WEAKLEY OUT ON BOND; STEVENS WAS NOT HELD

Charley Weakley, who was arrested April 30th for assaulting and stabbing Delmar Stevens, is out on $2000 bond to await action by the grand jury. He gave bond Friday, signed by Zack Deeds, Andy Weakley and Ott LeCron.

The accused man swore out a warrant charging Delmar Stevens with "assault with deadly weapon." The preliminary hearing was held before Judge Lambrecht Friday afternoon. Weakley stated that before he ever attacked Stevens, that party attempted to strike him with a stone; that Stevens dragged him across lots to the place where the cutting took place. In behalf of Stevens, testimony showed that Weakley seemed to be the aggressor and that Stevens picked up the stone to defend himself after Weakley started to pursue him with open knife in hand.

After hearing the testimony Judge Lambrecht discharged Stevens.

The Weakley family has moved away from next door to the Stevens family and have sold their property to Carlisle Allison. The deal was closed Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Weakley will reside with his father near Windsor.

RUSSELL SLOVER AND BERNICE HOWELL WERE MARRIED APRIL 28TH

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Howell of Lowe township and is a graduate of the Arthur high school, class of '29. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Slover of Jonathan Creek township. Both are employees of the Brown Shoe factory in this city. ## DECATUR SWANS PROVED TOO STRONG FOR THE SLUGGERS

The Decatur Swans, a happy bunch of colored Decatur ball players flapped their wings all over the Bruce Sluggers Sunday and had an easy victory—score 14 to 6.

Something went wrong with the Sluggers. They played good in spots and then not so well. Bill Kinsel pitched the first four innings and fanned eight men, but also allowed seven hits.

Next Sunday Cousin's Plumbbers of Decatur are booked to play at Bruce. These plumbbers play a snappy game of ball. Sunday they trimmed Moweaqua 10 to 1; on the previous Sunday plucked the feathers from the Decatur Swans to the tune of 9 to 6.

Manager Ott Kinsel has hopes that his boys will be able to make things interesting for the Plumbbers. The admission price has been reduced to 15c for men; ladies free.

Misenheimer for Sullivan was credited with 14 strikeouts, while the visitors garnered 14 hits off of him.

Gillespie and Kearney pitching for Stonington had 9 strike-outs to their credit while the Browns made ten hits.

At the end of the 9th inning the score was 8 to 8 and an extra inning was necessary to bring in the winning run for Sullivan. In Sullivan's half at bat in the 10th Captain Wehmeyer socked out a two bagger. Guthrie was given a base on balls. Carter hit one into right field which was caught, but Wehmeyer beat the ball to the home plate for the winning score.

The Browns are rounding into fine shape under Capt. Wehmeyer's coaching. Only one change was made in the lineup Sunday. Monte Blue's batting eye was elsewhere than on the ball and in the 9th inning Stearns was sent in to bat for him, but followed Monte's style and struck out.

Next Sunday the Miners' Sons of Decatur who are said to be "plenty tough" will be here. They came for a game a few weeks ago but were rained out.

Sullivan's lineup Sunday was as follows: Hennings ss; Blue lf; Evans, center; Trago 3b; Easley rf; Wehmeyer 2nd base; Guthrie cf; carter 1st base; Misenheimer, pitcher.

John D. Miller Is Not Insane Court Finds

Prominent Amish Farmer of the Cadwell Neighborhood Was Given Hearing in Court on Petition of Father-in-Law.

It took a medical commission about one minute Thursday morning to decide that John D. Miller, an Amish farmer, was not insane.

The hearing started Wednesday afternoon in the county court before Judge Jennings. The medical commission consisted of Dr. S. W. Johnson and Dr. W. B. Kilton. Dr. J. F. Lawson was the examining physician. The petition for the hearing was signed by the venerable Amishman David S. Beachy, the father-in-law of the defendant.

Sheriff Lansden brought Mr. Miller into court. The women of the family also came as witnesses. After hearing the witnesses, Mr. Miller was placed on the stand. He gave his testimony and asked that his son, his brother and several neighbors be summoned to testify.

In order to give time for their appearance the court recessed until 9 o'clock Thursday morning. In the meantime Mr. Miller remained as a guest of Sheriff Lansden.

