

THE SULLIVAN PROGRESS

The factory is not Sullivan's final goal; let's keep going.

Donations from local merchants brought the factory to Sullivan

74TH YEAR NO. 23

RIGHT OF WAY FOR ROUTE 132 ALL SECURED

Dunn Tract Causes Nearly Week's Delay in Completion of Work. Expected State Will Let Contract in July.

All of the right of way for route 132 from Sullivan to Dalton City has been secured and the state highway department has been notified of this fact. A few friendly condemnation suits will be instituted to clear up title to several tracts in which minors have an interest. These will not delay letting of contract.

The last release was signed up at about 11 o'clock Wednesday morning by Andrew Gaugh. This release had held up completion of the work of getting the right of way for nearly a week. Mr. Gaugh owns a few acres near Dunn station. A three room house and a barn were located on that part of this tract needed for a right of way for the road. The committee offered Mr. Gaugh a settlement which it considered reasonable. He refused to accept and after several discussions engaged an attorney to handle the case for him. The supervisors' committee started condemnation proceedings. It looked for a time as if this one case would hold up the building of route 132 indefinitely. Condemnation proceedings like this take time and the state positively will not let any contract for construction of road work where an unfriendly condemnation proceeding is pending in the courts.

After considerable negotiation a compromise was finally reached by Mr. Gaugh and the papers were signed Wednesday morning. While local people have no assurance that such will be the case, it is confidently expected that contract for the construction of this road will be let in July. It will be the biggest highway construction job ever undertaken in this county.

VERNON ELDER AND MILDRED CHAPIN GET STHS HONOR AWARDS

The activities of the Sullivan Township High School for the 1929-1930 term came to an end Friday night with the Commencement exercises at the high school auditorium. Dr. George Wham of the Carbondale Normal delivered the Commencement address.

The auditorium was crowded to capacity. The address is conceded to be as good as ever heard here on a similar occasion.

The Senior class presented the school with an electric time clock which has been placed in the principal's office. By it all the various class activities can be accurately timed. The presentation talk was made by Vernon Elder.

The diplomas were presented to the graduates by H. C. Shirey, president of the board.

Principal R. A. Scheer presented the class and during the exercises announced that this year's Citizenship Award goes to Vernon Elder; the Scholarship award to Mildred Chapin.

A feature of the program was the class march "The Red and Black" written by Leon Reeder, one of the graduates and dedicated to the class.

Most of the members of the staff have scattered for the summer vacations. Mr. Scheer and Miss Emel attended to some of the routine closing duties of the term the early part of this week.

THE G. H. BROWN STORE JOINS IN GREETINGS

Through an oversight on the part of the solicitors for the newspaper page of welcome for the shoe factory that appeared last week, the name of the G. H. Brown store was omitted. This firm desires to have this rectified. Their welcome for the new factory and all connected with it measures up to that of any other firm in the city.

SPECIAL NOTICE A CORRECTION

On some of the special sales posters circulated this week in the G. S. Thompson adv. appear items of corn and peas. On the bill it says 3 cans for $1.00. This ought to be 6 cans for $1.00 and it's a real bargain at the price.

Mrs. Ida Tartar of Monticello spent the week end at the home of her son, Shelbe Tartar and wife.

CHICKEN THIEVES HELD TO GRAND JURY

Boyd Chase was arrested here and Boyles Horn was arrested in Windsor Saturday charged with having broken into a chicken house on the Hugh Edwards farm on The Avenue in Whitley township and stolen some chickens. The charge is burglary and larceny. When arraigned before Judge Lambrecht he held them to the grand jury under bond of $1,000 each. They were unable to give and are now in the county jail.

$25,000 In Taxes Delinquent; Tax Sale Next Monday

Railroads Also Have Objections on File Which Will Be Heard Later. Judgment Rendered in County Court Monday.

County Treasurer D. G. Carline Monday in the county court secured judgment against all delinquent tax payers with the exception of the Wabash Railway and the C & E I railroad. These two companies objected to certain items of tax and will be given the opportunity to voice their objections in court. The Illinois Central some time ago objected to its taxes in all counties in the state in which it has property. It has paid 50% of its local taxes and there is a prospect that it will pay 25% more.

The taxes delinquent, excepting these railroad cases, amounts to approximately $25,000.

The delinquent real estate will be sold next Monday at a tax sale in the county house.

The railroad objections are as follows: C & E I, against town tax of $68.03 in Jonathan Creek township and against school tax in District 37 (Low township) $229.38. The Wabash objects to town tax in Lovington, claiming an excess levy. The amount involved is $242.69.

SULLIVAN DEFEATED WINDSOR 25 TO 16

"At the end of the third inning, when Windsor was way ahead Monte Blue went into pitcher's box and then things changed." This is the story of Sunday's baseball game between Windsor and Sullivan.

When the score-keeper got done tabulating the runs after the ninth inning, it was found that Sullivan had scored 25 to 16 for the visitors. The boys all agree that Monte played a great game. Of course there were 17 other players in the game besides him, but he evidently could have won the game all by himself. Whatever Monte does, he does well. The big leagues will soon hear about him. When they do he'll sell his shoe-shining outfit, hitch up his suspenders a notch push his jockey cap back on his head an inch further and bid Sullivan a tearful goodbye.

GROWING CORN IS SUBJECT TO CHATTEL MORTGAGE DEBTS

An indication that the farmers are hard up for money to keep going this spring is shown by the chattel mortgages that are being placed on file in the county recorder's office.

Growing corn, as soon as the seed is planted, is subject to such mortgage indebtedness. Farm implements and livestock are also offered as guaranty on the loans.

If the crop season is good, the farmers may make some money on these loans, if not, they already have obligated themselves to the extent of the value of the crops.

CHURCH VACATION SCHOOL

The Church Vacation school, united in by the Presbyterian, Christian and Methodist churches, began Monday morning and will continue through next week. 140 boys and girls, in age from 3 to 15 have enrolled.

In addition to the regular classes in Bible, stories, and so on, sewing is being taught to older girls and manual training to the older boys.

The following are members of the faculty: Mrs. Ray Isaacs, Mrs. Carl Dick, Miss Cora Gauger, Mrs. Lillian Bryant, Miss Ella Shepherd, Miss Catherine Hughes, Miss Anna McCarthy, Miss Etha Jordan, Miss Fern Garrett, Miss Vera Seitz, Miss Mittie Blaf, Mrs. H. A. Hawley, Miss Rose E. Martin and Joe McLaughlin.

PHELPS PLAYERS TO BE HERE NEXT WEEK IN BIG TENT SHOW

One of Sullivan's summer entertainments will be here all next week. The Phelps Players will cast their tent on the Titus lot on N. Main street and beginning Monday night will present a number of their plays.

The Phelps Players have many friends in this community. They have clean shows that usually draw big crowds. More information appears in their adv. in this issue.

New Janitor System Planned For High School

Board Decides Night Watchman Is Necessary; Library to be Equipped During Vacation; Want Hamilton Street Widened.

The board of education of the Sullivan township high school met Tuesday night at the school to discuss various matters that are to be attended to before the opening of school next fall.

The purchasing committee was instructed to get the necessary equipment for the school library.

