BASEBALL

"Now look here, you fellows" said Manager Kinsel to his Bruce Sluggers Sunday, "there's no sense in waiting until the 9th inning before you get warmed up. Start the fireworks earlier in the game. You can do it." Ott was right. They could. They did.

The strong Judy Candy Company team of Decatur came to Bruce Sunday to administer another defeat to the pride of Kinsel's field. They had done it once this season. They thought it was easy to do it again. But lo, and behold, the Candy Kids were wrong. Bruce heeded the advice of the manager and Misenheimer pitched the best game of his career. In the first inning three batsmen faced the pitcher and one-two-three they bit the dust. The Sluggers started scoring right off in their half of the inning.

This rather puzzled the visitors for they had come to win and win easily. But it was just too bad. Misenheimer kept fanning the Judyites one after another until they numbered 15. The Bruce boys kept batting the Decatur pitcher all over the lot and then chased each other around the bases, until 14 runs were scored. The visitors got a goose-egg, they were blanked. All the figures to their credit were 5 hits and ten errors.

The visitors were a nice, clean bunch of players and the only things that put them in such hard luck was Ott's lecture to his team about the 9th inning rallies and the pitching pride of Bruce—Forrest Misenheimer.

There, is some talk about a game sometime soon between Windsor and Bruce, the proceeds to go to pay the doctor bill of the Webb child who was mistreated by a paroled convict some weeks ago. Further developments in these plans will be reported from week to week.

Next Sunday a team from Mid-dlesworth will come up and give the Bruce boys the kind of snappy competition that they like.

Windsor Going Strong

The Sullivan Shell team went to Windsor Sunday and got a licking 18 to 0.

Another "Blank" Game

The Sullivan Browns kept up their winning streak by defeating LaPlace Sunday 5 to 0. The LaPlace boys were handicapped by three of their best players being absent. At that, the game was full of pep and not near as one sided as the score indicates.

Next Sunday the Browns play the Decatur Orioles here.

Pierson Won

Pierson played Clessons Mayflowers of Decatur and won by a score of 12-4. This runs their winning streak to 17 wins in 20 starts. Carroll pitching for Pierson kept Clessons' 8 hits well scattered after the 1st inning.

Pierson pounded 3 Clesson pitchers for 20 hits, everybody on Pierson team getting at least 1 hit. Willard Battery plays Pierson at Pierson Sunday. Willards are boasting a record of 15 straight wins, undefeated for the season.

The summary of score Sunday is
P. 0 0 0 7 1 1 3 0 12 20 3
C. 2 0 0 0 1 0 0 1 4 8 4
Battery Pierson—Carroll, King, Battery, Clessons—Workman, Tilinski, Masters, Cathcart.

GAS TAX FIRST SIX MONTHS IS $9,083.58

County Clerk Paul L. Chippis and Supt. of Roads Guy S. Little received notice on Thursday morning that Moultrie County's share of the state gas tax for the first six months of 1931 is $9,083.58. This money will be available when the county needs it for road work, approved by the state.

Mr. Little states that last year's share for the county was approximately $18,000 and indications are that this year it will be as much or perhaps more, as the last six months of the year usually produce a greater tax than the first six months.

TEACHERS WILL HAVE INSTITUTE MONDAY, AUGUST 31

A teachers' institute of one day will be held on Monday, August 31st. The program has not yet been completed but it is being planned with the idea of furnishing something of interest to rural, grade and high school teachers and it is hoped that all teachers who are to teach in Moultrie county will be in attendance.

Among those who are to appear on the program is J. C. Hoke who was formerly Co. Supt. of Moultrie county for eight years. Various school journals and publications will be represented by Loren Brumfield and Kenneth Seitz. The institute will be held in the Sullivan township high school building.

READING BOOKS ONLY CHANGE IN SCHOOL WORK

The office of County superintendent Albert Walker is a busy place as the preliminary arrangements are made for the opening of schools on September 1st.

There will be no radical changes from the routine of work under which the schools have been operating. Supt. Walker announces that the list of text books for the schools of Moultrie County will remain the same as last year except in reading.

The reading texts were selected in conjunction with superintendents from adjoining counties and will be the same as those used, in whole or in part, in the following counties: Macon, Piatt, Coles and Shelby.

The reading program in Moultrie county will be based on the following readers:

First three grades—Gates-Huber Work Play Books published by Macmillan & Co.

Grades 4, 5 and 6—"Reading and Living" by Hill—Lyman and Moore, published by Charles Scribners Sons.

Grades 7 and 8—The Laidlaw Readers by Engleman and McTun-nan, published by Laidlaw Bros.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS INSTALLATION WAS HELD HERE SUNDAY

The officers of Moultrie Post 2200 and Windsor Post 2201, Veterans of Foreign Wars were installed here Sunday. Because of the extremely hot weather the attendance was not as big as had been anticipated.

All of the officers on the program were present except State Commander Thomas who is in officers training camp and Past Commander Cohn who was best man at his brother's wedding in Chicago.

Those in charge of Sunday's festivities will have a business meeting tonight (Friday). It is expected that a regular meeting date for each post will be set at that time.

CLOVER SEED, GOOD CROP

BIG 4-H PICNIC WILL BE HELD HERE TUESDAY

Committees Have Been Named and Premium List Announced. Expect Many Entries in Livestock and Clothing.

Arrangements are rapidly taking place for the Annual 4-H club show to be held at Freeland Grove Park Sullivan, Tuesday, August 18. A generous committee meeting was held at the Farm Bureau office Tuesday night at which time the final arrangements for the event were completed.

This show is one of the high events of the season for 4-H club boys and girls of Moultrie county. This is a banner year from the standpoint of enrollment as there are 171 boys and girls doing 4-H work this year. There will probably be 30 or 40 steers, about a dozen fat pigs and 25 or 30 dairy calves and cows. E. A. McKenzie was made Chairman of the Building and Grounds committee and will provide the essentials for exhibiting the livestock. Some of the boys will not be able to show their calves because they are not sufficiently trained. The steers have grown to such proportions that they are beyond their master's size and strength.

A financial report from Treasurer Farley Young stated that approximately $260.00 was carried over from last year after receiving the state appropriation in January. A balance of this size or even larger should be carried over in

ROLLIN H. LAWRENCE FATHER M. E. PASTOR DIED SUNDAY NIGHT

Rollin H. Lawrence, father of Rev. L. L. Lawrence of this city died here at the home of his son Sunday night. He had been in ill health for the past six months.

Before retiring from active work Mr. Lawrence had been a newspaper man connected with the Farmer City and Clinton newspapers.

He was born April 14, 1860 in Kansas, the son of James and Katherine Lawrence and was married in February 1886 to Jennie A. Green who survives. He also leaves the following children: Mrs. E. L. Jones, Clinton; Mrs. M. L. Johnson, Chicago; Leland Lawrence of Sullivan; J. R. Lawrence, Chicago. Several brothers also survive.

Funeral services were held at the M. E. parsonage at 12 o'clock noon Wednesday. The remains were then taken to Clinton where services were held at the M. E. church at 2 o'clock in charge of Rev. F. A. McCarty, district superintendent of the Clinton-Mattoon district. Burial was in Memorial Park, Clinton.

THREE EX-CHAMPIONS STILL IN RACE FOR SENTEL GOLF CUP

The Sentel cup championship tournament at the Country club continues to be the high spot in interest insofar as the many tournaments now being played are concerned.

Since last week's report Purvis Tabor defeated President Frank McPheeters. O. F. Cochran retired last year's champion Paul Hankla. This matched Cochran against Tabor and the battle was a victory for the Judge.

Carl C. Wolf in close play defeated John J. Gauger. This assures that one of the semi-final plays will be between the two former champions, Carl C. Wolf vs. O. F. Cochran.