The witnesses Thursday morning were Earl Fulton, Edgar Fulton and Jake Miller, all neighbors; his son Amos and his brother Noah Miller. These witnesses testified that in their opinion the defendant was not insane. They stated that he was suffering from a nervous disorder which caused him to get excited at times, but at no time had he been violent, or shown any mental derangement. Dr. J. F. Lawson testified that he had examined the man and felt sure that he was sane.

The trouble seems to be based on some difficulty which Mr. Miller had with the Amish church. What the difficulty is the testimony failed to disclose. These troubles, however, are said to worry him, and caused him distress. The court, the states attorney and the members of the medical commission endeavored to find out what the church troubles were but, if the witnesses knew, they did not feel inclined to tell. Mr. Miller in a closing statement said that he had not bothered to tell his family or neighbors of these difficulties and that airing same might lead to more trouble so he was willing to let the matter rest.

The defendant runs a big farm. When the Sheriff went to get him Wednesday, he was just completing a four-horse hitch preparatory to going into the fields.

When Dr. Johnson of the medical commission told him after the hearing: "Mr. Miller, we are going to send you home" he was greatly elated. The Sheriff offered to take him back, but some of neighbors said they would see that Mr. Miller reached his place of abode without inconvenience.

It is the East 3 of Lot 7, block 13 of the original town of Sullivan.

Receiver to Pay $906.59 To Attorney

Judge Sentel to Get That Much For Services from Jan. 18 to April 1st. State Auditor's Office Confirms Report.

Depositors of the Merchants & Farmers State bank are patiently waiting for payment. So far as can be learned the Receiver Charles A. Gregory, has not collected sufficient funds to make it advisable to declare a dividend.

There were several preferred claims which had to be taken care of. All other claims against the defunct institution had to be properly certified to and there has been an abundance of work to be done. The clerical work is being done by J. F. Gibbon and Miss Ruth Chase.

Some weeks ago rumors reached the depositors relative to the fee which had been paid George A. Sentel as attorney for the bank. As Judge Sentel had been very urgent, in preliminary negotiations leading to his appointment, that the affairs of the bank be settled as economically as possible, the Depositors Committee called on him relative to this matter.

Seeking Information
In the meantime Ed Brandenburg, who had served as chairman of the depositors' meeting, leading to the appointment of the committee, wrote to Mr. DuHamel, in Auditor Nelson's office at Springfield as follows:

"Following the close of the Merchants & Farmers State bank in this city we had several depositors' meetings at which I presided. A

"You Can't Fool All the People

Washington, May 4—The above cut is reproduced from the cover page of the current issue of the Democratic Bulletin, published by the Woman's National Democratic Club of this city. The pocket piece here reproduced was of shining metal, widely distributed by the Republicans in 1928, and was effective as party campaign propaganda. With national depression replacing prosperity it becomes effective as Democratic propaganda—a reminder of the broken pledge and of a talisman that has lost its charm of luck for the candidate.

The Editor's Chair

Sing unto the Lord, all the earth; shew forth from day to day his salvation.

Glory and honour are in his presence; strength and gladness are in his place.

Give unto the Lord the glory due his name; bring an offering, and come before him; worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness.

O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good; for his mercy endureth forever.

—From the XVI Chap. of 1st Chronicles.

PAISED BE THE SUN!

If, in a world where life is born from death,
And from the fate of dying none is free,
And the chief law is strife, and every breath
Of man and beast and bird and fish and tree
Is daily drawn in dissolution's doubt;
If, in a world like this, there can be one
Among the rounding shows to single out
For songs of praise — then will I praise the Sun!

The Sun, the Sun! Though it can deserts make,
And light its lanterns in their wind-swept bones;
I praise the Sun, that doth with glamour flake
The flowering meadows and the very stones;
That can the world transfigure to my eye,
And warm to substance all that shadows by.
Passing I live; and, when I foundered be,
O thou, beloved sunlight, cover me!

—Galsworthy.

It Will Not Be So Easy

Illinois Democrats who feel so confident of victory in the state next fall, had better temper their confidence with a little bit of information.

In the recent primary the Republicans polled about a half million more votes than did the Democrats. This was the result, even though the Democrats had a spirited three-cornered fight for the nomination for governor.

