73RD. YEAR. NO. 48

Director Cleveland And Frank Sheets To Visit Moultrie

State Highway Officials Hear Plea for Road Building in This County Next Year. Have Promised Bethany Folks an Inspection Tour.

The Moultrie county delegation who went to Springfield Thursday of last week to confer with Director of Public Works and Buildings H. H. Cleveland and with State Highway Engineer Frank Sheets, received assurance that Moultrie county's claim to more hard roads would be given due consideration in mapping the 1930 road building program.

The committee from the board of Supervisors urged action and presented to the state officials a written plea for action on routes 132 and 133.

In the discussion that followed Supervisor F. F. Fleming made a special plea for some hard road connection for Arthur and told how lack of a hard road had lost that community its Pevely Milk plant. He said that the milk company had given assurances that it would reopen at Arthur as soon as that city was connected with a hard road.

For Dalton City, J. L. Mayes, John Weidner and George Fulk urged that route 132 be located along the I. C. Tracks from Bethany northwestward as originally contemplated. Both Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Sheets informed the committee that they had given a promise to a Bethany delegation recently that they would come to Moultrie county to look over the situation pertaining to Bethany's plea that route 132 be located from that city west to connect with route 169. In nothing that the officials said could any assurance be found that Bethany's plea would be granted, but they were also careful in so wording their statements that the Dalton delegation could not get any impression that the Bethany plan was out of the running all together.

Highway superintendent Guy S. Little acted as spokesman for the Moultrie folks and introduced the speakers of the various delegations. The Sullivan Community club was represented by its committee, Judge George A. Sentel, D. G. Carmine, W. R. Robinson, E. A. McKenzie and Brandenburg. Judge Sentel had been selected as spokesman for this delegation.

The Judge plainly and concisely told the officials that Sullivan as represented by its Community club is not interested very much in the matter of where route 132 shall be located, but it is anxious that the state decide on the location and make the survey thus enabling the county to proceed with the getting of the necessary right of way. He urged particularly that there be no delay in building route 132 from Sullivan to Bethany. He stated that if the Bethany-Dalton City squabble should tie up the location of the route between those two cities that this need not serve to delay the road between Sullivan and Bethany.

He called attention to the fact that the Brown Shoe factory now being built here will employ people from Bethany and that consequently a good road should be provided for the accommodation of such laborers as soon as is possible.

The Judge then put in a strong plea for the building of route 133 so as to give Arthur a hard road. He pointed out to the state officials that no community is perhaps in more dire need for hard road facilities than is Arthur.

Both Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Sheets spoke very favorably relative to the building of route 133. They said that they had all of the necessary data on that situation and intimated that this road especially that part from Arthur to Lovington was being given serious consideration.

J. B. Craig and John Craig made a plea for the routing of 133 through Cadwell, a few miles south of Arthur, but both Mr. Sheets and Mr. Cleveland seemed to think that such a location would be impracticable because the legislature in providing for routes to be paved out of the $100,000,000 bond issue funds specifically stated that route 133 should give service to Arthur.

No definite assurances were given as to road building in this county in 1930. The first action on the part of the state officials will be the visit of Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Sheets, which they intimated might be within the next three weeks.

ARMORY QUINTET BESTS MATTOON TEAM FRIDAY

The Armory basketball team continued to pile up laurels Friday night when it won its third game for the season by the top-heavy score of 32 to 18. The victims were the Mattoon Indians. This Friday the local tossers expect to take the Decatur Pump Company boys to a similar trimming.

The Sullivan team Friday consisted of W. Smith and D. Moran, right forwards; Lilly, left forward; J. Moran center; Dennis right guard and Nedden left guard. All played a consistent game and with the exception of Moran who replaced Smith, all helped some in the scoring. In the first half Lilly shot 3 baskets, J. Moran three and Dennis one. In the second half Smith dropped in on the hoop, Lilly 2, J. Moran 1, Dennis 1 and Nedden 2. The Sullivan boys scored on four out of seven free throws.

The Mattoon boys garnered only three scattered baskets in the first half and to this added 1 point on a free throw. In the second half Neely got warmed up and found the basket for a score four times. This with a few more free throws brought the visitors' score up to 18. As the score indicates, the Sullivan boys had the game all nailed down in the first half and did not have to exert themselves very much in the final inning.

The Decatur Pump Company usually sends a cracking good team and this Friday night's game will doubtless take the measure of Lieut. Campbell's cagey hoop-shooters.

The Bethany Indians will play Mattoon Independents also Friday night as a curtain raiser to the main game.

VENTURESOME FORD CROSSED NEW BRIDGE

When contractor Hoke Lane got on the job at Jonathan Creek bridge Saturday morning he found that some time during the night some fellow in a Ford had crossed the new bridge. He must have bridged the gap on the west bridge approach with some boards but anyway, no matter how he got across, he has the honor of being the first man who used the bridge, construction work on which has been in progress going on two years.

If the Community Club committee can get the cinders which it is negotiating for, this road will soon be in shape for travel all winter.

STANLEY GUYER TO PRACTICE IN ROCKFORD

The household goods of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Goyer were moved from the W. L. Rhodes dwelling in this city to Rockford Monday, where they will reside. Mr. Goyer who for a time was connected with the law offices in this city, will be associated in the practice of law with John H. Page. The firm has offices in the Rockford National Bank building and Mr. Page as assistant U. S. District attorney.

MAE LUCAS DISCUSSED THANKSGIVING DAY

A feature of the Domestic Science program given Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Cora Fleming was the Thanksgiving Day discussion by Mrs. Mae Lucas. Other features on the program were a piano solo by Mrs. Carmen Patterson; and vocal solos by Mrs. Fleming and Mrs. Leone Martin.

NEXT DAY OF CIRCUIT COURT DECEMBER 18

After a short session of court here last Thursday Judge Wamsley adjourned court to December 18th.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFER

Warranty deed was recorded this week whereby M. A. Mattox and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Patterson transfer to Opha Yarnell, the 16 acre tract West of this city, where Mr. and Mrs. Walter Birch have been residing. The consideration was $4,000. This is the Jim Cook place which was the object of considerable litigation some years ago. E. J. Miller, who had an interest in the tract, transferred this by warranty deed to C. R. Patterson before the transfer was made to Mr. Yarnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Birch are moving into the residence property west of where Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Birch now reside.

Two Basket Ball Games on Schedule Of STHS Next Week

Atwood Champions Will Be First Opponent of Local High School Quintet. Everybody Invited to A Free Game Thursday Night.

Tuesday night opens the Sullivan basketball season on the local floor. The strong Atwood team will be here for the opener. Atwood last year cut a wide swath in basketball affairs and is said to have about the same lineup this year. Coach Dennis plans to put forth his best team to annex this first game.

Thursday night the Strasburg High School team will be here to play a team of Freshmen. Principal Scheer has announced that this will be a free for all game. No admission will be charged. Everybody is invited to come out and see a good game and get all pepped up with enthusiasm so as to develop into a fan for the home team and the home school.

LEON REEDER LOST VALUABLE CORNET AT URBANA LAST WEEK

Leon Reeder who went to Urbana last week to represent the local Township High School at the all-state musical organizations in connection with the annual high school teachers conference made an excellent showing as cornetist and won first place in such capacity on the all-state orchestra.

He had the misfortune, however, of having his cornet stolen on the first night while he was in that city. He left it in one of the college buildings, thinking that it was absolutely safe. It was not. It disappeared and no trace of it has been found. The instrument originally cost him $100, which was money that he had earned in small amounts. Naturally he feels the loss very keenly.

Despite the misfortune, he continued his musical work on the remaining days of the conference. University officials promised to make an effort to find the missing cornet.

STANDARD BEARERS HAD INSTALLATION SERVICES

Installation Service and Story of Standard Bearers were held in the M. E. church Sunday evening. A pleasing and inspiring service by the Standard Bearers and their assistant counsellor Mrs. McCawley was given in song and story. Mrs. McCawley told the story, pausing for the girls to sing hymns that told the story in song of the Standard Bearer Society.

Mrs. James Reeder, the Counsellor had charge of the installation service. The seven new officers presented themselves to their counsellor and took their vows to the best of their ability to hold up the standards of Jesus at all times. The girls wore white caps with the blue cross plainly showing. They also wore headbands of white with the blue cross which is their emblem. Each girl carried an unlighted candle which she lighted as she was told her duties.

The new officers:— President—Mildred Chapin. 1st Vice Pres.—Cora Risley. 2nd Vice Pres. Carlisle Allison.

Correspondence Sec.—Katherine Hughes. Recording Sec.—Esther Loy. Treas.—Rozetta McKim. Pianist—Ethel Jordan.

KIWANIS WILL BE HOST TO CHILDREN FRIDAY

Some of the children of this city have been invited to the National Inn for dinner Friday. The invitations were issued through the committee on under privileged children. The committee in charge is Jim Smith and O. E. Lowe.

ROSS TUCKER BUYS

Ross Tucker this week bought from Homer Shepherd and wife some real estate on West Harrison street. The consideration was $1,000. The legal description of the property is Lots 1 and 2, blk. 3 of Camfield's R. R. addition to Sullivan.

ARTHUR S. S. MEN WERE HOST TO NOV. ASS'N. MEETING

Over a hundred men gathered at Vine street Christian church in Arthur Monday night for the November meeting of the Men's Bible School Association. The big Shelbyville delegation that usually attends these meetings was absent, as a revival meeting is in progress in the Christian church in that city.

Upon invitation from the local class, the December meeting will be held in this city. On account of the many things that enter into the Christmas season, it was decided to have this meeting on the first Monday night in January.

As part of Monday night's meeting short talks were made on the International Series of lessons which have been assigned for December study.

The social hour following the business session was presided over by H. M. Rigney, president of the Arthur class. The speakers were Rev. Franklin of Lovington, Rev. Hopper of Arthur and Albert Walker of this city. The main speaker of the evening was Rev. Robert Henry of Taylorville, who is one of the best known ministers in central Illinois, having for a time been pastor of the First Christian church in Decatur and later officiating in a similar capacity at the Arthur church. He is now pastor of the Taylorville Christian church. His text Monday night was "What is really worth while."

The song service of the evening was under the direction of D. G. Carmine. A cornet solo was given by a lady from Arthur.