With the discontinuance of Manual Training as part of school activities, the room devoted to this work will become available for an expansion in the commercial departments. Present indications are for a big increase in the stenography and book-keeping classes when school reopens.

The board also decided to make a change in the janitor work at the school. Heretofore one man has been named to handle the whole job. Under the new plan there will be two janitors, one to work during the day and the other one at night. A day-time janitor will be employed for the entire year while a night janitor will be on duty only during the nine months of school. One reason for this change is to protect school property. The night janitor will also serve as night watchman. During the past few years damage has been done at the school at night. Several weeks ago the building was broken into and about a thousand dollars worth of damage was done to steel furniture and other fixtures in building. Under the plan as outlined by the board this change can be made without entailing very much of an increase in the amount that has been paid for janitor service.

A motion was also made and approved that the board petition the city council for the opening to its proper width of Hamilton St. from Hunter street to Milton. This street is very narrow now and consequently gets into bad condition during winter months. If properly widened and cindered it will give a good road to school parking grounds.

The staff of teachers for next term was recently completed when Mr. Abell of Embden was named to fill the vacancy in the Mathematics department, caused by Miss Whitfield's inability to return for the next term of school.

MURRAY TO KNOW COURT'S ANSWER MONDAY

Judge Wamsley will be here on Monday for a short session of circuit court.

The arguments for and against a new trial for Eddie Murray, convicted bank robber were heard at Tuscola Saturday and Judge Wamsley took the matter under consideration and is expected to announce his decision Monday.

BROADCAST CONGRATULATIONS OF FACTORY OPENING

Station WDJ at Tuscola has notified the Community Club that it will broadcast congratulations on Sullivan's successful accomplishment in getting a Brown Shoe factory, on June 5th and 6th at 10:50 o'clock in the morning. In the letter sent here appear many favorable comments on Sullivan's enterprise.

FIRE DEPT TAX SMALL

The two mill tax for the support of the city's fire department which was voted at the April election will be disappointingly small. Officials at the time the matter was discussed thought that the income from the tax would be about $2,000. It now develops that $200 is more nearly the correct figure.

C. R. Jones of Decatur has been assisting in the Yates barbershop, during the absence of Otis Donovan who has been in the hospital at Decatur. He came home Thursday.

PAUL WILSON DIES AFTER OPERATION

Young Farmer and Jersey Breeder Stricken with Appendicitis Saturday, Died in Hospital on Tuesday Morning.

Moultrie county lost one of its most progressive young farmers in the death of Paul H. Wilson.

He was suddenly stricken with appendicitis early Saturday morning and was taken to St. Mary's hospital in Decatur where he underwent an operation Sunday morning. He developed pneumonia which resulted in his death Tuesday.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wilson of Charleston and was born April 9, 1897 on a farm near that city. At the time of his death he was 33 years, 1 month and 24 days of age.

On the 24th of March 1918 he was united in marriage with Miss Reta DeLana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter DeLana who reside near Allenville. The first year of their married life, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson lived near Charleston and then moved to the farm southeast of this city where they had since lived.

He is survived by his wife and two children, Wayne aged 9 and Virginia Blanche, aged 15 months. He also leaves his parents, three brothers, Monroe, Sumner and Emerson and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Drum, Mrs. Fern Reddicks and Mrs. Alice Ashmore.

Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon at the family home and were conducted by Rev. C. E. Rogers, assisted by Rev. C. E. Barnett. The remains were taken to Mound cemetery near Charleston for interment. The pall bearers were Frank Emel, Jesse Powell, Roy Martin, A. A. Hollenbeck, Elmer Graven and Charles Graven.

Many Families Coming to Make Sullivan Home

Factory Opening Brings New People to This City and Former Residents Also Flock Back.

The following are some of Sullivan's new residents brought here by the shoe factory. Some of these families have already moved here and others are expected in a few days:

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hinton and daughter of Charleston, in the Pearson residence on North Wortn street. Mr. Hinton is foreman of the cutting department.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith and two children of Salem have moved into the Dr. S. T. Butler residence on Water street. Mr. Smith is superintendent of the maintenance department.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith and two children of Salem moved on Wednesday into the Gauger residence property on South Main street which until recently was occupied by the Jennings sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pattison and son of Charleston have rented the Cash W. Green residence property on Harrison street which until a few weeks ago was occupied by Mrs. Blanche Tartar.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Jenkins transferred here from the Salem factory moved into the Titus residence north of the jail Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Barger and family moved into the J. L. McLaughlin tenement house on Harrison street near the depot. They are former Gays residents but for some months have lived in Decatur. In the family are three daughters and one son. Miss Geraldine Barger at the Chocolate Shop is one of the daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Dunning and family of Salem have moved into the W. G. Cochran property in the southeastern part of the city. In this family are Mr. and Mrs. Dunning and their four children and Mrs. Dunning's two sisters Oliva and Kathryn Lingle.

KIWANIS CLUB WAS HOST TO THE G. A. R.

The Kiwanis club had a patriotic program Thursday of last week in observance of Memorial Day. The G. A. R. members had been invited and Judge W. G. Cochran, M. K. Birch, Frank Stevens and Zack Deeds were present. Judge Cochran made a very nice response to the welcome extended the veterans. Rev. L. L. Lawrence made the Memorial address.

This week officials of the Brown Shoe Company will be guests at the noonday luncheon.

Prairie Chapel Will Be Moved To Tavern Site

Church of Christ Buys A Rural Church Structure and will Move It to Place Hallowed by Memories of Abraham Lincoln.

The local congregation of the Church of Christ which owns the property on which the old Lincoln tavern formerly stood expects to have a church building on that site in the very near future.

They have bought the Prairie Chapel now located on the west side of route 32, several miles north of this city. This chapel has not been used for some years and the people who formerly supported services there now attend church in nearby cities.

The building has been bought for $300. Quite a bit of legal procedure was necessary to clear up title to the place. Jim McKown has contracted to move the building to this city for $400. There will be quite a bit of expense in taking down and replacing light and telephone wires along the route which the movers will take. A foundation will be built on which the structure will be placed, after which it will be given a thorough renovation. The congregation expects that the cost of securing the building and moving it and preparing it for worship will be at least $1500.

Before this building was bought an effort was made to buy the Baptist church on Hamilton street. The price asked, $2,500, was more than the congregation felt it could pay.

The church will occupy a historic site. The old building wrecked last week was generally known as having been part of a tavern in which Lincoln used to stop when practicing law in Sullivan. Some members of the American Legion, learning of Henry Ford's present past-time of buying Lincoln relics, offered to sell him this tavern, but no deal could be made.

The Church of Christ is in some ways similar to the Christian church, but its members live a stricter life insofar as worldly pleasures are concerned and do not believe in having musical instruments in their house of worship. One of the leading spirits in the local congregation is Noah Smith. Quite a number of the congregation's members are former residents of the Liberty church district southwest of this city, where worship is conducted along similar lines.

HACKETT-HOLLIS WEDDING SATURDAY

Miss Mary Louise Hollis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hollis, of Terre Haute, formerly of this city and Rolland Hackett of Chicago motored to this city Saturday and were married at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. L. L. Lawrence, that evening at 7:00 o'clock. They were attended by her mother, Mrs. Marie Hollis and her grandfather Charles Hollis also of that city. Mr. Hackett is employed in an electric office in Chicago where the newlyweds will make their future home. Immediately after the ceremony they drove back to Terre Haute where they will spend the next two weeks before going to their new home in Chicago.

