$104,638.80 has been Pledged; Big Mass Meeting and Report In Circuit Court Room Friday

Workers are Still Fighting to Attain Goal And Make Sure of Getting Brown Shoe Factory. The Executive Committee Issues Statement.

Brown Ready to Sign Monday

Last Stage of Campaign Hardest. Total Amount of $125,000 Must Positively Be Forthcoming. Farmers Give Substantial Aid. Some Wealthy Property Owners Deaf to Plea for Help to Secure Employment for wage earners and payroll for this city.

The Brown Shoe Factory fund is still considerably short of its goal of $125,000.

After more than a week of intensive work, during which time most of the business and professional men of this city have exerted every effort to put this matter over the top, a substantial sum still remains to be raised, before success is sure.

The $100,000 mark was passed Saturday night, but since that time it has become daily more difficult to get the balance needed to insure the factory being built here.

Most of the Sullivan business men have signed up. Some of the big property owners have met their quota. The farmers responded nobly to the plea made to them. The people of small means and the wage earners have toed the mark and the total number who have pledged their quota at 12 o'clock noon today (Thursday) was 780.

The first day's solicitation last week brought the amount pledged up to about $75,000. This included the pledges signed up by the workers before the campaign got under way.

Under the director of O. E. Lowe, chairman of the Farm committee, about twenty men called on the farmers Tuesday and Wednesday and met with a generous response. It is expected that more will be realized from that source. From out of town also have come some very nice checks. Few of the wholesalers and none of the insurance companies have made any contribution otherwise than good will and hopes of success.

A few big non-resident business concerns who have local connections are expected to meet their quotas.

Despite all of these efforts the goal is still far distant. The total of pledges on file with the treasurer at 12 o'clock Thursday was $104,638.80.

Thursday morning the business men who had not yet signed up had a conference in the court house and as a result of this meeting several more quotas were pledged. Others are giving the matter more serious consideration.

The red 100 per cent cards are now the rule rather than the exception in the business houses around the square.

The absolute necessity that the full $125,000 be subscribed has been again and again stated by the executive committee. It is not guesswork that this amount is absolutely necessary. It is based on experience in other cities that have secured factories under plans exactly the same as the contract which is offered Sullivan.

It is also stated that the Brown Shoe Company will not sign any contract unless this amount is fully pledged.

There are still some large property owners who live in this city who have given this matter no help. They take the selfish attitude of "what good will this do me, I have enough to live on." In checking over the list of contributors which appeared in last week's issue and that which appears today, you will find their names not appearing on the list.

The committees are still hopeful that these folks can come to realize what a factory of this kind will mean to the future of Sullivan, as a place where people can find happy homes and employment, based on a big weekly payroll.

There is also the fact to consider that other cities are bringing pressure to bear on the Brown Shoe Company, to give them a chance to raise this fund and get this factory. Sullivan must put this matter over in short order, or all of its efforts may come to naught. The company is anxious to start preliminary work necessary to erecting this factory. The company owes Sullivan nothing. It has given it its big opportunity. If Sullivan cannot meet it within a reasonable length of time—and no one can say that such time has not already been granted, then other cities must be given consideration. A lady visiting here last week stated "we are just waiting in our city for the Brown Shoe Company to tell us that Sullivan has failed, and we will put it over in a hurry. We feel we can do it." That city is but little bigger

Call For Mass Meeting

FOR FINAL REPORT AND CONSIDERATION OF BROWN SHOE COMPANY FACTORY PROPOSITION

We, the undersigned, being the sub-executive committee and in charge of the campaign for securing the Brown Shoe Factory, do hereby request that all the people of Sullivan and community convene at the Circuit Court room in Sullivan, on Friday evening, October 4th, at seven-thirty o'clock p. m. (tonight) to receive reports of the committee and detailed statement of the situation of the factory campaign.

At this meeting, the committee will make a full detailed report of all subscriptions now in or promised. The committee will further itemize and set out to the people assembled, the exact figures that it will take to put this proposition over and the items that constitute said total. Many of us have been working continuously on this matter for fifteen days.

The purpose of this meeting is to give to everyone interested, the exact facts in this case and to devise and plan out some method of completing the campaign before Saturday night.

We have received a telephone communication from Mr. McCarthy, Vice President of the Brown Shoe Company stating that he and the other officials of the Company would like to come to Sullivan on Monday afternoon with the idea of signing up the contract with us and getting the building under way. The Company is urgent about this matter. They want Sullivan to have this factory but they want the work to begin right away. We have reached the point where we must decide once for all whether we are going to put this over or not. We are almost in striking distance of the goal but this last part is always the most difficult of all. Please come to this meeting whether you are a subscriber or not if you have the interest of this community at heart, and let us get our heads together and plan definitely and finally how we are going to finish this campaign. There will not be any other Mass meeting unless it is one to celebrate a victory later on. There will never be another opportunity offered to Sullivan like this if we should fail on this one. We earnestly ask that you all come to this meeting and help us to plan the way to finish this campaign.

than Sullivan. It is only one of the cities that is bringing strong pressure to bear.

Sullivan today faces the critical moment. The goal is in sight, but it is still far enough away, that one last, concerted, earnest effort may result in reaching the goal. If that effort fails, the fault will not be with those who have tried and worked so hard for this thing, but rather with those who could have helped, but did not get under their share of the burden.

