76TH YEAR NO. 10

Filed Two Days Late

Town Clerk Roney Questions Legality of Nominating Papers for W. H. Fisher, Republican Candidate for Commissioner of Highways.

Because petition of nomination and certificate of candidacy of W. H. (Buck) Fisher did not reach the office of Town Clerk George A. Roney until two days too late, there is some question as to whether or not the name can legally appear on the ballot for the April 5th election.

Mr. Fisher was nominated in a Republican mass meeting held here Saturday afternoon.

When no nominating papers were filed on Tuesday, the last day for filing, Mr. Roney called Mr. Fisher relative to the matter about 1:30 on that day.

No action was taken until Wednesday when Mr. Fisher and E. A. McKenzie appeared in the town clerk's office to see about filing. They took nominating papers with them when they left. When Mr. Roney reached his office Thursday morning an envelope postmarked March 1st was on his desk and in it were petition for nomination and certificate of candidacy dated and acknowledged before a notary on Tuesday, Mar. 1st.

The question which arises is whether nominating petitions mailed.

Shanks Brothers Take Robinson Funeral Home

Sullivan acquired new business men this week when a deal was closed by which the firm of Shanks Brothers takes over management of the Robinson Funeral Home on East Harrison street. Mr. Robinson will for some time be associated with the new managers in the conduct of the business.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Shanks moved here this week from Galesburg and are now living in the residential rooms at the Home. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Robinson and daughter Miss Clara have taken an apartment at the National Inn. Mrs. Robinson and daughter are planning to leave about April 1st for an extended visit in Southern California with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Simpson. Mrs. Simpson is the former Miss Catherine Robinson.

The members of the new firm are W. G. Shanks of Galesburg (who now lives here) and his brother H. L. Shanks who has been engaged in undertaking business in Tower Hill. These men are nephews of Wesley Shanks and Mrs. Flo Corbin, former Sullivan residents. Mrs. W. G. Shanks is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Benoit of Oakland, Illinois. The Robinson family has not definitely decided on their future course, but may locate in Southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Robinson and two daughters came here in the summer of 1919—a few months after the writer bought The Sullivan Progress. They have been a valuable asset to this community and have taken a lead in all matters of important community development. Mr. Robinson was for a number of years president of the Community club at a time when the club was accomplishing much constructive work for this city.

ASK COURT RELIEF IN CHAPMAN WILL

Court action has been started to have the court construe the will of the late George Chapman who died many years ago. He left his property to his three daughters: Mrs. Flora Chapman Watson, Mrs. Margaret Chapman Todd and Mrs. Elizabeth Chapman Shirey. The will as made was probated and the estate settled. It vested the property in the three daughters. There are several matters in the will, however, which make it almost impossible to determine just what the testator had in mind. As a consequence a friendly suit has been started to have the court settle the matters which are in question.

Mrs. Powell was the fourth child of a family of ten. Three of these preceded her in death. Three brothers and three sisters survive her. They are C. J. Pogue of Indianapolis; John R. Pogue of Decatur; U. G. Pogue of Wenatchee, Washington; Mrs. Rose Gregory of St. Petersburg, Florida; Mrs. Carrie Long of Oak Park, Illinois and Mrs. Alice Potter of LaClede, Missouri. John R. Pogue, Mrs. Long and Mrs. Potter were here for the funeral services.

BANK STOCKHOLDERS MET TUESDAY TO DISCUSS AFFAIRS

Only about 80 shares of the 500 of the closed M. & F. State bank were represented Tuesday at a stockholders meeting held in the court house.

One of the main reasons for the meeting was to discuss the pending suit for appointment of receiver for stockholders' liability. The consensus of opinion of those present seemed to be that there was no need for such action at this time.

The meeting was presided over by Raymond D. Meeker and C. S. Edwards was secretary.

A committee consisting of Oral Bundy, J. B. Craig, Jr., and Orman Newbould was named to confer with attorneys who are also stockholders relative to making a defense in the suit pending.

Attorneys who are stockholders are C. S. Edwards, R. D. Meeker, R. B. Foster, C. R. Patterson, J. E. Jennings, O. F. Cochran and George A. Sentel.

The Editor's Chair

Whosoever cometh to me, and heareth my sayings and doeth them, I will shew you to whom he is like:

He is like a man which built an house, and digged deep, and laid the foundation on a rock; and when the flood arose, the stream beat vehemently upon that house, and could not shake it; for it was founded upon a rock.

But he that heareth, and doeth not, is like a man that without a foundation built an house upon the earth; against which the stream did beat vehemently, and immediately it fell; and the ruin of that house was great.

St. Luke VI—47-49.

BUSINESS

Business is business, but men are men,
Working and loving and dreaming;
Toiling with hammer, brush, or pen,
Roistering, planning and scheming.

Business is business, but he's a fool
Whose business has grown to smother
His faith in men and the golden rule,
His love for a friend and brother.

Business is business, but life is life,
Though we're all in the game to win it.
Let's rest sometimes from the heat and strife
And try to be friends a minute.

Let's seek to be comrades now and then
And slip from our golden tether;
Business is business, but men are men,
And we're all good pals together.

Prompt Justice -- Less Expense

One of the greatest burdens of government is law enforcement. It is necessary if government shall continue to exist. The cost of such law enforcement runs into millions, perhaps billions of dollars yearly.

Law enforcement not only means the capture and prosecution of the criminal, but it entails the maintenance of penitentiaries and other penal institutions, in which the convicted can be confined and through being thus deprived of their liberty, can pay their debt to the violated law.

Law enforcement costs too much. It is too great a burden as at present constituted. In a general way the enforcement of law in America is a dilatory, cumbersome process. It is unfair to the man accused of law violation and it is unfair to the taxpayer who pays the bill.

Courts are cluttered up with cases that, in the name of common sense and economy, should have been disposed of months or years before they reach a final decision.

The criminal's greatest safety lies in delays in court. Lawyers are well paid to find excuses for such delays. The bigger the criminal and the more notorious his crime, the bigger the task of bringing him to answer before the courts of justice.

Law enforcement is hedged about by trivial and silly technicalities. Delay in enforcing laws, is an incentive to law violation. Delay adds to the cost of enforcement—to the cost of the immense burden of crime that has fastened itself on the law-abiding American taxpayers.

As long as the taxpayers stand for coddling prisoners; as long as they permit the courts and attorneys to dicker along and delay the cause of justice, just so long will the cost of government continue to climb.

Speedy justice for the law violator will deter others from taking a chance. Legislation that will prevent delays and continuances in criminal cases is needed. The people never have anything to gain by delay in bringing a law violator before the bar of justice. The accused is either guilty or he is not guilty and the sooner that issue is definitely decided by the court and jury, the better for the people.

And it is always the people who pay the bills. Speed up the process of prosecution in criminal cases. Try the accused before the state's witnesses scatter. Try him while his crime is new. Punish him, as fits his crime. Dilly-dallying in criminal prosecution is an expensive burden.

The best preventative for law violation is law enforcement — sure, swift, honest, stern and just.

The 19th Congressional district can make no mistake in retiring Charley Adkins as congressman and sending anybody else to take his place — anybody else will do. Congressman Adkins is not an ornament to the 19th district — he is not an ornament or a thing of pride for the Republican party. The district would commit a grave error by continuing its mistake of sending this mistake to Congress.

There is a feeling in Illinois that it would be inadvisable to have a Chicago man as overnor for the next four years. The reason for this feeling is that Chicago has been unable to govern itself and Chicago methods of government at Springfield would not be wise. Chicago candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor are Michael Igoe and Judge Horner, both able men. The sentiment downstate, however, is that for the next four years a downstate man would prove preferable in the Governor's chair. Not only would this be advisable from the downstate point of view, but it would prove beneficial to Chicago as well. Chicago is an important part of the state of Illinois but the time has not yet arrived when it is advisable to give Chicago complete dominion over this state. First let Chicago put its house in order and see that it pays into the state treasury its share of state taxes.

Because of these matters as above stated, we hope and trust that the Democratic voters of Illinois will nominate Bruce Campbell for Governor at the primary April 12th. Mr. Campbell is not antagonistic to the best interests of Chicago. If nominated and elected he will be a governor for the whole state and Illinois will be assured of an honest and efficient administration.