Illinois is normally about 500,000 Republican—or better than that in a presidential year. The Republicans are never embarrassed by lack of campaign funds.

Desperate efforts are being made to "harmonize" the Republican factions of the state and weld them into a fighting whole.

Len Small is a master politician. He is backed by experience extending over many years. His past battles show a big percentage of successes. He even now has a well organized, loyal machine all over the state. The prosecution of Len Small for state funds withheld, while it resulted disastrously for him, nevertheless made his admirers cling closer to him in their allegiance.

The Republican state politicians have nothing to expect from Democratic success. Even though they may be outside the Small coterie, they would just as lief see Len Small governor as see the reigns of power go to Judge Henry Horner of Chicago.

The once powerful Bill Thompson support of Chicago is back of Small. The old time Republicans downstate, harking back to the days of plenty, politically, while Small was governor, are strongly for Small. Many downstate Democrats always voted for Small and will do so again this year.

Judge Stransky of Savanna, who was chosen state chairman of the Republicans this week sounded the battle cry which will influence many voters. He pictured the state in danger of coming under Chicago domination. This will be the rallying-cry to bring the disgruntled Republicans into the Small camp.

Religious intolerance will also play a prominent part in the campaign. A Republican cannot talk politics to you these days without calling attention to the fact that Judge Horner worships in a synagogue instead of in a church. The witch-burners and Kluxers are lighting their fires and dusting off their fiery crosses in a re-birth of the frenzied zeal of the crusaders.

So we Democrats had better take a stock of the situation before we act too confident and too cocky. Here are the handicaps which we face in this race: a normal Republican majority of 500,000; a candidate from Chicago, backed by Mayor Cermak; the fear of Chicago dominance in downstate affairs; the religion of the Democratic candidate; the powerful Len Small machine and the obligations which many downstate Democrats feel they owe to Small; a presidential year, when Illinois usually goes overwhelmingly Republican. There are other handicaps.

As opposed to this the Democrats can point to the following conditions that may favor them: the general unrest and dissatisfaction caused by a world-wide depression; a candidate with superior qualifications for the office, he seeks; a well-balanced state ticket with plenty of downstate representation; the disorganized condition of the Republican party, following the primary; the bitter hate that some Republicans feel toward Len Small; the general trend toward Democracy as manifested in the 1930 elections which resulted in an overwhelming victory for James Hamilton Lewis and Edward Barrett.

Democrats have a chance for victory. The odds favor the Republicans. Only through thorough organization and incessant labor can the Democrats hope to win in November.

There is no use in their kidding themselves that easy victory is ahead. It is not. A terrific battle for votes must be waged or Illinois will have another Len Small administration.

The Progress editor considers it a favor if you will report to him any news items that may come to your attention. It is of course impossible that a reporter be present to view in person all interesting things reports of which people like to read in the Progress. This means that the items that appear in print are gathered through the kindly co-operation of readers and friends; by our loyal staff of country correspondents and others who take pride in having a newspaper that is a credit to and truly representative of this community. Within the past few minutes we have had several such contributions. A young man came in with a list of names: "These folks had dinner at my home Sunday." A telephone call followed: "We had a Mothers Day party Sunday. The following folks were here." Then in walked a neighbor with a written list of committees for a local organization. Another friend called our attention to an accident in Bruce Tuesday. Similar items reach us through the mails. Other good people tell items of news to our reporters. That is how news gets into The Progress. We greatly appreciate the kindly co-operative spirit which prompts people to give this assistance. Needless to say, there is no charge for putting news items into The Progress. We are always glad to get them and especially grateful if they are sent in early in the week. The phone numbers are 128 of office or 411 residence.

(This is not much of an editorial, but we have been wanting to tell you about this and express our appreciation to those who help.)

Keep The Farmer On His Farm

A sad feature of this present day depression is the fore-closing of mortgages on farms and homes. Hundreds of thousands of farmers, all over this country, are being dispossessed of their lands because they cannot pay interest on mortgage loans. Others are losing their farms because the loan companies are refusing to renew loans.

These farmers are up against it. The deflation in land values has wiped out their equity in their farms. Loans were made when land values were high. Today the mortgages, in many cases, are way above the selling value of the land.

Such farmers are losing their life-time's accumulations. They must start all over again. Perhaps they can rent their farms after the loan company takes them over.