WRIGHT HOUSE BEING PREPARED FOR TENANT

The S. W. Wright residence property bought last week by Appollis Hagerman is being given a thorough renovation. Painters and decorators were busy on the job this week. It has been rented to William Holston.

If an apartment house will be built it will be on the lots adjoining the present building on the west.

Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson spent the week end visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Riley at Greenville.

HOME FOLKS VISITED IN INDIANA SUNDAY

Mrs. Osa Ault accompanied by her son Harry Hill and wife, also her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Crowdson went on an auto trip to Oaktown, Ind., to visit friends and attend Memorial services at the Oaktown cemetery. Mrs. C. W. Crowdson's parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wiley, also a niece, Bessie Bond are buried in this cemetery.

Mrs. Harry Hill visited her father's grave in the Odd Fellow cemetery in Carlisle, Indiana.

Mrs. Osa Ault was a resident of Oaktown in 1908.

Council Passes Two Ordinances; New Library Plan

Shoe Factory Cannot Be Given Any Reduction in Water Rates; Cemetery Board Members Are Named.

The city council had a busy session Monday night. Two ordinances were passed, resolutions were presented and passed, permits granted, etc.

By the passage of Ordinance 292 the city vacates a street in the northeastern part on request of P. M. Hankla. This ordinance appears in full in this issue.

Ordinance No. 293 repeals all actions that the Library Board and council had taken relative to the purchase of the library and as embodied in Ordinance 291. City Attorney Jennings stated that it was planned to present a new library purchase plan to the council at its next meeting. Dr. J. F. Lawson now owns the building occupied by the Public Library. He bought it with the understanding that the Library board would work out some plan so it could finance the purchase of that part of the building which it occupies.

The Phelps Players, a treat show aggregation, was given a license to show on the Titus lot for six days beginning June 9th. The license fee for the six days is $50.

The Church of Christ congregation asked for a permit to move the Prairie Chapel which it recently bought, through the city streets to its lots, which are located west of the Jenkins Garage. This matter was referred to the streets and alleys committee with power to act.

By passage of a resolution the sum of $1000, a surplus in the city bond fund, was transferred to the fees and salaries fund.

After having given the matter due consideration the council decided that it could not legally grant the request of the Shoe Factory Committee of the Sullivan Community club for lower rates on water to be used in the Brown Shoe Factory. Under its agreement with the Brown Shoe Company the Community Club is to pay the factory's water bills for a period of ten years.

C. F. McClure and Fred D. Sona were named members of the cemetery management board. Request that certain streets be roped off during the celebration tonight (Friday) was granted.

WHY ALL THE ZEAL IN PROSECUTING THE OWNERS OF COWS?

The official machinery of Sullivan has been set to work enforcing Section 6 of Ordinance 12. This section prohibits the use of the alleys or streets for the purpose of grazing cows.

Several people, who did not see the notice about the enforcement of this ordinance in the papers last week, have been hailed before the bar of justice and fined. These folks had no intent to violate any law and in fact did not know that they were violating any.

The cows have been helping to keep down the weeds. Weeds on vacant lots are a greater nuisance by far than grazing cows. May we suggest that the honorable council take some steps to prosecute the owners of property who permit weeds to flourish and those who throw rubbish and ashes into the streets and in the ditches alongside. Everybody knows that weeds and rubbish are a nuisance that ought to be abated. As to whether or not a few harmless Jerseys staked out to feed are a nuisance, may be open to debate.

ROGER MARTIN KILTON BORN TUESDAY MORNING

A son was born Tuesday morning to Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Kilton. He has been named Roger Martin. This gives Richard a little brother and playmate.

OPENING TODAY; FACTORY WILL WORK MONDAY

Thousands Expected Here for the Celebration; How Employees Will Be Selected When Work Starts. Departments to Open as Needed.

Complete program for today's Brown Shoe Factory opening appears on page 8 of this issue.

Reports coming in indicate that thousands of visitors will be in Sullivan today.

Everything is in readiness at the factory. The band stand has been erected, the floors have been swept and when the throngs are shown through today they will see one of the most modern and up-to-date manufacturing plants in existence.

All of the sanitary fixtures, drinking fountains, etc., were given their final clean up and polish Thursday by the Hudson Chemical company.

The windows have all been washed and everything looks spick and span.

President Bush and other officials of the Brown Shoe Company will be here to participate in tonight's program.

Lieut. D. K. Campbell has been working to secure a big parade through the uptown. The parade will form at Freeland Grove at 7 o'clock. Everybody is asked to participate; automobiles, trucks, etc., are wanted in the parade. Decorate them if you have time to do so. The Sullivan Township High School band and the Arthur Drum corps will head the procession.

Monday morning at 7 o'clock work will begin at the factory. Applicants for jobs are asked to appear at the factory at that time and the necessary employees will be selected by the superintendents of the department needing them Monday. The cutting room (Continued on page 5, Col. 1)

Editorial

Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it; except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain.—1st verse Psalm 127.

We quote part of a letter sent out by the Brown Shoe Company to its dealers all over this country:
"BROWN SHOE COMPANY

"St. Louis

"To our Customers and Friends:

"Another milestone in the continued growth and success of Brown Shoe Company will be observed when the new Sullivan factory will be opened June 6th at Sullivan, Illinois. The addition of this—our seventeenth plant—increases our capacity to 75,000 pairs a day.

"The new Sullivan plant is a model factory, light, airy, clean and equipped with the latest in labor saving, up-to-date shoe machinery for making growing girl's, misses' and children's flexible McKays. We are preparing to make some wonderful values at Sullivan, which we are showing on the back page of this letter, although at this time we are not ready to quote prices. You will find these shoes outstanding in style, finish and 100% leather quality. There will be a tremendous demand for these shoes and if you want to be ready with these profitable numbers, let us have your orders on or after July 1st. The patterns are illustrated on the fourth page of this letter. *****

"Very truly yours,

"BROWN SHOE COMPANY.

John A. Bush, President."

WELCOME TO SULLIVAN; LET'S KEEP GOING THE CONTRADICTIONS OF THE CITY BY THE LAKE NEWSPAPERS GET LITTLE OF CAMPAIGN FUNDS

They're moving in. Most of the Sullivan houses that were vacant are now occupied. We see moving trucks on the streets daily. New people are coming to make Sullivan their home.

We see new faces on the streets. We are meeting people of whom we expect to see much in the future.

To all of these we say "Welcome to Sullivan" and we are certain that everybody else in this city echoes this welcome.

Today the Brown Shoe Factory has its formal opening and dedication. Monday morning the cutting and fitting departments will start work. Other departments of the big factory will soon thereafter start the wheels of their machines and soon a general routine will have been established and many people will be making shoes.

Sullivan today is like the lover who after a long and ardent courtship finally reaches the wedding day and can call his beloved his own. Sullivan long courted the favor of those who built shoe factories. The day of courting was long, the cost of the courtship was rather expensive.

With today's dedication the factory becomes the bride of the community, figuratively speaking. With a spirit of co-operation between the city and the factory officials, much good may be expected.

