The outgoing Democratic choice seems to be Attorney Lott Herrick of Merri City. Several Democratic meetings in other counties in the district have endorsed him. The Republican choice apparently falls on F. Bonner Leonard, Champaign attorney with offices in the Lincoln building in that city.

TIRE & BATTERY STATION HOST TO AUTO MECHANICS

Eighteen interested garage men and mechanics were present in the I. O. O. F. hall Monday night to see a program sponsored by the Tire & Battery Station. The program had been arranged by the Perfect Circle Company of Hagerstown, Ind.

The first feature on the program was a comedy talking picture "Felix at his best."

Then followed another important feature—the address of welcome by Leslie A. Atchison, owner of the Tire & Battery Station.

Following this address a representative of the company made an introductory talk on the main picture of the evening "The Magic Circle."

At the close of the program cigars and cigarettes were passed around while those present discussed the merits of the program.

PRUDENTIAL LOAN BUSINESS GOES TO SPRINGFIELD OFFICE

The Prudential Insurance Co., farm loan business which for some years has been handled by the McLaughlin Bond & Mortgage Company of this city has been transferred to a Prudential branch office in Springfield.

The local company issues the following statement relative to this business change:

"The Prudential Insurance Company, which has for many years handled all their farm loan business through correspondents with direct connections with the Home Office at Newark, New Jersey, has recently adopted a new policy of establishing branch offices of its own, and one has been opened at Springfield.

"This policy has been inaugurated on account of the unsettled conditions in the farm loan business. Their present requirements in connection with new loans have become so strict that they did not feel that the volume of business which they could accept from correspondents would justify the correspondents in servicing the loans in force and the cases in trouble.

"The McLaughlin Bond & Mortgage Company of Sullivan, Illinois has been handling and supervising a number of Central and Southern Illinois Counties. Other similar organizations have been operating at Springfield, Clinton, Champaign and Danville. All of the agencies will hereafter be handled through the Springfield Branch of the Home Office.

"This action on the part of the Prudential is in no way a reflection on the local organization or upon any other correspondent. The McLaughlin Bond & Mortgage Company has experienced very little trouble in the loans which they have placed and the trouble cases in Southern Illinois were ones which were placed through other agencies, supervision of which was later transferred to them.

"The direct connection which the local company has enjoyed has been an asset to Sullivan and to the farmers of Moultrie and adjoining Counties, and while the officers regret to lose the direct connection, they realize that conditions in general in the agricultural sections in regard to farm loans are such that it necessitated the Home Office taking the action they have."

Not having the wherewithal to pay the fine he is still in jail.

Judge Dismisses Rowland Case; No Jury Trials

Wife of Coles Man Not Given Separate Maintenance. Several Foreclosure and Partition Suits Have Been Filed.

Judge Wamsley in the circuit court here Thursday of last week after hearing all the evidence in the case of Mrs. Martha Rowland against her husband Charles D. Rowland for separate maintenance ruled that the case be dismissed for want of equity. He dissolved an injunction against Mr. Rowland and ruled that further alimony payments be discontinued. The action of the judge is doubtless based on the testimony of Mr. Rowland that he was willing to take his wife into his home and support her. Mrs. Rowland's reasons, as given in her testimony, for living apart from her husband were not considered sufficient to entitle her to separate maintenance. The Rowlands live in Coles.

After the Judge's ruling a motion was entered to secure fees for complainant's solicitor, who was Attorney John McNutt of Mattoon.

All cases requiring a jury trial were continued and where date for trial had been set, such date was cancelled. This action is due to the Supreme Court ruling that women cannot serve legally on juries. The petit jury for the present term of court consists of both men and women.

Several matters under jurisdiction of Master in Chancery O. F. Cochran were reported on and approved. In the foreclosure case of R. B. Foster vs. Cordelia Sheridan (also known as Delia Farney, or Delia Harkrader) the cause was reported settled and dismissed on complainant's costs.

The next day of court will be June 5th.

New Cases Filed
New cases docketed this week are as follows:

J. A. Webb, foreclosure against Edith Wolfe, Edith Wolfe, admx. estate of Garrett Wolfe, deceased, Allen Bozell, Clementine Duncan and others.

Ed Harris & T. R. Harris, doing business as a firm, against D. W. Carnine, contractor, Bill for Lien.

James Morton Weeks against Laura Elizabeth Evans, Robert Adkins Weeks and others for partition.

They report a very pleasant stay at Orlando where they saw Mrs. Angie Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wright and family, Judge and Mrs. W. K. Whitfield and Mr. and Mrs. William Whitfield, all former Sullivan folks.

They started on their return trip to Sullivan Thursday morning about 11 o'clock. The last day's journey started from Chattanooga Saturday morning and after a day of strenuous driving they saw the welcome outlines of the home city shortly after the clock on the court house dome had boomed out the hour of midnight and ushered in the Sunday morn.

The delegates were very much impressed with the important aspects of the Kiwanis activities. They will make a complete report to the local organization which they represented.

The Florida weather while they were immersed in it was hot and wet, with showers every day.

BEACH-WICKHAM
GRAIN OFFICE TO LEAVE SULLIVAN

Patterson And Roney Flew To Cuba And Back

Local Kiwanians Report Interesting and Thrilling Experiences During Their Stay in the Sunny Southland. Back Sunday A. M.

Dr. George A. Roney and Attorney C. R. Patterson, Sullivan delegates to the Kiwanis International convention at Miami, Florida can tell about the pleasures of air-cruising on days of calm and on days of storm. They had both kinds of travel on their journey to and from Cuba.

The Kiwanis party including Mrs. Patterson and daughter Jacqueline returned to this city Sunday morning at 12:30.

They left here Thursday, April 30th and arrived in Orlando on the Sunday following. The trip was made in the Patterson car. Mrs. Patterson and daughter remained with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mouser in Orlando and the men went on to Miami for the convention.

Friday morning of that week they flew to Cuba. They tried to go on Thursday but could not get airplane reservations. The trip took 2 hours and 15 minutes and they arrived in Cuba at 10:15 a. m. The air was balmy and it was smooth sailing. They left Havana, Cuba Sunday afternoon at three o'clock and on their return trip encountered unexpected thrills as the plane had to ride out a storm and there was plenty of rock-a-by action. The plane carried 7 passengers and a crew of three.

After their arrival in Miami they found the garage where their car was parked locked and it took several hours to find somebody to release the car. They then motored to Ft. Myers where they spent the night and on Monday proceeded to Orlando to join the rest of the travelers.

They report a very pleasant stay at Orlando where they saw Mrs. Angie Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wright and family, Judge and Mrs. W. K. Whitfield and Mr. and Mrs. William Whitfield, all former Sullivan folks.

They started on their return trip to Sullivan Thursday morning about 11 o'clock. These two boys will enter the state oratorical contest at Urbana. George Weingartner of Marion was selected as alternate.

BRUCE SLUGGERS DEFEATED COLORED DECATUR NINE

The Decatur Stars, a clean fine looking bunch of colored athletes from the city by the lake, got licked Sunday in their ball game with Ott Kinsel's Bruce Sluggers.

The final score was 9 to 7. It was anybody's game until the last man was out. The cheer leader for the Stars was Henry Cummins of this city. The outcome of the game rather wilted Henry. He thought he had picked a "Twenty Grand" but his team came in second best.

Manager Kinsel reports that 80 carloads of people were present to see the game which was played on his diamond at Bruce. Three pitchers were used by the Sluggers, Misenheimer, Dennis and Earl Abbott. Cadell Abbott did the receiving behind the plate.

Next Sunday the Lake City boys who are prime favorites at Bruce and are a peppy bunch of players, will try to corral a win from the Sluggers. They have played at Bruce before this season and another good game is sure to result.