What's Back of "Stop Roosevelt"

The line-up for the Democratic presidential nomination seems to be Franklin D. Roosevelt against the field. The big metropolitan newspapers, owned and controlled by Republicans, power interests and the money powers do not like Governor Roosevelt. He is not their kind. He is more of a Wilson Democrat than they can approve of.

These are the interests that are back of the "Stop Roosevelt" movement. They are trotting out "Favorite Son" candidates to clutter up the situation. They are watching Gov. Roosevelt's every move and criticizing what he does or does not do. They are encouraging every act or movement on the part of Democrats that might lead to rejection of Gov. Roosevelt. Mark Sullivan and his type of G. O. P. press agents have written columns and columns of predictions and suppositions, all derogatory to the Roosevelt candidacy. Not only are they out to "Stop Roosevelt" but they are planning and scheming to cause strife and dissension at the Democratic National convention in Chicago in June. They know that Franklin D. Roosevelt, as the Democratic standard bearer would wipe Herbert Hoover and his playmates off the political map. If they can so maneuver things at the Chicago convention that Roosevelt will be defeated for the nomination, they know that there is a chance of re-electing President Hoover. That is the one aim and end of the "Stop Roosevelt" movement and misguided Democrats are giving aid and succor to the enemy when they fall in with the plans of the Republican press agents.

WAY OF LIFE

By Bruce Barton

BROTHERS CHRISTOPHER

I spent the week-end with my friend Bill Brown, whose famous health farm is just across the river from West Point. One Sunday morning we went to mass at Father Paul's and afterwards the good father came to the farm for dinner.

He told me how he had started his church and boys' school twenty years ago with little backing and how, though the bills sometimes mount to terrifying heights, the money has always come from somewhere at the critical times.

"We live by faith," he said, and his face was a benediction.

"This year has been harder," he continued, "because we have had so many Brothers Christopher."

"Brothers Christopher," I repeated. "That is an order with which I am not familiar. Who are the Brothers Christopher?"

"Some call them tramps," he answered, and smiled at my look of surprise.

"We are on the Albany Post Road," he explained, "and all sorts of men pass by. Some have left their jobs; some have quarreled with their wives; some are life-long victims of the wanderlust. We have a house for them in which they may sleep, and no questions asked. They may come to the kitchen for their meals, and if they know any trade they may help us with their building operations. When they have stayed with us as long as they want they move on."

"We took our motto from the words of the Lord, 'Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.' In that spirit we regard them not as tramps but as brothers of our Lord, 'Brothers Christopher.'"

Listening to his gentle accents, watching the light of benevolence in his fine eyes, I felt encouraged. I reminded myself that we are often misled by the facts that sin gets most of the advertising.

Sin is dramatic; so we are warfare and crime. They are not common-places; they are news. They occupy a prominent place on almost every front page, while a million quiet acts of human kindness are not and never can be reported.

Life itself is the Albany Post Road. People hear of it only as a highway of business and pleasure, made occasionally notorious by a ghastly accident.

Yet quietly, by the side of the road, is Bill Brown with his farm, where tired men lose their tiredness; and Father Paul with his friendly hand and cheering word for the Brothers Christopher.

Two hundred men have been given employment by the War Department removing trees and brush from islands and banks of the Starved Rock pool on the Illinois River seaway.

Northwestern University will erect immediately a new $115,000 men's dormitory in Evanston.

WHAT IS IT ALL?

What is it all when all is told,
This ceaseless toiling for fame or gold,
The fleeting joy or bitter tears?
We are only here a few short years
Nothing our own but the silent past;

Loving and hating, nothing ~~an~~ last
Each pathway leads to the silent fold,
O! what is it all when all is told?

What is it all? A grass mound,
Where day or night there is never a sound
Save the soft low mourn of the passing breeze,
As it lovingly rustles the silent trees

Or a thoughtful friend with whispered prayer,
May sometimes break the stillness there,
Then hurry away from the gloom and cold.

O! what is it all when all is told?
What is it all?—just passing through—
A cross for me and a cross for you.
Ours seem heavy while others seem light,

But God in the end makes all things right;
He tempers the wind with such loving care,
He knows the burdens that each can bear,
Then changes life's gray into heavenly gold,

Ah! that is all when all is told.

CLIPPED STUFF
This instance of restraint is contributed orally by the author of that monstrous and magnificent novel "Sanctuary." William Faulkner knows his Mississippi, and is welcome to it. Quoth he: "On an afternoon in October 1931 in a baseball game played in Isaac Ellwanger's cows pasture, the chief error was the one committed by Washington Hawkins in sliding to what he thought was third base."

Mrs. Grace King of Mound City recently found a mouse in a can of chili which she purchased at a local grocery. Of course the mouse was dead, but Mrs. King did not relish the thought of eating the chili after finding the little animal cold in death in the midst of the supposed to be hot concoction, hence she brought suit against a wholesale grocery firm which supplied the local dealer with that particular brand of canned goods. As any good newspaper man would have done, Frank Ledbetter, publisher of the Pulaski Enterprise and the Carterville Herald, published the story and attempted to show that it is unfair to hold grocers responsible for the sealed contents of cans of food. Now Mrs. King's attorneys argue that such publication interferes with justice in the settlement of their client's case, and Editor Ledbetter has been cited for contempt of court.

SOME HEALTHY LEGISLATION

That every auto owner must carry Public Liability insurance in some accredited insurance company up to $5,000 and $10,000 and a reasonable property insurance against damages to the other persons property and it matters not who the driver causing the accident, the injured party to be protected.

Let the said insurance be shown by small insurance plates attached to cars similarly to license or wheel tax plates.

And that failure to have such plates showing is a misdemeanor and subjects the offender to arrest and punishment the same as in other misdemeanors.

Also, all law exonerating the driver or owner of an auto from damages by accident to persons enjoying a free ride therein, either by request or invitation.

Using an old legal phrase, redressed Cafe Emptor—Let the free rider beware.

And now as to pensions.

That the pensioning of public servants—judges, policemen, Civil service employees, teachers, janitors, presidents' widows and all other what-nots, where the pensioning funds are to be raised wholly or in part by public expense shall cease instanter, if not sooner. Providing nothing in the above shall apply to drafted soldiers and sailors wounded in battle or while on duty or from sickness resulting from exposure while in the service.

For our reasons "Let facts be submitted to a candid world," in the first place, let me ask what is the equity or justice for this practically wholesale pensioning? Our answer, There is none. How do most of our public pensionees get their jobs by compulsion or choice? Mostly by choice. Then why are they more deserving of pensions than other equally as good men, morally, mentally, physically and in honest useful employment? We answer, They are not.

Why should Judge Holmes be pensioned when the farmer who raised the wheat for the judge's cake and biscuit, is not eligible for pension? Why should Judge Holmes be pensioned, when the stock man who raised, fed and butchered the steer for to furnish the judge fine soup and gravy and choicest cuts, has no pension coming his way? Why should Judge Holmes be pensioned when the tailor who makes his caps and gowns, the cook who prepares his meals, the washer woman who does his laundry, the maid who makes his bed and otherwise tidies up his room—all must toil on and on with never a show of government aid being handed them on a silver platter? We have not instanced Justice Holmes because we hold any grudge or malice against him. On the contrary, we greatly admire the grand old jurist. We do not feel, however, that admiration for him should place him in a favored class, faring better than other men who work on, in some humbler places, doing daily his useful task, as did the judge while on the bench.

Right here let me apologize for using the word humbler. I don't believe any man or woman who does honorable useful work, well—whether it be making a pin or a Cadillac, scouring the pans or basting the turkey, teaching an isolated country school or presiding over a university, pastorate of a country flock or a professor of divinity on Main street, the office boy or the editor, the page or the statesman, the tiller of the soil or the president, should be ranked as a second to any man or woman who fills some little niche in his country's service, be he president, king, prince or other potentate, "High though his titles, proud his name, boundless his wealth as wish can claim"—each is peer to the other when their tasks are rightly done, and if one deserves a pension, so does the other.