Instead of being an agricultural bachelor, Sullivan and its agricultural interests have now joined hands with a big manufacturing industry. Carrying the idea just a little further let us say—may they live long and happily together and may they prosper beyond their fondest expectation. May the off-spring be factory additions and payroll additions.

Today we celebrate. Thousands will be here by night to see our big factory.

We're glad they are here. We hope they will come often. Sullivan is a friendly city. From here on it will be a growing city.

Without any spirit of rivalry, or any silly and presumptuous airs, Sullivan can now forge forward and look toward a bigger and better future.

The job's not done—only started. The Community Club must remain on the job, aggressively and militantly working and battling for those things that will tend to develop Sullivan into the prosperous central Illinois city that we would like to have it be.

Is human life really such a sacred thing? We have always been taught that it was. Murder was generally regarded as the most damnable crime. Is it?

Life seems plentiful. Birth control is not depleting the human race very much. Not much attention is paid to murder these days.

These remarks are prompted by Chicago conditions. People are killed in Chicago every day.

The papers of that great metropolis carry items like this most every issue: "Eddie Spinachi, well known to police as a gangster and murderer, also as a lieutenant in the east side trade, and generally known to have participated in the kidnappings, was taken for a ride by some fellow from the west side gang. His body was riddled

One Hundred Twenty-eight Graduates of Moultrie Rural Schools

The above is a picture of the 128 graduates of the rural schools of Moultrie county who had their commencement exercises at the Township High School auditorium in this city Saturday afternoon. Rev. with bullets and tossed into a roadside ditch. The police suspect members of the Diaboli gang of having perpetrated the crime."

Now an item like that (the names are faked) seems full of dynamite. It is very similar to newspaper reports of the hundreds of Chicago murders. It is acknowledged that the police knew that the man slain was a crook of many illegal accomplishments. They admit knowing it. Why was he at large? Why do they tolerate "beer barons" in Chicago? Why do they tolerate murder?

You never hear of Chicago murderers getting hanged, unless once in a while they catch a nigger who has slit his wench's throat.

The only conclusion that we down-state folks can arrive at is that Chicago is too big a mass of humanity to govern itself intelligently. Not only is murder rampant there but the city government, the sanitary district and taxing system and the general financial condition seems honey-combed with graft and administered with inefficiency and dishonor.

The great spirit of Chicago builds and builds ever greater. In many ways this city is the pride of the present century, the marvel of the ages. Its builders stop at no obstacles. It is pushing Lake Michigan back and building skyscrapers where once the lake's waters lapped the sands of its shores.

Can a city that does such great things in many ways really lack ability to properly govern itself? Are the millions of decent law-abiding citizens in Chicago willing to permit forever the conditions that enable hoodlums and thieves to make murder a past-time and graft and corruption an openly conducted business?

Will Chicago furnish the convincing example that a big city is helpless before its criminals—willing to admit that its lawbreakers are stronger than its laws?

Chicago today contains half of the population of Illinois. In a few years more it will dominate the state in all its affairs. What then?

There is a general impression prevailing that big campaign expenditures are necessary in state campaigns because the candidates need a lot of publicity to bring their qualifications to the attention of the voters.

This is mostly hokum. The facts in the matter are that a very small part of a candidate's campaign expenditures are used to buy legitimate publicity. The newspapers get a very small share of the money that the candidates spend.

The candidates do not want that sort of publicity—at least do not want to pay for it. Within reasonable limitations that is an expenditure to which there can be no logical objection. People want information about the candidates and would like to read it in their newspapers.

The hundreds of thousands that Ruth Hanna McCormick spent in the April primary to buy herself the Republican nomination for United States Senator was spent in organization work, in hiring workers and in influencing voters to cast their ballots for her. Of course the votes were not bought out-right. That is entirely too crude. Instead of hiring voters to vote for a candidate they are hired to "work" for him. The great bulk of this campaign expenditure is handled by some "boss" in each county or city ward. It passes through many channels besmirching the electorate and putting the nominations for office on the auction block. The candidate who can turn loose the greatest flood of gold to permeate the ranks of the voters, is the candidate that will be ahead when the votes are counted. This applies not only to primaries but to elections as well.

Because of public indignation to this buying of nominations and offices on the parts of the candidates, they are becoming very foxy. They can so arrange their expenditure report as to show that very little of their own money was spent but that relatives, friends and organizations really put up the coin.

So if you had the idea that the candidates are spending millions for publicity to buy their way into office, be henceforth and forever undeceived. They don't want too much publicity. They want votes. It's easier to influence people with money than it is to educate them.

Unless voters put their emphatic disapproval on campaigns like Mrs. McCormick's, primaries and elections will be a sham and a mockery. The candidate with the biggest slush fund, gets the votes and the office.

SENATE COMMITTEE IS INVESTIGATING PRIMARY EXPENSES IN ILLINOIS

The Progress last week received the following letter from Chairman Nye of United States Senate select committee on Senatorial Campaign Expenditures.

The letter shows how thoroughly the committee is prying into the matter of how much money Mrs. McCormick and Senator Deenen spent. The Progress answer to Senator Nye's letter is also reproduced herewith.

United States Senate
May 27, 1930.

Mr. Ed C. Brandenburg, Editor, Progress, Sullivan, Illinois.

My dear Mr. Brandenburg:

This Committee, which is charged with conduct of an investigation of Senatorial Campaign Expenditures, will greatly appreciate your cooperation to the extent of furnishing such information as is requested herein.

We desire, first of all a statement of advertising published by you for any candidate or candidates for the United States Senate in the recent primary election held in your State. We desire, second, a copy of each such advertisement and a statement of the amount charged and received for such advertisement, and finally, information as to who ordered the advertising and who paid for it. We assume that a large part of such advertising was done through advertising agencies, in which event we shall appreciate your stating the name of the agency giving you the business.

The Committee will also appreciate it if you will indicate any compensation received by you or your paper for services rendered a candidate for the Senate, removed from direct newspaper advertising.

You will accommodate the committee greatly if you will send this information at the earliest possible date, and we thank you in anticipation of your cooperation. Sincerely yours, Gerald P. Nye, Chairman.

May 29, 1930.

Hon. Gerald Nye, United States Senate.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your inquiry of May 27th, will state The Sullivan Progress did not in any way, shape or form receive or publish any paid advertisement for any of the candidates for the nominations for United States Senator in the recent Illinois primary.

The undersigned received no compensation in his capacity as editor or otherwise for any service rendered any of the candidates. The only thing this office received from any of the candidates during the campaign was a plentiful supply of political pamphlets all of which were promptly routed to the waste basket.

If we can be of any further assistance to you or your committee, kindly command us.

Your very truly
Ed C. Brandenburg,
Editor The Sullivan Progress.

Wahrheit und Dumheit

Friendly bootlegger: "Looks like rain."

Flaming Youth: "Yes it does, but it tastes faintly of yeast."

Modern wife: "I want a divorce, what'll it cost me?"

Lawyer: "About $250 if he does not protest the action. $500 if he does."

Modern wife: "Why you dirty robber, don't you know that I can get him shot for $10 and they'll throw in a nice farewell ride in the bargain."

Every week we have fellows ask us, "Why don't somebody run a 'Corner' in your paper like Tenny Bolin used to? We'd read that adv. before we'd read anything else."