Following the activities in the main auditorium, all were invited to the basement of the church where the ladies served oceans of oyster stew, pie, pickles, etc.

The Sullivan class was represented by 17 of its members. Other churches represented were Lovington, Dalton City, Windsor, Smyser, Union Prairie, Jonathan Creek, Arthur and Taylorville.

MRS. GUY BUPP PRESIDENT OF LOYAL DAUGHTERS

The Loyal Daughters met at the home of Mrs. Pearl Kelley Monday evening for their regular monthly class party. The meeting was opened with prayer, by Mrs. C. E. Barnett. The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Raymond Shasteen.

Christmas baskets will be sent by the class this year to needy members of the congregation. The committee in charge of this are Mrs. B. C. Monroe, Mrs. C. R. Hill and Mrs. Will Fortner.

Officers for the next year were elected, and will be installed at the next meeting. They are: President, Mrs. Guy Bupp.

Vice President—Mrs. George Elder. Secretary—Mrs. Fred Breisler. Treasurer—Mrs. Oliver Dolan.

Class teacher, Mrs. Stella Ellis. A rising vote of thanks was extended to the out-going officers and a response was made by Mrs. Shasteen. This concluded the business part of the program and games were played after which refreshments of sandwiches, pickles and coffee were served.

BI-MONTHLY EXAMINATION TO BE ON DECEMBER 17

The regular bi-monthly examination in the rural schools will be held on Tuesday, December 17th, instead of Friday, Dec. 20. This earlier date has been set by Mrs. Roughton the superintendent of schools, so as not to conflict with the Christmas programs in the schools.

TRIANGLE GIRLS TO HAVE BAKERY AND CANDY SALE

There will be a bakery and candy sale in the First National bank Saturday afternoon Nov. 30th. This is being promoted by Mrs. C. R. Hill's Triangle Club girls. They say to you "Come and buy good things to eat from us."

WHITFIELD P-T ASS'N.

The Whitfield school Parent-Teachers Association had its second meeting of the season Tuesday night. The attendance was good and the program was put on by the school of which Miss Mildred Kendrick is teacher. Mrs. Nettie L. Roughton spoke. Her son Lee accompanied her to the meeting.

—States Attorney R. B. Foster and Raymond Yeakel have been up near Quincy this week visiting friends and shooting ducks.

McLaughlin House Badly Damaged By Fire Friday

Blaze Which Started in the Attic Was Brought Under Control Only After Big Property Loss Had Resulted.

Fire which apparently started from defective wiring in the attic on Friday did considerable damage to the residence of J. L. McLaughlin and family on Harrison street.

When the fire was discovered smoke was pouring out from all parts of the many-gabled roof. Flames were licking along the shingles in various places. The fire truck responded promptly to the alarm at just about the noon hour.

A big crowd speedily gathered and all of the furnishings of the lower rooms and some in the second story were carried to safety. The fire was confined to the attic and second story, but the water did much damage to the lower story.

The big attic was used by the family as a storage room and clothing and other articles were kept there. None of these were saved and this constitutes a big item of loss. The damage to the house is estimated conservatively at about $3000. Mr. McLaughlin has twice owned this place. The last time he bought it he paid $10,000 for it, it being one of the best residence locations in this city.

The household goods carried out of the house were taken to the homes of nearby neighbors until the early part of this week, when they were gathered up and moved into the W. L. Rhodes house, where the family will reside for the present.

In an interview Wednesday morning, Mr. McLaughlin stated that he had about decided to have the house repaired and will again occupy it as soon as it is habitable.

HEARD SERENADERS

The Tamburitza Serenaders were the feature number on the Assembly program at the High school Monday morning. A number of town people were present to join with the students and the teachers in enjoying the program.

The next entertainment of this kind will be a character entertainment by Robert Morningstar. The public is invited.

MARRIED BY HOPPER

Ray E. Renshaw 21 of Charleston and Helen Sandy 21 of Washington, D. C. were united in marriage by Rev. W. B. Hopper at his place of residence in this city Saturday evening.

TO ELECT OFFICERS

Sullivan Council No. 91 Royal and Select Masons will have a meeting and election of officers at the lodge hall Monday night. Henry J. Sona is the present Thrice Illustrious Master.

JESSE POWELL'S JERSEYS AGAIN WON BUTTERFAT HONORS

There are 1361 dairy herds on official test in the state of Illinois in the matter of butterfat production. Jesse Powell's herd topped them all in October. This is nothing new for the Powell herd. During the summer months cows out of this herd won show honors and production honors both.

Mr. Powell's five pure bred and grade Jerseys during the month of October topped the state list by producing an average of 51.8 pounds of butterfat each. C. S. Rhoades, dairy extension specialist of the college of Agriculture at the University of Illinois has made this official announcement.

A herd of 62 Holsteins at Elmwood, Illinois averaged 41.4 pounds butterfat for the month, the best showing among the larger herds.

The Moultrie county organization with 219 cows led the state for October. Coles county was second. Moultrie county also placed two in the ten small herds on test and one among the large herds. In the small herd class J. A. Powell and C. W. Prettyman of Arthur placed first and second and in the large herds, W. F. Farrell of Lake City won 6th place.

The consistent record which is being made by the Moultrie herds is making this county the best known Jersey county in the state. The breeders are beginning to realize good returns on all of this publicity and can sell any surplus stock at a good figure.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY DINNER FOR CHARLES DANIELS

Sunday being the 30th birthday anniversary of Charles Daniels, his friends and relatives gathered at noon with well filled baskets to help him celebrate the event. A bountiful dinner was spread with all the nice things to go with the surprise. His brother Kenneth and wife and sister Mildred and Walter Anders drove down from Sycamore Saturday night and then came over and helped with the surprise Sunday.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Daniels and sons, Dean, Ralph and Omer and daughters Hazel and Alma, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Moran and daughters Olga and Alta, Mrs. Frank Scooby and daughter Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daniels and sons Earl, Wayne and Gerald, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Daniels and Miss Mildred Daniels and Walter Anders all of Sycamore.

WILL HAVE THANKSGIVING DINNER WITH KIWANIS HEAD

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McLaughlin and family will spend Thanksgiving Day in Decatur, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Horace McDavid. Mr. McLaughlin is president of the local Kiwanis club and Mr. McDavid is International president.

SULLIVAN MARKETS

This has been sunflower week in Sullivan. Elevators have been buying the sunflower seed at 1c per lb. Hundreds of thousands of pounds have been bought. The drier at the Sullivan Grain Company elevator is being kept running full capacity drying seed not only for that company but for other elevators in this locality.

The price is rather a disappointment for the farmers. Last year they got 3½c per lb. This year the big buyers are not in the market for the seed. There is a large surplus left from last year and this country has grown the biggest crop of sunflowers in its history. That means a big carry-over for next year. The seed now is finding its way into the hands of those who will store it to await higher prices.

Because of the rush in marketing sunflowers, the local elevators are not taking any corn this week. The price is 66c and the yield and quality is fair. As many farmers haul their corn from the fields direct to the elevators, the fact that the elevators do not want it as yet, is delaying the shucking some.

Produce houses are paying 46 cents for eggs; 38c for butterfat; 12c to 17c for springs and hens; 10c for cocks; 12c for ducks and 12c for geese.

SULLIVAN COMMUNITY HOUSEHOLD SCIENCE CLUB

The Sullivan Community Household science club will meet at 11 o'clock on Tuesday, Dec. 3rd. At noon a pot luck dinner will be served. The afternoon session will begin at 1:30. A short business meeting and program will be given followed by a talk by Miss Fannie Brooks, Health Specialist sent out by the university of Illinois. She will also speak at the morning hour. The Lovington Woman's club will be guests.

SEE SULLIVAN SUCCEED

HUMBLE yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time: Casting all your cares upon him for he careth for you.

—1 Peter Chap. 5—6-7.

I care nothing for what you claim to be your own motives, for most men deceive themselves: but let me hear what kind of motives you habitually impute to others and I can easily tell the kind of man you are.

—Crane.

ARE THINGS GOING TO THE DEVIL?

Are the American people riding to a crash? Where will all of this much-advertised and inflated prosperity end?

These questions were asked the other day by a man who is generally known for his cheery and optimistic disposition.

Here were some of the deductions that he advanced and we have added a few more:

American people are in debt. They are not getting out of debt but as a matter of fact keep digging in deeper.

In an effort to keep up "with the Joneses" people are buying things that they cannot afford. Many of them are trying to live up to the false and inflated after-war standard.

In a hysterical effort to stave off financial ruin, they speculate in stocks and in other risky ventures.

Farms are plastered with mortgages. You seldom hear of one being paid off in full. Instead, there is always a demand for bigger loans, when as a matter of fact the value of the land is depreciating.

People are no more independent. They seek the easy way. They are growing soft and spongy in physical and moral fibre. The plain talking, hard hitting man of pioneer days has passed out of the picture of America as it is today.

The automobile age has put most everybody in bondage to Henry Ford and he regularly gathers in a portion of the earnings of the people in installment payments. What Henry does not get General Motors does. Then if there is a little left why it goes to pay an installment on the radio or something else that has been bought so as to keep up appearances with the folks next door.

'Tis a sad and gloomy picture when you look at it in that way. Total ruin and decided damnation seems to be just around the corner.

* * * *

Now we have given you the pessimistic view of the case and in all justice, we must turn now and also view the optimistic side.

You know that ever since the day of Adam and Eve folks have been predicting disaster for this old world. Adam's granddaughter wore more fig leaves than did her mother and she had added some fancy furs from some of the animals that Adam's grandsons had killed. That worried Adam. He saw stark ruin right ahead, through such extravagance.

And so it has been down through the ages. Old age, looking at youth predicted that the world was going plumb to hell and then when youth settled down to mature age, it again predicted the same calamity about to befall.

True, lots of folks do make fools of themselves by trying to keep up with fashion's gait and by buying stuff that they could well do without. But then again there are plenty of folks that are entirely too cautious. They measure everything by the dollar and not by the use or the pleasure that it may bring.

The good things here on earth were placed here by the Creator for his children to enjoy. If folks would all wait until they had the cash in hand before buying what they wanted, they would rest in the earth's bosom with their toes turned toward the daisies without having realized much good or pleasure out of life.

This old world has been accused of going to the devil through the many centuries that have passed. It has seen times when the prediction was about fulfilled, but there has always been a brighter side and it would in time predominate.