Why should a man with judicial mind sufficient to grasp the whole scope of the laws, or a man brave enough to make an efficient policeman, or one who has gone over the top in the enemies' country, want to become a public charge on his beloved country or countrymen. Why should not such men save for their future keeping or still, what is better, continue to work for their daily bread, instead of becoming flaccid, passe or other enduring disability and be kept at public expense? O, that we all could be like the old apostle who coveted no man's silver, or gold, or apparel and that his hands ministered unto his necessities. Neither did he eat any man's bread for naught, but wrought with labor and travail, night and day, that he might not be chargeable to any, so as to make himself an example for others to follow. He also exhorted others that with quietness they work and eat their own bread. And if any man obey not our word have no company with him that he might be ashamed. Strong words these but sure are wholesome and uplifting but not at all in line with pensioning where no disability exists.

Dear readers, do not consider this personal, but to be taken as against what we think a vicious and unjust policy, and if some such measure was adopted would be one of many that would lead towards cutting down expenses and thereby reducing taxes.

—J. J. Martin.

THEN THEY PAID UP PROMPTLY

Once upon a time there was an editor who never dunned his subscribers and yet they always paid up. Whenever the name of one of the delinquents appeared in the local news he printed the name upside down. Everyone in town knew what the inverted type meant and those who were behind hurried to send in their checks lest they too, be treated in a like manner—Washington Newspaper.

An Old Bread Line

Recently we chronicled the Fleishmann Bakery as being the first to maintain a bread line, dating back about fifty years. That fine piece of charity, however, is far from being the oldest bread line here. The other day it came to light that Trinity Parish is still running one that is exactly 139 years old.

It appears that in 1792, John Leake willed the interest on $5,000 for bread to be distributed by that famous Episcopal Church, and through all those years the will has been complied with. The dole is being distributed nowadays by Rev. Edward H. Schleuter, vicar of St. Luke's Chapel, one of Trinity Church's affiliates.

No "Hands Off" Signs

One of the most attractive free shows here is maintained in the Daily News building on East 42nd Street. It is curiously enough, an exhibition of machinery and "robots." And children especially are invited to stroll through the exhibition and handle everything to their heart's content.

Children are simply mad about the place. My own youngster, 6, went there with a pal a couple of years older and revelled in the various gadgets. One thing shown was a telephone. She took down the receiver, dialed her number and saw the machinery she set in motion get her the connection and then, ten feet away, her pal answered the call and talked to her. Other things are automobile models, steam engines, elevators, riding stairs and all kinds of things like that. After a child has spent a few hours in the place she comprehends a lot more about modern conveniences than she ever did before.

And it is all gorgeous fun!

Sales People

One of the curious things visitors here observe quickly is the detached air with which sales people in the big stores wait on customers. In the better stores there is never any attempt made to force a sale. The idea seems to be that if that particular customer walks out there will be a new one in before many minutes.

One result is that women here thoroughly enjoy shopping, more so than in any other city in the world. In London, one cannot escape from a shop after one has entered it without buying something, or being forced to listen to high pressure selling from everybody in the place, clear up to the owner.

Here it seems to be quite all right to walk out. One never gets a "dirty look" from any of the sales force. And they are really grateful when a sale has been consummated.

Horse Cars

New York City was probably the last place in the whole country to stop running horse cars. The last line was on Fulton Street, a few blocks from Wall Street and it took the car about half an hour to go the half mile between terminals. Of course the line was operated merely to hold the franchise.

The other day one of the big department stores celebrated its fifty-ninth anniversary and part of the celebration was to get the street car people to run a horse car on 59th Street, on which the store is located. The car ran all day and took in thousands of nickels from people who enjoyed the "novel" experience.

To stop the car one pulled a cord tied to the driver's leg, who thereupon pulled a lever that opened the rear door.

NEW POTATO

Plant breeders of the United States Department of Agriculture have originated a new variety of potato that resists the disease known as mild mosaic. This new potato is the Katahdin. The department tested it in 100 localities in 20 States last year and it showed no signs of mosaic, although other varieties growing in the same fields became affected with the disease. "Mild" mosaic is not a mild disease but causes severe damage to the potato crop.

A few days ago a Sullivan lady boarded a train for a nearby town. The ticket she presented to the conductor called for "continuous passage" all right, but in the opposite direction. An argument ensued. The lady won of course but not until she spitefully snapped, "If it will be any satisfaction to you, conductor, I'll sit so that I'll ride backwards."

Don't be caught saying, "People who live in glass houses should not throw stones." A glass house these days likely is made of "safety glass" or, in Chicago, of the "bullet proof" variety.

A young Decatur doctor filling out his first death certificate signed his name on the dotted line which specified, "cause of death."

"Study hard, boys," admonished the school visitor. "Some day one of you may become president." A small boy shook his head negatively. Asked his reason why he could not be president he answered, "Because I'm a Democrat."

A Sullivan five-year-old who last summer wanted to take his dog to town was told that all dogs had to be muzzled. Shortly after when asked what he was doing, answered, "Fixin' a 'nozzle' for Rover so he can go walkin'."

"Illinois roads pay for themselves," says a press story. That statement hasn't been demonstrated, but here's proof that at least one Illinois road pays cash for damages that it causes.

Three Sullivan natives were bumping over a fierce Effingham country road, when a blowout forced their flivver to desist. To compensate for the delay, at the edge of the ditch not two feet away from the deflated tire, lay a dollar bill!

(P. S. I spent the dollar in Sullivan.)

"Why you silly child, of course not!"

"Well, why are folks so anxious to get them weighed right away?"

"Yeah, he is. In fact he's a whole lot safer than you are right now."

A tough looking housebreaker was standing watch while his pal was robbing a house.

"Did you get anything?" he whispered when his pal joined him.

"Naw, not a thing, that was a lawyer's house."

"Gosh that was tough luck sure. Did you lose anything?"

"I'm going home to mother" sobbed the bride.

"All right, let's get going. Maybe we'll get a square meal" said the heartless husband.

An exchange editor remarks: "When a man gets stewed while down town, his wife usually finishes the job by roasting him when he gets home."

We see where some newspapers refer to preachers as pulpiteers. That's a fairly descriptive word, but it sounds too much like "racketeer" to be very complimentary to the brethren of the cloth.

In our informative morning newspaper we see where—"Vandals enter school houses in Christian county." Now that's getting close to Vandalia. Which raises the question—would you call the people of Vandania "Vandals" or "Vandalians"?

Lawyers are not so much smarter than other people. They just know in what book to find the information. Come to think about the matter, isn't that perhaps what education consists of—to know where to look to find what you want to know.

NOW IT'S ASH BLOND
The latest "head-line" craze in London is ash blond hair. The new color is not golden, nor yellow, nor platinum, but a medium of these three. It is a pale yellow characteristic of the Nordic race. More than 4,000 women in one locality have taken to the new shade.

At the THEATRE

On Thursday and Friday night Walter Huston in "Beast of the City" is a picture that will grip you, thrill you and entertain you. See it.

Three Great Stars
Saturday of this week we'll give the ponies a rest, so far as the feature picture is concerned and Mary Astor, Ricardo Cortez and John Halliday will present for your edification a drama of woman against the world, called "Men of Chance." The theme line in the ads is "She trapped him, tricked him, ruined him — but she couldn't stop loving him." What a woman! Whatta woman! Mary Astor is a marvelous actress and perhaps this is the picture that will show her talent to best advantage.

Also Saturday the 7th Chapter of the Vanishing Legion and a Tom and Jerry cartoon.

Oh yes! Oh yes! Tell Papa About this one.
Sunday only, extra attraction—Another big stage show—Rube Tronson and his Texas Cowboys will appear IN PERSON. This is the well known organization that is so popular over WLS with their Saturday night Barn Dance Frolic. See them in a lot of popular numbers and old time favorites. All shows afternoon and night. Come in the afternoon and avoid the night rush.

The picture Sunday and Monday is "Dance Team" with James Dunn and Sally Eilers. This is rated as one of the best pictures of the year. Both of these actors made a sensational hit in "Bad Girl" and their new play is said to be even better than that. "Dance Team" is a Liberty 4-star picture. Some of the extra trimmings on Sunday and Monday's program are Charley Chase in "Tabasco Kid" and Mickey Mouse cartoon.