NOBODY KNOWS

Down on the farm where the tall corn grows,

Where cockle-burs bloom with inward grief;

Where the sun shines hot, and nobody knows

When the farmers will get relief.

Down on the farm where the winesap grows,

Where robins sing and the soil is tilled;

Where the taxes jump, and nobody knows

When a promise will be fulfilled

Down on the farm where the wealth all grows,

Where prices slump when the crops are made;

Where you get what you can, and nobody knows

How it's done—but the Board of Trade.

Teacher—"What is the interest on a thousand dollars for one year at 2%—Leo, please pay attention."

Leo Horn (Banker's Son) 'At 2 per cent, I'm not interested.'

"Yes we had a great time in camp" bragged the returned tourist. "Sometimes we even fished at night. See that big fish I had mounted. Well, I caught that in my pajamas."

Admiring friend: "You don't say so; how in the world did it get in there?"

Sunday, June 1st was the 11th anniversary of the publisher's ownership of The Sullivan Progress. On behalf of himself and family the publisher desires to thank this community for putting up with us this long. We have found Sullivan a fine place to live and work.

We also thank the hundreds of Progress subscribers, scattered far and wide, for their loyal support. Sometimes we are not so very proud of the papers we send you, but at other times we are conceited enough to think that, everything considered, we're giving you a pretty good paper. Being a publisher of a small town paper is a sort of two-time job. You've got to work in a professional way, trying to produce something that shows class, and then you've got to dig and plan so as to hold up the business end of the proposition and gather in some money once in a while to buy eats and gas and shirts and sox and those other things that go to make up the life of a newspaper man's family nowadays.

The Progress, aside from any wet or dry sympathies it may have, has for many years cherished the belief that the Anti-Saloon League consists of an aggregation of grafters. As this League has posed as a sort of religious institution and has solicited its funds from the churches, Sunday Schools and temperance societies, many people doubtless have not agreed with our view on this matter. We have contended that the money collected is not spent to further the cause of temperance, but that most of it adheres to the palms of the collectors and that the balance is used politically. Up at Washington the Senate has been investigating the Anti-Saloon League recently. From Rev. Scott McBride's reports it was learned that the sum of $5,315,498 has been collected by the League in the past 5 years. The same report shows that it cost the League $3,920,434 to collect this amount. This shows that out of every $5 collected about $1.00 goes to the work of the League and $4 goes to the league workers.

And the worst part of this transaction is that the money is taken from churches and Sunday schools which are always sorely in need. How long will the Christian people be willing to finance this graft?

Sunday school teacher—"Willie Jones, stand up and tell the class what the three wise men from the east did?"

Willie Jones—"Please teacher, they laughed at the farmers in the west that believed in President Hoover's farm relief measures."

The Way of Life

BY BRUCE BARTON

WE CAN'T FIGHT CHANGE

When I was a small boy in the country we had a good old neighbor named Daniel Roe, who owned a cranberry meadow. He brought the water for flooding his meadow through a deep ditch from a lake about a quarter a mile away.

Half of every summer of his life he spent digging out the dirt and stones which had fallen into that ditch.

We kids used to go over and watch him dig. There was a big stone by the side of the ditch which was shaped roughly like an arm chair. There he would eat his lunch at noon, and smoke his pipe. We called the stone Mr. Roe's chair.

In fullness of time he died. His son sold the meadow, and it was abandoned. My father bought the ditch, most of which ran through our woods, and every summer we fill a little piece of it up with junk and garbage and cover it over with dirt.

Last summer I walked through the woods and stopped at Mr. Roe's chair. Already the ditch is half destroyed. In five years more it will be gone.

All his sweat and strain and backache for nothing. No trace of his life work left!

In a New York club I talked with an eminent architect, who said that the glorious days had vanished from his profession. The architects of Greece and Rome left monuments that are eternal. The modern architect has no such hope. He himself had designed three houses in New York so magnificent that he expected them to carry his name to future generations. All three have been torn down to make way for apartment buildings.

I talked with a clergyman who had recently visited a city parish where he had labored successfully thirty years ago. That portion of the city has now become a slum. The old families have scattered to the suburbs. The church is closed.

"What is left?" he exclaimed sadly, "to show for all my labor?"

I told him that people are left—the sons and daughters of the men and women to whom his sermons were preached.

"Your hearers trained their children in righteousness," I said, "and they will train their children."

We can't fight change, and it is well that we can't. How dull life would be if everything were permanent. How wonderful that each new generation has the fun of taking the world apart and putting it together again.

The church may be closed, the house torn down, the ditch filled up. But Mr. Roe and the architect and the preacher each built a monument in the lives of the people whom he served.

We can do as much: and it is all that we can do.

eight billion dollars.

Then, too, concludes Mr. Downs "the railroads are mindful of the great responsibility resting upon them by reason of the essential nature of their work. They are proud of their record of service in the past, but at the same time they are steadily increasing their capacity and efficiency."

New ISO-VIS lubricates properly at all engine temperatures. Some oils—satisfactory at low temperatures—do not stand up under intense heat. Others that are heat resisting refuse to flow in cold weather. New Iso-Vis strides from one end of the thermometer to the other.

To GET a motor oil that would stand up under sizzling heat and yet flow freely in cold weather, our engineers after long research, developed a new refining process. New Iso-Vis is a Wholly Distilled Oil. No undistilled parts of the crude have to be added to give it body as is the case with most oils. Only in March was it put on the market . . . after six months of the most careful checking.

Besides its heat and cold resisting feature, this improved oil deposits far less carbon than most oils. And by a special patented process, New Iso-Vis is prepared so that it will not thin out in your crankcase.

New Iso-Vis will add miles to the life of your car. Your engine can be drained, flushed and filled with New Iso-Vis at any Standard Oil dealer or service station.

The Family Doctor

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M. D.

"THE BACKBONE"

The center-pole of the human "circus-tent," flippantly speaking. A column of vertebrae set one upon another, and bound together by the toughest and most durable of fibrous tissue known.

Its outstanding purposes are, first, to provide a very secure housing for that most important, major bundle of nerves called the spinal cord; it is a housing which is almost invulnerable against outside influence, and only the most violent force can break its continuity. Second, it must permit motion necessary for almost every phase of human activity, in which respect it is certainly a marvel of divine construction. It is built to stand a hundred years of active service—a thing no human contrivance can do.

I believe the human lumbar spine is the most powerful animal structure of which we have knowledge.

And yet, there are individuals who suppose that the segments called vertebrae slip about and oc-come "luxated" as easily as would a string of spoons, the plaything of a child of the seamstress. And, I have met people who honestly believed that all diseases of men and women are caused by the spinal vertebrae slipping from their hard and fast moorings; and that all such ailments can be put to rout by the proper replacement of the "slipped" vertebrae!

And, I know a good many people who don't believe anything of the kind—being one myself; I wouldn't want my vertebrae skidder around, even if such a thing were possible; in fact, a great Creator fashioned man so as to keep that very thing from being done.

Nevertheless, there is good in everything—including a sock in the spine. A sudden impact against the locality of a nerve trunk is a valuable stimulant in certain conditions; I have seen good done in that way, hence do not condemn the intelligent use of the short-arm jolt, or the Leyden-jar spark—in fact anything used with capable understanding.