There are many angles to this situation. Some folks, through lack of confidence in themselves or in the future, pass through life guarding the few shekels they have and not getting anything else out of life except this feeling of possession. Some folks of a predatory nature, misuse the talents and intelligence that God has given them to accumulate more than they themselves and a thousand more might need. Some folks like to get their money easy and adopt the dishonest ways of getting it.

Some there are who, in the knowledge that God Almighty blesses all honest effort, strike forth into the world's marts of trade and make good, but are always willing to share with the Great Giver and those less fortunate the things that have come their way.

These kind of folks are not concerned about keeping "up with the Joneses." They set the pace and all pretension and silly and foolish imitating or apeing of their ways fills them with profound disgust or perhaps with amusement.

This earth is full of lots of funny things. The most amusing creature that the Creator ever placed on earth is mankind. There is more of devilishness and outright cussedness in man than in any other creation. The silly pretensions, the vain-glorious efforts to be impressive, to be rich, to be honored and glorified; the silly greed and grasping and the selfish attitude of fear and cowardice; all of these are present. They are smeared on thick. They are the predominant traits in many humans.

But then again there is another side to this. Mankind, created in the image of its Maker embodies also within itself goodness and nobility; all of love and of kindness and all of the things that according to human standards may be classed as being really worth while.

We don't believe that this country or that the world is riding for a fall. Things are not going hell-bent to the devil. There may be lots of evil, lots of hypocrisy and lots of pretension in the make-up of America, but underneath it all is a basis of good, sound, common sense which at times arises and restores among mankind a semblance of order.

And then the turmoil again prevails.

SULLIVAN AGAIN SHOWS THE WAY

Sullivan is getting to have a reputation as a city where results are accomplished through organization.

The recent success of the Brown Shoe Factory drive advertised this city over a considerable portion of the globe.

That drive showed how things can be done.

Thursday morning of last week another drive was put across successfully. That was the Red Cross drive.

The plans for this drive evoked considerable interest at Division Red Cross headquarters at St. Louis. They cannot help but be pleased with the results.

The American Red Cross is a meritorious and worth while organization. None can truthfully contradict that statement.

When the time came this year for the Annual Roll-call, the Moultrie Chapter chairman looked around for a Roll-Call chairman. He offered the place to several and received several refusals. So there was no Chapter Roll-call chairman.

The chairman then called Mrs. A. E. McCorvie, the president of the Friends in Council club and asked that the club do the membership solicitation work in Sullivan. She graciously presented the matter to the club and it was voted to accede to the request.

Mrs. J. A. Reeder was named chairman of a committee, the other members of which were Mrs. Carl Hill and Mrs. F. A. Brown. At a luncheon at the National Inn, which was attended by Miss Pearl Laptad of St. Louis headquarters, plans were discussed for the membership drive. A thorough organization was perfected, in command of Mrs. Reeder.

Thursday morning the workers gathered at the Court House and got their supplies. There were enough workers to make a speedy canvass and at the noon hour all gathered at the M. E. church for a check-up and a dinner and pep-meeting.

The drive had gone across in great shape. Those who had not helped in the solicitation had prepared the dinner and arranged a short program. All felt happy for all knew that they had been engaged in a good cause. The cleanup squad has since been calling on some that were missed in the first call. The total membership for Sullivan will be over the 200 mark.

Thanks, many thanks to the Friends in Council club. Many thanks also are due Mrs. Reeder the drive chairman and her committee. The right spirit, backed by organization has again triumphed.

Sullivan has notified the Division Headquarters of the American Red Cross at St. Louis, that the plan evolved here was a success. The Sullivan community spirit can do great things.

The Family Doctor

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M. D.

WORTH CONSIDERING

While the average span of life has been materially lengthened by the splendid progress in medicine and surgery, yet the fact remains that more men of middle age or just beyond are dying in a given period of time than ever before. In fact it seems now that middle-age is the critical period for men. They are found dead in the bath-tub, at the steering wheel, on the golf links, at the desk—and the newspaper diagnosis is usually "heart disease."

It is true that the heart does more work than any other unit within the human being. It lifts from ten to eighteen pounds of blood seventy-two times a minute; multiply; and that by sixty to give you the pounds lifted per hour by the heart—I think it is something over 77,000! Think of a day—a week—a month—a year—a lifetime! The power of this heart is simply staggering to belief.

Then, when the body is in action,—when exercising, or indulging in field sports, the muscular pressure on the blood-vessels is doubled—trebled—and the labor of the heart increased in exact proportion. The heart is actually made stronger and more efficient by wholesome exercise in work or play. Just why should this wonderful organ be the first to fail, at an age when it should be at its best?

The answer is, the heart is poisoned from within. Strangely enough, by food—food—useful, necessary food! Eaten at improper hours, in gluttonous quantity. The body is stuffed with heavy proteins at hours when their digestion is impossible. I still maintain that the six o'clock dinner-debauch is killing more of our middle-aged men than cancer! The heart cannot obtain its own proper nourishment from a torrent of undigested proteins within the blood-stream from which it must be sustained.

The six o'clock dinner is an assassin that creeps upon its happy victim by stealth—and gets him ultimately. Our pioneers, who knew more than we do, died of old age. Mush and milk for supper is a good prescription—mighty good.

RATHER DESCRIPTIVE

Sometimes a man of no literary pretension will offer an effective description.

Such a man was telling me about his wife. He had said that she was a very small woman. Seeking to enforce the point, he added:

"When I tell you that she is hog-fat and yet weighs only 128 pounds, you can see she must be pretty short."—Exchange.

"See how much gas I have" said the tourist as he drove up to a filling station "I believe my tank is about half full."

"No, you're wrong stranger" said Bert Fultz "for the gauge plainly says that it is half empty."

Mother: "I wonder who is was that never folded his clothes when he went to bed?"

Little Lawrence pulled the bed clothes over his head and answered "Adam."—Tid-Bits.

NOTICE TO THE GOOD CHILDREN OF SULLIVAN

The Sullivan Progress has made arrangements with Santa Claus whereby we are to print your letters, telling him what you want him to bring.

Bring or mail your letters to The Progress office and then watch for them in the paper. Don't make your letters too long and get them in early in the week. They must not come in later than Monday, if you want to see them in the paper on the week you bring them in.

Santa Claus will see your letters in The Progress for he reads it carefully as does most everybody else in this part of the country.

Remember now, don't make your letters too long and bring them in or mail them so we'll get them on Mondays. If you cannot get yours next week, why try the week following. Be sure to sign your name and write plainly.

THEY ARE BUILDING THE FACTORY

When the recent convention of county auditors was held in the city of Ottawa, one of the absentees was Cadell West, circuit clerk of Moultrie county, from the thriving little city of Sullivan, county seat of that county. In a recent letter to August Grebe, county recorder of Peoria county and one of the officers of the state organization, enclosing his membership fee, he offers an explanation for his absence. It is this explanation, which has now become the subject of comment, because it tells in a few words the story of what concerted, intelligent civic efforts does for a community, and especially what it did for the city of Sullivan. Read it:

... I am also sorry that I could not attend our convention this year. But at that time our city of Sullivan was trying to raise $125,000 for a Brown Shoe factory, which was a pretty big task for a population of 2,500, and I did not think it best to leave at that time, as I was helping with the work. So I missed the convention—but they are building the factory.

Here is a civic sermon, terse and eloquent beyond description. It tells the story of a civic duty accomplished in the face of difficulty, the result of which must have marked effect upon the growth and prosperity of Sullivan. It is an excellent object lesson for larger communities.

TOO MANY POSSESSIONS

I know a man who has made a great deal of money. Having a high sense of obligations to his associates and his job, he continues to work hard.

But he feels that it is incumbent upon him to show that he is prosperous and, as he expresses it, to "get some enjoyment out of his wealth."

So he has built himself a big house in the city, another near the seashore and a third in the mountains. He has a yacht, with a crew of twenty-five men.

Surely, you would say, he must be very happy, having everything that his heart could desire.

My personal observation is that he has too much, and for that reason actually gets less pleasure out of living than he did when he was poor.

I have never seen him seriously worried about his great business. But I have seen him waste an hour on the telephone fretting over something that had gone wrong on his boat.

He can make a decision involving millions without winking an eyelash. But when his prize bull got sick he was out of business for a couple of days, while he telegraphed all over the country for specialists and received hourly bulletins.

Another man, having no children, keeps two prize dogs which are so valuable that he insists on

THE BROOK

By Alfred Tennyson

I come from haunts of coot and heron,
I make a sudden sally,
And sparkle out among the fern
To bicker down the valley.
By thirty hills I hurry down,
Or slip between the ridges,
By twenty thorns, a little town,
And half a hundred bridges.
Till last by Philips farm I flow
To join the brimming river,
For men may come and men may
go,
But I go on forever.

I chatter over stony ways
In little sharps and trebles,
I bubble into eddying bays,
I babble on the pebbles.
With many a curve my banks I
fret,
By many a field and fallow,
And many a fairy foreland set
With willow-weed and mallow.
I chatter, chatter as I flow
To join the brimming river,
For men may come and men may
go,
But I go on forever.

I wind about, and in and out,
With here a blossom sailing,
And here and there a lusty trout,
And here and there a grayling,
And here and there a foamy flake
Upon me, as I travel,
With many a silvery water-break
Above the golden gravel,
And draw them all along and flow
To join the brimming river,
For men may come and men may
go,
But I go on forever.

I steal by lawns and grassy plots,
I slide by hazel covers,
I move the sweet forget-me-nots
That grow for happy lovers.
I slip, I slide, I glisten, I glance
Among my skimming swallows,
I make the netted sunbeams dance
Against my sandy shallows.
I murmur under moon and star
In brambly wildernesses;
I linger by my shingly bars,
I loiter round my cresses;
And on again I curve and flow
To join the brimming river,
For men may come and men may
go,
But I go on forever.

GAS TAX BRINGS IN $2,500,000 IN OCTOBER

Approximately $2,500,000 is the total of gasoline tax collected during October under the new three-cent law, according to figures compiled by the state finance department. This amount is practically the same as in August and in September, indicating that the state will have more than 25 millions annually to expend on hard roads, provided the gas tax suits are withdrawn or the 1929 law is sustained. Figures furnished by the division of highways as of Nov. 14 give the total of paving constructed during the week as 4.43 miles, and the total for the year as 737 miles.