Peach O'Reno
Here they are—the rampagin', rollickin' whoopin' lunatics of the world of laughter—Wheeler & Woolsey, with Dorothy Lee and Zelma O'Neal. Their picture "Peach O' Reno" is the prime attraction Tuesday and Wednesday night at the Grand. The world's two greatest clowns in a running riot nonsense. Why try and describe a Wheeler and Woolsey picture? It can't be done. Go see it. Two other good comedies are also on tap. Come prepared to laugh. You'll not be disappointed.

Beery and Gable
Here's a topnotcher "Hell Divers" the great Naval Air Drama. This picture is so good, that we'll not try and mess around with it, but will give you an official review by a fellow who knows how to 'em:
A first night audience at the Astor in New York, distinguished and undistinguished, laughed and applauded, sat tense and almost cheered as the Naval Air Forces of the United States swept through their brilliant maneuvers over land and sea, and Wallace Beery and Clarke Gable carried a story thread which, though concluding on a tragic note, left that audience obviously thrilled and almost awed.

The film was done with the cooperation of the United States Navy and undoubtedly the best shots from the library of the air forces were used here. The flight formations held the audience spellbound as the planes landed on and took off the U. S. S. Saratoga, airship carrier, the Navy's pride. The photographic work in innumerable instances drew gasps from the patrons and murmured comments of praise for the daring fliers who helped to make the picture were continuously audible.

Wallace Beery and Clark Gable are two chief petty officers attached to Squadron One, Beery the old timer, Gable the newcomer. Both are observers and gunners for the squadron's two leaders and the rivalry is more than keen between the two, since Beery sees Gable usurping his position and Gable wants just that. Their work in the leading roles was received with enthusiasm by the first-nighters at the Astor. Hardly less so was that of Conrad Nagel as one of the squadron commanders, John Milan as the other commander whose arm is amputated after a thrilling crash in the air; Marjorie Rambeau as Panama cafe proprietor who is Beery's "best girl." Landers Stevens, Dorothy Jordan as Gable's fiancée, Cliff Edwards as Beery's pal, Reed Howes, Alan Roscoe, all have less important roles, but all were acclaimed by the audience for their support.

The air squadron goes to Panama, after Miss Jordan had broken with Gable because of a bit of horseplay with another woman staged by Beery. At Panama, Beery, whose flying performance won the patrons completely, gets into trouble as usual, and dis-lined, is reduced in rank. The squadron takes off for maneuvers and Nagel, relenting, takes Beery as his observer and bomber, while Gable rides another plane in the same capacity. Gable's ship crumbles in the air, and dropping in a parachute, he is thrown on the rocks of an isolated stretch of coast. Beery sees the accident and he and Nagel go down after him. The audience gasped as the plane swept down to a perfect three-point landing among the rocks of the beach.

Nagel is badly hurt in the rescue effort and Gable's leg is broken. Four days of waiting bring nothing but the news on their receiving set that the search has been abandoned. Unable to fly a plane as pilot, Beery loads the two men into the ship, nevertheless, and after a tense session of flying through heavy fog, which thrilled the premier crowd, brings the plane down on the Saratoga's deck in a crashing plunge which wrecks the ship and sets it afire. They are rescued, but Beery is too badly burned.

Theatre Invitations — MRS. CLIFF DAVIS. Present this at the Grand.

Alfalfa needs more lime than any other common forage crop. All soils in the East except those of limestone origin need lime for alfalfa, and even limestone soils, such as those in the Shenandoah Valley, are often acid at the surface and need lime. Except for the soils of the Pacific slope in the Northwest, most soils west on the ninety-fifth meridian do not need liming. The form of lime makes little difference provided it supplies enough calcium oxide. Soils that have not previously been limed will usually require at least 1 ton of burned lime or its equivalent to the acre.

Theatre invitation — MRS. ED DARR. Present this at The Grand.

ASKS WEBB TO EXPLAIN

It states that the suit is filed in behalf of the receiver and all of the creditors of the bank.

It is set forth that J. A. Webb was president of the bank. On information and belief, he is charged with withdrawing assets from the bank for his personal use. Such assets are divers notes which were the property of the Merchants & Farmers State Bank. After the close of the bank he retained such notes and does not retain them as a private person and claims to own them.

The notes in question were given to the Merchants & Farmers bank and signed by individuals who were indebted to said bank and they represent assets of the bank and should be in possession of and accounted for by the receiver as such assets.

The bill further states that it is the belief of the Receiver that Mr. Webb, as president of the bank, did know of the financial condition of that institution. That the records show that he withdrew notes from the bank shortly before its close and replaced them with notes that he owned and through such transfer made his notes a part of the assets of the bank. The records also show that he checked on his special account so that when the bank closed there was but $2.87 to his credit.

It is cited that prior to December 15th he withdrew notes from the bank and took same as his own and in exchange gave the bank notes without security, the makers of such notes not being financially responsible. Through such action Mr. Webb is charged with depleting the assets of the bank.

The Receiver and Attorney also state it is their information and belief that the former bank president placed notes of his own, which were practically worthless in the bank and took credit therefor on his bank deposit.

Through such manipulations it is charged the assets of the bank were depleted. Furthermore, there has arisen a serious question of doubt as to the ownership of some of the notes now in possession of Mr. Webb. It is also charged that through his note transactions with the bank, Mr. Webb received interest which over a period of years has amounted to a considerable amount.

The complainants declare that Mr. Webb has been persistent in the collection of the Merchants & Farmers notes now in his possession.

In order to clear up matters, he is asked to answer every charge made in the bill of complaint and to account for each and every note taken from the bank and to state how he compensated the bank therefor — by cash or by giving other notes.

After setting forth these matters the complainants, Receiver Gregory, acting for the creditors of the bank, asked the Judge to grant an injunction restraining Mr. Webb from disposing of, assigning, selling, transferring or incumbering any of these notes in question; that the makers of the notes be restrained from paying anything thereon until this cause can be heard.

This request the Judge granted. The case will be up at the March term of court which starts Monday, March 7th.

Jim Finally Fell for Love

By CLARISSA BENTLEY

SOMETIMES Tom sat tensely at the little writing table for an hour or more writing to his beloved Edith. Sometimes he just sprawled out in an easy chair before the fire idly dreaming—of Edith, who lived eight hundred miles away and whom he saw but seldom.

This keeping bachelor apartments with a man engaged was beginning to get on Jim's nerves. For weeks, even before Tom was engaged, he had been, as Jim thought, mentally unbalanced.

Perhaps the worst feature of Tom's malady was his apparent joyousness. He sat there with such an idiotic expression of happiness on his good looking face. He whistled like a canary bird when he dressed in the morning. He always thought the weather was fine and he always felt tiptop. In a way Jim envied him.

Kate Fenwick had worked in the same office with Jim for two or three years. Nice girl. Kate was what he thought about her if he thought anything. He saw her and talked with her every day. She usually took his dictation. Sometimes she showed him little things she had bought—wedding presents for girls who were getting married, little toys for her nephews and nieces.

Business was extremely brisk toward spring and it was apparent one Saturday that some special reports would have to be put through on Sunday. The president of the concern asked Jim to attend to them and incidentally suggested to Kate Fenwick that she meet Jim at the office to take dictation.

They began working that spring Sunday at nine o'clock and Jim was so interested in his work that he never once thought of Kate as anything more than an automaton until it was past twelve. That was one thing that made Kate such a good stenographer. She was never obtrusive—didn't use perfume or wear dangling bracelets or bright colors.

They finished their work at about the same time and for no reason in particular Jim asked Kate what she was going to do next. Kate looked up, blushing a little, and Jim felt that perhaps he had been abrupt with her. She had worked like a little steam engine and he had never thought of her as being even human. That is why he asked her to have luncheon with him. There were so few places open downtown on Sunday and she lived far uptown. After luncheon he asked her again what she was going to do, and again she blushed and said nothing. "I'm going to take a ferry across the river and then take a walk along the river bank on the other side," he told her. Kate said she envied him and so Jim asked her if she would care to go with him.

Spring in the air made the river bank very beautiful that afternoon, and as Jim and Kate climbed up and down the steep embankments Jim held Kate's round little arm to keep her from slipping. He made no effort to be agreeable or otherwise to this girl whom he saw every day but he began to realize that it was very good to have her with him.