There are 59 tuition pupils in the school this year. These come from Non-high school territory in this county and Coles county and from neighboring high school districts. Those coming from neighboring districts find it more convenient to come to Sullivan and are given the necessary transfer permits. ## SEE SULLIVAN SUCCEED

Editorial

I have set the Lord always before me; because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved.

Therefore my heart is glad, and my glory rejoiceth; my flesh also shall rest in hope.

For thou wilt not leave my soul in hell; neither wilt thou suffer thy Holy One to see corruption.

Thou wilt shew me the path of life; in thy presence is fullness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore.

—Psalm XVI—8:11.

JUST KEEP ON

Just keep on a-livin' an' keep on a-givin'

An' keep on a-tryin' to smile;

Just keep on a-singin', a-trustin' an' a -clingin'

To the promise of an after while.

For the sun comes up and the sun goes down,

An' the morning follows night.

There's a place to rest like a mother's breast

An' a time when things come right.

Just keep on believin' an' a-hidin' all your grievin',

An' keep on a-tryin' to cheer.

Just keep on a-prayin', a-lovin' and a-sayin'

The things that we love to hear.

For the tide comes in and the tide goes out,

An' the dark will all turn bright;

There's a rest from the load an' an end to the road

An' a place where things come right.

—Clifton Abbott

The Students Who Never Win Honors

Some children are naturally bright. Some have home environments that help considerably in their school work. Some work hard, both in and out of school. It is of these latter that we would write.

It's easy for the naturally bright child to get his or her lessons. They can memorize the whole thing if need be. Their minds are retentive. School work is easy for them. If coupled to a bright mind there is a home with plenty of books, newspapers and similar associations such bright child can easily make the honor roll, and usually does.

But there are children in grade and high schools who never see their names on honor rolls. Does that mean that they shirk their studies? Does it mean that they spent their time in trifling? It does with some but by no means is that the case with all.

There are among these Non-honor roll pupils the hardest workers in the school. While laurels and acclaim are showered on the brighter minds, these less honored pupils keep plugging along. It is hard for them to memorize. Study to them is work, hard work. But when they have grasped a fundamental fact, in whatever branch of study it may be, they have it. To them it must present practical aspects. It must fit in with their life's problems. Knowledge thus attained is a reward for hard work.

You seldom find such students winning applause on the athletic field. Their scholastic standing usually bars them from that. You do not find them excelling in dramatics or in other activities that bring them into the public eye. That must be rather discouraging. That is why some such students get disgusted and leave school as soon as the law permits. They can't hope to win in an educational race with the clever and brighter pupils.

Graduation seldom means for them the stepping stone into college. It means that they must tackle the hard problems of life. They do. Graduation to them is a real accomplishment. In doubt until after the final exams as to whether or not they have made a passing grade, they cherish the victory they have won.

School athletes step into a world where disillusionment comes rapidly. They may have been great football stars and basketball favorites, but that gets them nothing in real life. Made giddy by the wild acclaim of friends, many athletes go to the demerol bow-wows, others find that over-exertion instead of building sturdy physique has had the opposite effect.

Bright scholars, endowed by their Creator with such brightness may be able to make good use of it, or they too may find it not so easy to make the honor-roll in life.

But the hard working, steady student has no such life's handicaps to overcome. Nobody made much of a fuss over him while in school and he expects no favors, no applause in private life. He just knuckles down and plugs along, applying those things that he learned by close application and hard study.

So here's to the graduate this year, who has made good without ever being a shining mark! Here's to the student whose school life has meant hard work, persistent application, with time for no extra-curricular activities! The bright ones have had their publicity, they have had their acclaim.

They have been no more deserving than those of whom you have not heard—those who have never been on the football field or basketball floor; whom you have never seen on the stage or in championship activities!

In ten or twenty years from now, should you check up on the measure of success any of this year's graduates have achieved, we'll venture to predict that you will find that these unassuming, hard-working boys and girls will top the list and their names will be boldly inscribed on the "Honor Roll" of life.

An Age Of Conquest -- Till Death Comes

Prior to the year 1800, so historians tell us, there had been no radical change or development in human life for many centuries.

True there had been revolutions and changes in government, but the life of the average people had not changed much. Then came change. Rapid transportation, centralization of capital and development of big business led the way toward life as we know it today.

And the change is still going on. What was modern and considered the height of perfection a few short years ago today is obsolete. Humanity ever aims toward more money, more of the comforts of life, easier ways of living.

If a man who died ten years ago could return to earth today, he would be confused, bewildered and ill at ease.

Radios would blare at him, automobiles going 50 to 75 miles an hour would keep him dodging, hard roads would fill his mind with wonderment; airplane passenger craft zooming through the skies would cause him to say "I knew that was coming". Tractors in the fields would have taken the place of the horses he knew; combines threshing the grain while harvesting it would cause him to stare. These are but a few of the things that ten short years have developed. True, their beginnings were here ten years ago, but today they are part and parcel of our lives.

What will the next ten years bring us? Whither are we bound? What meaneth all this? The old world after centuries of repose is seeing its forces harnessed by the human scum that infests it.

Doesn't it make you rather dizzy when you take time out from life's daily activities to try and figure out what it's all about? And just about that time, you see a hearse going by and you can't do otherwise than come to the conclusion, that no matter how living may change, death is still the final arbiter that reaches forth its hand to take us from life's mad whirl and the grave is still a grave, e'en though mortal remains are now hurried to their resting place in a motorized hearse.

Main Street Looks at Broadway

World's Worst Singer

The Metropolitan Opera House stands on a square block with its northeast corner at Fortieth St., and Broadway. In the big auditorium the world's greatest singers entertain during the season the wealthiest and most famous audiences in the world.

Under the corner mentioned there is a subway entrance and, stationed in it every morning as the office workers pour by him on their way to work, stands a blind beggar. He sings to attract attention.

Of all the voices ever heard his must be the worst. It is a monotone, penetrating and absolutely devoid of any quality of human sympathy. It is curious that within a few yards of the stage where the world's best singers appear can be found the world's poorest voice.

Beggars Licensed

All New York beggars must obtain a city license before being permitted to importune passers-by. They are given a badge similar to those carried by hucksters, truckmen, and other legitimate workers. In no other city in the United States can so many beggars be found on the street. Frankly, New York streets of the present day, in this respect, resemble those of London when Dickens was prowling around getting material for the Sketches by Boz.

City Farmers

Spring in a big city brings out the "city farmers" in force. On Manhattan Island the chief crop consists of flowers. Usually a lone pot with a single sickly geranium satisfies the agricultural urge of a whole family of tenement dwellers. The more ambitious add a canary, which may be seen on the fire escape, chirping away with right good will.

Mulberry Street, which Italians have made their own, the lower East Side, long the home of Jewish refugees from Europe, China-town and other centers of different nationalities all go in for this kind of farming in about the same degree.

One thing that never fails to arouse a feeling of sorrow in the breast of the visitor is the occasional tree to be found in a backyard. In almost all cases the trees wear an air of slowly choking to death from the pall of soot that overlies their skimpy leaves. Probably there is not a single "monarch of the forest" in all Manhattan's 22 square miles.

An Artful Dodge

One blind beggar we have observed works a clever system. He has a nice little Boston bull-dog ostensibly as his leader. By the way it might add to his receipts if the dog was not so obviously well fed and contented. Never has there been such a rotund, pudgy self-satisfied animal in the world as this dog. He is so fat that his legs seem to bulge with the job of carrying his over-size body.

The trick we refer to consists of the beggar dropping a pencil, apparently unknowingly. It usually is to be seen lying between the forelegs of the dog, who has been trained to make ineffectual efforts to pick it up. He never succeeds.

Watching the pair for a few minutes we saw a stylishly dressed stenographer stoop and hand the pencil to the beggar, along with a piece of change; a prosperous looking business man repeated the action, adding in a quiet pat for the dog; and a chauffeur, who stopped his limousine, jumped out and picked up a third pencil.