CIVILIZATION'S PASSWORDS

A missionary, captured by cannibals and stripped of most of his clothing, managed to escape. Half-clad, he fled through the jungle, and after many hours he blundered into a native village, where, breathless, he crouched against the wall of a native hut in an attempt to hide.

A voice from inside caused him to start.
"Oh you hopeless imbecile," he hear. "Why on earth didn't you redouble hearts?"
"Thank goodness!" exclaimed the missionary, "at last I'm among civilized people again."—London Opinion.

BASEBALL ELEGY

She lived a blameless life below,
Death held for her no terrors.
Now she's gone where the lilies blow

No hits, no runs, no errors.

When you need a thing you pay for it whether you buy it or not!

There is nothing more distressing in this fair land than a dead man trying to drag his home town to a level with his own undug grave.—Toledo Democrat.

Albert Walker told a good illustrative story at Arthur the other evening. In an arid section of the farming midwest, once upon a time they needed rain. As in all extremities, they finally evoked the power of religion and several prayer meetings were held where ardent prayers were sent to the throne on high. No rain came.

The elder kneeled and began a petition to the Giver of Rain. While he was still praying a cloud appeared on the horizon. He prayed fervently and he prayed long. The cloud grew bigger. Finally the storm in all its fury swept upon them. It rained and rained some more.

With a look of ecstasy and "I told you so" the old elder watched the waters descending. It rained a sufficient quantity and then it rained some more. The lands were flooded. The corn went down and other grain was beaten to earth. Devastation seemed to have descended.

"Well Elder, now see what you done" remarked one of the prayer meeting crowd.

"You know, it appears to me" said the Elder sadly "That the Lord usually does about as much damage as he does good."

The story of course illustrated that man is always ready to take credit when things go right, but throws the blame on others when they do not.

Hospital efficiency is the real thing. The story is told of an old man who stuttered, was very poorly dressed and looked as if he needed a bath. Incidentally, he also limped badly. He limped into a hospital one day. The nurses could not understand him. So they called an attendant, disrobed the man, burned his clothes, scrubbed him, shaved him, gave him a bromide and put him to bed. Later in the day his son called at the hospital to find out what had become of his father and explained that he had simply gone to the hospital to visit a sick friend.

As he drew her near.
Then he gently kissed her
And talked in quiet tone—

He was asking for a loan.

Pat was arrested for being intoxicated. On being brought before the Judge he was asked by the Court what he was there for.
Pat: "Your Honor, I was arrested for being intoxicated."
Judge: "Pat, where did you buy the liquor?"

Pat: "Your honor, I did not buy it. A scotchman gave it to me."

Judge: "Thirty days for perjury."—Exchange.

The fire truck was going down the street lickety-split. Suddenly the driver stopped and asked a kid on the street where the fire was at. "Why I don't know as there is any yet" said the urchin "but I saw a flaming youth go in to that house to call on his red-hot mamma, and I thought there might be some business for you."

"Gosh!" exclaimed the flapper "It's raining and now you'll have to take me home."

"Why I'd love to" said the bashful farmer lad "But I'm just boarding in this town, and I'm afraid the landlord would be shocked and throw us both out."

Going to Springfield after a big order of high-class paved roads

What's it like when you go to Springfield to see State Highway officials and ask them to "please build us roads."

We'll try and describe the procedure for you. We'll begin at the time where you enter the State House. You gather about the center of the main floor under the dome and there you find some other fellows who are there on a similar mission.

Then you group up and each group has a bit of pet bunk or gossip that it chews over. While waiting until some one says "come on, let's go" you tell what so-and-so says, and what a blankety-blank fool some gawk is because he thinks that he has any political influence with the state highway department. You can hear more wisdom on building roads in these waiting conferences than Frank Sheets ever dreamed of.

Then by and by along comes Guy Little and says "come on boys" and you file into an anteroom where a payroll of ebony presides. You take off your overcoat and hat and pile them carefully on a chair, give your hair a smooth-down touch, put on an air of impressive importance and file into the sacred inner room.

Back of a flat top desk sit two men. Mr. Cleveland is a jolly looking sort, with a round, happy face, crowned by a dome of white hair. Frank Sheets looks like a hard boiled loan officer in a bank. Both shake hands very genially and tell you how glad they are to see you. Mr. Sheets thaws out a little and you get a feeling that he's the sort of fellow whom you would go quite a ways to do a favor and that outside of strictly official business dealings, he'd do about the same for you.

While you are gathering these impressions the rest of the crowd files in. Messrs. Sheets and Cleveland are doubtless duly impressed and if you could read their thoughts they would perhaps be something like this "Well this bunch looks about average. They will ask for paving of whatever roads are now listed as state routes and they'll want the work done tomorrow." And in looking at the assembled crowd they also thought (of course they did not say it) "Carl Crowder and his Bethany committee are not here today. They must have taken a day off."

Mr. Little then introduces Bud Mayes, chairman of the Supervisors road committee and everybody gets set for a long speech from "Bud." He says but a few words and hands a written communication to the officials—one copy to each and sits down. Gosh what a relief. About this time, F. F. Fleming, the Hoopy from Arthur can't restrain himself any longer and he begins to tell how badly Arthur needs a road! And so it goes.

A few remarks from here, a few remarks from there. John Weidner and George Fulk begin to tell why there should be no change from the original plans to locate route 132 along the I. C. tracks. The state officials seem to be in a good humor. They even argue a little here and there to set right somebody who is going off at a tangent. They tell that they have promised the Bethany folks to visit Moultrie county. Right here Mr. Fleming chimes in with "Come to Arthur and we'll serve you a big chicken dinner." That's outright bribery but Mr. Cleveland seems interested. "Well now that sounds interesting," says he. "When will you serve it to them?" one of the Sullivan delegations wanted to know. "Why we'll serve one dinner before they look over our road and we'll serve them another dinner after they get done looking things over, and if they want them we'll give them a few baked chickens to take with them," magnanimously said, Mayor Fleming.

All of this wound up in a big laugh. Some where along the line Sullivan also made a promise of a dinner. About this time George Fulk, who is an exponent at large for the League of Nations, got in a few words about what the law seems to be relative to locating state hard road routes, about concentration of traffic and contravening the explicit provisions as made by the legislature. George can hand out a good line, but it did not seem to make much impression.

Messrs. Cleveland and Sheets talked nice about the Arthur road. Listened patiently to John and Jim Craig while they put in a bid for a routing through Cadwell and you could see them formulating their opinion "Oh, this bunch is not so bad after all."

Guy Little introduced the chairman of the Sullivan Community club as being the head of a "live and hustling little organization" here at Sullivan. Wonder where he got that "little" into his head? The chairman just loves to make speeches, but on this occasion, he felt that a little more weight and dignity would add prestige to the scene so he passed the buck to Judge Sentel and that ex-judicial dignitary swung into action. He performed so that all of Sullivan, as there represented, beamed with pride. He told that Sullivan was not interested in any controversy on location as between Bethany and Dalton City. And right there you could see that Bud Mayes did not like the Judge's speech one bit. The judge said "We want roads built. Give us a survey and locate the road so we can get you the right of way." He told in glowing words of how the Brown Shoe factory will need Bethany working people and after devoting these few terse remarks relative to the future welfare of Sullivan and Bethany, he saw Mayor Fleming's look of longing for a hard road too, and so he made a wonderful plea for our road-less brethren of the borderland, viz.: Arthur.

"Are you" said the Judge "coming down to Moultrie in two weeks?" "Well now, I don't exactly want to promise that" said Mr. Cleveland "You know Thanksgiving Day is next week." "How about coming in three weeks?" persisted Sullivan's spokesman. "We'll try" said Mr. C. "but remember there are many other places that are also clamoring for roads and some of them as meritorious as Bethany or Arthur."

And with a quip here, a remark there, etc., the meeting drew to a close and upon suggestion of Col. Little, the delegation bade a fond farewell to these men who have the destinies of communities in their hands, as it were, and filed out.

In the outer office, the colored gent stopped us all and gave us cards on which we were asked to put our names, addresses, ways of making a living and why, roads interested in, etc. Everybody then got wise that there were some free road maps to be had, so most of the bunch stuffed their pockets with them, and back out into the main corridor we were. Some took up the discussions where they had left off when called into the Highway Department office; some discussed what Bud Mayes thought of Judge Sentel's talk while all were agreed that both Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Sheets were two darn nice fellows, roads or no roads.

The crowd then scattered. The G. O. P. fellows looked up some of their henchmen and co-conspirators who were lolling somewhere on their jobs in the state house. Others bethought themselves of the fact that it was time to get something to eat.

Here a few, there a few, the delegation scattered. Some got home early and the wives of some were worried because they got home so late.

If you are ever put on a committee of this kind, don't miss going. You may not be able to do much, but among the general run of folks in Springfield, the intelligence and general good-looks of a Moultrie county delegation makes it an outstanding and stellar attraction.

Later in the day our delegation ran onto Col. Hopper, the great rehabilitator, but he claimed to be busy and would not trail along with us.

VEGETABLE GARDENS
TOPIC AT TUESDAY'S
FARM BUREAU MEETING

The "Home Vegetable Garden" will be the principal topic for discussion at the Farm Bureau meeting to be held at the Farm Bureau office on the afternoon of Dec. 3.

Prof. Lee A. Somers who is engaged in the vegetable gardening extension service of Urbana will be in charge of the meeting and will instruct those present of the best and most economical means of growing vegetables in home garden.

There are many in the cities, no doubt, who would be interested in the subject as it will be discussed by Prof. Somers. Everybody is welcome to attend.

There are a large variety of vegetables that are very useful on the table with which many people are entirely unacquainted. Modern scientific research work and plant production has brought this about and there are a few who really appreciate the full value the entire line of vegetables that may be produced here in the corn belt.

Varieties will be taken up and discussed as well as the propagation and production of them. The meeting will begin promptly at 1 o'clock.

On Dec. 5th beginning at 10 o'clock, a dairy feeding school will be conducted by Dr. Nevins in charge. Dr. Nevins is a specialist of Dairy Husbandry at the University of Illinois and we have every reason to believe that the dairy farmers should avail themselves of this opportunity to learn how to properly balance ration for their dairy herd. In many cases following these schools, good dairymen have gone home and changed their ration composed of a more economical mixture than they had previously been feeding and still as a result get a higher production of milk.