Raymond Shasteen and family, Ross Thomas and family, Mrs. John Floyd and daughter, Mrs. Manuel Sipes and Victor Lander, spent Friday with Mrs. Carrie Landers.

Clifford Davis and family spent Friday afternoon in Sullivan.

Bob Haley and family of Decatur and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Campbell spent Sunday with John Bathe and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ward and son spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Thomas.

RAILROADS ANNUALLY CARRY $68,000,000,000 WORTH

In more ways than one the railroads of the United States are "delivering the goods," according to President L. A. Downs of the Illinois Central System, who takes railway performance as the topic for his June letter to the public.

In the first place, the railroads serve everybody and in every conceivable way, Mr. Downs points out. They serve the individual, the home, agriculture and industry by carrying everything that contributes to our national economy.

A MATCH By Algernon Chas. Swinburne

If love were what the rose is, And I were like the leaf, Our lives would grow together In sad or singing weather,

If I were what the words are, And love were like the tune, With double sound and single Delight our lips would mingle

If you were life, my darling, And I your love were death, We'd shine and snow together Ere March made sweet the weather

If you were thrall to sorrow, And I were page to joy, We'd play for lives and seasons With loving looks and treasons

If you were April's lady, And I were lord of May, We'd throw with leaves for hours And draw for days with flowers,

If you were queen of pleasure, And I were king of pain, We'd hunt down love together, Pluck out his flying-feather,

PAUL STROHM NEW MANAGER OF ZUP'S TEAM

Paul H. Strohm, of Lovington, who will be a senior at the University of Illinois in 1931, has been made senior manager of the football team. This is a signal honor, not only for Mr. Strohm and for Lovington, but for Moultrie county as well.

Paul was recently made Eminent Commander of Gamma Mu chapter of Sigma Nu fraternity, which position he also will hold next year. He succeeds "Bud" Jolley, of Chicago, one of Coach Jup's varsity stars.

Sigma Nu will build a new chapter house next year. It will contain 16 study rooms and accommodations for 32 students.

7,500,000 IN ILLINOIS

It is estimated that the Illinois census returns will show a population of 7,500,000 for the state. This will be an increase of about 1,000,000 since 1920. Over half of these people live in Chicago.

George Neff will be in charge here—Arthur Graphic Clarion.

WILL MOVE TO SHELBYVILLE

"I understand your husband can't meet his creditors." "I don't believe he want to, particularly"

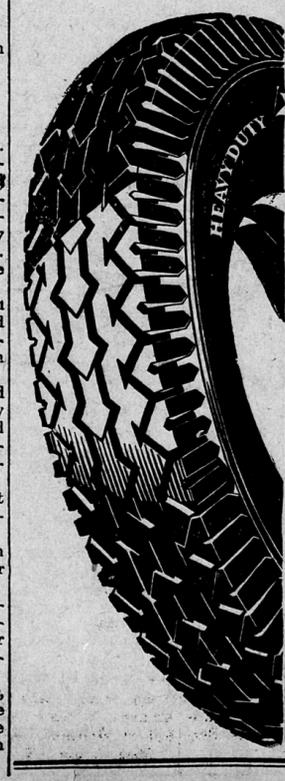

George, whose only means of support was his rich father, was being married. Everything went well until the bridegroom had to repeat the words: "With all my worldly goods I thee endow."

The congregation was then startled to hear a moan from his father. "Gracious!" he muttered. "There goes his bicycle."

N. Y. Woman Lost
14 Pounds of Fat

One 85 Cent Bottle of Kruschen Salts Did It

"I am starting on my second bottle of Kruschen Salts and am real pleased with results. I take it for reducing and so far have lost 14 pounds and I think it is doing wonders for me. I do not feel so tired evenings when I get home from work."

A generous bottle of Kruschen Salts that last 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at Sam B. Hall's or any drugstore in America—take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut down on starches and walk a little each day.

Before the bottle is empty surplus fat is leaving you—indolence changes to activity—you'll feel younger—eyes will brighten—step grows spry. Millions know this—you ought to know it. Kruschen Salts is the ideal treatment for constipation, indigestion, headaches, nervousness and acidity.

Miss Nobody from Nowhere

BY ELIZABETH JORDAN

SEVENTH INSTALLMENT

"There's somethin' I'd rather you'd do. 'Twould help an awful lot if you'd do it," Ivy urgently added.

"What is it?" Eve asked the question without suspicion. Her mind centered on the girl's condition—surely a serious one for a dancer. Ivy's next words startled her.

"It's my job," she muttered. "I'm goin' to lose it; that's all." "Oh! I'm sorry!" "Yep. Jake said he didn't want to be hard on me, but he couldn't be left in the lurch again. So the next time I didn't come or send a substitute, it would be the air for mine."

"I see." Eve saw with a clearness that made her wince. Evidently Miss Davenport expected a great deal from her fellow-beings. She would not have been surprised if this stranger in her room, having put her to bed and eased her pain, now announced her intention of substituting for her at the cabaret and at once departed to do so. She herself had already shown that she was a friend in need. Probably her associates also were the kind who did that sort of thing—But Jake's! To dance at Jake's! Eve felt that she had definite limitations and that one of them had been reached.

"You oughtn't to talk," she restlessly pointed out.

"If you'd go up there and report to Jake, you could bluff your way through the dances," Ivy hurried on. "You'd do fine. The other girls'd help you, if you tol' 'em what it meant. The fellas would, too. They're all my friends. They'd see you weren't put up against it, 'cause they'd know you was tryin' to help me."

"But, good Heavens, I can't—!" Eve became conscious of her tone and checked her words, appalled. This girl had come to her days ago, offering her a job because she believed her to be down and out. Now it was clearly up to her to reciprocate. The demand was a wild one, of course, but surely she was the last human being who should fail any one in trouble. She thought of Hamilton—the swift willingness with which he had come to her help in her crisis. She could never repay him, but here was a chance to pass on the mercy and kindness he had shown her. This girl's job was at stake, her very bread and butter. As for herself, she could stand it at Jake's for one night, whatever possibilities Jake's might hold.

She leaned over the bed in which Ivy now lay in the exhaustion of extreme pain. "Tell me what you want me to do," she said kindly, "and I'll try to do it. What bluff must I make?" She was rewarded by the look in the other girl's face as she struggled up on an elbow. "There's nothin' to it," she said eagerly. "Even if you can't dance all the dances—an' I'm bettin' you can—it'll help if you just go there and tell Jake how t'is, and offer to take my place. Talk to him first and then go to the dressin'-room. Ask for Queenie Morris. She's Jake's head hostess. She's my pal,

"I understand. But—you're quite sure Jake's place is all right? The girl in the bed was spent by the effort of talking as much as she had done, but she rallied to this question. "I'll tell the world it is," she brought out. "Don't you get no idea of white slave stuff. There's nothin' like it at Jake's. Straight business, on the level, good eats, good music, a pretty good crowd—and Jimmy Murphy on the spot to throw out rough ones. It ain't a club. Most any one can get it, but they can't stay in 'less they behave. The substitutes git three dollars for the night and a five-cent card fer every dance they give visitors, besides their tips. You'll git that tonight of course. All I'm worrin' about is to hold my place for the winter. See what I mean?"