Nobody, seemingly, could resist the desire to help out the dog no matter what they thought about the beggar.

Apple Men Gone

Apple peddlers were ousted from the mid-section of Manhattan on May Day, after a more or less prosperous six months. The city authority, who actually seem more human here than in any other place in the world, no matter how one regards Tammany, suspended the rules and allowed all unemployed men and women to get a box of apples and open up business anywhere they desired. Some of them made up to $5 or more a day and nearly all made a living.

Recently, figuring the shortening bread-lines indicated a lessening of need, the authorities issued an order to drive out the apple peddlers in the busy centers of the town. Citizens in general approve the action of the city, both in permitting the custom and bringing it to a close.

Wealthy Panhandlers

It is now an old story about how many peddlers have a fat bank account. The truth of the yarn is proved time and again by some police court incident. Only the other day an unlicensed beggar, who was fined $10, stripped off a bill of that size from a roll that appeared to contain a thousand dollars or more and passed it over to the court clerk to purchase his freedom. And the clerk could do nothing but take it.

Peanuts make a good sandwich filling, if you put the roast shelled nuts through a coarse meat grinder, and then stir in enough cream to make the mixture easy to spread. Add salt. This filling will not be pasty.

FORUM

To the Talking Public:

As to over-production of the products of the farm, do you know of any producer of the soil who is burdened with over-production at the present time? Isn't it indebtedness that forces you to sell the products? Has there been one good year in the past five favorable for corn and small grain? The majority of us buy what we WANT and use credit instead of buying what we NEED. It seems that there is a need for better judgment and less belly-aching. Myself Included.

CLEANING ODE ON SEASON'S COMMUNITY ACTIVITIES

Dear friends and neighbors, when we met, The cooks soon had the table set. The supper cooked by hands with skill—

A work of love and much good will.

A bounteous supper this repeat, Of this year's meet it is the last. For many moons will pass us by Before we see such stocks of pie, And cake and other dainties fine. All spread before us in a line, So we can eat and then eat more. Until our tummies full and sore. For months about fourth Friday night,

We've met at early candle light. And spent the evenings here together. Albeit fair or foul the weather.

A question: Have we all been paid For all our work and efforts made? If not, the cause? Who is to blame?

Just tell us and we'll write your name

Upon the board where all can see, And then we'll listen to your plea. Perhaps the fault is my own sin, Because I failed to put more in. If I had put more in, you see, I could have drawn out more b'gee.

Seems like it is a rule of life, Whether it be in peace or strife, The more we honest, truly give, The more enjoyment we do live. Here at this place our children meet

And play croquet and hide-and-seek And talk of things that's odd and queer

And much 'bout things at home they hear, Their talk, and echo seems to me Of what is said at home. Let's see Let's make these talks so pure and mild,

Exactly fitted for a child. O, make each word and echo true And that will help both me and you,

To hold our tongue, to curb our talk It will improve our daily walk O, put this motto on your shelf To love thy neighbor as thyself

And do to others as we would, That they should do to us, We good Beautiful are the words these days That for thy neighbor speak his praise.

Beautiful are our thoughts indeed, If we follow the old apostle's creed

Of peace on earth, Good will to men Let's learn it by heart and practice it then.

Beautiful, yes, our eyes will be If only the pure and good they see The bad, untrue, O, banish away, To the bottomless pit where the demons stay.

Beautiful are the lips that speak Always the truth. Be humble, meek, And angels will await to bear us away,

To a land of beauty, a cloudless day, Where the good and pure forever live,

Who daily the best of their lives they give In helping friends and neighbors and others,

In helping them as good sisters, and brothers When we do this truly, when it's purely love, We're truly praising the Father above.

Birds will in their little nests agree, And it seems that people, like you and me

Should do as well as the little birds In all our deeds and thoughts and words

If we do wrong, we can't feel right Nay, not by day nor not by night. Let's try to do the right, and say The things that stand for peace, and may

The God of peace be with us all, Until we meet again next fall.

—J. J. Martin.

A good rat dog is almost indispensable on a farm where old buildings attract rats and offer shelter for them. A small terrier dog, especially when taught to hunt by itself will often keep a farm entirely free from rats.

Here are three fine points in fry potatoes: Use a heavy skillet; let the pieces brown on one side before turning them; and cook only enough at one time to cover the bottom of the skillet, in a fairly thin layer.

5,000 BUILDING ROADS

According to a bulletin issued by the highway division's bureau of construction for the week ending April 30, direct employment in highway construction work was increasing at a rate in excess of 100 men each day. There are 5,000 men directly employed at road work and 21.55 miles of pavement and 1.41 miles of graveling and macadam were completed during the week.

WAY OF LIFE

By Bruce Barton

DON'S SEND IT

Some years ago I met a man who spoke as follows:

"The boss issued a memorandum today with a lot of new instructions. Some of them were all wet, and I didn't hesitate to tell him so. I shot a memo right back at him, and believe me, it was a hot one."

Said another man: "I received my first business training under a wise old bank official. One day a letter came in from a customer who made unreasonable complaints and asked for an unwarranted favor."

"I sat up almost all night drafting an answer to that letter. It was a beauty, and I took it in to the old man next morning with pride. His head nodded approvingly as he read it."

"You have put the case just right," he said. "The position you have taken is based on sound banking principles; it states our attitude with dignity and force. All in all, it's a very fine letter, and I congratulate you on it. Only, for Heaven's sake, don't send it."

Afterwards, I learned that the man I first quoted was paid $4,000 a year; the other is paid $40,000.

Like every other man in business, I receive a certain number of communications which are both unkind and unfair. Having red hair and a naturally quick temper, I used to let such letters hoist my temperature considerably. Sometimes I carried them around in my mind for several days, forming red hot phrases in reply.

Now I play a much meaner trick on the writers. I do not answer them at all. I can imagine one of my critics going down to the front gate every morning to meet the postman, looking eagerly for my answer, thinking up what he will say in his next outburst.

Day after day goes by, and no answer comes. The fire that was to burn me up, burns him up instead.

This method of dealing with one's enemies is certainly not spectacular and maybe it is unmanly. If so, I can reply only that as I grow older the glory of being spectacular appeals to me less and less in comparison with the comfortable joys of peace.

Life seems somehow too short for controversy, and much of my income in these days is received not so much for what I do as for what I have learned not to do.

Patience, I have learned, is almost as important as work; while judgment uniformly commands a much higher rate than well intentioned activity.

What is judgment? you ask. Well, it's the little voice that whispers: "That would be brilliant but don't do it." Or, "That's a smart one; very smart indeed. But, for Heaven's sake, don't send it."

WANT NEW CAPITOL DOME

House Bill No. 1061 offered by Representative Homer Tice, of Greenview, provides for an appropriation of $325,000 to make repairs and provide a new dome for the state capitol. A recent inspection of the building finds dry rot is weakening the supports of the dome and there is danger of collapse. The roof leaks and cost of repair is out of reason.

DEPOSITORS' PROTECTION

A bill to provide for a bank depositors guaranty fund has been introduced in the house by Representative Mason S. Sullivan, of Chicago. All state banks would be required to pay four per cent of their capital stock to the state auditor, and depositors of an individual bank that became deficient would be paid from this fund.

PAUPER BILL TO GOVERNOR

Senate Bill No. 99, Senator Finn's bill giving county boards authority to transfer to townships the support of paupers, has been passed and given to the governor for his consideration.

Mrs. Jones (in store) "I want three shirts for my husband. He wears size 16 neck band."

Mrs. Smith (in whisper) "Aren't you making a mistake? I'm sure your husband does not wear more than size 13."

Mrs. Jones—"Shut up. Do you think I want the clerk to know what a little runt I'm married to?"

The fishing season brings forth all kinds of stories. One of the latest we heard is of the husband who swipes the food the wife bought for the goldfish and feeds it to his minnows to make them fat and saucy.