This is quite often the case and the saving that is made in the annual feed bill is in many cases almost unbelievable.

We are expecting to hold some feeding schools in other parts of the county, but this will be the only meeting at which time a University man will have charge.

Vegetable gardening meeting will be Tuesday, Dec. 3 at 1 p. m. and the Dairy feeding school will be held from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. Thursday, Dec. 5th.

GAYS BANKER HIT
BY AUTO FRIDAY;
IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

W. Ed Storm, president of the Gays bank is in the Memorial hospital in Mattoon in a serious condition, the result of being run down by an automobile while crossing route 16 at Gays Friday evening about 7 o'clock.

He has a compound fracture of the right leg, a compound fracture of the left forearm, a probable fracture of the pelvic bones and many bad bruises. Latest reports from the hospital say that he is resting as well as can be expected but is not out of danger.

Mr. Storm, who is 65 years of age started from home Friday evening to go to the business section of Gays. As he was crossing the slab, he saw a car approaching and started backing off the slab, when a car coming from the opposite direction struck him. The car was driven by a young man named Homer Landrus of Mattoon. He stopped and he and his friends gave aid to the stricken man.

Mr. Storm is one of the best known men of the Gays neighborhood.

EVA McDONALD PEADRO

(Obituary)

Eva McDonald Peadro was born Sept. 24, 1866, departed this life November 18, 1929.

Her early life was spent on a farm near Arthur. She was a graduate of the Sullivan High School and also of Eureka College.

Later she attended Dona Musical Conservatory at Warren, O., after which she taught music in Arthur and vicinity for a number of years.

During these years the Union Prairie Church was her special charge and care and often she was superintendent, chorister teacher. Had it not been for her faithful devotion that church would not have lived through those years.

She was married June 21, 1904 to B. F. Peadro of Sullivan. Both were interested in church work and higher education.

The first ten years of their married life was spent in Sullivan and in state of South Dakota. After a trip to Europe and the Holy Land in 1914, they returned to make their home in Urbana, Ill. Here they enjoyed the educational advantages at the University and Mrs. Peadro taught a Sunday School class at the University Place Christian Church for about six years.

She was a member of the D. A. R. and an active worker in the W. C. T. U.

In 1921 Mr. and Mrs. Peadro spent the winter in Pensacola, Fla. Since that time they established their home in St. Petersburg and have lived there most of the time except for occasional visits to Illinois.

Mrs. Peadro was a great reader and a great student and interested in things religious, political and educational.

She is survived by 4 brothers—John of Decatur, Victor, Charles, and Frank of Arthur.

There are 4 nieces and 5 nephews besides a host of friends to mourn her untimely death.

—S. B. Hall made a business trip to Champaign Tuesday.

The Gleaners class of the M. E. Sunday school met in the home of their teacher Mrs. James Reeder, Monday evening for their monthly business meeting and social. Mrs. Esther Bracken the president called the meeting to order and she announced that 44 were present in the class Sunday.

Lydia Harris the secretary gave report of last meeting. It was decided to start a bible study at next meeting. The book "Know Your Bible" by Amos R. Wells, will be used. Miss Lute Dunscomb will be the teacher of the study book. Mrs. Ethel Newbould had charge of the devotions. The evening was spent in playing games and a social good time. Refreshments of date pudding with whipped cream and coffee were served.

The committee in charge was: Mrs. L. A. Crockett, Mrs. Ethel Newbould, Mrs. Charles McPheeters, Mrs. Henry Jenne, Mrs. Chas Jenne, Mrs. J. E. Jennings and Misses Mary and Julia Brown.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR
MRS. MELISSA FLEMING

About forty of the relatives of Mrs. Melissa Fleming gathered at her home on Sunday to remind her that Monday, Nov. 25th was her birthday anniversary.

Among those present were her sister and two nieces of Peoria: Mrs. Allie B. Thomason, Mrs. W. L. Christian, Mrs. Dick Casey; her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lafe Bond of Strasburg; all of her children and seven of the great grandchildren.

This was the first meeting of some of the relatives and it was a day long to be remembered by them and one much enjoyed by Mrs. Fleming and her guests.

DOUBLE QUARTETTE
ORGANIZED MONDAY

A number of Sullivan's male vocalists met Monday night at the home of J. B. Martin and organized a double quartette. Rehearsals will be held at the Martin home on Thursday of each week. Those who take part in this organization are Eden Martin and Cliff Miller, 1st bass; P. G. Wiard and Ed Bayne, 2nd bass; Hugh Murray and J. Kenneth Roney, 1st tenor; J. B. Martin and R. A. Scheer, 2nd tenor.

The quartette is practicing to sing at the shoe factory dedication and other community affairs, where good music will be appreciated.

Rhodes' Prediction
In "Rhodes' All Red Route," by Lewis R. Freeman, this statement is attributed to Rhodes upon his first visit to Victoria falls: "Do you know that the natives claim that they can see far into the future by looking into the depths of that big rainbow? . . . I can see two lines of shining steel running from one end of Africa to the other . . . all the way from Cape Town to the Mediterranean. . . . Do you see the bar of red?" (Then the rainbow glowed a dusky rose where the light of the setting sun struck there the smoke of smouldering veldt fires). "That means it's going to be an 'All Red' railway; that it will be run in British territory all the way."

Knowing the Truth
Many feel themselves very confidently on safe ground when they say: It must be good for men to know the truth. But it is clearly not good for a particular man to know some particular truth, as irremediable treachery in one whom he cherishes—better that he should die without knowing it. Of scientific truth, is it not conceivable that some facts as to the tendency of things affecting the final destination of the race might be more hurtful when they had entered into human consciousness than they would have been if they had remained purely external in their activity.—George Elliot.

LAKE CITY
Ernest Dickson and family of Decatur spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dickson.
Mrs. Lottie Watson spent the first of the week with Mrs. Minnie Winings at Arthur.
Mrs. Lydia McMullin of Kellerton, Iowa, visited last week with J. F. Dickson and family.

STHS IMPROVEMENT
The board of education of the Township High School awarded the L. T. Hagerman Co., a contract Tuesday night for wrapping with 1-inch asbestos packing all of the heating pipes which are now exposed in the rooms on the lower floor of the building. This action was in conformance with instructions given by a state high school inspector recently.

Milford Wells, aged about 30, died at the family home in the northwestern part of this city early Wednesday morning. He had been ill for some time with tuberculosis.

He leaves his wife, nee Turner, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turner of Allenville, and four small children.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Baptist church with interment in Greenhill cemetery.

"AUTUMN GOLD" HAD
BIG AND APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE FRIDAY

The operetta "Autumn Gold" given at the Lowe school building Friday night of last week was well attended and well presented. About 65 of the grade school children were in the cast which was directed by Miss Gertrude McClure.

STIMULATES EGG TRADE
Warsaw, Poland, Nov. 26 (Autocaster)—Because she is responsible for starting the fad of egg-eating among the young women of Poland, poultry farmers of the whole nation of Poland contributed to the cost of an egg of solid gold which was given to Miss Anastasia Zablocka. Miss Zablocka is regarded as the most beautiful woman in Poland and her statement that she attributes her beauty to an exclusive diet of eggs started all the girls who want to be beautiful to eating eggs, greatly stimulating the poultry industry.

RACE TRACK REVENUE

Illinois collected $638,628 in license fees and admission taxes from the six race tracks in operation during 1929, according to recent announcement by Clarence F. Buck, who as director of agriculture administrators state racing regulations. The increase of $24,459 over last year comes from more paid admission taxes of 20 cents each, for license fees fell $3,500 below last year.

A number of Chicago friends came Saturday evening and spent Sunday with Mrs. Effie Wright, Miss Evah Hayes and Harry E. Wright. Harry E. Wright Jr., is now assisting his father in developing the laundry business recently started on West Jefferson street.

Invention That Would

Dispel Fogs Awaited

No practical way has as yet been found for dispelling fogs, declare weather bureau meteorologists. Many schemes have been advanced for the artificial dissipation of fog, but the places that have always been notorious for the thickness of their atmosphere still have their murk.

Shortly before the World war the city of Lyons, France, voted money for preventing the formation of fog in that city by coating the Rivers Rhone and Saone with oil. About the same time the Cottrell process of electrical precipitation, which is successfully applied in treating industrial dusts and fumes, was tried on the fogs of the California coast, but nothing seems to have resulted. The naval aircraft factory at Philadelphia has tried to eliminate mists by means of electrified sprays, but no tangible results have been announced. Schemes for draining off fog-laden air from flying fields and for warming the air over such places and thus causing the fog to evaporate have been investigated and found impracticable.

On a small scale and in favorable circumstances fog can be dispelled, say the meteorologists, but all known methods are too costly for commercial use.

Tamed Ground Squirrel

Makes Good as Mouser

A golden-mantled ground squirrel, tamed by rangers at the Dunraven Pass station, in Yellowstone National park, not only made an excellent pet, but also took upon himself the duties of mouser. At first considerable local comment was caused by the fact that this squirrel, known as Chippie, had caught a mouse, but Ernest Thompson Seton, well-known naturalist, states that this species of squirrel, which is really a rodent, is in the habit of catching field mice. Therefore the step to catching a mouse in doors was not a long one for Chippie.

Chippie made a great hit with the Dunraven rangers. "Chippie has proven quite a bit of company to me," said one of them. "He will come when I call him if he is within hearing distance. He shows no fear of me at all unless I make a sudden movement."

He is as jealous as can be, and will not allow me to feed another squirrel at all. He will chase them out of my hand, then sit up there and chatter at them to let them know their place.—Kansas City Star's Science Service.

Old Connecticut House

Built in 1630 by Henry Whitfield and a small group of his fellowers who settled in what is now Guilford, Conn., the "Old Stone House" stands today as a monument of substantial construction.

Its foundation was laid only 19 years after the Pilgrims landed in Plymouth. Its walls are two feet thick. Its main chimney is 16 feet across and is built into the wall itself. The fireplace inside was so large that a team of horses drove through the front door, since altered and made smaller, and out the rear, dragging huge logs behind them which, when in position, were rolled into the fire with crowbars. Mr. Whitfield, according to the town records, used 40 cords of wood each winter.

—Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Johnson went to Chicago to spend Thanksgiving Day with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Shepherd. On Friday night the Doctor will be Mr. Shepherd's guest at the Past Master's night of the Rainbow Masonic lodge.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harve Hawkins and Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Finley went to Mattoon Sunday where they visited with the latter's sister, Mrs. J. F. Perry.

Carpet-Making Industry

The first carpet making on a large scale was done in an establishment founded by Henry IV in France at the Louvre. This was followed shortly by one called "Savonnerie" at Chailat and one at Beauvais by minister Colbert in 1664. In 1735 English carpets were made at Kidderminster. The earl of Pembroke established a factory at Wilton in 1745. During a period of upheaval hundreds of carpet weavers were driven out of France. They took refuge in Flanders and Holland and there a large industry sprang up and flourished. Brussels carpets were introduced in England from Flanders by John Broom in 1749. The first carpets made in America were made by hand looms. Erastus Bigelow of Boston, Mass., perfected the first loom.

—Miss Zella Moore who is a patient at the Decatur & Macon county hospital is reported getting along nicely. She underwent an operation on Tuesday of last week and will be in the hospital several weeks longer.

Matt. 9:12 "They that be whole need not a physician, but they that are sick."

Christ the great physician, the wonderful specialist. Sin is a dreadful disease, and there is only one who can cure it. We may take patent medicine of church membership, benevolence, good works, morals, etc., but we grow worse and worse, and unless we come to the great physician and take the blood cure we shall surely die. When we were vaccinated for the smallpox we said to the doctor, now we will never have the smallpox will we? He said well you are not supposed to contract the disease if the vaccination takes, but don't you just run into the smallpox to see if you will. When God gives us his Holy Spirit we are in a measure vaccinated against sin, but just like the other doctor he has warned us to keep away from sin. When we have to go out into the world each day and rub shoulders with sin, God has prepared an antidote for sin, for it is the most contagious of all diseases. We can get this antidote around the family altar before we go out into the world.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

C. E. Barnett, Pastor

The second annual "Thanks for the Harvest" service held last Sunday was highly gratifying both in attendance and in gifts, and, we believe, well pleasing to our heavenly Father. Thanks to Kenneth Johnson and Wm. McCown the platform was arranged to represent that season when "the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder is in the shock", with the rising moon beyond. The horn of plenty gave evidence of the bounteous harvest and the produce of field and orchard formed a fitting adornment for the sanctuary. Two barrels of fruit and vegetables were shipped to the Christian Orphans Home at St. Louis and two to the Christian Home for the Aged at Jacksonville. The cash offering was $9.99.

Next Sunday morning at 9:30 the Sunday school session will begin. The Psalmist craved the sanctuary in the morning of his day of worship because it was a place of beauty. It was the God he worshipped who made it beautiful. God still makes his house a place of beauty to those who love to assemble there. The hour of worship at the First Christian church will be 10:40. Communion, congregational singing, an anthem by the choir and sermon by the pastor.

Evening service at 7:30 o'clock. At this service the missionary societies of the church will present a pageant entitled "Evidences of Power." This is in four scenes with twenty-four characters taking part. The public is cordially invited to this and other services of the day.

Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:30 p. m. Subject, "Why Is Christianity a Missionary Religion?" The Johnsons lead in the contest by two hundred twenty points. The contest continues through December.

Proof

He was a cautious young man and a firm believer in eugenics, but when he met the doctor's lovely daughter he fell in love with her, and finally threw discretion to the winds and asked the young lady to marry him.

She accepted him and he was in the seventh heaven all the evening.

Next morning, however, his natural caution returned, and he called upon her father.

"Oh, doctor!" he said, "your daughter has promised to marry me. I—I wanted to know if there is any—er—insanity in your family."

The doctor looked at him gravely over his glasses.

"There must be," he said.

The annual cost of sugar, chocolate and other materials used in Illinois candy factories amounts to $39,351,074.

M. E. FOSTER IS NOT CANDIDATE FOR TREAS.

M. E. Foster of Lovington township, chairman of the Board of Supervisors has definitely announced that he is NOT a candidate for the Democratic nomination for county treasurer at next April's primary. Friends had been urging Mr. Foster to get into the race but business and other reasons have decided him against that course.

A name often heard in connection with the Democratic nomination for this office is that of Albert Walker. Mr. Walker was formerly principal of the Arthur High School. He now lives here in Sullivan and is engaged in the insurance business. He is ideally qualified for the office of treasurer and there is quite a bit of talk about his getting into this race, although Mr. Walker himself may not know of this.

There are also some indications that J. N. (Nick) Foster of Lovington township will get into the race for the Democratic nomination for Sheriff. Former Sheriff Ashbrook announced his candidacy some weeks ago.

LIVE UP TO BIBLE

Los Angeles, Nov. 26.—(Auto-caster)—John Quincy Murray, a retired grocer left his property to his three grandchildren on condition that none of them departed from the teachings of the Bible. Moreover, his grandson must never wear a Charlie Chaplin mustache, the granddaughters may not bob their hair or use lipsticks, and none of them may go to the movies without losing their share. Executors of the Murray estate have decided that the department of the three heirs, who are all grown up, has followed Bible teachings so closely that they are entitled to their inheritances.

There is a Difference in

COAL

For the kitchen stove the housewife wants a coal that will burn clean and give the maximum of heat. These qualities are embodied in

Just what the name implies—Guaranteed to be absolutely sootless.

FOR THE FURNACE AND HEATING STOVE

Save your furnace and get real heating value out of the coal you feed into it. Down in the northeast corner of Jackson county, near the Ziegler mine is the KATHLEEN Mine. Kathleen Coal is just as good, pure and clean as the name indicates. It is clean and clinkerless; burns to a white ash and not much of it.

Howard Christy a Sullivan boy who won a prize trip to the National Congress of Vocational Agriculture students at Kansas City had many interesting experiences while there. One of the most pleasant was the breakfast given by the Wabash Railway Company to twenty boys from four states who were given similar awards by the Wabash.

Other winners of prize trips from Illinois were, Harold Oakes, Bluffs; Arthur Priddle, Litchfield; Harold Tomhave, Jacksonville; and Maurice Webel, Pittsfield.

Included among the guests was J. E. Hill, state Director of Vocational Education at Springfield and the directors from other states. Several officials from the railroad company were also present at this function at which young Christy was a guest. Among them were P. F. Schowengerdt, A. F. Stephens and H. E. Mrs. Noah Smith of Sullivan and daughter Mrs. Opal Frederick and Mrs. Ina Selock were Mattoon visitors one day last week.

Mrs. C. C. Miles had a box supper at her school at Red Fox near Quigley one night last week. A good program was given. Proceeds of the supper were $49.00 and this will be used in paying for a piano for the school.

T. J. Rose and family spent Sunday with Cleveland and Lizzie Bland in Okaw township.

S. D. Tull and wife were Sunday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Gaither.

Friday evening while S. K. Ringo was driving in his car, he stooped down to get a robe in the bottom of his car. He lost control of his car and it turned over, pinning him beneath it. He was alone but managed to get out. He suffered three broken ribs. The top of the car was badly damaged.

Misses Louise and Viola McVey and Madonna Gene Banks and Richard Harvey Kinkade visited Saturday with Miss Marjorie Goddard.

Charles Goddard and family were entertained to Sunday dinner in the home of Marion Jackson and family.

Earl Gaither was a Sunday visitor at John Swinford's.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Banks were here from Mattoon Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ferrell and daughters and Miss Edith Reed were Decatur visitors Saturday.

Mrs. J. W. Rauch and Mrs. Earl Rauch were visitors Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Ina Selock.

Archie Bradford and wife of Decatur spent the week end with Durward Briscoe and family.

BACK FROM COLORADO WITH HUNTING TROPHY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Womack returned to this city Monday from an extended stay in Colorado where they visited at the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Miller at Ft. Collins. They report early and heavy snows in the mountain states and say that many of the mountain passes are already impassable.

While in Colorado Mr. Womack in company with a relative went deer hunting up in the mountains. Deer are plentiful. You are only allowed to kill one buck in a season. There is a closed season on does. Mr. Womack and his friend went up a mountain ridge and had little difficulty in each killing a deer. Mr. Womack's deer weighed 300 lbs. That of his friend was a little lighter. The shooting of the deer was the least of the day's exertion, however, as the two men worked until late in the afternoon getting the deer down the mountain side and back to a main travelled highway. He brot the pair of 4-point antlers to this city with him.

Mr. Womack reports very good duck shooting on the reservoirs in Colorado this year. He says that it was easy to get all the Mallards that a reasonable man might want.

Mrs. H. L. Roney has been in Mattoon welcoming a new grandson born to Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Miller. The newcomer has been named after both his uncles on his mother's side of the family—George Harold.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Eaton of Decatur spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Summitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stearns and Mr. and Mrs. Brockway Stearns spent the week end with R. D. Meeker and sisters.

Summary of Hunting Laws That Apply To Moultrie County

Many Restrictions Placed on the Hunters, So As to Preserve the Game. Property Owners Protected If Farms Are Posted or Advertised.

This part of Illinois is in the Central Zone as pertains to hunting, fishing and trapping.

The following are the seasons in which it is permissible to hunt and the number which constitutes a daily limit:

Bob White quail—Nov. 10 to Dec. 10, daily limit 12.

Brants—Sept. 24 to Jan. 7, limit 4.

Cock Pheasants—Nov. 10 to Nov. 15, limit 2.

Coots (mudhens)—Sept. 24 to Jan. 7, limit 15.

Ducks—except wood and eider, Sept. 24 to Jan. 7, limit 15.

Geese—Sept. 24 to Jan. 7, limit 4.

Plovers—Closed season.

Prairie Chickens—Nov. 10 to 15th, limit 3.

Rails—Sept. 16 to Nov. 30, limit 15.

Snipes—Sept. 24 to Jan. 7, limit 15.

Fur-bearing animals—Nov. 15 to Feb. 1, inc. No limit.

Rabbits—Nov. 10 to Jan. 31, inc., limit 15.

Squirrels—Aug. 1st to Dec. 1st limit 10.

There is no closed season on English sparrows, crows, blackbirds, blue-jays, hawks, owls and cormorants.