Eve could not help wondering how on a few dollars a night, Miss Davenport's income ran to apartments, silk lingerie, over-stuffed furniture, and painted beds. As if the sick girl had read the thought, she hurried on: "You'll knock down six or eight dollars a night without tryin'. I make ten or twelve. Any guy that is a real guy'll slip you a dollar or two for dancin' with him a lot, 'specially if he lands on your feet most of the time. An' there's always some guy will pay for your supper too. Say—" she asked the question with sudden anxiety—"you got anything to wear?"

Eve looked at her blankly. "No. I didn't bring any evening dress."

"Then take one o' mine, any you like. You an' me's about the same size. But hurry. That closet—see?"

Eve hurried and selected the least flamboyant of Miss Davenport's several dancing gowns—a fairly simple creation in white and silver.

"The slippers to match is on the top shelf." Eve found the slippers without difficulty. Evidently Miss Davenport had a sense of order. They were a trifle large, but, like the gown, they passed muster. Ivy, blue-white around the mouth, approved the result, and Eve also received from the long mirror in the living-room the assurance that it was not bad.

"I only got one evenin' wrap," Ivy confessed, "but it goes with 'most anything." It did.

"Do I have to dance with every one that asks me?" Eve inquired, when she was ready to leave.

Ivy looked at her with a flicker in her pain-filled eyes. "Say, haven't you never even been in a cabaret?" As Eve did not reply, she answered the question. "Course you got to dance with 'em if you wanta make a hit. The big features is the program dances but the men are there for a good time, an' you gotta help. If they ain't perfect gentlemen you tip the wink to Jimmy an' he gives 'em the air. But it's like I told you, she added faintly. "You do what I said. If you can't dance or don't wanta, they'll all help you out. They're my friends" she weakly ended.

Within the next hour, when she had reached Jake's, Eve discovered that Miss Davenport had not overrated her own popularity. Jake was in the fastness of his private office, a small partitioned retreat off the main floor. Eve's modest request to see the manager combined with the mention of Miss Davenport's name, procured an immediate audience with him.

He was dressed in immaculate evening clothes and his brilliant hair clung to his head like thick black paste. He turned upon her the unwinking gaze of two remote black eyes and waited for what she had to say.

"I've come to substitute for Miss Davenport," Eve explained. "She's matter 'ith her?"

"She's sick."

"Again eh?"

The personal charm of Jake, as set forth by Miss Davenport, was escaping Eve thus far.

"'Sure name?" he ended.

"Berson." Eve had decided to accept Miss Davenport's version.

"'Sure address?"

"The same as hers."

"Know howt' dance?"

"Miss Davenport says I do. I can't do solo-work, but I think I can get along in the other dances."

"'Slope so. Awright. Report t' ' Morris."

Eve followed to its end the narrow passage he had indicated, guided by the sound of voices. The door of a room at the right was yawning slightly and a glance through the opening suggested that here was her destination. Half a dozen girls in evening gowns occupied its limited space, lending themselves to various occupations. One, in the only easy-chair, sat holding a hand-glass and touching up an already striking facial color scheme. A second was down on a knee, sewing the beginning of a run in the top of one of her silk stockings. A third fluffed her bobbed hair before a full-length mirror, and the remaining three, were smoking and resting. Eve tapped the door panel and waited on the threshold. No one answered, so she pushed the door wide.

"Pardon. Where shall I find the head hostess—Miss Morris?" she asked.

The girl who was sewing the stocking run raised her eyes from the absorbing task.

"Right here," she said brusquely. Her manner implied that she could endure "runs" but not interruptions.

Miss Davenport told me to come to you," Eve explained. "She is sick."

"Again!" Miss Morris's exclamation held more sympathy than Jake's, and she added briskly, "Gawd! the poor kid!"

"I'm substituting for her," Eve continued, with a smile. "At least I'm trying to."

The information interested all the girls. Miss Morris nodded.

"Fine," she said heartily. "Stick around till I finish this damned thing, and I'll put you wise to what you gotta do."

Eve entered the crowded room. One of the smokers spoke languidly.

"Wat's eatin' Ivy?" she wanted to know. "Same ol' thing?"

She was a tall girl with green eyes, a superb figure, regular features, and red hair as closely cut as Jake's. She had a look of distinction, a voice as harsh and shrill as a Russian's, and her accent was the one heard in New York's lowest East Side slums.

"Yes. She says she's had such attacks before."

"I'll tell the world she has. They're the t'ings she ain't got nothin' else but. I'm wonderin' how long Jake'll stand for it," the tall girl drawled.

"Don't strain your mind tryin' to think, Maizie. But if you really wanta know, I'll say Jake'll stand for it as long as Ivy can dance better than the rest of us. You ain't feelin' up to Ivy's acrobatic waltz yourself, are you?"

Eve decided that she liked Miss Morris. Queenie having thus suppressed Maizie, and also conquered the run, now felt up to other duties. She rose, shook out her skirt, cast a critical glance at the reflection of her legs in the long mirror and turned to the new comer, prepared to give her undivided attention.

"Set down," she invited. "Here Stella, don't be a pig!"

She seized the legs of the girl called Stella, a tired-looking and plain-faced young person who was lying at full length on the room's one couch, and swung them to the floor. Stella retrieved the cigarette dislodged from her lips by the briskness of this maneuver, and gloomily huddled in the couch's top corner. Miss Morris pressed the visitor into part of the vacated space and fitted herself into what was left.

"What's your label?" she asked.

"Berson."

"New in the business?"

"Yes."

"I thought so." Miss Morris had the air of one adjusting her shoulders to a burden. "Well, things don't light up here till the theatre crowd blows in," she resumed, "and that ain't for ten or fifteen minutes yet."

FAIRS ASKED NOT TO DO ADVERTISING WITH SIGNS ALONG HIGHWAYS

Springfield, Ill., June 3—In the interest of public safety, agricultural fairs of Illinois will be urged to refrain from displaying advertising on public highways this year.

That decision was reached here recently by a group of county fair officials who met in Springfield recently at the call of C. C. Mast, of Quincy, vice-president of the Illinois Association of Agricultural Fairs, to discuss this year's premium offerings with Director Stuart E. Pierson of the department of agriculture.

During the course of the conference, the question of highway advertising was mentioned. Director Pierson informed the fair officials that the Illinois State Fair management would not place its signs on the highways, and suggested that the county fairs follow the same course.

Later, when the fair men approached Director H. H. Cleveland of the department of public works and buildings, on the same question he pointed to the example set by the state fair.

It was then that the fair officials who were present decided against posting advertising on rights-of-way of the state's road systems. This marks a departure from their usual custom.

Under the law, only official highway signs may be displayed on road rights-of-way.

Delivering the Goods

The railroads of the country go everywhere and carry everything, and thus they enter into every phase of modern life. The vast flow of goods that moves over their lines is proof of the diversity and immensity of needs and desires in a great nation where a high standard of living prevails. Truly the railroads serve everybody and in every conceivable way.

The railroads serve the individual by carrying food and clothing. They serve the home by transporting building materials and fuel. They serve agriculture by hauling seed, stock and implements and farm products. They serve industry by moving raw materials and manufactured goods. In fact, everything that contributes to our national economic productivity enters into the great stream of traffic that unceasingly pours through the nationwide channels provided by the railroads.

