74TH YEAR NO. 9

No Republican Candidates in Sullivan Township

For First Time in Many Years Democratic Candidates Have no Opposition. Ticket Selected in Mass Meeting Saturday.

Evidently the Republican of Sullivan township do not "choose to run" this spring and as a consequence that party has not filed any ticket with Town Clerk Geo. A. Roney. Tuesday was the last day in which candidates could file to get their names on the ticket.

This is the first time in many years that the Democratic ticket has gone into the spring campaign unopposed. The present officials seem to be giving satisfaction. They have substantially reduced the township's indebtedness and attend strictly to the duties which devolve on the offices they hold.

PEARSON CASE AGAIN UP FOR HEARING IN FED. COURT SATURDAY

Another hearing in the J. H. Pearson bankruptcy case was held Saturday in the Federal court in Danville before Judge Walter C. Lindley.

Judge Lindley at that time reviewed the decision of Referee Walter Grant relative to various matters in conflict in this case.

Referee Grant some months ago ruled that it was fraud on creditors for the Pearsons to withhold from the assets of the bankrupt estate insurance policies having a cash surrender value of $1600. He also held that $800 in money taken from the local store and deposited in the bank in St. Louis to Mrs. Pearson's account, should be turned over for the benefit of the creditors. It is stated by attorneys for the complaining creditors that the books showed the cash of the store to have been short at the time these deposits were made in St. Louis.

The local creditors were represented at Saturday's hearing by Attorney C. R. Patterson. Judge Lindley took the matter under advisement. He stated in doing so that a matter of jurisdiction was involved and that it was not quite clear as to whether or not the bankrupt court had authority to enforce collection of the $2400 in question or whether civil court action would have to be instituted by the creditors to compel action.

The Judge upheld Referee Grant's ruling that Mr. Pearson's petition for discharge from bankruptcy be denied. This denial is based on Mr. Pearson's issuing an alleged false property statement to get credit with firms from whom he bought and also on the matter of concealing or withholding assets.

Mr. Pearson was formerly in the clothing business here and was one of Sullivan's progressive merchants. He was hard hit by the depression that set in several years ago and after he turned over his store for liquidation and settlement with his creditors, some of them took action and forced him into bankruptcy. The case has since been pending in the Federal courts.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearson and family now reside at Rice Lake, Wisconsin and he is a travelling salesman for a shoe manufacturing firm. Mrs. Pearson spent several days in this city the latter part of last week.

SULLIVAN WON TUESDAY OVER BETHANY 24-22

In a close game that apparently was going to end in a 22-22 tie at Bethany Tuesday night, the day was saved for the Sullivan boys when Bernard Brumfield dropped in his one and only field goal just before the battle ended. As a result Sullivan won 24 to 22. Dawson, one of Bethany's stars was out in the third quarter with an injured leg.

The Sullivan boys playing were Collins, Lilly, Freeman, Cogdal, Lundy and Brumfield. Cogdal starred in scoring 11 of the 24 points to his credit.

Supreme Court Reverses Grider In School Cases

Hold That Railroads Are Justified In Contending That Taxes Collected are Beyond Legal Limit. Money to be Refunded.

The Wabash Railway has won its tax case against the Sullivan grade school district and Cushman district.

Attorney C. R. Patterson local legal representative of the company was notified Monday morning that the Supreme Court had ruled in favor of his client and had reversed the ruling of Judge John T. Grider of the local county court. A similar ruling of Judge Grider in the case of the Illinois Central R. R. company was reversed some weeks ago.

The railroad company was objecting to paying taxes in excess of what the law permits to be levied. These schools had levied for "educational", "building" and "payment of bonds" purposes. The attorneys for the railroads contended that the law permitted the levying of taxes only for educational and building purposes and that any bonds and interests due from the districts would have to be paid out of that item of taxes levied for building purposes. It was held that the additional levy for "bonds and interest" was also beyond the legal taxing limit prescribed by statute.

When the contentions of the railroad companies were overruled by Judge Grider, the companies paid in the amount of taxes in dispute and then appealed their cases to the supreme court. The supreme court upheld the railroads. The money which was paid by the railroads will now have to be refunded. The amount was $200.75 for the Cushman district and $249.30 for the Sullivan district.

The C & E I also appealed from Judge Grider's decision against them in this tax matter. The Mattoon law firm of Craig & Craig handled this litigation and the Mattoon paper Monday had the following to report:

"The supreme court of Illinois handed down on Saturday an opinion in which it reversed the decision of the county court of Moultrie county made in the tax claim suit of School District No. 5, that of the city of Sullivan against the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad Company. The decision is a victory for the railroad company.

"The county court held in favor of the tax levied by the school board, one of $1.75 on the $100 assessed valuation. The supreme court found that the school board could not levy more than $1.37, which is the maximum allowed under the law governing building purposes. About $4,000 was involved in the lawsuit."

ATWOOD STALLING WON GAME FOR SULLIVAN

Coach Dennis' basketball quintet were unable to break up Atwood's stalling tactics in an Okaw Valley game there Friday night and as a consequence the score for the local contingent was not very big. Atwood won 15 to 6.

At the beginning of the third quarter Sullivan had scored but 2 points and Atwood had 8. In the final quarter Sullivan added 4 more while Atwood, with little effort increased their score to 15.

The Sullivan boys playing were Freeman, Collins, Cogdal, Lundy, Brumfield and Moore. Adams of Illinois was referee.

Furthermore she has promised not to get sick any more until after the two big minstrel show nights, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

The "Little Eva" of the show is Sylvan Bally Baugher one of the star performers. He has recovered and has been able to attend all rehearsals this week.

The advance ticket sale is going good. It is expected that the big show will draw many from out of town, as these performers are favorites with the show-going public of the middle west.

MOWEAQUA DEFEATED THE GRADE CHAMPIONS

"We have no alibi to offer. We just simply got beat" says Coach Roney about the grade school basket ball game that Sullivan played with Moweaqua at that place Friday night. The sad ending showed only 5 points chalked up to Sullivan's credit while the Mowky boys had scored 25.

The Sullivan boys who participated in the game were English, Carmine, Walker, G. Poland, H. Poland, Nedden and Leo Horn.

Wilkie and Taylor Arrests May Solve Stealing Cases

Bad Check Gets Men Into Hands of the Law. Admit Stealing of Harness and Chickens Here and Near Mt. Vernon.

Wesley Taylor and Howard Wilkie, both about 26 years of age, are in the county jail. They were arrested the latter part of last week, charged with a variety of thefts. Both have been under suspicion for some time.

Taylor last week passed a bad check on John Bupp the Texaco man. Mr. Bupp swore out a warrant and Taylor was taken into custody. He has been living in Lovington and has a wife and four young children.

After being questioned he admitted that he had stolen some harness at Belleville, near Mt. Vernon. He implicated Wilkie in the theft and Wilkie, who is a farm hand and has been working near Cadwell was gathered in.

Between the two of them they have confessed to stealing harness, stripping automobiles, stealing chickens from about 10 different farm homes in the northeast part of the county and various other unlawful acts.

Both are now being held under bond to await the action of the grand jury.