All song birds are protected.

There is a closed season until Sept. 16, 1931 on grouse, quail, (other than Bob-Whites) partidges, woodcocks, wild turkeys, swans and pheasants, (except the cock pheasants).

Mourning doves may be hunted only between Sept. 1st and 30th and the daily limit is 15.

You may not legally use a trap, snare or net in taking or attempting to take any game birds. It is unlawful to hunt or kill any such birds before sunrise or after sunset. It is also unlawful to buy or sell any game birds whether killed or taken within or without the state.

There is a closed season on deer in this state until the 10th day of November 1930. It is likewise unlawful to buy, sell, or barter or offer for sale in any way whatever, squirrels, even though they be killed in the open season.

It is unlawful to disturb, mutilate or destroy the den of skunks, raccoons, opossums, foxes, otter, muskrats or mink or to cut down or into any tree containing the house or den of such fur-bearing animal, except where such house or den obstructs a public or private ditch or watercourse or is damaging a dike or levee.

It is also unlawful to hunt such animals with the use of explosives, chemical or mechanical devices, or smokers of any kind. It is unlawful to set any trap, or snare within ten feet of any muskrat house or den or to use fire arms of any kind in killing muskrats.

You get in bad with the game warden if you hunt from an automobile or by use of the lights of such vehicle.

It shall be unlawful for any person to trap or hunt with a gun or a dog, or allow a dog to hunt within or upon the land of another, or upon waters flowing over or standing on the land of another, where notice that hunting or trespassing is forbidden, is posted or exhibited in conspicuous place on such land, or where the owner, agent of the owner or occupant has expressly forbidden hunting or trespassing on such land by publication in the local newspaper.

It shall be further unlawful for any person to wantonly or carelessly injure or destroy, in any manner whatsoever, any real or personal property on the land of another while engaged in trapping or hunting thereon.

MANY SUBSTANCES IN SOIL OFTEN GLITTER LIKE GOLD

"All that glitters is not gold" but there is something in human nature that prompts us to investigate glittering objects seen in the soil. One of the results of this very human tendency is that every year a large number of soil samples are sent to the United States Department of Agriculture for examination, says W. H. Fry of the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils. Doubtless many of those who send in these samples hope that gold will be found in them, but unfortunately there are many substances in soils which glitter, many of them not even metals.

"In soils perhaps mica and pyrite are the commonest and most deceptive of all these glittering substances," Mr. Fry says. "Both are found in numerous rocks, such as granites, schists, and gneisses; and in certain of the rocks, such as mica schists, the mica may be the most abundant mineral present. When these rocks are exposed for long ages to the action of the atmosphere they decompose or rot and form soils. During this process the oxygen and moisture of the air act upon the pyrite chemically and so change it that usually nothing visible is left except iron rust.

"But the mica continues to persist. In spite of all the time that has elapsed since the parent rocks started to decompose, the mica can still be seen glittering in the soil about as brightly as ever. Owing to its flaky structure, it can be transported by water and wind more readily than can most other soil minerals and is therefore found in many soils which originated from rocks devoid of mica. In fact, there are very few soils in which no mica can be found.

"It is not gold; but neither is it altogether useless. Although it decomposes extremely slowly, yet it does decompose and yields a little potash to the soil. But even in this respect it is deceptive, for it may still glitter after practically all of its potash has disappeared."

C. I. P. S. STOCKHOLDERS GET ANOTHER DIVIDEND

The Board of Directors of the Central Illinois Public Service company, at a meeting held Wednesday, November 20, declared a dividend of $1.50 per share on the cumulative preferred capital stock of that company for the quarter ending December 31, 1929. This dividend is payable January 15, 1930, to all preferred stockholders of record, on the books of the company at the close of business December 31, 1929.

This is the fourth quarterly dividend to preferred stockholders for the year 1929.

ILLINOIS CALVES WON

Illinois calves raised by 4-H club members, won top honors among 250 in competition at the annual Producers' Baby Beef club show, held in East St. Louis, Nov. 14-15. The grand championship was awarded to a steer owned by Sarah Ann Tolan, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Garrett Tolan of Farmingdale. Championship group of five, was also awarded to Sangamon county. This is the first time the double honor has been awarded to any one county, according to Edwin Bay, adviser of the Sangamon County Farm Bureau.

Dresses of woolen materials are coming back into favor and the number of women who are definitely opposed ever to wear anything but silk next their arms is on the decrease. It is not so much that we have changed as that the woolen materials have changed. The light-weight woollens favored this season are as soft and smooth as silk. Next to wool jersey, there is no material better liked than wool crepe and never before have materials of this description been offered in more attractive variety.

A great many of the new dresses, silk as well as woolen, are provided with a little piping of light-toned silk crepe about the neck. Sometimes there is a collar of the light-toned silk. Always this touch of light silk ought to be made so that it may easily be removed and put back into position again, and the clever woman provides herself with a duplicate collar or piping so that when one is taken out to be washed another can be put in at once.

But whether you wear silk or wool, and whether you wear it with or without some such dainty bit of washable-silk or lingerie at the neck, you must remember that cleaning bills are necessary and that they should be given definite consideration in planning your dress budget.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCK EGG-LAYING CHAMPION

A barred Plymouth Rock hen, owned by Mrs. Charles Coultas, of Auburn, laying 311 eggs during the year, took first place in the 1928-29 contest between individual layers of American, Asiatic and English breeds conducted by the state department of agriculture. A White Leghorn, owned by Coombs poultry farms, Sedgwick, Kans., with a record of 312, won the grand championship for the year. In the Mediterranean class, a pen of five White Leghorns, owned by Harry Wisdom of Beardstown, laid 1,218 eggs. All classes showed improvement because of improved breeding, better care and improved rations, said Director Clarence F.

Buck of the agricultural department. The department now has 75 licensed inspectors for the use of commercial hatcheries at the latter's expense.

The trouble with labor-saving machinery is that it compels so many young men to seek a livelihood playing in jazz orchestras and peddling silk stockings.

There were many interested people at the J. Waxy Rauch farm west of Bruce this week. They came to view the operation of Waxy's new tank-type McCormick-Deering corn picker. The picker was pulled by a Farmall. The corn crop was good and the work satisfactory. This picker has a 25 bu. elevated tank. When this tank is full of corn it is dumped into a wagon. The picker is reported to have done a very good job of clean shucking.

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and the colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

SIXTH INSTALMENT

Tim Stevens left the villa of his wife in a state of mind that bordered on insanity. Bewilderment, outraged pride, denied love—all these conspired to render him something less than sane. But the breezes from the Gulf Stream blew upon him; the exercise of walking, by its very monotony, soothed his nerves, and by the time he reached his own home he was able to think coherently.

She had run away. No doubt of that. Why had she run away, why she had married him only to desert him for all the world like a heroine of a cheap novelette, he could not imagine. Only, it was no cheap and vulgar motive that actuated her. He knew that. Lucy might be bizarre, but never common.

It suddenly occurred to him that she might be mad. Certainly this would seem a reasonable explanation of all that she had done. Only, he remembered the cool gray eyes, the broad forehead, to know that no insanity lurked with in that perfectly shaped head.

She was the most impulsive creature on earth. He knew this. And yet, though she might have acted upon impulse in marrying him and leaving him, it would be impulse only because it had been done so suddenly. She had done whatever she had done with deliberation, ever though she had not wasted much time in planning. Nevertheless, his eyes lighted as he stepped inside his patio, only to grow sombre instantly as she was not revealed to his eager glance. Hope—or, rather, its pale specter—vanished completely.

He sat down, rang for a servant, ordered a high-ball, and drank it slowly, sipping it carefully, as though he sought by taste to analyze its ingredients. A sudden odd thought came to him; the liquor had no savor, and nothing else in life would have savor again unless it were accompanied, or spiced, by the presence of Lucy.

This was love. This was an ache that distracted, that maddened, that drove one to frenzy. No mere barked desire this, but an overwhelming longing, a frantic longing that, he suddenly realized, was not only of the flesh but of the soul.

He could understand why man, frustrated in love, might sink to any level of dissipation, to win a moment of forgetfulness. An overwhelming urge seized upon him, to drink and drink until he won unconsciousness. Then his mouth hardened, and his eyes, that had not been focussed, but had been wide and staring—resumed their customary coolness. Luck Harkness had made a public fool of him—at least, publicity could not be long avoided—but he would add to the foolishness nothing of his own. He wouldn't drink and he wouldn't kill himself, and he'd do nothing—save find her.

He rang again, and ordered a servant to fetch Modane, the skipper of the Minerva. The swart Levantine arrived shortly.

"I was married today, Modane," said Stevens.

Modane nodded.

"I congratulate you, sir."

"And Mrs. Stevens and I sail on the Minerva in half an hour, on our honeymoon, Modane," Stevens continued.

Again the skipper nodded.

"Our destination, sir?"

"You are to proceed south, beyond Miami. Every second day you'll send a man to Miami in a motorboat, and at the post-office he'll inquire for letters for yourself. For, Modane, Mrs. Stevens and I shall not be aboard the Minerva."

"No, sir," said Modane.

"But the crew are not to know this, and no one else is to know it. Once you've started, the crew will discover it, but it will be too late for them to gossip. Send a tight-mouthed man ashore for the letters, one that isn't inclined to gossip."

"Yes, sir," said Modane. "You should never have let her get ashore when once you had her on the boat, sir."

Stevens grinned faintly.

"Had she been your woman you'd have tamed her, eh? But what made you suspect—?"

"She's not here, sir," said Modane. "And after jumping overboard—Well, a man thinks, sir."

"Modane, you've been in my employ several years. You know me as well as any one."

"And like you better, sir," said Modane, "than any one else."

"Much obliged. Then tell me: why would a woman marry me and then run away?"

"You've got a way, sir, of commanding, not asking; a proud woman might resent that, might want you to come to heel, instead of herself."

"I'll think that over," said Stevens. "And when I bring my wife aboard—Modane, where could she have landed yesterday morning?"

Modane drew a pocket map from inside his double-breasted reefer jacket. He unfolded it, squinted at it, then placed a forefinger on a point south of Palm Beach.

"Mango Key, sir, or one of those other keys. I told you the drift was inward, but you thought that the Gulf Stream current set outward where she went overboard. Mango Key or thereabouts, sir."