There have been suggestions that a moratorium be declared on farm mortgages. That means that for a certain period of time no mortgages be foreclosed and that the farm owner be given the same consideration in meeting his interest indebtedness or loan renewals that our government extended to the European nations that owe this country billions in war debts.

Prices of farm products are ruinously low. Land taxes are exorbitantly high. If the farmer meets his taxes, he must default on the interest payment on his loan; quite often he can pay neither taxes nor interest. That means that if the loan company does not get the farm, it will be sold for taxes if anybody wants to buy, otherwise it will be forfeited to the state.

A report from Mississippi says that over 1,000,000 acres of farmland were forfeited to the state through non-payment of taxes last year. It is estimated that 2,000,000 more acres will be so forfeited this year. These conditions apply in more or less degree in all states.

It is also plainly apparent that all governmental efforts toward relief have not touched the farmers. The dangerous banking situation of some months ago has been relieved. Other lines of business have received government relief.

When all is said and done, the farm is the basis of our national well-being. Until the farmers are relieved in some way from high taxes and mortgage fore-closures, there will be very little, if any, upturn in the economic affairs of the nation.

Go easy on the over-burdened farmer. His troubles are not of his own making. He is needed on the farm. Any moratorium or arrangement that tends to keep him in possession of his farm and in operation of it, will lead to restored confidence and will be reflected in better feeling through the entire nation's economic structure.

Let the farmer be no longer the "forgotten man" for in the very nature of things the food producer is the nation's most important citizen.

WAY OF LIFE

By Bruce Barton

THE OBITUARY PAGE

Once I was talking with Kent Cooper about what interests people in the newspapers.

He said: "When a man gets to be about forty-five years old he discovers the obituary page."

I certainly am not a gloomy minded person, but I have always thought more or less about death. The attitude of a large portion of the human race toward it seems to me infantile and silly.

It isn't a pleasant subject but certainly it is an inevitable one. Why dodge and pretend and act like children? Said Caesar:

"Of all the wonders that I yet have heard, It seems to me most strange that men should fear; Seeing that death, a necessary end, Will come when it will come."

All of which leads me to remark that there is a certain advantage in discovering the obituary page comparatively early in life. The tragedy is that some men never discover it.

I have seen a doddering old millionaire, with one foot in the grave fighting with a taxi-man over a nickel, or trying to beat down the price of a neck-tie.

I once sought a contribution to charity from a millionaire who was well over sixty and notoriously tight. He told all the reasons why he couldn't give up a cent, and as he warmed up to the subject he began to act as if my call were an insult.

Finally I said: "Why are you so mean? Why do you deny yourself pleasures and squeeze every nickel? It isn't your money; it's your children's money, or will be in a few years. Why let them have all the pleasures? Why not have the fun of giving some of it away?" This rude remark shocked him. I think it started a line of thought that made quite a change in his life.

Moses prayed: "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."

I assure that to mean that, when we get along toward middle life and note by the papers that men of our own age, or a few years older, are dropping off, we ought to stop and take stock.

We ought to say: "As life goes, I have maybe ten, fifteen or at the most, thirty years. Therefore, I ought to quit thinking—How much money can I pile up? and begin thinking—How can I be sure to do all the things I want to do, see all the places I want to see, and leave behind me a reputation for having a reasonably good and generous individual?"

It would help if the papers would print at the top of the obituary page every day this quotation from Rousseau:

"The dead take to the grave, in their clutched fingers, only that which they have given away."

Municipal ownership of electric light plants has been tried and abandoned by 155 Illinois communities.

Sullivan is very successful in operating its municipally owned plants. It sells service at a low rate and shows a nice profit.

Says WILL ROGERS

BEVERLY HILLS—Well all I know is just what I read in the papers. Congress just keeps us all on the jump all the time, waiting to see what they are going to do with us. One minute they are not going to have a sales Tax, but they put a Tax on about a third of the things that are sold. Then they were asked to explain why it was they taxed a boot but didn't tax a shoe, or why put a tax on caps and none on hats. That is just about as nonsensical as the things they did do.