Among the thefts that they have confessed was that of a quantity of harness belonging to a man named Frank Baker at Belleville. Mr. Baker came to this county Monday and got his property. This Belleville stuff was stolen after they had stolen some harness from Lon Davis in this county and taken it to Belleville. They also stole and stripped a car belonging to Alfred Hendrickson.

Among the chicken thefts are the following: 50 from Aaron Miller, 36 from D. Thomas, 34 from Vandever, all near Cadwell.

Mr. Miller, an Amishman, came here after the arrests to look the men over. Mr. Wilkie apologized for having stolen his chickens and told him that if he got out of trouble he would gladly come to the Miller farm and work out every dollar's worth he had stolen. To this Mr. Miller replied "When you get out, I want you to keep away from my place and let me alone. Quit stealing from me."

The men say that the chickens that they stole were marketed in Decatur.

A number of other thefts in the northeast part of the county may also be solved through this arrest. The men strenuously deny having stolen Elmer Bower's soybeans and household goods. This was evidently not in their line.

NICK FOSTER ABED WITH APPENDICITIS IN DECATUR HOSPITAL

J. N. Foster, one of the Democratic candidates for sheriff is in the Decatur & Macon county hospital where he was taken the latter part of last week and on Saturday underwent an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Foster had suffered several attacks of his malady last summer but never seriously enough to get him down for any length of time.

Reports say that he is getting along as well as can be expected. A Decatur newspaper carried the story the other morning that "Nick" is 40,000th patient registered at the hospital.

His affliction will seriously interfere with his political campaign which comes to a culmination at the primary April 8th.

On Tuesday morning a bit of cheer was sent him in the form of a bouquet with the following candidates' names attached: C. R. Womack, V. R. Ashbrook, J. T. Grider, J. E. Jennings, Mrs. Roughton, Albert Walker, Paul Chippis, Orman Newbold several of the county officials and some other leading democrats. This greeting was sent with an expression of hope for an early recovery.

Moultrie to Get $15,118 Gas Tax For Road Building

Moultrie county will get a total of $15,118.80 from the state of Illinois as its share of the gas tax collected prior to January 1, 1930. Of this amount $6,850.64 is from 1927 and the balance is from 1929. This constitutes one third of the gas tax collected during those years, the other two thirds going into treasury of the state highway department.

This money must be expended for road purposes under the direction and approval of the state highway department. Counties which have outstanding indebtedness incurred in road building may use these funds to retire such indebtedness.

It is expected that this money will be used to develop what are usually called secondary roads, which will supplement the state highways.

Pending the decision of the courts, where this tax money has been tied up for some time, Moultrie county had not made any plans as to how it would spend its share.

This $15,118.80 is Moultrie's first allotment. There will be some money coming in each year from this gas tax.

"STUNT NIGHT" WILL FEATURE MARCH MEET ON MEN'S ASS'N.

One of the most successful meetings of the Men's Bible school association was held Monday night in the Christian church at Gays. The attendance consisted of 107 men and 32 women. A delegation of 14 was in attendance from the local class.

It was decided to have a "stunt" program at the March meeting and upon invitation of Shelbyville the meeting will be held in Christian church there. The matter of changing the organization so as to also include the women's classes was discussed. It was decided that it was better to retain this as a men's organization with the understanding that the women are at all times welcome if they choose to attend.

The Gays Sunday School presented a very interesting program of music and readings and the last number on the program was a lecture by Rev. Finlayson of Neoga.

As part of the regular session of the meeting, preceding the entertainment program, the International lessons for March were discussed by Albert Walker of this city. Dr. Gregory of Lovington and Mr. Fleenor of Gays. One of those on the program for this feature at the March meeting is D. G. Carnine of the local class.

The ladies got a 7 point lead some weeks ago and this is what they now hold with two more Sundays to go.

The Men's class work has been made more interesting recently by having new and well-qualified instructors nearly every Sunday. Loren Brumfield will be the teacher this coming Sunday. The two sides in the contest are preparing for a hot finish.

Editorial

And Whosoever shall give to drink unto ones of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward.
Matt. 10:42.

John lay dead. He had been long ill. His faithful wife had watched by his bedside and nursed him. Now sympathizing relatives and friends came to mourn with her. Floral tributes were brought and grouped around the casket. More came on the day of the funeral, until the casket was covered with them. Eight young women carried these beautiful flowers from the house to the church. A beautiful floral display greeted the eyes of those who came to hear the funeral discourse. John was not forgotten in death. His wife, through tear dimmed eyes, gazed at these gorgeous tributes of beauty. "Yes, they are beautiful" said she, "but what good do they do John now? He cannot see them. But in the days when he lay ill, each posy, a gift from a remembering friend would have brought him so much joy. It would have dispelled the pain from his hours of suffering. Oh, they are beautiful. I'm not complaining. But John would have enjoyed them so much, if given to him while he was still here."—A page from every day life.

MILLIONAIRES' GIFTS TO COLLEGES SHALL EDUCATORS PROVE UNGRATEFUL? CHICAGO GETS BY WITH WORSE THAN MURDER

Some call it "calamity howling." Others see the thing in the same light that we do.

We refer to recent editorials calling attention to the tendency of this country to consolidate and centralize its wealth into the hands of a few. We claim that the drift of the times bears out our contentions.

But this tendency is not only along commercial lines. It also takes in the matter of education, of religion and the press. It is worming its way into the minds of people. It is placing the millions under obligations to the few. It is molding public sentiment. It is slithering its way into the spiritual life of the people. The big city newspapers, the national magazines such as the Saturday Evening Post for instance, are the mere servants of capital and direct their efforts toward educating the people to the desirability of legislation making supreme the rights of property, at the expense of the rights of the individual.

A man accumulates a billion dollars, or perhaps a mere million. He can't take it with him, so he has two courses to pursue. He may leave it to his offspring, who usually are undeserving and have done nothing to merit a fortune being dropped into their laps, or he may save his conscience in an effort to try and forget how the fortune was accumulated. In the latter case he endows a university. He may give a big chunk of it to some religious school. He may build some notable structure to memorialize himself on a school campus. It is easy indeed to give money to educational institutions. Many institutions are so endowed. All are looking for it.

Now a religious institution or a so-called educational institution would most surely be an ingrate, if, after accepting gifts of this kind, it looked askance on the manner and means employed originally by the donor in making his fortune.

As a consequence the dollar is enthroned in the halls of the mighty from whence is dispensed the wisdom which youth is seeking. The piratical hands of an oil king, or a tobacco magnate, or some other genius for money making, at the expense of his nation's resources in natural wealth and humanity gives the grease that keeps the wheels of many a university running.

Shall the lords of education be ungrateful? Shall they teach that the rights of the people are more sacred than the rights of property? What base ingratitude! No never.

You know there was a time when the liquor barons, enthroned in their arrogance, claimed that the country could not exist without the revenue that they paid into its coffers. Well, we showed them that it could. The stream of revenue was turned out of the coffers of government and into the treasuries of the bootleg kings.

But the point we wish to make is that it is just as degrading to the cause of education, to be dependent on endowments made by the wealth-bloated industrial pirates of this nation, as it was for the government to be dependent on the liquor revenue. Both are questionable in their origin. Both are demoralizing, if an institution condescends to lick the hands that make the donation.