Then they sat on an embedded boulder that looked out over the river below. Jim felt as if he were a thousand miles away from the city. He looked at the shapely hand stretched out on the rock beside him and studied those fingers that had worked so efficiently for him that morning.

It seemed the most natural thing in the world to lift that hand up in his and as it felt very docile he lifted it to his lips to kiss it. Suddenly Jim felt awkward. He felt as if he had arrived somewhere without knowing how he had come. He began to wonder whether he could trace his steps back again. Then he wondered whether he really wanted to.

"You aren't angry with me, are you—Kate?" he said. "Of course not, Jim," she said, and he noticed that tears gleamed in her pretty brown eyes. "You know I have always liked you, Jim."

"And I have always thought you the best stenographer in the world," said Jim, feeling suddenly that perhaps he had better find his way back again. But Kate took her hand away from him and turned, trying in vain to hide a falling tear.

"I think much more than that," said Jim, feeling suddenly very foolish without that little hand in his. He took it back again and kissed it.

"I'm so happy, Jim—dear," said Kate, and then without knowing how it happened Jim realized that his arms were around Kate and that her smooth little head was resting on his shoulder.

When Jim got back to the apartment at six that night he found Tom sprawling in an easy chair before the fireplace in which glowed a few fading embers. Jim took off his light coat and hat and dropped down in a chair on the other side of the fireplace. For an hour the two men sat there—the same rather foolish, contented expression written on both faces. Then when the last flicker of light died from the embers Tom roused himself. He suggested having something to eat.

"Something to eat—that's right—I'd forgotten," stammered Jim. "You see, old pal, I'm engaged." (© 1931, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.) (WNU Service.)

DUNN STATION FOLKS HAVE SHOOTING TROUBLE

Trouble between Elam Love and the Ernest Elder family, all of whom live in Dunn, led this week to arrest of Mr. Love on a charge of disturbing the peace. The warrant was sworn out by Mr. Elder.

The Elder family lives in the Swank house, which was sub-rented to them by Mr. Love who rented the whole place from Mrs. Jane Swank. Recently Mr. Love has been trying to get his tenants to move.

Monday he came to the Elder home while Mr. Elder was absent. An argument ensued with Mrs. Elder and she got a 38 calibre revolver and when Mr. Love was slow in obeying her command to "get out" she took a shot in his direction.

On Tuesday Mr. Elder came to Sullivan and swore out a warrant against Mr. Love. The case was heard in Judge Lambrecht's court and charge dismissed.

ed on March 1st (the last day of filing) are legal if they did not reach the office of the town clerk on that day.

Mr. Roney is in a quandry. He does not want to rule Mr. Fisher out, but it is up to him to see that the ballot is in accordance with the law, otherwise it might invalidate the election.

There is some talk that if the Town Clerk accepts the nominating papers, a protest may be filed and a hearing on the matter held before the board of town auditors.

There is no doubt but that Mr. Fisher is the duly selected candidate of the Republicans, but somebody neglected to see that the nomination was filed in the office of the Town Clerk within the time limit set by law.

SUPERVISORS WRESTLE WITH NEW FINANCIAL LAWS AFFECTING COUNTY

The Moultrie County board of supervisors met Thursday of last week. The official transactions are recorded in this issue.

The matter of county responsibility for funds came up for discussion. New laws recently passed place the burden of loss, in case of bank failure, where public funds are concerned, on the county, city, etc., to which the funds belong, rather than on the treasurer, as heretofore.

The treasurer asks the officials to designate a bank in which he shall deposit funds. When such bank is designated and he lives within the legal limitations governing amount of deposit he is absolved from blame in case of bank failure.

This puts it up to the supervisors to secure the proper security from banks to protect the county against loss.

In order to have more time to investigate this matter fully, the board adjourned to meet again next Monday.

WORLD WAR BY "YARNS" LIEUT. FRANK E. HAGAN

By J. H. Hughes

A Valuable Muleskinner

In one of Rex Beach's stories, he has that inimitable character of his, Old Bill Joyce, declare: "Now a good mule driver is the litdest, orneriest speck in the human line that's known to the microscope, but when you get a poor one, he'd spoll one of them cholera germs you read about just by contact." But if Old Bill had listened in on a conference which took place at Camp Kearney, Calif., during July, 1917, when thousands of men were being trained for service "over there" he might have revised his estimate. Certainly it was a jolt to the self-esteem of some of the professional men who (at first) had a high idea of their worth to their outfits.

Two battery commanders of an artillery regiment were engaged in a heated argument. Overbearing part of it, the regimental adjutant undertook to adjust their differences.

"What's the matter?" he asked. "He's trying to get a man away from my outfit," replied Captain No. 1.

"Well, I offered him a fair exchange," declared Captain No. 2. "Who's the man, anyway?" asked the adjutant.

"A muleskinner and a darned good one," said Captain No. 1.

"What are you going to give him?" asked the adjutant.

"A banker and two salesmen," replied Captain No. 2. Then in a sudden burst of generosity, he added, "And if he insists, I'll throw in a lawyer to boot."

Farm Bureau

(By J. H. Hughes)

On account of it being a bright day and apparently the opening of the spring season so far as farm work is concerned, the District Farm Bureau Conference at Mattoon last Friday was not largely attended. However those who went pronounced it to be a most excellent meeting and several important matters pertaining to the farmers interest were discussed and brought out during the day.

Those who attended the meeting from Moultrie county were: Ross Daily, Whitley township; J. E. Righter, Jonathan Creek; Charles B. Shuman, East Nelson Township and H. S. Reedy and George Fulk of Marrowbone and Farm Adviser J. H. Hughes.

The meeting was presided over by an executive committeeman of the Illinois Agricultural Association, C. J. Gross of Atwood. Mr. Gross has served in this capacity for two terms and has been an excellent representative for the farmers of this district in the State Farm Bureau.

Seven counties were represented at Mattoon and practically every one present took part in the free and open discussion.

A preliminary meeting was held at Charleston Thursday night of the Jersey Cattle clubs of the counties of Moultrie, Edgar, Coles, Richland, Jasper, Crawford, Lawrence and Clay. The object of the meeting was to determine if possible whether the Jersey Breeders would hold another Parish Show this season and if so, where? It was the intention in the beginning to rotate the show about over this section of the State and interest, if possible, beginnings in the Jersey breed. It is thought possible that Shelbyville would welcome this exhibition of the Jersey breed at their fall fair and a committee consisting of V. I. Winnings, Ralph C. Emel and Jesse Powell was appointed to confer with the authorities at Shelbyville in regard to the matter. Moultrie county Breeders will welcome a chance of this kind since it will facilitate the movements and the showing of the cattle. There are some few breeders in Shelby county who no doubt will become interested in this Parish Show.

The East Nelson Unit elected a new group of officers Friday night at their regular meeting. Election was as follows: Orla Kimbrough, president; Guy Christy, vice president; Orville Hogue, sec'y and treasurer. Those who have served during the past half year were Jesse Lilly, president; Roy B. Martin, vice president and Farley Young, secretary and Treasurer.

The program Friday night was of a voluntary nature, as every member present was called upon to contribute something extemporaneous toward the program. Fifteen of twenty of these people from young boys and girls to the very eldest had something to add to the program. E. L. Lilly admitted he was one of the pioneers of Allenville and vicinity and proceeded to give a history of that section and its people in his own words.

Theo. Snyder when called upon testified to the fact that Mr. Lilly was an old man when he was a boy and that the remarks made by Mr. Lilly were quite historical indeed. Much interest was displayed and discussion developed following a presentation of the Outlook Conference by Charles Shuman. Everybody is interested of course in the various cycles including the business trends and the efforts they may have on the farm income. Farm Adviser, J. H. Hughes gave a report of the I. A. A. meeting at Rockford.

The attendance at the meeting, Friday night, was a record breaker in that it was the smallest crowd yet, there being only 51 present. On account of the two other functions being held in East Nelson township on the same night, the turnout was not up to normal.

