After the close of the contest they will be placed on display and we reserve the privilege of publishing them in The Progress if we feel that it will add to the object in view which is a cleaner and more beautiful Sullivan.

If you do not fully understand the contest terms, call at this office and we will tell you more about it.

Republican Standard Bearer

HERBERT HOOVER

The Republican National convention at Kansas City Thursday afternoon was all set to nominate Herbert Hoover for president on the first ballot.

His nomination was practically assured when Andrew Mellon of Pennsylvania arrived on the scene the early part of the week and announced that the Pennsylvania delegates would cast their votes for Hoover.

The farmers' candidates, Lowden, Watson, Curtis, etc., continued to make a desperate fight but were steam-rollered at every turn. When certain that they had no chance whatever to nominate any of their men for president, they made a fight for a plank in the Republican platform for endorsement of farm relief legislation in accordance with the

29 Republican And 28 Democrats Will Be Election Judges

Supervisors Made Appointments Monday. Reject Blind Pension Requests. Make Further Attacks on Commissioners' 4-year Terms.

The board of supervisors met in regular June session Monday.

Claims were allowed, judges and clerks of election were named and various other matters that came before the board were disposed of.

Petitions for blind pensions from James A. Barbee of this city and A. G. Grindol of Lovington were rejected. Both of these men received such pensions until the ruling was made some months ago that no blind pension can be paid except to persons who are really totally blind.

Upon motion it was decided to pay the county's dues of $20 in the state association of county officials. The delegates to the state convention were instructed to work toward securing a change in the law governing the matter of highway commissioners, so as to make the term of that office two years instead of four years as is now the case.

The salary for the members and clerk of the Board of Review was set at $4.00 per day.

Ava Lodema Saylor of this city, a ward of the county who has been in the Illinois Children's Home in Chicago, was taken into the home of an Iowa family some time ago. A communication was

JUDGE LAMBRECHT TRIES TO BRING PEACE TO NEIGHBORHOOD

The peace bond actions instituted in the court of Police Magistrate Lambrecht some time ago by John Cazier and Charles Lovelless have not yet come to a showdown. The men are charging each other with disturbing the peace and a brick which Mr. Cazier alleges that Mr. Lovelless heaved at his head also figures in the case.

Judge Lambrecht has been rather reluctant to try this case. He does not want to put these men under the restraint of peace bonds but prefers settlement mutually satisfactory and has been exerting himself to reach that end.

Between the adjoining yards of these two men is a high board fence. Mr. Lovelless started building it, but Mr. Cazier is said to have also added a few boards. The height of the fence now is alleged to be about 9 feet. It is unsightly. It advertises neighborly ill-feeling.

Judge Lambrecht has decided that this fence must come down if peace is to be restored. He has suggested that the fence be cut down to not more than 4 feet in height. On that basis of compromise, he has continued the case another ten days from Tuesday.

If the court's suggestion is not complied with by the expiration of this ten days of grace, a trial of the issues seems inevitable.

FISHING IN WYMAN LAKE STARTS TODAY

After delaying fishing in Wyman Lake for some months in the interest of fish conservation, permission is granted to start fishing there today.

The lake has several times been well stocked and ought to provide good sport this year. People are cautioned not to be hoggish in their fishing operations or a limit may be imposed as a daily catch.

HIGH SCHOOL HAS 2 VACANCIES; BOARD PLANS IMPROVEMENTS

The board of education of the township high school held a meeting Wednesday night. The resignation of Miss Pauline Thompson as instructor in French and English was accepted. Miss Thompson has taken a position to teach at LaGrange, Illinois.

This leaves two vacancies on the teaching staff—the one made vacant by Miss Thompson's resignation and the Mathematics position formerly held by Miss Lewis.

Lark Collins was re-employed as janitor for the ensuing year at a salary of $1650.

President Shirey announced the following committee appointments:

Building and Grounds—Kellar, Foster and Fleming.

Finance—Brandenburger, Cummins and Hollonbeck.

Purchasing—Foster, Kellar and Brandenburger.

Auditing—Hollonbeck, Fleming and Cummins.

Among improvements to be made at the school grounds this summer, will be the working over of the athletic field North of the school. This field will be plowed and disked and a cinder path will be built around it. This will give the school a good football field and track and will make it possible to have district track meets here.

Another important change to be made is to arrange for a suitable parking space for the cars of the students. Many of these students, especially those from the country come to school in cars and no suitable provision had been made heretofore to provide a parking space. That space South of the power house, in the southwest corner of the grounds will be utilized for that purpose. The alley extending from the end of paved Hamilton street north to the grounds will be opened and this and the parking space will be cindered, so as to be accessible in all kinds of weather.

The secretary reported that the receipts at Commencement had been almost sufficient to pay the speaker's fee which was $50.

GAYS COUPLE MARRIED

Charlie Stewart 21 and Miss Edith King 18, both of near Gays came to this city Saturday and were licensed to wed. The ceremony was performed at Gays by Justice of the peace Royal Stone.

BEST INTERESTS OF TAXPAYERS AGAINST 2-YEAR COMMISSIONER TERM

Moultrie county supervisors, under the leadership of F. F. Fleming of Lowe township seem to have started a battle against a 4-year term for the office of highway commissioner.

Some time ago they passed a resolution against the two-year term and asked other county boards to do likewise, with the view of influencing the next Legislature to change the law and make the term 2 years instead of four as is now the case.

There may be some arguments in favor of such action, but there certainly are some very good arguments against the proposed change.

The argument in favor is that if the commissioner is elected for a 2-year term and does not make good, he will not remain long in office.

The argument against a 2-year term is that a man cannot accomplish much in the way of highway construction in that length of time. A new man when taking office will naturally have many things to adapt himself to in his first year. The office being political, he will usually devote part of the second year to laying plans for re-election. That gives the township one year of inexperienced service and one year of half-way service and then may come a new man and the same routine is again gone through with.

A man elected to that office for four years has the opportunity of really doing some constructive work. He can plan his road improvements and his financial operations covering this period in a sensible manner. He is not hurried into a campaign for re-election before he is even fairly familiar with the duties and responsibilities of his office.

As to the matter of having a short term in order to get rid of an inefficient official—what assurance have you that the one who replaces him will be more efficient? People fill many elective offices without taking efficiency into consideration. It's usually the best vote getter that gets the office—qualifications or the lack of them generally figure but little in the result.

We firmly believe that a change back to a two-year term would be detrimental to the taxpayers and to the roads.

A six year term would be a more desirable change than switching back to a 2-year term. A four year term is an improvement over the old system that provided for only two years.

If you want to use this office as a football for political spoils, make it a two-year term, or better yet, make it one year.

If you want results for your road taxes, give your commissioners a chance, and that means at least a 4-year term. This is one office where ability and efficiency ought to be placed and politics ought to be of secondary consideration.

PROSECUTING BOOTLEGGERS

Reports reached this city this week that an Anti-Saloon speaker recently in an address at Dalton City denounced Moultrie county officials for their lax methods in handling "booze" peddlers.

He intimated that when a man was arrested for violating the Volstead act and brought to Sullivan it was easy for him to get from under his trouble.