America boasts of over 42,000 millionaires. It points proudly to men who have incomes of millions each year. It does not say very much about 42,000,000 of its citizens who perhaps together own less than the 42,000. The universities, the churches, the press bow before the throne of the money-mighty and glorify their deeds of commerce and finance, of liberal endowments and charitable gifts. They seldom mention that these fortunes were made out of the natural resources of this nation and through special privilege granted by legislators whose campaigns were financed and who are being kept in power by those whom they so meekly serve.

America is drifting loose from its moorings. Its statesmen are frittering away their time with sumptuary legislation which regulates personal conduct and personal habits. Its economic structure is punctured with fraud and deceit. Its millionaires are growing in number from year to year. Its poor are also on the increase. When legislation is pending the first question asked is "will it hurt business" and that is usually the only question given consideration.

The real measuring stick for legislation ought always to be "how will this affect the welfare of Bill Jones, the farmer and his family; or how will this affect Mike Kocinski the coal miner and his brood; how will this affect Fred Grady, the foundry worker and other workers in all of their various lines of endeavor; will it saddle more burdens on them, or will it be an aid to them in achieving that constitutional guarantee of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness?"

The nation's wealth, its natural resources, its educational and cultural institutions are being garnered in under the wing of the few to the everlasting detriment of the many. Will America awake in time to save itself.

Hello World, wake up! Take a tumble to yourself!

Chicago's financial difficulties have brought out the fact that taxes were not collected in that city last year. Efforts are being made to adjust this sad state of affairs and the muddle which has resulted.

A conservative estimate, recently made, is that at least $12,000,000 of Chicago's 1928 uncollected taxes are what are known as "state taxes" and ought to be in the treasury for the payment of state debts.

There must be something radically wrong at Springfield, when it permits Chicago to get into a mess where it can hold out this amount in taxes for a year or more. Especially is this a peculiar situation, in view of the fact that Governor Emmerson and his tax board recently decided to increase the state tax 9c on the $100 of assessed valuation this year because the state needs more money.

Of course there may be a reason for all this, but, do you think for one minute that a county like Moultrie or some other downstate county could pull such a stunt and get away with it? Could we hold off on paying our state taxes into the treasury for one year? Try it and see how far you get with it.

Gov. Emmerson admits that our tax laws in Illinois are unfair, discriminative and that a great portion of taxable wealth evades paying its just share. He's not the first official that has talked about this matter. Talking is something state officials do rather well. Why don't they do something to remedy this matter? The big majority of the people would back any move for an equitable tax reform. What is blocking the action? Who's putting on the brakes? Let's have more action and less talk; less payrollers and less taxation. Do something besides talking.

The Way of Life

BY BRUCE BARTON

YOUR LEGS AND YOUR BRAIN

This is one of the greatest tragedies of modern life. Men are forgetting how to walk.

They travel by taxicabs and street cars; they travel by automobile; they project their personalities over a telephone wire. But they do not walk.

There is a double loss in this.

A loss in health, first. Most of the diseases of modern men originate in the intestines. Formerly men and women walked enough to keep the stomach muscles firm, the intestines healthfully agitated. Now men and women even more so—sit all day slumped in.

Germes settle down inside them gladly; and Death, his work made easy for him, laughs.

There is another loss equally great. A loss in mental keenness and mental wealth.

Did you ever take a walk in the country with someone who knows really how to walk?

Someone of the type of the naturalist Linnaeus, for instance? Linnaeus walked into Oland, and found the lands of the farmers ruined by sand blown from the beaches.

He discovered that the roots of a certain beach grass were long and firm: he taught the farmers to sow that grass along the beach and so preserved their lands from ruin.

He walked into Throne, and found that at a certain period in every year the cattle fell sick and died.

He walked into Throne, and found that at a certain period in every year the cattle fell sick and died.

KIWANIS HEAR THAT BUSINESS RECOVERY IS NEAR AT HAND

Friday's Kiwanis meeting was devoted to a discussion of business. Purvis Tabor delivered a lecture on the "Cycle of business" and cited historical facts showing that depressions occur with frequency. He pointed out the conditions which bring about these depressions and the gradual recovery. His study of the subject has convinced him that this country has passed through its period of depression and is now well along on the way toward recovery.

In the absence of President McLaughlin and vice president Chester Horn, secretary George Roney presided.

After the business session he turned the program over to J. H. Smith who called on many of those present to give their opinions on how Sullivan can help in a recovery to normal business conditions. Some of the speakers pointed out that Sullivan today is in much better shape than are many other cities and has a promising future before it.

Among the guests present was President Dilsaver of the Mattoon club accompanied by Ben Overman and several others.

Wife (sentimentally)—Egbert, what would you do if I were to die?

Egbert—I should go mad, my dear.

Wife—Would you marry again?

Egbert—Well, I don't think I should go as mad as that!

—Purvis Tabor, Hubert Kingrey and Joseph McLaughlin were visitors in St. Louis Saturday.

"RING OUT, WILD BELLS"
By Alfred Tennyson
Ring out, wild bells to the wild sky,
The flying cloud, the frosty light;
The year is dying in the night;
Ring out, wild bells, and let him die.

Ring out the old, ring in the new,
Ring, happy bells, across the snow;
The year is going, let him go;
Ring out the false, ring in the true

Ring out the grief that saps the mind,
For those that here we see no more;
Ring out the feud of rich and poor,
Ring in redress to all mankind.

Ring out a slowly dying cause,
And ancient forms of party strife,
Ring in the nobler modes of life,
With sweeter manners, purer laws

Ring out the want, the cares, the sin,
The faithless coldness of the times;
Ring out, ring out my morrowful rhymes,
But ring the fuller minstrel in.

Ring out false pride in place and blood,
The civic slander and the spite;
Ring in the love of truth and right,
Ring in the common love of good.

Ring out old shapes of foul disease;
Ring out the narrowing lust of gold;
Ring out the thousand wars of old,
Ring in the thousand years of peace.

Ring in the valiant man and free,
The larger heart, the kindlier hand;
Ring out the darkness of the land,
Ring in the Christ that is to be.

"LITTLE BROWN CHURCH"
Cupid gets a lot of help from the famous "Little Brown church in the Vale," near Nashua, Iowa, for 640 marriages were performed there during 1929, according to the February issue of the Illinois Central Magazine. This exceeded by forty-eight the number performed during 1928. The two record months of 1929 were June and September, 186 couples being married in the former and sixty-four in the latter. More than 40,000 persons visited the church in 1929.

Wahrheit und Dumheit

AT THE AUTO SCHOOL

Instructor—"Now my lad, do you know how to find out the horse power of a car?"

Andy H.—"Yes I believe I do. You lift up the hood and count the plugs, don't you?"

"Young man" said the Judge how did you get into this awful state of intoxication?"

"It was bad company, Judge. Awful bad company" replied the accused.

"What did you mean bad company?"

"Well there was five of us fellows and we had one quart of hooch. The other four were prohibitionists. If they had been the least bit social and co-operative, I'd not have gotten into this shape."

Rev. Finlayson, well known Christian preacher, now holding the pastorate at Gays, boasts of having been born in the same town that Andrew Carnegie was. "Yes" says he "I come from a town that has produced millionaires. Andy got the million and I got the air."

