FILING MIXUP ENDS; FISHER WITHDRAWS

Town Clerk Roney Had Filed Protest with Board of Town Auditors. Post Mark on Envelope Causes Comment. G. O. P. Delay.

W. H. (Buck) Fisher has withdrawn his nomination papers and certificate of candidacy for the office of commissioner of highways on the Republican ticket in Sullivan township.

There was considerable talk around town after this nomination was filed with George A. Roney, town clerk. It was filed with Roney either Tuesday evening March 2nd or Friday morning, March 3rd in an envelope bearing a March 1st postmark. Evidence was plentiful that the papers were not filed in nor attested by a notary until the evening of March 2nd. The final day for filing was March 1st.

Just why the delay in filing has not been definitely learned. When Mr. Roney did get the papers he was inclined to question their legality, because they had not been filed on March 1st, the last legal day on which such action could be taken.

Saturday afternoon W. B. Hopper and E. A. McKenzie appeared in the town clerk's office and asked that the nomination be withdrawn.

FATHER VISITS YOUTH IN JAIL

Wilbur Gregory is Young Man Who Robbed Standard Filling Station. Left Home about Christmas Time to Embark on Career of Crime.

A grief stricken father Saturday visited his son in the Moultrie county jail. The man was Ephraim Gregory of Washington, Indiana. He was accompanied by the sheriff from that county.

The boy in jail is Wilbur Gregory. He recently robbed Jim Dedman at the Standard Oil filling station. When arrested near Cerro Gordo shortly after the robbery, he gave the name of Walter Williams. He was taken to Monticello and kept in confinement there about ten days. The officials could find nothing against him in Piatt county, so they notified Sheriff Lansden and he got him.

Sheriff Lansden did not believe that the boy's name was Williams. Through various sources of information he found out his true name and when confronted with the facts the culprit admitted them.

His father said that Wilbur had not been a wild youth. That he had never been in serious trouble before. He is a high school graduate.

Shortly before Christmas last year he left home and his parents heard nothing from him, until they learned that he was in trouble here. He has admitted stealing four automobiles since Christmas and held up filling stations in several states. He has had a rather defiant attitude and a sort of devil-may-care bravado, but all this wilted and he was a sorry-looking lad when his father came to see him. He is 23 years of age. His case was before the grand jury this week and he will doubtless be indicted for "robbery with a gun" a crime that carries with it a sentence of 1 year to life in case of conviction.

HONORED BY GRANGE ON 80TH BIRTHDAY

Wednesday of this week was the 80th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Louise Brandenburg, mother of the Progress editor. She lives in St. Clair County on the old Brandenburg homestead farm.

In honor of the event the Broad Hollow Grange of which she has been a member since its organization had a special meeting and program to do honor to the event. Mrs. Brandenburg some years ago donated the land on which the large grange hall and grounds are located.

The National Grange is a farmers organization with many thousands of members throughout the country. Mrs. Brandenburg was born and raised within the locality where she has spent 80 years of a busy and useful life.

C. F. RAY CHARGED WITH ABANDONMENT

C. F. Ray, Jonathan Creek farmer is charged with wife and child abandonment in an information filed in the county court Thursday. The information states that he is not supporting his wife and six minor children.

NO COURT ACTION IN M. & F. BANK CASES

Judge Wamsley's docket shows that during the short time that he was here Monday, no consideration was given to the two Merchants & Farmers State bank cases which are up for this term of court.

One of these cases is that of the Receiver vs. J. A. Webb former president of the bank, in which an accounting is asked.

The other is the action instituted by R. W. Martin and J. L. McLaughlin to have Francis Purvis named receiver for stockholders' liability.

Judge Henry Horner

Chicago jurist who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor. Judge Horner and other candidates are touring the downstate during the next two weeks but Sullivan is not on their itinerary. He will be in Decatur Saturday night and Sunday.

REPUBLICANS TWO; DEMOCRATS ONE, FOR LEGISLATURE

The Senatorial committees whose duty it is to designate how many legislative candidates each party shall have met this week and their official acts have been placed on file.

The Senatorial committee consists of one man from each of the counties of Champaign, Piatt and Moultrie.

The committees can decide on one, two or three candidates. Three representatives are to be elected.

The Republican committee has decided on two candidates; the Democratic committee decided to run but one. As the nominations are decided at the primary April 12th, it means that the three men nominated at that time will be just as good as elected.

The Democratic committee by its action, conceded the district to the Republicans and no matter if the district should go overwhelmingly Democratic next fall, not more than one Democrat can be elected to the Legislature, whereas the Republicans are assured of two.

The Democratic committee consists of A. C. Parriss of Champaign county, Judge Thomas Kastel of Piatt county and John Denton of Moultrie county. As there is an understanding that the candidate or candidates for the Democratic party are to come from Piatt county this year, Mr. Kastel did not sign the report of the committee. It is signed by Mr. Parriss and Mr. Denton.

The Moultrie Co. Democratic committee some weeks ago in its meeting declared itself unanimously in favor of two candidates. The matter of making the decision, however, is entirely in the hands of the three committeemen and the action of the county committee was advisory only.

FRIENDS IN COUNCIL INTERESTING PROGRAM AT S T H S MONDAY P. M.

The F. I. C. club met in the Auditorium of the High School Monday afternoon. Due to the cold weather the meeting was not so largely attended. The High school girls were invited by the club president to attend the gathering and during this time the high school boys were addressed by the Cerro Gordo agriculture teacher.

Talks on "Mental Hygiene were made by Miss Cora Gauger, Mrs. Ada Chapin and Miss Mayme Patterson. The club chorus gave one selection with Mrs. G. A. Sentel at the piano. Mrs. Mabel George gave three short musical readings. Miss Mae Chapin gave a talk on China. The next meeting will be held in the Library club room March 20th.

COUNTY GETS $121.40 OF BOOTLEGGER'S MONEY

In 1928 Thomas Nave of Bulpitt in Christian county had a liquor route through the northern part of this county. The officers gathered him in and on a plea of guilty he was fined $100 and costs. He gave security for the amount which totalled $121.40. Mr. Nave then got into troubles elsewhere and nothing much was heard about him.

Wednesday a party appeared in County Clerk Chipps' office to pay the long over-due fine. The amount was paid in full. It seems that Mr. Nave is in bad in some other county and before he can get any favorable consideration there, he had to pay up his outstanding fines.

SULLIVAN WON; WINDSOR LOST

Opening Game of District Tournament Has Thrilling Finish. Bethany Is Sullivan's Next Opponent.

Sullivan won its first battle for the district championship in the tournament Wednesday night, when, in a last minute spurt, the local team nosed out Windsor 22 to 21.

The Windsor team had played a great game and as the final period was drawing to a close held a 20 to 19 lead over the Dennis Reds. At this stage of the game Freeman swept Sullivan to its feet in a wild burst of cheering when he dropped one into the basket for an additional two points. Griffin for Windsor scored on a free throw and the game was over. Jobey Dunscomb's game fighting team was out of it and all its championship aspirations for the year were blasted.

In the second game of the evening Findlay gave Bethany a tough tussle but the Moultrie boys finally won out by a score of 27 to 22.

In the Sullivan-Windsor game Billie Dwyer for Sullivan carried off the scoring honors. He scored 5 field goals and 4 free throws for a total of 14 points.

Mrs. Ground has been trying to oust the defendant from a piece of property which belongs to her and which he occupies. Under the new court order he must now give her possession.

The hearing in the Heck Randol divorce case, for failure to pay alimony promptly was continued until Friday of this week.

MONEY NEEDED TO PREVENT SUFFERING AMONG LOCAL POOR

The bitterly cold weather the early part of the week brought many requests for fuel and clothing to W. R. Robinson and Chester Horn who are in charge of the Sullivan-East Nelson relief work. The committee has been functioning all winter. It has provided work of wood cutting for men who wanted such work. It has furnished fuel to families in actual need.

The available funds are about exhausted and if the committee is to continue its work, it will need assistance in the way of cash donations. Orders for wood will also help some.

Perhaps no community in this part of the state has been able to get through the winter with less plea for aid for the poor and unemployed. The cold snap has changed conditions somewhat and if children are not to go hungry and freeze, aid is needed without delay.

DENNIS REDS TIE FOR 4TH PLACE

Local S T H S Basketball Team Makes a Good Showing for Season. Defeated Bement in Last Okaw Valley Game.

