74TH. YEAR NO. 31

ROAD WORK STARTS OFF ON RT. 132

Graders for Slab and Bridge are Busy. Two Culvert Building Crews and One Bridge Building Outfit Rapidly Pushing Work.

Work on route 132 is getting under way in fine shape. E. R. Kelley of Charleston is putting three grading outfits on the job.

The Moore Bros. Construction company that has the contract for building the road has sublet a bridge north of Bethany to the Haas construction company of Belleville.

The Sullivan Concrete Works has one crew on the job building culverts and a contractor named King of St. Louis is also on the culvert building job.

The Watts Construction company of Winchester has started work on the river bridge and Bob Isaacs, who was the state highway department representative on the Jonathan Creek job east of town, has moved to Bethany and is bossing the big bridge job for the state.

It is stated that Moore Brothers expect to put two concrete paving outfits on the job as soon as the grading has progressed sufficiently to make it advisable to do so.

VIDA FREESE ACCEPTS POSITION AT LAGRANGE

Several of the grade school teachers and others who formerly taught in the grades have accepted positions elsewhere for the next school terms: Miss Vida Freese accepted a position at LaGrange; Miss Mabel Cazier will also teach at LaGrange; Miss Gertrude McClure will teach in Maywood; Miss Cleo Wood will be at Oak Park and Kenneth Roney will teach in Shelbyville.

Family Tickets New Feature of The Chautauqua

Arrangements Made so People can Afford to Take the Whole Family to See Programs at Small Financial Outlay.

A new feature of Sullivan's Chautauqua this year are the family tickets that can be bought for only $5.00 for the whole big five days of entertainment. This is the first year that family tickets are being sold. Heretofore the price has been $2 for grownups and half price for children. This year the price for grownups is $2 as usual but a family that has several children can buy a family ticket and thus save on price of admission. Miss Mayne Patterson who is president of this year's chautauqua expects many to take advantage of this family ticket plan. See adv. for dates and programs. Plan now to attend.

OIL ELECTIONS IN THREE TOWNSHIPS NEXT WEDNESDAY

Sullivan, Marrowbone and East Nelson townships will vote next Tuesday whether or not they are to continue to levy taxes for the oiling of township roads.

No organized opposition has appeared to these projects, but the people who want the oiling continued, will have to go to the polls and vote or the "No's" may carry the election.

Voting will be at the usual polling places and polls will open at 7 a. m. and close at 5 p. m.

IS BANKRUPT

Hal Atchison, Lovington township farmer has filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy. He lists his debts as $12,229.56 and gives his assets as $75.00.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

George Albert Gritzmacher, 25, of Sullivan. Wilma Lottie Bennett, 18, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SULLIVAN TO HAVE FOUR ADDITIONAL BOULEVARD STOPS

Sullivan now has boulevard stops at all streets that intersect Hamilton street, which is state route 32.

After the completion of route 132 the same condition will prevail on all streets that intersect Jackson street on which this route passes through the city.

In its new traffic ordinance which it adopted recently the city designated that the following boulevard stops be observed: The intersection of Jackson and Hamilton streets. The intersection of Main and Jackson streets. The intersection of Worth and Jackson streets.

South Main street at its intersection with Water street. This stop applies only to cars driving south and not to cars driving north. All of these stops will be plainly marked and a penalty applies to all who fail to heed it.

These are now the four most dangerous intersections in this city and several accidents have occurred at some of these places in the past years.

MINOR P.T.A PICNIC

The Minor P. T. A. will hold its annual picnic at Pifer's park, Sunday, August 10. Members and friends cordially invited.

New Library Equipment For Twp. High School

Valuable Addition to Educational Facilities Being Installed. Decatur Herald Misrepresents the Schools Financial Conditions.

One of the largest rooms on the second floor in the Sullivan township high school is being equipped for a school library. The room has undergone a thorough renovation and new fixtures have been ordered.

These fixtures include open shelves sufficient to take care of about 2500 volumes, 8 reading tables and 40 chairs, a magazine rack, and dictionary stand and special library desk.

The library is a necessary addition to the school equipment if the school is to maintain its present high accredited position.

Most of the books are already owned by the school, having accumulated since its establishment. New books are added from time to time to keep it up to date.

The new library will make it possible for as many as 40 pupils to use it at the same time.

Decatur Misrepresents An article headed "Sullivan H. S. Board will begin year with insufficient funds" which appeared in the Decatur Herald last week was misleading. It left the inference that the school district was deeply in debt and financially embarrassed. This is not the case. The district is in better shape financially than it has been since its organization. It has a substantial balance in the treasury at this time with all debts paid. Some years ago the taxes which were received in the spring were insufficient to pay outstanding vouchers. This leaves a deficit between school terms.

The banks will have to carry vouchers next fall after the first month or two of school, but very few school organizations always have a sufficient fund to be able to pay all vouchers without an arrangement of this kind. The interest paid to banks for the vouchers they carry does not amount to a great deal. The Decatur article stated that the balance on hand was what remained from taxes and the school's share of the "state distributive fund." A high school does not receive any distributive fund from the state.

Would Tax-payers Approve? The high school board could easily secure enough money to carry a large balance in the banks during the vacation period. This could be done by increasing the tax levy, which is considerably below what the law allows. This would be false economy and would be taking money out of the pockets of the taxpayers and building a big bank reserve for which there is no real need.

The Decatur article among other misinformation concludes with this paragraph: "Unless the High school district gets an increased revenue through a higher levy to wipe out the existing deficit, it is believed it will be necessary to pay interest on outstanding warrants for several years before economies in administration of the school provides a working balance."

This paragraph is misleading when it refers to a "deficit." There is none. The working balance could easily be secured by an increased tax levy, but such action, if understood by the patrons of the district, would doubtless meet with their hearty disapproval.

Very few high school districts are in better shape financially than is the Sullivan Township High School. New improvement plans now under consideration do not look toward any increase in taxation. The affairs of the school are economically administered.

CLARA ROBINSON HAS GONE TO FAIRFIELD, IA.

Miss Clara Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Robinson left Saturday for Fairfield, Iowa where she will enter the employ of the Universal Producing company as a director of this company's plays—"Aunt Lucia" and "Corporal Egan." After some preliminary training she will be assigned to direct plays which the company has booked. Miss Robinson graduated in a course in "Dramatic Art" at Knox College, Galesburg, Illinois. She is also a vocalist of ability and participated in that capacity in the production of "Aunt Lucia" under the auspices of the American Legion here last spring.

Payment of Factory Pledges Cannot be Evaded; Balance Due

Committees Urge That Notes Be Taken up Either Through Payment or by Giving New Notes. All Pledges Must be Paid in Full.

The committees which are in charge of the matter of collecting the shoe factory subscriptions met Saturday night to check-up on collections and plan steps of future procedure.

The committees are insistent on one point and that is that ALL SUBSCRIPTIONS MUST BE PAID.

This is only justice to the hundreds of subscribers who have already paid in full. The signers of the $10,000 guaranty fund also insist that this be done.

While some of the subscribers may at present be short financially, they can arrange to pay off the balance of their subscriptions in installments. Where such arrangements are made, interest must be paid up to date and a cash payment made on account. New notes will be taken for the balance dated so as to make it convenient for the subscriber to meet them.

Where the subscriber take a contrary attitude and refuses payment, he may find that in addition to his subscription he will be called upon to pay legal costs of collecting, which includes an attorney's fee and court costs.

The committees which have charge of collection propose to work on the job until the last dollar is collected. Notes which are hard to collect will be placed in judgment or advertised in local papers and sold to highest bidder. Every legitimate method of collecting will be used. It is not proposed to place undue hardships on anybody, but many of those who have met their obligations in full, suffered hardships in doing so. Those who have withheld payment ought not profit by the willingness of those who did.

All subscribers who are in arrears, will hear from the chairman of the committee within the near future, as the factory notes are now overdue and ought to be taken up, either through payment or making of new notes, setting a definite date when payments will be made by installments.

The Brown Shoe Company has been very nice to deal with in this matter, but the community has obligated itself to pay a certain amount and that must positively be paid. When this entire transaction is finished an audit of the committees books will be made and every cent will be accounted for.

Very few cases have been found where subscribers refuse to make payments, although some have persistently refused to pay any attention to notices sent them asking that payment be made.

HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING BURGLARIZED

Job Similar to That of April 1st Done Monday Night. Equipment badly Damaged and Some Things Stolen. Other Schools Visited.

The Sullivan Township High School was entered again on Monday night of this week and much damage was done.

Somewhere in this country there is at large a burglar who has a mania for robbing high schools. Pana, Mattoon and Decatur school buildings have also been entered within the past ten days. Damage done there was similar to that done at the local building.

On April 1st the building here was entered. The man or men at that time tried to dig into the school safe through a brick wall. They ruined steel cabinets by prying them open. They broke into desks and scattered their contents all over the floor. All that they got for their trouble at that time was a few dollars in change. Other schools nearby were also entered at about that time. Casey, Mattoon, Effingham and Olney were similarly treated. Schools in Indiana were entered and depredations done.

According to the general appearance of the job, the man or men who were here in April were the same ones that called Monday night. No big effort was made to get into the school vault, although

Some Sullivan people were gravely worried Sunday when the city water supply apparently had failed. There was little water in the pipes and the pressure was poor.

The "I told you so's" immediately spread the report that the city wells had given out. Others contended that the Masonic Home ought never to have been connected with the city water system, and that this was the cause of the water shortage.

All of this worry was unnecessary. There was nothing wrong with the city's water supply. What caused the trouble was that the city's water tank was being cleaned out and water was at times temporarily shut off. The Masonic Home was not even connected at the time. This connection was made Monday morning of this week.

The city's water department has been doing some house-cleaning in its system. All fire hydrants have been opened up and given a good flushing. This has helped to wash out the accumulation of rust and other elements that discolored the water.

Those in charge of the water department say that the wells have never faltered in supply. The dry weather has had no effect whatever on them and apparently they could carry a load many times greater than is now demanded of them.

When the water system was constructed the consulting engineers said that Sullivan had tapped an inexhaustible water supply. Nothing has as yet occurred to indicate that such is not the case.

What Sullivan does need and will doubtless install as soon as it can see its way clear to pay for it, is a water filter and softening plant of the kind that has been built for the Illinois Masonic Home. An iron content in the water the city is getting, oxidizes when it reaches the air and causes an annoying rust.

Our Advertisers

The biggest adv. this week is that of the Dunscomb Dry Goods Co. It's a peach of an adv. full of descriptions and bargain prices.

Henry Ford in his adv. tells about the Pana show that he's going to have next week. Ford is one of our best advertisers these days.

You'll want to read the adv. about the opening of Paul Hankla's miniature golf course. Exide means battery; Goodyear means tire; so if you need anything like that see Les Atchison's adv. Les is on a Zeppelin trip. His adv. tells about it.

Don't overlook the Chautauqua. Surely you'll want to attend.

A new advertiser this week is the Arthur Implement Company. Those boys know how to advertise hardware and implements—and how they do cut the prices! Read this adv. It's important.

The Illinois Central R. R. company has another of its fine monthly ads. These ads are not only filled with good English but they radiate common sense. The C & E I has three dandy excursions advertised. Look 'em over. You may want to travel.

The Walker Company has a new manager at its machine shop. The adv. tells about it. Don't confuse this with the adv. of W. H. Walker who'll sell you a lot of good second hand stuff at rock bottom prices.

Pastures are drying up, are they not? Then you'll want to see Phil Wiard's adv. You can't let the cows starve for butterfat prices are on the upgrade.

Apparent Lack Of Water Sunday Caused Worry

Pressure Shut Off When Tank is Given Cleaning; People thought Wells Were Failing. Masonic Home Connected Monday.

Some Sullivan people were gravely worried Sunday when the city water supply apparently had failed. There was little water in the pipes and the pressure was poor.

DEMOCRATS MET MONDAY TO DISCUSS CAMPAIGN PLANS

Democratic committeemen and committee women of Moultrie county were guests Monday night at the National Inn of the five candidates for county office.

After the dinner, all went to the hall of the Sullivan Household Science club above the Thompson store where plans for the forthcoming campaign were discussed.

The attendance at the meeting was good and a spirit of optimism prevailed as to the outcome of the fall election.

The candidates for office nominated at the April primary are as follows: For county clerk, Paul Chippis; for treasurer, Orman Newbould; for county judge, Col. J. E. Jennings; for sheriff, J. N. Foster; for superintendent of schools, Albert Walker.

LESTER DUNSCOMB MARRIED WEDNESDAY AT PERU, INDIANA

Lester Dunscomb, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Dunscomb of this city was united in marriage with Miss Bessie Thompson at Peru, Indiana Wednesday, July 23rd. He had been here on a vacation with home folks. He went from here to Peru and after the wedding left with his bride for Newark, N. J. where he is an employe of the Western Electric company.

NEW GOLF COURSE PLANS OPENING FOR FRIDAY NITE

Paul Hankla's new miniature golf course in Freeland Grove will be formally opened tonight (Friday). There will be music and refreshments and a big crowd is expected to turn out for the occasion.

This is without doubt one of the very best courses in central Illinois. Mr. Hankla has spared no expense in making it such. His brother C. E. Hankla, the contractor, had charge of the designing and construction and has really achieved a masterpiece.

While the course will be formally opened this evening, it has been open for play several evenings and hundreds have played on it each evening.

The course is ideally located under the beautiful shade trees of the grove. It will be open afternoon and night. Mr. Hankla has a unique plan for naming the course which is more fully explained in his advertisement that appears in this issue.

VAUGHAN REUNION SUNDAY, AUGUST 10TH

The annual reunion of the Vaughan families will be held on Sunday, August 10th in the Harley Smith grove south of Bethany.

Headquarters Co. Leaves Saturday For Camp Grant

Captain Pifer and Advance Detail Already in Camp. Some of the Enlisted Men Will Continue to Make Shoes.

Sullivan's army, being the Headquarters Company, First Battalion, 130th Illinois Infantry, will entrain at 1:55 o'clock Saturday morning for Camp Grant where they will spend several weeks in training.

Lieut. D. K. Campbell and 2nd. Lieut. John S. Pribble will accompany a personnel of 30 men to camp. Captain James Pifer left Sunday to make preliminary arrangements for the encampment. Mrs. Pifer accompanied him. An advance detail consisting of Melvin Lilly, Weldon Gabbart and Helmut Nedden left Wednesday morning to join Captain Pifer and erect tents and otherwise prepare for those who will follow them.

Five men, now employed at the Brown Shoe factory have been excused from military duty during the encampment as they could not very well leave their work. They are Glenn Lundy, Jack Brackney, Russell Jenkins, Harold Barger and John A. Smith. Alvin K. Moran, Clyde I. Freeman and John Gramblin, having moved out of this community, have been given their honorable discharge.

The men who will go to camp are: Staff Sergeant—H. E. Batson. Sergeants—Hubert Y. Kingery, Fred I. Panches, Wayne Reeder, John F. Stevens.

MASONIC HOME NOW HAS THREE KINDS CITY WATER

The water installation for the Illinois Masonic Home has been completed and is now in use. The water comes from the Sullivan wells. The installation is so arranged that the Home really gets three kinds of water—the raw kinds as it comes from the wells; the filtered product as it emerges from the filter and the filtered and softened water as it comes from the softener. The installation is apparently a great success and points the way for Sullivan to improve the quality of its water supply.

ZACKIE MONROE MARRIED

Zackie Monroe, well known barber, who is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. George Monroe of this city, was united in marriage on Thursday of last week with Miss Freda Rbody of Peoria. They will make their home in Peoria where he is employed.

NEW CONTEST STARTED AT GOLF COURSE

Wolf and Hankla reach Finals; Women Batting Along in Several Tournaments. Two Handicap Tournaments for the Men.

Carl Wolf and Paul M. Hankla have won the honor of doing battle for the championship of the Sullivan Country Club golf players. Since last week Supervisor Frank Newbould's contention that they "all look alike to me" has proven but an idle boast. Carl Wolf looked different. He played like a Bobby Jones and Mr. Newbould played like—well anything but a champion. The results of this match were 7 up and 6 to play.

Paul Marshall Hankla also upset the dope when he trimmed Troy Scott the Bethany financier to the tune of 3 up and 2 to play. Scott is a former champion while this is the first time Hankla has been anywhere near the finals.

