Mrs. Harris Is Probation Officer For This County

Named by Judge Jennings to Investigate All Mother's Pension Cases. General Review in Court is Planned.

Mrs. Clyde Harris has been named probation officer of Moultrie county by Judge J. E. Jennings, acting under authority recently granted by the board of supervisors. The board has fixed compensation at $35 a month out of which the official is to pay all traveling expenses and other incidentals.

Mrs. Harris is now the county welfare officer and is in charge of the work of the Moultrie County T. B. association. Her new duties will provide for an immediate survey of all cases where mother's pensions are being paid.

The county is now paying 40 mothers pensions for the support of about 120 children. The idea back of the appointment of a probation officer is to see that the money so expended by the county really does the most good.

Each individual case will be reviewed in the county court and some changes may be made in the present status of amounts being paid.

COUNTY GETS MONEY FROM STATE TO PAY FOR RIGHT-OF-WAY

County Treasurer Orman Newbold received a check from the State Treasurer Monday for $8,896. This is the exact amount of money needed to pay for right of way and damages on that section of Route 133 from Lovington to Arthur. This money is part of Moultrie's gas tax refund from the state.

Highway superintendent Guy S. Little states that all mortgage releases have been received on land to be used as right of way and the state highway department can now proceed to let the contract. Bids were opened some weeks ago but the letting was delayed. There is a prospect now that the low bidder will not be awarded the contract. When the award is made it is expected that dirt will fly without any further delay.

Bethany Road
The spur from Route 132 into Bethany from the East will be built according to best information available, but the state is delaying final orders. Moore Brothers the contractors who finished the Bethany-Sullivan section of route 132 last week are ready to proceed with building the spur. Bethany citizens are endeavoring to perfect a plan to do some paving at their own expense from Main street north. If this is done the enterprising village will have a hard road entering it from the north or east, connecting it with route 132.

Shoe Factory Made 454,953 Pairs In First Year's Work

June 9th will mark the first anniversary of the Brown Shoe Factory branch in Sullivan. Some figures of results of this year's first operation are interesting:

454,923 pairs of shoes were manufactured and shipped out of here by May 30th.

$121,913.90 was paid in wages to the employees. An additional sum was paid to the superintendent and office employees.

The factory started with a few workers. That number has steadily grown until now it is over 400. The factory has not missed one day of work, except for inventory. The working force has never been decreased but there has been a steady increase.

The factory equipment has been steadily added to. More new machinery is now en route. While the full capacity of the factory in employment and production has not been reached, the present equipment is not sufficient to meet the demand.

St. Louis headquarters wants 4000 pairs of shoes daily from the Sullivan plant. The plant is producing 3600. In addition 1500 pair of beach sandals are being made daily.

Supt. Kohlhauff states that headquarters seems very well pleased with the way in which this Sullivan factory has developed during its first year's operation. Prospects for future work are good.

Sullivan is also well pleased with its factory. Supt. Kohlhauff and his executive and clerical staff tend strictly to business. Efficiency of operation and maximum of production are the ends they continually strive for and achieve.

HIGH SCHOOL BOARD MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

The board of education of the Sullivan Township High school met Monday night in the Library of the school, all members being present.

Bills for the final weeks of school were audited and ordered paid.

Johnson Kelly declined to serve as night watchman for the three summer months as he has work with the Prudential Insurance farm department. Derby Belt has been hired at $15 per month to serve as night watchman. The board voted to pay 25c per hour for all day labor necessary at the school building and grounds during the summer months. Such labor is to be done under supervision of Janitor Clyde Lehman.

Principal Scheer reported that a number of students had made application for summer study. The board voted that no summer extension work be authorized. Students can, however, make up work by studying under competent tutors.

As the board has decided to get along with one teacher less, it will be necessary to have assistance in coaching the three school plays usually put on by the school and also the oratorical, contests etc. Contract for this work was offered Miss Jennie Margaret Cummins at $180 for the school year.

During the vacation season the floors are all to be given a thorough cleaning and refinishing; library books in bad condition are to be rebound; new book cases will be ordered to supplement those already in the library and other necessary repair work will be done.

By doing the necessary repair work from year to year the building and grounds have been kept in an excellent condition.

TWO ARRESTED FOR ROBBERY ALLENVILLE POST OFFICE IN 1929

William L. Hood and Charles Dean of Arthur were arrested on Wednesday and are being held in the local county jail for the Federal authorities.

The federal authorities got busy on the job and have been tracing down all possible clues. The arrest of the two men followed.

Read the Ads in this Issue And Patronize Advertisers

A newspaper cannot exist in a community where the business men do not buy space in its columns to advertise their wares. This same rule applies to any other kind of business. A community must co-operate. Advertising is the life-blood of a community. There are various ways of advertising but big business men regard the newspaper as the most effective and most economical way.

In this issue of The Progress you will find advertisements for Standard Oil, two ads for the International Harvester Company and H. H. Hawkins & Son, local dealers, an ice cream adv. for Swift & Co.; Case-Osborne implements are for sale at O. F. Doner's and the reader is told about it; L. T. Hagerman advertises radios; the National Inn and Crockets are advertising Sunday dinners; the Sullivan Bakery, one of Sullivan's growing institutions advertises consistently; Buxton's Bonnet Shop has an interesting adv.; the theatres tell about their coming attractions; and by all means don't forget to read carefully the adv. of the Capitol Chevrolet Sales. Paul Bryant offers some very interesting bargains in used cars.

The space does not permit of a review of all ads. Look them over. Folks who advertise have lots of confidence that the goods they sell are going to satisfy you. An adv. can't be judged entirely by its direct results. It builds good will and sows the seeds that will bring future trade.

Lots of merchants who never believed in advertising finally had it forced on them—the sheriff advertised their business for sale.

Class Talent Commencement Program Pleases

Scholarship Award Given to Albert Price; Helen Cummins Awarded Citizenship Medal. Diplomas Presented by President Dick.

Commencement exercises at the Sullivan Township High school on Friday night were rather unique. They have been subject to much favorable comment. The class put on the program. There was no Commencement speaker as has been the local custom for many years.

Among the outstanding features on the program were the Class Legend by Alberta Harsh; the class will by Helen Cummins and the Class prophecy by Joe McLaughlin.

Jennie Seitz was the salutatorian and Albert Price the valedictorian.

For a class gift, William McKown as president of the class made the speech of presentation, giving to the school a thief-proof candy vault. In past years it has been necessary to keep the class candy supplies in the school vault.

Prof. R. A. Scheer presented the scholarship and citizenship awards.

The Scholarship award went to Albert Price. He won this by having the highest scholastic standing of any class member for the four years in school. With this award goes an interest coupon from a $100 bond presented to the school by the class of '18.

The citizenship award was given to Helen Cummins. The committee making this award consists of the Principal and the three teachers having the longest period of service in the school. A medal is given to the winner of this award. This medal is bought with the interest earned by a $100 bond presented to the school for this purpose by the class of '22.

The diplomas were presented to the graduates by Carl A. Dick, president of the high school board of education.

THOMPSON GROCERY HAS UNUSUAL PET

Last September the G. S. Thompson grocery bought a cluster of bananas, which was inhabited by a tarantula, a huge tropic spider that measures about 3 inches in length. The visitor from the tropics was captured and encaged in a glass jar with a punctured tin lid. It is still alive and doing well. It is fed a diet of bananas and lettuce. Shortly after it was captured it shed its old skin and blossomed out in a new coat of brown. Its keepers assert that it is getting impatient and seems to be seeking its freedom. This may be the mating moon for tarantulas. While Mr. Thompson and his clerks take good care of their captive, they do not make a habit of petting it.

Editorial

Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry; for anger resteth in the bosom of fools.

Be not righteous over much; neither make thyself overwise; why shouldst thou destroy thyself?