The Farm Bureau Unit idea is gradually spreading over the county. Jonathan Creek and Kirksville have already held their first of 5 experimental meetings, W. S. Elder, Jr., and Glen Landers acting as temporary chairman and secretary in Jonathan Creek and Omer Lowe and Ralph Emel in the Kirksville vicinity acting as chairman and secretary in Sullivan township.

Kirksville unit held its first meeting at the home of Grover Graven at which time an excellent program was given. Mrs. Ralph C. Emel and Mrs. Grover Graven were appointed on the program committee for next meeting.

A demand is forthcoming in Lowe township for a similar movement and a preliminary meeting will be held at the Farm home of O. H. Schable Friday night for this purpose. Farm folks are beginning to realize that they can at least supply a portion of their own entertainment and recreation and at the same time consider and discuss questions of vital importance to farming as a business.

HISTORIC TREES

Examination and certification for shipment to other parts of the country of descendants of famous New England trees, with assurance that the specimen are free from destructive insect pests, is an interesting part of the duties of plant quarantine inspectors of the United States Department of Agriculture, who are engaged in the enforcement of the regulations concerning the gypsy moth.

Many of the young trees which have been distributed under this protection were descended from the historic elm at Cambridge, Mass., beneath which General Washington took command of the Continental Army on July 3, 1775. Before the Washington elm died a branch was grafted and it has grown into a beautiful tree, on the public library grounds at Wellesley.

NEW FUMIGANT SUCCESSFUL

Four hundred and fifty thousand bushels of wheat were fumigated recently in Baltimore, Md., with a mixture of ethylene oxide and solid carbon dioxide in the proportion of 1 to 10. The use of these materials as a fumigant was developed in the United States Department of Agriculture by specialists in the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, the Bureau of Entomology and the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Tests conducted by the department's chemical engineering division indicate that with competent supervision the fire and explosion hazards of this fumigant are reduced to a minimum.

Meridian, in Moultrie County, Illinois, conveyed the said tract of land by a Warranty Deed to the County Commissioners of Moultrie County which said deed is recorded in Volume 1 of Deeds on page 454 of the Records in the Recorder's office of Moultrie County, Illinois.

Your Petitioner further respectfully represents that thereafter, the said County Commissioners of Moultrie County caused the original town of Sullivan to be platted in lots and blocks which said town was then located on and included in the said northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section two (2), Township thirteen (13) north Range five (5) East of the Third Principal Meridian in the County of Moultrie and State of Illinois, which real estate was then and there the property of said county, it having the legal title thereto by virtue of the deed from PHILLO HALE as above mentioned; and said County Commissioners thereafter caused said plat of the original town of Sullivan to be recorded in the Recorder's Office of said County.

Your Petitioner further states on information and belief that, after the recording of said deed from the said PHILLO HALE to the County Commissioners, as aforesaid, the Court House of said County was destroyed by fire, on to-wit, the 24th day of November A. D. 1864, and that most of the public records kept in the office of said Recorder of Deeds at that time were destroyed by said fire.

Petitioner further respectfully represents upon information and belief that if any deed of conveyance had been made prior to said fire, by the County Commissioners of said County, conveying the real estate described as to any person or persons, the record thereof was also burned and destroyed by the aforesaid fire; that the records of said county do not show a record of any deed or deeds from the said County Commissioners of Moultrie County, or from the Supervisors of Moultrie County, to any person or persons of any part or parcel of said Lots One and Two of said Block Eight. Your Petitioner further respectfully represents that he became the owner of said land, herein last above described, by a deed of conveyance dated the 15th day of October A. D. 1931 which said deed is duly recorded in Volume 83 of deeds on page 402 in the Recorder's Office of Moultrie County, Illinois.

Your Petitioner further represents that he acquired the title to said premises last above described from a long chain of conveyances dating back many years, but the absence of a record of a conveyance from the County Commissioners of Moultrie County, Illinois, to your Petitioner, or to some of his predecessors in title, creates a break in the chain of title, and has caused the examiners of the abstract of your petitioner to require that said defect be corrected in some way.

Your Petitioner therefore respectfully prays that the Board of Supervisors of the County of Moultrie and State of Illinois authorize and direct the chairman of the Board of Supervisors of the said County of Moultrie and State of Illinois, to exact the necessary Quit Claim Deed of Conveyance and to cause the same to be attested by the County Clerk of said County, and the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, conveying to your Petitioner any and all right, title and interest that said county of Moultrie may have in and to the premises described as Lots one (1) and Two (2) of Block eight (8) of the original town now city of Sullivan, in Moultrie County, Illinois, which premises now belong to your Petitioner.

And your Petitioner will ever pray, etc.

FINAL INSTALLMENT

"But you?"
"They thought that we had quarrelled over the swag. Lord, how they tore my house to pieces looking for them. It's a wonder you weren't flayed in the search. Lord knows where 'Cella kept them. But the police couldn't pin anything on me. For lack of evidence I wasn't tried for theft as well as for murder."
"And she didn't tell? I mean at the trial she didn't try to help you by telling the truth?"
"She didn't speak at the trial or afterward," he said. "But you must remember that I had killed her lover."
"Since I met you again, I hated her afresh. And so, because I thought that it would tear her mask and expose the background of her piety, I stole her jewels. I wanted you, Lynda to see her in her true colors so that she'd not be able to influence you against me in the end."
"Oh, Nick, Nick, Nick!"
"Do you blame me so much?"
"I don't blame . . . only, why couldn't you have trusted me?"
"The house of cards has fallen, Nick and in my silly clothes I have come back to you. Whom else have I now in the world to love and to trust."
They looked at each other then with their wasted and faintly similar faces and their wet strained eyes and contrived for each other's sake a sort of shaken laughter.
"I am not going to marry Kent. I won't ever see him again," she told him.
She hurried to her own room, shut out the haunting faces and lay on her bed, tearless, until sleep came.
A wedding must be canceled, all its gifts returned, its guests dismissed. Cousin Sara Mullet, arriving from New Jersey was invaluable for these unpleasant urgent matters. Marcella, holding in her lap a leather box filled with glittering five-and-ten-cent store jewels, had been taken away, smiling and pleased to Stevver's sanitarium.
It was not until several days there after that the papers began to blazon the story of a certain Felix Kent — his wealth, his possible crime, his treachery. The law court in Chicago was set for a scandalous trial, not the re-opening of an ancient indictment of one misfortunate engineer but a new trial to prove Kent's embezzlement of his fellow citizens' funds. Kent was very expensively and very ably represented. Jock's story in one form or another ran to columns.
Lynda meanwhile in her own fashion prowled the room. It was ten o'clock of a gay spring morning. Jocelyn was dressed again in her own ordinary clothes and wore her hair smooth about her face. But the face was Lynda's and it had noticeably thinned. She turned passionately upon Nick's silence as though it had been speech.
"I won't talk about Kent's—about Kent's trial, Nick. I don't want to see the papers. I want to go away until it's over please."
"Well, I was about to suggest an adventure. Will you come with me to France?"
"What is—your intention, Nick?"
"To return to the Marquise de Montree her jewels."
"That's what I meant to do, some day."
Josiah's lawyer at Jocelyn's request took charge of her affairs. Of his own accord he furnished Marcella's daughter with ample funds. She would be the heiress of Josiah's fortune; no reason for her to suffer diminished luxury or pleasure now because of the unexpected tragedy of Marcella's mental breakdown.
In secret, the two conspirators made their preparations and set their date. Nick got the passports, bought the tickets.