Sullivan's Old Mill Devoured by Flames Tues. Night

One of Oldest Structures in City, Originally Erected as Custom Mill Had Many Owners. Loss Covered By Insurance.

The old mill in the eastern end of Sullivan was destroyed by fire near the hour of midnight Tuesday. Some of the neighbors nearby saw the flames and called the fire department. The inner timbers and woodwork burned like matches and in a few hours nothing remained of the old historic structure except the north, west and east walls.

It has not been learned what started the fire. A quantity of grain and commercial feeds were in the building and all of this was a total loss.

R. A. Collins who bought the mill some weeks ago from E. W. Davis states that the building and contents were covered by insurance, although the coverage on some of the equipment is far below cost of replacement.

ED MOORE'S STORE AND CUSTOMERS AT BRUCE ROBBED MON.

Monday evening at about the hour of 7:30 a congenial group was gathered in Ed Moore's store at Bruce. Ott Kinsel was there and Ollie Darst, Joe Welson, Roe Sharp and Otis Goddard. They were swapping stories about the yield of clover, the prospective coon and possum crop, etc.

The footsteps of Chet Ledbetter was heard approaching and somebody was with him. The door opened and the assembled men had the shock of their lives, for Chet had his hands up in the air and closely following him came two bandits, with white handkerchiefs tied across the lower parts of their faces.

"Hands up" came the command and they went. The fellows got what cash and a gun that was in the money drawer and then frisked the lined-up men. What they got seemed to disappoint them. They slammed Ott's can of Old Hillside on the floor and nearly got him sore.

They knew that Ed Moore was the boss. They also seemed to know that Ed had been in Sullivan that day and brought home a supply of money with him. One of the bandits stuck his gun in Ed's ribs and declared "I'll just give you to the count of three to tell where you keep your money." Ed just blinked and let them count. He was either too scared to tell or in his bosom there beats a heart that knows no fear. The bandit did not shoot.

After satisfying themselves that they had all the money that was to be gotten, the unwelcome visitors disappeared and the men lowered arms which had grown very tired from pointing up toward the ceiling. It is estimated that the bandits got about $70.

The sheriff was notified and is on the trail. This same store was entered and robbed during the night some months ago. The fellows who pulled the job Monday night are described as young and boyish looking and were evidently well posted on the job before they undertook it.

CECIL YATES BUYS SCHNEIDER BARBER SHOP

A deal was closed Wednesday whereby L. W. Schneider sold his barber shop on Harrison street to Cecil Yates.

The Schneider family has not yet decided what they will do but expect to move to some bigger city. Mr. Schneider was employed for a number of years in an Evanston, Illinois shop before coming to this city.

Mr. Yates, the new owner, has been an employe of the Schneider shop for several years past and is one of the best known young tonorialists in this city. He has been ambitious for some time to have a shop of his own and as he attends strictly to business, is assured of success in the bigger Sullivan which the near future will develop.

LEWIE DAVID HAS BOUGHT RESIDENCE

Lewie David this week closed a deal for the residence property at the corner of Jackson and Hamilton streets. Mrs. Harrison and her father Lot Luttrell have been occupying the property, Mrs. Harrison being the owner.

But Two Days Left to Capture Big Votes on Subscriptions; Make Every Minute Count

Subscriptions Received This Week Are Positively The Last to Carry Maximum Number of Votes—Just a Few Hours Left.

Act at Once or You May Be Too Late

Twelve O'clock Saturday Night Sees Big Reduction in Vote Schedule—Use Every Minute.

If you think you are beaten you are;
If you think you dare not, you don't
If you'd like to win, but you think you can't,
It's almost a cinch you won't.
If you think you'll lose, you've lost,
For out in the world you'll find Success begins with a fellow's will;
It's all in the state of mind.

Saturday night, October 5th, at midnight—not one minute late—marks the close of the "first period" in The Sullivan Progress' Big "Everybody Wins" Prize campaign.

After that time and for the next two weeks the "second period" schedule of votes will be in effect, which means a material reduction in the voting power of all subscriptions while the "third" and "last period" will see the scale more than cut in half.

Leading candidates are seething with the bustle of preparation for the final dash and with one accord are fighting valiantly and determinedly to reach the goal where that big DeSoto Sedan, worth $1180, awaits.

A study of the standing of contestants at the present time, a record of which appears elsewhere on this page, shows that some seven or eight of them are right in a bunch and going strong, straining every nerve and calling on every source for aid that they may be up at the top of the list when the gong sounds on the close of the "first period" and the death of the BIG VOTES at midnight, Saturday, Oct. 5th.

Candidate, Attention!
The crucial test is now at hand! If you ever intend doing anything BIG in this race, DO IT NOW! Instead of being second, third or fourth place, GET UP AT THE TOP AND STAY THERE. Now is the time to secure an insurmountable reserve vote. Now is the time to make reasonably sure of the prize you most desire.

Never again after this Saturday will it be possible to secure the full voting power on subscriptions.

To hold back subscriptions now or to rely on "promises" only means that you will have to take less votes on such orders. We are putting it up to you squarely. If you entertain any desire whatsoever of being declared winner of the DeSoto Sedan, worth $1180, to be awarded three weeks from Saturday, do not fail to turn in every available subscription to your account before the close of the "first period."

Count On Facts Only
As a timely and fair warning, don't try to figure out how many votes it will take to win, for you surely will fail to get enough.