The Anti orator was doubtless engaged in his usual practice of saying what he knew little about, and then taking up a collection for the "cause."

Prohibition violators who are arrested and brought into court in this city are dealt with as are all other law violators. If they want to stand trial, they may. If they can give bond, they are permitted to do so. If they want to plead guilty, that privilege cannot be denied them. If they can pay their fines, or secure them to assure payment, what law is there to keep them from so doing?

Even a man accused of violating the liquor laws has some rights and neither the sheriff nor any other official can abrogate such rights legally. There is no way to mete out capital punishment to such law violators, neither is it lawful to boil them in oil or otherwise dispose of them without due course of law.

As a matter of plain, cold facts, the man who profits most through the operation of the Volstead law is the bootlegger. It has created for him a nation-wide market for his wares. He violates the laws with impunity. He can well afford to pay his fines. A short stay at the penal farm does not humiliate him. It is simply an aggravating inconvenience.

Not only does the Volstead law operate in his favor, but it seems that he is hedged about with all kinds of protective law which make evasion easy in a business where profits are big.

The bootlegger grafts by selling his swill to the easy marks who want the poison booze. On the other extreme the Anti Saloon league orators spout about law enforcement and at the same time practice the oldest and most despicable of confidence games—fleecing the churches and Sunday schools out of the coin which they are badly in need of to pay the pastor and running expenses.

Both these outfits are an unmitigated nuisance and a scourge which try to live as parasites and usually get by with it. We wonder whether the Anti-Saloon orator who denounced local officials found his collections below what he expected and felt that perhaps the bootlegger had invaded his territory and gotten part of what he considered his rightful share.

OLD MEN'S BONES

Skeletons of a prehistoric race believed to be of a period antedating Columbian times have been uncovered by the University of Illinois archaeological department just north of Brownington, on a high hill overlooking the Illinois river and on the farm of Dr. F. M. Hagans of Lincoln.

Professor Taylor, head of the archeology department of the University of Illinois, uncovered seventy-nine skeletons within a ten day period recently and sent them to the university where they will be assembled and studied scientifically.

Dr. Hagans in company with Doctor Taylor and Doctor Morehead of the Smithsonian Institute spent a day recently inspecting the skeletons, pottery and implements found in the mound and the latter believes that they are of a race different from any heretofore found in this country.

KEEPING CUT FLOWERS

There is no great secret in the fact that some folk are able to keep cut flowers so much longer than others. It's simply in knowing how and any of you can do well if you will just pay attention to a few little details.

In the first place most flowers seem to keep better if they are cut early in the morning before the dew is off their petals. They absorb moisture and vitality all night and when you cut them early they are full of it and will last much better. Then the sooner you get them into water the better they will be.

Another thing, plunge the stems deep in the water as they will absorb that much better. If you are cutting such hard-stemmed things as the Roses, Peonies, Chrysanthemums and similar things, split the stems with a knife an inch or so up from the cut end. This will allow the water to be absorbed that much easier. After cutting flowers and placing them in water set them in a cool and preferably darkened place for a few hours. This may not always be possible but it will help if you will do it. In cutting always cut on an angle and cutting with a knife is considered better than with snips unless the snips are very sharp. Dull snips crush the stems and so prevent them from taking water freely.

Cut flowers should never stand in a draught. This will make them wilt much faster than where there is no draught. Neither should they stand in the sun.

Sometimes when you are given some flowers and are not able to get them into water till they have become apparently hopelessly wilted if you will try this it may help: Fill the vessel you are going to put them into with hot water, about as hot as you can stand having your hand in, and put your bouquet in this water. It will many times, revive when nothing else will bring it to. And don't forget to cut the stems every time when you bring flowers in from the garden.

Don't use good feed to produce lice eggs. Get marketable hens' eggs instead. The food the louse sucks from a hen is subtracted from the supply available for egg production. Look for body lice, for head lice, and for feather lice. You can kill any or all by dusting with sodium fluoride. A dozen "pinches" of powder on each grown fowl will do the business. The application of sodium fluoride by the "pinch method" or by dipping, the Department of Agriculture experimenters have found, is the best method known of combating poultry lice. None of the louse "medicines" to be used in the drinking water will control the parasites. It is not so easy as that, but time spent in treating lousy fowls with sodium fluoride is profitable. All the fowls must be treated or the lice will soon spread from the infested to the clean fowls.

—Mr. and Mrs. Will Gardner spent Friday in Decatur.

lesser classifications of life, is to the slain Saviour abides as the most meaningful fact of all time.

Diadems of Devotion

We spell Science with a big S nowadays; but its claims do not disturb the fidelity of humanity to the Christ who was crucified, whose love is beyond the compass of science, and who is Himself life's only satisfactory explainer and incentive and reward. Machinery and invention are creating a new material civilization; but the friends of Jesus simply say, "He hath put all things under His feet." Life has become intricate and crowded and rapid in our day; nevertheless, myriads of hearts can murmur, "He is our peace."

Let us make no mistake here. Jesus Christ is still Lord of life. We have but to look about us to see the diadems of devotion that are offered to Him. Memory pictures for me a group of ecstatic-faced Roman Catholic nuns, in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem, waiting in rapt expectancy for the Good Friday services to begin. A strong, intellectual woman in a Seattle mission seemed to be seeing her Beloved face to face. Dwight L. Moody, standing on Little Round Top, Northfield, opening his heart about Jesus to a group of friends, wore a radiance such as Moses carried down from the Mount. A rugged Quaker, in the Fourth Day Meeting for Worship at the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting, looked as one who was holding Communion with Christ. A saintly Episcopal bishop in Little Rock, Arkansas; Pandita Ramabai, in India; Pastor Kim, in Korea—so mounts the long roll of remembered faces of those to whom Jesus was more real than the friends in their physical presence. No man may number the vast company of those for whom has been answered the prayer, "Lord Jesus, Make Thyself to me, A living, bright reality."

ON THE CROSS THRONE

This quiet contemplation of the present dominion of Christ over human hearts, as contrasted with the shameful spectacle of the crucifixion—when the sacrifice of Jesus was so lightly regarded as to be made the occasion for patching up political differences between Pilate and Herod, and between Pilate and the Pharisees—leads into many fields of thought. I am recalling a Cossack captain in the Caucasus, amidst Russia's revolution and the tottering of his world, who so simply told me, the American war correspondent, what the Cross meant to him; I think of an evening in Roumania, spent in Queen Marie's boudoir, surrounded by old crosses which she collects as her hobby when the conversation drifted into a discussion of the spiritual significance of the world upheaval; and I remember an evening walk in the garden of the Greek Patriarchate, at Constantinople, in talk with the Patriarch, soon to be deposed, and the expression of spiritual exaltation that came to his face as I wished him inner peace amidst his outer turmoil. Verily, the trail of the triumphs of the Cross leads far, and into realms high and low.

The magnetism of the Cross-uptlifted Redeemer is the marvel of human experience. The good rules all realms. The symbol of defeat has become the sign of sovereignty. History's greatest reversal is here. The Cross is now the one throne of universal empire. Christ is today alluring and holding the devotion of countless human hearts in every land and clime.