They tried to hang most of it on to Auto buyers, or Gasoline buyers. Well they just as well put it on bathing suits, or chairs, or anything else that folks use, anything outside of meat and bread and a Gandhi Breechcloth can be called a luxury, or a necessity, which ever way you want to look at it. Autos may be a luxury, a bed may be a luxury, you can ride on a street car, or you can also sleep on the ground, neither one is an absolute necessity. Well it just looks like Congress took a list of everything made and shut their eyes and took a pencil and marked off some names, and said, "We will tax everything the pencil marks across." They were afraid to have the sales Tax for fear the voters back home wouldn't send them back this fall, when as a matter of fact the voters back home while they didn't want any tax, they did want one that was equal in most respects. People when you get right down to it are fairer than most individuals, so it looks now as I pen you these few lines that Mr. Congress will get their tax bill handed back to em with everything changed but the title, and then Congress will have to knuckle under for just what they had refused to do in the first place.

They have been investigating Wall Street, but there has been so much devilment going on there that one Committee can't dig it all out. They wanted to publish the names of the Firms that were implicated in the "Bear Raids," and the list was 24 thousand.

England came out with their Budget and it didn't make any allowance for paying their debt to us. Well we come out with our Budget without paying our debt to ourselves. We can't seem to find any dough to do anything with, but England hadn't any more than broke out till Senator Borah was right on their tail. He reminded em that there had been an oversight on somebody's part. Then he was joined by Pat Harrison, another old crony of mine from away down in Mississippi. Pat told England she would pay or else she wouldn't build herself any more Navy. Well England who was so tickled at balancing their Budget, they had plum forgot about us, but when they heard from the above two lads, they went back into "Conference." You see that's the trouble you just can't do a nation a favor, or they will want it continued, although I will say this England will pay, and did, quicker than any of the rest of em.

France just has guys laying awake at night to think up reasons for not paying. They give guys percentage on every new idea he gets for new reasons. Frances main reason now is that if she paid us she would have to use her gold, and if she had to use her gold, she wouldn't have as much gold. But England is a different breed of cats altogether. The old Englishman is a mighty high type of business man. Well we will hear a lot about it anyhow, for it will be starting to come due in a few months, and the campaign this fall will be so full of debt arguments that you will think the future of the country hinged on the outcome.

This depression has brought out a lot of crooked stuff where if things had gone on and they had been able to keep covering up they would never have been known.

Talk about running a Ford car into a Billion dollars, why just think of running a little tiny stick of wood with some phosphorus on the end of it into an establishment that controlled the finances of a dozen nations. We all just kinder sitting around here waiting for the new Fords to be delivered, that's about the only event in our lives.

We are all talking Olympic games out here. We don't know what they do or how they do it, but we want to see it. Fifty-five nations are coming. It will either be a success or a war, one, or in either case you don't want to miss it. There is hundreds of women competing, only in this case they have to compete against each other and not just against the men. Its going to be well worth seeing. Come on out, you are not doing anything anyhow. If you run a store or are in business why put your customer in the car and bring him too then you wont lose him. Remember the date? Well I forgot when it was myself, but its during hot weather.

AUCTION SALE OF THE G. O. P. ASSETS

Closing Out Sale of the Grand Old Party. As our lease with Uncle Sam will expire on March 4, 1933, and our title to the Political Jack-Pot will be transferred to the "Wild Jackasses" we have decided to hold an auction sale on the White House lawn in Washington, D. C., November 8, 1932 and will sell to the highest bidder all our political machinery and our entire stock of supplies on hand now, to-wit:

One political machine, 1931 model, badly in need of repairs. Can only be recognized by its whistle.

One moss-grown platform, with all of its farm planks, broken.

One large, ever-bearing Mellon Vine with several small branches badly frost-bitten; classed as frozen assets.

One billion dollar crime wave, made to order, old enough to wean.

Fourteen million moonshine stills, all operating to full capacity.

Seven hundred rum-running vessels just learned to swim; but know all the dives.

Eleven million dinner pails—all empty.

Twenty-one thousand miles of breadlines without a vacant space.

One seat on the board of trade, good for any amount of wheat—No profits guaranteed.

Should the present "prosperity" continue, we reserve the right to sell under the Hoover moratorium plan. Free lunch at noon—doughnuts without any holes will be served by the farm board.

The board of temperance, prohibition, public morals, society of reforms will serve roast crow to the Wickersham committee.

Come everybody! Don't forget the date!—San Diego (Calif.) Patriot.