Don't be afraid of having too many votes—you can't have too many. It would be better to win the prize you most desire by a million votes more than enough than to fall short a few thousand, representing a mere handful of long term subscriptions.

Don't let this happen to you. You would never forgive yourself the fatal error. There will be no need for regrets if you but heed expert advice and back it up with a goodly number of subscriptions.

At any rate, Saturday night will, to a considerable extent, tell the story. We can help you only by telling you how. Your fate is in your own hands. You can sweeten it or embitter it for yourself.

How "Period" Will Close
The "first period" will end with the closing of The Progress office, Saturday night, Oct. 5th. The time is set for midnight, but should any candidate be unable to report in full by that time, the time will be extended to meet the requirements, that night.

Candidates are requested to come to the office as early as possible. They will be waited on in order, first come, first served. The Progress office will be closed as soon as all candidates have reported in full and with its close, the "first period" of the campaign will be at an end, and the BIG VOTES will be over. There will positively be no subscriptions accepted for the "first period" after Saturday night, no matter what the condition, EXCEPT such subscriptions that might be contained in letters postmarked Saturday, Oct. 5th.

This arrangement permits out-of-town candidates and friends of candidates residing outside the city to MAIL subscriptions as late as the closing hour of the "first period" and receive BIG VOTES thereon, even though the orders do not reach the Progress office until Monday morning.
Make Every Minute Count This Week!

THE SHOE FACTORY DRIVE GREETING TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS REV. W. B. HOPPER GETS THE GATE

Of course you want to know about the Shoe Factory Fund. It is going up toward the $125,000 mark slowly.

The Sullivan folks are grimly determined that this matter must not fail.

We have stated and restated these reasons in our papers of recent weeks and in the dozen or so daily issues that have gone out.

Hundreds of people have signed for their share in this fund. More will have to do so before the goal is reached.

There must be no let-up. There must be no failure in this.

What more is there to say?

The Progress subscription drive is coming along very nicely. This week's issue of this paper is going into homes of hundreds of new subscribers.

Many of these have perhaps never before subscribed to any Sullivan newspaper.

Every family added to our subscription list is just one more family that will receive a weekly contact with Sullivan; it is just one more family to whom the progressive Sullivan merchants can send their weekly trade messages through the columns of this paper.

To these new subscribers we extend greetings. We assure you that we will endeavor to the very best of our ability to publish a paper that you will enjoy reading. It is our greatest ambition to have our subscribers feel that the money they have paid for Progress subscriptions is the best investment they have ever made.

This subscription campaign will greatly extend the community borders of Sullivan.

Politics, as is notoriously known, is not concerned very much about ability to give service.

Appointive offices are usually handed out as payment for political debts. The fellow that can produce the votes for the candidate is the fellow that gets the plums in the way of appointments.

Politics is also a game, more or less. One side wins and the other side loses. The winner takes all and the loser gets canned.

These remarks are prompted by the report that Rev. W. B. Hopper has been let out from the office which he has held for the past four years. He was in charge of work that looked toward making disabled and crippled people self-supporting.

In this state that work comes under the jurisdiction of Supt. Blair's office at Springfield. The report has come to us from several sources that Mr. Blair has stated that Rev. Hopper was the most efficient man ever engaged in that work in Illinois.

His services are being dispensed with, however, because he happened to be a Len Small man instead of a Lou Emmerson man in the campaign which swept Len Small out of politics.

He is not crying about the matter. He felt all the time that the ax of political vengeance would descend sooner or later and the announcement that he will be relieved from his duties will simply end the suspense.

What this editorial was written for was not to extend condolences to Rev. Hopper. We always plainly told him he was politically wrong. We did want to point out, however, that in politics, the fellow that delivers the goods in service to the people, must always make way for the fellow who can deliver the votes at election time.

ILLINOIS DAY NATIONAL DAIRY SHOW, TUESDAY

OCT. 15 AT ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, Mo. Sept. 30—Illinois Day at the National Dairy Show will be Tuesday, October 15, and preparations are under way to insure a large attendance from every county especially those in which dairying has received special attention. Special trains are being organized in several communities and in other motor caucades are being formed for the trip to St. Louis. Very low rates are offered by all railroads.

In a talk dedicating the great Arena, where the National Dairy Show will be held, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde a few days ago pointed out the growing importance of the dairy industry and congratulated the people of the Middle West upon the fact that this National exposition of dairying and decided upon a permanent location in St. Louis.

In addition to the dairy show, where 1500 or more perfect cattle of the leading dairy breeds and a display of dairy products, machinery and supplies covering several acres will be shown, there will be a poultry show and a horse show of national proportions. A great operatic chorus of 1000 voices and a concert band of seventy five pieces will furnish music and there will be many entertainment features.

Entries for the show, make a total of nearly 1500 head, Jerseys leading with 427; Holsteins, 358; Guernseys, 237; Brown Swiss, 146 and Ayrshires, 108. Both Canada and Cuba are represented.