"It ain't so either, that my husband is stingy," said the Sullivan woman. "He's liberal. He is. Why I've often heard him say 'give the canary another seed.' Just like as if canary seed cost nothing."

"I can't deny you a single wish," said the bridegroom. "Oh, John but you are a darling," gushed the bride.

"Yeah, but remember dearie—don't do anything more than wishing. Wishes cost nothing."

"Where were you born?" "In a hospital."

"Gosh, was you sick right to start with?"

Advance Dope Grand Theatre

Manager Hays announces that you will be able to see "All's quiet on the Western Front" here in Sullivan the latter part of June. In booking this picture Mr. Hays is deviating a little from his usual custom of booking only the best new pictures. This picture is not new, but it is a classic and has never been shown here. Many Sullivan folks have asked Mr. Hays to get it and as he aims to please—it's coming.

Among other good stuff that's headed toward the Grand are: Marion Davies in "It's a Wise Child"; Sylvia Sydney and Gary Cooper in "City Streets"; Marlene Dietrich and Victor McLaglen in "Dishonored"; Adolph Menjou in "Men Call It Love"; Helen Twelvetrees in "Millie"; Wallace Berry in "The Secret Six"; and what do you know about this? "The Cohens and Kellys in Africa." These are on the slate for an early showing and there are plenty more of good ones.

Invite your friends and the whole wide world to come to Sullivan to see good shows at the Grand. Mr. Hays is giving us a live, up-to-date theatre. Tell the world. Help Sullivan by helping its show house. Everybody that comes here for picture shows will come back for something else.

The Week's Program
"Skiing" is here Thursday and Friday nights of this week. Also last chapter of "Martin Johnson's Trip." A well-balanced program. You can't help but like it.

Saturday's Star
William Haines turns tailor and he does lots of other turns, etc., in the picture "A Tailor Made Man" which will be at the Grand one night only—Saturday. A bit of the story—Haines playing the part of John Paul Bart for want of something better to do is a clothes-peddler. He falls in love with his boss' daughter—ain't it nice for bosses to have such daughters?—But Bart gets ambitious. He rigs himself in a swell suit and crashes the gates at a reception of the city's rich man. There are ups and downs and plenty of comedy and romance. It's the kind of picture you'll tell your friends about.

Your Sweetheart's Coming
You remember some years ago they referred to Mary Pickford as America's sweetheart. Never having heard of a marriage, I suppose that's still her status.

For the first time in many weeks a Pickford picture is the stellar attraction at Grand. Kiki will be here Sunday and Monday. David Belasco who died last week wrote the play. Mary (Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks) is assisted in the cast by Reginald Denny, Joseph Cawthorne et al. The whole performance is packed with sparkling comedy.

edy and that winsome "It" which made Mary Pickford the best loved screen star. Mary plays the part of a pretty little madcap in a Broadway Revue and she's madly in love with her boss. Come and see how this situation works out in a rollicking comedy.

Ruth Chatterton

The press agents have invented a few superlative adjectives in their effort to do homage and describe the acting of Ruth Chatterton. She is usually billed as "the first lady of the screen." She can act. Paul Lukas who stars with her in the play "Unfaithful" is not exactly a ham actor either. So when you go to the Grand on either Tuesday or Wednesday nights, you'll see a wonderful show. There will be love that thrills you and pride and tense conflict that baffles and intrigues you, but of course it'll all be sweet and lovely by the time of the fade-out.

How About "Stepping Out?"
Tubby Smith and Tom Martin are oil millionaires. Tom really loves his wife but Tubby is tired of being hen-pecked by his and wants to annex some new romance. They go to Hollywood and back a moving picture. There are two pretty girls in the picture. Need more be said? You know the beginning of the plot and you'll get a whale of a kick out of seeing the whole story unfolded in the picture Thursday or Friday nights of next week. Also see Bobby Jones give his golf lesson "The Niblick." All golfers and would-be golfers are talking about this film sensation. Bobby is there with the goods.

YOUTH'S CHICKEN DEALINGS LEAD TO EMBARRASSING END

This is a tale of chickens. The names of the participants are generally known. As it was the youth's first offense, we refrain from publishing his name.

The youth in question attends school here. He lives in the country with his folks.

One night recently he caught six of his mother's hens, tied their legs and carried them some distance from the house and left them alongside a fence, intending to take them to the city the next morning.

When he started to town the next morning he saw a neighbor working in a field near where he left the hens. He did not have the nerve to get his hens but came to town without them.

The farmer found the hens and thinking they might have been stolen from his flock took them home. When the youth got home from school he went to the farmer's house and claimed the hens.

He brought them to town and sold three at one produce house and three at another. About this time the Sheriff got interested in these transactions. He gathered up the hens and took them to the home of the farmer who had found them. He turned them loose. It was near roosting time. The hens acted like strangers. He corralled them again and took them to the youth's home and they speedily convinced the law that they were home by making tracks toward their accustomed roosts.

As nobody seemed anxious to start prosecution in the case, the sheriff questioned the youth as to how long he had been engaged in such transactions and then left him to the mercies of his conscience and the admonition of his parents.

This incident proves conclusively that your devilment will find you out and its not a bit pleasant when you've got to explain to the sheriff that you've been engaged in rather questionable activities.

Let's have a SHOWDOWN on this matter of TIRE COMPARISONS

WITH all the conflicting claims published about tires, it is obvious that misleading statements are being made. The only conclusion that you as a tire buyer can draw is that either we, as Firestone Dealers, are misrepresenting Firestone products, or that a certain mail order house is not telling the truth about theirs. EXCELLENT is hardly the word. Read these facts gathered on the Indianapolis Speedway and certified by the American Automobile Association.

- 1 New Iso-Vis did not thin out from dilution.
- 2 During entire 9,000 mile tests, all parts of engine and chassis were lubricated effectively.
- 3 Only 1 quart of oil—Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy)—was used in 1,000 miles at 30 m. p. h.
- 4 Carbon formed was only 5.4 grams per cylinder at 30 m. p. h. using Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy).

5 The cylinder wear was too little to measure.

New Iso-Vis stands out on every one of these important qualities. Here are figures for other oils to shoot at.

They give dramatic proof of the protection given by New Iso-Vis—the only motor oil that will not thin out from dilution.

New Iso-Vis proved itself in 12 other cars on the track. No matter what make you drive, your car needs the protection of New Iso-Vis. Change your oil and fill up with New Iso-Vis at once.

SULLIVAN HIGH HAD 59 TUITION PUPILS THIS TERM

tuition to the district where the pupils attend.

The Non-High district is that territory which is not included in any high school district. Pupils residing in such Non-high territory have equal opportunity with those residing within a district to get a high school education. The Non-High board of education levies a tax to provide funds to pay such tuition. For some years, the Non-High board, though levying 50c, the limit that the law permits on $100 of assessed valuation, has been unable to raise enough money to pay non-high tuition claims in full. Last year only 75% was paid on such claims.

Sullivan's tuition claims this year are as follows:

Lovington, 1 pupil, full term—$173.50.

Windsor, 3 pupils, full term—$520.

Arthur, 11 pupils, some part term—$1,792.86.

Bethany, 1 pupil, part term—$115.68.

Coles Co. Non-High, 3 pupils—$520.50.

Moultrie Co., Non-high, 40 pupils, several only part time—$6,708.72.

A high school attracts outside pupils by being able to offer a range of studies, which are interesting and practical. A competent teaching staff is also very essential.

In Other Schools

It is rather interesting to note tuition charges of some other schools in this part of the state. In Douglas county the per capita cost is given as follows:

Atwood—$213.10.

Tuscola—$223.62.

Newman—$174.61.

Hindsboro—$259.63.

Arthur—$161.50.

Camargo—$218.11.

Arcola—$218.68.

Comparing these figures with those of the local school it can easily be seen that the local per capita is reasonably low and at that the school and its work ranks with the best in Central Illinois and has received much favorable comment from state school officials who have visited here at various times.