In this sovereignty of the Saviour is surest hope for our day's despondency. Laws and learning may fail to make right what is wrong with our times; but obedience to Christ can do it. For His dear sake men and women will do what they will not do from fear of force or prospect of pleasure. The shortest, surest way out of

THE NEW CALENDAR

By Dr. Frank Crane

Attention has been called several times in this column to the efforts being made to have adopted a new calendar having 13 months of 28 days each.

It has been suggested that America have the courage to adopt this standard without waiting for Europe. If it shall be so, if the South American and North American countries unite in their effort to change the calendar it will be another indication that American civilization has definitely broken the bonds still further that heretofore have tied them to the older peoples of Europe.

We have got used to the old system, whatever it is. We acknowledge its drawbacks, but we know what they are. We do not know what difficulties an untried plan would involve.

Most of us are familiar with the proposal. It is to have 13 months of 28 days, exactly 4 weeks in each month, making every week day occur on a fixed monthly date and having every holiday occur on the same week day, making calendars unnecessary, having the date of the week indicate the day of the month, adding an extra day to the year and inserting an extra month, the 13th, as a month called Sol between June and July, and adding an extra day every Leap Year to June.

This seems to be a subject that could well be considered by the League of Nations, but it is now proposed that America lead the way without waiting for world consent.

Mr. Cotsworth says that if conservative Europe could discard the computations of hundreds of years and adopt the metric system of weights and measures it is not too much to expect that advanced and efficient America could discard an antique calendar wholly unadapted to this modern age.

"A commonplace life," we say, and we sigh;
But why should we sigh as we say?
The commonplace sun in the commonplace sky
Makes up the commonplace day;
And God who studies each separate soul,
Out of commonplace lives makes His beautiful whole.

A NEW PLAN SINGING AND HEALTH NO RAIN IN FOUR YEARS THE VICE-PRESIDENCY

H. G. Wells has a plan for management and government of this earth, with one board of directors running the whole thing.

Religions, says Wells, have run their course. Christianity, which began with "the completest communism," has become the completest capitalism.

"Take all thou hast and give to the poor," has been changed to "get all thou canst, and Devil take the hindmost."

Buddhism began in complete renunciation. Buddha let hungry tigers eat his body. Nihilist superstition replaces Buddha's teachings—and so goes...

Mr. Wells' plan is interesting like those of Plato, in his "Republic," Moore in his "Utopia," Karl Marx, in his book that came the foundation of modern socialism.

Each one would work as for the other, that is to say, all. Yet each is useful, makes men think, and is important.

The human race is a small unit on a bigger scale, and infancy. It is useless to plate a baby two years old and plan to make a man of it in months.

You must observe how what rate your race or industry can grow, then do what is to direct and promote growth.

The most important is to encourage thought and to encourage thought tribute knowledge. The greatest agency is the school.

"Give light, and the darkness will find their own way," public schools and you go...

Madame Reggio, opened climbed the 1,358 steps of New York's Woolworth building minutes and 4 seconds previous records.

Thirty-eight years ago, 104 pounds, the lady climbed 1,000 by the climb, and full value by impressing value of singing. No one develops the lungs as singing at your work and sumption. Teach your children to sing. Imitate the best always sing, whether you sing or not.

Farmers in the Middle West and other parts of California are disturbed by work in South Africa's factories. No rain has fallen for years, fertile lands turn to dust, and farm houses are ruins, the last green hills appeared.

We have all cause to be pessimistic. Lack of rain makes life impossible. The earth, spilling the tidal wave a mile high, in water from H2O would change that water into oxide of hydrogen. Other substances, watered with the cold, instead of sinking to the bottom of the rivers, accumulate there, vent navigation.

We have reason to be pessimistic.

Whom would you select for Vice-President of ticket? How would you select him?
New York's League suggests Theodore Roosevelt. He is being out to side-tracked. It is said to be quite a close track. Governor Low is said to have declined the Presidency when Harding was elected. Had he accepted, he would be president now.

Amos 3:3 "Can two walk together except they be agreed?" And then the scripture answers, they cannot. Our courts, and especially the divorce courts substantiate the fact, they cannot. Two friends walk together for years, disagreement comes, and they begin to walk apart—farther and farther apart, all because they do not agree. Can a man walk with God except they two be agreed? Enoch walked with God three hundred years here, then moved to Heaven to continue to walk with Him forever. Enoch agreed with God, God changes not, therefore our wills must bend or be broken to His will. The only reason we disagree with folk is because we are selfish. We contend that our way is right and theirs wrong. There should be no question in our mind concerning God's ways. There should never be a why pass our lips when talking with God. His ways are always best for us.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
D. A. MacLeod, Pastor

These beautiful June days stir our hearts and rejoice our spirits, as everything about us in nature doth magnify the name of the creator of heaven and earth. Life everywhere at this season of the year is pleasing to behold. Music is in the air with the sweet notes of the birds, and sweet fragrance is wafted from the blooming rose. So God's power, wisdom, and love is manifested in wooded hills and fertile plains. As a part of nature, and the better part may we be able to rejoice and sing songs of praise unto his name.

Regular service next Sunday, with Sunday school beginning at ten o'clock. Note the wonderful lessons for the quarter and if possible come out and join us in the study of the same.

The blackest day in the history of the world was the day in which Jesus Christ was crucified. On the part of His friends, every ray of hope seemed to have vanished.

On the part of His foes they had committed the blackest deed possible. He had heaped upon the innocent One, insult upon insult, scourge upon scourge, then shameful, cruel death on the cross. But God in His infinite wisdom used this the blackest deed of all history as a means in ushering in the brightest day of the world ever witnessed—the day of life thru death. It is the gospel day, the day of grace, the day of deliverance from sin and restoration to Divine inheritance. Do you respect, reverence and love this Saviour? Have you confessed your sins that were laid upon Him and obtained his proffered salvation? Are you walking in the light of this "brightest day" or sharing yet the "blackest day?"

LATENESS PROFITABLE WITH PIGS THIS YEAR

Urbana, Ill., June 12—The early bird may get the worm, but the late pig will bring home the bacon this season, judging from present indications. Conditions that were almost made to order have prevailed for the raising of late pigs, says E. T. Robbins, livestock extension specialist of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Although the weather was cool, it was generally fair and bright throughout most of the state and the ground was solid, he reports. In contrast, the rain and mud of a year ago were hard on little pigs. This year, also, pastures were so late in starting that early pigs were ahead of the grass. Late spring pigs came on at about the right time to find good grazing both for themselves and the sows.

"Prices at present seem to favor these late pigs. They will not take much corn until fall, when the new corn will be ready. That corn may be cheaper than the old corn this summer. There seems to be some decrease in hog breeding this year and that should mean fewer hogs coming to market next winter when these late spring pigs will be ready to sell.

"A deliberate change from February and March pigs to later ones farrowed in April and May has been made in recent years by some hog raisers. A common reason they give is that April sanitation pigs are just as big in October as the March pigs were when the old plan was followed of ranging the little pigs over wormy, gummy hog lots and old contaminated pastures. Then, too, swine sanitation systems fit in nicely with late pigs so that they may be farrowed in little houses out in the clean pasture field."