A very pretty young lady was sitting in the train. On her lap she held a white wooly poodle. Across the aisle an elderly lady observed her for a time with apparent displeasure and then remarked:

"A young woman like you ought to have more sense than to cuddle a poodle. How much nicer it would be if you had a baby of your own on your lap."

"Well, perhaps you're right" said the girl "but it would cause an awful scandal, for you see I'm not married."

"You fellows go sleep in the fish car" was what they told Sullivan's delegation of Izaak Waltonites when they got to Centralia last week. "Now that ain't fair, for we didn't bring any swimming suits, and furthermore, we're not used to sleeping under water" said Levi Dickerson who was one of the five. "Let's go see" said Loren Brumfield, and he led the quintet to what evidently would be funny sleeping quarters. "I wonder, do fish snore?" asked Emery Creech. "No they don't," said Tobe Rhodes, "for I often catch them in the morning when they're still sleeping." "I wonder now" said Dr. Roney "whether the baby fish are noisy during the night. I can't sleep where babies whimper."

All of these fears were dispelled however when they got to the fish car. They found a swell sleeping apartment and even the state director of conservation was bunking there.

The drop in the wheat market this week recalls to mind something that most of you old timers will remember. It was way back in 1897 or thereabout. Teddy Roosevelt was chasing the Spaniards up San Juan Hill and we had a nifty sure-thing war going on down in Cuba. The biggest thing that happened for the farmers at that time was when the price of wheat at the mill reached $1.00. I recall there was great rejoicing. After raising 10 to 12 bushels of wheat per acre and selling it for about 60c to 75c for many years, that $1.00 wheat surely looked good. It was good too. It was just about as much in value as $2.50 wheat would be today. And the $1.00 wheat today is comparable to 50c wheat way back there when McKinley was president. We may get more money today but it don't buy so much.

Read this and then see how lucky you are—"You complain mister, about bad times here in Sullivan" said a visitor here the other day.

"Why you don't know what hard times are."

"Let me tell you about my town. I come from a place only a few hours' drive from here. Our farmland is not as good as that in Moultrie. Our farmers had no February corn harvest to market. They didn't raise but little corn or anything else last year. We have a few mines near town. They are not working. We had a bank blow up in our faces some time ago—frozen assets. Many of our store buildings are empty. A fellow would be foolish to start in the retail business in our town under present conditions. Lots of dwellings are also empty. Folks have moved away. We are about ready to admit that our town has no future. We've been ambitious. We did our darndest, but our efforts have fallen flat."

"You Sullivan folks have no kick coming. You're sitting pretty No town in this part of the state can look into the future with greater confidence. You did the seemingly impossible. You took hold of your bootstraps and pulled yourself out of the mud. It cost you a pretty penny but you will find it was a great investment."

The Family Doctor

ELECTRIC TREATMENT

When a general public expresses its desire to get away from "so much medicine," and from "old fogey doses," then the exploiter gets busy. Costly and mysterious-looking contrivances are made by manufacturers—they must be sold to physicians of course, and the purchaser must get his money back with a handsome profit; in this, as in other commercial transactions, the ultimate consumer feels the bills. Electricity applied to the human body has certain limited effects; these are so "limited" as to render a very great many of the "treatments" administered today of very little, if any, benefit whatever. The number of electric appliances manufactured today—who knows? And they range in price from a few dollars to many hundreds. In an office, they unquestionably serve to impress the patient, that the doctor who uses them must be far above his plain brother in skill. I have seen some very culpable quacks employ such methods—the methods of pomp and show, so repulsive to men of real ability.

The facts are, as I have found them: Three electric currents are of known value in disease, namely, the galvanic, the faradic and the static. These may be delivered through modest instruments that permit quantity of current with safety to the invalid. The value of other modifications of electrical energy as delivered to patients today is still conjectural; some do good, some are without beneficial effect—but all are paid for.

The galvanic current in forms of arthritis is well worth earnest trial—the chronic forms, with enlarged joints. The faradic current—old as the hills—is extremely useful in restoring exhausted muscles from whatever cause produced. The static is of great value in neuritis, the chronic forms.

The violet and Roentgen rays are established in use. I touch here only on the common, everyday things that may be used by the non-specialist.

Mr. Epler gave a very interesting and instructive talk on Clara Barton and her active work in caring for the wounded during the Civil War and the Franco-Prussian war, which led to the founding of the International Red Cross Organization.

Mr. Brandenburger gave to the student body Wednesday afternoon, a vocational talk on the management of a newspaper, including its editing and operation; also touched in general upon the journalistic career. The students feel that they are obtaining something worthwhile from these series of talks that are sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

Fair Day in Bagdad is marked by the arrival of various visitors, among them being Mrs. J. Horace McCann, the new American consul, with her daughter, Elsa, and her daughter's friend, Anne. Lord Archie Fitzgibbons, an old friend, is also present, and a little later comes Henrietta Whipstitch. On being presented to the Caliph and his daughter, Jewel, they learn that an assassin is abroad who carries a bomb concealed in a camera and for this reason all persons with cameras are to be shot immediately.

Dick Taylor arrives by airplane from Hollywood, accompanied by his two mechanics, Bob and Bill. They are anxious to find a lovely girl, known only as the belle of Bagdad, in order to engage her as a moving picture star. They hope to identify her by some small photographs which they carry, and also by an amulet she wears, but in order to make sure, they bring a large camera with them to make pictures of all prospects.

Dick meets Jewel, who welcomes him cordially, but the two mechanics meet Ali Ben Mustapha, the chief of police, who sees their camera and orders them to be executed forthwith. In order to escape, Bill and Bob resort to disguise, first as Dervishes, and afterwards as members of Caliph's body-guard. While in this latter disguise they manage to capture the real assassin, and in return for their valor the Caliph orders Jewel to present Dick with the sacred amulet. This serves to identify her as the Belle. Bill and Bob are freed in time to couple with Elsa and Anne, while Henrietta finds solace in the companionship of Ali Ben Mustapha.

The admission for students is 25 cents and 35 cents for adults. Everybody is cordially invited.

SULLIVAN WALTONITES AT CENTRALIA MEETING

Last week an SOS call was received here by the members of the Izaak Walton Chapter. It was from Mattoon and said "Come to Centralia, we need you." In response to the message George A. Roney, Levi Dickerson, Tobias Rhodes, Emery Creech and Loren Brumfield motored to Centralia on Thursday where the Waltonites were holding their state convention. Mattoon had a candidate for president of the organization in the person of Ben Overman. Sullivan, always willing to help a neighbor, backed Mr. Overman in his aspiration, but Chicago wanted to keep the presidency and steamrollered the Mattoon man and re-elected Dr. Blodgett.

Next year's convention goes to Joliet.

One of the things the recent convention advocated was a three year closed season on racoons, which in recent years have rapidly been exterminated.

Church Notes

ST. COLUMBA'S CHURCH

Church services will be held at St. Columba's Catholic church on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

METHODIST CHURCH

G. V. Herrick, Pastor

Why should our Sunday school teachers come through wind and weather to teach Sunday school classes when parents can find so many excuses for staying home? The teachers come because they are interested. Because they are happy to give of their time and energy in order that the church may serve. Regular attendance, regular worship, regular giving—these things seem to our faithful teachers well worth their efforts. Our Sunday school is doing splendid work. Our teachers are faithful and capable. A great many people come very regularly. Sunday school is for everyone. It is an interesting and helpful service for men, women and children. It serves in a way that no other department of the church can. If you have not formed the Sunday school habit, start in on Sunday. Attend Sunday school and stay for the morning service. Sunday will be a bigger and better day for you if you will let God have his share.