SULLIVAN MARKETS

Butterfat took a little price spurt of 2c last week and then dropped back to 17c. Other prices of produce have stiffened up a little this week. Hens are 9c to 14c; springs 22c to 25c with few reaching the market; old rooster prices are up to 9c for the heavy weights. Produce men want the farmers to get rid of the roosters and assure a better quality of eggs during the hot summer months. Eggs this week are worth 13c per dozen.

The Hoover grain market: wheat 64c; oats 22c; yellow corn 46c, white corn 47c. Very little grain is moving at this time. Either the farmers have none, or are holding what they have.

—Miss Margaret Harrington, formerly of this city, is a member of this year's graduating class at the Flagler Hospital school of nursing at St. Augustine, Florida. The exercises took place on Thursday of this week.

Hints for the Home

by Nancy Hart

Creamed Cabbage

One cabbage, 1 ounce of butter, one gill cream, pepper and salt to taste. Boil the cabbage, drain it, cut it up small and put into a saucepan with the butter and cream. Add seasoning of pepper and salt. Stir it all together over the fire until thoroughly hot, then turn out on to a hot dish, and serve with croutons.

Chocolate Eclairs

Here's the way to make delicious chocolate eclairs. Melt one-third cup butter in saucepan, add two tablespoons granulated sugar and one cup milk and bring to boil. Then add one cup flour. Stir vigorously with a wooden spoon, and as soon as the mixture sticks to the spoon remove from fire. Cool and add four eggs, one at a time, beating two minutes after each addition, and five minutes after all the eggs are added. Shape the mixture on a sheet of waxed paper through a pastry tube into strips half an inch wide and four inches long. Bake for twenty minutes in a moderate oven. Cool and slit each in the side. Fill with whipped cream sweetened and flavored with vanilla and a pinch of salt. Put thick chocolate icing on top of each.

Boiled Cabbage

For delicious boiled cabbage, remove all defective leaves, quarter and cut as for cole slaw, cover well with cold water, and let remain several hours before cooking then drain and put into pot with enough boiling water to cover; boil until thoroughly cooked (which will generally require about forty-five minutes) add salt ten or fifteen minutes before removing from fire, and when done, take up into a colander, press out the water well, and season with butter and pepper.

Bacon Biscuit

Make a good biscuit dough. Broil or fry bacon until it is just crisp and chop it in small pieces. Add to the biscuit dough and form the biscuit. Bake them brown and serve hot. The bacon takes the place of butter and thereby proves its worth.

Poached Egg Nest

Butter the inside of a cup and pour in the stiffly beaten white of a fresh egg. Make a little nest in the center and carefully drop in the yolk. Squeeze a drop or two of lemon juice on top, and set the cup in a bowl of boiling water. In cooking, the froth will rise to the top of the cup. As soon as the white is set, invert a plate over the cup and turn the egg out. Sprinkle with the tiniest bit of minced parsley, and serve quickly.

Vegetable Souffle

The left-over vegetables from a vegetable dinner are employed to make this souffle. The dish may be made from one vegetable alone or from a combination of all left-overs. The recipe will vary slightly according to the vegetables used but here is a good recipe.

Three cups chopped cooked spinach, one-half cup grated cheese, salt and pepper to taste, two tablespoons breadcrumbs, 3 tablespoons margarine, one cup white sauce, two eggs.

Stir the margarine into the spinach and heat. Add the cheese, white sauce, and egg yolk beaten. Have ready the stiffly beaten egg whites and fold into the vegetable mixture. Turn into a deep pudding dish which has been oiled and dust it with cracker crumbs. Bake three-quarters of an hour in a dish set in a pan of hot water.

SWIFT'S NEW ICE CREAM UNDERGOES RIGID TESTS

How would you like to be a member of the testing committee for an ice cream manufacturer? This is a real job despite the fact that it seems like a small boy's dream.

Swift & Company's new ice cream is already on the market, and it probably owes its deliciousness as much to sensitive tastes of the picked groups who act as judge and jury on flavor as to any other factor.

Imagine groups of men and women gathered about a table ready to pass sentence almost as inexorable as sentence is passed in a law court. But this is no ordinary court-room scene. Each jurymen is armed with a spoon—and a palate very susceptible to shades of flavor.

Various batches of ice cream are brought on in stately procession, and the jury passes sentence on them all.

The new Swift Ice Cream is a result of continuous taste tests. The aim is to find just exactly what balance of flavor is the most delicious to discriminating tastes.

To make an ice cream good enough, such tests had been going on for months before anyone ever heard of Swift's Ice Cream. And the ice cream today from vanilla to pistachio, or whatever is your favorite flavor, is the result of much tasting.

Because of the response and support which Sullivan and vicinity have always given the local Swift enterprise, and because of the availability of raw materials of the desired high standard, Swift & Company chose Sullivan as the point of manufacture and distribution of Swift's Ice Cream over a wide area of towns and countryside. Service for both city and country points is now in operation.

This is a new product for the company, and specifications as the taste tests would suggest call for an ice cream which will take its place with ease in the front rank of Swift's line of fine foods.

Surprises are promised in the form of added convenience in the style of carton.

An adequate fleet of refrigerator trucks has taken to the highways, determined that every outlet shall make it easy for the people of Sullivan to enjoy the new home product.

The fact that Swift & Company has established an ice cream department at Sullivan means that a still larger market will be afforded the producers of dairy products than that already furnished by this same company in their manufacture of butter. Not the least beneficial factor of the project is the opportunities for work which it opens.

The people of Sullivan and surrounding territory are invited by Swift & Company to come in and see how this new ice cream is made.

TOMORROW WILL BE POPPY DAY HERE IN SULLIVAN

Millions of Americans will pay honor to the Country's World War dead tomorrow by wearing the little red poppy of Flanders Fields. Early tomorrow morning an army of women, estimated to be 100,000 strong, mobilized for the work by the American Legion and its Auxiliary, will take the streets, throughout the country with baskets of memorial flowers. By night fall it is expected that poppies will be placed on approximately 10,000,000 coats and more than $1,000,000 received for the welfare of disabled veterans and their families.

The women of the Sullivan unit, American Legion Auxiliary, will provide the people of Sullivan with their poppies. Preparations for the sale have been worked out in such detail that no one in the city will be without opportunity to buy and wear a poppy, according to Mrs. Christina David, general chairman of the activity.

The poppies which the local unit of the Auxiliary will offer were made by disabled veterans. They are exact replicas of the wild poppy of France and Belgium which grew on the World War battle fields. No set price will be asked for the flowers, each purchaser being allowed to contribute any amount he desires for his poppy.

The bulk of the money which the citizens of Sullivan will pay for their poppies will remain here in the city and will be used for the relief of disabled veterans and needy families of veterans during the coming year. The poppy sale is the principal source of support for the continuous relief program which the Auxiliary Unit is carrying out. As heavier demands are being made on the Auxiliary this year than at any time in the past, the organization is hoping that more people than ever will "Honor the dead and serve the living" by wearing a poppy tomorrow.

by B. M. Bower

NINTH INSTALLMENT

"Reckon I could, Babe."
"Well, damn it, do it, then!"
When yuh draw a bead on a nester git 'im right. There ain't no come-back from a dead man. You got 'em out there before yuh, Tiger Eye; any jury in the world would make it self-defense. Yuh don't have to worry a damned bit. Now's your chance—git 'em, kid! Damn it, don't yuh know there's a bounty on nesters? You can collect five hundred apiece on 'em and no questions asked!"

"That the price on ole Pappy Murray, Babe?"
"Hell, it's the price on any damn nester! Didn't the Old Man tell yuh so?"

"Nevah did tell me that, Babe. Mistah Bell taken my name and wheah I'm from and all, and asked right smaht questions. Nevah did tell me anything, 'cepting I was to get my o'dahs from yo'all."