EDITORS' POCKETBOOK

Gentle reader, you who owe us for this paper you are reading, as well as for several of its ancestors Did you ever see an editor's pocketbook? Well, it is just as fallible and prone to emptiness as those of other common mortals. The newspaper business hasn't yet been brought to that degree of perfection that it can be run without expense, and until that is successfully done we shall be under the painful necessity of asking you for a little cash now and then, especially now. We have been patient—in some cases long suffering—knowing that your pocket books were about as lean and lank as were our own. When the big, round dollars begin to jingle in your breeches pockets, please remember that vacuum in the editorial purse.—Oakland Ledger.

DOUGLAS AND MOULTRIE NOW ON HONOR ROLL

Springfield, Ill., June 11—Douglas, Henderson, Moultrie and Tazewell counties are to become accredited as entirely free from bovine tuberculosis as the direct result of increased activities in tuberculin tests administered during the recent months, and the records made in May, this year, surpassed that of any other month in the history of this disease elimination program, according to information issued by the state department of agriculture.

Do you know if the editor has looked at those poems I sent him?" "Yes, sir, he glanced through them this morning." "Oh—just a cursory examination, I suppose?" "You're right, sir. I never heard language like it in my life." —Exchange.

ADVERTISING HELPS BREAK CHEVROLET SALES RECORDS USE WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS

Detroit, Mich., June 12: All previous production records in the sixteen year existence of the Chevrolet Motor Company were shattered here in May when the company turned out 140,700 units.

The output for a single day also reached a new level on May 28 when 7075 finished cars and trucks rolled off the assembly lines.

These figures released here today by W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager lent substance to a growing feeling in automotive circles that Chevrolet would not only equal its 1927 volume of a million cars well before the close of 1928, but that it also would duplicate its 1927 performance of building and selling more cars than any other manufacturer in the world.

Production of Bigger and Better 1928 models to June 1 was 651,500 units, Mr. Knudsen stated. He pointed out that this figure includes production since the first of the year as well as 32,000 new cars built in December so that dealers in all parts of the country would have cars for immediate delivery when the new model was publicly announced on January 1.

Up to June 1 last year the company had built 513,000 new models; in 1926 326,000 units, and in 1925 less than one-third the volume achieved during the corresponding period this year.

The output for the month just ended was 25,000 units in excess of the 115,000 cars and trucks built in May 1927, which, until this year, had been the largest production month in the history of the company. In May, 1926, the turn out was 74,000 units, and in May of the previous year 52,000 units.

The record set up last May was bettered by 2,000 units during the past February. March in turn was 17,000 units ahead of February; and April with a volume of 135,800 cars and trucks exceeded the March performance by 2,000 units.

In view of the high May volume, and the schedule for June, Mr. Knudsen stated that by the middle of the year the number of new cars built would be well beyond the three-quarter million mark.

All production operations of the company have been running at capacity since early in the year Mr. Knudsen said. He explained that the high May volume was made possible because several of the domestic plants have been expanded, and because a new assembly plant recently opened at Atlanta, Ga., to relieve the other fourteen domestic manufacturing operations got in its first full month's production during May.

Another new plant of similar size to the one at Atlanta, recently announced for Kansas City to supply the territory immediately North and West of that city, with a capacity of 350 cars a day, will make possible even greater volume achievements in the future, Mr. Knudsen asserted.

"Month by month our sales organization is making increasingly heavy demands upon the production facilities of the company to provide cars for immediate delivery in the domestic market," Mr. Knudsen said. "More than 80 per cent of the May output was absorbed in the United States alone despite the fact that the number of units going into the export field was greater than ever before."

"We interpret this expansion in volume and sales to a growing public confidence in us and our product. This is our greatest asset, and to the public is due whatever credit may accrue from the new records now being established."

Mr. Knudsen stated that extraordinary achievements of his company may also be taken as a trade index of the country.

"The automobile is a sensitive barometer of business conditions in every territory where it is marketed in quantity," he said. "The fact that our sales have been consistently good in every area of the United States indicates the healthful purchasing power of the great mass of people. That means, of course, general distribution of present wealth and a satisfactory future outlook."

WIRT MAY BE A LAWYER BUT HE 'AIN'T NO DOCTOR'

The spectators in the DeWitt court room had their thrills the other day when Wirt Herrick, State's Attorney attempted the role of doctor.

Wirt was prosecuting a man named Baker on a charge of selling liquor. The jury had just been selected when Baker slumped to the floor apparently unconscious.

As he fell a bottle slipped from his pocket, and Wirt enacting the part of the good Samaritan pulled cork and placed it to his lips. He must have been Al stuff for the man immediately sat up and taking the bottle in his own hands, gave it a further upward tilt.

Its fragrance filled the court room, and it became evident that the contents of the bottle had been some of Baker's own product. The man's attorney persuaded him to plead guilty and Judge McCoy sentenced him to six months on the state farm and a fine of $200.00 and costs.—Monticello Bulletin.

2,000 FARM YOUNGSTERS ON U. OF I. CLUB TOUR

Urbana, Ill., June 12—Swarming over the campus in record-breaking numbers, 2,035 farm boys and girls and leaders from 57 counties turned out for the sixth annual boys' and girls' junior club university tour just staged by the extension service of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, for the benefit of the 15,000 club members of the state. Not only was the crowd the largest one of farm youngsters ever assembled in the state, but also it set a new attendance record for the six years of the club tour, according to C. E. Gates, boys' club specialist of the college and chairman of the event.

Almost every type of conveyance from the latest model bus to the small-car type of coupe was used by the youngsters in getting to the tour. A half dozen or more large buses brought capacity loads, while five club girls from a northern Illinois county drove down in a small coupe. Hundreds of other automobiles were driven in with limit loads and, of course, steam and electric lines brought their full quotas. Crowds came from Stephenson county on the north to Williamson county on the south and from Adams county on the west to Crawford county on the east.

The program for the tour not only was one for, but also largely of, club members. Knox county sent an orchestra and a fiddler. Logan county was represented with another orchestra, McLean county had a band in the delegation, and six counties participated in the song contest, which was won by McLean county over Macon, Shelby, Rock Island, Kankakee and Champaign. There was a boys' demonstration team from Crawford county on the boys' program and a girls' team from Grundy county on the girls' program.

An overflow crowd of more than 800 club members and leaders attended the annual 4-H supper featured with an address by H. W. Mumford, dean of the college of agriculture. He admonished them to make themselves good for something and pointed out that of the many aids for doing this four of the most important were education, work, good judgment and courage.

1928 ASSOCIATED TOURS GUIDE FOR MOTORISTS

Motorists who plan to take a vacation tour, this summer, will be interested to know that The Automobile Club of America has just published the fourteenth edition of its annual road book, the 1928 Associated Tours Guide, which is now ready for distribution.

The Guide in its one hundred and twenty-eight pages, contains a wealth of useful information for exactly planning where to go on your vacation trip and how to get there. The Motor maps, mileages and itineraries shown in the Guide covering the vast area of the United States east of the Mississippi and eastern Canada, as well as the more popular transcontinental and trans-Canadian routes, afford the motor vacationist wide range of touring fields from which to select.