Sullivan finished its basketball season in the Okaw Valley conference Friday in an overtime game with Bement at that place. The game was an up and down struggle. Sullivan piled up a 10 to 4 lead in the first quarter. In the second quarter the honors all went to Bement and the half ended Sullivan 13, Bement 15.

The Bement boys maintained their lead in the third quarter 19 to 17 but in the final quarter Sullivan moved up and tied 26 to 26. In the overtime period Sullivan scored five points to but one for Bement and the Dennis Reds consequently ended the season as they began it—with a victory.

This tie Sullivan with Bement for fourth place in the conference. Both teams won 7 games and lost five. Monticello with 11 wins and one loss is the conference champion.

The Dennis Reds of the Sullivan school this year won the football championship, followed this by winning the county basketball championship; finished second in the Okaw Valley tournament and made things exceedingly interesting for the leaders in the Okaw Valley conference.

ROUTE 132 CONTRACT MAY BE LET IN APRIL

Prospects are good for the letting of the contract for building the Sullivan to Mattoon section of Route 132 in April, so that actual work can begin early in the spring. Supt. of Highways Little reports that most of the dedications have been secured. There are several cases where friendly condemnation suits may have to be instituted. The committee in charge of getting the right of way has not yet reached an agreement with Turner Ford at Allenville nor with Sol Barber. If no agreement can be reached condemnation proceedings will be instituted in these two cases.

Are You Giver or Getter

Cold weather is here. It is accompanied by suffering and distress among the poor.

What are you doing about it?

We sometimes wonder just how much Christianity there is in the average Christian.

You hear their prayers: "Oh Lord, we thank thee for what thou hast given us. Bless us all. Bless all for whom it is our duty to pray, etc."

Well and good! But how about you? If the Lord has given you something to be thankful for, remember that Jesus said: "Faith without works is dead." Also remember that He said: "Freely ye have received; freely give."

Blessings come not only from the Lord, but they also come from those in whom the spirit of the Master dwells. What right have you to ask the Lord for blessings, unless you are willing to be His servant and give to the less fortunate some of the good things you already have? It is not your duty to pray for the unfortunate so much as it is your duty to pass on to them some of the blessings which have come your way.

Too many of our Christians have always in mind that God is a great source of all "good and precious gifts"; they are always asking, always praying and pleading for more and more.

They are not good stewards of what they already have. Their Christian plea is always "Lord give unto me," instead of "Lord teach me, that out of the bountiful blessings that Thou has showered upon me, I may wisely help and give unto those less fortunate than I am." Life's greatest blessings come through giving—not through receiving.

How does your Christianity measure up to that standard?

Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi is so popular in the Senate that he can tell the truth occasionally and tell it so frankly that even his opponents like him for it. The other day he called attention to the shortcomings of his friends the Republicans. He stated that in 1928 the Republican party was a "whispering" party in the tactics it adopted to defeat Al Smith. Because of what has happened since then it is now a "whimpering" party, "And," said Senator Harrison, "by the time the 1932 campaign gets into full sway it will be a "weeping" party." — To whisper—to whimper—to weep—how have the mighty fallen!

The Progress Prints News

Occasionally friends tell us "You ought not to have printed that in The Progress." Especially is this true when people's troubles get into court.

Such folks feel that The Progress has some special interest in telling about matters in litigation. We have. It is news. Anything pertaining to the closed bank, its depositors and the public are entitled to know.

There is no personal feeling in this matter. Sometimes our very best friends are subjected to unpleasant publicity. We regret that, but we have no way of evading the issue, unless we fall down in the duty which we feel we owe our subscribers.

When you pay your subscription to The Progress, you employ us to gather, to the best of our ability, the things that we consider news and to print them impartially and correctly. When we fail to do that, we fail to fulfill our part of the obligation which exists between a publisher and his subscribers.

If we consider it news—we print it. We aim to so conduct The Progress that it will yield us an honest living. If we cannot print the news and do this we have no right to ask or take money for your subscription.

We have stated this attitude at various times in years past. It will bear restatement from time to time. If such policy gives offense, we are sorry. A newspaper, if it is worthy the name, is not a reflection of the personal likes and dislikes of the editor, but it is a candid record of the happenings of the community in which it is published and the field which it seeks to cover.

Grand Old Party In Distress

The first two years of the Hoover administration were devoted to trying to make the country believe that there was no depression. A depression under Republican regime was unthinkable, so the Republican spokesmen denied that it existed.

But finally things got so bad that even the most ardent G. O. P. member had to admit something was wrong. At the election in the fall of 1930 the voters emphatically expressed their dissatisfaction with existing conditions.

President Hoover and his friends were startled. The very idea that the country had lost faith in Republican principles and Republican officials was terrible. It smacked of party treason.

And so in the third year of the reign of Herbert the Hoover, the Republicans not only were forced to admit that something was wrong but the discontent and troubles of the unemployed and the cries of the hungry caused them to look around to see what could be done to patch up things preparatory to the campaign year of 1932.

President Hoover named commissions to investigate conditions. He conferred with chieftains. He pointed with pride to his brain-child, the Federal Farm Board and the $500,000,000 that had been given to it to play with. He did this, that and the other thing, none of which seemed to amount to very much. His much worried advisors and political lieutenants were as helpless as their chief. Old Andy Mellon saw the yearly deficit climbing and climbing until it was unbelievable. So Andy begged off and the president sent him to England as ambassador. He called home one of the real men of ability in the Republican outfit, Charles A. Dawes, to help seek a way out of the troubles.

Then along came a Democratic congress, presided over by Jack Garner of Texas. The Democratic majority in the House got down to business. The President sensed that he had an ally. He too got busy. As a consequence legislation has been enacted that may have some effect for good on the depressed condition of the country.

Then the Republican chieftains started getting cocky and pointing to what "they" were doing to relieve depression. It is to laugh! The Democrats put up with the matter for a time, until they saw that the old decrepit G. O. P. outfit was not even playing fair. They were up to their old tricks.

They claimed credit for Democratic legislation. They, through their newspapers, magazines and press agents, started claiming for President Hoover any and all credit for what was being done. They are going into the campaign trying to build Hoover up into a miracle man. They are desperate. When truth is not available as a campaign argument untruth for them will do as well.

And so in the final year of the reign of Herbert the Hoover the country sees the sad spectacle of its once dominant Republicans resorting to any and all kinds of trickery to bamboozle the voters into the grave error of continuing a party in power which has shown its abject failure to sense the needs of the nation and to honestly try to find a way out of its troubles.

We do not believe that the voters can be fooled this time. There is no inflation of securities as in 1928; there is no full dinner pail or employment; there is no enthusiasm about robber tariffs; there is no longer the myth of a great secretary of the treasury; there is no longer any doubt about the utter inefficiency of the Republican principles doing anything for the laboring man and the wage earner; the much heralded friendship of the Republican party for the farmer, has been so thoroughly disproven that it will no longer garner in the votes.

The Republican party has been tried and found wanting. It had full sway for many years. It has claimed credit for any and all good things that have happened during that time. But the harvest is now at hand. It is bitter failure. The people's eyes have been opened.

Anything that may be done between now and election day will not affect the situation very much. The Republican platform can be nothing more than apologies and excuses. The voters will laugh at its promises and scoff at its professions of sincerity.

WANTED: TEACHERS OF HUMOR

I once had some correspondence with the alumnae secretary of a woman's college, an estimable lady seeking to raise more money for her institution, which it well deserves.

Our letters developed quite an interesting exchange of ideas on education, until I made the mistake of sending this comment:

"I am a believer in women's colleges, and I think they receive much less than their rightful share of legacies and gifts. But I sometimes think they have pushed their scholastic standards too high and are applying them too rigorously. Two of the most successful and attractive middle aged women of my acquaintance are college graduates. They have been a source of pride and service to their alma mater. Yet, if the present standards had been in force in their day, and had been as arbitrarily applied, both of them would have been thrown out of college at the end of their first semester. They were poor students, but they are great women."

I added rather facetiously: "After all, a majority of college girls are going to enter the profession of matrimony. My idea of a college program would be to teach them to look after their health, cultivate their sense of humor, and then add whatever amount of book learning they could absorb without spoiling their good looks."

This stopped the correspondence. The lady regarded me as lacking in seriousness, and wrote to be no more.

Yet I have the temerity to publish the comment, and to add this firm conviction: that the world does not need more knowledge as much as it needs more humor.