He that loveth silver shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he that loveth abundance with increase; this is also vanity.

There is nothing better for a man, than that he should eat and drink, and that he should make his soul enjoy good in his labour.

—Excerpts from Book of Ecclesiastes.

"THEY SAY"

Have you heard of the terrible family They
And the dreadful venomous things They say?
Why, half the gossip under the sun,
If you trace it back, you will find begun
In that wretched House of They.

A numerous family, so I am told,
And its genealogical tree is old;
For ever since Adam and Eve began
To build up the curious race of man,
Has existed the House of They.

Gossip-mongers and spreaders of lies,
Horrid people whom all despise!
And yet the best of us now and then,
Repeat queer tales about women and men
And quote the House of They

They live like lords, and never labor;
A They's one task is to watch his neighbor,
And tell his business and private affairs
To the world at large; they are sowers of tares
These folks in the House of They.

It is wholly useless to follow a They
With a whip or a gun, for he slips away
And into his house, where you cannot go;
It is locked and bolted and guarded so—
This horrible House of They.

Though you cannot get in, yet they get out,
And spread their villainous tales about;
Of all the rascals under the sun
Who have come to punishment, never one
Belonged to the House of They.

Leonard Vote -- A Hoover Vote

A judicial campaign is under way to elect a circuit judge in the 6th Illinois district, of which Moultrie county is a part.

The Republicans nominated F. Bonner Leonard of Champaign; the Democrats nominated Francis E. Williamson of Urbana. Both are men who stand high in their profession.

In a campaign of this kind you hear many deplore the fact that partisan politics enters into consideration. The Republican brethren, especially, are saddened by the fact that judges cannot be chosen along neutral lines.

But the fight is on. Every Republican official and payroller in this district has been rounded up and given marching orders. Every mother's son of the tribe will participate in this campaign. They are out to round up the faithful Republicans and bring them to the polls on Monday, July 20th. If Mr. Leonard is elected it will be hailed as a great Republican victory. The daily Republican press will announce: "Republican wins by victory in 6th Illinois district."

Now such being the very apparent facts as they pertain to Mr. Leonard, it behooves the Democrats and those dissatisfied with Republican rule to rally around Francis E. Williamson. He is as well, or perhaps better, qualified as his opponent. He is an older man with more experience in law and legislation.

This judicial race, coming at the time it does, will be closely watched, not only in Illinois but all over the nation. It will be a test to show just how dissatisfied the people are with Republican rule.

The election of Mr. Leonard will cause the Republicans all over this nation to view the matter in this light: "Illinois farmers seem to be pretty well satisfied with the Hoover administration and the Republican party. They have given proof of such satisfied condition by electing a circuit judge who was nominated as a Republican and had the united support of the Republican party."

There is no gain-saying that such a conclusion would be reasonable and justified. If Judge Leonard is elected our Republican friends can feel that their party is not slipping—that President Hoover and his policies are popular in Illinois—that despite any depression there may exist, the farmers and voters of Moultrie, Douglas, Macon, Piatt,

Champaign and DeWitt counties are still faithful to the G. O. P.

You can't divorce this campaign from partisan politics. The parties have chosen the candidates. The victor will not be decided on his own merits or personality. He will be elected by people who do not know him personally but who will vote the party ticket. The election will not be so much an endorsement of Mr. Leonard or Judge Williamson as it will be an endorsement of rejection of present day Republican policies.

These are the major issues in this campaign.

Providing For The Faithful

Legislative appropriations are of two kinds—to pay for service to the people and to provide jobs for the politicians.

The Illinois Legislature is now in the throes of its bi-annual appropriating activities. Governor Emmerson is threatening to veto some of the appropriations made. Especially does he seem peeved at the increased appropriations made for educational purpose. He says that the legislators are afraid of the school teachers back home.

It is a sad and lamentable fact that much legislation is passed, without considering the interest of the state as a whole. So the Governor may do some meritorious vetoing.

But you may rest assured that the Governor will go very easy with his veto where the matter affects the pay-rollers—the party workers and bosslets who are being recompensed for political services in campaign time, by being given lucrative jobs. The Governor will not get into any fight with the officials and department heads in their raid on the state treasury. This kind of appropriations are those used to pay the faithful for being good vote-producing Republicans.

It is quite generally conceded that the Emmerson administration has the biggest payroll of any that has ever been saddled upon Illinois. The Governor and the rest of the officials are trying to relieve unemployment by giving as many as possible state jobs. The taxpayers pay the bill.

The Progress some months ago published excerpts from the Session Laws of 1929 showing the enormous sums of money appropriated for the purpose of conducting the official business of the state of Illinois.

There is no prospect that these expenditures will be reduced. On the contrary, they will be increased. The Republican party is finding itself slipping in the State of Illinois and it is advisable to build up the army of the faithful by putting them on the state payroll. A payroller is always faithful to the hand that feeds him. He is ready to respond as a political worker when the call to service comes. Such political work is done on the people's time. You never hear of a payroller taking a vacation from duty and pay in order to do political work—no never. The people pay well for such political work. The tax-payers, Democratic and Republican alike, contribute to the funds that pay the political workers of the party in power.

The Republican leaders at Springfield want more highway police. They are asking the Legislature to authorize the appointment of a force of 350 men to patrol the highways of Illinois. These are politically appointed. Representative Howard Doyle of Decatur is going to try and cut the force down to 250. He deserves credit even if he does not succeed.

The Bovine T. B. testing activities of the state have furnished a delightful piece of payrolling. Hundreds of the faithful are taken care of in that way. The Legislature in 1929 appropriated $2,000,000 without strings tied to it to use for this purpose. The T. B. work being done may be bunk or it may have merit, but it certainly is a godsend to the hungry office seeking politicians. And if the time ever comes when the state will test all flocks of chickens, etc., another payrollers' paradise will be opened and tax payers can be further exploited.

So bear this in mind. Some money is spent by the state for meritorious purposes. Much money is spent to repay political favors done for the party in power. Mighty is the payroller in Illinois. Numerous is his tribe. But with fear and trembling does he view the prospect that looms ahead in 1932. You can't fool the people all the time.

BY BRUCE BARTON

GREED

If any writer were big enough to gather up all the thousands of stories of the stock market crash, he would have material for the Great American Novel.

For the bull market, and the catastrophe which ended it, represented all that is best and worst in the American character: our optimism, which is at once our strength and our weakness; our restless desire to better our condition by any available means; our worthy ambition and our unworthy greed.

One of the best of the market stories was told me by a celebrated surgeon whose name I can not reveal.

"I work hard for my money," he said, "and have never speculated. However, the fever got me finally, like everybody else. There was one particular stock which was a favorite in my city. Bank presidents and bootblacks were in it together; it went up by leaps and bounds.

"Against all my traditions, I bought several hundred shares. It continued to climb; I had profit of many thousand dollars.

"One night my wife saw me making penciled calculations on the margin of the newspaper. She said I ought not to be worrying about stocks, and she urged me to sell out and never think about the market again.

"I argued that by holding on for another ten points we could pay for the wing which she wanted to build on the house.

"While we were talking, my little girl came in to ask my help on her Latin lesson for the next day. It was the translation of Aesop's fable of the dog and the bone. The dog, you remember, saw his reflection in the water and, thinking it was another dog whose bone he could steal, reached down with open jaws and lost his own bone.

"The moral of the fable was, 'Greed usually results in the loss of everything.'

"That night when I went to bed I could not sleep. The fable kept running through my mind. First thing next morning I telephoned my broker to sell me out. I happened that the stock went up a few more points, but a couple of weeks later it dropped like a shot. I was lucky, and had sense enough not to think I had been smart. You can bet that I am done with speculating forever."

I hope that when this is printed we may be in the midst of good times, with increasing business and a rising market. In that case, some young man may see it and appreciate the reminder that "greed usually results in the loss of everything."