Women's Handicap

The ladies keep romping right along in their handicap elimination. During the past week Mrs. Hawley defeated Helen Cummins; Bess Hankla and Jessie Brumfield tied on nine holes and Mrs. Hankla won the tie; Ruth Campbell was victor over Nell McLaughlin; Jessie Gibbon over Mildred Getz; Eva Cummins over Daisy McPheeters; Carmen Patterson over Grace Thompson. This leaves six

Rupert Howell to Pay His Wife $70.00 Monthly

Judge Wamsley Decides in Favor of Wife in Separate Maintenance Suit. Husband Must Also Pay Wife's Attorneys Their Fee

Mrs. Helen Howell has won her suit for separate maintenance from her husband Rupert Howell of Lovington. Mr. Howell is to pay her $70 per month until further orders of the court. He is also to pay her solicitors Cochran, Sentel and Cochran, their fee of $650.

Through his attorney, Mr. Miller of Decatur, Mr. Howell has prayed an appeal to the higher courts. If he does take this appeal, he will have to pay his wife $250 to prosecute her side of the case.

This case has occupied a longer time of the circuit court than any other in recent years. About six days were consumed in taking testimony. Many witnesses were heard. The main contention of Mrs. Howell and her witnesses were that her husband paid too much attention to his aunt, Mrs. Goldie Howell, widow of the late Charles Howell of Decatur. Witnesses were continually being questioned by Mrs. Howell's attorneys as to the "reputation for virtue and chastity" of the said Goldie Howell.

After the close of taking testimony Wednesday Judge Wamsley, before whom the case was tried, heard arguments of opposing counsel and then announced his decision. Mr. Howell has a life's interest in much real estate and is one of the best known residents of Lovington.

Fret not thyself of evil-doers, neither be thou envious against the workers of iniquity.

For they shall soon be cut down like the grass, and wither as the green herb.

Trust in the Lord and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed.

Delight thyself also in the Lord; and he shall give thee the desires of thine heart.

—First 4 verses of the 37th Psalm

Though August has just arrived, the signs that summer is waning and fall is right at hand are plentiful. The summer harvest season is over. Practically all of the wheat and oats have been threshed. Farmers are beginning to break the stubble ground. Because of the extremely hot weather, grass is short. The damage that the unusually high temperature is doing to the growing corn will not be fully known until shucking time arrives. The blackbirds are on the move. They are gathering by the millions. Toward evening in steady streams they can be seen winging their flight through the heavens. They seem to be becoming yearly more numerous. The year is now like unto a man who has reached middle age. It has passed the crest of its growing strength, its glory. The days are growing noticeably shorter. The time of the falling leaves, the cooler mornings is close at hand. This will be followed by the frosts of early autumn, that gently check growth and put all of nature's mantle of green—the forests and the fields,—to sleep through those months when snows shall fall and icy winds blow while King Winter wields the sceptre of his reign.

FRANK L. SHEETS—A BUILDER ANOTHER HOOVERCRAT BITES THE DUST GOOD FORTUNE SMILED ON THE DEMOCRATS

Politicians do not like Frank L. Sheets. Mr. Sheets is chief engineer of the State Highway Department. Under his supervision Illinois has built a wonderful system of hard roads.

He held this important position under the Len Small administration. He still holds it.

He has a vision. That vision is a practical system of hard roads for Illinois. He is not building hard roads for any particular locality. Every piece of hard road that he builds is a connecting link in a great state system of highways.

Why do the politicians dislike him?

Because they can't use him.

Hard roads are very desirable. Not only do all localities want hard roads, but the political bosses want the privilege of locating these roads.

Ever since our own venerable Senator Henry Dunlap of Savoy in the early days of road building, had influence to get hard roads built past his southern orchards and to convert tracks over the hills into magnificent slabs of concrete, every 2x4 politician in the state has felt that he was entitled to similar privileges.

You can't just exactly blame them. Politicians higher up have made promises. In the warmth of campaigns they have told lieutenants to deliver votes and hard roads; would be the reward.

Then when payday came and the smaller politicians expected to show their constituency how very influential they were with the bosses at Springfield, they have gone up against a situation that left them momentarily dazed and permanently grief-stricken.

That thing that they went up against at Springfield was a very curt "Go and see Mr. Cleaveland and Mr. Sheets."

And these politicians have not gotten anywhere. They have been forced to go back on their promises. They could not deliver.

Frank L. Sheets does not play politics. He builds roads. He is not locating them to pay off political obligations. He is building them as a part of a big state-wide road system. Pleas of small communities or rural sections do not make any impression on him.

He knows where the hard roads are going to be placed and it is very seldom that any political influence is strong enough to make a dent in his plans. Where changes are made, they are usually such as do not materially detract from the original state-highway plan. Mr. Sheets is not a dictator. But once his department has located a route, it takes more than political pressure to get him to change it. Facts and figures may do the trick, but politics never.

In days to come Illinois will realize the debt it owes to the far-sightedness and determination of its present road chief. He is conscientiously trying to do a big thing for Illinois and more power to him.

Every disappointed road-seeking politician in Illinois curses Frank L. Sheets and would like to have his scalp. A word of praise may not be amiss. He's the right man in the right place.

His work is the outstanding achievement of both the Small and Emmerson administrations.

Tom Love in Texas was quite a prominent Democrat some years ago. He was about the most prominent member of his party in that state, next to "Ma" Ferguson.

In 1928 Love turned into hate and spilled his venom on the Democratic choice of the Presidency, the Hon. Alfred E. Smith of New York. He helped to carry Texas for Mr. Hoover. He strayed from the regular Democratic fold. He thought he'd done a great thing for Texas.

Last week he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Texas. He made his campaign on his performance as a Hoovercrat. Texas Democrats by their votes very emphatically told him that Hoovercrats ought not be running in a Democratic primary or on a Democratic ticket. He finished way down the line. He really was not in it at all. Even the Democrats who followed his lead and voted for Hoover, deserted him and left him stranded high and dry. His political life is done. Democrats of North Carolina recently administered a similar rebuke, when they defeated Senator Furnifold Simmons for re-election.

Democrats everywhere are scanning closely the records of candidates who bolted the party in 1928 and helped to elect Herbert Hoover. A Hoovercrat on the Democratic ticket against a regular Republican, who of course, supported Hoover, does not leave the voters much choice of selection. A Hoovercrat who tries to get votes by belaboring the Hoover administration for which he is partly responsible, is a hypocrite who deserves rebuke at the polls. Wherever the people are informed in this matter, they do not hesitate to administer such rebuke. In the fall election where people face the issue of voting for a stalwart, standpat Republican or a Hoovercrat, sailing falsely under the colors of Democracy, it does not seem difficult to predict which choice they will make.

The most fortunate thing that ever befell the Democratic party was the election of Herbert Hoover to the presidency in 1928.

This is not conceding that he was better qualified than Alfred E. Smith. He was not. It might have been better for the country if Mr. Smith had been elected, but for his party it would, indeed, have been a calamity.

The Coolidge panic was on its way. Nothing could have stopped it. Mr. Coolidge saw it looming up on the horizon when he decided that he did "not choose to run." Herbert Hoover is the unfortunate victim of politics on whom is blamed all of the trouble that has beset this nation.

Imagine if you can the predicament that the Democratic party would face, if it now controlled the national administration. Our Republican friends would din into our ears from early morn until late at night, the contention that Alfred E. Smith and his party were entirely to blame for the present day panic, or depression, or whatever you may choose to call it. It would have killed the Democratic party so dead that it could not have elected a poundmaster for many years to come.

So any way you happen to look at it the Democratic party is fortunate. It did not inherit the sins of Harding and Coolidge. The avalanche of disaster has descended on the political party primarily responsible for it. You can in no logical manner blame conditions on the Democrats. They stand patiently by, ready to rescue the country from the troubles that beset it. The Republican boom has burst. It has disgusted the already discouraged voter. He will seek a remedy for the evils that beset him. The Democrats might not have done very much better, had they been in power since 1920. They could have done no worse. The people are restless. They want a change. They will get it. They will vote out those who are in and put in those who are out.

The Family Doctor

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M. D.