In all, the Guide gives over one hundred and twenty-five thousand miles of the best, hard surfaced highways in the country, especially chosen for their charm of scenic outlook, leading to seaside, mountain and inland resorts of rest and recreation. For motorists who plan to drive to any of the big conventions which will be held this summer, the complete motor map of the United States and corresponding itineraries given in the Guide, will furnish adequate information for the entire trip. A large folding map of the entire eastern section of the country, bound in the Guide, is handy for planning a large scale tour.

A feature of the Guide that motorists are apt to appreciate is that all itineraries are so arranged as to allow for a logical stopping place at the end of each day's run, where accommodations for the night in a good hotel or inn may be found. Both the National and State Highway numbering systems are shown on the maps and in the routes. There is also given a digest of all the state motor laws, speed restrictions, license regulations, ferry schedules, as well as numerous maps showing how to enter, leave or avoid them.

Among the tours with large maps in the Guide are: Adirondack, Canadian-Pacific, Cape Cod, Capitol, Dixie, Granite State, Maine, Mid-West, Great Lakes to Gulf, Green Mountain, Lake Land, Ideal, Long Island, Montreal-Quebec, New Jersey, Post Road to Boston, Real Tour to the Berkshires, Scenic, Shenandoah and Transcontinental.

For the convenience of motorists, the Guide will be distributed through local newsdealers in all parts of the country or may be obtained by remitting fifty cents, to cover cost and postage, to The Automobile Club of America, 12 East 53rd Street, New York City.

TREND OF THE CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET

The brisk trade of the season featured all classes of cattle. Yearlings and light steers had the best of it, reaching new high levels for the season.

Net changes in hogs were small. There was a scurry for finished butchers with weight, but all grades and all weights got fairly dependable outlets.

A circular concrete lily pool was built this week on the lawn of the H. C. Shirey home. The pool is 15 feet in diameter.

Illinois' 20 tomato canneries had an output of 124,171 cases, or 3,980,104 cans, during 1927.

The first drilling for oil in Illinois was near Casey, in Clark county, in 1865.

Practically all scouring powders dull the polish of enameled tubs and lavatories. Gasoline does the work better and quicker and does not harm the porcelain.

One of the most effective substances to prevent the house fly from breeding in manure heaps is "hellebore." During the summer months fly breeding goes on most actively and the farmer is often too busy at this season to haul manure away regularly.

REPUBLICAN STANDARD BEARER

McNary-Haugen bill plan. In this too they were unsuccessful. Several thousand farmers from all parts of the country have been at Kansas City protesting against the Hoover nomination and demanding that the party go on record with a pledge for the kind of legislation that the farm leaders have worked out.

With Andrew Mellon dominating the convention and dictating the nomination of Hoover and the platform, the agricultural interests have been given a flat turn-down. They have nothing to hope for in relief legislation if Hoover should succeed at the polls in November.

WHO IS HOOVER?

Herbert Hoover is reputed to be a multi-millionaire. His eulogists have boasted that he entered the millionaire class before he had reached the age of 30.

Severing his connection with Bewick, Moreing and Co., Hoover settled down in England and in 1917, according to his own biography in Who's Who, his home was at Red House, Horton Street, London.

If the rumor regarding Mr. Hoover's wealth is based on truth, the American people are entitled to know whether Mr. Hoover's principal investments are in British companies and whether he pays more income taxes in Great Britain than in the United States.

NEW THEATRE OPENS JUNE 30; FARMERS PICNIC HERE AUG. 10

(Continued from page 1) August 10th. Heretofore the farm-bureau members of the state have had a state picnic. This year there will be district picnics instead. As Moultrie county ranks among the topnotchers in farm bureau work local workers felt it was entitled to have this picnic.

Mr. Turner, assisted by a community club committee consisting of Chester Horn and H. C. Shirey got busy and experienced no difficulty in having their wishes granted, although Macon and Champaign counties were also in the race.

Mr. Turner estimated that with good weather the crowd at this picnic will be between 15,000 and 20,000. He was assured the hearty co-operation of the club in making preparations for the entertainment and handling of this crowd.

Favor Hospital J. H. Smith, chairman of the hospital committee reported that sentiment seemed favorable towards securing such an institution for this city.

After discussion in which the speakers strongly favored putting this matter over, a motion prevailed that Mr. Smith and his committee keep working to secure Mrs. Cutler's hospital for Sullivan. Two places for this hospital were mentioned—the Steele residence property and the Shuman residence. It was stated that the Shuman residence could be purchased at a very reasonable price for hospital use.

Rev. Barnett Speaks The first of three speakers for the evening was Rev. C. E. Barnett of the Christian church who spoke on "Religion in Business."

In a very interesting manner he told that real meritorious success in business is possible only "if you take God into partnership." He defined religion as being "holiness of right action." He deplored the action of some business men who conform their religious ideals to business conditions. He stated that a man cannot adapt his religion to his business, but must adapt his business to his religion. Religion is bigger than any business and cannot be placed in secondary position.

Advocates Union Station James Reeder, the new C & E I agent spoke on Sullivan's railroad facilities. He gave some interesting statistics about Sullivan's railroad conditions. Thirty-eight trains are regularly scheduled through here every 24 hours. Occasionally there are several extras. Of those regularly scheduled 18 are freight trains and 20 are passenger trains.

The railroads are fully equipped to handle at least 50 per cent more traffic to and from Sullivan than is now handled. The equipment is excellent for handling stock shipments, there is plenty of track for loading and storage and good platforms are available for heavy shipments. He stated that the location of the railroad stations in the west end of the city made that part ideal for factory sites. There is plenty of land available for such sites in close proximity to the railroads. Arthur and Tuscola which now have factories have no better shipping facilities than Sullivan offers.

With the three stations located so closely together Mr. Reeder suggested that Sullivan ought to have a union station. The traffic, freight and passenger service, over the three roads would entitle the city to a station that would be a great improvement over the present system. He stated that he did not know of any reason why such an improvement would not be feasible and it would certainly be fine for the community.

Theatre Opens June 30 The new Grand theatre will open Saturday afternoon June 30, was the interesting announcement made by H. S. Butler who has just about finished its construction and equipment.

Mr. Butler expressed himself as greatly pleased with the cooperation of the people of this community have given him in his theatre enterprise. He stated that "I have enjoyed every minute I have spent in Sullivan."

He stated that as a matter of basic principle the policies of his theatre will be such as not to conflict with the churches of the community. He stated that he is now and has for some time been president of the Federation of Men's Bible classes of Hillsboro and in such capacity has given every co-operation to church work.

He asked the continued co-operation of the community. President Sentel then announced that there will be no more monthly meetings or banquet until fall, but that the committees which have various projects under consideration are to keep working on them.

This applies especially to the hospital committee.

—Mrs. Fred Blackwell and son Paul of Arcola spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Garrett.

—The Sunshine club met with Mrs. Maggie Moore and daughter Zella Friday afternoon.