Main Street Looks at Broadway

The Best Radio!

New Yorkers, better than anybody else perhaps, know the best make of radio. There is no argument about it. Even your local dealer will probably agree after he has heard about it.

The machine is made in New Jersey. It sells for something quite a lot more than $1,000. Frankly, we were not really curious about the exact price.

Some Guarantee

When you drop down on Saturday night to get one—that is supposing you do—be sure to insist on their guarantee. It consists of a promise to give your money back if it doesn't cut through any kind of interference and bring in stations 2,000 miles or more away like one in the next town. At least that's what the King of Siam was promised when he was shut up in a darkened room for several days after his eyes were operated on, successfully, by an American doctor. He got it for the Siamese broadcasting.

Not for Amateurs

The de luxe radio is a fourteen tube set and has every doo-dad you can find on any other machine that is worth having. If the makers can't buy the patent rights they want for the few machines they built, they just buy a complete machine, scrap what they don't want, and fit in the part.

Each machine is built entirely by one man, and it takes several weeks for him to construct it. There is a waiting list of intended purchasers, so it is more than likely that any of your local radio fans who wish to buy a machine had better stick to the regularly advertised models. That is, if they want to get a radio this year. It's really millionaire stuff.

A Famous Figure

The daily grind in New York does not shorten men's lives, judging by two men who have just passed on—George F. Baker, the famous banker, who died at 91, and David Belasco, famous theatrical man who lived to 76. Both men made their mark and had an important part in shaping the destinies of millions of other men.

Of the two men Belasco led the more public existence and affected the lives of more people. Through his efforts the American stage was lifted from the melodrama of the '80's to the fine productions of the present day.

A Bad Start

Few men started life with greater handicaps than Belasco. Born in a San Francisco cellar in 1854, his father being a Portuguese Jew by descent, Belasco was forced to get his schooling where he could. Two years were spent in a monastery and he learned to dress like a churchman in the brief time he was there. Belasco looked more like a bishop than a theatrical man and was apparently about as sociable as most austere churchmen get to be.

His door was never closed to anybody he suspected of being a genius, however, and among his famous proteges are Mrs. Leslie Carter, Lenore Ulrich and Dave Warfield. In fact, few of the great actors of the present day exist who cannot trace their first success back to the "wizard."

A Genius

Belasco, himself, was a genius, beyond question. Although primarily a producer, he wrote many plays, designed stage settings and lighting effects, taught his actors how to strut through their parts, and in general was a past master of all things concerned with the stage.

His capacity for taking pains was unlimited. He demanded realism in everything. In one play animal settings were demanded. He refused to have reproductions made and spent $100,000 in getting 15th Century furniture. After the play was finished, he had the valuable settings removed to his own set of rooms above one of his many theatres and passed his remaining years surrounded by priceless furniture.

He was a gambler in the best sense of the word. Three times he went broke, twice he was well past middle age, but he kept hammering away and is believed to have left a fortune to his widow and children. He is only one of thousands of examples of men who have given their lives to New York only to be enriched in turn.

¶ Although hundreds of varieties of apples are grown in the United States, five varieties—Winesap, Jonathan, Baldwin, Delicious and Rome Beauty—compose almost half of the total market supply, a survey at 41 leading markets showed. Other varieties, in order of their importance, were Yellow Newton, Stayman Winesap, Rhode Island Greening, McIntosh, Esopus Spitzenburg, Ben Davis York Imperial, Gravenstein, Yellow Transparents, and Grimes Golden.

JUNE 1ST A PROGRESS ANNIVERSARY DATE

Monday was an anniversary date for the present editor and publisher of The Sullivan Progress. Twelve years ago, June 1st, 1919 we took charge of this newspaper, having bought it on a trip to this city during the previous week. Mrs. Brandenburg and Byron joined us here June 10th. We spent the first few weeks in Sadie Scott's boarding and rooming house, while waiting for our household goods to arrive. We rented and lived in what is known as the Spitzer residence on Monroe street the first year we spent here in Sullivan. Walter Yates and family live there now. A year later we bought the place where we now live. Last week we bought the residence property adjoining it on the south.

We've not made much money in Sullivan. That never was our idea. We have found in Sullivan much of what we sought when we came here—a nice friendly community; good people to know and do business with; nice neighbors and congenial associates. We have lived through hard knocks that have rapped this community; we have tried to work hard for the better things that have come.

We have never lost faith in Sullivan though there were times when the future looked gloomy. We now see a brilliant and prosperous future for this city. While other communities are beset with a cloud of gloom, Sullivan enjoys a measure of prosperity and looks forward to brighter and better days.

We shall endeavor to keep The Progress a true representative of the better things in Sullivan.

We ask your co-operation. We ask for your patronage too. It takes business and money to keep a newspaper moving along. High sounding phrases and a boosting spirit never put bread into an editor's mouth or helped pay his taxes.

Publishing a weekly newspaper is not a glory job. It means hard work, every day. We like that sort of work, that's why we stay with it.

We have made mistakes. We'll doubtless make some more. We have our weaknesses. Who hasn't? Our pet weakness, if we can call it such, is to pity all of the millions of folks who, because of circumstances of birth, or otherwise, have to live elsewhere than in Moultrie county. It's a shame, but we suppose it just simply can't be helped.

We invite you in wishing that this 13th year of our stay here will be the happiest and most prosperous we've had. Thank you.

ILLINOIS HAS $45,000,000 ROAD PROGRAM FOR 1931

Springfield, June 2—Three-fourths of the state's $45,000,000 road program for 1931 will be underway on June 16, when bids are to be received on approximately $5,225,000 worth of paving and bridge building projects. With this series of projects advanced to the active stage, two-thirds of the $19,000,000 program scheduled for the Chicago metropolitan area will be underway. The June 16 road letting calls for several exceptionally important grade separation projects in the congested areas. The series also embodies a general collection of paving, grading and bridge building work throughout the state. District 9—the extreme southern portion of the state, has several important projects coming up in the proposal opening, including some 7 miles of paving and about 28 miles of grading.

VANDALIA PEN BUILDINGS HAD SMALL VALUE

Springfield, June 3—The four buildings burned to the ground at the state penal farm near Vandalia had a sale value not in excess of $500, according to an appraisal made for the state department of finance. Beds and bedding constituted the greater portion of the actual loss the state sustained. Buildings that were damaged only slightly are under repair. Of the 607 inmates, 212 were placed in the new dormitories the day following the fire. Buildings burned were about to be abandoned, or transferred into farm buildings.

ILLINOIS BOY WINNER SPELLING CONTEST

Springfield, June 3—"All Illinois is proud of you," Gov. Louis L. Emmerson telegraphed Ward Randall, the 13 year old White Hall boy who, last week, won the national spelling championship at Washington, D. C. "In behalf of the entire state," the message continued, "it is my happy privilege to extend congratulations to you for the national honor and recognition that you have so meritoriously received." Young Randall's entry in the national spelling bee was sponsored by his home town paper—White Hall Register-Republican. The Green county town staged an enthusiastic demonstration upon receipt of news from Washington that the local lad had captured the spelling crown. He also received $1,000 in gold coins.

Wahrheit Und Dumheit

Various professions are subject to hard slams once in a while and an attorney tells this story about his calling:

In New York there lived an attorney noted for his honesty and upright dealing. His name was Jonathan Strange. He died.

The widow went to a monument dealer and ordered a suitable monument to be erected over the grave. "On this monument," said she, "I want you to carve these words 'Here lies a Lawyer and an Honest Man'."

"But my dear lady" expostulated the dealer "Don't you want your husband's name on the monument?"

"That's unnecessary" said the widow "for anybody seeing this stone and it's inscription will immediately say 'That's Strange.'"