Altogether this traffic stream is made up of approximately 25,000 classifications of commodities, some of which in turn comprise hundreds of different items. The value at destination of a year's shipments by rail in the United States was recently estimated as being approximately sixty-eight billion dollars.

The railroads are mindful of the great responsibility resting upon them by reason of the essential nature of their work. They are proud of their record of service in the past, but at the same time they are steadily increasing their capacity and efficiency. With the continued good will of the public, they can be relied upon to advance constantly in usefulness to the nation.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

SUPERFEX

OIL-BURNING REFRIGERATOR

Made by Perfection Stove Company

Easy Terms

HERE'S the modern iceless refrigerator for country homes. Superfex makes its own continuous food-preserving cold from oil heat—better and cheaper than ice. Just light it once a day and leave it. The burners generate 24 to 36 hours' dependable refrigeration in about an hour and a half—then go out automatically. That's all; no moving parts. Sturdy steel construction, porcelain lined. Pays for itself in food and time saved. Uses only a few cents worth of kerosene daily. A Superfex is also available for use with natural, manufactured or tanked gases; semi-automatic control.

Telephone today for further information, or come in and see Superfex work. Reasonable prices. Easy terms.

here's something new in legal procedure

In Judge L. Lambrecht's court this week Martin Pacotti of Lovington was held to the September grand jury under bond of $2,000 on a bastardy charge. The charge is brought by Mabel Foley, who claims that Pacotti is the father of her unborn child. The Foley woman is married and lives with her husband.

COVENTRYS ARE BACK

Jesse Coventry and family who have been conducting a restaurant in Lovington for the past few months have moved back to Sullivan and now occupy the place which was formerly the Harvey Ledbetter home, now owned by Hagerman & Harshman. This place has been remodelled and Mr. Coventry will conduct a rooming and eating house. It is just a block east of the new shoe factory.

Church Notes

ST. COLUMBA'S CHURCH

Church services will be held at St. Columba's Catholic church on Sunday morning at 10 a. m.

GOSPEL MISSION

9:30 a. m. Sunday school.

6:30 p. m. Y. P. meeting.

7:30 p. m. Evangelistic services

7:30 p. m. Prayer meeting on Thursday.

The meetings grow better each Sunday. Bro. Ridgway's interest grows greater. You are invited to worship with us.

Gal. 6:7—Be not deceived, God is not mocked."

This solemn warning, which through the centuries has been hurled out over the heads of Christian people to the sinner, was written to the Christian. While it may well be applied to the sinner, it is well for the Christian to not overlook the warning. The devil is in the world today to deceive mankind, and he works just as hard on the Christian, if not more so than on the unsaved. Many false teachers are abroad in the land today, and we find them in places where we should not expect to, therefore many are deceived. Perhaps Eve did not expect to find the devil in the garden, yet it should have been enough for her that God had said "Thou shalt not". We may not expect to find the devil in the churches, yet the Lord said there would be false teachers come among us. He has given us the Holy Spirit to lead us into all truth, and we need not be deceived. The devil would like for you to be a church member, but the Word says, Be filled with the spirit. Such an operation the devil will resist. He would have you believe a spirit filled life unnecessary.

METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. L. L. Lawrence, pastor

Church school 9:30 a. m.

Morning worship 10:45 a. m.

Epworth League 7:00 p. m.

Evening worship 8:00

The members of the choir will meet at the church Saturday night for rehearsal. It is important and urgently requested that all the members be present.

The boys of Mr. Lawrence's church school class will meet at the parsonage Saturday morning at 6:30, equipped with food and other necessities, for a hike to the river. Breakfast and lunch will be cooked at the river. In case of rain the hike will be postponed.

Sunday is Children's Day. We will have a short program. At the morning worship hour the Christening service will be held for babies and children. Adults are cordially invited to partake of baptism and church membership with the children, if that is their desire. Children's Day can be a great family day of Christening and church reception if the father and mother want to make it such.

A new series of Epworth League devotional topics was instituted last Sunday night at the Epworth League meeting. Mr. Lawrence gave the first of a series of talks on the subject: What and Where is God? The young people gave a list of questions following the meeting and these questions will be discussed and answered by Mr. Lawrence each Sunday night at League service. Some questions:

How can there be a Power powerful enough to create the universe?

How could God, if Spirit, be crucified?

Why are we here?

What was the beginning? Was there a beginning before God in the beginning?

Why is there a world order?

How did the three I Ws men know that Jesus was to be the Messiah?

Was Christ God? Does God have a body? Could He become a man? Was Jesus God, or a good man only?

Can God die?

The Leaguers will present questions each Sunday night and they will be discussed on the following Sunday night at the League service. We invite the young people to come and bring their questions with them. No one will be called on to answer any question, but time and permission is given for free and open discussion.

The Ladies Aid met at church Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.

The King's Her-lds met at the parsonage Tuesday afternoon.

This Sunday is Pentecost Sunday, it ought to be a great day, but it ought to make us desire to increase our Christian faith and practice every day. Pentecost 1900 years ago was an outpouring of the Holy Spirit never before known in such manner and never known since then in so great a manner. But the Spirit can fill us too if we give it the way fully.

The District Epworth League meeting will be held in Mattoon, next Thursday. All Leaguers are invited to attend. Make your arrangements for transportation. Registration fee is 15c; Lunch is 35c and evening meal 50c.

THE WEATHER

Light frost Saturday morning and about 90 in the shade the rest of the time. That shows the extremes of weather this part of Illinois has had this week. The frost does not seem to have done much harm—in fact no harm at all so far as can be learned.

The much needed rain is still much-needed. As this is written Thursday afternoon, the clouds are piling up in the west and prospects for a shower look good. A few heavy drops splattered down this morning. Oats is heading out and will be short. Pastures are getting very short. Lawns are looking sere and brown and gardens are not doing much good. The corn looks better than might be expected, due to the fact that it was planted into a well worked seed bed and has been diligently cultivated since its sprouts have shown above ground.

It may rain for our factory opening, but that's all right. We'll all be celebrating and singing in the rain. Who cares for a little dampness.

We got our factory; we got our right of way for route 132, now if we get a nice soaking rain—what more can we ask for? Of course as time goes by we'll ask for lots more. The city or the man who is not always asking for and trying to get something more is dead. Steer clear of things that are dead but don't know it.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

C. E. Barnett, pastor

Pentecost, Lord's day, June 8, 1930 we are observing the nineteenth-hundredth birthday of the church of Christ. The day toward which we have been looking is at hand. Will we measure up to our u surnished the music. Marjorie Returns from letters mailed to the membership indicate there will not be one hundred percent attendance at Communion Pentecost Sunday. Indeed we could not reasonably expect that every member could be present. This, however should stir those who can attend to a sincere desire and an honest effort to present themselves in the house of God on this 1900th anniversary of the birth of the Church of Christ.

The entire second chapter of Acts will be read "I Love Thy Kingdom Lord" "My Faith Looks up to Thee" and kindred songs will be sung. There will be two special numbers by the choir and the pastor will preach. Sermon subject at 10:40 a. m. "Pentecost, The Birthday of the Church."

Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Supt. Hill is urging a large attendance and that all stay for church services. A brief special program will be given.

At the evening hour, sermon by the pastor, completing the Pentecostal messages as per world wide plans.