"Damn right, you git your orders from me! I order yuh right now to lay 'em cold! Kill every damn nester you can draw a bead on, out there! Save goin' after 'em in the valley. Hell, they're out to kill you, ain't they? You and me both! Git 'em, or they'll git you. Git the damned—Babe trailed off into a meaningless mumble."

The kid sighed and gougued at the dried mud and tried to think of something else.

"Why dammit, you come here with the dead list in your pocket!" Babe cried suddenly from the bunk, his sick brain seizing anew upon his grievance.

"I knowed you was lyin' when you said you found that map where the wind had blowed it into a bush. You was headin' straight for the nesters with the dead list, and you knowed what you had to do."

"You made a slip-up with me when you said you was goin' to Wheeler's place because Nate Wheeler's come first on the map. I like yuh, Kid, and I've let yuh make out like you're a nice little lad that wouldn't kill a m'skeeter. I ain't never asked no questions, but I ain't a damn fool. You had the dead list and that was all I needed to know. A main ain't expected to go around shootin' off his mouth about what he's doin'. Nobody wants yuh to advertise yourself."

"But, damn it, you've crippled one of the best shots the Poole has got, and you've been runnin' on me about beefin' old Murray, and yuh claim you won't kill a nester yourself for love or money. Looks pretty damn scaley to me, Kid—damned if it don't. Looks like they've got you workin' for 'em. Damn spy, for all I know."

Once more the kid tried not to listen. In one ear and out the other—that was the only way to do with fever talk. Plumb foolish Babe was shoah a sick man, all right.

He took up Babe's rifle and sent a shot over to where the little blue smoke clouds betrayed the position of the nesters. It wasn't much of a target; whether he wanted to hit a man or not, it was unsatisfactory shooting.

"How's the water holdin' out?"

That meant Babe wanted another drink. The kid filled the tin dipper, hoping Babe would not notice how he had to scrape the bottom of the bucket to do so. He hadn't thought of the water problem, but it loomed rather large now. Couldn't get to the spring while the daylight held, and Babe's thirst was growing. If the nesters stayed where they were, they had him trapped.

About noon, now. Seven hours or more till dark.

"Think you can git out through the roof?" Babe tried to prop himself on one elbow and watch, but the pain turned him dizzy and sick and he lay panting and cursing his helplessness.

"Shoah going to try?" said the kid grimly.
"They'll shoot yuh like a rabbit!"

The kid shook his head and stepped up on the foot of the bunk where he could bring his full strength into action, prying and pushing at the dirt covered poles of the roof.

Had the ridge beyond the little flat been higher, the nesters over there would have seen him when, at last, with a final avalanche of clouds and dust on the bunk, his head poked through into the sunlight. But the cabin stood on a little ridge of its own and only from the bluff opposite could one look upon the farther slope of the roof.

"Mebby when they bust in to-night you can drop down outside and make a run for it—but I can't. It's all day with me, anyhow. God, I'm dry! Gimme a drink before yuh go, will yuh, Tiger Eye?" Babe muttered.

"Shoah will, Babe. I'll get a bucket of watah directly."

"You stay inside. They'll fill yuh with lead, Kid."

"Nevah will see me, Babe. Gully back of the cabin goes to spring and beyond."

He poured all the water into one bucket and set it on a box close to the bunk where Babe could reach the dipper if he had to.

He kindled a small fire in the stove, and let the smoke advertise a live man's presence. An old trick, but so natural a one that so far as he knew it always worked.

Shots from the ridge answered that challenge. The kid waited until the firing ceased, then took his bucket and crawled out through the roof, dropping noiselessly to the ground and sliding at once into the brushy little gully that separated the cabin from the bluff behind it.

He did not feel that he was taking any risk, but all his life he had been drilled in caution, so he went sneaking along, keeping close under the bank and stopping every few feet to listen and peer ahead. He could not see any one, and it was so quiet that he could hear a lone mosquito humming over his head. Yet he felt a human presence near him. He stood still and waited two minutes, and his quick eyes caught a quiver in a drooping branch. Some one was hiding in the bushes just above the spring, lying close under cover and watching the cabin and the open flat beyond.

"Yo'all bettah crawl back outa that brush." The kid spoke with an ominous kind of calm. "Come damn careful, lessen yoah hungry foh lead."

Immediately the bushes shook as if swept by a sudden gale. A pair of legs with blue overalls tucked into worn riding boots came squirming backward into view. The kid reached out and grappled one and gave it a vicious yank, and the form it belonged to came a sliding down and landed pretty much in a heap at the edge of the pool. The kid stepped back, his gun sagging at his side and his other hand going up mechanically to claw at his hat.

"Ah—excuse me, Miss Murray!" he blurted, crimson to his collar.

Nellie Murray, in her father's clothes, and with her father's gray Stetson tilted over one eye at a most rakish angle, stared up at him with astonished blue eyes.

"Ah—good even!" the kid stammered again. "I hope yo'all will excuse me—"

"I never even heard you!" gasped Nellie. "I thought you were in the cabin. Wasn't it you shooting?"
"Yes'm, I reckon it was." The kid was trying not to look at her. Shoah did look cute, though. He dared one swift glance from under his hat brim and look away, guilty but entranced.

But Nellie Murray was not thinking of her appearance.

"I had to come and warn you if I could. I know you didn't shoot my father, but they'd kill you just the same. They're out to kill any Poole man they can find."

"It shoah was kind of yo'all, but I wish yoh hadn't come, Miss Murray." The kid's face was grave, his eyes more tender than he guessed. "Babe's shot, and I'm aimin' to get him outa neah tonight. I was awn my way to the stable to get the hawses."

"I'll help. I'll go crazy if I don't have something to do."

The kid tried to persuade her to stay under the bank by the spring, but he was secretly glad she wouldn't do it.

The kid led the way, thrilling to the sound of Nellie Murray's footsteps behind him. The stable door was sheltered from view of the ridge by the small haystack and by the clump of service-berry bushes where the nester had hidden that morning. There really was no danger of being seen at the stable. But while the horses were drinking thirstily from the pool, the crackle of more shooting reminded him that the battle was still going on.

"Reckon I bettah get back to the cabin and answer those shots with a few of my own," he said unthinkingly to Nellie. "I'll take the watah bucket. If yo'all would follow along with Babe's hawse I'd be much obliged, Miss Murray."

Nellie, coming along behind him with never a whimper of fear for herself, filled him with a great wonder.

Shoah complicated matters, too, having her along. Going to be bad enough, making a run for it, with Babe. Never planned on having any one else to look after—Nellie Murray least of all. They'd need somebody that could shoot and hold back the nesters. The kid didn't see how he was going to make it, but it never occurred to him to change his plan. There wasn't any other plan to change to; not unless he just rode off with Nellie and left Babe—

"Reckon yo'all bettah wai down heah with the hawses." The kid turned and set down the water bucket. "I'll tote Babe out and put him awn his hawse."

"Through the roof? You can't do it alone. I'll have to help."

"You've got to have help and you may as well own it first as last." She must have thought his silence was plain stubbornness, for she gave him an impatient shake. "You can't do it without me."

"Yo'all can't go in, Miss Murray for they keep awn shootin' at the cabin. Bullet come through the doah and window like bees into a hive in a plum thicket."

"I wouldn't get hit any quicker than you would." But she let her fingers slip from his arm. "Well, all right—you go on and boost him through, and I'll stay outside and ease him down to the ground. But do be careful, won't you—Bob?"

"Shoah will—Nellie. I kain't say what I want to say," murmured the kid helplessly. "I nevah did see a girl like yo'all—"

Babe lay with his eyes shut and his face twitching with the pain of his wound, and he did not pay any attention to the clouds of dirt that rattled down on the blankets. The kid picked up one of the rifles and began shooting at the ridge, rushing from one loophole to another to make it look as if two men were handling the guns.