Judge Thompson's address are as follows: "Can we bend our consciences to our dealings and establish a different standard of honesty in public life than we require in private life? Can we continue to be politically dishonest and hope to remain personally honest? We know we cannot. Circumstances may save a politician from temptation to any but political dishonesty; but under temptation a dishonest public official would be a dishonest cashier, would be dishonest any place in anything. That which is true in office holders is true in those who put them in office. Political dishonesty in voters runs into general dishonesty in public service.

"Dishonesty is an atmosphere; if it enters one part of our life it enters every part. The mind has no basement in which to do the dirty work, and library in which to do the noble deeds. The character of our government directs the attention of every man and woman to politics. The low standard which many people have set for themselves in political action has created a situation in American life which has driven many conscientious men from the active political field. This is suicidal.

"No one should shrink from a political struggle because he must bring down upon his head the wrath of the political plunderer who holds that a certificate of election is a license to loot. If all good men and women of all parties will require the same standard of morality in politics as elsewhere this sentiment will soon be reflected in the public service and in the whole community. Then and then only will we prove that we are worthy of our heritage of self-government.

"The ask ahead of me is an unpleasant one. As I attack the system of dishonest government which has been established in the State House I must attack those who are responsible for it. Of this, I am genuinely sorry. I have no personal quarrel with any of these men. Socially and fraternally I can find pleasure in their company; politically they speak a strange language.

"When you ask them about converting to their own use interest on public funds they reply—we are faithful workers in the Ancient and Improved Order of Handshakers and Backslappers; when you inquire about their notorious absence from duty their partisans answer that they are kind and generous to their families; when you suggest that they declare their views on the vital issues in this State contest they reply, "Vote 'er straight."

"I refuse to believe that intelligent men and women, whose chief interest in politics is an honest, efficient and economical administration of state affairs, will tolerate evasion of specific charges of official corruption and incompetency. When the taxpayers come to understand that every dollar of public funds stolen or wasted comes out of their pockets they are going to demand an accounting. Promises of political sanctity in the future will not do. Men in public life must be adjudged by their public records.

"There is not a new face on the Republican state ticket. Every man on it today was on it four years ago, excepting the candidate for secretary of state and he was then campaigning for the present governor and has since been holding the job of a director in the governor's cabinet. What hope of relief do these candidates hold out for you? What do they say about the enormous increase in the tax burden? What assurances have you that the extravagant, not to say dishonest, practices now in vogue in the state house will not continue? To all these questions which must be uppermost in your minds, the answer comes, "Vote 'er straight."

"Whenever the time comes that I must have a free ride into the governor's office on the record of some great party leader long since dead or on national issues wholly foreign to that office, I will retire from the field of politics. Such a principle is as unsound as it is cowardly. When I accepted the nomination of my party for this great office I stated definitely where I stood and I appealed to the voters of Illinois to judge me on my record of 16 years of public service and my pledge to continue to give to my state all my time and whatever ability I possess. I did not wait to see what political deals I could make, or where I could trim my sails to meet the popular gales. I have no change of political principles for different occasions. I may be old-fashioned but I am never troubled about the political clothes I should wear. I have discovered no new style of honesty and industry. There are some virtues which remain constant and to these I strive to adhere. I invite your support in my fight to enthronement in the politics of Illinois."

TRY IT YOURSELF A man with an uncanny mania for juggling with figures placed a pad of paper and a pencil in his friend's hands, and said: "Put down the number of your living brothers. Multiply it by two. Add three. Multiply the result by five. Add the number of living sisters. Multiply the result by ten. Add the number of dead brothers and sisters. Subtract 150 from the result. The friend did as directed. "Now, said the other with a cunning smile "the right figure will be the number of deaths, the middle figure the number of living sisters, and the left-hand figure the number of living brothers." So it was!—Ex.

ENTERPRISING BLACKSMITHS STAGE BIG CLEAN-UP

Verne Siron and Walter Smith have been affected with the house-cleaning spirit this week and after giving the interior of their shop a thorough cleaning they tackled the outside and removed the old milk wagon which has decorated the front for some years. They mowed the weeds, shovelled the dirt off the pavement and then stood back and viewed their work with an admiring gaze which seemed to say "By the living gods, we have done well, why don't the rest of the fellows do likewise". Coming from out of the tall weeds themselves, they looked round about them and decided to serve notice on their neighbors to also get busy and clean up.

SIX FROM MOULTRIE IN GRADUATING CLASS OF U. OF ILLINOIS

Practically every county in the state is represented in the list of candidates for degrees from the University of Illinois to be granted at the commencement exercises this year.

The list includes six from Moultrie county. Approximately 2,000 degrees, many of them graduate and professional awards, is the total for this period. Some 300 of them graduate and professional awards is the total for this period. Some 300 of them were conferred at the commencement exercises for the College of Medicine, College of Dentistry, and the School of Pharmacy, all located at Chicago, at the exercises held in that city Saturday morning. The remainder, or approximately 1700 were conferred at the fifty-seventh annual commencement for the Urbana-Champaign departments on Wednesday morning of this week.

Boys and girls who have worked all or part of their way through the University, including many who have received not a cent of outside help, together with the large numbers of sons and daughters of the "middle classes," and here and there the child of a millionaire, have all followed the same academic procedure with no favors extended to one that was not available to all, in this four year march towards the present goal and will enter the alumni ranks of what is termed the most democratic institution of higher learning in America.

Following the Saturday exercises at Chicago, the festivities opened at Urbana-Champaign with the baccalaureate service, June 10, the address given by Dr. Herbert M. Moore, president of Lake Forest college. Monday, the Class Day exercises were held in the Auditorium at 10 a. m.

Tuesday was Alumni day, celebrating reunions of various graduating classes on years gone by. On Wednesday the 57th annual commencement began at 9:30, the address given by Dr. David Kinley, president of the University.

Those from this territory to receive degrees are as follows: In Medicine—Morris Robert Weidner, Ona Verne Wilson of Dalton City and Glenn Raymond Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ray of this city.

Mother degrees conferred on Moultrie students were: Louis F. Knoblock LL.B. Arthur; Karl Max Hoover, B. S., Lovington and Miss Virginia Thompson, B. S. of this city.

DO YOU WANT A HOSPITAL FOR SULLIVAN??

For an approximate expenditure of $1,000 Sullivan can secure a small hospital.

Mrs. Cutler of Mowequa offers to come here and start one if given that much co-operation.

She has had successful experience in work of this kind. Her credentials have been examined and found good.

She will handle all other financial obligations in this venture, outside the good-will offering amounting to the sum above stated.

This will not be a big hospital. To start with, it will not be able to handle important operations.

It will start with perhaps six rooms equipped to care for patients. Mrs. Cutler and a trained nurse will be in charge.

It will be able to care for maternity cases, which now go to out-of-town hospitals. It will be able to care for sick patients better than they can be cared for in their own homes.

It will be far less expensive than big city hospitals.

It will be a community proposition. Its success depends on its ability to give real service.

The people of this community do not obligate themselves beyond the sum asked to start with. $500 of this will be in the nature of a bonus and will be used to buy equipment; the other $500 is what it is estimated it will cost to rent a suitable building for one year. This matter has been under consideration for some months now. It cannot remain open indefinitely. Other cities will take the opportunity away from Sullivan, if it continues to dilly-dally along.