Among the Illinois Exhibitors are: A. E. Bower & Son, Bush-ton; Schultz Bros., Galt; H. C. Horneman, Danville; Birtus Holland, Harrisburg; Ernest Higgins & Son, West Salem; Henry Keesler Danville; Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Naperville; Louis Thompson, Harrisburg; Myron and Eugene Young, Bismark; Elmwood Farm, Deerfield; Hyde Park Farm, Palos Park; J. V. McCarthy, Joliet; Jessalee Malla-lieu, East St. Louis; Rock River Farms, Byron; Silver Glen Farm, St. Charles; B. F. Adkins, Newton Jackson D. Hoge, DuQuoin; Maurice Russell, Newton; H. J. Schweitzer, Chicago.

"And how do I look, after being so sick?" asked the steno after her return to the office following a two weeks' absence. "No worse than usual" said the overworked bookkeeper.

Boys Playing in Powell Hayloft Started Fire

Youngsters, Innocent of Any Intention of Wrong Doing, Were Trying to See Litter of Kittens. Loss Covered by Insurance.

A few little boys anxious to see six little kittens Saturday evening were the cause of starting a fire that destroyed the barn on the J. A. Powell place at the southwest corner of this city.

Dean Selock, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Powell had entertained several of his little friends at a wiener roast in the Powell orchard. Following this the boys went to the barn. In the hayloft was a nest in which were six little kittens. Dean wanted to show them to his friends. It was getting dark in the loft and one of the boys who had a match suggested that they start a fire in a big box setting there so as to get light to see by. The suggestion was carried out and of course disastrous consequences followed. The flames got into the baled alfalfa and the boys scurried out of the loft. Dean retained presence of mind enough to open a barn door and let some horses out. The others hastened to tell Mrs. Powell of what had happened. Help gathered speedily and the tractor and some other machinery were gotten out. Quite a quantity of baled hay, oats and some other grain were destroyed.

The Sullivan fire truck responded to the call but could do nothing to save the barn.

The Powell farm is owned by Russell Bauman of Warrensburg, who bought it last Winter. He had $1250 insurance on the barn and Mr. Powell had insurance on the contents. This is the second barn that has burned on this site. A previous one was struck by lightning and burned some years ago, shortly after Mr. Powell bought the farm from J. K. Martin. The present structure was reared on the same foundation, and this foundation seems to have suffered but little in Saturday's fire.

Mr. Bauman who was here Sunday expects to move to this place in February and Mr. and Mrs. Powell will move to the Tobe Lovins farm in Shelby county, west of Kirk station. Mr. Powell is the owner of a famous herd of Jerseys, which in production and show type have recently attracted much attention.

VIRGINIA SOUP

Soak a cup of dried lima beans overnight. Drain next day and put them in a kettle with two quarts of cold water. Add a ham bone and a cup of ham cut in tiny pieces, and simmer until almost tender. Peel two sweet potatoes, add to the beans and boil until soft; rub through a strainer, season with salt and pepper and serve very hot.

HOW TO FRY RAW POTATOES

Peel potatoes and slice them in thin rounds; put into frying pan 1 tbl. each butter and sweet lard. When this is hot enough to fry, add potatoes, sprinkling with salt and pepper. Cover with a tight-fitting lid so the steam will partly cook them. Then remove lid and fry until potatoes are a golden brown, turning them carefully so they will brown equally. Serve at once.

PINEAPPLE Caramel Pudding

Caramelize 1 cup sugar and put in buttered shallow, square pan. Cut slices of pineapple into quarters and arrange on bottom of pan. Over this pour your favorite sweet miffin batter and bake. Turn on a large plate so the pineapple will be on top, and serve with whipped cream.

CLEANS WHITE ENAMEL

When Washing your white enameled cooking utensils, stains will come off readily if you dip the wet cloth in laking soda and rub over the enamel. Use plenty of soda.

WHEN BASTING MEAT

It is always better to use fat, or butter mixed with water when basting meats. Plain water or juice that contains little fat dissolves the outside coat of the meat, releasing both juice and the flavor.

ROBBERS AT WORK

The Jim Morrison store at Dalton City was entered some time Wednesday night and the thief stole a complete outfit of clothing, cigaretttes, etc.

On the same night some one entered the office of Dr. Scaggs in Lovington and stole a bundle of papers out of the safe and took all of the supply of morphine which the doctor had for medical purposes. The papers were later found.

OWNER OF WADLEY BUILDING PLEDGES

Among the non-resident property owners of Sullivan is L. A. Sales of Fisher, Ill. He was sent a quota card with a request that he pledge the amount thereon. The upper story of the dwelling will be retained for residence purposes and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McMullin will live there and he will be in charge of the local business. They now have an undertaking and furniture business in Lovington. W. I. McMullin will retain his residence there and manage that business.

Mr. Corbin retains the furniture business and the uptown store. The Corbin family will move into the Swisher residence property in the south part of the city. They expect to vacate their present residence so Mr. McMullin can take possession October 1st.

The Corbin Furniture and Undertaking business is the oldest business in Sullivan. It was started here in 1851 by William P. Corbin and he retained an interest until his death several years ago. When he first opened for business here he manufactured the caskets used in the business.

The business has since that time from its present location on the south side of the square, where Mr. Corbin will continue in the furniture line.

Near the W. E. DeVore place the car skidded on the wet oiled road and got out of control. It turned on its back in the ditch. The occupants crawled out, decided they were not hurt, put the car right side up and headed it back to this city. The top of the car was the only thing damaged, but the broom corn cutters did not go to work.

PITY POOR GRANDMA

Have you ever stopped to wonder why women stay young longer nowadays than they did in our grandmother's time?