WARNINGS

No—your backache is not an indication of kidney disease, or it is the poorest, to say the most for it as a symptom. Let me enumerate several points however, that should send you to the doctor post-haste, if you have been uneasy about this particular set of eliminative organs:

First, a progressively-increasing shortness of breath, that you just can't account for; this with increasing weakness and rapid heart that interferes with your ability to do your ordinary work.

Second, you notice a puffiness under the eyes—and maybe you have noticed black specks when looking at white surfaces; just tiny dots they are, and might escape your notice. With the puffiness of the lower eyelids, you may observe a decided swelling of hands—not painful—just a "bloat."

Third, and getting more alert, you may notice a getting up from bed to relieve the kidneys—so many times that it really interferes with sleep; the amount may not be considerable, but it is the frequency of voiding that counts as a symptom. Even if you abstain from drinking water evening, you get up just as often. The appearance of the fluid voided is of little value to you as an indication of disease; it may be clear and innocent-looking—or dark-red and scalding. It is your physician's business to determine the real condition.

Fourth,—look with suspicion on headaches that occur mainly at night—along toward morning the worst. Those that are a frequent thing—persistent—and do not yield to your taking liver medicine.

These symptoms are usually concurrent, that is all work together—if your kidneys are out of order; the more severe they are, the worse neglected your kidneys have been. Go to the doctor at once!

If your sheep, calves, or pigs have a husky cough at this time of year, look out for lung-worms. Isolate infested animals and give them special care and feed. Put the animals on high, dry pasture, or put them up and feed dry feed. Give plenty of pure water and provide them with some kind of shade.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture several years ago experimented with commercial fertilizers to discover a substance that will kill fly larvae in manure and also increase its fertilizing value. One-half pound each of calcium cyanamid and acid phosphate added to each bushel of manure gave a 98 per cent kill of the larvae. The mixture, in powder form, is scattered evenly over the surface and then wet down with water. This mixture adds to the manure two important elements, nitrogen and phosphorus.

Carrots are a good source of vitamins, if quickly cooked or grated raw in a vegetable salad.

Sweet corn loses its sugar content very quickly after being removed from the stalk and when possible should be picked only an hour or so before it is to be cooked.

The Way of Life

BY BRUCE BARTON

SITTING

Mr. Charles M. Sheldon wrote "In His Steps, the book that sold a hundred million copies."

I asked him once to tell me about the greatest sermon he had ever heard.

"I don't know that I can name the greatest sermon," he answered "but I can tell you about one of the most interesting."

"It was in London. The preacher had won a great following by the unusual character of his mind and the directness of his speech."

"On this particular morning he startled the congregation with a text which most of them did not know was in the Bible."

"In the year that king Uzziah died, I saw also the Lord sitting upon a throne high and lifted up, and his train filled the temple."

"I wondered what in the world anybody could find in that text to hang a sermon on. I did not have long to wait."

"The preacher proceeded in vigorous tones: 'I direct your particular attention to the one word sitting. The great king Uzziah, had just passed away. You would expect that there would be excitement and confusion in heaven. Angels would be rushing around asking, "What is going to happen?" and "What shall we do?"'

"Was that the case? Not at all. Behold the utterly unflustered Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up—I want to preach to you about the eternal patience and tranquility of God."

That story has always stuck in my mind. I like to think of the picture—the little kingdoms of the earth in turmoil, while the Lord sits quietly upon the throne, knowing that time will quiet the turmoil, and that the crisis will pass.

If you ever have occasion to write down the attributes that make men successful, do not fail to include staying power.

I know a man who has grown rich beyond any of his associates, though he is in many respects the least brilliant of the lot. But he had great patience and stick-to-it-iveness. When the others became excited and pessimistic, and sold their stock, he just sat tight. And time and growth of the country have carried him high.

I read about all the men who thought they were smarter than Lincoln—Seward and Stanton and Chase—and maybe some of them were. But Lincoln had a great philosophy. When things were at their worst he would say, "This too will pass."

Every tough thing passes. Almost every problem becomes less hard under the softening influence of time. And when the turmoil is thickest the wise man climbs up on his great high throne and calmly and quietly sits.

Allen F. Moore's Butterfly Story

Allen F. Moore, Monticello millionaire, who at one time represented this district in Congress, wrote a letter to the Decatur Herald one day last week.

In it he tells about the Barnes' collection of butterflies. Says Mr. Moore:

"To the Editor of The Herald.

"Sir: In 1922 I introduced a bill in Congress authorizing the purchase of the Barnes Collection of Lepidoptera by the Federal Government, to be added to the Smithsonian Collection for the use of the Agricultural Department.

"Members of the Agricultural and Appropriation Committees agreed that it would be a valuable addition to the collection, but a program of Economy was on and I was unable to secure favorable action or even consideration of my bill. For my activity in urging this purchase, some of the brilliant democratic Editors in the 19th district dubbed me the "Butterfly Congressman." I am now advised that the Smithsonian Institute has purchased the collection out of their appropriation and I feel that the Department of Agriculture should be congratulated upon securing this valuable collection."

He then proceeds to pan Congress for spending big sums for rare books and remarks: "It would be interesting to know what hidden facts relating to agriculture and of likely benefit to the farmers of the present day are to be found in books published several centuries ago."

In his reference to his "Butterfly Bill" Mr. Moore forgets to state one very important point. It is this: his famous bill provided for the expenditure of $310,000 for the purchase of these butterflies and their transfer to Washington. As we understand it, the present purchase price is $50,000, or an approximate saving of only $260,000.

If the agitation of what he calls the "brilliant democratic editors" had something to do with saving the country $260,000, it appears that these fellows are of some good once in a while.

Mr. Moore's sentiments relative to the purchase of $500,000 worth of rare old books in those days of depression and high taxes will doubtless strike a responsive chord in the hearts and minds of those who read his article.

The acquisition of the Barnes butterflies by the government is expected to help in the fight on destructive insect pests in some way or manner. With the Federal Farm Board and Butterflies now both available to assist agriculture results may be expected at an early date.

French toast is an appetizing way of using stale bread and provides a main dish for breakfast, lunch or supper. Allow 1/2 to 3/4 cup of milk to 2 eggs. Beat the mixture, salt lightly, and dip slices of bread into it until well soaked. Fry in butter or well-seasoned fat in a heavy smooth skillet. Use moderate heat and let the toast become golden brown on one side before turning.

The Judge: "Mrs. Maloney, the evidence shows that you threw a stone at Officer Waddell."

"It shows more than that, yer honor," interrupted Mrs. Maloney. "It shows Oi hit him."

Hoover is my shepherd, I am in want; He maketh me to lie down on park benches; He appointeth me a place in the bread line; He causeth me to doubt the wisdom of a high tariff, And guideth me into the path of destruction for his party's sake; Yea, though I walk through the shadow of the valley of starvation, I fear further evil, for thou art against me.

The politicians and the profiteers, they do affront me, While thou dost prepare a reduction of my salary In the presence of my enemies; Thou anonest my income with taxes and behold My bank roll hath dwindled into nothingness, So that I am persuaded that thy enemy, Al Smith, Sitteth in the seat of the presidents; Surely, unemployment and poverty will follow me All the days of the Republican administration, And I will live in a rented house forever.

THE TREE

By Henry Abbey

What do we plant when we plant the tree?

We plant the ship which will cross the sea.

We plant the mast to carry the sails;

We plant the planks to withstand the gales—

The keel, the keelson, the beam, the knee;

We plant the ship when we plant the tree.

What do we plant when we plant the tree?

We plant the houses for you and me.

We plant the rafters, the shingles, the floors,

We plant the studdings, the laths, the doors,

The beams and siding, all parts that be;

We plant the house when we plant the tree.

What do we plant when we plant the tree?

A thousands things that we daily see;

We plant the spire that out-towers the crag,

We plant the staff for our country's flag,

We plant the shade, from the hot sun free;

We plant all these when we plant the tree.

"Did you have any luck at bridge last night?" the fond father asked his daughter at the breakfast table next morning.

"Oh, not so much, although I did capture the booby."

"What has that dog-gone scoundrel been hanging around you again?" exclaimed the irate parents.

"You dumbhead" shouted a local youth at his pal, "don't you believe what you can see with your own eyes?"

"Can't say as I do" said the pal, "I see every day but I believe you soider."