Recently the Mayor of Los Angeles who was a guest of honor in Paris, France, walked out of a banquet hall because they served wine. That was just about as polite as if some fellow whom you invited to be your dinner guest, got up from the table and walked out on you, because he did not like the taste of onions. The way some Americans act abroad gives us stay-at-homes a pain in the neck.

Smokers cause a great total of America's annual fire loss of over $500,000,000; may we suggest that you smokers never throw away a burning match, or a glowing cigar or cigarette. The proper thing to do, if in doubt, is to place them in your pockets.

Advance Dope Grand Theatre

Thursday and Friday nights of this week the attraction at the Grand is "Dishonored" starring Marlene Dietrich and Victor McLaglen. It's a case of where the "Irish and the Dutch" get together to put on a grand show.

"Finn and Hattie"

Lot's of folks think Leon Errol is the prize comedian of the screen today. Zazu Pitts the weeping laugh maker and Mitzi Green the little imp are all part of the cast of the show that comes Saturday night. In fact the whole happy, humorous Haddocks will be here to entertain you. Having made his "pile" and reputation in the little town of Legion, Finley Pierpont Haddock announces his intention of seeing what the other half of the world is like. He buys a ticket for himself and wife. In New York Aunt Tillie and Little Sidney join them and from then on things begin happening. You be there Saturday night and you'll see things.

"It Pays to Advertise"

That's what The Progress says and every other newspaper worth two whoops joins in the chorus. But this time "It pays to Advertise" is not a newspaper slogan but it's the title of the show that will appear at the Grand Sunday and Monday nights. It is rated as a "rousing, riotous, romantic farce." Among the fun makers are Norman Foster (we said Norman, not Orman) Skeets Gallagher, Eugene Pallette and Carole Lombard. Pallette in the story is a rich soap manufacturer and Norman Foster is the laziest, but most high-spirited rich man's son, and right on down the line the whole conglomeration is interesting and the press agent says they are "excruciatingly comical." Come and see the show and find out what that means. As an added attraction Slim Summerville, the sad-looking dry herring of filmdom will star in "Sarge's Playmate" and that's going to be good too.

"Men Call It Love"

You come to the Grand on either Tuesday or Wednesday night of next week, look the thing over and then see what you'll call it. This picture is said to be a romance drama in a modern manner. In the cast you will give your eyes a treat by feasting them on Lelia Hyams and Adolphe Menjou, Norman Foster, Mary Duncan and Hedda Hopper (not related to the Sullivan Hoppers). The talking picture magazine gives this play a lot of favorable publicity. And by the way, you may have known this right along, but we just learned that Lelia Hyams is Mrs. Norman Foster in private life. "Kiss me again and again and again. Why must you belong to another?" is the descriptive wording of one of the advance pictures of this play. You folks who like the "Love" stuff in superlative degree in your pictures will get a great evening's joy out of "Men call it Love."

"Millie" is Coming

This picture is said to have a number of new stars in its cast who are good. Helen Twelvetrees has been seen several times recently in Grand pictures and you will like her. You may remember her in "Swing High", "Painted Desert" and "The Cat Creeps" which were shown here.

But what is "Millie" all about? Let's give you the low-down: "Millie, red-headed village beauty, elopes with Jack Maitland, wealthy New York college boy. A baby is born while the young husband is having an affair with a former mistress." And so the story runs along until this baby girl reaches the age where she too is loved and sought. It's going to be a thrilling show. In the cast is one "Aggie Herring" who plays the part of landlady. We want to see what an actress with a name like that look like. Go to the Grand and meet "Aggie Herring."

Coming: "All's quiet on the Western Front". Jack Oakie in "Dude Ranch", Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe in "Women of all Nations" and many other good ones.

BILL DAVIS ATTENDED SOCKS CONVENTION

The Realsilk sock salesmen had a convention of some kind at Decatur Monday morning. Bill Davis who is manager of this concern in Sullivan attended and he says he made a speech. While Bill may not admit it, the speech we presume was about as follows:

"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention: Selling silk socks to men is a high and noble calling, selling silk hose to ladies is a calling that goes higher still. They say this country grows enough cotton to provide six pairs of new cotton stockings yearly to every girl and woman in this country. But my fellow salesmen let me say to you—try to get them to wear them, try to get them to wear them! You would have a revolution on hand. What the women and the men of this country need more than food or other raiment is socks, real silk socks. They add to the landscape and to the joy of living. They put the girls on diet and they tend to promote neat and classy ankles, sleek well fed calves and dimpled knees. But, alas, my fellow salesmen, socks must come down. Mistake me not. They must come down not in ugly wrinkles around the shoe tops, but they must come down in price. Silk worms must work for less. If the panic ever reaches such stages as to force the women into cotton socks, then the lowest depths of depression shall have been reached and revolution and anarchy lurk in the background." Mr. Davis was loudly applauded upon the conclusion of his speech. It is believed certain that he won the Realsilk pink pajamas offered for the best speech of the day.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SERVES "GREAT INLAND EMPIRE"

"A great inland empire" President L. A. Downs of the Illinois Central System calls the fourteen states of the Midwest and South in which his railroad operates. These fourteen states have a population of 38,500,000 and rank high industrially as well as agriculturally, with 56,900 manufacturing plants producing an annual output valued at $18,300,000,000.

These fourteen states produce 1-3 of the cotton, 3-5 of the grain, 1-3 of the tobacco, nearly all the sugar cane, one-half of the livestock, three-tenths of the lumber, one-third of the coal and seven-tenths of the iron ore that are produced in the country.

The task to which the Illinois Central System is committed, according to Mr. Downs, is that of serving this great empire day in and day out—hauling its freight, carrying its passengers, contributing to its upbuilding.

CORN CLUB MET IN BETHANY LAST WEEK

The Moultrie County Corn club met at the Bethany Cream Pool station on May 25 at 8 o'clock. All members were present and the meeting was carried through very smoothly. Most of the members reported that they had their corn planted and some said their corn was up and had a very good stand.

After the meeting J. A. Scott, the club leader gave a very interesting talk on "How to Plant and Care for Corn."

COLORED BOYS PLAY SUNDAY AT BRUCE; STRASBURG DEFEATED

The Strasburg baseball nine played the Bruce Sluggers Sunday. While the visiting boys did not take home much of a score from Kinsel Field at Bruce, the game was nevertheless a dandy from start to finish. The score was Bruce 4, Strasburg 0. Manager Kinsel used three pitchers—Kinsel, Misenheimer and Abbott while Carter received behind the bat.

For Strasburg the battery was Doehring, pitcher and Bryan Renshaw catcher.

Colored Boys Coming

Next Sunday the supremacy of the white race will again be at stake for the Decatur Stars, a crack colored baseball nine will play the Sluggers. Last year the Stars defeated the Sluggers twice and this year the Sluggers defeated the Stars once. ## The Harvester-Thresher Savings Investment Plan

MAKES IT EASY FOR YOU TO OWN A
McCORMICK-DEERING HARVESTER-THRESHER

Under This New Plan Every Responsible Grain
Grower Can Pay for His McCormick-Deering Out of a Part of the Savings His Combine Will Make

CROP production cost figures compiled by McCormick-Deering Harvester-Thresher users show savings in harvesting and threshing costs of 20 cents or more per bushel when compared with government average costs for farms with similar yields.

We are so confident that thousands of additional grain growers can make proportionate savings with a McCormick-Deering Harvester-Thresher that we are announcing the McCORMICK-DEERING HARVESTER-THRESHER SAVINGS INVESTMENT PLAN, under which you or any other responsible grain grower can purchase a combine now and meet the first payment after harvest with just a part of the savings made possible by the new machine—with two more years to pay the balance.

Keep in mind that under this plan you get a time-tried and time-tested combine backed by 12 years of field experience with harvester-threshers. It is sold to you by a well-established McCormick-Deering dealer in your own community, whose stocks and service are supplemented by this large, permanently established International Harvester branch house right here in your own section.