Do you remember the famous

Good Sentiments

(Contributed by Mrs. Alva Holsapple of Charleston)

If you your lips would save from slips

Five things observe with care,
Of whom you speak, to whom you speak,
And how and when and where.

If you your ears would save from jeers,
Five things keep mildly hid;
Myself and I and Mine and My,
And what you do and did.

How we speak everyone knows makes an impression on people that lasts forever and kind words can never die. The world is dying for kindness, and when we speak the same words under different circumstances, they go far to influence the life of some one, either for good or bad.

This brings to mind two other verses that correspond:

I shot an arrow into the air,
It flew to earth, I knew not where.

Long years afterward in an oak,
I found the arrow, still unbroke.

I breathed a song into the air,
It fell to earth, I knew not where

Long, long years afterward in the heart of a friend
I found the song from beginning to end.

These verses prove we can do so much to brighten the lives of others without any cost to us and very little effort. So let us all cultivate the spirit of the individual who was inspired to write the following:

Let me live in my house by the side of the road,
Where the race of men go by—
They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong:
Wise, foolish—so am I.

Then why should I sit in the scorn-er's seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban?—
Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man-kind.

session of the Cabinet at which Abraham Lincoln presented the Emancipation Proclamation? He preceded it by reading one of the humorous essays of Artemus Ward. He laughed until the tears came and then, looking around at his associates and finding them all solemn, he exclaimed:

"Gentlemen, why don't you laugh? With the fearful strain that is upon me night and day, if I did not laugh I should die; and you need this medicine as much as I."

Do you recall the passage from Stevenson in which he points out that it is the little differences, not the big issues, on which marriages are wrecked? To look across the table and see a blank expression on your wife's face, when you are convulsed with laughter—that, he says, is a test that few marriages can stand.

I was in Mexico with Ambassador Morrow when Will Rogers arrived. I saw how wonderfully his humor disarmed the suspicions of the Mexican officials and opened the way for all the good work that the Ambassador did later.

Having all this in mind, I offer two constructive suggestions:

1. That the President make the following appointments: Ambassador to England, Will Rogers; Ambassador to Germany, Bugs Baer; Ambassador to France, Irvin S. Cobb.

2. And that John D. Rockefeller or Edward Harkness establish and endow at each leading college a Professorship in Humor.

MARBLES

(By H. S. Butler of Hillsboro)

Some little boys all in a row,
Each with a marble set to go,
They now, I know, will have some fun,
They'll keep each other on the run.

And they play by the marble law,
Each one plays with his own law
Woe unto him who tries to cheat,
For he will surely meet defeat.

Now boys, you play if you want to,
There may be other things to do,
But this one game comes in the spring,
To play it now is just the thing.

And when the marble season's here
Cold weather then we need not fear,
For marble players know their stuff
They will not play in weather rough

It is fun to watch a boy,
See him jump and shout for joy,
When he makes a real good shot,
And adds a marble to his pot.

All the players have great fun,
They first jump and then they run,
How they shout and how they sing,
When they play marbles in the spring.

A high school boy studying a list of native woods came across a name that stumped him.
"Wot's 'cattle-paw' wood, teacher?" he demanded, pointing a man-cured finger at the word catalpa.—Contributed.

S. DAKOTA FARMER COMMENTS ON SHIPPING ASSOCIATION REPORT

Bruce, S. Dak.
Feb. 28, 1932.The Sullivan Progress
Sullivan, Ill.

Just been reading the account of the Shipping Association's annual meeting. I did a little thinking about that report. I thought now if those farmers at Sullivan were in the Farmer Union they could have saved quite a bit of money in handling those hogs, sheep and cattle.

The first item they would have saved is that $508.67 that they had to pay this manager as we have no need of a manager in the Farmers Union to handle our livestock shipments. Then our operating expense of $76.90 you would have saved. Then that $929.29 commission they would have been able to use the paring knife on pretty heavy. We got 35% of our commission back in dividends besides there was used the sum of $10,000 of the commission to enlarge our yards.

Our business is growing so fast at Sioux Falls that we had to have more room in our yards at the market, otherwise we would have received 49% instead of 35%. Now figuring it at 49% which is the amount we saved, that makes on the amount of business that the Sullivan Shipping association did there would have been due the farmers there the nice little sum of $455.30 on their commission.

Now we will figure it all up.
Managers commission ---$508.67
Operating expenses ----- 76.90
Dividends on commission for selling ----- 455.30
Total saving when sold
thru Farmers union...$1040.87

Now folks, do you think that in these times when we are not getting cost of production that one thousand dollars and then some more would be nice to have.

Now that is a part of what the Farmers Union will do for you. Then think of the saving on cream. You are getting 18 cents now for butter fat or was last week we are getting 20 cents; besides we will get that .04 cents dividend, making us 24 while you get 18c.

Last year our Farmers Co-operative creamery paid back to the patrons a little more than $15,000.00 in dividends after they had paid from .02 to .04 cents more than the people at Sullivan got for this cream and they churned over 700,000 lbs. of butter. Now taking those figures and we have the nice little sum of about $37,000 that our creamery saved the farmer around the town of Volga, S. Dak., and Volga is only one of a number of such creameries. There is one at Volga, one at Arlington, one at Lake Nordan, one at Esterline, one at Brookings and one at White. None of these are very far from me and all are doing well.

Well I will tell a little story. A dog was sitting and howling. Some one asked why the dog howled. They were told that he was sitting a pin. They asked why he did not get up and were told that the dog would rather howl.

My mother is dead and gone for more than 25 years but she used to sing a song often and part of that song runs as follows:

"This world is what we make it
Then why should we be sad
There is beauty all around us
Then let us all be glad."

And really I believe that is true. And if we as Farmers will get together we can help ourselves. But there is one thing we have got to remember and that is this. It will do us no good to make big crops if we do not know how to get good prices. There are just two questions Farmers ask when they go to town. The first one is what will you give me? The other one is what will you take? Folks that is facts. Organization and cooperation is the only thing that will stop that.

Well this may reach the waste basket and if it don't I may write again.

J. A. Fortner.

MARRIED 40 YEARS

—The Belle Hopper Missionary Society will not hold their regular meeting Monday night, which is their regular time to hold it being the second Monday of the month, but will have an open meeting to take the place of the Pre-Easter Service sometime during Easter week. The meeting will be held at the Christian church and the date will be announced later.

They who know how to employ opportunities will often find that they can create them, and what we achieve depends on the amount of time we possess than on the use we make of our time.—John Stuart Mills.

"Well mother," said the pastor, "this cold weather is doing much in reform for our women."

"What do you mean father?" "Look at this!" he exclaimed, as he showed her the paper and pointed to big headlines in an adv. "Ladies Ready-to-Wear Clothes."

In Philadelphia: Matilda Brown, a negress was in custody for some crime. The detectives were questioning her.

"How does it happen, if your husband died eight years ago as you say, that you have a child only six months old?"

She seemed puzzled for a minute and then replied: "Well, I'm not dead, am I?"

GOSSIP

Gossip is the social reward for personality. Whether it be playful or poison-fanged, it is a recognition, a tribute, one of the most gratifying forms of success.

So long as one is gossiped about, it is immaterial what shape or color the gossip takes. The ugly kind is perhaps to be preferred as having more vitality, more motive power of circulation. And, of course, has nothing to do with the truth, good or bad. That is why it is gossip.

Gossip neither means that you are very great, nor even very bad; all it means is that you are very interesting.

—Richard LaGallienne.

B. S.— One of our gloriously bald-headed citizens recently visited an insane asylum. To his consternation, he came across an inmate whose dome was as annient of hair as a fivver headlight.

"And I had always believed," gasped the unnerved visitor to the inmate, "that bald-headed men never went 'bugs!'"

"Listen, mister," grinned the inmate, confidentially, "my hair wasn't shaved off because I was bugs, but because it was 'buggy.' And listen, even if bald-heads can't get buggy, they can go 'nuts,' so there's hope for you yet, mister! Tee, he!"

A Mattoon widower and a veteran "bachelor maid" set the wedding day. Though the man refurbished almost the entire house still the lady objected to the old cook-stove. Her demand for a new one was refused.

"If you don't get a new cook-stove," she snapped her ultimatum "you don't get me!"