MY BANK ACCOUNT
(By Nina Butler)

What is forever up and down
What makes me wear a worried frown,
What makes me feel, just like a clown?
My bank account.

What worries me beyond repair,
What makes me gasp for more fresh air,
What makes me almost say a prayer?
My bank account.

If times are hard, I do not care
The thing that greys my straying hair,
And almost brings me to despair—
My bank account.

Some wise guys they stop to say
Times will be better day by day
Then what will I build up to stay—
My bank account.

So hopefully I await that day
And now I simply grin and pay
Then in the bank my money'll lay
Sweet bank account!

We have seen many silly things done in Sullivan, but thank goodness, we have no kids crazy enough to undertake the task of establishing a tree-sitting record.

Some weeks ago there was bad feeling between local boot-leggers, we are told. One threatened to kill another. A lady of rather weighty proportions, hearing of this stated that she was going to take out a $1000 policy on the life of the threatened man. Did she? How should we know, we're not in the life insurance business.

"Go to school and get an education" is advice that is universal. We are inclined to believe that the miscreant who has twice wrecked the office and fixtures in the Sullivan Township High school is doing just that. Somebody told him that the place to get an education is in a high school, but failed to tell him how to get it. So he goes out there and jimmies up everything, hoping that he'll find an education which he can put in his pocket and take along home. If he's ever caught, he'll get an education all right.

"Doc was anybody hurt in the wreck?" asked Pee-Gee the caddy, as Dr. Johnson drove up to the grounds in his faithful old Dodge.

Reports say that a local woman is seriously contemplating divorce action. She says that another man has stolen her husband's love and they spend most of their time playing golf together on the Country Club grounds.

Die when I may, I want it said of me by those who knew me best that I always plucked a thistle and planted a flower where I thought a flower would grow—Abraham Lincoln.

Take life too seriously and what is it worth? If the morning wake us to no new joys, if the evening bring us not the hope of new pleasures, is it worth while to dress and undress? Does the sun shine on me today that I may re-decor on yesterday? That I may endeavor to foresee and to control what can neither be seen nor foretold—the destiny of tomorrow.

Even the cleverest and most perfect circumstantial evidence is likely to be a fault after all, and therefore ought to be received with great caution. Take the case of any pencil sharpened by any woman; if you have witness, you will find that she did it with a knife, but if you take simply the aspect of the pencil, you will say that she did it with her teeth.—Mark Twain.

Now take buckhorn, for instance. There is a hot weather crop for you. Grass may wither and flowers may die, but the buckhorn flourishes and brings forth seed in abundance. You will find it in the fields, on the lawns and it is a bane of golf course custodians. It's only object in life seems to be to mix its seed with the seed of useful plants and spread the sphere of its iniquity. But is it altogether bad? It is such a persistent and hardy beggar, that it is really a shame the University wise men and the government plant specialists have not found out what good use humanity can make of it.

"What is the name of your car?"

"I call her 'Shasta.'"

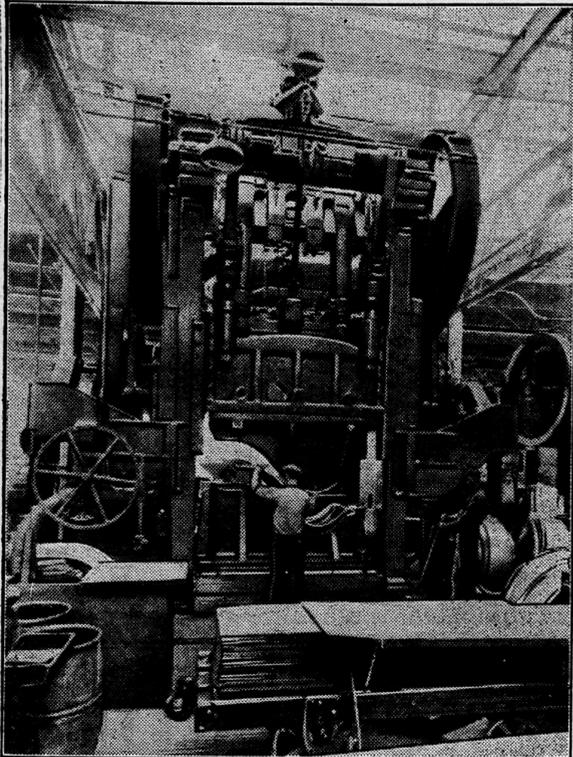

"Because she's a 'aisy'?"

"No; because she has to have gas, she has to have oil, she has to have air, she has to have something all the time."

Young Husband: "It seems to me, my dear, that these pancakes are rather heavy."

His Bride: "Then I'm afraid you're a poor judge, for the cook-book says they are light and feathery."

MRS. W. H. DONER DIES AT BETHANY

Mrs. W. H. Doner died at 5:30 Friday afternoon from infirmities of old age at her home in Bethany. She was the mother of O. F. Doner of this city.

Catherine Koch Doner was the daughter of German parents, Henry Louis, and Catherine Dork Koch and was born Jan. 8, 1847 in Alsace, France. Before her first birthday was past she came with her parents to Portage county, O., near Canton, O., where she lived until nine years old. When she was nine, her parents built a new home in the frontier country of Mercer county and she grew to womanhood here.

In 1866 she was married to William Henry Doner, a Union veteran. The couple went to Butler county, O., to live. In 1868 they came to Illinois where Mrs. Doner has since resided with the exception of five years, 1885 to 1890, which was spent in the west.

Eight children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Doner, all of whom survive. The children are: Clayton of Saskatchewan, Canada, Daniel of Elmer, Mo., Oliver of Manter, Colo., Alice of North Manchester, Ind., O. F. of Sullivan, Mrs. Lena McIntire of Cowden and J. A. and Nina of Decatur. Mr. Doner died fourteen months ago. During the last winter, Mrs. Doner lived with her son J. A. Doner in Decatur. She returned to her home in Bethany this summer where she died.

Mrs. Doner was a member of the Presbyterian church and always took an active interest in church and community affairs. Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon from the Presbyterian church in Bethany.

FIRST CORN SAMPLE BY W. L. RHODES

W. L. Rhodes brought an ear of corn to town Tuesday morning that he had gathered from a field near Bethany. There are 40 acres in the field. It got an early start, having been planted in April. The ear was well-filled out and the grain had reached a stage that indicated it would be ripe in a few weeks more. "Uncle Billy" is very optimistic about the corn out-look. He says that while some corn may have been hurt by the heat, that a dead tassel does not necessarily mean a grainless cob, as some claim. He says that the stand of corn is excellent and if tassels are damaged so they cannot pollenate the silks, such pollen is plentiful from undamaged tassels. He predicts a big corn crop and he has been raising corn in this county for well over half a century. The ear which he exhibited was from a field that is being rented by Irvin Roney.

Salisbury Players Present "Pigs"

"Pigs," a Broadway "hit" and one of the most delightful comedies of recent years will be presented at the Chautauqua by the Salisbury Players. This company will be remembered for its splendid production of Channing Pollock's "The Fool." The production "Pigs" will be one of the high lights of the Chautauqua program and is sure to draw one of the largest crowds of the entire season. Comedy is the keynote from beginning to end, although it has moments of tense drama and an underlying note of seriousness. The story concerns Tommy Adkins, Jr., a bright American youth who is determined that he can make real money if his father will lend him $250.00 in order to buy the pigs that are ill, and by curing them, sell them at a large profit. Mildred Cushing, his sweetheart helps him raise the necessary funds. The amusing adventures of day night, August 13th.

The Telephone Company after threatening to do so for lo these many years, has finally started an adv. campaign. The ads are small, classy and clever. They'll get them some new business.

One of the very best ads, for it adds materially to the joys of life, is that of the Grand Theatre. Some folks clip and save that so they can tell what night the advertised shows come on. That's a good idea. If you want a change of theatre some time, you can get it at Shelbyville. The Playhouse runs its program weekly in this paper.

the plaster in the hallway adjoining the vault was damaged.

Steel cases were pried open with a crow bar and a barrel opening tool that had been taken from the boiler room. Locks were pried off and some of the cases were badly damaged. The April 1st damage was repaired shortly after it had been done.

So far as can be learned no records of the school were tampered with. The things littered all over the floor were taken from pigeon holes and desk drawers.