In McCormick-Deering dealers' stores the repair bins are well stocked with genuine IHC repair parts. Thousands of these dealers maintain completely equipped service stations, offering factory-standard service on McCormick-Deering Harvester-Threshers and Tractors and all International Harvester equipment. Additional service stations are being established as rapidly as they are justified by business in the community. As a direct result, McCormick-Deering service is better today than it was last year or 10 years ago; our resources and reputation are your guarantee that it will be still better when the harvester-thresher, tractor, or any other machine you buy today is 10 years old.

Consider well the value of this superior service before you select a harvester-thresher. You want to buy where you get the greatest value; not just the day you sign the order, but through every day and every year you rely on your purchase for cost-reducing performance at home and in your custom work. Consider, too, the advantage of being able to pay for your combine under the McCORMICK-DEERING HARVESTER-THRESHER SAVINGS INVESTMENT PLAN... making it doubly advantageous for you to buy your equipment where you can get the absolute assurance of good, quick, complete service which is offered you by this International Harvester branch and the McCormick-Deering dealer serving your community.

THE COST OF LOAFERS

One of the greatest items of expense in the present day system of government is the slacker, the lazy loafer who produces nothing and thus shirks his share of bearing the public burden. The schools are crowded with children of parents who do not pay one cent of taxes. The jails are filled with idle criminals who thus force the thrifty taxpayers to pay their board and keep. And it is this class of hand-to-mouth, shiftless individuals who are always crying against men of property. These parasites on the body politic are the pests of the civilization of today.

Never in the history of the world have men of means been so liberal, never have they done so many good deeds with their dollars as they are doing today. Great foundations are established to fight diseases, to promote civic welfare, to maintain institutions for the unfortunate and to give children the advantages of an education.

And, while the workers and savers are making those noble sacrifices for humanity, the lazy, indolent, trifling loafers set in the shade or mount store boxes and rail against the oppression of capital. Of all the assessments that bear heaviest on the willing workers, the "won't-workers" are the very worst.

A lazy man travels so slowly that poverty is sure to overtake him, which is only another way of saying that failure is generally the fault of the indolent.

If everyone was busy and thrifty, doing his share to earn and save, the jails and the great army of police would cease to be a tremendous item of expense; the almshouses and their ever-mounting bills could be withdrawn from the expense side of the ledger. If all the money now wasted in caring for the lazy loafers could be put to work in useful channels what an easy place in which to live this old world would be.

—So says T. B. Shoaff in his Shelby County Leader.

BLAME CROWS AND HAWKS FOR SHORTAGE OF QUAIL

Springfield, June 2—Because crows and hawks destroy more quail than all the hunters kill, the state department of conservation is sponsoring a state-wide warfare against these birds of prey, and the horned owl, gophers, woodchucks and ground squirrels. Director Ralph F. Bradford recommends that every Illinois community pursue the policy that has been adopted in Kendall county. There, they have organized, "Crow Shoots." Marksmen team up and compete in killing the undesirables and in collecting the eggs. He finds they make a day of enjoyable sport out of the event, and wind it up with a banquet, at the expense of the losing team. In that vicinity, crows, hawks and horned owls are growing fewer, and there are more quail and song birds as the result of the united efforts of sportsmen and farmers. He offers aid by way of suggesting rules, for any county that wishes to eradicate these foes to wild life and poultry.

SALESMANSHIP

Wednesday night, during band concert a salesman held forth on the square. He gave things away and he sold things. Nowadays razor sets are usually given away but he managed to sell them for $1.00. When he quit selling razors he begged a cigarette, lit it with a match and then sold the match for $2.00. He had trouble getting $2 for the match but easily sold it when he broke it in two and got $1.00 for each piece. All who heard him admitted that he was a great salesman—in fact he said so himself. Before closing his selling spiel he returned the money that had been given him for the pieces of match.

Very Latest

By Mary Marshall

A yard and quarter of soft frilling by the yard about six inches in depth will make one of the most becoming of all collar and cuff sets for a simple dress like a deep round neckline. The cuffs are made from strips of the frilling ten inches each in length and the remaining twenty-five inches are used for the collar. The pieces for the cuffs are seamed up so that they flare slightly. The piece for the collar is stitched up with a slightly flaring seam which comes at the back of the neck. When the frilling is turned down over the dress it rolls a trifle at back and sides and falls in soft folds at the front. The frilling chosen consists of a bias strip of silk or chiffon about four inches wide with a double duffle or two inches at the edge.

Circular frilling may also be used to give a becoming finish to the round-neck dress. This may be of pleated chiffon or of lace. The piece used for the collar should be eased in a little at the front of the neck so that it will not draw. The cuffs will flare slightly on account of the circular cut of the material, but any excessive flaring may be taken care of by tacking the frilling down to the sleeve here and there.

Frilling may be used as effectively on short-sleeved dresses as on long-sleeved ones, and may be used to outline V necklines as well as round ones. To be prepared for any emergency in the way of an unexpected invitation for luncheon or bridge, you should have on hand several lengths of frilling with which you can give a fresh touch to one of your spring dresses.

MAKE HOGS PAY WHERE FAILURE WOULD BE EASY

Urbana, Ill., June 2—Two Illinois farmers in the dairy and wheat section near St. Louis have made outstanding successes by specializing on hogs in an area where hogs are at a disadvantage, according to P. E. Johnston, of the farm organization and management department of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. Although a certain amount of diversity seems best for most farms, these two are striking examples of specialized farms which have paid high returns, he added.

During the past five years these two farms have consistently earned two to three times as much as the average of other accounting farms in the area. In 1930 each of the operators of these two farms received as pay for his labor and management more than $3,000 more than average of accounting-farmers in neighborhood. Their success is all the more striking because in that section of the state hogs do not have as great an advantage as either dairy cattle or poultry, Johnston pointed out.

Each of the farms produced about $12,000 worth of pork from 50 brood sows in 1930. Both farmers bought large quantities of feed, which was a profitable practice since the hogs returned more than $200 for each $100 of feed fed.

"Although it would be unwise for many operators to produce hogs in an area where hog production is at a disadvantage, it would be unwise for these two farmers to specialize in anything other than hogs. The consistent success of these two men over a period indicates that their high earnings were the result of management and not of luck."

season, can be reduced by growing the somewhat resistant varieties such as Paul's Scarlet, Mary Wallace, Silver Moon, etc., among the climbers; and avoiding very susceptible varieties like Crimson Rambler and Dorothy Perkins among the climbers, and Ophelia and Killarney among the hybrid teas.

Practice sanitation, provide favorable conditions for growth, and treat the plants with fungicides. Sanitation, includes the collection and burning of diseased leaves. A humid atmosphere and an accumulation of moisture favors the development of powdery mildew, and infection may occur as a result of too close planting or of planting climbing roses near buildings.

The best fungicide for home gardens is a dust of 9 parts powdered sulphur and 1 part dry arsenate of lead. The applications of this dust should begin before the disease appears and must be repeated at regular intervals throughout the season, taking care to coat the under side of the leaves thoroughly.

We have

F. E. WILLIAMSON DEMOCRATIC CHOICE FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE

ting Circuit Judges) that the Democrats have had in this district in many years. All of the six counties in the district were well represented.

Those who attended from Moultrie county were Judge J. E. Jennings, Clarence Miller, J. R. Drake, Cadell West, Paul L. Chippis, Albert Walker, C. R. Patterson, J. L. McLaughlin, O. C. Worsham and Ed Brandenburg. Judge Jennings acted as spokesman for this delegation and behalf of Moultrie seconded the nomination of Judge Williamson.