Sunday school at 9:30. Morning worship at 10:45. Communion Sunday. Sermon topic, "I am the bread of life." Special music by Mrs. J. H. Hughes, Mrs. Charles McPeeters, J. A. Reeder and O. F. Cochran. Epworth League at 6:30. The evening service begins at 7:15 with a musical prelude with Miss Gertrude McClure at the organ and the instrumental trio of F. A. Brown, Leon Reeder and Lewie David. Plan to attend church Sunday. Come and invite others.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

C. E. Barnett, Pastor.

"Witnessing for Me" will be the pastor's sermon subject at next Sunday's morning worship, beginning at 10:40. The evening subject will be "The blessing and the Power of Constraint." The hour of service is 7:30 o'clock. William Setz will lead the Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:30 p. m. This will be consecration meeting with a quoted verse of scripture and an offering from each member. The subject for discussion will be "Faith and what it Does." Sunday school session beginning at 9:30 a. m. A close race is on for attendance in the four-class contest, with the ladies leading by seven points. Looking toward Easter Sunday, Supt. C. R. Hill has set the goal of attendance at 300. The wheels that roll one to church and Sunday school, first revolve in the head. Think it over. Let 'em roll.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

John C. Irvine, Minister

The resignation of the pastor having been accepted by the congregation last Sunday I will close my work as active pastor of the church with the conclusion of the evening service next Sunday, March 2. The pastor invites his friends of the community to either or both of these services. 7:30—Evening worship. GOSPEL MISSION

9:30 a. m. Sunday school. 6:30 p. m. Young People's service. 7:30 p. m. Evangelistic services. 7:30 p. m., Thursday prayer meeting. Brother Buckles will preach on Sunday evening. Matt. 4:17 "From that time Jesus began to preach, and to say, Repent." Jesus had no new message to preach to the people, but picked up the message of John the Baptist and went on preaching to the people, Repent; for the kingdom of heaven is at hand. As we look into our lives, as we live them in the church, the home, the office, the school room or on the streets, can we feel sure that if Jesus were to come to finish our work, that he could take it up just where we left off, and could he use the program we have marked out. Could he say, brother, sister, I like your plans, it is a very good plan, I understand your motive, and you have done very well, but there are some minor changes I will have to make before I can use your plans, or more tragic yet would he have to say, your plans are all wrong, I cannot use them, they are deceptive, they are unscriptural, they would lead my people into more darkness rather than into the light. God will show us his plans for us, if we really want to know them, and then when our work is finished he will be able to say: "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

FORTY LEAVES REQUIRED TO PRODUCE APPLE

How many leaves are required to produce food enough to develop a full-grown apple? This is a question that has attracted the attention of horticulturists in the United States Department of Agriculture for several years because of its relation to the practice of thinning apples and pears. Latest results of experimental work carried on with the Washington Experiment Station, at Wenatchee, Wash., indicate that from 40 to 50 well-formed leaves are necessary to develop the fruit and furnish the necessary amount of food reserve for the growth of the tree.

In the experiments it was found that a smaller number of leaves per fruit would produce a fairly satisfactory crop for the year in question but would not produce enough fruit buds for a full crop the following year. There is a fairly definite correlation between number of leaves per fruit and the size of fruit until the ratio reaches at least 40 to 1. While the size of individual fruits increased with greater leaf surface the increase in fruit volume was not proportional. In other words, thinning the fruit increases size but decreases total weight of fruit per tree.

To increase production, the experiments indicate, it will be necessary first of all to increase the amount of foliage per tree or per acre. To secure regularity of production the quantity of fruit produced per tree must be sufficiently reduced through thinning to allow the development of fruit buds which results only from an accumulation of food materials after the needs of the fruit have been met. To obtain maximum food development in the leaves a steady supply of moisture must be available throughout the growing season.

The experiments referred to were conducted in irrigated orchards in the Pacific northwest. Where there is a shortage of water through the latter part of the growing season a large number of leaves per fruit is required.

CREEDS CO-OPERATING FOR DEEDS

The faith of men in the supreme spiritual reality may express itself in many different formulae, in many varying rituals, in many sorts of organizations, but in spite of these diversities it has an underlying unity which more and more we recognize, and which tends increasingly to bring us into co-operative relationship for the service of humanity.

Within the Protestant group of sects the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America represents the most comprehensive and most effective instrument for promoting this cooperation. Recently its executive committee held its annual meeting in Chicago, and surveyed the work which had been done, and the field in which need and opportunity challenge further effort.

There has been a good deal of misunderstanding concerning the aims and methods which characterize the council. Much of this misunderstanding has been created by deliberate misrepresentation on the part of those who are antagonistic to the spread of the Christian principles in the world's life. There is a pagan spirit in America which resists the message of Jesus. It has its organizations, its newspapers, its magazines, its methods of propaganda and obstruction. There can be no greater tribute to work of an agency of Christian faith, such as the Federal council, than the active opposition of this pagan spirit.

The more bitter and vindictive it is in its attacks, the more sure can we be that the cause of faith is making headway, is gaining ground. If faith were asleep, complacent, concerned merely with the singing of hymns and reciting of prayers the pagan forces would ignore it. Only in so far as it is seeking to translate its ideals into terms of life, into terms of human relations in society, in business, in industry, into terms of citizenship and international policy does it find itself the target of attack.

The Federal Council of churches has been a vigorous exponent of the spirit of international good will and peace. In this role it has spoken with united voice for millions of American men and women who believe that war is not in accord with God's thought for the world, and that the way of Jesus is the way of understanding and conciliation, of good faith among peoples and the brotherhood that reaches across barriers of race and nationality. And because it has spoken thus loyally and earnestly it has aroused the hatred of those who cling to the pagan view of life and find in war a necessary and apt expression of that view.

At its executive meeting the council invited the fullest investigation of its organization and methods, and took occasion to make clear the fact that it maintains no lobby at Washington or anywhere else. In a statement issued during its Chicago session it declared it has carefully refrained from employing "any lobbyist or legislative representative, and from using any form of political or personal pressure or partisan alignment, but has relied wholly upon the moral power of its statements to influence public opinion.

The council has a Washington office, just as it has a New York office and a Chicago office, but the annual budget of its Washington office is only $11,000, and the executive secretary who directs it is paid the princely salary of $1,500. Three-fourths of the Washington budget are expended on assisting the army and navy chaplains and in aiding disabled veterans.

Statements of the council from time to time have supported the Kellogg treaty, the world court, the work of the League of Nations, the movement for reduction of armaments. In all of these statements it has voiced the sentiment of the enlightened Christian conscience of America. The paganism which opposes these agencies and movements for a better world order resents the fact that the Christian conscience of America can find such effective and influential expression—that is what lies behind the attacks on the council in this particular field.