A CONTRAST

Fifty years ago women wore hoop skirts, bustles, petticoats, corsets, cotton stockings, high-buttoned shoes, frilled cotton underwear; they did the cleaning, washing, ironing, raised big families, went to church on Sunday and were too busy to be sick.

Men wore whiskers, square hats, Ascot ties, red flannel underwear, big watches and chains, chopped wood for the stove, bathed once a week, drank 10-cent whiskey and 5-cent beer, rode bicycles, buggies and sleighs, went in for politics, worked twelve hours a day and lived to a ripe old age.

Stores burned coal oil lamps, carried everything from a needle to a plow, trusted everybody, never took an inventory, placed orders for goods a year in advance and always made money.

In 1932

Women wear silk "or no" stockings, short skirts, no corsets, an ounce of underwear, have bobbed hair, smoke, paint and powder, drink cocktails, play bridge, drive cars, have pet dogs and go in for politics.

Men have high blood pressure, wear no hats and little hair, shave their whiskers, play golf, bathe twice a day, drink poison, play the stock market, ride in airplanes, never go to bed the same day they get up, are misunderstood at home, work five hours a day, play ten and die young.

Stores have electric lights, cash registers and elevators, but never have what the customer wants, trust nobody, take inventory daily, never buy in advance, have overhead, mark up, mark down, quota, budget, advertising, stock control, annual and semi-annual, end of month, reports and audits, dollar day, Founder's Day, rummage day and economy day sales, and never make any money.—Anonymous.

Brandy Sauce

"Labor" tells this story on Bernard Baruch and Winston Churchill. They like to kid each other about being called up by famous men. Some time ago while Churchill was visiting Baruch a servant told him President Hoover wanted to talk to him. The following talk ensued:

Baruch—"How are you, you big cheese?"

Voice—"Did you say 'chief' or 'cheese'?"

Baruch—"I said cheese. I know who I'm speaking to."

Voice—"This is President Hoover."

And it was.

(At that, do you think that Mr. Baruch, was so very much wrong?)

NEWSPAPER BUSINESS

The principal business of a newspaper is:

- (a) to print the news;
- (b) to guide public opinion by the interpretation of events;
- (c) to furnish wholesome entertainment for the readers;
- (d) to assist in the distribution of service and merchandise through advertising.

A NEWSPAPER GUY

I see a man strut through a jam in a hall,

Take a seat 'mid the speakers and chat with them all.

"Is this Cermak?" I ask, "that the crown he defies?"

"No," says some one, "he's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man start on the trial of a crook,

And he scorns, all assistance, but brings him to book.

"Sherlock Holmes?" I inquire.

"Some one scornfully cries—

"Holmes? Naw. He's just one of them newspaper guys."

I see a man walk through the door of a show

Where great throngs are blocked by the sign S. R. O.

"Is this Will Hays himself, that no ticket he buys?"

"Well, hardly. He's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man knock on a president's door,

And the sign "No Admittance" completely ignore.

"Is this Borah, that privacy's rights he denies?"

"Borah? Shucks! It's one of those newspaper guys."

And some day I'll walk by the great streets of gold,

And see a man enter, unquestioned and bold.

"A saint?" I'll inquire, and Old Peter'll reply:

"Well, I should say not, he's a newspaper guy."

—Anon.

"There" said Matt Cummins,

"goes a man who reminds me of Jones."

"That guy! 'why he don't look the least like Jones."

"I know that, but both those fellows owe me a lot of money."

A Sullivan girlie came home highly elated the other evening.

"Daddy," said she "Henry asked me to marry him. I told him I loved him but that I couldn't leave Mamma."

Father—"Oh rats, girlie! That's all right, take her along with you."

A farmer from out Brushy Bend called on Frank McPheeters recently and bought six bottles of cough syrup. About ten days later he showed up again and bought a dozen bottles.

"Anybody sick at your home?" asked Frank.

"Naw, the folks all feelin' tol'ble well."

"What do you want with all that cough syrup, then."

"Well, me and the ole lady and the kids like it on our pancakes. It's a heap better than 'lasses."

In a neighboring town live two neighbors who until recently were on good terms. Then the one bought a dog and the other bought a piano. A few days later the piano owner sent a note to the dog owner: "Accept my compliments and best wishes, but please shoot that dog. It's a nuisance to the entire neighborhood."