"And if you don't take my cook-stove, you don't take me," he retorted. "Furthermore, I've decided I'd rather have an old stove in the kitchen than an old maid. It's easy to close the damper on a stove."

—By a friend.

There was a fire on "Dyer Row." The excited tenant of an adjoining house suddenly decided to vacate. Usually some precious possession like the last Progress or the jug of vinegar is carried out first—both of which this man did neither. He made a grab at something on the kitchen table and never stopped until he had carefully placed the half-loaf of bread on the front sidewalk!

Henry—"Did you visit all the places you expected to on your tour last summer?"

John—"Naw, I did not go through half the towns I wanted to and then I got lost several times."

Henry—"What do you mean? You had a road map, didn't you?"

John—"Yes, but the flies got the towns all balled up."—Path-finder.

An exchange tells of a dirty trick a man played on his wife. He got her angry one morning by making remarks about the breakfast. She got the family revolver and shot at him five times.

"What was so mean about that?" "He had loaded the gun with blank cartridges."

There is a rumor that ladies' styles for 1933 will be somewhat like the Ghandi costume. That's something of an incentive to a man to live through the depression.

In the decade ended in 1931, the average annual increase in population in Illinois was 95,300.

C. R. Womack, Assignee of certificate of Purchase

To the Democratic Voters of the 24th Senatorial District: ---

You have a right to know what to expect of those who represent you in the Legislature for the next two years. Some of the major problems, as I see them are as follows:

- First: Putting the State Government on a business basis.
- Second: An honest adjustment and assessment of all taxable property.
- Third: An income tax that shall be applied so as to reduce the tax on real estate.
- Fourth: Abolish selling short any commodities.
- Fifth: No sales tax that will place the burden on the rank and file of the people.
- Sixth: Curb big business combinations that are now threatening the home owned business.
- Seventh: Loans and interest rates to home builders and owners that will make it possible for all people who are threatened with foreclosures to redeem their homes and others to buy or build homes. To establish a true Democracy it must be possible for all people to own homes.
- Eighth: Adjustment of the laboring conditions to abolish unemployment.
- Ninth: In order to return to prosperity the state as well as the nation must put forth every effort to acquire a just return to the farmer for his products and to labor for their services.
- Tenth: In order to restore confidence we must back up our government, our business, our banks and our neighbors. And in return these must place confidence in the people.

I am your neighbor, have been in business in Monticello for thirty years. I welcome an investigation. I am a Democratic candidate for Representative. I will appreciate your support at the April 12th Primary.
F. J. MAILANDER, Monticello, Illinois.

When something is good, it gets a lot of publicity free. That seems to be the case of "Hell Divers" the picture which will be shown at the Grand Thursday and Friday nights of this week. Wallace Beery and Clark Gable the two most talked about men in Hollywood appear at their best in this picture. Movie feature writers have exhausted their supply of adjectives in telling how good this picture is.

Richard Talmadge

It is quite a while since Mr. Hays had a Talmadge picture at the Grand. Well, here's one and it's booked for Saturday night of this week. The title is "The Yankee Don" and is a whirling knock-out of Romance and Action. We did not like last Saturday night's picture. It wasn't much of a story and Mary Astor and Ricardo Cortez never had a chance to display their ability.

This Talmadge picture is based on the adventures of a New York gangster in California back in the romantic eighties. There is a lot of action, plenty of narrow escapes and a romantic climax.

"The Voice Speaks" and it tells you that the 8th installment of the Vanishing Legion will be shown Saturday; also there is a Jerry Cartoon.

Hurray! Pathe News!

Some of the Grand's movie fans have missed the News pictures recently. Manager Hays begs leave to report that beginning Sunday and on every Sunday, Monday, Thursday and Friday thereafter Pathe News will be a regular feature. You'll like that.

The feature picture Sunday and Monday is "Strangers in Love"—well, why didn't they hurry up and get acquainted? Call around and see. Frederic March is the gallant hero. Frederic has been making quite a hit with local theatre goers. So just for good measure he'll play two parts in this show. He will be Arthur Drake and Arthur's twin brother Buddy. Kay Francis is the girl who brings all the trouble and joy. Stuart Erwin will do some of his funny stuff. Juliette Compton will be rather prominent and Lucien Littlefield the seedy looking individual who looks like somebody you know will add to the humor of the situation. Also, there will be a Ford Sterling comedy and a Scrapy cartoon.

Ruth Chatterton

The picture "Tomorrow and Tomorrow" is another one of those that made a hit with folks who write about shows. It is based on a screen success and Ruth Chatterton has the leading role, ably assisted by Paul Lukas. The picture (beg pardon Mr. Hays) must not be so altogether new for Robert Ames, who died several months ago had an important part in its making. But what difference does that make, if the picture is really good? It is one of these triangle pictures—the wife with the husband who is only mildly affectionate—the friend of the family who is too affectionate to be just a friend. Then there are biological complications and a mixup results that will interest you as it works toward an unexpected climax.

Here's Big Stuff

Clear the road for a date to see "The Shanghai Express." You'll not want to miss this. All the lure of a Chinese plot with an assembly of some of the screen's greatest character actors. There is Marlene Dietrich, the German actress, and Clive Brook, the Englishman. Also Anna May Wong the Chinese beauty; Warner Oland the Fu Manchu of some of the weird Chinese pictures and then there is our jolly old friend Eugene Pallette. Of Marlene the press agent says: "Men of twenty nations call her the 'White Flower of the China coast.' Beautiful but dangerous, she knows twenty ways of saying 'I love you' and nineteen of them are alluring lies."

There will also be a comedy sketch and a talker.

Did you folks see "Emma" last week? There was a picture that filled the house both nights and taught one of the most wholesome lessons ever depicted in screen life.

Other good pictures are on the way. When good shows are released you'll see them in Sullivan as soon as anywhere else, usually a little sooner. To please your customers you must know your business—Everett Hays does.

L. D. SEASS STILL SUFFERING FROM BLOOD CLOT IN RIGHT LEG

L. D. Seass, Jonathan Creek farmer is still in Chicago where he is taking treatments for removal of blood clots in veins of his right leg. He spent two weeks in Billings hospital and for the past two weeks has been at the home of his sister, Mrs. J. R. Farvid, 1857 South Shore Drive. During all of this time he has been practically flat on his back and unable to move the injured leg in any way.

The trouble started the latter part of January. Mr. Seass was at a loss to account for it, but the specialists say that a sore on his little toe of that limb caused an infection. This infection affected the big vein. For a time Mr. Seass went about his daily work and did not spare the ailing limb. He rubbed it with liniments and tried to remedy the trouble. When such treatments failed to reduce the trouble he went to Chicago and entered the clinic at Billings hospital at Chicago university. The specialists there took one look and laid him flat on his back. They considered the condition dangerous, saying that if any particle of the clotted blood would be carried into the general circulation the result would prove fatal.

The case is said to be very unusual and many leading medical men visited Mr. Seass while he was a hospital patient. A physical examination showed that his general condition was good. He eats well, sleeps well and has shown great recuperative powers.

After the first two weeks the attending physicians recommended that he be removed to the home of his sister. The removal was a hazardous task, but was accomplished without any mishap, the patient being taken up three flights of winding stairs without a serious shake-up.

Letters recently received by home folks say that Mr. Seass may be permitted to get around a little this week on crutches. The blood clots are slowly yielding to treatment and there is hope that he may be able to return home the latter part of this month.

During his absence the affairs of the big farm are being managed by his son Stewart Seass, who returned some months ago from Massachusetts where he had been engaged as instructor in a college. Ill health made it advisable for him to take a vacation and the farm life is agreeing very well with him.

why a Funeral Home?

WHILE we will, of course, serve anywhere, we always recommend the use of our comfortable, modern funeral home because it offers many advantages over the private residence as the most fitting place for the funeral service.

The private home is constructed for the activities of life and even in the hours of sorrow these activities must go on. Our funeral home is designed to meet all the special needs of this trying period with the greatest possible convenience and comfort.

Here everything is provided for paying the last beautiful respects to the departed in perfect freedom from the distractions of the residence and intrusion from without.