Among other activities of the council, which are largely those of research and education, are its efforts to promote in the churches the spirit of social service, and in business and industry the spirit of good will, of better human relations, of stronger emphasis upon the human values. Obviously if the church is true to the ideals of Jesus it cannot neglect this sphere. It must be willing to encounter opposition, to be misunderstood, to be regarded as a meddler, to sacrifice and to suffer in order that the way of life which its Master taught may become the way of life in every realm of human experience. And here, as in the international field, the pagan spirit shows its resentment of the influence which a united Christian conscience can exercise. Again that resentment is a tribute to the work of the council and a challenge to all men of honest faith to stand by the council in brave and loyal support.

The promotion of good will between Jews and Christians is a recent endeavor of the Federal council which illustrates breadth of its vision and aims. This endeavor is chiefly directed toward eradicating those prejudices that still exist in Christian circles. It is an educational work which may have the most happy results. The common faith of Jew and Christian in the supreme importance of spiritual values constitutes a ground of sympathetic understanding and co-operation which, happily is being cultivated by both sides as never before.

These are but a few of the many interests which engage the council. It should be an occasion for rejoicing that its work advances. There is, we think, no more hopeful augury for spiritual progress in American life than the fact that the churches have found in the Federal council a means whereby creeds may unite for service, and the voice of faith in God may utter itself with intelligence and persuasive power.

GUNMAN'S BLUFF

BY Edgar Wallace
COPYRIGHT BY EDGAR WALLACE

Luke dismissed from his mind his experience of the afternoon. That was something not to be thought of without a shudder—he was whistling cheerfully when Mrs. Fraser came with a pair of bright, new scissors to collect the gray tweed suit he had discarded, and to bring him a pair of brown shoes so hideously bright that they dazzled him.

"Connor says you'd better leave your mustache," she suggested.

"Where is Connor? Is he on the premises?"

"No, he phoned me."

"I didn't know you had a phone he said in surprise.

Mrs. Fraser smiled cryptically.

"We've got lots of things here that people don't know anything about," she said.

She came back a little later with a tube of shaving paste, a brand new lather brush, and a razor which had evidently been purchased recently, for when he opened the case he found it still enclosed in oil paper. Shaving was a painful process in spite of this, but apparently the results were satisfactory, for when the woman brought him food later she stood in the doorway and gaped her approval.

"Well, I should never have known you, Mr. Smith," she said, "and I'll bet your best friend wouldn't know you!"

As to this Luke was perfectly convinced. What an extraordinary change a mustache made in a man's appearance! To him it lent a touch of the sinister—he stood gazing, fascinated, at his reflection in the mirror.

Mrs. Fraser seemed more inclined to be conversational than she had been before; asked him if he was married, and before he could answer announced herself a widow.

"At least, practically," she announced. "My husband got a liver two years ago."

She was quite cheerful about this calamity, and Luke gathered that life had not run any too smoothly for the woman.

"He asked for it," she said. "Shot a copper and nearly killed him; and naturally, Connor would not stand for that. Connor says a gun's all right for the unders. Fraser was that kind—flash! He tried everything."

"Had he been in prison before?" She smiled amusedly.

"Why of course! He did two stretches."

Luke did not ask what a stretch might be; he had vague idea that it meant penal servitude.

"He did one stretch," said the communicative Mrs. Fraser, "for a swindle up in Manchester—he and Danty were in it—"

Luke's jaw dropped.

"Danty?" he said incredulously "Who is he?"

"He's a con man—you must have heard of him. I think he's straight now, but you can never tell. He lives up west, knows all the swells, and has got a flat in Half Moon Street. He and Gunner Haynes used to work together—"

"Gunner Haynes—you know him?" asked Luke quickly.

From her expression and tone he gathered that Haynes was a person of some importance in the hierarchy of the underworld.

"No, I don't know him, I've only heard of him. But what do they call Danty now?" She frowned in an effort of memory. "I had it on the tip of my tongue—a swell name. Danton Morrell—that's it! Connor told me only the other day about him."

The room seemed to swim before Luke Maddison's eyes. Danton Morrell—a confidence man, an ex-convict? It was incredible! And then suddenly he had the stunning realization that Danty Morell was his wife's best friend!

"What is he like in appearance?"

"Danty? I've seen him two or three times. . ."

She described Morell in her homely language. There was no doubt at all that this was the man. It was more vitally necessary than ever that he should escape from this environment and reappear as Luke Maddison.

His vague plans became definite. He could leave the house that night, seek out Hulbert, and tell him the truth.

At nine o'clock that night he was preparing to leave when an unexpected difficulty arose. He was just about to turn out light, when Mrs. Fraser appeared. She closed the door behind her, and from her manner he gathered that something serious had happened.

"Two of the Lewing crowd are down below," she said in a low voice. "I haven't had a chance to call up Connor; the phone is in the parlor, and they came in before I knew what was happening."

She had something hidden under her apron, and when she withdrew her hand he saw she had a small Browning pistol.

"Put that in your sky," she said urgently. "You don't know what these fellows are after."

"In my—?" he began bewildered.

"In your pocket," she said impatiently. "Do as you're told."

Mechanically he took the pistol from her hand and slipped it into his hip pocket. The one thing he did not wish to challenge was a scene with two members of the rival gang. It was vital that he should get away from Ginnett Street with the least possible delay, and if this pistol helped him it was welcome.

"They want to see you—" she began.

And then a voice came from the foot of the narrow stairs.

"Come on, Smith!"

There was menace in the tone. Mrs. Fraser flung open the door.

"Wait!" she said sharply. "Who do you think you are?"

Luke heard a grumbling voice and the slam of the door which separated the foot of the stairs from the parlor. And then, at the beckoning jerk of the woman's head, he followed her down stairs.

There were two men in the parlor. One stood with his back to the fire, the other, significantly near the door that gave egress to the shop. They were respectively dressed. Luke realized that if he had seen them in the street he would have thought they were decent artisans. There was certainly nothing sinister in either face. One was tall and rather stout, the other a slightly built man, who wore as his necktie the colors of a cavalry regiment.

The big man who stood with his back to the fire lowered his chin to his breast and looked at Luke from under his eyebrows.

"Is this Smith?" he asked.

"That is Mr. Smith," said Mrs. Fraser primly.

"What's the idea of your coming here and pretending you are somebody you're not?" asked the little man by the door with extraordinary rapidity.

His big companion silenced him.

"You shut up. I'll do all the talking, Curly," he said. "You did that job today, didn't you, Smith?"

"I've done many jobs," said Luke coolly.

"You're pretending you're a fellow named Smith whom our governor brought over from Australia—no, I'm not talking about Lewing; he was nobody. Swank killed him, and he's well dead. But you're not Smith." He pointed a finger to the man at the door and said "That's Curly Smith."

"I'll say I am!"

The little man was quivering with anger; he spoke with shrill cockney whine.

"You've been using my name"—he qualified the name with a violent adjective.

The stout man by the fire rebuked him.

"There are ladies present," he said, with such solemnity that Luke almost laughed at the incongruity of the reproach.

"The point is," said the big man, who, Luke discovered, was named Verdi, "you was picked up when Lewing was chived, and you got yours too, and naturally Connor thought you were the man that Lewing was supposed to meet off the boat in the London Docks. And instead of going to meet him, Lewing got cold feet, because he thought the Connor lot were after him for a squeal. But you're not Smith, and I'll take my oath you've never been to Australia."

"Him!" Curly Smith was quivering with contempt. "That feller couldn't get a living in Australia!"