Access to the office of Principal Scheer was gained by breaking a glass in the door and reaching through to undo the lock.

The door of the Home Economics room was pried off its hinges and badly damaged. In the room, paper records were littered over the floor. A window in a door leading into the pantry was smashed and the pieces of glass carefully removed before the culprit crawled through. He evidently expected to find food. Nothing was taken so far as can be determined although a jar of pimentos was found in the closet adjoining the vault in the principal's office.

The door to the iron cage in the boy's gymnasium was pried open and, while no checkup had been made, Mr. Scheer is positive that some footballs and some sweat shirts have been taken.

If money was the object of the search, the burglar or burglars were disappointed as no money is kept at the school building during vacation time.

The only way in which entrance to the building could have been gained was through a window on the north side, the catch of which was unfastened. It is possible that this was the way in which an exit was made.

The damage done will doubtless run into hundreds of dollars, not figuring the loss through things that may have been stolen.

A freakish stunt that lends credence to the theory that a maniac is responsible for the crime, is that he removed all bells from the telephones, evidently thinking this would lead to his safety.

Because of the similarity of the job in this and other cities, it seems certain that whoever is doing this work is roaming around the country and is making a business of raiding school houses and damaging their contents.

The high school board some time ago decided that it was advisable to have a night watch man at the school building during the time school is in session but no one had any idea that a raid would be made on the building during vacation time.

GRAND OPENING

OF THE NEW

MINIATURE GOLF COURSE

Freeland Grove
Sullivan, Illinois

Friday Night, August 1st

Come and play on one of the most modern courses in Central Illinois. Good lighting, fine fairways, about twice the length of ordinary courses, good putting greens; plenty of thrills, lots of fun.

—COURSE IS BUILT RIGHT—

This course was planned and built by C. E. Hankla, who has had considerable experience in building golf greens. He built the sand greens on the Sullivan and Champaign country club courses. Material, design and construction on this course embody all of the new ideas that have been found practical. The greens are just right, not too loose or too hard. You'll like to play on this course.

Plenty of clubs and balls for all—Sand pile for the kiddies—Free parking space in Freeland Grove or in front of the course—Plenty of seats for visitors—No admission charge to grounds—Refreshments of ice cream and drinks on the grounds.

—HELP SELECT A NAME—

Every player between now and Saturday night 11:55 will be allowed to suggest a name for the course. Three judges will pass on suggestions. Winner gets 20 free games.

YOU'LL WANT TO ATTEND CARL WOLF'S SHOW AT PANA AUG. 4-6

The display of the complete line of Ford passenger and commercial cars and trucks, and exhibits showing how they are made, will attract large crowds to the Ford show presented by Carl C. Wolf, local dealer, in cooperation with nearby dealers. The show is being held in a tent at Pana, Ill., August 4th to 6th, being open to the public from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.

This unusual interest is due in part, to the fact that the show offers a rare opportunity for the public to see all the body types at one time in one place.

A feature of the show is the picture depicting the manufacture of the Ford from the production of raw materials in the Ford-owned mines and forests to the finished car. This picture gives one a comprehensive idea of the quantity production and of the extent to which waste and by-products are utilized.

The Fords, resplendent in their various colors and lustrous rustless steel trimmings, attracted attention from all. Attendants will be kept busy answering questions and explaining the features of the new body types—why it is that rustless steel retains its luster permanently without polishing and how the double-acting shock absorbers work, how the drivers' seats in closed cars are adjusted, and so on.

By means of a cut-away body and chassis, explanations of features of body construction and mechanical details are made so plainly that even the layman can understand them. The body is cut practically in half, revealing the construction of the steel body panels, roof and seats. Portions of the chassis are cut away to disclose moving parts in the transmission brakes and rear end. There is also a cut-away chassis of the Model AA truck.

Explanations are further illustrated by special displays of Ford parts, such as rustless steel, shatter-proof glass, ball and roller bearings, forgings and accessories.

EDDIE MURRAY TAKEN TO PENITENTIARY FRIDAY

The boast of Eddie Murray that he would never go to the penitentiary on his conviction of having participated in the Gays bank robbery came to naught Friday. He was taken to the penitentiary to serve a one to twenty year sentence for this crime. He has stunchly contended that it is all a mistake and that he is innocent. He tried to file an appeal in the higher courts but failed to raise money to do so.

His brother William Murray has been an inmate for the penitentiary for the past six years. The boys' home is in Mattoon where their aged mother and one sister reside.

In order to prevent any attempt at rescue, which Murray had intimated to fellow prisoners might be the case, the Sheriff took every possible precaution. Instead of taking his Chevrolet car, he took the car of game warden T. G. Scheer of Bethany. In this car besides Murray were Sheriff Lansden, Policeman officer Eugene Girardof Bethany, T. G. Scheer and Pearl Loy. The trip to the pen was rather uneventful. The prisoner was turned over to the penitentiary officials Friday afternoon.

SEASS-PIFER CASE HAS BEEN SETTLED

The Seass-Pifer litigation which has been pending in the local courts several years was satisfactorily compromised for all concerned last week.

The late Lucas Seass and his wife claimed an interest in some property which was part of the estate of the late Finley Pifer. In court, the master in chancery found all issues for Mrs. Pifer. The judge held, however, that one note which the Seass' held ought to be paid. Several judgments on notes that Mr. and Mrs. Seass had made then began to figure in the case.

All of these matters have been settled. Mrs. Pifer retains all of her city property. She has been living in Urbana but is said to be considering returning to this city to take up her residence. Her daughter Miss Ruth who has had three years in the U. of I. is planning to finish her college course in some western University.

Lose Fat Safely and Quickly

Kruschen Salts—(a perfect combination of the six mineral salts your body must have every day to function properly) purify your blood of harmful acids, and aid the kidneys and bowels to throw off waste material—the continual formation of which is probably the cause of your fat.

In this modern age of living, it's impossible to get these salts from the fancy foods you eat—but don't worry just as long as you have Kruschen Salts.

Take a half teaspoon every morning in a glass of hot water—little by little that ugly fat disappears, you'll feel better than ever before—years younger, more energy. You'll soon possess that enviable beauty, clear skin, sparkling eyes, superb figure which only perfect health can impart.

An 85c bottle (last 4 weeks) at Sam B. Hall's or any progressive druggist in America. Money back if Kruschen doesn't convince you that it is the safest, quickest, easiest way to lost fat. Adv.

The Acid Test

The acid test of the importance of anything in life is to consider what life would be like without it. Applying this test to the railroads gives an impressive idea of their important place in our national life.

Without the railroads, travel and all that it means in the way of family, social and business contacts would be sadly handicapped. Only railway service offers travelers dependability in all seasons and under all weather conditions combined with speed, safety, comfort and moderate prices.

Without the railroads, the nation's commerce would be strangled. The railroads handle speedily and economically anything in any quantity going anywhere at any time. This all-inclusiveness of service is unshared by any other freight carrier or combination of carriers. Substitute services might be utilized in limited measure, but always at a sacrifice of some of the qualities that characterize railway service. For the most part, commerce would revert to the primitive conditions of a century ago or be put to staggering difficulties, inconvenience and expense if it had to do without the railroads.

Other means of transportation may have some advantages over the railroads in individual respects, but none can rival them in all-around usefulness.

Prudence suggests that an asset so important to the country should be safeguarded. This calls for liberal patronage of the railroads and a sympathetic public interest in their welfare.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

Miss Nobody from Nowhere

BY ELIZABETH JORDAN

"I suppose we blundered a good deal," he admitted. "We were all at sea. To have Eve down and out was such an unheard of thing. Then I suppose I was the next to blunder. For when I realized that Eve's concert season was probably ruined for her, I brought up the marriage question again. I urged her to marry me right off, and I told her I'd take her abroad for six months and let her rest while I looked over the European musical field for new artists. Perhaps that was another mistake.

"She went all over the lot," Henderson wearily admitted. "She actually seemed to think I was applying pressure—trying to take advantage of the situation. In fact, she accused me of it and talked about being in my power because of the loan. That wasn't a bit like her, but, as I've told you, she was just about off her head over those boys. She was hearing that laugh of trust when she first reached them, and seeing the look in their eyes when she swam off with Mary and left them—if she fell asleep for a moment she was wakened by hearing Herman's 'goodby.'