They were told that only Mr. Fisher had the power to take such action. In the meantime a protest against the nomination was filed with the town clerk, signed by John Graven and R. B. Wheeler. In accordance with the legal provisions governing such objections the Town Clerk sent the protest and all papers pertaining to the matter by registered mail to Supervisor F. C. Newbould, chairman of the town board of auditors. Copy was also sent to Mr. Fisher. This was done at 2:30 o'clock and the withdrawal papers were filed by Mr. Fisher an hour later, which made any meeting by the town board unnecessary. Mr. Fisher was duly nominated in a Republican mass convention Saturday, February 27th. There was plenty of time for the Republican party leaders to have filed his nomination within the time set by law. If that had been done there would not and could not have been any objections to the procedure. Mr. Fisher seems to have been the victim of unfortunate circumstances due entirely to those within his party who were sponsoring his candidacy. As the town clerk is charged with seeing that all legal provisions pertaining to filing, etc., are complied with before a name can appear on the ballot, Mr. Roney acted entirely within his line of duty. Any other action on his part, than that taken, would have resulted in an illegal ballot and an election result subject to challenge by taxpayers. The Democratic candidate for this office is Clarence Miller who seeks re-election. Not a Candidate Thursday morning Mr. Fisher called at The Progress office and stated that he will not be a candidate. He realizes that asking his friends to write in his name on election day would be a difficult way to success. As a consequence he declares that he is out of it. He is thankful to his friends for efforts made in his behalf and sorry that delay in filing should have caused anybody any inconvenience. JONATHAN CREEK Mr. and Mrs. Geo. BRUCE CAMPBELL MET MANY VOTERS HERE WEDNESDAY

This selection. Michael Igoe, also of Chicago is campaigning with candidates for other nominations on the state ticket. In his talk here Wednesday Mr. Campbell stressed the fact that he has "no slate." He is not hitched up with any other man or men seeking nominations. He is taking his plea for nomination directly to the people of the downstate and will spend the last two weeks preceding the election, April 12th, in Chicago, where he also has strong support. While explaining the primary situation to his audience, Mr. Campbell did not dwell long on that phase of the campaign. He told his listeners that the cost of state government in Illinois has increased from about $62,000,000 twelve years ago to $128,000,000 a year at the present time. Much of this money goes to pay men who are on the payroll and whose main occupation is to draw and cash the monthly pay checks. He explained the tax muddle in Chicago which is paralyzing state finances. He showed the utter imbecility of the present system of assessment and taxing, which throws the burden of the support of the state government almost entirely on farm lands and other real estate. He stated that if nominated and elected he would do his utmost in fighting to abolish the abuses of political payrolling; that he would lead the fight for tax reform and that to the very best of his ability he would give to Illinois an economical and efficient administration. Following the address Mr. Campbell met many of the members of his audience for a personal chat and then went to Mattoon, the next place on his itinerary. When he visited Sullivan he had been in forty counties in the interest of his campaign and it is his intention to visit them all before primary day. Tuesday evening he had been in Shelbyville and on Wednesday evening he attended a luncheon and made an address in Decatur. KIRKSVILLE Mr. and Mrs. Clem Messmore, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. BEN THE BAKER LONG LOST BROTHER OF BLACKBEARD

Monday night, March 14th the people of this community will have the opportunity of seeing Captain Blackbeard and his pirate crew and Ben the Baker and a dozen of his girl clerks.

All of these interesting folks will be part of the grade school operetta "The Pastry Cook and the Pirate" which will be given in the High School auditorium under the direction of Miss Jennie M. Cummins.

Cast of characters appeared in this paper last week. The synopsis of the play is as follows:

The Inky Albatross, a pirate ship manned by Captain Blackbeard and his crew of twelve pirates, is wrecked on an uninhabited island, which ought, romantically speaking, to be deserted but isn't being only two miles from the inhabited mainland. From the mainland come a dozen girl clerks from the bakery of Ben the Baker on a picnic, and discover the pirates, to the delight of both parties. Blackbeard learns from the girls that Ben the Baker is his long lost twin brother, about whom he has been telling his men. It seems that the twins, looking exactly alike in childhood but having opposite tastes, were mixed up by the deaf old uncle who reared them, and Blackbeard, who wanted to be a baker, was sent to a school for pirates, while Ben the Baker who longed for a piratical life, was sent to a school for bakers. Blackbeard has inherited his uncle's ship, the Inky Albatross, on terms which make it impossible for him to get rid of it, so he is practically forced to continue his life of piracy, though his favorite avocation is making cream puffs.

Finding the local police force from the mainland are on his trail, bent on jailing him and his men, he determines to go ashore, meet his brother, and borrow some ammunition from the latter, with which to defend himself against the police. The two brothers meet and decide to swap jobs. Blackbeard, finding his old-time sweetheart Amelia engaged to Ben but still in love with himself, accepts her along with the shop. The police headed by Sergeant Shackles, arrive at the bakeshop and demand the loan of Ben's ammunition to use against the pirates. Determined to use it himself, Ben has Blackbeard lure them into the bake room and lock them in, while he escapes to the Albatross with the ammunition and prepares to sail away with his brother's crew.

The bakery girls, bored with the shop, beg to be taken with the pirates. Ben compromises by taking half of them—the blondes, whom he prefers to brunettes. As they are embarking, the police escape from the bake room and come in search of the pirates, but Blackbeard throws them off the scent, and the Albatross is allowed to sail away unmolested, with its new captain, who is really a pirate at heart, on board.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS SPONSOR "SHANGHAI EXPRESS" AT GRAND The Acantheya Camp Fire girls are sponsoring a show at the Grand theatre called the "Shanghai Express" Thursday evening, March 17th. You will be called upon to buy a ticket some time this week. If you intend to go please get your ticket from the girls in advance otherwise they will get no credit for your attendance. They are doing this to make money for their organization and earnestly solicit your support.

The program of the Camp Fire Girls was planned to take care of the out-of-school time of adolescent girls, and it is built around three important factors: It provides activities of natural interest to girls; it makes these activities doubly interesting through an appeal to the imagination, which is a vivid trait in the character of adolescent girls; it works quietly toward the end that through fun and happiness girls may achieve a beautiful and useful womanhood.

Practically every wholesome activity which would naturally engage the interest of the young girl is included in the Camp Fire Girls' program.

Help us to build up a lovely and useful womanhood with the girls of our community through your support of the Acantheya Camp Fire sponsored by the Friends in Council club.

—Mrs. Fannie Vice and Miss Ida Collins were Decatur visitors Friday.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Some of the finest records made by 4-H club boys and girls are to be found in projects with dairy calves. In all of the leading milk breeds are to be found nice little herds owned by club members, past or present, which measure up in production to top-notch herds owned by breeders and dairymen. Of the many instances of this sort two have just been brought to public attention by the annual award of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. In this award one boy and one girl each, enrolled in a regular club, is named national champion.

Clarence Merchant of Cass City, Michigan, the present boy champion, has been in club projects for six years. His show ring winnings are numerous and included three championships. One of these was won on a young bull of his own breeding and in what is known as the open classes. That means he showed against regular breeders. While showing is an important achievement, his record in raising and developing calves is even more important. In this he enlisted the cooperation of his father. There was not a pure bred hoof on the farm when Clarence began club work, but there are now 14 head. All but three are owned by the club boy. Besides this the farm has been fitted up so that dairying can be carried on to the best advantage. Steel stanchions and drinking-cups have been installed in the barn, which has been overhauled. Individual milk records are kept of each cow. They have a purebred herd sire, and a modern bull pen is planned for the best keeping of the animal and for safety in handling him. You can imagine this farm family is looking to the future with much interest and hope.

The girl champion is Betty Jane Rudy of Mattoon Illinois. And she has a most unusual record. She is 17 and in the local high school, where she is a senior. Back in 1927 she began her club work with a little pig, but took up a dairy calf the next year. Then she picked up speed and in the years intervening she had developed a herd which she values at $4,000.00. A summary of her show winnings in the four years totals 52 first prizes, 28 seconds and lesser prizes, also six championships. In her collection of prizes is a silver cup and six gold medals.

Betty Jane's record in helping the club movement locally is as superior as her club record as a calf club member. She has organized or assisted in organizing seven clubs in the county which have interested close to 75 boys and girls in projects. And she is not going to rest on her laurels. One of her ambitions is to develop her herd to the highest perfection of type and production.

Makes You Lose Unhealthy Fat

Mrs. Ethel Smith of Norwich, Conn. writes: "I lost 16 lbs., with my first bottle of Kruschen. Being on night duty it was hard to sleep days but now since I am taking Kruschen I sleep plenty, eat as usual and lose fat, too."