After the convention had been called to order and a temporary organization effected and on motion made permanent, the secretary called the roll of counties for nominations and Attorney D. C. Dobbins as spokesman for the Champaign delegation placed the name of Francis E. Williamson before the convention. As the roll called continued the nomination was seconded by all other counties, the men who spoke for their respective counties being as follows: De Witt—George Marvel; Douglas—Judge Reeves; Macon—Howard Doyle; Moultrie—Judge Jennings; Piatt—Carl Reed. After completion of roll call the convention voted to make Judge Williamson the unanimous Democratic choice to succeed the late Judge Franklin Boggs.

The chair named a committee consisting of L. Coonrod, of Savoy, Mr. Dobbins of Champaign and Joel T. Davis of Tuscola to escort the candidate to the rostrum. Judge Williamson in accepting the nomination thanked the convention and promised to make an aggressive campaign preceding the election which will be held July 20th. During the course of his remarks he lauded the memory of Judge Boggs, who had been his life-long friend. When Judge Williamson first came to Urbana he was for five years associated in the practice of law with Judge Boggs.

He is a native of Indiana where he was born on a farm near New Castle in 1872. The family later moved to Douglas county near Tuscola. After completing his early education he taught school five years and then studied law, being admitted to the bar in 1902. He later attended Georgetown University and there received his Master's Degree in law. He has always taken a great interest in both legal and governmental affairs and represented this district in the Legislature several terms.

Boggs Resolution
A committee on resolutions prepared a Boggs Memorial resolution which was presented to the convention by J. L. McLaughlin and unanimously adopted.

In the matter of organizing for the campaign the convention adopted a motion that each county name an advisory committee to cooperate with the regularly constituted County Democratic Central Committees. A publicity committee is also to be named.

Moultrie's Committee
Moultrie County's advisory committee of which Judge Jennings is chairman consists of the following: J. L. McLaughlin, C. R. Patterson, J. R. Drake, Frank F. Fleming, James B. Craig, Jr., H. S. Reedy, Albert Walker and G. D. Edmonds.

Champaign's Selection
The action of the convention in nominating Judge Williamson was an endorsement of the action of the Champaign County Central committee which at a dinner, preceding the convention had caucused and balloted on what candidate to present to the convention. Some time ago the committee had selected Mr. Herrick, but he declined to be considered as a candidate.

The election to be held July 20 will elect a judge to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Boggs, whose term in office still had two years to run.

The Republicans in convention last week nominated as their candidate F. Bonner Leonard, a Champaign attorney. The judge who will be elected will be presiding judge of the Champaign county circuit court, although his services may also be called upon by any of the other five counties in the district.

While this district is generally overwhelmingly Republican, there is a strong trend toward Democratic sentiment. All counties in the district, except Macon, last fall elected some Democratic county officials. While the bar association frowns upon making the judicial race a strictly partisan affair, there is nevertheless a tendency that cannot be suppressed to blame present day conditions on Republican administration and this will be reflected in the results of the judicial election. The Republican organization and office holders throughout the district will become very active for their party's candidate and the Democrats propose to meet this with active opposition from the ranks of the voters who are not office holders or have in no way been identified with Republican administration of this country's affairs for the past eleven years.

PEARSON LAWYER GETS 6 MONTHS FOR PERJURY AND FINE OF $1,000

St. Louis, June 1, 1931.—James A. Ryan, attorney with offices in the Arcade Building, today was sentenced by U. S. District Judge Wham at East St. Louis to six months in jail and fined $500 on each of two counts charging him with subornation of perjury.

Joseph C. Hopewell, an attorney who has offices with Ryan, was granted a new trial. Both attorneys were convicted jointly last Monday by a jury.

Ryan's jail sentences are to run concurrently, that is, for a total of six months, but he must pay a fine on both counts, or $1,000.

The maximum penalty is five years in the penitentiary and a $2,000 fine.

Ryan appealed and was released on $5,000 bond after being sentenced. He is to serve his term in the Jackson County, Ill., jail.

In sentencing Ryan, Judge Wham said:

"A lawyer's first duty is to his client, to his country—and to the courts. It is a lawyer's duty in all circumstances to assist in getting the truth.

"While I understand your reputation was good before you violated the first principal of the law, you are one of the administrators of justice, and no lawyer can be worthy unless he keeps falsehood out."

At this point Ryan said:

"Your honor, I am innocent of these charges and I have never been in any kind of trouble before."

"I am very sorry," replied the judge, "but the jury found you guilty and I will have to pass sentence."

Explaining his reasons for giving Hopewell a new trial, Judge Wham said:

"It appears that the most that can be said against Hopewell is that, like Saul, he stood by consenting. The evidence against him is inadequate to indicate that he had anything to do with the procurement of subornation of perjury."

"If the indictment were worded differently, or if Hopewell were charged with conspiring to suborn perjury rather than the actual procurement to suborn perjury, the aspect of the case might be different."

Won't Drop Case
Assistant United States District Attorney Ralph Lesemann said the government would not drop its case against Hopewell. Both Hopewell and Ryan are still under indictment on a charge of conspiring to conceal assets in a bankruptcy case.

Ryan and Hopewell were charged with inducing John H. Pearson and his wife, Mrs. May V. Pearson to testify falsely at a hearing before Referee in Bankruptcy Grant. The Pearsons who lived in Sullivan, Ill., operated a clothing store.

Indictment of the two lawyers followed an investigation by federal agents who charged that Pearson held a sale on the attorneys' advice, put the money in his wife's name, and then concealed the fact that he realized the money from the sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearson testified at the trial of the attorneys that Ryan and Hopewell told them to say that Mrs. Pearson saved the money out of her allowance. The Pearsons are under indictments, charged with conspiracy to conceal assets.

Ryan and Hopewell both denied that they advised the Pearsons to commit perjury or that they conspired to conceal the assets in the bankruptcy case.—St. Louis Star.

The Railroad of a Great Empire

The Illinois Central System is producer of transportation service for a great inland empire, the economic heart of the United States.

Fourteen states with a population of 38,500,000 and with 56,900 industrial plants having an output of $18,300,000,000 a year constitute this empire.

This empire produces one-third of the cotton, three-fifths of the grain, one-third of the tobacco, nearly all the sugar cane, one-half of the livestock, three-tenths of the lumber, one-third of the coal and seven-tenths of the iron ore that are produced in the country.

Serving this great empire day in and day out—hauling its freight, carrying its passengers, contributing to its upbuilding—is the task to which the Illinois Central System is committed.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

ELEVENTH INSTALLMENT

His grub was getting low. He wanted more money than he had in his pocket. Wouldn't be working for wages now for awhile, and grub costs money.

So he sat one night in a poker game with three cowboys from over toward the Rosebud and a lucky prospector just in from the Black Hills. Walked out at daylight with his pants bulging at the sides like a pocket gopher packing grass to its burrow. Honest player, though. Never caught him in any funny business. Plain lucky, that kid with the one yellow eye.

He rode out of town at noon. Barney taking careful, nippy steps to balance the big and bulging pack on his back. Pecos, too, carried more than his master that day. Tobacco and five pounds of candy and a songbook and two cartons of cartridges wrapped in the kid's slicker and tied behind the cante. The kid's pockets sagged with six new mouth organs, keys C and D, in bright red pastboard boxes.

The kid was almost ready now to show Nellie Murray he was neither a killer nor a cur to take a licking and crawl off under the brush and whimper over his hurts. He was just about ready to start in taming the killers. Right soon, now, the name of Tiger Eye would send men's glances back over their shoulders and make a prickle go up into the roots of their hair. The range tiger was going on the prowl.

It was hot down in that willow growth through which the kid was riding. They came out finally against a barbed-wire fence built straight across through the thicket. Good stout posts that looked solid as the teeth in the kid's mouth. Four wires strung so tight they hummed like a tuning fork when the kid leaned over and gave one a jerk. No fooling with that fence. Cattle proof and storm proof, like the fences the railroads built along their right-of-way.