Lynda, all dressed for travel and holding in her hands a leather case which contained her toilet articles, her money and the jewels, sat down beside her window to wait for Nick. He had been living in his old rooms and was to come for her at eight-thirty.
Startled she saw that it was already nine, that Nick was very late. She began to be alarmed. Passengers were supposed to be aboard by ten.
She 'phoned the desk but was told that there had been no call. She had hardly hung up the receiver when shrilly the mechanism rang. She knew Fujie's queer little voice:
"This Miss Har-lo?"
"Yes."
"Please. Lady come see Mis-tair Sandal. He say. Velly sudden sick. No can come. No can get to 'phone. Please, lady come his room now."
"Tell him I'll be there at once."
She hurried down and got herself and her bags into a cab and gave the address.
She got out quickly at the door, told her driver to wait and, keeping the small case with its priceless contents in her hands, ran up the steps.
Fujie admitted her and pointed up the stairs. "Yes, lady. Same room. Mistair Sandal velly, velly sick."
She climbed up the three well-remembered flights and hurried in at Sandal's unlocked door. He was not in the stripped front room. The battered sofa, however, held the fresh imprint of a body. His suitcase, open, its contents all thrown around, stood on the floor. She called him and went through the bedroom door. That room was empty, its bed dismantled and unoccupied. She darted back from it into the outer room.
Quale, a man she had seen with her father, stood against the entrance door. He was smiling stickily.
"Don't yell," he warned her. She saw that in his pocket a lump thrust upward, threatening her.
"Look a-here, girlie, I'm on to Nick and you. You got the lady's sparklers and you're going to beat it to foreign parts. A neat job too."
"Where is he?" Lynda whispered.
"Not far away. I found he didn't have the stuff so I got Fujie to call you. Don't yell. I got him in a closet outside there. It's not even locked but he's tied up. Just hand me over the sparklers. I'll cut off and you can find Nick in half a second. If you make a row I'll put a hole in your pretty carcass and take the stuff. It's in your bag there?"
She shook her head. He took the case from her, opened it and quietly pocketed the gems. Then he began to back toward the door.
As he stepped from the door, Lynda's courage flared up. She darted after him so unexpectedly, so closely at his heels that she was through the door before he could lock it. As he fled down the stairs she drew in her breath to shout but Quale stopped below her and with a hideous white grin leveled his gun. Before her voice had left her lips he fired.
There was, with her shortened wailing cry, a shock of sound. Quale scuttled down and out past Fujie who had the front door open. Lynda lay crumpled near the banister over which she had leaped for her intended outcry. Below her on the stairs, on the very step where Quale had paused to shoot, was the body of a man. She hardly knew when she first moved, that she was living, or what had saved her life.

Helping herself up by the railing and moving shakily down she found Nick Sandal, his hands still tied behind his back. His mouth was gagged. With some contortion, some hideous effort, he had burst free from his temporary prison, had thrown his body down in front of Lynda, knocking her over, taking her death to his own heart.
She sat there on the step and held his peaceful head upon her arm.
The police found them and took them away and next morning, the Harlowe family lawyer having been summoned, the police delivered them at Marcella's apartment. There Nick Sandal lay in a room sweet with flowers while spring-time's hurdy-gurdy made incongruous melody beneath the sun-filled window and his pale young daughter wept.
The rank outsider was buried in the Harlowe burial lot and lay there untroubled by social distinctions or any sense of his inferiority. The lawyer, clergyman, Cousin Sara Mullet, Jocelyn and one other stood beside the grave. This was Jock Aylesward. He did not speak to Nick's daughter during that ceremony.
There was a new bitterness, a bitterness of life rather than of death, in Jocelyn's tears when she found herself alone in her desolated dwelling place. Jock had not looked at her. He had looked down as though he could see, through earth and ebony and the dust that would go to dust, some beloved spiritual body with happy resurrected eyes. With his own wild-winged eyes he seemed to be following Nick into a light.
Lynda spent her dusks near the window. Alone in the broad saffron sunset light she would sit, remembering. And her sad and bitter love kindled in her slowly like the lights until it glittered up and into a pillar of pain.
She could think of no one else presently, remember no one else. Every look of his noble face was hers; every turn of his strong and graceful body. The hands she had called a trickster's kept their touch upon her. A clean touch. Honorable hands. It was Jock's turn now to climb up out of the dust, to mount and to ride. But why must it be away from her?
She saw, turning, stiff with trouble and with weariness, that he was in the vestibule.
He came toward her, looking tall and grave and white. The saffron evening sky made him visible to her, but in his eyes she must have been a dark outline, silent and inexpressive. She could not speak.
"Have you read the papers, Lynda?"
Her "no" was inaudible. She had tried to read them. The names had made her feel faint. She had not been able to go on.
"I've got my verdict. I'm cleared. Don't try to speak, Lynda. I won't stay. I know what you must feel toward me. I've spoiled your life—or you think so. And I've dared to come here to thank you for giving me the power to do it. Since I last saw you you've been hurt horribly. And I went away and left you to go through with it alone. It's beastly. I'm ashamed. But," he held out his hands, "But no one will call them a thief's fingers again. Nor my mouth a convict's mouth. And—I love you, Jocelyn Harlowe. Life is ahead of us, although there has been so much pain behind, and I have a mania for hoping."

For an instant Nick's irony gleamed in Lynda's face, a happy resurrection.
"It's too bad we're not in sympathy, Jock. I haven't any mania for hoping and very little patience at all with pain. Your talent will be wasted. And I think it was never Jocelyn Harlowe that you loved. I am Lynda Sandal. I'm tired of unhappiness. And I've been lonely. Can't you have a mania for being happy here and now?"
At that they were together and out of reach of fear. The little Master, completely conquered, vanished into thin air and it seemed to Lynda that in his place was the sure promise of splendid happiness.

Taxes Can Be Reduced

Two figures in the reports of the railroads for 1931 afford a striking contrast.

One is net income: 89 million dollars.

The other is taxes: 308 million dollars.

The tax collector thus got $3.46 of railway revenue to every dollar the owners themselves received.

Taxes can be reduced — for everybody — in only one way. That is for governments to spend less.

Railroads are taxable property, but other forms of transportation use property created by spending taxes.

Thus taxes make the railroads' rates higher and their competitors' rates lower.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

Subject of morning sermon, "Christ or Chaos—Which?" A close-up of the world as it is 1932 years after. Is it time to sound a retreat? Miss Tabor will sing "Hide Not Thy Face" by Effinger.

At 4:45 a great treat is in store for our Vesper audience. Following the singing of the Ninety-first Psalm as arranged by MacDermid for low voice, by Frances Hall Acuff, there will be an address by Miss Mae Chapin, missionary to China for nineteen years and now at home on furlough. For some time Prin. of the Pitkin Memorial school at Kiung Chow, Province of Hainan, she was displaced by Government edict requiring that all principals must be Chinese. She has continued to serve the school as an advisor. Miss Chapin is spending a few days with the family of her brother, Arlo Chapin and will be guest of the Missionary society of the church next Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Chal Newbould. The timeliness of her visit is apparent, in view of the present conditions in the Orient, and it presents a rare opportunity for her many friends and all mission-minded Christians to learn some vital facts in regard to a portentous and troubled situation.

GOSPEL MISSION
Time of services the same.
Ps. 37:23 "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord."
Sometimes we are unable to understand just why some good man or woman does certain things, goes certain places, makes certain decisions, etc. Have we forgotten that their steps are ordered by the Lord? So often we hear this scripture as quoted "The steps of a good man are ordered of the Lord." That is as though the orders were given by Him, reaching us perhaps through some one else. There is a great deal of difference between being ordered of, and ordered by. That word "by" brings the Lord much nearer, near enough to come in personal contact with Him, near enough that he may talk with us, directing our steps by personal counsel.

Remember it is the good man whose steps are ordered by the Lord, and as we have no goodness of our own, we are only good as His goodness is imparted to us, and this can only be as we actually come in contact with him, dwelling in Him and He in us. God does not thunder from heaven His words of instruction to us, but speaks to us through that still small voice, which is in the indwelling of Holy Spirit, and this voice is so easily lost in the noise of the world, so easily stilled by the noise of our own activities, "Be still and know."

ST. COLUMBA'S CHURCH
Church services will be held at St. Columba's Catholic church on Sunday morning at 10 a. m.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH
C. E. Barnett, pastor

"Turning a Cross into a Yoke" will be the subject of the sermon at the First Christian church Sunday morning, at 10:40. March is Self-Denial month in all of the churches and this message will be the first of four leading up to Easter Sunday, March 27.

At the evening service a University of Illinois, Y. M. C. A. team of three young men, will address us on some of the vital things of religious and national life. This will be a union service of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Christian churches. The team will first address the union Young People's meeting at 6:30 p. m. in the south room of the church. At 7:30 they will address all those assembled, youth and adult in the auditorium. These meetings are open for any who wish to attend. The first service of the day will be the Sunday School at 9:30 a. m., to which every one not already attending other schools is most cordially invited.