Haven't you often heard how dear Grandma was married at fifteen and bore her first baby at sixteen; at twenty she was a dignified matron, at thirty a middle-aged woman, and at forty she was just as good as dead? Also, she was delicate, subject to weak spells and heart attacks. And if by any chance a girl wasn't married in the time she was eighteen she was a hopeless old maid!

Why is it? I'll tell you why. Young girls in our grandmother's time grew old long before their time because they lived contrary to all the laws of nature. In grandmother's day a sixteen year old girl was scrawny and of poor physique; wore cumbersome clothes, long skirts, corsets and constant admonitions not to be a "tomboy" all tended to retard her physical development. Rarely was she sufficiently matured for marital relations at the time of marriage. And having been kept in ignorance of the facts of life and the necessity for pre-natal care, childbirth was a death-bed agony instead of a normal bodily function. "Female weakness" became a byword because nobody had heard of such a thing as corrective exercise and proper diet.

So through neglect and ignorance and abuse of health, is it any wonder that a woman was passe at thirty and a chronic invalid at forty?

Now take a look at our sixteen year old girls today. Beautifully formed, well developed, competing with men in all branches of sports, bubbling over with exuberance, teeming with vitality. Truly they are fit to be the mothers and wives of men!

And to whom does the credit belong? To athletics of course, which are now a part of our educational and social life.

Every girl who desires to be a splendid representative of her sex and to preserve her youth should adopt some form of physical exercise.

Heart to Heart Talk

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M. D.

ONLY A VIEW POINT

We used to hear the quotation, "All the world loves a lover." We do not hear it so much in these later years. It is not true, anyway. The only perfect lover the world has ever known, met with an ignominious death on the cross.

It might better be said that, all the world loves the optimist; at least he commands the respect of his audience, and, draws a good salary. It is so easy for one in comfortable circumstances to be an optimist!

A very esteemed contemporary recently said, "There is no doubt as to the great wealth of our country; look at the automobile sales." Then, he proceeded to give a row of nine or ten figures, in proof of his assertion.

Therefore, every man that owns a gasoline vehicle is a well-to-do and prosperous man! It seems to me a long leap to that conclusion. Even within my somewhat narrow field of observation, I know dozens of cheap cars bought on payments—and, often well worn out before the final payment. Often the bottom of the flour bin is scraped, that the payments may be made in response to the demands of an airtight mortgage.

I am not a pessimist. Truth is neither pessimism nor politics. It is religion—nothing else. When we throw away truth, we part with religion. Can we afford to do that?

Not one-tenth of the car-owners that I know are out of debt entirely; and no man is either prosperous or even well-to-do who is in water over his head, and cannot swim.

A municipality or state organization that buries itself in bonded indebtedness is signing away its liberty in a dangerous fashion. The borrower is servant to the lender—another truth.

The individual or corporation that lives beyond its means is not far from the rocks ahead. The practice of running in debt may look good on paper, and furnish alluring statistics, but it is far from being an indication of wealth. A flivver is by no means indicative of prosperity or independent living.

HERE'S HOWE

BY E. W. HOWE

ASOKA, BARBARIAN A SUGGESTION UNWISE NAPOLEON

I have not been able to find an account of a man who was entirely intelligent, or of one who was entirely honest. The best example of an honest and intelligent man was possibly Asoka, a barbarian. It is said of him that though he conquered in battle as easily as did Napoleon, he grew to have a horror of war, and would have no more of it. Asoka had victory to his credit in full measure. No one could say he was a coward, or that he was not the best of commanders. He was rich and regal in splendor of palaces, robes, jewels, and obedience from his subjects.

So the man chose to thereafter court fame by becoming a just and intelligent ruler, and this course met with so much success that he is at this distant day, best known and respected of the notables of his time.

Any page devoted to a summary of a thousand years of history, gives brief mention of rulers much alike; so many victories, so many defeats, and through it all about the same thievery and oppression. But instead of the usual line given an ancient ruler in the necessary brief summary of history, Asoka gets a star in front of his name, and a footnote recording distinction no other king, president or chief has.

The history of Asoka is shadowy, and I somewhat distrust it, but it at least persists, and is a suggestion a modern ruler might have made reality.

Why should not a ruler acquire fame with honesty rather than with the rogery that has distinguished his class almost without variance? Napoleon was a rarely intelligent man. In the Russian campaign, which wrecked him, he took a chance that was surely unnecessary. He appreciated he could not successfully invade England because of the channel separating Calais and Dover, but overlooked a more serious handicap—Winter—in invading Russia.

Why was it impossible for Napoleon to be as wise as the barbarian Asoka, who, after becoming satiated with victory and power, chose to try for still greater victory and power, chose to try for still greater glory, as a just and intelligent ruler? St. Helena is a good story, but an unnecessary tragedy: I regret Napoleon's history is not an inspiration to all men that honesty is the best policy. Had Napoleon adopted Asoka's plan as late as Austerlitz, he would have not only his present fame, but a great deal more, and of a better kind.

REV. HOPPER'S OFFICE TERM EXPIRES OCT. 15

Rev. W. B. Hopper, who for the past four years has been serving in the department of Rehabilitation and Vocational Education for the central portion of Illinois will be out of his job on October 15th.