Plumb strange to find a fence like that over in this part of the country. This wasn't Poole land, and he never heard of any nesters over in this direction. No trails coming up this way, no nothing. Shoah was mysterious.

They followed the fence for half an hour of steady plodding along the narrow lane cut by the fence builders. They came slap up against a sandstone ledge where the last post stood in a hole drilled into solid rock and was set there with cement. And that was plumb strange too. Nothing to do about it, though. Couldn't even ride back along the edge of the willows because it was just a broken rock and rubble from the steep slope that evidently stood above the ledge.

Once more the kid turned Pecos short around and rode back along the fence. He crossed a creek bed covered with hot sun-bleached cobblestones with stagnant pools in the hollows. There the fence became a brush and wire barrier higher than the kid's head. No animal bigger than a rabbit could wriggle through there. He rode another half mile or two before he came to the edge of the fence and found it anchored to the other arm of the sandstone ledge.

An hour or more later Pecos stopped on the crest of a long ridge and stood with braced legs, completely winded after the steep climb, though the kid had been considerate enough to come up on his own feet.

He had plenty of time to rest and doze while the wind pleasantly dried his sweaty hide, for the kid sat down with his knees hunched up to brace his elbows, and through the glasses very carefully examined this strange conglomerate tion of hills and hollows and wild crooked canyons.

The kid moved his glasses a little and saw a horseman riding out of sight behind a chokeberry thicket. He seemed to be coming down the canyon.

The kid rode slowly along the canyon bottom, playing his mouth organ as he went and letting his long legs sway to the rhythm of the tune. The kid's eyes lightened with a peculiar gleam but the tune he was playing never missed a note, until a black horse and rider came into view. The kid gave one startled look and music ceased with a squawk.

Nellie Murray, dressed in her dead brother's overalls and blue gingham shirt, with her thick braid of yellow hair sweeping the cante of her saddle as she rode! She carried her dad's rifle in the crook of her arm, as if she meant to meet danger a little more than halfway, and as the two horses stopped of their own accord, she lifted the rifle midway to her shoulder, then let it down again.

The kid looked at her with that curious stare of his yellow right eye, and his face had the expressionless look of a trained gambler. Cold and hostile and ready for war he looked but he didn't feel that way. Hot crimples went chasing up his spine, and the back of his neck had a queer tightened feeling, as he stared at her.

"Well! I've found one of you, anyway!" she exclaimed, in a tone that was worse than another cut of the quirt. "Where are the cattle?"

"What cattle?"

"Our cattle that you Poole men stole out of our pasture last night. Every hoof we own! I'm going to get them back, if I have to fight every Texas killer in the country."

"I'm a Texas man, all right, but I'm no killah. Told you all that before."

"Well, that remains to be seen. You're a Poole man, anyway. You must know where our cattle are."

"Shoah wish I did. The Poole's fighting nesters, I know that. But they don't steal cattle, Miss Murray."

"Oh, don't they? Walter Bell ought to raise your wages for saying that!"

"He kain't. I'm not working for the Poole."

"No? How long since?"

"Since that night we got Babe outa Cold Spring cabin."

"I suppose the Poole fired you for poor shooting?"

Her short scornful laugh turned the kid's ears red as if she had slapped them, but he made no answer to the taunt. What was the use?

He wrapped the bridle reins around the saddle horn and began to roll a cigarette, taking plenty of time. A man could do a heap of thinking over a cigarette without giving himself away.

"You must know the Poole ran off with our cattle!"

"No, kain't say I do."

"Well, they did."

"You all right shoah it was the Poole?"

"I wouldn't say it if I wasn't sure," she retorted sharply. "None of our neighbors would do it, and besides, I trailed them up on the Bench and over this way. The Poole wants to run us out of the country. You know why, don't you?"

"Kain't say I do, lessen it's because you a nestah."

"Oh, of course all the nesters are being made the goats for Walter Bell! He's got to lay the blame somewhere for his stealings. But he's scared to death of us Murrys and he means to drive us out. He's got Ed and father out of the way, but he's afraid of Mother and me too. You know why, don't you?"

"Kain't blame 'em for that," he said drily.

Nellie flushed and looked down at the rifle sagging in her grasp. "It's because old Walt Bell is afraid Mother and I know what Ed found out about the Poole. Ed caught the Poole cowboys stealing Poole cattle, that's why! Some of them—that stand in close with Walter Bell. Joe Hale for one, and Jess Markel for another. He caught them running a wildcat brand on Poole calves, over this way somewhere. He found out a lot, and then he wrote back to the head moguls in New York and told them what was going on." She bit her lip. "That was away last March, and they haven't done a thing about it, though Mother says Ed sent enough proof to put the whole outfit in the pen."

"Shoah had nerve, that boy." The cigarette was lighted but the kid forgot to smoke it. His mind went shuttling back and forth, weaving Nellie's story into certain puzzling fragments of information he had never been able to make anything of.

"Of course he had nerve! Too much. He wanted to get the goods on that bunch without dragging the neighbors into it. He never told them what he was doing, but he told Father."

"Plumb strange you all nevah mentioned it, when we talked these things ovah at the cabin. 'Peahs like I wasn't trusted at no time.'"

"I didn't know it then. Mother knew, but they were afraid to talk about it much. She only told me early this morning, when we found out our cattle were gone. I rode down to the pasture to bring up the cows and there wasn't a hoof in sight. I saw where they'd been driven off and then when I went to tell Mother, she told me the whole story."

"Shoah would like to know what yoh mothah said," he observed, in what would have been a cold and formal tone, except that the kid's soft Texas voice made a pleasing melody whenever he spoke.

"Mother told me Ed was always trying to figure out why the Poole had it in for the nesters, after letting them settle in the valley without making a fuss. Ed did a lot of riding outside the valley. The Poole claimed he was rustling calves, but that's a lie. I know how we got every hoof we owned. We only had forty-two head. Now we haven't got any."

"If yoh brothah got proof—"

"He got enough to put the fear of the Lord into Walter Bell," she declared bitterly. "We don't know whether they saw Ed watching them, or whether the Eastern owners wrote back and told Walt what Ed said about him and his outfit. The Poole certainly must have found out somehow, and it wasn't from any of the valley folks, for they don't know it. The Poole started in—dry-gulching, if you know what that means, and I suppose you do, all right." She sent him a quick glance and looked away again when the kid failed to meet her eyes. "Before, it was just mean range tricks—hogging the range and accusing the nesters of rustling calves and killing beef and all that. But all at once they started killing. Ed was one of the first—"

"If yoh'd give me the brands so I'd know yoh mothah's cattle when I find 'em—"

"Well, it's Reverse E. But I couldn't think of troubling you, Mr. Reeves. I intend to get those cattle myself."

"It's a man's job," the kid said gruffly.

"Well, I'm the man of the family now, so it's my job. So long, Mr. Reeves!" She gathered up the reins and tapped her horse lightly with the quirt—just as if it never had been put to a more sinister use—and rode on past the kid with her chin tilted upward and her gaze bent ostentatiously upon a straggling, small herd of cattle feeding over on the farther slope.

"Adios, Miss Murray!" The kid kicked Pecos into a trot and rode on into the rocky pass, playing his mouth organ so loudly he cracked a reed so that the note buzzed like a bee in a bottle.

He rode on ahead of her. Didn't act like she was going home. Didn't try to catch up with him, either. The kid got to worrying about what she meant to do, and finally he pulled in behind a ledge and waited for her to come along, so he could give her another piece of her mind. Yet when she rode up she didn't give him a chance.

"If you're bound to hunt our cattle, I guess we better work together," she said cheerfully. "This is awful rough country."

"Go awn home, like I told you all."

"Oh, forget it!" she snapped. "I'm not going, and that settles it. If you want to get rid of me so bad, hurry up and find our cattle."