Troy Scott, also a former champion beat Jim Lehman last week. This matches Scott with Judge Sentel who has come through unscathed so far. Bill Davenport of Arthur beat Don Butler and will now play Gerald Elder. The winner of the Davenport-Elder match will play the winner of the Scott-Sentel match. The survivor of these matches will play the winner of the Wolf-Cochran match for the championship.

Husband and Wife

The Husband and Wife tournament has reached the semi finals in which Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hill will play Mr. and Mrs. Lute Hudson and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hankla will play Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Fleming. Since last week Mr. and Mrs. Hill defeated Mr. and Mrs. Ray Getz; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Patterson; Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Fleming defeated Dr. and Mrs. Butler.

In the ladies handicap tournament Beatrice Hill is matched to play her mother, Mrs. Eva Hill; Mrs. Bess Hankla is matched to play Mrs. Ella Eads.

There has been very little development in the other tournaments.

A caddy tournament is also being played but neither the caddies nor anybody else seems to know to what stage it has progressed and it has been suggested that it be finished by playing marbles instead of golf.

HARD ROAD BUILDING PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

The Feutz construction company which is building the hard road between Lovington and Arthur is laying better than a mile of paving a week. More than four miles have been laid from Arthur westward. It is reported that the company will move their material yards and near future and work eastward from there. Present indications are that the road will be finished some time in September. This is a very nice section of road to build. There are no big bridges or fills to cause any delay.

THE LILT OF A LAUGH

I've toiled with the men the world has blessed
And I've toiled with the men who failed;
I've toiled with the men who strove with zest,
And I've toiled with the men who wailed,
And this is the tale my soul would tell
As it drifts o'er the harbor bar:
The sound of a sigh doesn't carry well,
But the lilt of a laugh rings far.

The men who were near the grumbler's side,
Oh, they heard not a word he said;
The sound of a song rang far and wide,
And they listened to that instead.
Its tones were as sweet as the tales they tell
Of the rise of the Christmas star
The sound of a sigh doesn't carry well
But the lilt of a laugh rings far.

If you would be heard at all, dear youth,
Keep a laugh in your heart and throat;
For those who are deaf to accents sad,
Are alert to the cheerful note.
Keep hold of the chord of laughter's bell,
Keep aloof from the moans that mar;
The sound of a sigh doesn't carry well
But the lilt of a laugh rings far.

Farm Problem Not Political

It stands to reason that the farmers of this nation cannot continue to produce big yearly crops of grain for which there is no market and expect any measure of prosperity.

This question is not political. It is economic. A Democratic president cannot raise the price of wheat and oats when there is an over-supply and nobody is eager to buy.

Berating the unfortunate and miserable Hoover administration will not solve any farm problems.

The people of this nation may as well face this problem squarely and sensibly. America has produced more grain than it can consume. Foreign nations have recovered from the demoralization of the World War and instead of being buyers of American grain, they are competing in the export market for foreign sales.

American farmers have been taught through their farm organizations how to produce more grain. Millions of acres of land have been reclaimed and made to produce crops. The point of saturation in demand for these grains has long been reached and the surplus of a new crop is added to the carry-over of the old crop.

Tractor and gasoline-propelled machinery are taking the place of horses and mules. The big decrease in such farm animals has decreased to an enormous extent one of the best consumers of farm products. Grain and hay fed to horses and mules furnished power for farm work. Today the power is bought from the oil companies.

Conscientious men are seeking a solution for the perplexing problem. Abuse and misunderstanding will never prove of any worth.

The problem has come to a head under Republican administration. Politics, however, will not solve it. The Republicans are unfortunate in this way: they did claim credit for prosperity of the after-war days. They may not have had anything more to do with such prosperity than they have with today's depression. They cannot however claim credit for the one and evade responsibility for the other. They have made their bed and must lie in it. As an organization the G. O. P. is entitled to no sympathy.

The farmers troubles are bigger than any mere political party or issue. Politics must not hamper their solution. Level-headed men can and will work out a constructive program of agriculture if given the co-operation of the farmers.

The Republican party has attempted such solution. Thus far it is a dismal failure and agriculture is sinking deeper and deeper into the quicksands of ruin. If Democracy presents candidates in 1932 who have the confidence of the nation, it will be given its opportunity. If it fails—all that can be said is that this nation will have an interesting future, though perhaps not a prosperous one.

We Are For Roosevelt

The Democratic party's 1932 standard bearer will be Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York. This is the present outstanding prospect in this nation's politics.

Efforts have been made to side-track the Roosevelt boom. The money powers and utilities companies want Owen Young, also a New Yorker. The extreme wets want Alfred E. Smith to take another fling at the nomination. Radical dries would like to see Joe Robinson of Arkansas in the running. Maryland folks had some hopes that Governor Ritchie would be given some consideration.

We folks here in Illinois are booming Senator James Hamilton Lewis. Other little boomlets may be expected to spring up here and there, but none of them will grow to big proportions. Our Senator Lewis has an important office now. Let him attend to its duties.

Sentiment in central Illinois strongly favors the nomination of Governor Roosevelt. He has been in the public eye many years. He has been efficient. He has been honest. He has the confidence of the people. He can be elected.

The party will look to the middle west for Roosevelt's running mate. He ought to be from Illinois. He must be a man who commands the honor and respect not only of his fellow Illinoisians, but of the entire nation. He must be a man of legislative experience and with some qualities that will enable him to fill the office of president, should he be called upon to do so. Outstanding among this state's Democratic congressman is the Hon. Henry T. Rainey of Carrollton. He has represented an important Illinois district in Congress for the past 26 years.

A Democratic ticket headed by Roosevelt and Rainey can sweep Illinois into the Democratic column. That's The Progress ticket. How do you like it?

Magna Charta

On June 15, 1215, King John met the barons near Runnymede on the Thames, England, and granted them the charter which they laid before him, now famous under the name of "Magna Charta".

This charter contains sixty-three articles, some of which were merely temporary; the principles upon which the whole English judicial system is based are these:

"No freeman shall be taken or imprisoned, or dispossessed of land, or outlawed, or banished * unless by the lawful judgment of his peers, or by the law of the land."

"We will sell to no man, we will not deny to any man, either justice or right."

Among the two most important articles were the two which limited the power of the king in matters of taxation:

"No scutage or aid shall be imposed in our kingdom unless by the general council of our kingdom;" and

"For the holding of the general council of the kingdom * we shall cause to be summoned the archbishops, bishops, abbots, earls and the greater barons of the realm, singly, by our letters. And furthermore, we shall cause to be summoned generally by our sheriffs and bailiffs, all others who hold us in chief."

WAY OF LIFE

By Bruce Barton

"I WAS WRONG"

Like many other business men, I subscribed to a confidential bulletin issued by a private news agency in Washington.

It contains interesting comment on affairs both here and abroad, gathered from official sources and from important visitors to the Capital. No one is quoted by name and hence the writers of the bulletin can exercise considerable freedom. Sometimes their information is useful.

In a recent number they answered certain questions as to how they get their news. I quote the following paragraph:

"For example, take the Washington predictions as to when business will recover. There have been two kinds. First, the formal, publishable statement of officials, which the newspapers have carried. Second, the unofficial, private, more sincere views which the Washington correspondents have known but were under obligations not to print. We have sent you the latter. Our advice has been less wrong than most, but not particularly good at that, and this is one example of why you should not trust our letters 100%."

That made a great hit with me. If the writers had said: "We misled you a little about the time of the business recovery, but we were not responsible. The officials deceived us;" or "While we were wrong on the business recovery, still our competitors were much worse"—if they had written any sort of alibi at all, every word of it would have lessened my confidence.

But when they came out frankly and said: "We were wrong, and you should never depend on us one hundred per cent," then I began to think they must be pretty smart men.

I have never forgotten an experience with one of my first employers, a man who is now at the very top of his profession.

In those days I was getting $40 a week, and he was earning $40,000 a year. He lived in a fine apartment on Park Avenue, and I lived in one room in the Y.M.C.A.