To take off fat—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a few cents—get it at any drug store in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the SAFE and harmless way to lose fat—your money gladly returned. Don't accept anything but Kruschen because you must reduce safely.

ED DAZEY INVOLVED IN LOVE AND FINANCE IN SUIT FOR $100,000

J. E. Dazey, banker and lawyer of Findlay, is charged with betraying Daisy A. Fitzwater and alienation of her affection for her mother in a suit for $100,000 damages filed last week in the Shelby county circuit court.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Clara M. Fitzwater, widow of Charles E. Fitzwater, former wealthy landowner of near Findlay, who died in 1928. The action is an outgrowth of litigation over the estate of Fitzwater, which has been in progress for some time.

It is charged in the damage suit by Mrs. Fitzwater that Dazey betrayed her daughter while she was a student in the University of Illinois several years ago. Dazey is accused of having promised to marry Miss Fitzwater.

He also is charged with dominating the daughter to the extent that she has refused to turn over to her mother a 460-acre farm and the income from it that the mother allowed her to hold and manage.

It is alleged in the bill that Miss Fitzwater drove her mother from the farm with blows and curses and was influenced in this by Dazey, who, it is charged in another suit profited by the relationship with the woman.

Dazey has been a banker in Findlay for a good many years. He is also an attorney and is well known here in Sullivan. Miss Fitzwater is a graduate of the University of Illinois and has been admitted to the bar to practice law.

The dairy industry will tell its story to millions in the Chicago 1933 World's Fair. Various branches of the industry have been called upon to prepare an exhibition. This exhibit will introduce new methods of display, employ both color and motion and will stress processes rather than row on row of finished products, charts, diagrams and statistics.

Kentucky recently joined the many states that have passed Oleo regulation laws. Their law requires that all original containers be properly labeled as "oleomargarine." A fee of $5 for manufacturers, $3 for jobbers and $2 for retail merchants shall be paid annually. All public eating places serving oleo shall be placarded, the annual fees for hotels being $3, restaurants $2 and boarding houses $1. In addition to these State fees a tax of 10 cents per pound sold is levied, stamps being used. State by public funds shall not serve oleo or similar substitutes. The bill was introduced in the house by G. Murrell Middleton of Shelbyville and piloted through the Senate by Senator P. B. Gaines of Carrollton both well known Jersey breeders of that state.

Association members made several sales last month. One breeder placed a heifer in McDonough county; another a bull in Madison county and another a bull in Macon county. The last bull was sold for a price running into three figures which is very satisfactory at the present time. Another member sold ten cows to a Macon county man for a foundation herd.

More than 600 Indiana dairymen have constructed bull pens in the last few years to house the sires heading their herds according to E. T. Wallace of the Dairy Extension staff at Purdue University.

Abigail of Hillside 457241 a Massachusetts cow holds the United States record for the Jersey breed. In 365 days she produced 22,677 lbs. milk, 1197.51 lbs. fat at eight years of age. This is both the milk and butterfat record for the breed.

The Island of Jersey native home of the Jersey cow is located in the English Channel a few miles from the northern coast of France. Though very small, being roughly 11 miles long and less than five miles wide between 11,000 and 12,000 Jersey cattle are kept there. For 25 years no other breed of cattle have been allowed on the Island. The average size of the farms is about seven acres. Notwithstanding the fact that the Island is widest known for its Jersey cattle the principal source of revenue to the farmers is the fine potatoes, tomatoes and cabbage they raise for the nearby English market.

Indication that the milk producers strike in the St. Louis area against the Pevely Dairy Company will continue was shown by the plans for their campaign outlined in their recent annual meeting at St. Jacob, Ill. They voted to increase their check-off from 3 to 5 cents per hundred lbs. milk to raise a fund of $50,000. The Illinois Farm Bureau Federation together with the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation and other agricultural associations also will furnish them $50,000 which makes $100,000 to carry on the fight for 1932. Their principal line of action is the work of around twenty-five people making a house to house canvass in St. Louis to explain their side of the controversy. The president of the association in his annual address declared that the fight would be carried on until the Pevely Dairy Company acknowledged their right to bargain collectively.

C. E. James a well known Jersey breeder of Piatt county was recently named a Master Farmer of Illinois by Prairie Farmer. Chester McCord of Jasper county is another central Illinois Jersey breeder who was named master farmer several years ago. Mr. McCord is President of the Illinois Association of Master Farmers.

U. S. Senator Blaine of Wisconsin has introduced a bill prohibiting the purchase with public funds of butter substitutes for use in any government establishment.

Wisconsin now has 2,150,000 milk cows on its farms. With 70 milk cows for every 100 inhabitants they have more than ever before and lead the United States in cow population. The average state has 20 cows for each 100 inhabitants.

Prof. C. S. Rhode of the University of Illinois says a study of herd improvement association records last year showed him that cows with a production of approximately 400 lbs. fat returned $149 above feed cost. A 50 lbs. increase in production was good for an additional income of $26 above feed costs. He estimates $20,000,000 could be added to the income of Illinois farmers if the 1,099,000 dairy cows in the state were replaced by 654,239 cows as efficient as those in dairy herd improvement association. There were 12,964 cows in these associations.

The National Dairy Show will be held in St. Louis again next October. There was some doubt about it the first of the year when the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce was informed by dairy interests that it would be necessary for them to underwrite a guarantee of $25,000 for expenses to put on the show. It was suggested by some of the St. Louis business men that the dairy show form a nucleus of annual fall festival with possible inclusion of such attractions as an air meet, rodeo, Veiled Prophets parade, horse show, inter-sectional football game and boxing matches. It has finally been decided to hold at least the Veiled Prophets parade and National Hereford Show in connection.

St. Louis spent $2,500,000 on the gigantic building known as The Arena in which to hold events of this nature and they have found it to be a white elephant on their hands. There was serious discussion the first of the year in the direction of tearing down the building and replacing it with apartment houses.

Man Made the Town

By Ruby M. Ayers

FIRST INSTALLMENT

It was intensely hot. In the big, somberly furnished consulting room, its blinds drawn closely against the midday sun which poured down on Harley Street, there seemed hardly a breath of air.

A girl sitting at the table, idly turning the pages of an illustrated paper, pushed her chair back with sudden impatience.

"How much longer is he going to keep us waiting, I wonder? It's disgraceful, asking anyone to wait in a large chamber like this."

The large over-dressed woman in the armchair on the other side of the room roused herself with a sigh of regret from a doze which the heat and too large and too late a breakfast had brought upon her.

"I'm sure it's a very nice room," she said vaguely. "Nice!" The girl flashed her a contemptuous look. "Any place is nice to you as long as you can sleep in it," she said rudely.

The large woman sighed again; her only protest against life was a sigh, and she had long since grown accustomed to her niece's disrespect.

"The furniture must be most valuable," she said again in the same vague way.

The girl glanced round the room with a frown.

"Furniture which fools like us have paid for," she said irritably. "I don't know why we're here at all. There's nothing in the world the matter with me."

Mrs. Gladwyn began fanning her plump flushed face with a daily paper which had been lying disregarded on her lap.

"Six months ago you weighed nearly a hundred and twenty-five," she said without much interest. "Today you weigh ninety-eight, is it? At any rate, you have only to look at yourself in the glass to see that you're wasting away to a complete shadow without any adequate reason for it, unless—" she paused and a faintly malicious smile lit her sleepy eyes—"unless you're in love again," she added.

The girl turned another page of the magazine before her with an angry little flick.

"I don't believe in love," she said sharply.

Diana's further answer was checked by the opening of the door and the appearance of a maid.

"If you will please come this way, Miss—"

Bodily weakness, mental unhappiness and a never ending fear that she was about to lose the only thing she had ever really wanted in life.

It was these things that had kept her obstinately in London when everyone else was away at sea, or on the moors, or down in the country.

At twenty-two the only thing in the world which Diana really desired was another woman's husband.

Diana, a little nervous in spite of herself, entered the "top man's" consulting room.

He was big and rather clumsy looking, with grave steady eyes and a mouth that looked as if it rarely smiled.

It did not smile now, but his eyes seemed to pierce through all the bravery of her carefully red-dened lips and make-up, right down through her artificiality to the trembling weakness of her.

Diana said nothing—she felt as if an ordinary greeting would be wasted on this man. She just stood and looked at him with an unconscious appeal in her eyes, till he said quietly:

"Won't you sit down?"