Rev. Hopper's duties were under the jurisdiction of the state and federal governments. The appointive power is vested in the governor and his appointments usually get Federal sanction. Gov. Emmerson has named new men on this work in Illinois and Rev. Hopper's duties will expire October 15th.

The department in which Rev. Hopper has been serving looks after people who are crippled and endeavors to train and educate them so as to be self-supporting.

Rev. Hopper's appointment came through former Gov. Len Small. He was his chief lieutenant in this county and when the Emmerson avalanche swept Small out of state politics, there was very little hope that Rev. Hopper would long be continued in his office.

HERE IS A REAL TON LITTER OF CHESTER WHITES

William McKown an ag student of the Sullivan Township High school has a real ton litter of hogs at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McKown on the hard road north of this city.

On the day the litter was six months old it weighed 2310 lbs. There are twelve pigs in the litter. Two of these were hand fed when small and never did as well as the other ten or the total weight would have been considerably more.

"Are you married yet, or are you still tearing around with these chorus girls?" "Yes."—Life.

THE CHAMPION OF GOLF

Elsewhere in this column the news is heralded to a waiting world that "Wild Bill" Gardner has won the championship of the Sullivan Country Club, Sentinel cup, golf tournament.

Bill says "you done me wrong." We asked him why, and he declared that such a tournament was worth a big story. "You tell them that when I win, I really win" says Bill. The score was 9 up and eight to play. Bill's opponent was the golf pride of Bethany, Troy Scott, the banker.

There is a whole lot of doubt, however, whether Bill outplayed Troy or whether he out-talked him. The "talking" championship for the course, has long been unanimously conceded to Bill and will continue for all time, as he is in a class by himself.

"Furthermore" says Bill "Tell folks about 2-putt Lehman. Sunday morning Frank Newbould and I were playing with Jim and Jim, raked the sand nicely, as he always does. We were all set for our putts, when what does Jim do but lay down another ball and says, says he, I'll just take a practice putt. We protested, but Jim went right ahead. And then he missed his regular putt. So henceforth I want you to know that in golfing circles he is to be known as 2-putt Lehman."

"But write me up big this week. A feller don't win a golf championship every day" complained Bill.

So here you are Bill and if this is more than you expected why the blood be on your own head.

A local doctor walked into a shoe repair shop recently with a pair of shoes in his hand so 'tis said. He handed them to the proprietor with the remark "look these over carefully and see if they are worth half-soling."

The repair man examined them carefully, in and out; he tested the leather, looked at the shoe strings and eyelets and then handed them back with the remark: "Sorry but I don't believe it's worth while to fix them."

"Thanks very much" said the doctor, as he started out of the shop. "Wait a minute" said the shoe man "$2.00 please."

"2, why man you're crazy. You didn't do any work on these shoes."

"I know that very well, but you came in to consult me about them. I have given you my time and expert advice. Don't you recall that I came into your office recently when I did not feel any too well. You looked me over and examined me and then told me that there was nothing wrong with me and that I did not need any medicine or treatment. Recall that, do you? And do you also remember that you charged me $2 for that examination and I paid it. So come across, Doc and don't be a cheap skate."

AN OUTSIDER LOOKS AT BUSINESS

By Edgar A. Guest
Business is a game,
A game of give and take;
Above a store a name,
Within the name at stake.

One comes the goods to buy,
One comes his goods to sell,
Both honestly must try
To close the bargain well.

Today the goods are sold,
But more days wait beyond,
The spoken word must hold
As stoutly as the bond.

Prices reduced may gain
New patrons for a store,
But steadfast must remain
That name above the door.

Business is a game
And profits are the prize,
But in the player's fame
Success or failure lies.

Men analyze the sales
Cold records on a slip,
But many a business fails
For lack of sportsmanship.

This is rather old, but bears repeating:
Two fellows, rather tipsy met
On the street and collided with each other.

"Shay" said the one "Didn't I meet you in Philadelphia some time in June?"

"Now, you didn't. Never been to Philadelphia?"

"Isn't that so? Well neither have I. Must 'ave been two other fellers."

"I have a sore on the back of my neck, as big as a quarter" complained the workman to his boss.

"Ah, forget it. That's nothing. I once had one as big as a dollar and a half."

A few fellows in this community are getting worried about the prospect of having a shoe factory here. They have been dodging work long and successfully but are fearful that a factory so close to home, would either make them go to work or move.

Are You Ready
When your Children Cry for It
Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug. Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot pat away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

High School Life Commercial Notes

We are soon to be tested on what we have learned this first six weeks. Shorthand 1 has certainly taken up a lot of different hooks and crooks and various other kinds of marks, all of which mean something, though we can't always tell what they do mean.

The beginning typists are using all fingers now, even that little one. Our names come in to the desk on our papers spelled in very unusual ways, but the grades seem to get down to the right person just the same.

The advanced typing class took their first awards test yesterday—that for the month of September. Wilma Wilson qualified for a bronze pin from the Underwood Company. In these tests the errors are limited to five on the Underwood and to seven on the Remington for the first award.

The advanced Shorthand pupils are making a drive for accuracy in writing Shorthand notes. It's surprising how many things one can forget during a summer vacation.

The Eastern Division of the Illinois State Teachers Association meets at Charleston on Friday, October 11. The teachers of the High school are all planning to go.