The dog owner, equally polite sent a reply note: "Your kindly suggestion received and for good of neighborhood will shoot my dog if you burn your piano."

Judging by results, this Leap Year stuff is not working so well.

At the THEATRE

"Tarzan" with Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan this Thursday and Friday. Most folks say: "That's the show I want to see." How about you?

Lots of "Rio"

Saturday the play is "Girl of the Rio" and the featured heroine is Dolores Del Rio while the hot papa is a fellow named Leo Carillo. Our old friend Norman Foster also plays a prominent part. There is some fiery Mexican drama and—Oh, what a girl! Maybe you don't know this fellow Carillo any too well. Here's the dope on him: His grandfather was the first provisional governor of California. Leo was born in Los Angeles. He heard the call of the stage and was a success on Broadway before the pictures got him. Wonder whether his dignified grandfathers would be proud of his grandson? This "Rio" stuff is the big thing on the Saturday program. Did the bear in the cave hug the heroine to death? Come and see this exciting episode in The Mystery Trooper serial. "Flip, the Frog" will star in "The Milkman".

Marian Miller, you are invited to see a show as the guest of The Progress. Hop to it!

How about yodeling?

An amateur yodeler ought to be put to death in the most painless way, but a professional is worth giving ear to. Sunday, direct from WLS, Chicago, comes Gene Autry, the famous yodeling cowboy from Oklahoma. He'll be here all shows, matinee and night IN PERSON. This yodeler is not only good on pushing his stuff through the air, via radio, but they've canned it into phonograph records and they are best sellers. This added feature Sunday ONLY.

"This is the Night" is the feature bill Sunday and Monday. We will not attempt to describe it for the press agent says its "indiscreetly funny", so why try to describe the indescribable? It is said to be tuneful, romantic, naughty and funny. The perpetrators are Lily Damita, Charlie Ruggles, Roland Young and Cary Grant. Chic Sale will appear in "The Hurry Call". Crazy Kat will be with us and there will be News. Isn't it just too bad that a fellow as clever as Sale, can't get before the public without some hint of the little buildings in the great outdoors? What peculiar things men's fame depends on!

George Bancroft

There is something crashing and stupendously dignified in this name "Bancroft." He's all he-man stuff, big, brutal and domineering. Tuesday and Wednesday nights' picture is a Bancroft production and they call it "The World and the Flesh." We have an idea that Miriam Hopkins plays the part of "the flesh." Here is a descriptive paragraph: "A swarthy, hot-blooded revolutionist—and a beautiful woman of the world. Swept together in a tempestuous romance, while civilization crumbles about them." The man and his temptress! There will also be a Boy Friends comedy and an exceptionally interesting novelty reel entitled "The Land of Long Ago."

GEORGE BANCROFT in Paramount Pictures

Some More "Flesh"

Wonder whether it was premeditated or just a coincidence that after "The World and the Flesh" on Tuesday and Wednesday nights the picture on the two following nights should be "But the Flesh is Weak." Robert Montgomery stars in the production. Nora Gregor is the woman in the case. There will be plenty of clean, clever humor with Edward Everett Horton dishing it out. This Miss Gregor is billed as a "German stage star" born in Gorizia, Austria. This is her first picture in English. Nils Asther, a Swede plays the part of a Russian prince in this picture; C. Aubrey Smith, always good, plays the part of the father. Heather Thatcher, a London actress has a part and Frederick Kerr, also an Englishman is a grand duke for the time being. With the players picked from all over the wide, wide world and with a "Gospel" title this picture should prove rather entertaining. There will be a comedy, a fish picture and Pathe News.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wood of Decatur spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. N. Wood southwest of this city.

—Dr. J. H. Phelps of Kankakee stopped here Sunday to visit with his sisters, Miss Lou Phelps and Mrs. J. H. Baker and then went to Lebanon, Mo., where he joined a friend, Dr. Emsman and both went to Houston, Texas.

With the Dairy Herds

MOULTRIE COUNTY DAIRY HERD IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION REPORT APRIL 1932

The average production of all cows in the association, including dry cows was 768 lbs. milk, 35.9 lbs. fat. The highest producer for the month was a grade Jersey owned by L. D. Seass of Sullivan, with a production of 1464 lbs. milk and 103.9 lbs. fat. This cow is a daughter of Illini Majesty, Mr. Seass' former herd sire, and has two yearly records above 600 lbs. fat to her credit.