"Much obliged, Modane. You may go."

"You don't want—help, sir?" asked the sailor.

Stevens laughed.

"To fetch back my own wife? Not help, not even my own two hands, Modane. If she won't come for words, then—she'll never come."

"Don't waste 'em, sir," pleaded Modane. "Take her, grab her, make her come."

Stevens shook his head.

"Would you have an unwilling wife, Modane?"

Modane showed his white teeth.

"If I wanted her, and could get her, it wouldn't matter to me whether she came willing or unwilling, I'd make her willing."

"All women aren't the same, you know," suggested Stevens.

"Sure they are, sir, like all men! They don't know what they want. They wait for some stronger person to tell 'em what they want, and then they jump with joy and claim they wanted it all the time."

"No all men, nor all women," said Stevens.

"Yes, sir, all men, and all women," insisted Modane.

"But suppose—suppose one is not the stronger?" asked Stevens.

Modane shrugged.

"In that case lie down, let her walk on you. You got to, if she's stronger than you. But is she, sir?"

In his turn Stevens shrugged.

"That remains to be found out, Modane."

CHAPTER IV

The Lucy was christened solemnly; the human Lucy broke a pint bottle of champagne over the craft's bows, and then another pint was opened and the ritual was sealed by Faunce and herself drinking the new Lucy's health and success.

"Though what greater measure of success the Lucy can hope for than to have carried you as a passenger—"

"As a member of the crew," Devil May Care interrupted Faunce.

"I accept the amendment, Lucy said Faunce. "Well, what more this craft can hope for I cannot imagine."

They were bowling leisurely south, across a placid ocean, beneath a shining sun and fleecy clouds. There was the faintest swell, and along the sandy shore, miles inland, breakers curled and broke foamily, and the murmur of their dissolution sounded like a faint chant in the distance.

Sky, atmosphere, and sea had combined to lull the travelers into dreamy security. But in the tropics Nature is more treacherous than in the frozen Arctic. As the good are supposed to die young, their frail bodies overburdened by the weight of their virtues, so the sweetness of the tropics becomes insupportable to Nature, who when sweetness has lost its savor promptly proceeds to show what a real wild lady she can be.

Out at sea Faunce saw a whirling something that twisted and strained in its effort to climb higher, although already it reached, or seemed to reach a dark cloud that had sprung suddenly from nowhere. He had never seen a waterspout before, but he needed no previous acquaintance for instant recognition.

Lucy sat upright as a cold chill descended upon her. Already the sun was obliterated and a false night was upon them. The placid ocean had awakened, was stirring, was tossing as though in agony. The Lucy rose suddenly, rolled sideways, then pitched into a gulf. Water broke over her bows, sluiced the deck, drenched Lucy Stevens, splashed over Faunce at the wheel.

"Hang on!" she heard him cry, his voice barely audible above the roar of the cyclone. And now not merely salt water drenched her, but the wildest rain she had ever known came down from the darkened skies; huge hailstones hit the deck, bounded about, she oddly thought, like tennis-balls, or rounded dice—Was this some gambling demon up aloft who shook dice for the lives of Faunce and herself?

The Lucy seemed to rise clear of the water; propelled by wind and wave it shot along like a hydroplane. Lightning gleamed and thunder roared. Beaten flat to the deck by the force of the wind, and hanging on with grim determination to the rail, she saw Faunce straining at the wheel, trying to deflect the course of the craft.

But why try to steer in this hurricane? She turned her head and knew the answer to her unuttered question. Ahead of them, a rod away, loomed the terrifying bulk of the great waterspout which first had told Faunce of their peril.

And as the Lucy smashed into the watery tower, her lips twisted in an ironic smile. It was for this that she had swum agonizingly to shore only thirty-six hours ago.

How much of life is real, and how much of it is a dream? Lucy, lying in a berth, asked herself these questions. This was the room aboard the Minerva from which some time ago, she distinctly remembered having dived into the Gulf Stream. Yet she was in this cabin dry, not soaked from long immersion, clothed in pajamas which she recognized as having seen in this room just after she had shut the door on Tim Stevens.

And why, unless she had been drugged, had she dreamed such terrible dreams? And yet they hadn't all been terrible. Fergus Faunce had appeared in them, dear Fergus Faunce with his kindly, whimsical mouth, his gentle eyes behind the green sunglasses, his graying hair, his twisted nose.

Ah, Fergus at least was real! No dream could have evoked so quaint and lovable a character. And if Fergus was real, then all of the mad things that she remembered—her swim ashore, Mango Key, her marriage, her flight—

She sat up, while something cold seemed to lay a clammy hand or claw upon her breast. The hurricane, the waterspout, the final crash! She had been saved; but what about Fergus? She seemed to remember that his hand had clutched at her as though to drag her from beneath the flood, and after that she remembered nothing.

STAGE SET FOR 1929 NATIONAL STOCK SHOW; TO BE GREATEST EVER

New and unusual features will mark the 30th edition of Chicago's far-famed livestock and crops show, the International Live Stock Exposition. The drama and pageantry of Nature will be ingeniously resorted to in the production of this year's "International," which, from November 30 to December 7, will open its doors at the entrance to the largest livestock mart in existence, the Chicago Union Stock Yard, for 30 years its home.

Entertains and Instructs
The humanizing partnership of man and Nature towards rebuilding one of the largest and most universal industries will be vividly and romantically described at every turn of the visitor through the vast extent of this tremendous exhibition of rural progress.

It is an entertaining teacher, farm and industrial leaders unite in declaring. It is a lesson that is profitable as well as interesting for the man and woman on the farm. It sets forth the newest discoveries and developments in their sphere of life, but it is no less interesting, and even more fascinating to the city pent layman. The animals themselves hold a strong appeal for him. They stand for the out-doors, and the inborn feeling of friendliness and comradeship for domestic beasts, acquired through ages of contact and even worship for them, is not slow to be revived.

Thrones for Champions

The "International" is referred to as a ceremony where the best specimens of horses, cattle, sheep and swine are each year crowned kings and queens of their respective kinds. When the 1929 edition of the exposition is in session, that figure of speech will be put to actual practice, according to exposition officials.

They are planning an elaborate display of champion of all the fat classes of cattle, sheep, and swine. Actual "thrones" are in the course of construction. The top place winners are to be "spot-lighted" to the public view by this means. Specially built, elevated stalls are being made to accommodate the champion animals as soon as they are designated. The enthroned champions of the 1929 International, it is assured, are going to increase the interest and effectiveness of the Show for everyone.

Sparkling Horse Shows each night, abounding in the thrill of equine perfection in its best dress will attract thousands. Practically all of the famous names known to horse show circles are included on the exhibitor list. In every way will the rarest bounties of Nature be in such array at the 1929 "International" as to kindle even the most lack-luster eye.

A Shawl Worth $200,000

This Paisley shawl, which has been in the family of Francis Scott Key for centuries, is shown here gracing Debora Key, a descendant of the man who wrote "The Star Spangled Banner." The shawl will find a permanent shrine in the former residence at Frederick, Md., of Chief Justice Roger Brooke Taney of the U. S. Supreme Court, the author of the Dred Scott decision. Hammond Clark, a banker and collector of Americana, has bought the shawl and will place it with other objects relating to American history. Brides of Key men and daughters of Key men wore this shawl at their weddings.

Health Greetings!
The 1929 Christmas Seal

All through history since the 16th century, which was the golden age of bells, chimes have called out to the people their cheerful messages, usually telling a story.

This year again the seal carries its message of health, giving every one a chance to be a bell-ringer as in the olden days—a proclaimer of the important tidings that health is the best insurance for happiness; and, that tuberculosis may be cured if discovered in time.

Every seal sold is that much more money to help some tuberculosis person breathe a little easier, to live days and days longer. Every cent is used for the prevention and cure of tuberculosis; your money is used here at home, in this county. Will you help with this great work?

All consignments of seals for this year's drive will be in the mail by Thanksgiving Eve.

Majestic
RADIO

Nearly TWO MILLION people CAN'T be wrong-- and MAJESTIC still makes and sells
6000 Radio Sets Daily

Today from nearly every newspaper page you are being shouted at to "watch your step" in buying a radio set, to "look for this" or "look for that." You are being implored to "buy a strictly modern radio." You are being told that "no radio but the famous Gazoooks is up to the minute, because it has the new blah, blah, blah—something that no other radio manufacturer can equal."

There is nothing to get excited about. It is so simple to buy a good radio set today, if you look for only two things, which your own mind and your own ears are fully capable of deciding. First the performance (tone quality), and secondly, is the reputation of the manufacturer sufficient to guarantee that your investment is SAFE and PERMANENT.

Majestic has always said, "You cannot buy a better radio set than Majestic at any price." We rest our case on that statement. You are the judge. We do not need to tell you that Majestic can make any sort of set, and can manufacture and use in that set, ANY TYPE OF TUBES THAT ARE KNOWN IN THE RADIO WORLD. Majestic has access to all the patents, has all the manufacturing facilities, has all the financial resources necessary to do the job.

Majestic is making the kind of sets that are being produced today because, point for point, WE KNOW "You can't buy a better radio set than Majestic at any price." If you hear a Majestic, if you listen to its colorful tone, its faithful reproduction, if you examine its sturdy construction, its oversize power pack, its beautifully blended cabinet woods, and compare these points IN A SIDE BY SIDE TEST WITH ANY OTHER SET ON THE MARKET AT ANY PRICE, then you'll buy a Majestic.

May we remind you, with modest pride, that there are nearly two million happy owners of Majestics today. Two million owners in seventeen months—think of it!

Majestic is now making 6,000 sets each working day. You are welcome to come and see for yourself. You may watch them loaded on the freight cars in a continuous stream each day till the last set is aboard. This is an unusual invitation which only Majestic can make to you, because ONLY MAJESTIC is doing this kind of a job.

Remember, one swallow does not make a summer and one talking point does not make a good radio set. To be a good set, EVERYTHING ABOUT IT HAS TO BE GOOD. Majestic does not confuse the issue by shouting one form of superiority and ignoring every other important point. EVERYTHING about a Majestic HAS to be good or we could not sell 6,000 a day. Is it too much to say that nearly two million people cannot be wrong?

YOUR INVESTMENT IS SAFE WITH MAJESTIC.