He indicated a chair close to his own and facing the window, so that the light fell full on her face.

Diana obeyed, her hands clasped in her lap and her heart beating in a queer, frightened manner.

He seemed to realize this, for he said more gently:

"Don't be frightened. I am not going to eat you."

She flushed scarlet through all her pallor, and her eyes grew angry. Speaking to her as if she were a silly child with a cut thumb.

She gave a little high-pitched laugh.

"I'm not really ill. I feel rather a humbug coming here at all, but my aunt insisted. I've got rather thin, you see—but then, I was always thin. It's the hot weather, I think, and I don't sleep very well. London's always rather trying at this time of the year, don't you think? We generally go away, but this summer—"

She broke off, feeling suddenly very young and foolish and hating herself for it. It seemed so long since she had felt either young, or foolish, and because the experience was strange she also hated this grave-faced man who was responsible for it and who looked at her so searchingly.

After a moment she rattled on.

"I thought if you could give me a tonic—I fainted last night—not that that's anything, is it? But my aunt was nervous." The little high-pitched laugh came again. "As if fainting is anything important."

He spoke then.

"It depends entirely on the cause of the faint. Will you take off your hat?"

She obeyed, holding it on her lap, and for a moment there was silence.

In Diana's mind she was saying to herself dully:

"I wonder what he is thinking. I wish he would tell me what he is thinking of me. Why doesn't he tell me? I hate being looked at like that—as if he were driving grunts right through me. Why doesn't he say something?"

He said something then.

"How old are you?"

"Twenty-two."

His eyes said plainly, "Is that all?" and Diana blanched.

Her eyes had told her often enough that she looked worn and ill and older than the hated Linda, who could not be more than twenty-six, seeing that Aunt Florence had been present at her christening.

But Linda was happy and healthy and care-free and had always enjoyed her life, while she . . .

Suddenly the room began to grow dark and to swim about her, and though she clenched her teeth and pressed her feet hard upon the floor she could not control it or herself, and then for a little while everything was blank . . .

"Lie still. You'll be all right in a moment. Just drink this. No, lie still and keep your eyes shut."

She was glad enough to obey, she felt as weak as if she had just struggled through a long illness, weaker than she had felt last night when she fainted so suddenly in the middle of the crowded ballroom. Even the attempt to raise her head left her so exhausted that she felt almost dead.

But the potent drink this man gave her was wonderful—it seemed to open fresh life and energy into her body, and presently she opened her eyes and smiled.

He ignored that.

"Better?" he asked.

"Yes. Quite well, thank you. It was silly. I'm sorry. It must have been the heat." She tried to laugh.

"Your consulting room was very hot," she said.

"That was brandy, I suppose."

"No."

He kept away from her a moment, then, seeing that she had raised herself and was half sitting, half leaning against the cushions of the couch where he had placed her, he came back and looked down at her steadily.

"Do you like plain speaking?" he asked abruptly.

She raised her eyes, very blue against the pallor of her face.

"Why, of course."

"Very well, then I am going to tell you that you are very ill, very ill indeed, and that if you wish to get better you must do exactly what I tell you—and at once."

"Yes. Yes, of course."

"Well—for the present I am not going to worry you with anything but just the simplest prescription, and in a week's time I will see you again. First of all, you will go away into the country."

Her eyes dilated, and her hands gripped the cushions on either side of her.

"The country"—when?

"At once. Tomorrow—if possible today, and when I say country I mean the very heart of the country—a cottage on Dartmoor or in the Surrey hills, where there are no theatres or night clubs or picture houses. You will go to bed early—seven o'clock—and you will stay in bed till lunch time every day till I see you again. You will be allowed no visitors—except your aunt, of course—and you are to do nothing except read and sleep. You will not write letters or receive any—and you will sleep with your windows wide open. You will have the very simplest of food and no alcohol at all except when I order. As I said before, if you carry out my instructions you will get well again, but if not—"

He broke off, for Diana had risen shakily to her feet.

"I can't do that. I can't go away from London yet—not just yet. I will later on—perhaps next month, I promise. Can't you give me some medicine just to go on with? I promise to take it regularly."

"It's not medicine you want. It's rest and sleep and quiet. Why can't you leave London? Surely it's not such an attractive place in this scorching heat? I only wish I were free to leave it. I do for every moment I can snatch. It's a poisonous place this weather, and to anyone in your nervous state—"

"I hate the country."

"You hate the country?"

He moved suddenly, laying a hand on her shoulder.

"Be a sensible child," he said gently. "Do as I tell you. Go right away for three months, and you'll come back a different being, able to enjoy life and laugh again."

She raised passionate eyes to his face.

"I'd rather die," she said, and he answered, suddenly grave:

"You may even do that if you refuse to take my advice."

Diana picked up her hat, which had fallen to the floor, and began to put it on, by force of habit hunting in her handbag first for a little mirror and the inevitable lipstick.

"It's very kind of you, Dr. Selfe" she began with a return of her artificial air—the lipstick was giving her back her poise. "But—"

He interrupted bluntly.

"I am not Dr. Selfe. I thought the secretary had made that plain to you. Dr. Selfe is away ill—I am taking his place for the time being. My name is Rathbone."

"Oh!" So this was not the "top man"; how annoyed Aunt Florence would be, and yet Diana herself was conscious of relief. If he was not the "top man" it would account for the nonsense he had talked, of the way in which he had almost succeeded in frightening her; it had been most unprofessional when one came to think of it. She looked at him with different eyes.

A big clumsy man, not a bit the orthodox Harley Street specialist; even his hair was rough, as if he had forgotten to brush it . . . she looked away from him quickly, meeting once again his piercing regard.

The country! Ugh! Spiders and other nasty crawling things, and no hot water or soft beds.

Rathbone said, "I hope very earnestly, Miss Gladyn, that you will take my advice."

"You are very kind." But she did not look up, and it was he who held out his hand.

She took it after the barest hesitation; a strong, kind hand—capable and secure. A little sigh escaped her—she had never known what it was to feel really secure, life had always been such a hectic scramble.

"If you would care to come and see me again, later on . . ." he said, and his voice was kind—the voice of a friend.

Diana said with a sense of helplessness, "But I can't go to the country. . . I hate it, and surely it cannot be good to do a thing one hates very much."

"It's not possible to hate a thing you've never tried," this strange man said quietly, and then, "Do you know that line—"

"'God made the country and man made the town'?"

"No."

He released her hand.

"Well, that's just the difference" he said.

In the car Mr. Gladwyn woke up sufficiently to ask questions.

ANOTHER GOOD JERSEY REMAINS IN COUNTY

J. A. Powell has sold a good Jersey bull calf to J. E. Righter, Guy Bolin and Will Bolin of Jonathan Creek township. The calf's dam is a daughter of Fauvic's Gamboze Lad and his sire is Netinas Fauvic, a double grandson of Fauvic's Prince.

His dam has a record unequalled by any farm kept cow that the seller knows of. She produced 687 pounds of butterfat from 12,216 pounds of milk in 359 days. This made her the champion producer of the D. H. I. A.

She won third in the aged cow class at Springfield and 2nd in get of sire. She was third in her class at the Christian County fair and grand champion at Shelbyville, winning over the cow that was first in the aged cow class at Springfield, which cow was her half sister.

Fifty and Fit

A MAN is as old—or as young—as his organs

At fifty, you can be in your prime

Why go along with "fairly good health" when you might be enjoying vigor you haven't felt for years?

There's a simple little thing anyone can do to keep the vital organs stimulated, and feel fit all the time. People don't realize how sluggish they've grown until they've tried it. The stimulant that will stir your system to new life is Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. It will make a most amazing difference in many ways.

This famous doctor's prescription is a delicious syrup made with fresh herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. It starts its good work with the first spoonful. That's all you need to drive away the dullness and headache of a bilious spell, and rid the system of that slow poison that saps your strength. It's better than a tonic for tired bowels, and unlike habit-forming laxatives you can take it freely or give it to any child. And it isn't expensive.

Get some syrup pepsin today, and take a little tonight. Don't wait until you're sick to give your system this wonderful help. You can avoid those spells of biliousness or constipation. A spoonful every now and then is better than constant worry about the condition of your bowels, or fear of auto-intoxication, as you grow older. Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin protects the system. All druggists keep this preparation.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A. E. Turner, pastor

9:45 a. m. Church school.
 10:50 a. m. Morning worship.
 4:00 p. m. Communicant's class.
 4:45 p. m.—Congregational Conference.
 4:45 p. m. Vesper service.
 6:30 p. m. Young People's meeting.