One morning early I was called out of bed to answer the telephone. It was my employer. He said:

"After you left the office last night I hunted up some additional information on the subject we had been discussing. I tried to reach you during the evening, but you were out. I am calling you now to let you know that you were right and I was wrong."

You can imagine what that did to me! I would have jumped off the roof for that boss, and I never meet him even now without an impulse to raise my hat.

Little fellows feel that they must be infallible in order to maintain the world's respect. It is a badge of bigness to be able to say frankly, "I was wrong."

CRIMINAL INCREASE

Springfield, August 11: "The prison population of Illinois today is twice the proportion of the state's population that it was ten years ago. We are in the midst of the most serious demonstration of anti-social action which any civilized country has ever known." Director Rodney H. Brandon, of the state department of public welfare, issued this information, based upon state penal institution records, in connection with the proposed creation of a state criminal identification bureau, authorized by the last session of the General Assembly. Director Brandon's opinion is that, to improve this situation, the best method is "a stern, relentless, impartial enforcement of the statutes of the state." We must drive home," he said, "in the mind of every citizen, not only the knowledge of the difference between right and wrong but a thorough appreciation of the truth that the way of the transgressor is hard."

EDISON'S FAME

The serious illness of Thomas A. Edison reminds the world of what it owes the great public servant.

He has caused thousands of millions to be distributed among workers. He has lighted the whole world, the public schools, the scientist's laboratory, the student's library, the mechanic's workshop and millions of homes. He is the greatest, in public service, of all living Americans, fit to stand with Washington and Lincoln.—Arthur Brisbane.

Main Street Looks at Broadway

A Warrior "Boiled"

One recent hot day on Broadway a knight in full chain-mail armour with a steel helmet stood on the corner, right in the hot sun. His "pennant" told where one could get a fine manicure. Just another sandwich man.

I went up to him and asked him. "Why, you poor simp, don't you go over and stand in the shade?"

The sweat poured down his face, inside of his visor. It must have been worse than a Turkish bath or painting the roof of a shed in July down in Florida!

"Say," he rejoined, "what do you think I am? I'd do it in a minute but I'm under orders to stand where the sun shines on my helmet!" And that was that.

No Billboards

New York City is the center, along with Chicago, of the billboard industry. Some $14,000,000 a year comes here from the renters of country-side displays. But do they take their own medicine? They do not.

Walking in Central Park, right in the heart of the big town, one can see miles of skyscrapers that border the park. As far as the eye can see, there is not a single line of print anywhere, barring one building which carries just the address—15 E. 69—or something like it.

They're just throwing away a million dollars a year by not carrying signs for somebody's soap, or toothpowder or something. Just imagine a notice over the Metropolitan Museum—"all statues inside cleaned by Purity Soap." No funnier than destroying the beauty of some sylvan scene.

Had a Real Bug

Insect exterminators ply their profitable trade in all big cities. How profitable it is was shown here the other day when a tenant who had telephoned for a man to chase a mouse away, fell into talk with the bug killer.

He gave his name as John L. Whitten of 307 W. 111th, a fine neighborhood. Then he admitted he "batched" in the top floor there; that he owned the whole building; that his own two rooms were filled with costly antiques and that he owned a collection of Russian gold table service and Japanese cloisonne ware that was too valuable to keep stored in a safety deposit vault.

Most of his valuables were picked up for a song as he haunted second hand stores in his working clothes and the proprietors of the shop took him for a poor man.

Other Poor Men

There is another type of man who has been the subject of many an "O. Henry" story. The type is the waiter, many of whom build up fortunes from their tips. Of course the big money does not come that way but from confidential tips on the market they overhear while waiting on big financiers, or else which are given to them out of kindness by their customers.

The other day two stock exchange men were lunching together when one suggested a trip to the racetrack. His friend asked him if he had any money in his pocket. "Why, no," said the first man, "I thought you had plenty."

Their regular waiter was nearby and he stepped up to the table. "If you'll excuse me," he said, "I couldn't help overhearing what you were talking about. If one or two hundred would do you any good, I'll be glad to let you have it." And then he dug up a roll and skinned off enough twenties so the two could have an afternoon's amusement.

Ten Years Ago

(Taken from the Progress files of August 12, 1921)

Some months ago we printed this "Ten Years Ago" feature for a while and then discontinued it. We have had numerous requests for it, so here it is again.

Ten years ago Sheriff Lansden and Deputy Sheriff Charles Younger had a gun battle in an old shed in Whitley township with auto thieves.

The Park board was making a gravel beach at Wyman Lake. The county Sunday School convention had just been held in Dalton City.

Poultry fanciers had a midsummer meeting to talk over arrangements for the annual show the following January.

Mrs. Joe Lucas died August 10. Judge O. F. Cochran had opened the August term of the county court and he and States Attorney Wehmhoff were busy giving consideration to gambling cases. C. R. Roane, wife and daughter of Lincoln, Nebraska had returned home after a visit here.

Charles Howell bought the Jane Merritt farm near Arthur for $265 per acre.

The Ezra Patterson family left here on a trip to El Paso, Texas where they expected to remain a few months. (They have made that city their home).

Gov. Len Small who had been indicted on charges of embezzlement and conspiracy by a Sangamon County Grand Jury, quit traveling around the state and surrendered to the Sheriff. He gave bond in the sum of $50,000.

Harold Roney's drawing class gave an exhibit of its work at the South Side school building.

Plans were announced for the dedication of Freeland Grove auditorium Sunday, August 14th. (R. C. Parks down in Texas—Remember how busy you were at that time?)

Mrs. Coombes, county superintendent of schools was giving the teachers her supplementary course of study.

Ben Overstreet, the jeweler was having a silverware sale.

Good roads boosters were all worked up about the G. P. T. a road from Altamont North through to Hammond.

The families of W. R. Robinson, Sam Newbould and Bert Woodruff were spending the week camping in Pifer's park.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewie David and Mr. and Mrs. Ote Poland had spent Sunday at Dalton City visiting Thelma Barton who had undergone an appendicitis operation.

FORUM

GOLD STAR PARENTS SPEAK

Sullivan, Ill., Aug. 6, 1931

To Whom It May Concern:—

In regard to those who would not or did not sign those papers for our boys to get the rest of their War Bonus and telling them they were trying to break the government.

They know not the heartaches the government gave us when it took our dear sons over there to be torn and killed. They broke up our homes and broke our hearts and what these dear boys went through to save their country that they left behind might live in peace!

Now they want to turn the boys down. We do not say that all do, but some. We ought to help them all we can for the life they went through over there so I say, Help our Boys all we can. We gave one dear one up and we know the heartache of it.

You can print this or leave it out, just as you like, but our boys need all your support.

When the next war comes the rest of them may find out what it costs to see a dear son sent over sea.

Yours,

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kracht.

GOLFERS

John D. Rockefeller, who has the wisdom that comes with nearly 100 years of age, said that he never knew a golfer that had a mean character. That is a surprising statement, and can only be explained on the ground that John D. plays on own private golf courses, and only with people who are honored with his invitation. Irritable and crotchety golfers—and all normal ones are—simply conceal their real natures and feelings from their generous host. Strangely enough the ancient oil man's statement came just at a time when golfing dubbers from coast to coast, and from slice to hook, were in a seething rage over the new larger and lighter golf ball put into use this year. They blame it bitterly for all their shots that go off at a tangent—or do not go at all. The vituperation, execration, imprecation, denunciation and commination hissed against the new ball would indict the golfing character in general. Particularly so since the new ball is not at all to blame. The same things happened with the old ball. In fact the large, light ball is the dubber's friend. It plays the part of the scapegoat of antiquity. But, alas! it does not improve the golfer's character.—Pathfinder.

ROWENA RIDES THE RUMBLE

NINTH INSTALLMENT

When Peter went out for a look around town she hurried away with her share of the wedding presents in search of a pawn-shop, where she left them securely locked away from danger of theft or loss and stopped for an express money order on her way home.