The air was thick and acrid with powder smoke. The kid looked at his old silver watch and saw that the afternoon was half gone. No use moving Babe yet. He'd die on the horse before they could get him out of the gully. It would have to be dark when they made it.

Nellie, out there—she must be hungry, hiding in the brush since dawn. Mighty hungry himself, now he got to thinking about grub. The kid reckoned it would be safe to have a little picnic out back of the cabin in the shade, just him and Nellie. Babe was all right. Nothing to do for him but let him lie quiet as long as possible.

The kid wrung out a folded towel in cold water and laid it on Babe's forehead before he crawled out through the roof with a picnic lunch for Nellie. The men on the ridge would have been astonished to see the two sitting there with their backs to the wall of the beleaguered cabin, feasting contentedly on cold sourdough biscuits, cold bacon and dried blackberry sauce.

The kid was holding his mouth organ between his cupped hands, watching Nellie from the corner of his eyes. He played "The Mocking Bird" softly, Nellie sat curling the end of her yellow braid absently around her fingers, her eyes downcast and her lips half smiling. "Dammit, Tiger Eye, why don't yuh shoot to kill? What yuh so damn chicken-hearted for? Damn cow thieves—"

ARTHUR A. & P. STORE HAS CLOSED ITS DOORS

"After six months and three weeks to a day, of hard work trying to establish themselves in Arthur, The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., closed its doors on Wednesday night, and proceeded to move out of town."

"After the opening of the new store here last October, grocery prices hit a new low level and the A & P Co., seemed to be doing a good business."

"Evidently this was not the case and it is quite evident that the home-town patronage stayed with the home-town merchant whom they had known for many years and who had become friends and benefactors to their customers."

"This is the second chain store organization that has attempted to enter Arthur's grocery field, and the second one to admit defeat and retire."—Arthur Graphic.

There is no community in this part of the state more loyal to its home merchants than Arthur. Such loyalty, however, did not eliminate the chain store. What put it on the blink was an aggressive advertising campaign on the part of the home-owned grocery stores. Arthur merchants are that way—they carry good stocks and advertise liberally. That keeps home trade at home and draws trade from a wide surrounding area. Just so long as that attitude continues, chain stores will find Arthur a good city to keep away from.

Maryland Woman Happy Now—Loses 55 Lbs

Edith J. Marriott of Baltimore, Md., writes: "Last winter I weighed 200 lbs. and was very much ashamed. I bought a bottle of Kruschen Salts which gave such wonderful results I bought more. After 4 bottles I weigh 145 lbs. and all my friends say, 'How slender you've gotten—how did you do it?' I say only 4 words—thanks to Kruschen Salts."

A generous bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at Sam B. Hall's or any drugstore in America—take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—that will help Kruschen take off your fat. Take Kruschen every morning—it's the little daily dose that does it—if not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back. Adv.

As you read this recall how much dependence you place upon the uniform high quality of other Swift products . . . all honestly good every time you buy them. Swift's Ice Cream is new. THE WEATHER

Let us tell you something. Unless all signs fail there will be bumper crops this year. That may mean a measure of prosperity, or it may mean a surplus of food-stuffs that will smother the financial life out of the producer. Let's wait and see. If the depression kills off some of us, it will not be by the starvation route.

The weather this week has been temperamental. The skies have gently wept, the sun has at times sent its rays to kiss mother earth, and then it would get sort of chilly—not so nice.

Most corn is planted and much of it is up. You don't hear much about soybeans this spring, but there will doubtless be a fair acreage. The boys who sell garden plants report big sales. This indicates bigger and better gardens. The early spring fry crop has developed in the poultry yards and soon lots of folks will be spending a good part of their time gnawing on over-done drumsticks.

It was rumored around town this week that Bruce, the baseball center of Moultrie county, will try to get into the Three I League next year. There's nothing like trying, if you don't over-exert yourself.

Democrats are beginning to realize that a judicial election will roll around soon. They seem determined to nominate Lott Herick and the battle cry will doubtless be "Lotta votes for Lott".

And pretty soon now the smiling visage of Frank Furtherer will be seen on our streets no more, but he will have gone to mingle with the Mattooners. Well Sullivan's stood up bravely under many a blow, so we'll just let it blow some more.

One of these days we'll clean up the weeds that surrounds our office and shop and then we'll get after the whole bloomin' town to do likewise. Weeds are the best advertisement of laziness and carelessness. A fellow who goes to play golf for exercise while weeds are growing on his city property don't need exercise. He needs a wife who can boss him and make him work. Golf may be good exercise, but more often it is just a good excuse to keep from doing chores around home.

TOWNSHIPS GET OIL SUPPLY AT
.0386 PER GALLON

Moultrie county has bought its 120 carloads of road oil, approximating 10,000 gallons to a car at .0386 per gallon, which is just about a half cent less than the prices that the oil companies quoted earlier in the season.

County Superintendent of highways Guy S. Little did not approve any of the contracts made with commissioners at the higher rate. Some of these companies have cut their rate to the .0386 price while one company in order not to get into trouble in other counties where it did get the high price, is selling to Moultrie commissioners through Walker Company at the .0386 price.

There has been a movement on foot in the Legislature now in session at Springfield to do away with the office of county superintendent of highways. It has proven a very profitable thing for Moultrie county to have a superintendent this spring. The saving of 1c per gallon on over one million gallons of oil is quite a little item. The commissioners who had contracted at the higher price knew that the contracts would be safe-guarded by not being approved by county superintendent if lower prices appeared in prospect.

Supt. Little has been busily engaged during the past week in getting mortgage releases on those parcels of land which the county bought for right of way on the Lovington-Arthur part of route 133.

Monday morning J. Rufus French of the Springfield Highway department and William Duetelle of the Paris office called on Supt. Little. These men are in charge of state activities on county highways which come under state supervision.

SULLIVAN PROGRESS
FURNISHES CORN FOR
SULLIVAN CORN CLUB

The object of the Corn club is to demonstrate the value of good seed. The Sullivan Progress has been kind enough to furnish the corn that was obtained through the Farm Bureau. This corn is disease free seed. Labor records will be kept by the members and yields will be checked with that of the rest of the corn in their father's field planted from different seed.

The names of the members are as follows: Orris Lane, Victor Shasteen, Clinton Rhodes, Jack Purvis, Joe Purvis, Thos. Jesse Pounds, Ross Thomas Jr., Junior Bolin, Bob Bolin, Otis French, Glenn Shirey, Adrian Jenkins, Lester Ashbrook, Glen Floyd, Gerald Murphy, Carl Robb, Albert Dougherty, Oral Buxton.

Likewise the Bethany Grain Co., furnished the seed to the corn club boys in the Bethany and Lake City neighborhood. These donations are very commendable and should be highly appreciated by the boys especially as well as those who are interested in crop improvement.—F. B. News.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT
WANTS TAX INFORMATION

County Clerk Paul L. Chipps received a letter this week from the Bureau of Agriculture at Washington, D. C. asking that he compile and forward information as to taxes paid on five representative Moultrie county farms since 1918. He is instructed to select these farms in various parts of the county so they are truly representative. In conjunction with County Treasurer Orman Newbold, this work is now being done. It necessitates first the selection of five such farms and then a search through the records to see what taxes the owners paid on land and improvements.

LUTHERANS MAY HAVE LOCAL MISSION

Rev. L. Steube, pastor of the Lutheran church at Strasburg, accompanied by the teacher of the parochial school at that place were in this city last week making a canvass of church conditions. This was done to determine what prospect there would be to organizing a Lutheran church in this city.

Rev. Steube stated that while there were not many Lutheran families in this city, there were, nevertheless, many people without church affiliation.

There is a good prospect that regular Lutheran church and Sunday school services will be instituted here in charge of Pastor Steube.