A big hospital for Sullivan is out of the question.

O small hospital is a possibility. It seems that it would be practicable. It would be a beginning, from which bigger things could develop.

The question now before the community is—DO WE WANT IT AND ARE WE READY TO GIVE IT THE VERY REASONABLE SUPPORT THAT IS ASKED OF US?

J. H. SMITH is chairman of the Hospital Committee. Tell him how YOU feel about the matter.

Don't depend entirely on the other fellow. YOU may need this hospital before he does.

Doctor Found Women and Children Sick More Often than Men

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated. In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market. The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year. Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed. While women, children and elderly people are especially benefited by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, it is promptly effective in the most obstinate cases. It is mild and gentle in its action and does not cause gripping and strain. Containing neither opiates nor narcotics, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it willingly. Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home—where many live someone is sure to need it quickly. We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE

Dr. Long is visiting Southley Downs, to which he is conducted by Ahmad Das, an Oriental. There he meets Mr. Southley, whom a detective friend, Alexander Pierce had told him to watch, and his son Ernest Southley, Mr. Hayward and his son Vilas, and then Josephine Southley, whom he had seen faint on the train. Josephine tells him the story of Southley Downs and its ghost, which is not the ghost of a human being but of a tiger.

Dr. Long has a quarrel with Vilas Hayward over Josephine, and finds that the Haywards have a strange authority over the Southleys. He is ordered to leave Southley Downs. The rain prevents him leaving at once. Dr. Long and Ernest go out on the road in the rain looking for the tracks of a tiger that Ernest says are there.

They find the tracks. Later Ernest and Dr. Long see a prowling creature in the hall of Southley Downs. This frightens the elder Hayward, who also sees it. Ernest begins to feel that Ahmad Das is perpetrating some devilry. The elder Hayward is later found dead, his neck broken as if by a giant's blow. Now read on—

"It is even an intruder's business to be watchful, at a time like this. I believe you'd better try to get some sleep."

"Still the doctor—but there are no personal wishes involved this time." She even had the spirit to smile at me.

But I couldn't answer that smile. The scene in the den had struck home too hard.

"Professional interest alone," I told her.

Maybe it was just the effect of the dawn that her eyes seemed to lose their luster before my gaze. She hurried on up the hall, turning at the door of her own room.

"Thank you for your watchfulness," she called to me. "And I'm sorry I spoke so rudely when you first spoke to me—and I don't expect any other—but professional interest—now. If there was anything that I could say—about last night—I'd say it too. But I know it wouldn't help any."

"I can't imagine that it would."

"But at least—you are not going home today."

"The storm decided that matter for me, I'm afraid. But there may be a chance yet."

The door shut behind her. The early morning hours drew on, and the mist that was the twilight of dawn faded like the rain.

One of the negroes had built a little fire in the library, and Southley had joined me here. And in a moment Ahmad Das opened the door from the dining room.

He stood straight and calm and unruffled, not an expression that the eyes of man could read on his impassive face as he called us in to breakfast.

After breakfast Ernest and I went down to the scene of the murder. It would be several hours before the coroner came; and I thought that any obvious clues should be collected and preserved at once. Such things have mysterious ways of disappearing.

We had no difficulty in locating the exact spot where the body had been. Even the rain had not washed away all the evidence. My first work was to look for footprints. There were none to be seen.

The place was covered with growth of grass, and root-turf as a rule does not reveal a very clear imprint. Besides, the rains would have washed away any imprint that had been made.

There were no more successful in finding a weapon with which the murder could have been committed. I searched the hillside with the best possible care; and even after a short distance into the jungle. Of course it seemed like any blunt instrument that might have inflicted the wound.

It had been easily tossed into the swamp water, from which it could not be recovered until the rains receded again.

Although it was inundated to a depth of six feet now, it was perfectly clear that the isthmus was above the surface of the water at the moment of the murder. As not covered until the final stage of the levee, several miles afterward. It would have been possible for the murderer to have raced across the isthmus to opposite high lands before the water came. In that case the body would still be found in the jungle beyond.

As the light had made it possible to see the tracks, it was possible that the murderer had put a tiger's paw print on the upstairs window with a powerful pair of field glasses. If the murderer was, indeed in refuge in the thick jungles, the glasses would reveal any attempt he should make to escape. His only hope would be to keep the plateau itself between him and the house, a feat that would become increasingly difficult as he neared the mainland. And it was true the water was too deep to wade. He would either have to construct a raft, or else risk his life in a long, desperate swim.

The watch was kept like the guard of an army camp. It was continuous. When the negro was obliged to leave his post another took his place.

We picked up a few surface clues.

We found a man's hat; but it was perfectly evident that it was the hat of the elder Hayward had worn. I had not particularly noticed it as he went out the door; yet Ernest recognized it as the same expensive felt that he had seen the elder Hayward wearing on many previous occasions. It contained no initials or any other sign of ownership, and it had a trademark of a hatter in the State capital.

But the place it lay was somewhat significant. It was ten full paces farther up the slope than the place where we had found the body.

"Could we have dropped it off when we carried the body to the house?" Ernest asked.

"When I lifted the head the hat was already off," I replied.

"Then you see what it means?" He looked at me darkly.

"It means that either part of the struggle occurred higher up the slope, or else some violent action at that point knocked the hat from his head. It seemed to me there would be signs—deeper imprints—if the first was the case; and more likely that he saw or heard his enemy for the first time when he was on this point of the path."

"He must have been on his way down to the driveway then."

"Of course."

"He certainly could not have seen well in the darkness. He might have heard, though or felt."

"Perhaps he could make out a shadow. Likely he started to run and his hat fell off at the first leap."

"The levee was already breaking then. He must have heard its faint signs. It seemed likely he must have known that retreat by way of the roadway to the city was already cut off. Then why—"

"—and the eyes bored mine—"did he run in the opposite direction from the house, rather than toward it? We found the body ten yards farther down the slope."

"Men in such terror as he must have been are not particularly careful which way they run. They only want to get away in any direction."

"But the most frightened man won't run in the face of the danger. It is perfectly evident then that his foe came behind him—between his own position and the house."

"That seems to be indisputable."

"The murdered must have chased him."

"Of course."

"And he must have been unbelievably fleet. It was true that Hayward was a large man physically, and would not ordinarily have been able to run very fast. But in such terror as he was, he would have run faster than any expert track man. You know, Long, that no man ever really runs until he is in terror. Some reserve power and strength comes to his aid. You remember that from your own boyhood—the way you could get away from a watermelon patch when the owner got out his shotgun. He ran somewhat downhill, so every condition was with him for a fast flight. And yet his enemy caught up with him within ten yards!"

"It is an important fact, Ernest."

"It certainly is. Police records show that in very few cases have crimes been committed by a criminal actually overtaking a fleeing victim when they were both on foot. The victim's fear makes him the fleetest; and the criminal has only the strength of his purpose to make him fleet. Yet Hayward was overtaken in ten yards."

"Yes."

"He probably ran screaming—a sound that could not be heard above the roar of the storm."