There wasn't enough money for the suit but she bought a new, frilly collar and cuff set to brighten up the old one which she extravagantly sent down to the hotel cleaners for pressing. She had a small electric iron and a folding board in her big suitcase, but she felt some hesitancy about resorting to such an economy with Peter in the sitting-room.

The reception was a huge success. The best people in their best clothes were properly impressed. Peter and Rowena in a mound of flowers in the Rackruff roadster were photographed for the local papers, interviewed by representatives of the press, and congratulated on every hand. Peter was given a pearl-studded cigarette lighter, which worked successfully and Rowena a wrist-watch with the same design in chip diamonds. She accepted it with a glowing smile and inner regret that she had not had it earlier in the day to provide the coveted suit.

Mr. Meeker told her confidently that the only reason he had not told her about the wristwatch was because they had evidently planned it as an afterthought and he hadn't heard about it.

When the reception was over they were driven triumphantly back to the hotel in a procession of Rackruff roadsters, so that a considerable crowd gathered in the streets to cheer them on.

"Peter, don't you love it?" demanded Rowena when they were again alone in the bridal suite—alone, but with the door noticeably ajar. "Don't you adore being a husband? Aren't you glad we got married? Why, if I had known it was such fun I'd have been married dozens of times before this."

Peter waited in the lobby downstairs while she dressed for the big affair of the day, and when she was ready he took possession of the bedroom and bath while she sat in the flower-filled sitting room—the door into the corridor wide open, you may be sure—and wrote a long gay letter to Buddy and enclosed the money order. At seven o'clock Mr. Meeker called to escort them down in person. He brought a huge corsage of orchids and orange blossoms for Rowena and a gardenia for Peter's buttonhole.

"Guess we better let her stick it in for you," said Mr. Meeker. "Seems it gives more of a bridal touch to things."

Rowena rose to the occasion. She kissed the gardenia prettily and then flicked it coquettishly on Peter's chin before she tucked it carefully into the lapel of his coat—all this to the beaming delight of Mr. Meeker and the confusion of Peter.

Flushing with rosy pride, Mr. Meeker led them down to the reception room and introduced them once more to all the Rackruff dealers and their wives, and then to the gentlemen of the press—and editors and publishers among them.

too, as well as mere reporters. The orchestra struck up the wedding march and Peter and Rowena, flanked by Mr. Meeker on one side and the head waiter on the other, led the procession into the ballroom for dinner. The seats designed for them were raised above the others in a royal mound of white roses. This, Mr. Meeker explained in a loud whisper, represented the solitaire diamond of an engagement ring, which was typified by the rest of the tables ranging the full extent of the hall in a great circle.

Never had Rowena been so beautiful. Her eyes—the blue of a summer sky—sparkled with pleasant excitement. Her lovely lips quivered sensitively. Under the table she felt about with the toe of a silver slipper until she found Peter's foot to press when she wished to call his attention to anything particularly priceless that caught her eye or ear.

Peter stared and stared at her. Everyone else did, too, if it comes to that, but no one of all those present was so amazed and so bewildered as Peter himself. Over and over again he had to remind himself that this radiant, exquisite creature, the cynosure of all eyes, whose sheer beauty fairly took away one's breath, was the very same crisp and curt Rowena who kept such a stubborn finger on the steering wheel of their trip.

When dinner was over and he danced with her for the first time he was startled and stirred to discover that she was a feather in his arms; that her gleaming hair was fragrant as flowers; her skin velvet to his touch—and that she seemed to melt into the music like music itself.

"Rowena," he whispered, "it's great isn't it?—Really, it's just corking!"

"It's gorgeous, Peter, it's glorious! And, oh, darling, think how they're going to feel in a couple of months when they read in the paper about the annulment and know it was all a farce! Won't they go down—plop!—like a flat tire?"

"I suppose so," he assented soberly. "Looking at it that way, it seems rather a low trick to play on them. They mean so well."

"But it was Rackruff got us into it—it isn't our fault," she protested.

They danced through the hall with a display of domestic devotion that was thoroughly convincing. At two o'clock when it was over they went, laughing, upstairs to the bridal suite and while he changed quickly from formal to street dress she lounged in full display in the sitting-room before the chaperonage of an open door.

When he went into say good night he sat down on the arm of her big chair and cuddled her bright head, roughly, in his arm.

"Why put me out, Rowena?" he began in a wheedlesome voice. "After all, we are married. And I fancy we're going to have the devil's own time convincing any sane judge that there was nothing to it but the ceremony."

"My judge will believe it."

"If he does," said Peter moodily, "he's going to think what damfool I am—Anyhow, it's been a nice night and there's more of it. We've had a lot of fun and a little more wouldn't do us any harm," he argued persuasively.

She laughed good-naturedly. "I've had all the fun I can stand for one night. Run along, darling, and be sure to get a receipt that will confound the skeptics."

When Peter had gone she sat on the edge of the bed and thought it all over. In a way, she decided, it was rather an awful thing they had done. But it had been so tremendously important for both of them. The trip had—the pictures and the stories. And the money—the money most of all! But it was too bad this sort of thing had to happen—and to a sweet thing like Peter who really rather deserved a better break—he was so old-fashioned at heart.

Rowena stood up and yawned and got into bed. She would do her level best to insure that annulment, in common fairness to Peter. Certainly it was for her to make sure of it. He was too careless, too sensitive to public opinion. He might get that receipt for his night's residence and he might not. She would make sure. She lifted the receiver of her telephone and asked them to send up the housekeeper.

When she came in, an efficient, large, Scotch woman, Rowena looked a little limp and wan.

"I don't feel so very well," she said childishly. "I wonder if you could get me something hot to drink? I don't want to be sick."

The housekeeper was surprised. It was three o'clock in the morning and the bridal suite, well lighted, showed itself guiltless of groom. His pillow had not been touched. But hotel housekeepers are schooled to surprises. She brought Rowena some hot strong tea with a little rum in it and gave her an aspirin tablet.

"If you don't feel better pretty soon have your husband call me—when he comes in," she said.

At five o'clock she asked for her again.

"I feel worse," she said. But she did not want a doctor. "I'm just nervous," she explained. "Would—would it be asking too much—for you just to sit with me a few minutes? I'm sure it's only excitement after the ball."

The housekeeper sat down beside the bed. Rowena looked very young, very flushed altogether adorable in her soft night things. In the dim light the housekeeper could not see how old they were and worn. The housekeeper had her own opinion about men anyhow, and her face grew grimmer and grimmer. The night housekeeper in a big hotel sees much.

When Rowena seemed to have dropped off to sleep, she leaned over her commiseratingly. "Poor child," she muttered, "a pretty young thing like that—him out all night and them just married!—Thank God I found men out in time!"

Rowena smiled comfortably to herself when the housekeeper had turned out the light and tip-toed softly from the room. She had a witness to the virginal privacy of her night in the bridal suite.

Rowena was about half through breakfast the next morning when Peter came in. He sat down opposite her and the waitress almost ran up to get the order. But Peter said he already breakfasted, would take only coffee, very hot, please.

"She's entirely too good for him the brute," said the waitress to the pastry cook. "She never said a word but 'Good morning.' Didn't even ask him where he'd been all night."

Peter was a little self-conscious about it all and to the critical maids his constraint seemed that of a guilty conscience. Rowena was sweetly gentle, even friendly.

"I only wish the hotel had given them a pearl necklace instead of that cocktail shaker," said Mr. Meeker regretfully. "She'd get to wear the pearl necklace if he didn't pawn it, and it's plain to see who'll use the cocktail shaker."

Peter had the receipt for his night's lodging and Rowena folded it away triumphantly in the pocket of her portfolio, along with the other proofs of their complete segregation en route.

She was full of enthusiasm, entirely satisfied with their future prospects, as she was packing her bag before the witness of an open door.