TO CATTLE OWNERS OF MOULTRIE COUNTY

We are making a county-wide test of all dairy and breeding cattle for T. B. This is necessary so that we can have the county re-accredited in June, according to state and federal requirements.

If you have cattle that have been missed in this testing, kindly notify any member of the committee without delay.

METHODIST CHURCH
L. L. Lawrence, Pastor.

Church school 9:30 a. m.—J. A. Reeder, Supt.

Morning worship 10:45. Union Memorial Service. Sermon by Rev. Lawrence. "The Beloved Captain" Evening service 8:00 p. m. The Baccalaureate at the high school.

There will be no meeting of the Young People on Sunday evening because of the baccalaureate at the high school.

The Choir will meet at the church at 7:30 Wednesday night. The men's chorus will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sabin one week from Sunday evening at 6:45 p. m.

The various patriotic organizations of the town are requested to come to the memorial services in their respective groups, and take the seats reserved for them. They will form outside the church building and march in and take their places in the sanctuary.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH
C. E. BARNETT, Pastor

Now what do you think of this? Supt. D. G. Carnine has suggested that we have no S. S. during the summer of 1931. This, however, does not mean no Sunday School. It does mean no summer slump. Accordingly, at a workers' conference Monday evening a plan was decided upon whereby it is hoped summer slump may be routed this season. The plan will be outlined to the school and is to be put into effect the first Sunday in June. This will also be Children's Day and a large attendance with some special features, is being planned.

Sunday School and the Christian Endeavor will be the only service held at the First Christian church Sunday. Morning and evening church services will be dismissed for the union memorial and baccalaureate services at the M. E. church and high school respectively. Hours for these meetings are 10:45 a. m. and 8 p. m. Rev. Lawrence will deliver the memorial address and Dr. Turner the baccalaureate. We urge the attendance of our people at both services.

Christian Endeavor at 6:30 p. m. will be led by Vonnie Leavitt. The subject "Why is the Bible Worth Knowing?" is one worthy of study and discussion. The auto carrying the girls is now four miles in the lead.

The Sunday School session will begin at 9:30 a. m. and will close with the Lord's Supper promptly at 10:30, thus giving sufficient time for all to arrive at the Memorial service at 10:45.

Young peoples choir and study class will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30. The adult choir at the same hour Wednesday.

GOSPEL MISSION

Time of services the same. The Decatur people will be here Thursday evening.

No services Sunday evening on account of Baccalaureate.

Psalm—In God have I put my trust; I will not be afraid of what man can do unto me.

While standing looking out of our office window thinking, we should be writing an announcement, there passed by our window an automobile with the figures 666 in large type covering the entire side of the car. The scripture says, "His (the anti-Christ's) number shall be 666. Turning to our desk and picking up a little book of daily readings, turning to May 12th, there greeted our heart as well as our eyes, the text above quoted. Surely it will not be very long before those figures will greet our eyes every way we may look, not as an advertisement for a certain product, but as an emblem of a system that shall fill the whole earth, the system of the anti-Christ. As we look out upon the horizon of time we see it gathering as a dark storm cloud, and we need to look to the hills from whence cometh our help. We need to feel that security that comes when we have completely put our trust in God, then with the Psalmist we can truly say "I will not fear, or be afraid of what man can do unto me."

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A. E. Turner, Minister
9:30 a. m. Church school.
10:45 a. m. union Memorial Service at M. E. church.

8:00 p. m. Baccalaureate service at high school auditorium. The only service at our own church will be the Sunday School and all members are urgently requested to come with their children for that service. The Men's class is moving along steadily but attendance should be doubled. To come means giving thirty minutes per week to Bible study. The class of young men taught by Mr. Boozie shows more irregular attendance than his teaching deserves. The record for dependable attendance goes easily to the women's class taught by Mrs. Chapin. The pastor hopes that every member of the church will consider this notice as a personal appeal. Make next Sunday a rally day!

Vesper service at 4:30 last Sunday afternoon was fairly attended and encourages us to believe that when the congregation becomes accustomed to it, it will prove a convenience to many of you. The service will be held only once a month, on the third Sunday.

There will be no choir rehearsal this week.

S. T. H. S. NEWS

Friday, May 15, we had spring registration, and a portion of this week has been used to eliminate conflicts in the programs of students entering next fall. Early registration indicates a very heavy enrollment in the commercial subjects, with bookkeeping and shorthand far in the lead. The courses in zoology and botany are also very heavy this year, due to the unusually large class of Sophomores. It seems that three sections will be required in biology.

The Glee Clubs and Band participated in the Central Illinois Musical Festival at Decatur, Saturday. The morning was spent in sightseeing, through the courtesy of the Decatur Review. A parade of uniform groups was held at 1 p. m. in which Sullivan Band stood out second to none. Rehearsal and the regular program was held at Fans Field, beginning at 7:30 in the evening. The High School students felt it was a very enjoyable and instructive day. They had the pleasure of playing under some of the country's most outstanding musical directors, as well as coming in contact with students of similar interests throughout Central Illinois.

The Seniors have planned their annual picnic for Tuesday, May 26. They are making a trip by auto to the State Park at Turkey Run. Arrangements have been made to secure two patrol men from the Secretary of State to accompany the trip for assistance and supervision in route.

A COUPE WITH FIVE
TAKES A TUMBLE

Sunday afternoon Miss Dorothy Purvis and four friends were driving in Attorney Francis Purvis' coupe. Near the Minor school, they turned out for a car, the wheels struck a washout alongside the road and the coupe laid over on its side. It was damaged considerably. None of the occupants were injured, although all were badly shaken up. Those in the seat of the coupe were Miss Purvis, Ruth Ashbrook, Lucille Bathe. In the rumble seat were Willard Bolin and Loyle Davis.

TWO TEACHERS LESS FOR GRADE SCHOOLS
BOARD DECIDES

though music of course will for the present be abandoned.

Assignment of work will be re-adjusted next term so as to take care of the duties performed by teaching positions that have been dropped. Last year one departmental teacher was dropped. With this year's action of the board the schools will have three teachers less than was the case some years ago.

Those who will be the teaching staff in addition to those already mentioned are: Loren Brumfield, principal; Etha Lindsay, Boyd Whitchurch, Mildred Baker, Marie Hoke, Blanche Carroll, Mildred Tressler, Ola Reedy, Waunetah Durbin, Grace Pence, Maurine Evans and Anna McCarthy.

The action of the board in cutting down the number of teachers is necessitated by financial considerations. The board now levies the legal limit in taxes and has been able to pay bonds and interest on the North side building when due. It has also been able to meet its other obligations.

As now constituted, President McLaughlin and the members of the board are determined that the school district shall not run into debt and if further curtailment on the matter of teachers and length of school term are deemed advisable, they will be so adjusted so as to stay within the district's ability to pay.

KENNETH ROUGHTON
AND WIFE ANNOUNCE
MARRIAGE JULY 13

Confirmation of the rumor of the marriage of Miss Rachel Blackburn of Tulsa, Okla., and Kenneth Roughton, principal of the Tuscola Grade school was made in an announcement by the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Blackburn of Champaign, Sunday. The couple were married in Keokuk, Ia., July 13, 1930 and kept their marriage a secret. Rumors had been abroad in Tuscola shortly after the wedding that the couple had been married, but no announcement was made at the time.

Miss Blackburn is well known in Tuscola, where she was physical education instructor for several years, going from there to Tulsa, where she had a similar position.

Mr. Roughton, teacher of manual training as well as principal of the South Ward school, has been in the Tuscola school system for the past five years, and has a wide acquaintance in that community. He has been a leader in the Boy Scout work and other meritorious efforts for the civic welfare. He is a son of Mrs. Nettie L. Roughton, Moultrie county superintendent of schools. Sullivan is his home city and he is very well known here. Before entering the profession of teaching, he was employed for a time in the local post office and later as a railway mail clerk.

The couple will reside in Tuscola after Sept. 1.