"I still thought she'd come round," he resumed with an unconscious sigh. "So did the doctors. We had half a dozen specialists in before we got through. They said she'd be all right. She's strong as a pony. She had never been sick in her life. But instead of letting us get her back into condition she simply eluded the nurse one night and lit out.

"We gave out that she had gone away for a rest-cure and we canceled her engagements. Every one accepted the story without question because of what she had been through.

"Even the Heckners think she's in some sanitarium and that we won't tell them where. Of course we engaged private detectives after the first day or so, and then I came on to New York, myself."

"What made you think she was in New York?"

"It was the obvious place she'd head for, and we were afraid her next step would be to sail for Europe. We had all the ships watched. We were honeycombing Chicago at the same time and following up alleged detective clues in half a dozen other cities. When I came to New York I was ready to cut my throat, for we weren't getting anywhere till we found you. At first that cheered me a lot, but I was beginning to get discouraged again. You've been watched wherever you went, these last days."

"How did you find her at Jake's?"

"Pure chance. I had dropped in to talk to a young fellow Jake has in his band—another genius that I suppose will drive me crazy some day—and there I saw her, sitting at a table with a couple of men she wouldn't have wiped her shoes on a year ago. I never was so upset in my life. I thought one or the other of us was crazy, but I was careful not to frighten her. However, she chased right down here to you, just the same, and my man spotted her—and the rest was easy."

He stopped. "Well," he said, rising heavily, "I guess I've found the last page of the score, all right, but I can't read it even yet. And I must say you haven't helped me much. Still, this seems to be one of the swift romances we read about, so I suppose it's all right."

Eric wrung his hand. He liked the man and trusted him, but he must move warily. When Henderson's big figure disappeared thru the hotel's front door he went to the telephone and called up Doctor Carrick's office. The voice of the office nurse informed him that the doctor was at dinner.

"Fine," Eric said heartily. "Tell him to stop eating and come right down to see a patient at the Garland."

Then the bridegroom went up to his bride's rooms, feeling rather exhausted.

"It's all right," he reported in answer to the tense unspoken question with which she met him on the threshold. "The man says he knows who you are, and I think he is genuine. Everything promises to be beautifully cleared up and there's nothing you have to fear. But we mustn't talk about it till I've seen Carrick. I want Carrick to decide how and when to tell you about yourself. Now, will you trust me—and him?"

"Of course. But—are you absolutely sure I have no reason to fear that man?"

"I'm certain of it, dear. He's really a very good sort. Now, remember how patient and stunning you've been so far, and sit tight just a little longer."

Doctor Carrick's card was brought in while he and Eve were having their coffee. Eric glanced at it, put it in his pocket, and rose.

"He has come," he explained, "and I'll see him first. If you will go on up to the sitting room, we will follow in ten minutes or so."

He found Carrick pacing up and down the hotel and resolutely led him into the familiar writing room. It was a time for word-saving and he made a brief but complete report of the facts of the case, with no side comments or surmises of his own. He had been impressed by the story of the rescue, and the report interested him.

His was the satisfaction of the physician who is shown to be correct in a difficult diagnosis about which inwardly he has had some doubts.

"It's just as I thought," he now reminded Hamilton. "There's no further need for secrecy, then, after we've verified all this?"

"Why not?"

"We know now who the patient is, and if Henderson is what he claims to be."

ton till we know more about Henderson and the Chicago end of the matter. That's the first step in any case, of course—to investigate Henderson's story."

"Naturally. As I've said, there isn't much doubt of it in my mind. It has all the earmarks of truth, but I'm not taking any chances. Tonight I'll put the matter up to an agency I know out there, and get a full report on Henderson and a verification of the Heckner drowning. That will be easy, if it happened."

They found Eve walking the floor. "Good evening, Miss Carrington," the psychiatrist said briskly, as he shook hands and without giving her time to comment on the name he went on: "You're looking a good deal better than when I saw you last. I hear you've been doing some professional dancing."

"I had to earn money, and that was the only opening," Eve said in a low voice. "But, Doctor, won't you tell me—"

"Yes," he interrupted. "I'm going to tell you as much as I can. That's always my rule, with patients, and everything we have heard is encouraging. It will be better for you to know what has been said than to imagine it."

"Oh I'm sure it will!"

"The first thing for you to take in is that there's nothing in your old life to dread going back to when you recover—nothing for you to fear. Will you hold fast to that knowledge?"

FOURTEENTH INSTALLMENT
"I will try to—but I have a sort of horror."

"I know you have. Mr. Hamilton has told me about it. But there's nothing now to justify it. Will you believe that?"

"Yes."

"Good. And you must remember another thing. We're morally but not absolutely certain that the man who came tonight is what he says he is and that the story he tells is true. He may have stolen the proofs he offers, or be passing himself off as some one else, but there seems a hundred to one chance that he's not a fraud. We are going to learn all about him as quickly as we can, but it may take a few days. In the meantime I'll give you a bare hint of his story and see if it stimulates memory. How about the name Carrington—Eve Carrington? Does it seem familiar?"

"I don't know," she faltered. "Is it mine?"

"Did it seem natural when I called you by it?"

"I can't be sure, I was so excited when you came in. You know what this possibility may mean to me—if there's nothing to dread—"

"Of course I do. How about the name Henderson? Does that suggest anything?"

She reflected, while both men waited tensely.

"No," she said at last, in a hopeless tone. "I'm afraid it doesn't."

"H-m-m. Well, this man Henderson—who was here tonight and who frightened you at the cabaret,

Mr. Hamilton tells me—says that you are a musician."

"A musician?" She tried the word with tender lips and a sudden smile.

"Are you?"

"I—good Heavens, Doctor! I don't know!"

"Do you think you can sing?" She shook her head.

"If some one rolled a piano in here, would that interest you? Would you want to play on it?"

"I don't know. Oh I don't know! It was clear that the strain of the situation was too much for her. To Hamilton's horror, she collapsed abruptly in a spasm of sobbing, her face in her hands, her body shaking. He started toward her, the psychiatrist waved him back while he himself approached the girl and laid a quieting hand on her shoulder.

"You see how it is, Miss Carrington," he said very gently. "You're not quite up to these tests yet, and in one way they may do you more harm than good. Don't let that frighten you. I'm certain that you're coming thru this all right, and very soon at that. In the meantime you mustn't mind if we don't talk any more of this man and his story till we know what we're about. We can't risk getting you stirred up on false clues, can we?"

She wiped her eyes and pulled herself together.

"No," she steadily agreed. "But if they're real clues—"

"If they're real clues you can trust us to tell you. In the meantime, these names are in your mind and they may start some subconscious work. Will you be patient and leave all the rest to us, and promise not to ask any more questions?"

"Yes." She sat up and resolutely smiled at him. "I'm ashamed of myself for breaking down."

"You needn't be. You're going through this wonderfully; and you're coming out of it wonderfully, too. Do you think you will sleep tonight?"

"I hope so."

"You ought to, for I think you are on the road home. Good night, Miss Carrington."

"Good night, Doctor."

Their eyes and hands met. The next morning, in the light of a sparkling day, the problems seemed simpler.

"I want you to make me a promise," Eve said to Hamilton.

"Almost anything, Eve. You know that."

"Then promise me you won't let the man who calls himself Henderson know about my condition until I say you may."

Eric hesitated.

"Doctor Carrick and I agreed that it would be wise not to confide in him for a time," he told her. "Won't that do?"

"No. Even if you find he's all right, I don't want him to know about my amnesia, or whatever it is," she persisted. "There's something deep down—Oh, I can't explain it. Perhaps it's instinct. Perhaps it's memory stirring a little. Whatever it is, I don't want him to know."

Eric, of course, understood and shared her feeling, but he hesitated to give a blanket promise.

"Something may happen," he pointed out. "News may come—"

"Then tell me about it before you give any details. Consult me, You owe me that. Will you promise?"

"Of course I will." She was right, he was sure; and he himself was anxious to keep the truth from Henderson as long as he dared. Moreover, right or wrong, the important thing was to have her mind as free from anxiety as possible.

"It's too fine to stay in," he suggested. "Suppose I get a roadster and we go off for the day?"

She hesitated, but her quick glance at the outer radiance showed him that she was tempted. "It does sound nice," she admitted.