He suddenly tugged a newspaper from his side pocket.

"Do you see what you've done for me? he hissed, and thrust the paper under Luke's nose.

Luke Maddison read the paragraph which the grimy thumb of the man stabbed.

In connection with this robbery the police are seeking information concerning a man named Smith who landed a few weeks ago from the Orient liner Pontiac.

"Do you see what you've done," repeated Smith savagely. "You've got the dicks after me!"

His hand strayed to his trousers pocket.

"Steady your mitt!" growled Verdi. "This bird's got a gat—what do you think the old woman went up to see him about?"

Mrs. Fraser flamed at the insult.

"Old, am I, you fat snail! We'll see what Connor says to that. He'll be here in five minutes."

Verdi glanced uneasily at the door.

"Bluff," he said. "Anyway, Connor can't complain if we come around to make a few inquiries. We're entitled to a bit of information."

"Do you want to see me any more?" said Luke, and moved toward the door.

Curly Smith stood squarely in his way.

"We want to know—" began Verdi.

"You know all you're likely to know," said Luke curtly.

He took another step forward, but Smith did not move. Suddenly Luke's hand shot up, gripped the little man and swung him across the room. It was not a moment to compromise or to argue; instinctively he knew he was taking the right line as he pulled the door wide open.

"Get outside, both of you!" he said.

Verdi shrugged his broad shoulders.

"That's all right," he said. "We don't want any unpleasantness."

He was smiling when he came abreast of Luke; but Mrs. Fraser had slipped to the other side of the table, and saw the life preserver he carried in his right hand.

"Look out!" she cried shrilly. As the readily little stick arose, Luke struck for the man's jaw, and he went over with a crash against the wooden partition that separated the shop from the parlor.

For a moment he was stunned, and in that time Luke had jerked the life preserver from the man's hand (a leather cord attached to it was twisted around his wrist) and had dropped it into his pocket.

"Come on, you," he beckoned Curly Smith, and the little man sidled nimbly past him.

Verdi was on his feet by now, a little dazed, blinking with his pale blue eyes at the man who had knocked him down.

"All right," he said, and went heavily after his companion.

WHO'S GOT ED CAMPBELL'S TRUSTY OLD WHEELBARROW

The other day when the weather was no nice and warm Ed Campbell decided that maybe the time for summer gardening had come. He started checking over his tools so as to scrape the rust off them. He made the discovery that his wheelbarrow was among the missing. Now a good gardener needs a wheelbarrow. Evidently somebody borrowed this one to haul snow or something like that and forgot to return it. Now Mr. Campbell wants his wheelbarrow. You can either push it or pull it as you bring it back and no questions will be asked. If however, you fail to promptly return it, whoever you may be, such neglect will be considered as an unfriendly act.

Christian Church at Sullivan A Brief History of the Early

(By Mrs. Genevieve Lowe)
The following article on the early history of the First Christian church of this city was prepared by Mrs. Genevieve Lowe and was read during the Sunday school hour at the church Sunday morning.

Previous to the laying out of the town of Sullivan there was a small organization of the Disciples of Christ on Asa Creek which met at the home of Levi Patterson and was organized by Levi Fleming. This was in 1840. The elders were Joshua Patterson and Frederick Hoke. The home of Levi Patterson was near the present site of the Frank Fleming home just across the bridge. This little band did not exert much influence until it was reorganized by Bushrod W. Henry in 1846 with 14 charter members. The elders were David Patterson and Frederick Hoke. They worshipped in a little cabin school house which was also used for a court-house and stood on the southeast corner of Mrs. J. E. Baker's property better known as the Hampton property and my father told me as a child that Abraham Lincoln held court in this little cabin court house on several occasions.

The need of a suitable and permanent place of worship greatly retarded the growth and success of this organization until 1842 when Dr. A. L. and H. Y. Kellar again organized the congregation, many joining from the Lovington church. Shortly after this the officers procured the use of the Methodist meeting house, a small structure which stood where the Tom Fultz residence now is for the purpose of holding a protracted meeting, during which there were 50 additions. This meeting was held by Bros. B. W. Henry, John Wilson, and Manning T. Smith. The congregation at this time decided to build a church home and in 1853 the building was completed at a cost of $2500. It was a neat frame structure 40x60 ft. in size and located on the present site. It was a one room building with vestibule, belfry and bell, and the church bell donated by David Patterson is the same we are using today in our own church and still rings clear.

The church was heated by two large stoves, one on either side of the room and for many years the fuel was wood and it was quite the style in those days for the sisters to sit on one side and the brothers on the opposite side of church. After the completion of the new church the services of B. W. Henry and J. S. Ethridge were procured and for some time these two men ministered to the congregation with little pay and many hardships. In 1856 H. Y. Kellar moved to Sullivan and he preached half time. Dr. A. L. Kellar and B. W. Henry, the remaining half and for many years the church was chiefly under the supervision of Dr. A. L. Kellar, who most willingly gave his time and service without remuneration.

Our ministers were very poorly paid in those days. I find in the minutes of an old 1895 church record where the first pastor to draw a regular salary was Bro. M. J. Martin who was paid $480 for his year's work. In 1864 Rev. Wm. Black held a meeting, which resulted in 87 additions. The following year Rev. Joseph R. Lucas became pastor of the church and continued his labors for two years and then N. S. Bastion in conjunction with L. P. Phillips continued the ministerial charge until 1874. At the close of 1880 there were 153 members and the elderships composed of Dr. A. L. Kellar, J. H. Waggoner, Dr. T. Y. Lewis and Wilford Hoke. The Smyser family contributed greatly to the music of the church as they were all real musicians and singers and A. N. Smyser, who for several years was superintendent of the Sunday school led the singing by the aid of a tuning fork. Finally a Reed organ was purchased for church and Sunday school much to the displeasure of one dear old brother who with his family left the church never to return because of what he thought to be desecration and I have often wondered if the little old organ now resting in retirement in the basement is not the same that caused all the trouble. I could find no record of the Sunday school earlier than 1877 but history relates that there was Sunday school since the church was organized. In 1877 the officers of the Sunday school were A. N. Smyser, supt.; E. Anderson, assistant; W. F. Snyder, secretary; Albert J. Beveridge, assistant secretary and N. O. Smyser organist. The mode of procedure was opening the Sunday school with song, then prayer, usually by Dr. Kellar or Wilford Hoke. The lesson was then read in concert by the school. Then the class period followed by secretary's report. The lesson was then reviewed by some appointed teacher and school closed by song and prayer. Some of the teachers of that day were Dr. Kellar, Misses Millie and Lizzie Hall, N. O. Smyser, Carrie Smyser, Dr. Brooks, Mrs. J. H. Waggoner and Miss Addah Kellar. The average attendance for each Sunday for the quarter ending March 25, 1877 was 61, and the average collection for each Sunday was 55c. In the years that followed attendance and collections were better at the end of each quarter crosoms were awarded for good attendance and a list of pupils who were awarded the crosoms for one quarter were recorded and were the Lehman girls and Gertie and Clara Sherman Walker and George Smith.