"It's a great little burg," she said warmly. "When I am a thorough old maid I shall buy me a dog or something and come and live here. It's just the sort of town I like. And if I am rich and famous I will rent the bridal suite by the year and you can give me an autographed picture of the Rackruff to adorn my walls. And I'll invite Mr. Meeker to tea every Sunday and we'll discuss our past glories and remember-when."

"It's pretty plain what they think of me in these parts," said Peter regretfully. "It seems a dirty trick to play them—they were so kind about everything."

"One good thing about it," encouraged Rowena, "if for any reason my judge should hit a snag in getting us annulled, we won't need any other grounds after last night. We'll call on the hotel force for affidavits."

"What a cad they must think me!"

"Don't you care, darling. Next time we come here, you shall have the bridal suite and their sympathy and I'll step out for the night."

A blouse of eyelet embroidered batiste to go with your summer suit of silk or linen. You will find it most attractive and not difficult to make. You may use batiste of pure white or a light ecru tone, with narrow valenciennes lace to match. The lace, as you see, edges the neckline and front of the blouse and is used around upper and lower edges of the close fitting peplum.

To make the pattern follow the diagram.

AB and RP measure 22 inches, AC and CB eleven inches, AR and BP are sixteen inches, CD is seventeen inches, CX is 8½ inches, CM and CN are 3½ inches each. CO is one-half inch, XK and XL are 9½ inches, G and H are 2 inches from the line AB and 3½ inches from the lines AR and BP.

Join G and M and N and H with straight lines for the shoulders. Curve the back of the neck from M to O to N. Curve the armholes from G to K and H to L. Draw straight lines for underarm seams from K to R and L to P. Curve the lower edge from R to D to P. The front neckline is made by drawing a straight line from M to X to N.

For the right front cut a piece with an extension from X to the lower edge and back to D. For the left front cut a straight line from X to D and let the right front extend over the left front. All edges are hemmed with a very narrow hem and edged with valenciennes, except the left front. Underarm and shoulder seams are first French seamed.

The peplum the line AB is 20 inches and CD is 22 inches. The peplum is five inches wide and is curved slightly so that it is cut from a strip of material six inches wide. The blouse is stitched over the peplum and the peplum is edged with lace. It is cut in two pieces, seamed at the sides, and the blouse section may be slightly gathered at the sides to fit over it smoothly.

Services Held Here

The body was brought to the McMullin Funeral Home in this city and funeral services were held here Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in charge of Rev. W. B. Hopper. On Thursday the body was taken to his "old stomping grounds" at Seymour, Indiana where the remains were laid to rest in Riverview cemetery. Pall bearers were Frank Newbould, J. H. Smith, Carl R. Hill, Sam Palmer, W. H. Birch and A. K. Merriman.

His Life's Battles

Daddy Brown had many ups and downs in life. He was at one time in the milling business in Indiana but suffered reverses. He suffered far more than the average human's share of bodily infirmities and handicaps but he faced life like a cheerful soldier. His philosophy was one of happiness and friendliness. He was never discouraged under any circumstances but met with a smile any adversity that came his way.

A number of years ago, The Progress editor assisted Daddy in writing his Memoirs, most of which pertained to his early boyhood home in Indiana and the Hoosier pioneers with whom he was so well acquainted.

More than a year ago he became interested in a Physical Culture Magazine essay contest. He sent pictures of himself and a description of the life he had led. The magazine prize was not awarded to Daddy, but this "Biography" which we helped him prepare tells of the "rough side of life" he had been "up against". This sketch is reproduced in part herewith:

Autobiography

"I was born the 7th of February 1849 in the Middle West of hard-working and honorable parents who were pioneers in the country at that time. However, I have been handicapped from my birth. First, I was born with an abcess in my left ear that continued to bother me until I had reached manhood. At eight years of age I had a fall and received a dislocated shoulder, the results of which have remained with me as a constant reminder. At the age of twelve I cut a part of the knee-cap of my left leg off with an ax. This has resulted in a certain degree of lameness. Afterwards I cut my right large toe off with an ax and was lamed with that injury for a time.

"At the age of 15, I lost two fingers and the thumb of my left hand in a feed cutter and this has been a disadvantage to me up to the present time. When near the age of 50, I broke the middle finger on my right hand. It became infected and an operation was necessary to remove it at the wrist joint to save the rest of the hand. This leaves me with three fingers and thumb on the right hand which serves a very good purpose at this time.

In Age as in Youth

"At the age of about 60 years I had a fall on an icy side-walk and broke the lower end of the thigh bone of my left leg, the one that has always troubled me. From the results of that injury (the left leg is still stiff) I was confined to my room for ten months before I could get about. In addition to all these troubles and injuries, I have catarrh in my head that has at times affected my hearing some. I am however able to carry on a conversation by careful attention.

"Despite the handicaps of my younger days, I "stepped out" with the boys and burned my candle at both ends and that did not help any to give me a better hand-hold on life.

"I have had a double hernia for fifty years and have worn a truss all that time.

"It will be noticed that I have been up against the rough side of life, but in all the last 25 years, and in fact for many years before that, I have aimed at a tendency toward a saner manner of living. I have made real attempts to better my physical condition. I never used tobacco in any form and very little whiskey although I have been next to it all my life. Whiskey was on the family table in my youth and both my parents used both tobacco and whiskey. My father carried a little flask in his pocket from which he would take a nip occasionally but I never saw him under the influence of liquor at any time. He was threatened with lung trouble for many years.

"I have always been an active man, intending to wear out instead of rust out. I am an early riser, up at 5 a. m. and usually asleep at 9 p. m. Once in a while I step out to see the sights, a show or a lecture. I am slowing down a little and taking rest when I am weary. I read a good deal, most anything that catches my fancy. My favorite literature is the Bible and its commentaries. I read much fiction and usually something that is good food for thought.

"I am trying to practice an adage my father often quoted to his family, to wit: "To do as much good and as little harm as possible" also this: "Do right and don't submit to a wrong if you can help it."

order to guarantee that a show can actually be held. Otherwise individuals would be called upon to finance the bulk of the expense from show time until the state money is received in January. The merchants and business men including various individuals have always contributed freely to this movement which is county-wide in scope. Any boy or girl of club age is eligible to enroll. There are no Farm Bureau restrictions whatsoever. THE FAMOUS LINDSAY BREAD KNIFE

(PATENTED)

Cuts bread, yes even fresh warm bread in slices of any

Advance Dope Grand Theatre

An exceptionally good picture, "Daddy Long Legs" will be shown Thursday and Friday nights of this week. We have never seen a picture in which Janet Gaynor starred that was not good. In this picture she is said to be at her very best.

A Big Week

Shows at The Grand are usually good, but for this coming week the dope sheet shows an exceptionally good lay-out. Saturday night is "Thrill Night" at the Grand. The slap-bang shoot-em-and-drag em-out type of picture of some years ago has been replaced with a higher type of thriller. "The Gangster" pictures have made quite a hit with the public. They like to see the gangster get what's coming to him and righteousness enthroned. Saturday night's show is a feast for the thrill-loving public. Jack Holt, Tom Moore and Constance Cummings are the headliners in the show "The Last Parade", a gangster's final fade-out. The picture is replete with love and romance, police and newspaper men, hi-jacking and bootlegging—it's just a darling plot and in the end one of the crooks takes the long walk from which there is no coming back.

Charlie Ruggles, Star

One of our favorite actors is Charlie Ruggles. Some years ago a state press association adopted resolutions condemning Charlie's acting because he was usually cast in the role of a drunken newspaper reporter. We have known drunken newspaper reporters and know that Charlie's acting was the real thing. We have seen Charlie Ruggles in minor costs in various shows and always thought he took the show away from the stars. Now Charlie stars in a show of his own. It's "The Girl Habit". Charlie is a wealthy bachelor and man-about-town, awfully nice to all the girls and naturally gets a fellow into trouble. This is a laughter show. If you are afraid of spoiling the dignity of your face by using the laugh muscles, stay home. But if you want to loosen up and laugh all over, see "The Girl Habit", Sunday and Monday at The Grand. All the usually well-balanced special features.