2 GLASSES WATER, NOT TOO COLD, HELP CONSTIPATION

One glass water is not enough—take 2 glasses a half hour before breakfast. You get quicker results by adding a little simple glycerin, saline, etc., (known as Adlerika) to one glass.

Unlike other remedies, Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removes old poisons you never thought were in your system. Adlerika stops GAS and sour stomach in 10 minutes! Relieves constipation in 2 hours.—Sam B. Hall, Druggist.

ELEVENTH INSTALMENT

Dear Wife, he wrote her mother.—The Lord giveth and taketh away. I have lost you and my darling daughter and my loneliness, but I still can say. "Thy will be done."

I think you should know, however, how things are here. Otherwise I should not write you. But I am afraid that the daughter that was once ours might tire of the husks of sin and wish to come home repentant.

Bitterness filled my soul when I learned that she was leading a life of riotous mockery, and when I saw the picture of her smiling in wanton attire at the side of that smirking French general, I had it in my heart to curse her I wrote in my haste. I repented my hardness of heart and bowed my head in humble shame when I read your angry reply. I had lost your love and your admiration, but that was deserved punishment for the idolatry that had grown up in my heart towards you; and for the mistakes I must have made in not giving our erring daughter a better care.

But now it has pleased the Lord to pour out the vials of his wrath on my gray hairs. The old mortgage on the church fell due long ago, but foreclosure had been postponed from time to time. We gave a benefit to pay it off, but everybody was too poor to respond, and it did not pay expenses.

The manager of the motion-picture house here offered to share profits on the showing of a picture in which, as he had the impudence to tell me, my daughter played a part. But while it would have drawn money for curiosity that would not have responded to a Christian appeal, I felt that it would be a compounding evil, and I put Satan behind me and ordered the fellow out of the house.

The church is to be closed. What I shall do next or how to take care of the little children that still cling to our home, the Lord has not yet told me in answer to my prayers. I still have faith that His good time he will provide a way or call. His servant home, and I hope you will not take this letter as a plea for pity.

My cup is full and running over but my chief dread is that unhappiness and want may be your portion as well as mine, and that I shall fail you utterly after providing so scantily for you all your days. I can only pray that my fears are the result of loneliness and age and weariness.

And now may the Lord shield you with his ever-present mercy, or at least give us the strength to understand that in all things he knoweth best.

Your loving Husband.
As they read this letter and saw back of the lines the heavy brows of her old father, saw the bald spot she had stared at from the choir loft, saw all the sweet wrong-headedness of the veteran saint, Mem's heart hurt intolerably.

Her mother sobbed: "What on earth can I write the poor darling?"

Mem replied: "The answer is easy. I'm going to send him all the money I've got."

Her mother cried out against robbing one of her loves to pay another. It seemed a cruel shame to take the first bit of cake from her daughter and sell it to buy bread for her husband.

"You'll need it yourself. You may not have another job soon. You need new clothes and a rest." "Rest and the clothes can wait." Her mother kept a miserable silence for a long while before she could say: "Your father will never accept money that you have earned from the pictures. He'd rather die."

This gave Mem only a brief pause. She answered simply: "Doctor Brecherick got me in this business by making up the pack of lies that brought me out here. Now he can make up a few more and save poor daddy from desperation."

She sat down at once and wrote the doctor a letter, telling him what he must know already of her father's helplessness. She enclosed a money order for two hundred and fifty dollars. She wrote a check at first, but she was afraid to have it put through the bank at Calvary lest her father hear of it. She instructed the doctor to make up another of his scenarios about a repentant member of the congregation wishing to restore some stolen funds—or anything that his imagination could invent.

Then she set the wheels in motion to secure an immediate engagement with the next to the greatest comedian on the screen. Ned Ling, a reader of important books; a debater of art theories—but above all a man afraid of nothing so much as he was afraid of love.

It was a period of dead calm and torpid seas, and so Mr. Bermond willingly arranged to 'rent' her to Ling, who wanted her at once at first sight.

Meanwhile, through Claymore, Terry Dack was about to be struck off in innumerable portraits and showered upon a grateful world.

At the age of five he would commence his business career with a salary of two or three thousand dollars a year.

One of Mem's pictures was shown soon after at a theatre in Los Angeles, and she sat in a vast throng. She saw with pride a fat woman snifle and thought it a beautiful tribute. She saw a bald-headed man sneak a handkerchief out and, pretending to blow his nose, dash his shameful tears away. And that was beautiful to her with a wonderful beauty.

The papers the next day in their criticisms gave her special mention. A marvelous thing to see one's name in print and with a bouquet tied to it.

She had but a little while to revel in this perfect award, for in a few days a letter came to her, forwarded from the studio.

Her heart plunged with terror as she read.

I seen your pictur last nite and it made me sick you're awful innasent and sweet in the pictur and you look like buter wouldn't melt in your mouth but I know beter for Im the guy who held you up wen you was with that other guy and took your wedin ring off you didnt know who you was then and I dont know who he is yet but Im wise to you and all I got to say is Ive got my eye on you and you better behave or els quit playin these innasent parts you movie people make me sick you're only a gang of hippocrits so beware.

Mem felt odious to herself with all the revolting nausea of evil revealed. There is remorse enough for a struggling soul that knows its own defeats and backslidings, but it is nothing to the remorse that follows a published fault.