I agree to this, too.

"It's no ordinary crime, Long. It's an ordinary crime."

motives. His passion, his blood madness, if it may use the word, must have been just as terrific an emotion as Hayward's fear—an emotion that inspired him to run fast enough down that slope to overtake his prey within ten yards."

"I don't believe I like the word prey in this capacity, Ernest," I told him. "There's an inference in it that isn't soothing to the spirit. But there isn't any doubt about the fury and intensity of the slayer. There's another element that proves it even more clearly than the fact that he overtook Hayward within ten yards."

"What is that?"

"The terrible, rending violence of the blow. A cold-blooded murderer wouldn't have struck like this. The slayer would have waited in the darkness—struck from ambush with a billy or knife or pistol. Now look at this."

I showed Ernest the imprint in the turf where the body had lain. It was singularly deep and distinct.

"Does it mean anything to you?" I asked.

"Do you mean that the blow was so violent that Hayward was simply knocked into the earth when he fell?"

"Nothing else. It is likely that he never moved or cried out after that blow struck him down. He was hurled to the ground with such force that he left this imprint—as if a meteor had smote him. The neck was broken—a clean, violent break. I knew it when I examined the body."

We found one other clue that for a little while made us hopeful. It was one-half of a cuff-link, broken sharply off. It was a rich thing, of gold and a single ruby. Then we walked back toward the house.

"I suppose you'll know where suspicion will point," Ernest said, just before we reached the steps.

We stopped, face to face.

"Good Heavens, man! Don't you think I have eyes? No one can help but see the way things point—and there's nothing in this world to do but cover our eyes and yell coincidence! But the detectives that come in the boat today—they'll be fresh and have clear eyes. And they'll suspect Ahmad Das. He was the one man that was out on the hillside with Hayward at the moment of the murder."

"Of course. Although it is true he started in another direction."

"You remember that he took a long time to get down to the garage. He might have waited for Hayward on the trail—then circled back to the garage and only pretended to look for him. I don't say it's true, but that's what the coroner and the detectives will suggest."

"But why didn't he strike him as he went past, instead of chasing the screaming man down the hill?"

"Who knows! There might be such a thing as missing his first blow, and knowing that only by silencing the man's lips could he be saved from an attempted murder charge. At least, Ahmad Das will be suspected. And the crowning point is that he hated Hayward."

"And Hayward hated him," I agreed.

"Next after Ahmad, the negroes will be suspected, charged with being in the pay of either my father or me, or possibly you."

"Yes, all of them will be investigated."

"Vilas won't be accused—very naturally—and of course my sister won't. It would take more than a woman's strength, or even the strength of any other than a large powerful man, to administer such a blow as killed Hayward."

We had now halted below the veranda.

"There's one other thing to remember," I told him.

"What is that?"

"Another thing to wonder at. As you say, only a powerful man, or something very powerful, could have dealt this blow. A man could not have done it, except with some great, heavy weapon that by its own weight would gather tremendous momentum. It was dark, and the two of them were in mad fight down the hill. Then think what wonderful accuracy, what perfect muscle control, was necessary for the pursuer to swing his weapon and strike the fleeing figure in front of him in the darkness—a blow as accurate as that with which a butcher fells a steer. It doesn't seem hardly human."

... Slowly it became apparent that the boat was drawing nearer. The large craft contained five men. . . .

He started up the steps, and turned with a little laugh that was somehow very grim. "You might as well quit looking for things to be human—around this house," he told me. "Abandon such hope—ye who enter here."

Just then we heard the voice of the watchman, bellowing down the stairs. His glass had revealed the shadow of a boat upon the far reaches of the marsh.

At first the boat was just a black speck so far distant that we could not tell whether it was someone escaping from the plateau or a boat from the mainland.

Sam, the colored man, was in the back of the boat, and next to him sat a lean, thin-faced man I had never seen before. But he had an official air, and I guessed him right as an inspector from a near-by city—a man on the plain-clothes force. He was an alert, determined man with a distinct air of authority.

My first words were with Sam. He swore that he had sent my tele-

"I waited an hour for an answer, sir, and none came," Sam told me. "I could not wait no more. The detective gen'man said we had to go without him—and like as not he wouldn't be no good, now."

Coliseum, Built For Event, Will Be Permanent; the Growth of City Due to the Plans of Its Pioneers.

Written Especially for THE PROGRESS By Robert Fuller Through Autocaster News Service

Houston, Texas, June 15—Houston is all set for the great Democratic National Convention, which will convene here on June 26. And while Houston has been bending every effort toward perfecting plans for the convention, civic leaders have not been overlooking the opportunity so to shape this work that it will fit into solid foundation of a still greater Houston. Although the movement and actual construction of the convention coliseum has been somewhat of an overnight project, all workers seemingly have been impressed with the idea that they are not building a temporary structure.

The city of Houston was laid out according to a well-defined city plan by its pioneers. Leaders of civic life in villages, towns and cities throughout the nation are expected to absorb some concrete ideas on city-building when they are in Houston for the convention. These local leaders are pioneers and it is to them that future generations will point when their towns become cities.

The coliseum is placed in the center of what is destined to be a "civic center," an area in which many future public buildings are planned. In this there is a good idea in city-building. No Community is too small to start planning for the future, and a sound foundation provides for later phenomenal growth. In its early days Houston was a small, secluded town. It has become large and powerful because of the wise planning of its pioneers.

An arrangement program for the convention has been perfected that is considered adequate to care

Here's the outside of the great new coliseum built at Houston for the delegates who will attend the Democratic National Convention

HISTORY WILL BE MADE HERE!

This is the interior of the Houston, Texas, hall where the Democratic Party will name its Presidential Candidate and evolve its platform.

for another 100,000 overnight addition to the population.

Special arrangements are being made by convention committees to care for all visitors to Houston at and about the time of the party gathering.

These are the words of Jesse H. Jones, Houston capitalist and chairman of the arrangements committee: "Come to Houston the city is ready to care for you."

Claude G. Bowers, New York

editorial writer, historian and orator, will be the keynote speaker at the convention. Mr. Bowers attracted great attention at the last Jackson Day dinner, which is considered a masterpiece. It was beautifully written, and most effectively spoken.

It was Jesse H. Jones who led the fight for Houston when the Democratic convention city was being chosen. Mr. Jones is the publisher of the Houston Chronicle

All the proceedings at the convention—as in the case of the Kansas City conclave of the G. O. P.—will be broadcast over the radio in a gigantic hook-up reaching into every nook and cranny of the country. The most thorough "radio picture" of a convention ever made will be presented to listeners, as microphones will be placed all about the convention floor and balconies and everything going on will be "picked up" and transmitted.

The only man who deserves liberty is the one who would act just as he does now if there were not any laws.

Many of our youths need narrower pants and broader ideas.

—Will Rogers.

In the old days the legs men studied while waiting at the barber shop were in the Police Gazette.

Let the dawn of morning be to you as the beginning of life, and every setting sun be to you as its close; then let every one of those short lives leave its sure record of some kindly thing done for others, some godly strength or knowledge gained for yourself.

—John Ruskin.