No evening service.
 Company B is still leading in the attendance contest of the Men's Class. President McCorvie is making plans for the March meeting of the Men's club just before Easter. Wives of Company A. are urged to protect their husbands from having to provide the supper.

Subject for the morning sermon "Christ or Chaos—Which?" A close-up of the world as it is, 1932 years after. Is it time to sound a retreat? This is the sermon that was to have been preached last Sunday but no service was held on account of furnace trouble. A quartet will sing "Evening Shadows" by Ruebush.

A conference of the congregation is desired at 4:45 to which all members and attendants are invited. The purpose is to consider plans for another church year, which begins April 1. It is most important that there be a full attendance and the congregation will find itself justified in making any reasonable sacrifice to insure attendance. Your views and counsel will be especially helpful in reaching decisions of importance.

Remember 4:45 Sunday! It's your chance to be counted on one very significant issue.

GOSPEL MISSION

Time of services the same.
 We are expecting Brother Harold Harsh either this Thursday evening or real soon to speak for us. You will enjoy hearing him. Come, you are always welcome.
 1st Peter 5:7—"Casting all your cares upon him; for he careth for you."

The Lord wants us to make this a daily text. It is not just for the hard trying, testing days, but for every day, and if used on days when the adverse winds just blow little ripples and waves on the surface of our lives, it is so much easier to apply it, and obey it when the hurricane storm sweeps over our soul. The world is full of cares, and the world will fill our own lives with cares if we allow it. When our life is full of cares we cannot be our best for the Lord, therefore he invites us to cast our cares upon him, assuring us that he will take care of us. Do you remember as a little child how you ran to mother with every little care? You had confidence in mother, you know that she cared for you, and some how you never worried. You just knew that mother would work it out some way and you never tried to figure out how she was going to do it, you just knew she would and that gave you boldness to bring every care to her and God wants you to have a like confidence in Him and bring all your cares to Him. You need not even try to figure it out, just cast them all on him, though it may seem impossible to you, He will work it out some way. He will turn the care inside out and lo there is a blessing.

THE WEATHER

Winter is here. Saturday morning he blew in on a prairie blizzard and he's been with us ever since. The temperature hovered close to zero but has not yet reached it.

For the first time in two years Wyman Lake is frozen over so as to permit skating. Kids have hung their roller skates on a nail and have dug out their ice skates and sleds. The icy winds are bringing overcoats and heavy underwear back into popularity.

In a general way the weather is not bad, though it would have been ever so much nicer to have had it about Christmas time.

The plowing, gardening, sowing etc., which was getting a good start the latter part of February, has again been indefinitely postponed. It is doubtful what this weather will do to the wheat, although the fields have some little snow protection.

This is the right time of the year to predict that the peach crop is a goner. Some orchardists say that peaches are the only fruit injured by the cold. Some say this weather is good for the apples and other fruit. Everybody was getting worried about the insects which had come through a mild winter. Lack of a peach crop will not bother many folks, for the crop last year was so big that everybody filled all available containers.

This is the season of the year for moving. Farmers are moving from farm to farm. You don't hear of many of them quitting. In fact some fellows living in town are going back to the farm. We heard of an incident the other day that was rather amusing. In a certain school district they had arranged a farewell party for three families who were to move. The night of the party came. The folks gathered with eats and were ready for a good time. No member of the three families in whose honor the party was given appeared. They had a nice party anyway, though there was no one to say "farewell" to.

Bob Filson at the County farm says that the low price of eggs enables them to have Ham and eggs regularly at the farm. Two big Hams are always available. They are Charley and Bill.

When Bruce Campbell was in town the other day somebody asked Col. Hopper: "Bill have you seen the next Governor?" "No," said he "I didn't know Len was in town."

We don't see so much good sense in these circus wagons that the candidates are spending their advertising money on. The other day when the Custer wagon was in town, folks got an idea that a circus was coming. The Campbell advance advertising wagon was of the same type. Running for a nomination may be like a circus, but it's a bad idea to give the voters the impression that the candidates are ballyhoo clowns. The sad looking visage of Mr. Custer brings to mind the gag of a columnist that this is "Custer's last stand."

How many votes do you think a candidate makes by belling into a microphone and spoiling people's radio entertainment programs? We'd be willing to bet that most of the candidate speeches get no more, if as much, attention from radio listeners as does the fellow who talks about antiseptic and tooth paste while folks are waiting to hear Amos 'n Andy. Radio may be all right but it's just a little sound, mixed with a lot of air, and never very convincing or impressive.

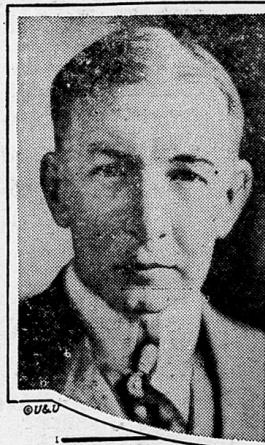

Good advice to average Americans: live your life in such way that you need not worry or lose any sleep while the grand jury is in session.

Harry Fulk, chairman of the street and alley committee of this city says that if folks would have sense enough not to dump their ashes and rubbish into the gutters alongside the streets, it would be easier to keep streets drained and in good condition. How true! Why is it that some people can't carry their ashes into the streets instead of dumping them into the gutter?

The factory payroll this week was over $6,300; all houses in town are filled. The population of Sullivan must be somewhere near 2700 at this time. We need more houses that can be rented reasonably. We need a wheel tax to use in keeping streets in good condition—and don't forget that one of these days Sullivan will need a sewer system. This man's town is going to do some growing. Mark that in your hat.

Once in a while we are truly impressed with some of the fine things we have here in Sullivan. It was with a sense of pride that the Democrats entertained Mr. Bruce Campbell in the National Inn Wednesday morning—as fine a place of its kind as any city of its size can boast of; then we took him to the Grand Theatre—a place

Two Chicago Bankers Prominent In Drive Against Depression

Charles G. Dawes (left), Chairman of the New Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and Melvin A. Traylor, Chicago Banker.

Chicago and the Middle West have a double interest in the success of the gigantic Reconstruction Finance Corporation which is now being organized in Washington following speedy action by Congress.

Charles G. Dawes, whose name is almost synonymous for the business community of Chicago will sit in the driver's seat as the active head of the great $2,000,000,000 Federal corporation just authorized by Congress.

Another Chicago banker, a Democrat who is being repeatedly mentioned as a man of Presidential timber has the distinction of making a vital contribution to the initial strength and success of the Reconstruction Corporation. That man is Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank of Chicago who was the first to visualize and propose that the Reconstruction Corporation render some service to thousands of depositors of small banks which had failed during the past two years. The gist of Mr. Traylor's proposal before a Senate Sub Committee was that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation be authorized to make loans to closed banks and others needing its aid. Such a step would release substantial amounts of money to depositors whose funds had been "frozen" by the failure of such banks.

Mr. Traylor's suggestion made such an impression that it was embodied in the Bill as finally passed by Congress. He, more than any other man, is responsible for the timely assistance that will now be possible for many depositors of small banks throughout the country.

of which we are all proud. Mr. Campbell was well pleased with Sullivan and its people. We are sure he left here with a very favorable impression of this town. Let's bear that in mind when we have company—show them the best we have. Right now there is no town of anywhere near its size that has a bigger or better future than Sullivan.

Hints for the Home

Colored Kitchen Wear Makes Cooking Bright
 You can buy pots and pans of colored enamel, and if you wish to give a really colorful tone to your kitchen you can emphasize it with paraphernalia of this kind.

Take, for instance, a kitchen finished in brown stained wood—and some kitchens are, because the stained wood is so much easier to keep clean than white enamel. You can do much to give attractiveness to such a room by using yellow curtains at the windows, yellow painted chairs—and yellow enameled ware.

Red enameled ware looks very well in a cream or yellow kitchen. Then red and white checked gingham curtains at the windows and white washable rugs where you have a comfortable rocking chair for the maid's moments of rest.

Blueberry Muffins—Add a half cup of blueberries—fresh in season, but in the winter drained canned blueberries—to the batter.

Cereal Muffins—Add a half cup of cooked left over cereal to the batter.

Corn Muffins—Mix and sift one cup of flour, a half cup of corn