"Then let's go. Can you be ready in half an hour?"

"In half a minute. I've got on everything I own, you know."

"We'll split the difference. I'll try to be at the front entrance with a car in fifteen minutes."

He was exacting about the roadster when it was offered for his inspection at the hotel garage. He insisted on having it cleaned and he also ordered an overworked tire changed. But it was not much more than twenty minutes before he helped Eve into the car at the Garland's entrance. Her mood was serene but severely practical.

"I oughtn't to let you spend money on me this way," she murmured as she took her place beside him. The matter of money was increasingly on her mind. He gave the wheel a care-free whirl and started the roadster uptown.

The roadster was approaching the turn that led to White Plains. She glanced down at her black pumps and her face sobered.

"I had a shock this morning when I looked at myself in the glass and got the full effect of my dyed hair in a bright light," she abruptly announced.

"I can imagine it. I'm glad myself when you wear your hat. Talking of food has made me hungry," Hamilton added, for the

WAGGONER FAMILY AT REUNION PLAN TO HONOR WAR HERO

The annual reunion of the Waggoner family held Sunday in Freeland Grove was largely attended. About two hundred fifty participated in a big dinner at the noon hour and many more in the afternoon. George Daugherty presided, with Rev. Robert Martin offering prayer at the morning song service. GOSPEL MISSION

8:00 p. m., Evangelistic services 8:00 p. m. Prayer meeting on Thursday.

You are welcome to enjoy the services with us. Brother Ridge-way will deliver the message. Matt. 24:13 But he that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved.

Not that one who starts, and gives up falling by the wayside and expects to be picked up by the Lord and carried under the wire at the end of the race, a winner, but that one who endures. He may stumble and fall many times, yet he is up and at it again, ever striving, always enduring. The devil sees that we are given plenty of tests, the Lord sees that we are given sufficient grace. The other day we watched three boys riding a bicycle around the courthouse, alternating, to establish an endurance records, but they were not getting any where, just round and round in a circle. I wonder if as Christians too many of us are not that way? Are you further on your way today than yesterday? Oh, of course you are one day nearer the end of the race, but have you been moving in a circle, or have you advanced in your fellowship with Jesus Christ?

JIM SMITH WANTS CITY TO INSTALL DRINKING FOUNTAINS

"We have plenty of good water, so why do we not make it available to the people who come to this city, when they want a drink?"

That is the way Jim Smith, clothier and philosopher feels about the matter. Elaborating on his plans, he says: "True, we have a few public wells, but everybody knows that drinking out of a tin cup that is used by anybody that comes along is unhealthy. We don't know how pure the water in these wells is. We do know that the water which we get out of our pipes is pure and healthy."

To remedy these conditions, Mr. Smith suggests that the city install several drinking fountains on the square in easily accessible places. These fountains would always have on tap a flow of Sullivan's pure deep well water. These fountains are sanitary. No cups would be used. The water, coming from pipes, deep underground, would always be cool and refreshing. In years past Mr. Smith has sponsored some very worthwhile projects for Sullivan and has usually seen his plans successful. It is safe to predict that if he gets deserved support in his plans for drinking fountains, sooner or later, these fountains will be installed.

WEDDED 35 YEARS; GUESTS FRIDAY AT KIWANIS LUNCHEON

E. A. McKenzie is a member of the local Kiwanis club. At Friday's luncheon he was accompanied by Mrs. McKenzie and the two were guests of honor, it being their 35th wedding anniversary.

Thirty-five years ago on July 25th E. A. McKenzie and Miss Anna Evans, prominent young people of this community slipped away to Chicago and there were united in marriage by Rev. Dr. Bolton of the Centenary M. E. church. They returned to this city, determined to keep the momentous event a secret, but secrets will out and a notice of the marriage which appeared in the Chicago Tribune spoiled the plans. For the first seven months of their married life Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie lived at the Eden Inn, now the National Inn. They then moved to their present place of residence.

The Kiwanis speaker was Dr. Turner, late of Lincoln College, now the new pastor of the Presbyterian church in this city. Kiwanis will have a month's vacation and there will be no meetings during the month of August.

Want Route 132 C. R. Patterson, president of the Community club told of a road meeting recently held in Mattoon at which it was decided to ask all local civic organizations to petition the state highway department and Governor Emmerson for the construction of route 132 from Masonic Home to Mattoon next year. The club went on record unanimously as favoring such action and will petition the officials along this line. The petition asks for construction and leaves location entirely up to the highway department.

FRED ALDRIDGE NOW COMPLETELY HELPLESS

The case of Fred Aldridge of this city is pathetic. Reports say that he is completely helpless, confined to his bed and hardly able to move. He was injured in a fall at the Crowder Seed Company about 18 months ago. He was on crutches for a time. The insurance company which carried the insurance, stopped payment. There was some court procedure to force payment. Some of the specialists called in to testify for the insurance companies presented convincing proof that Mr. Aldridge was not permanently disabled. The official who heard the testimony ruled in favor of the insurance company and against Mr. Aldridge. This did not cure Mr. Aldridge, however, and his case has been getting continually worse. For a time he was able to get around on crutches. Then he had to discard them and was able to crawl around on hands and knees. Now it is said he is not even able to do that. Before he had his accident, Mr. Aldridge was a hard working man, usually employed and attending strictly to his own business.

SUPT. McCORVIE BACK FROM HIS VACATION

A. E. McCorvie superintendent of the Illinois Masonic Home returned Tuesday from a three weeks vacation trip. He was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. McCorvie and son Archie. They did not return but stayed at Argle, Illinois with relatives for a few weeks longer. While away Mr. McCorvie and his family spent some time in Cleveland and Buffalo and then crossed over into Canada where they visited with relatives at Chatham. After their return to States, they went to Northport, Michigan where they had a delightful time in a temperature of 65 to 70 while most of the rest of the country was sweltering in record-breaking heat.

FAY BLACKWELL WAS RELEASED ON BOND

Fay Blackwell a young man of this community, who was but recently discharged from the army after serving his enlisted period, was arrested this week on a bastardy charge preferred by a Humphreys girl of Arthur. She has a child past two years of age of which she charges Blackwell with being the father. The young man has been released on bond, pending prosecution of the charges.

LOYAL DAUGHTERS PICNIC

The Loyal Daughters will have an all day picnic at Pifer's park Thursday, August 7th. This event will take the place of the July and August parties. A picnic dinner will be served at noon and the families are invited. A business meeting will be held and several important things are to be discussed.

—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Temple and daughter of St. Louis, Mrs. Irma Carter and daughter of Houston, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. George Tabor of Chicago were dinner guests Sunday at the J. B. Tabor home.

—Miss Ruby Green of the General Telephone office spent Tuesday here on business.

THE WEATHER

Friday evening we were threatened with rain. The country northwest of here had a soaking shower. Elmer DeBruler says that more than an inch of rain fell in and near Bethany.

It is nice and cool this (Thursday) morning. It has been exceedingly hot, however, since last week and heat records have fallen all around. A temperature of better than 108 is some hot weather.

Do you remember how nice and cool it was last winter when it was somewhere about 23 below zero. The past twelve-months seem to have given us record-breaking extremes in both heat and cold. First we get chilled to the marrow and then we get all thawed out again. It's great weather. It helps to make fine men and women.

We need rain. We need it so badly that it would not be difficult to get up a reception committee to greet every cloud that blows up, while a real thunder storm from the west ought to be met with a brass band and parade. We note in many papers that they are praying for rain. In a public way we have not started that yet. Perhaps, it would be interfering with the Creator's plans. You know if the farmers could get just the kind of weather that they'd be inclined to pray for, this United States would raise so big a surplus food supply that you couldn't give the stuff away. So, everything considered, perhaps things are all working out for the best interest of all concerned. Rain is not dished out on a basis of reward for the deserving and those who fear God, else why should Bethany have gotten rain and Sullivan be passed up? You know the folks over there voted liberally for Hoover and that certainly was nothing for which they should be rewarded. But at that, they are good people and we like

"I'll be ready for my luncheon." She was not only ready for it, but she ate it, to his immense relief. They had a table on a hotel veranda commanding a superb view of river and hills and meadows, and after the meal they lingered to enjoy the vista while Hamilton smoked a cigar.