Some Special Dope

Manager Hays once in a while butts into this column with a request for some special dope. He now rises to address you: "Dear friends: Much interest has been aroused in Dr. Raymond Dittmar's animal series we are running. The two already shown "Like a Beaver" and "The Fight to Live" created a great deal of favorable comment. Among the short subjects to appear Tuesday and Wednesday nights August 18-19 will be Dr. Dittmar's very interesting discourse on monkeys. Their life and habits are amusingly shown in the picture. It is entitled "Monkey Whoopee". Thanks Mr. Hays, we will now proceed with the rest of the story. The feature picture on these nights will be "Confessions of a Co-ed" featuring Phillips Holmes, Sylvia Sidney and Norman Foster. We are not going to tell you much about this picture except that the press agents say it is very good.

Richard and Jackie

Kid pictures are making a hit with the American public. Ever since Charlie Chaplin lifted Jackie Coogan to fame other juvenile stars have been popping up. The picture last week "Forbidden Adventure" in which Mitzi Green and Jackie Searle starred was a refreshing bit of comedy.

Radio Pictures has filmed Rex Beach's novel: "Big Brother" with Richard Dix and Jackie Cooper in the title roles. Dix who gained his greatest screen fame in "Cimarron" plays the part of the regenerated crook in "Young Donovan's Kid" the screen version of the Beach novel. This is one of the pictures that will grip your heart strings. Make it family night and bring the whole family. All will enjoy it.

And many more good ones are on the way.

Editor's Note: Look for the invitations. Five appear in this issue. If you see a friend's tell him or her. They might overlook it.

DID YOU PAY YOUR DOG TAX THIS YEAR?

It is notorious fact that many dogs in this county escape the attention of the assessors. These officials are expected to collect $1.00 for each male and $3.00 for each female dog within their jurisdiction. The money so collected goes into the fund out of which the county pays for sheep killed by dogs. Within recent years that dog license money was not sufficient to pay the damage.

When an assessor asks a man "Have you a dog?" and that party says he has not, that apparently ends the matter. The assessor cannot say "You are a liar, you have one." That would not be gentlemanly and it might get the assessor into trouble. But it does not let the dog owner off. He's still responsible for that tax.

This year some property owners have taken it on themselves to report untaxed dogs to the Board of Review. The Board has sent out notices and has collected quite a number of dollars from dog owners. In order to be entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, a dog must have a yearly license tag. If he hasn't got that tag he is regarded as an outlaw.

State Man Here

Friday of last week a representative of the State Tax Commission from Springfield was here. He looked over the work that the board has done and seemed well satisfied. He had no complaint to make and complimented the board members for the efficient way in which their work was being done.

FRED H. PUNDT DIED SATURDAY IN SHELBYVILLE

Fred H. Pundt, a former Sullivan baker, died Saturday morning in Shelbyville following a heart stroke and an attack of acute indigestion. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon.

He went to Shelbyville from Sullivan in 1903. While in this city he was a member of the Sullivan band. He took a great interest in musical activities and organized and led a band in Shelbyville for many years.

He is survived by his wife and three children—Mrs. Charles Kull of Springfield, F. A. Pundt, Shelbyville and Mrs. Walcott N. Lyon of Peoria. There is one grandson, Billie Lyons.

DOGS KILL CHICKENS; ARE STILL AT LARGE

On Tuesday and Wednesday nights of last week dogs got into the Rose Bolin chicken house. They killed and tore 15 of the fowls. Mrs. Bolin reported the matter to the officials. Several suspected dogs were rounded up and it looked for a time like a "killin'." These same dogs are again roaming at large. Mrs. Bolin would like to know why the owners are not required to keep these dogs chained or penned as it is but a question of time until they will commit further damage.

COUNTY FARM ITEMS

Supt. Filson reports that in the past six months 261 visitors have registered at the Home. Of this number 72 were out of the county and 31 from out of state.

Last Thursday the supervisors met at the Home to look things over and to plan farming operations for the fall. They designated what ground shall be sown to wheat.

The truck patch at the farm is yielding big returns. Supt. Filson took 14 bushels of sweet corn to the Amish cannery near Arthur this week and says that many more bushels will soon be ready for canning. He plans to can 600 to 700 quarts of corn, all grown at the farm.

FARMERS INSTITUTE TO HAVE FAIR HEADQUARTERS

Springfield, August 11—The Illinois Farmers' Institute, through its president, Senator Harry Wilson of Pinckneyville, and C. O. Allison, secretary, has arranged with Director Stuart E. Pierson and the state fair management for headquarters at the Illinois State Fair, August 22 to 29. The officials of the organization will maintain a booth in the old "Textiles and Art Building," near the southeast corner of the grounds. They suggest that the county leaders in farmers' institute activities, and farmers generally visit the headquarters and make it a meeting place for their friends and neighbors who attend the fair.

NO GRASSHOPPER CROP DANGER IN ILLINOIS

Springfield, August 11—Director Stuart E. Pierson, of the state department of agriculture, has ascertained through the state and federal crop reporting service that the scourge of grasshoppers in the states northwest of Illinois will not endanger the crops of this state. Grasshoppers in Illinois, this year, will be no more prevalent than usual, according to reports. Conditions here, the department head explains, are less conducive to the propagation of vast quantities of insects. Cultivated fields and clean fence rows afford less harbor for the embryo destroyers than they find in the big alfalfa belts of the Northwest.

¶ Pear salad is unusually good. Either fresh or canned pears may be used. If using canned pears, drain the fruit, but save the pear juice for a fruit punch, with lemon or orange juice added. Wash and chill the lettuce so that it will be crisp. Arrange the pears on the lettuce, sprinkle with grated cheese and garnish with salad dressing. Pared fresh pears will discolor on standing. They should be pared and cored just before serving or must have lemon juice added.

¶ Put the pullets in their laying pens a few weeks before they are ready to begin laying. They will soon become accustomed to their new surroundings, and then the change will not interfere with egg production.

Lighter Gates might have been Good Enough but Uncle Sam wanted a MARGIN OF SAFETY

BUILT with 730-ton steel gates, each having triple compartments, the Panama Canal locks have a Margin of Safety that probably never will be challenged. Made for steady driving at 80 miles and more an hour, The Improved Tagolene can stand more abuse than anyone will ever think of demanding.

We doubt you will ever do any steady driving at 80 miles or more an hour; you may never touch 80 even for a moment, but if you are sure of your motor's safety at that speed, how much safer it will be at your regular travel of 30, 50, or 70.

Why not begin now to let your motor "take it easy" and assure yourself that the time for repair bills is many thousands of miles in the future.

The Margin of Safety in toys protects them against a child's hard knocks.

Drivers of sixes never want less because it takes six cylinders to give the smooth, silent power that makes driving really enjoyable

CHEVROLET Drivers of sixes are spoiled for anything less. Drivers of sixes are sold on multiple cylinders. They would no more think of giving up "six" performance than any other real advancement of motoring. For them, the whole cylinder question has been settled.

Slip behind the wheel of a Chevrolet Six, and you'll know why these drivers feel as they do. Step on the starter, let the motor idle—and notice its silence. Throw in the clutch, shift into "low"—and feel that smoothness. Change into "second," hit a faster and faster clip, slip into "high," sweep along at top speed—then throttle down to barely a crawl. The smoothness and flexibility you always get are six-cylinder smoothness, six-cylinder flexibility. Annoying vibration is gone!

Over two million owners have tested and proved this six-cylinder Chevrolet engine. They have found that it costs less for gas and oil than any other. They have found that it actually reduces upkeep costs, by holding vibration to a minimum. They know a six is better in every way—and they would never be satisfied with less!