The Okaw Christian Youth will meet at the Sullivan church Monday evening, March 7, at 7:30 p. m. The Sullivan young people will present the program, beginning with a social gathering in the church basement. At this meeting a constitution will be adopted and the program for future meetings outlined. Gerold Elder is vice-president of the association. The Lord's Day makes a good week-end and a good beginning. "Enter into his courts with praise" on the Lord's Day.

SULLIVAN BOY ROCKS DECATUR POLITICS

Walter Campbell, a former Sullivan boy, became ambitious to run for office this spring. He lives in Decatur. He has some radical ideas and decided to be a Communist. Looking around for a good office to run for he decided that, as the old order of things in his opinion, was about to die, it might be well to be coroner and sit on the corpse.
Mr. Campbell accordingly got out his nominating petitions for coroner and they were circulated. Three hundred voters signed them. Now the question has arisen, can these three hundred voters vote Democratic or Republican tickets in the spring primary? The consensus of opinions seems to be that they cannot. Ever ready to be accommodating, Mr. Campbell, according to Decatur reports, is ready to withdraw his candidacy to relieve his friends from embarrassment. If the Communist Walter has done nothing more, he has served notice on the world that he is in it.

McKIM-HARDEN

Lester E. McKim of Bethany and Mrs. Hilda L. Harden of Sullivan were married in Terre Haute on Jan. 27, 1932 according to announcement just made by the couple.

No one except the bride's parents knew the event was to take place. The ceremony was performed by Elder Verral E. Stevenson, a young Church of Christ preacher at his home 1501 South 8th St. at 4 p. m.

The subscribing witnesses were Marie Stevenson and Jennie Over. Mrs. McKim has made her home with her parents W. O. L. and Mary Duncan coming here from Decatur after the death of her husband Frank E. Harden 2½ years ago. She was born and raised in the Baker district. They expect to be at home to their friends about March 10th one half mile east of Lone Star school north of Windsor.

—Theatre invitation — MRS. DEAN PICKLE. Present this at The Grand.

STORY OF OVERSHOES

Recently Ike Bailey of this city was out scouting for a calf. He called at several places, one of which was the residence of J. N. Foster near Lovington. He left there before anybody could answer the rap on the door.
Mr. Foster missed a pair of overshoes that had been on the porch. The matter was reported to the sheriff. Mr. Lansden asked Mr. Bailey about it. Mr. Bailey returned the overshoes.

FACTORY WORKERS UNITED IN MARRIAGE

John Elkins and Miss Ina Mae Craig were united in marriage at the Christian church parsonage by Rev. C. E. Barnett Saturday night at 8 o'clock. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Groff.
Both bride and groom are employed in the Brown shoe factory.

THE WEATHER

February ended in a blaze of glory and March has not been so nice. The last days of February were warm and springlike. Folks were everywhere starting their gardening and some farmers sowed oats. Many were plowing.
Grass was growing, spring flowers were ready to burst into bloom and the warm sun held promise that winter was past. But the blustering March weather has changed the outlook somewhat.
Some weather prophets predict that winter is past while others still have hopes that the nice red snow fences can show their use when the driving blizzards and snowfalls of March get under way. We don't want to be quoted either one way or the other. We'll take the weather just the way it comes and will try and give you an impartial report of it.

As this is written some miscreants still have the Lindbergh baby in their possession. Kidnapping is a monstrous crime. The incident plainly shows the penalty of being rich and famous. If the Lindbergh baby had belonged to some poor inconspicuous family, nobody would have thought of stealing him. We hope they find Little Lindy and find him quick.

March is a month of quarrels. Folks who get along well all the rest of the year usually have fall-outs in March. There are family quarrels and school quarrels, political quarrels and just plain d-n fool quarrels. Folks who are usually level-headed and sane at all other times of the year, get into a fuss of some kind or other in March. We do not attempt to explain this cussedness, although we offer this theory: winter activities and winter work-pre getting tiresome and stale. It is too early to do spring work, and in the March season that ensues the devil finds something for idle hands and stagnant minds to do. Maybe the moon has something to do with it. We don't know. Be careful in March, it's a treacherous month.

Lots of us fellows got scared and thought that the state really meant to enforce the law that all automobile licenses had to be bought by January 1st. Now its past March 1st and we still see lots of 1931 license plates. This does not look fair. We don't object to fellows not getting licenses before March 1st, but if that is the date to get them, why let's all get them about that time. Why borrow money at the bank and give it to the state on January 1st, when it isn't necessary? If the state gets interest on its auto license funds and about $1,000,000 due January 1st is not paid until some time in March, that is bad financial management, is it not?

Anyway next year, let us fellows not be in so big a hurry. What's the use? You don't get a bigger license plate if you order in December, in fact you may only get four numbers on it while the fellow who waits until March gets 7. And seven numbers are hard for a motorcop of average intelligence to remember when he wants to give you a ticket.

DEMOCRATIC LEADER CLAIMED BY DEATH

Democrats throughout the state of Illinois will be sorry to learn of the sudden death of Peter August Waller of Kenwance Tuesday night while attending a social func-

HON. PETER A. WALLER

He leaves two sons and a daughter.
Mr. Waller was an immigrant boy who made good. He built up a big glove business and became wealthy.

He has been prominently identified with Democratic politics for many years. In 1920 he was the party's candidate for United States Senator and in 1928 was a candidate for lieutenant governor on the ticket with Judge Floyd Thompson. In both of these campaigns he appeared here in Sullivan and addressed the voters.

KING SCHOOL NEWS

The pupils and teacher also a number of patrons in the district attended the Washington program at Sunnyside school on Washington's birthday.

TWO FIRE ALARMS

The fire department was called out Monday evening to the Mrs. Nan Miller residence property south of the park. Very little damage was done.

On Tuesday the truck answered an alarm in the southwest part of the city. There was no damage and the services of the truck were not needed.

To the Democratic Voters of the 24th Senatorial District: ---

You have a right to know what to expect of those who represent you in the Legislature for the next two years. Some of the major problems, as I see them are as follows:

- First: Putting the State Government on a business basis.
- Second: An honest adjustment and assessment of all taxable property.
- Third: An income tax that shall be applied so as to reduce the tax on real estate.
- Fourth: Abolish selling short any commodities.
- Fifth: No sales tax that will place the burden on the rank and file of the people.
- Sixth: Curb big business combinations that are now threatening the home owned business.
- Seventh: Loans and interest rates to home builders and owners that will make it possible for all people who are threatened with foreclosures to redeem their homes and others to buy or build homes. To establish a true Democracy it must be possible for all people to own homes.
- Eighth: Adjustment of the laboring conditions to abolish unemployment.
- Ninth: In order to return to prosperity the state as well as the nation must put forth every effort to acquire a just return to the farmer for his products and to labor for their services.
- Tenth: In order to restore confidence we must back up our government, our business, our banks and our neighbors. And in return these must place confidence in the people.

I am your neighbor, have been in business in Monticello for thirty years. I welcome an investigation. I am a Democratic candidate for Representative.

I will appreciate your support at the April 12th Primary.

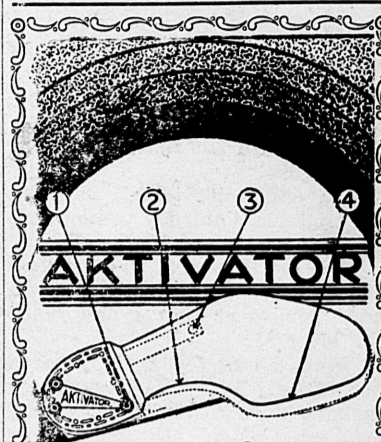

F. J. MAILANDER, Monticello, Illinois.

why a Funeral Home?

WHILE we will, of course, serve anywhere, we always recommend the use of our comfortable, modern funeral home because it offers many advantages over the private residence as the most fitting place for the funeral service.

The private home is constructed for the activities of life and even in the hours of sorrow these activities must go on. Our funeral home is designed to meet all the special needs of this trying period with the greatest possible convenience and comfort.

Here everything is provided for paying the last beautiful respects to the departed in perfect freedom from the distractions of the residence and intrusion from without.