"If it wasn't foh yoh mothah, I wouldn't turn my hand ovah foh you all!" the kid blurted fiercely. (Continued Next Week)

How One Woman Lost 102 Lbs. of Fat

Almost Unbelievable—
Nevertheless True

Dear Friends:

You advertise Kruschen Salts for reducing, so I finally tried them and when I started I weighed 219 pounds and when I took them for a year and 3 weeks, I lost exactly 102 pounds.

I am 23 years old and I look at least 5 years younger now than I did when I was fat. I have a picture of myself before and after so if you want to see them let me know.

I am always telling my friends about the wonderful salts. I am always advertising them.

I took 2 bottles every month for a year and 3 weeks. It amounted to $25 for reducing 102 pounds but it was worth it.

If I can be of any help to you let me know.

Yours truly, Miss Nellie Simpson, 1903 Wayne Street, Swissvale, Pa., Oct. 31, 1930.

The Modern Safe Way—
Right Way to Lose Fat

Just take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

You can hasten the reducing action of Kruschen by going lighter on potatoes, pastry and fatty meats.

Unlike other Salts, Kruschen doesn't reduce by rushing food thru your system. Rather it's an ideal blend of 6 separate mineral salts which help every gland, nerve and body organ to function properly.

Women everywhere are overjoyed with this marvelous reducing treatment. Frequently pound by pound of surplus fat leaves and soon you possess that trim, slender figure you've always craved.

An 85c bottle of Kruschen (lasts 4 weeks) is sold by leading druggists the world over—so start this SAFE method to lose ugly fat TODAY! Sam B. Hall sells lots of it. —Adv.

THE WEATHER

This is growing weather. Showers keep the ground moist and the sun is warming it this (Thursday) afternoon. Farmers are cultivating corn. You never saw a better stand.

As stated before, crop prospects this spring are about 100% perfect. "But" say the farmers "what is the use. We don't get anything for what we raise." But the farmers are not the only ones who might complain—politicians have been raising hell a long time and nobody wants to buy that either.

Saturday Sullivan folks, in common with other good folks, tried to observe Memorial Day with a suitable program. But ere the time arrived the skies began to weep and just about the time that Leland Lawrence was ready to launch on a burst of eloquent oratory, the heavens opened and how it did rain! While the program could not be completed, we know that those whose spirits and departure we were about to honor, will not chalk up against us the sin of omission. Incidentally the rain spoiled a few good games of golf.

Friday we saw a bunch of good looking people. Elmer Bowers would have been delighted to observe the shape of the heads of all those folks who attended the Democratic judicial convention in Urbana. Elmer says he can tell a man's politics by just looking at what he has above his shoulders.

Wednesday night band concerts started here in Sullivan. Thanks to Bo Woods and a few other enterprising young men, funds have been raised to defray the expenses of these concerts. Everybody is invited to Sullivan on Wednesday nights. Most anything in the way of a progressive civic venture needs men to make it a success. Soliciting money for band concerts or any other such community affair is not a lovely job by any means. It speaks much for the boys and girls who step out and do the preliminary work to put such affairs across.

At French Lick, Indiana this week an assembly of governors is holding a meeting. They are making speeches with the intention of making enough of an impression so that people will demand that they run for president.

Governor Ritchie of Maryland says that, since this country is consuming millions of dollars worth of booze anyway, why not use some system of taxing the booze traffic and relieve the overburdened taxpayer? Gov. Ritchie has one ardent admirer here and that is Col. Clarence Ritchey who says he is a distant cousin of the Governor. If Gov. Ritchie does become a candidate Clarence may be named as his campaign manager in Kirksville. He'll get some good job, that's sure.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS PLAN TO ATTEND URBANA TOUR

Quite a number of 4-H club members of this county are planning to attend the 4-H club tour at Urbana June 10th, 11th and 12th. A big delegation will doubtless leave here from the Farm Bureau office Thursday morning at 6:15.

The program for the tour is as follows:

General assembly for boys and girls and leaders Wednesday afternoon at the auditorium beginning at one. President Chase and Dean Mumford will give the official welcome.

Wednesday night beginning at 7:30 Contest night for club members for contests in chorus work, male quartettes, girls trios and individual stunts. Only the high contestants will compete for the final honors Wednesday night. Previous elimination contests will have been held Wednesday.

Thursday morning beginning at 8:00 a well known speaker is being secured for this assembly.

Thursday night the 4-H club annual suppers will be held in 5 sections of approximately 300 or more in each section. Each banquet will be as interesting as the other. The program will consist chiefly of entertainment with some very interesting stunts. Counties are prepared to encourage to prepare a short song to give during the evening.

Friday morning the all state 4-H club orchestra will give a program under the direction of Ray F. Dvorak.

All of these general assemblies will be held in the auditorium. On Thursday afternoon all club leaders both men and women will meet in the theatre room of Lincoln hall. Talks and discussions will be given by club leaders and others. The theme of the afternoon will be "The Spirit of Club Work". Recognition will be given to club leaders who have served over a period of years.

There will be campus tours, club demonstrations, recreation and short talks on various subjects of interest. The separate program for the boys and men leaders will consist mainly of tours of the South farm which include special features about marketing, as well as seeing places of interest, such as the Farm Mechanics Department, Floriculture department and the Morrow Plats. Of special interest this year is the new beef cattle plant which has recently been completed.

Any club can select any day they wish to attend the tour but Thursday seems to be the most interesting program to all and the delegation will leave Farm Bureau at 6:15. Those who wish to go in a body on this day should make arrangements for transportation and report at Farm Bureau at the above stated time.

If there are any who prefer to go and stay over night further particulars may be had at the Farm Bureau office. However these arrangements should be made at once in order to get reservations.

Time of services the same. The Revival meeting starts Sunday evening with one of these preachers in the pulpit each evening: Oglesby, Hemp, Harsh or Bock. Everyone welcome.

Ex. 15:25 "And he cried unto the Lord, and the Lord shewed him a tree, which when he cast it into the waters, the waters were made sweet."

Isiah, Jeremiah and Zachariah speak of a branch that should come from the root of Jesse in such terms that there is left no doubt as to whom they refer. Here we have a type of the Christ who came to Israel to sweeten the bitter waters of their National life, but Israel rejected the Branch. This same branch comes to us today, as individuals, in the form of the Holy Spirit to sweeten the bitter waters of our sojourn here. Truly life has many bitter streams running through it, made so by sin, not always sin in the individual, but the sin in the world. When Moses cast the branch into the waters the bitterness was taken out, necessarily so if the waters were to be made sweet. The branch cast into our lives—so to speak—sweetens the streams by removing the sin from our lives. Just as sure as you live here those bitter streams will come. Why not let Jesus, the Everlasting Branch sweeten those streams for you?

CHRISTIAN CHURCH C. E. BARNETT, Pastor

Children's Day in the Sunday School will be observed with several special numbers. The annual offering for benevolence will be received through the classes. Next Sunday also marks the beginning of the 100% class days in the school, based upon a two thirds attendance of the enrollment. It will be an honor to be upon the 100% roll. How many honor classes will there be? Sunday school opens with orchestra and song at 9:30 a. m.

At the evening church service, 7:30, the Young People's choir will sing "When Jesus Plans My Way." The pastor will preach, using the subject "A Personally Conducted Tour." In the morning hour of worship the subject of sermon will be "The Man Who Wished He Could Cry, How Much and Why?" This service begins at 10:40 o'clock, with communion.

Thirteen miles in the lead the girls crossed the finish line in the auto contest race. The boys will entertain the girls Friday evening, June 12, at the home of Wm. and Donald McKown. Sunday evening the Christian Endeavor will be led by Homer Johnson: "The Need for Christian Thoughtfulness and Kindness" will be the topic. For your soul's sake go to church.