Twenty beautiful models, at prices ranging from $475 to $675

Hints for the Home

by Nancy Hart

Bread Pudding

1 cup milk
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs.
1 1/2 teaspoons sugar
1 egg yolk (optional)
Few grains salt
Scald milk and combine with other ingredients and put into slightly buttered baking cup and bake in a pan containing 1 inch hot water in a slow oven for 1 hour, or cook in double boiler for 2 hours. If egg yolk is used mix with sugar before adding and cook the pudding only 10 minutes.

Potato Salad Tempts on Hot Summer Days

A plain cold-boiled potato is certainly a most unappetizing bit of food. One would have to be very hungry indeed to want to eat it "as is" but from cold boiled potatoes one may make delicious potato salad that is an agreeable substitute for any hot potato dish during the warmer months.

So-called American potato salad is made by cutting cold potatoes into dice, seasoning with a little chopped onion and parsley and mixing with mayonnaise dressing. Some cooks add a little whipped cream to the mayonnaise to make a lighter salad.

Viennese Potato Salad

This calls for two cups sliced cooked potatoes, one small onion minced, one pickled beet minced, one cucumber, sliced, one herring, four sardines, one tablespoon minced boiled ham, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon black pepper, and one-half cup of vinegar.

Pick over and break into pieces the herring and sardines, mix all together and pour over one-half cup of vinegar, and garnish with sweet pickles.

German Potato Salad

Though the potatoes are served cold the salad is mixed when the potatoes are still hot. Select six medium sized potatoes. You will also need one-quarter pound bacon, one small onion, 1-4 cup hot vinegar, one-half cup hot water, two tablespoon salad oil and salt and pepper to taste. Boil the potatoes and peel and slice while warm. Cover at once with dressing made as follows.

Cut the bacon into small dice, put in frying pan over a slow fire. Shred the onion into a large bowl, add salt, hot vinegar and hot water. When the fat is light brown and the dice are well crisped, add the salad oil and pour it into the vinegar, water and onion mixture—turning it slowly at first lest it splatter. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves, garnish with pickled beets. Serve at once or well chilled.

Potato and Tomato Salad

Pass the yolks of three hard boiled eggs through a sieve into a bowl. Season with celery salt, pepper, a dust of curry powder and a little sugar. Add two tablespoonsful of oil, working it into the yolks of the eggs by degrees with a wooden spoon. As soon as a perfectly smooth paste is formed pour in a dessertspoonful of vinegar. When the ingredients are thoroughly mixed add very gradually three tablespoons of thick cream and sufficient chopped parsley to give the dressing a speckled appearance. Remove the skin from some potatoes which have been boiled and allowed to get cold. Then cut them into moderately thick slices. Cut up some peeled tomatoes in a similar manner. Dress the potatoes with the egg mixture and arrange them neatly in a salad bowl. Place the slices of tomato among them and, if desired, garnish the salad here and there with pieces of fresh watercress. This is better if kept in the ice box a number of hour before serving.

"My dear Mr. Filson:

"I wish to express my appreciation and gratitude to you for your thoughtfulness in informing me of the recent death of my brother Hamlin. It was very kind of you. You shall always have my very deepest esteem and respect, not only for what you have done for Hamlin but also for what you have done and are doing for others. I have been told that you were very good to Hamlin and your kindness is greatly appreciated and shall never be forgotten.

WALKED SEVEN MILES TO CHICAGO PLAYGROUNDS

Hec Randol tells this story about his sons Vincent and Darrell: Some time ago they went to Chicago to visit their mother. She took them to a park and children's playground the first day and got them in the evening. This playground was seven miles distant from where she lived. The next morning the boys were not up when she went to work. When she got home at noon they were gone. The policeman on the beat had seen them and undertook to find them. They were at the playground. Evidently they had not realized how far the distance was when they rode. But when they started afoot the next day they kept going until they got there—seven miles to play.

LUTHERAN MISSION

At Freeland Grove Pavilion
Rev. L. Stuebe, Pastor.

Illustrated lecture on India at 8:00 p. m.

Sunday school at 7:00 p. m.

The Lutheran church teaches that Jesus Christ is the Son of God and equal to the Father in every respect; that He is also the Son of the Virgin Mary and was made man in order that He might redeem the world; that He satisfied the demands of the divine law for all mankind by keeping God's commandments in our stead; that He bore the punishment of our sins by suffering and dying in our stead on the cross; that He rose bodily from the dead and lives today; and that He will come visibly for the second and last time at the world's end to judge the living and the dead.

GOSPEL MISSION

Time of services the same.
Ps. 26:15—"Wait on the Lord: be of good courage, and he shall strengthen thine heart."

I wonder, if while waiting on the Lord, we have not failed in the second request, "Be of good courage". There are two kinds of courage, one is good, the other is bad; one is the right kind, the other is faulty. When we are some times pressed to what we consider the breaking point, and get that "I don't care spirit" we call it courage, but I believe God would call it recklessness. The courage the Lord encourages us to, is a good courage—that feeling that comes with the assurance that our confidence has not been misplaced, and we know that whatever happens, it will be well with us.

Honest tests produce unquestionable facts. The Lord would have you honestly test every promise he has made you. He would prove to you they are unfailing, and thereby fill your heart with a good courage.

God's program for you includes those periods of waiting. He would not have them be periods of fretting, rather periods of blessing and strengthening, they will be such if accepted with good courage.

IN MEMORY

"There is no death. The stars go down
To rise upon some fairer shore
And there in heaven's golden crown
To shine forever more."

Herman Robert Layton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Layton of Mattoon was born June 15, 1928 and was called by the Master, July 23, 1931, aged 3 years, 1 month and 8 days.

Being apparently a strong, hearty lad, his passing was a great shock to those who knew him. It is hard to realize that in a few short days such things can happen and our loved ones be taken from us.

Just why youth with all of life before them should be early summoned while the aged and feeble remain is to us a great mystery and probably always will be. Let us remember however, that the Good Book says, "He doeth what seemeth good in his sight." "That he rules in the armies of heaven and among the inhabitants of earth and none can stay his hands or say what doest thou."

"There is a Reaper whose name is death

And with his sickle keen,
He reaps the bearded grain at a breath
And the flowers that grow between."

Our little mate was surely one of those flowers. Listen again:

!! !!
"My Lord hath need of the flower-lets gay
The Reaper said and smiled
Dear token of the earth are they
Where he was once a child."

Get this though: Little Herman Robert is now at rest around the Great White Throne; is now forever past all pain, sickness and death; past all the troubles and turmoils of the ordinary earthly life, and the shorter our time on earth, the longer the time to serve the Heavenly Father with all the redeemed family.

Let us close this little obituary with the sentiment of some tender-hearted poet who has said:

"How beautiful will brother be
When God shall give him wings
To rise above the world some day
To live with heavenly things."

Burial was in the Smyser cemetery in Whitley township.

Effingham—The Illinois College of Photography in this city is closed temporarily. Poor business and an indebtedness of about $60,000 closed this institution which had been operating 38 years.

Morris—Mayor Herbert E. Clayton has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor on a "light wines and beer" platform.

Hillsboro—Robert Wesley Roberts, 40 year old farmer got despondent and committed suicide by drowning in Reservoir Park lake between Hillsboro and Litchfield. A fisherman saw the body floating and sounded the alarm.

Michael Sullivan, 25, blind since birth has been notified at his home in E. St. Louis that he has passed the necessary examinations for admission to the bar in Illinois.

Little 5-year old Jean Holt of Taylorville will have to go through life with but one leg. She suffered the loss of her right leg in an auto accident near that city Friday night.

The receiver of the defunct Citizens' Bank at Johnston City, Ill., has found that the books show a credit of $5550 in favor of Mrs. Jennie Carbon. She refuses to claim it, saying that it is an error. If old Diogenes with his lantern were hunting an honest woman—well, there she is!

The state Gladiolus show in Mattoon last week was not a financial success, though 3,800 people visited it. It is estimated that full three-fourths of the visitors were from out of town. Mattoon evidently is not "flower-conscious."

The Oakland Ledger tells of Mrs. John Davis in that city losing nine big fat hens in one night when some hungry rats invaded the poultry house.