This letter was more hideous than headlines in a paper. It was more dreadful than such a pilloried public shame as Hester Prynne's. It meant that somewhere there was a man in an invisible cloak of namelessness and facelessness who depised her and jeered at her sublimities of purity. Her highest ambitions were doomed to sneering mockery.

After a day in Ling's studio, he took her to "The Beggar's Opera."

She had so lost her orientation at the end of the seductive villainies, that she did not faint when Ned Ling said:

"I've laughed myself hungry. I haven't ordinarily any appetite. Let's go to my house and have a bite."

"To your house?" "Yes. It's all right. I'm quite alone there. Just a Jap. Very secluded."

She wanted to say: "You tell me not why I should go, but why I should not. And I won't."

But it seemed a silly little girlish, old-maidish, prunes-and-primish thing to say so she said, "All right," and got into Ling's car.

When he said, "Home", to the driver she almost swooned, but not quite.

The Jap showed no surprise at the late arrival of his master with a lady. Evidently it was the ordinary thing. Mem longed for a mask or a fire escape or a gun. She glanced about for weapons of defense.

But Ned Ling said: "Some scrambled eggs and bacon—some wine. Would you rather have red or white?—or a little champagne? Let's have some champagne—yes? Yes, we'll have some champagne—native California—but good."

She was hungry, but he kept one of her hands prisoner and preferred to talk. Afterward they went into the beautiful living room, a strange room for a clown; more like what she imagined a millionaire's room to be, judging from what millionaire's rooms she had seen in the movies.

He made her sit down on a long couch and snuggled close to her. She was curious rather than alarmed. He took up her hand again and studied it, talking in the rather literary manner he sometimes assumed: "Each separate finger has its own soul, don't you think? Hands are families. Queer things, fingers. Your right hand and your left hand aren't the least alike and your face is still a third person."

Before Mem quite realized how solemnly ludicrous a couple of comedians could be—if anybody had been looking—except God—and perhaps that Jap valet—Ned Ling's head was on her breast and his eyes were turned up into hers—like a baby's. He was in a new-born prattling humor. That was a secret of his success. He was a baby with all a baby's privileges of impropriety, selfishness, hatefulness, adorableness.

He could revert to infancy and take his audience with him, make old men and women laugh at the simple things that had tickled their childish hearts. And withal there was an amazing sophistication. He was a baby that calculated and measured, triumphed and yet wept and wanted always, the next toy. He was thinking of Mem as his next toy and she was thinking of him as her next child.

His warm head and his brown eyes, like maple sugar just as it is liquescent to syrup, and with the same gold flakes glinting—they were quaintly babyish to her in spite of his old talk.

"I want to love and to be loved but not to love too much. I'm afraid of love. It has hurt me too bitterly. Some of them haven't been true to me, and that hurt me horribly. And I haven't been true to some of them—and that hurt me still worse. I don't know which is ghastlier—to see a woman laugh at you or cry at you. Marriage is no solution. I don't see how it can help being the end of love. Love ought to be free—like art and speech. Of course art isn't free. There's the censorship. Well, marriage is like censorship. Everything you do and say and feel must be submitted to the censor. They call this a free country and have censorships and marriages!"

She smiled. He was more like a prattling baby the more cynical he grew. His heavy head made her breast ache and yearn for a baby. But he wanted only the froth of life without the body or the dregs.

"Could you live me just enough and not too much?" he pleaded.

If he had said, "Marry me tomorrow!" he might have had her then. But she had not his opinion of marriage. She had played the game without the name—endured the ecstasy and the penalty without the ceremony. She had escaped public shame by a miracle of lies and accidents. The hunger remained for the rewards of marriage, the honesty of a home, the granite foundations of respectable loyalty.

So when he pleaded with her for love that cheated and played for fun and not for all, for a kiss, for caresses, she shook her head—mystically as he thought, but very sanely and calmly, in truth. Finally she yawned in the face of his passion and said, "I'll be going home now, please."

Helping Business

"Live and let live" is a well-regarded maxim of business life. Let us see how it relates to the railroads.

The railroads are not content that other lines of business shall merely live. They want business to be prosperous, and through their service they help others to prosper.

The present trend of the nation's business is an illustration. Few lines of business lack a measure of prosperity; most of them are doing better than ever before; the average is highly satisfactory. It is generally recognized that the progress of the railroads has contributed greatly to this favorable situation. There have been plenty of cars and locomotives and other facilities. The time of freight in transit has been reduced from weeks to days and from days to hours. Passenger trains have been speeded up. Schedules of all kinds are maintained with remarkable exactness. The improved speed and dependability of railway service have reduced inventories, stabilized prices and promoted regularity of supply and demand.

The rule necessarily works both ways. The railroads must prosper in order to help other lines of business to prosper.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

President, Illinois Central System.

Ps. 36:11 Let not the foot of pride come against me, and let not the hand of the wicked remove me." The foot that trips and the hand that shoves. Many a man and woman have been tripped up and fallen down, by the foot of their own pride, of the two, we fear the foot of pride more than the hand of the wicked. We need to pray much that God help us to see the pride in our hearts. We don't like to call it pride, that feeling of exaltation that goes to our head over some success attained, and because we do not call it pride we deceive ourselves, we get too high headed, we may still see the hand of the wicked directed against us, but we cannot stoop low enough to see the foot of pride, which is far more dangerous. Lord save us from the pride of life, which is not of the father but of the world. Eve, the first sinner fell through pride.