In 1895 the members of the church concluded that the old church had out-lived its usefulness and laid plans for raising funds to build a new one and a committee was appointed to raise and receive the funds. Bros. Ab Patterson, S. W. Wright, T. H. Scott, Salathiel Miller and J. R. Bean composed this committee. They worked hard for the purpose for which they were appointed and with the cooperation of the members and different organizations of the church succeeded in raising the necessary funds and the church was built in 1899 and was dedicated in 1900 by Rev. Zackria Sweeney. The building committee was Ab Patterson, S. W. Wright, T. H. Scott, J. S. Ozee and B. F. Peadro. The membership at this time was 325. The first pastor who ministered in the new church was Bro. E. E. Curry. A pipe organ was purchased by special subscription and installed and dedicated on evening of Aug. 4, 1900 by a recital. Miss Helen Ione Smyser being the organist and director of the choir. There was some dissatisfaction as to the purchase of this organ for the reason that some of the members felt that it would make the financial load too great at that time but S. W. Wright very much favored the idea and said that that was time to purchase the organ. If we waited, interest in the matter would be lost so a committee was formed to raise funds which was composed of Mrs. Carrie Smyser, Mrs. Edith Haydon, S. W. Wright, Harrison Moore and Genevieve Lowe. It was not easy sailing for those old pioneers of the early church. The old records show that money for church expenditures was much harder to get than it is now. Travel was more difficult. Members living in the country having to ride on horseback or in farm wagons rather than in automobiles and over hard roads as we have now. One old lady told me that they had a long way to go to church. That was before there was an organization here, but there was near Lovington a small congregation which held meetings at the H. Y. Kellar home known now as the Kingrey farm. She said, and to use her own expression that "Pa and me just took a nag apiece, loaded the children on behind and went to church." She said it required the greater part of a day to make the trip, but that they were regular attendants. So to those pioneers who labored so zealously for the cause of Christ, let us pay tribute. They have passed on and left to us, their unfinished task of carrying on their Christian work and may we not betray that trust but go forward as faithfully and loyally as they, for the cause of our Lord Jesus Christ.

MRS. LOIS McILWAIN ENGAGED IN TAKING INDUSTRIAL CENSUS

agriculture, irrigation, drainage, manufactures, mines, unemployment and distribution.

In taking the Census of Manufacturers and Distribution the Government expects the co-operation and support of the merchants and distributors. While they are required by law to answer the questions on the Census schedules and are subject to penalties for refusing to answer, the Census Bureau expects the people to recognize the importance of the census and to supply willingly the information requested. The census takers are forbidden under penalties to reveal any information or data acquired through taking the Census. The data, as the law requires, will be "used only for the statistical purpose for which it is supplied."

The Census of Distribution has never before been taken. The need for the kind of information which may be obtained through a distribution census is very generally realized, and has been urged upon the attention of the American people by the President of the United States, by the present Secretary of Commerce, and business organizations, especially those concerned in trade and distribution. It is believed that one of the reasons why we have not made improvements in the efficiency of distribution corresponding to those that have been made in production is that we have hitherto possessed relatively little comprehensive information about the movement of commodities. There is too wide a gap between what the producer gets and what the consumer pays. More adequate information on this subject should point the way to economize that will in the end benefit the consumer as well as the distributor.

Briefly the work of taking this census will consist of having the enumerators secure reports from manufacturers, retailers, wholesalers, commission merchants, country buyers of farm products, co-operating marketing associations, gasoline filling stations, automobile repair shops, garages, and mines. No attempt will be made to obtain information concerning the profits of the merchant or distributor. Some of the questions that will be asked are as follows: (1) Description of the business. (2) Class of business. (3) Description of the establishment. (4) Proprietors. (5) Number of employes and salaries paid. (6) Rent paid. (7) Interest paid. (8) all other expenses, (9) Sales of products, (10) Farm products bought from the farmer.

The Census of Manufacturers and Distribution began February 24, 1930.

THE WEATHER

It's getting near press time and we've not got much time to set a weather report this week. But the weather has been so nice that it would be a shame to neglect it altogether.

We've had a touch of spring. If it were April things would surely look fine, but this spring weather in February is bound to lead to grief. Crocus are blooming, tulips and other flowering bulbs have attained a 4-inch growth; soft maples are in bloom and bees are buzzing around gathering up the first installment of honey. Lawns are beautifully green and if this weather keeps up lawn-mowers will soon be on the job. Fruit tree buds which were not killed during the severe winter are swelling. Some of the early birds like Oliver Dolan are bragging about the garden they have put out.

Farmers are sowing clover in the wheat fields. While there was much moaning about the condition of wheat several weeks ago, the fields show that that was all a false alarm. Kids are roller skating with socks rolled down to the shoe tops and bare-legged up to Oh-my! Roads are drying off and being dragged. Shorty Worsham is bawling out Charley McPneeters because he failed to get out a G. O. P. ticket for the Demmys to whip on April 1st. John Elliott is making a Democratic speech to whoever will listen. Republican farmers are not arguing much. County candidates who have opposition in the primary are getting up steam, and shaking hands with folks they never shook with before. Smile and pay up your taxes! Pay mine too if you have any money to spare. I'd do as much for you. And please listen folks, don't pack your winter heavies away yet. You'll need 'em later.

Mother: "Willie, I heard that instead of going to Sunday school this morning you played football." Willie: "That isn't true—and I have got a string of fish to prove it."

—The H. V. Weatherly mortgage sale in Lovington township has been postponed to March 5th.

The Winter display of sports dresses for Florida is of little interest to the average person in the north who cannot afford to take a vacation at Palm Beach, except as the fashions shown by the smart dressmakers in February are those which will prevail everywhere for next summer's wear.

Among those now being shown dresses with short sleeves are smarter than those with no sleeves at all, and possibly before summer has come in earnest the sleeveless dress save for evening wear will seem actually passe.

To be sure among the smart new daytime dresses you may see many made without sleeves, but these are always accompanied by bolero jacket or short cape so that at least the upper part of the arms is covered.

In taking inventory of your last summer's wardrobe you may find a number of sports type dresses of the sleeveless sort. An attempt to supply these dresses with sleeves would prove futile since you could hardly hope to match the material, but if the skirts are long enough to supply the needed three or four inches below the knees you may bring them up to date by means of a little separate jacket of silk or linen.

To be sure there is the raised waistline to be considered and last season's sports dresses almost all retained the low waistline, but with the help of a narrow belt placed several inches above the hips the normal waistline may be indicated. Be sure that you do not draw this belt too closely—for we are still a long way from the tight belts that prevailed when waistlines were normal before.

The dress pictured is of pale blue silk embroidered in brown and white and trimmed with brown braid, crystal buttons and buckle.

COMMISSIONER MILLER BOUGHT ROAD OIL FOR SULLIVAN TOWNSHIP

Clarence Miller, commissioner of highways for Sullivan township has placed orders for 18 carloads of road oil to be spread on the roads of the township. This oil will be supplied by the Henry Cross Company of Chicago at .0436 per gallon. This is about 4-10 cents per gallon less than was paid last year. The township's oil funds will permit of the purchase of several more carloads later.

This is Sullivan township's last year of road oiling under the present arrangement. The people will be given the opportunity to vote on continuing oiling at an election to be held next summer. This election is being delayed so that the state highway department can first locate the routing of Route 132, and state aid routes can also be designated. This will permit of including some new mileage in the road oil program, if the people by their votes approve it.