Robert Wadlow of Alton is 13 years old and seven feet 4½ inches tall. He weighs 283 pounds, showing a gain of 53 pounds during the past year. Doctors who have examined him say he may continue growing for the next ten years and develop into one of the biggest men of all time. The Irishman Byrns was 8 feet 9 inches tall. The rest of the Wadlow family are of normal size.

Belvidere—Jack Engelson, 45, farmer and father of eight children, met death from a broken neck Monday, caused by diving into three feet of water in the Kishwaukee river near here.

Watertown, S. Dak.—The greatest extreme in temperature drop seems to have struck here. Monday morning it was 56 degrees above zero and a fine, light snowfall was noted during the day.

Five of America's six great wars started in April: Revolutionary war on the 19th; Mexican war on the 24th; Civil war on the 12th; Spanish-American war on the 19th and the World War on April 6th.

W. I. MARTIN NAMED TULL ADMINISTRATOR

In the county court this week the last will and testament of the late Mrs. Jerusha Waggoner Tull was admitted to probate. Mrs. Nancy Ann Waggoner, the testator's mother, who was named in the will as executrix asked to be relieved from such duties and the request was granted. Upon petition W. I. Martin was named administrator with will annexed. He filed bond in the sum of $6,000. Adjustment date was set for October 6th.

A coal mine near O'Fallon, St. Clair County, Illinois, was opened in 1851. It is the oldest mine now operating in Illinois.

Curiosity makes people interesting and successful.

OLD TIME CHEVROLET HAS 300,000 MILE RECORD

Detroit, Michigan, Aug. 13—One of those venerable old-time cars which remind you that this automobile industry is no longer young recently rolled up to Chevrolet Motor Company headquarters with Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Finerty, of San Antonio, in their 1916 Chevrolet "Royal Mail" roadster, purchased by them in that year and in their continuous service since that time.

Although the original pistons and rings still furnish motive power, the speedometer gave out some years ago; but Mr. Finerty, basing his estimate on gasoline consumption, states that the car has done well over 300,000 miles in its fifteen years of service with him.

Both Coasts have been visited, as well as the two Borders, the Yellowstone and most of the states of the union by the Finertys during their periodic vacation jaunts with the old-timer as their mode of transportation. The only major trouble ever developed by the car, Mr. Finerty reported, was when he cracked a frame in some rough going in the Yellowstone, and couldn't find the flaw until he got back to Texas.

Among those to greet the vacationers was W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of Chevrolet, who reminded Mr. Finerty that if every owner took comparable care of his car the manufacturers would all be in the poor house. Mr. Finerty replied that he wouldn't trade his "Royal Mail" for a new Chevrolet, even up, indicating the degree of personal attachment possible to form for a car over a period of years of intimate experiences with it.

The engine of the old timer bears serial number 11,823, while late this month the eighth million product of the company is expected to come off the assembly lines. After a brief stay here the Finertys turned the nose of the veritable old patriarch of the highways back toward Texas, and started out on a steady twenty to twenty-five mile an hour clip as confident of getting home on schedule as though the car were one of the newest sixes.

The afternoon was spent visiting, boat riding, swimming, fishing and playing golf.

Those present were: John Bathe and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, W. L. Riley and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Campbell and daughter, Mrs. Vern Ashbrook and daughter, Ruth, Cecil Campbell, George Kenney, and family, Oral Dolan, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ward and son, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Valentine and son, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foster and son, Miss Vonnie Leavitt, Charles Jenne and family and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Leavitt and son.

DID YOU FIND THIS $10?

It is bad enough to lose money under any circumstances, but if it is money that you worked hard and sweated profusely for, it does seem the height of misfortune to part with it in that way.

Kenneth Kenney lost $10 last week. He had earned it baling and doing work of that kind in the blistering hot sun. He came to town and cashed a check and in some way or other lost a $10 bill. Kenneth is deserving, hardworking and honest and will be everlastingly grateful if the finder will get in touch with him.

—Miss Jessie Buxton who is in the Memorial hospital in Mattoon following an appendicitis operation expects to return to this city Saturday and will recuperate in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Robinson.

THE WEATHER

The weather has been nice and cool this week. Temperature at times has been as low as 57 degrees. This is a pleasant relief from Sunday's torrid afternoon. The intense heat Sunday was followed by thunderstorms and showers over all this part of Illinois. Some places report rainfall of cloudburst proportions.

This is great weather for corn and soybeans. Pastures too, are beginning to green up and all vegetation has taken another lease on life.

The next harvest for this community is peaches and broomcorn. The peach crop is big and the quality is good. Every old stump of a tree that survived the cold winter of 1929-30 is loaded down with fruit. The broomcorn crop is fair. There is not a very big acreage. There was a time when broomcorn was one of Moultrie's leading crops—but not anymore. At that, Tom McIntire and Bob Pierce and some of the other old times expect a revival in broom industry for they say that people can't afford to clean with vacuum cleaners, etc., and will have to go back to brooms for economical sanitation. A good broom is a wonderful weapon against dirt and rubbish, etc. We suggest that the Democratic party adopt the broom as an emblem and then proceed to make good use of it.

Do you know that a meritorious use has been found for tobacco. It can be used to make a dip for sheep so the fleas, ticks, etc., can be killed. After this "sheep tick base" has been removed the remainder of the weed is made up into "Plucky" cigarettes that the girls can smoke and still remain "kissable". Wonder whether it would not do some of the girl smokers some good to be given a nicotine dip?

Down in Cuba they are having a revolution. We get most of our sugar from Cuba and if you find some stained red in your next bag, don't be alarmed, that's just revolutionary blood.

Near Ann Arbor two boys and two girls were killed, their bodies piled into their automobile, soaked with oil and set afire.

No creature except human beings could think up and commit so fiendish a crime. We're lucky that animals can't read, or what would they think of us two-legged conceited beasts!

At Benton, Illinois they fired the police force. What's the matter with Benton? Last week the papers had a story that its leading citizen, the Hon. Walter Williams had gone bankrupt. At that Benton's a nice city and we hope they find a way out of their troubles. If they don't, let them pack up and move the whole place up here to Sullivan. We'd lay out a few nice additions to accommodate them.

A young smart aleck at Windsor had a doctor dig some lead pellets out of his seat last week. He had been peeping into windows and some indignant householder took a shot at him. Too bad he did not use buck shot and aim a little higher. The Findlay Enterprise tells of a married man in that town who does some peeping and then brags about it. We'd like to write his obituary, the sooner the better.

We saw the gladiolus show in Mattoon last Thursday night. It was a wonderful display. "Wonderful" is a rather superlative word of description but it is justified in this case.

Attend the Arthur fair August 19-22.

MRS. WALKER'S WILL

The will of Mrs. Malinda Walker, wife of Nelson Walker, who died October 21st, 1930 has been filed for probate. Fries were witnesses to signing the will. John A. Webb is named executor. The heirs at law are three grandchildren—Catherine Goodwin, Mary Smith and Joseph Finley, one son, W. H. Walker and daughter Lizzie Hancock. The surviving husband, Nelson Walker, is also an heir at law.

POWELL REUNION

The Powell family reunion will be held this year on Friday, August 28th in Wyman park. Members and friends are urged to attend.

Blotting paper is a great help in the household. Keep a package of new, white, goodsized blotters in the desk and in the sidebar. When a bowl of flowers tips over on a polished table, or ink is spilled, or milk or fruit juice spills on the tablecloth, take up the liquid quickly with a piece of blotting paper before it penetrates or spreads. Use a blotter to remove candlewax drippings. Scrape off what you can with a dull knife, then lay the cloth between clean white blotters and press with a hot iron. The blotters will absorb the melted grease.

Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition, to open in 1933, is being built on land that was 16 feet under Lake Michigan in 1923.

MRS. HOPPER AGAIN HEADS MISSIONARY ORGANIZATION OF CO.