Another grade Jersey, owned by L. A. Wheeler of Bethany, showed exceptional production with 1377 lbs. milk and 100.5 lbs. fat for the month. She was sired by Twinkling Stars Ruler, a grandson of Fauvics Prince, and has made four consecutive yearly records from 507 to 623 lbs. fat, starting with 507 lbs. as a two year old.

The herd of 28 pure bred and grade Holsteins owned by Illinois Masonic Home of Sullivan again led the association with an average production of 1469 lbs. milk, 50.8 lbs. fat. Ten different cows at the Masonic Home produced from 70 to over 100 lbs. fat during April.

Two ounces of butter daily (four tablespoons) is the minimum requirement per person to insure good health. If every person consumed that amount, butter production would have to be expanded greatly to supply the demand.—M. B. Dairy-Grams.

Two cows and two calves are teaching Los Angeles School children that milk was not always in bottles. Following the discovery that 25¢ had never seen a calf, the board of education is sending a truck with four animals to each public school in the city. The cows and calves are guests of the California Dairy Council and a Council lecturer goes along. The children are dismissed into the school yard to hear a talk about the cow from the nature study viewpoint.

The scriptural association of milk and honey has been demonstrated to be practical as well as poetical, according to word received by the Agricultural Department of the Canadian National Railways from the Government farm at Chilliwack in British Columbia. Tests have been made in feeding bees on sugar and milk with the result that each milk fed colony produced an average of 23 pounds more honey than colonies on ordinary diet.

There will be no National Dairy Show in 1932. After alternately announcing the show would be held and then that it would not be held the officials of the National Dairy Show and the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce have announced there will definitely be no show for this year. This is the second time in 25 years it has not been held, 1915 being the other omission. The show has been held ten times in Chicago, twice each in St. Paul, Milwaukee, Columbus and Memphis; and once in Springfield, Mass., Syracuse, Detroit and Indianapolis and for the past three years in St. Louis in the Arena. Although the 1932 show was given up, plans are under way to make an even greater show in 1933.

The World's Jersey Production to be held at Nashville, Tennessee in September in connection with the state fair has been designated by the American Jersey Cattle Club as the "National Jersey Show" and will probably closely approach if not equal in quality and number of cattle the National Dairy Show.

Orville Plum an Illinois boy in 4-H club work owns 12 Holstein cows, 6 yearling heifers, and 10 calves all 4-H club animals or their descendants. Orville has won $1000 in prize money. The twelve cows have averaged 392 lbs. fat in herd improvement association work for two years the average age being 3 years. The annual average profit above feed cost was $101.

In 1930-31 the highest cow in the herd produced 17,000 lbs. milk, 590.4 lbs. fat. Their herd sire Rock River Payne increased the production of his first five daughters over their dams by an average of 101.6 lbs. fat. The dams averaged 457.5 lbs. fat and the daughters 559.2 lbs. fat.

There is no doubt that dairying is big business in this country. In relation to other farm products it stands at the top with 23.2% of all farm income. Hogs are next with 14.8%, poultry third with 11.1% and vegetables 4th with 10.3%.

In Denmark about 40% of all dairy cows are in dairy herd improvement associations. There are 1520 associations with 48,000 members testing about 630,000 cows. All breeding stock raised for sale must come from ancestors of known production. No dairy animal is awarded a prize in their show unless full information is available on the milk and butterfat production of the animal itself and its immediate ancestry. At one show which would correspond to a good county fair in America, as regards territory represented, there were over 1200 head of cattle on exhibit and all were unblanketed. Of this number 504 were bulls, 38 of which were proven sires.

President Hoover is one of the milk man's best customers, according to Washington reports. Each day 24 quarts of milk and 12 pints of whipping cream are left at the back door of 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. His bill for dairy products averages $12.35 a day or about $4,500 a year. And he has to foot it himself, for Uncle Sam does not buy foodstuffs for the White House.

John Hoke who resides south of Bethany was a Sullivan visitor Friday. He has fully recovered from injuries sustained last year.

He states that his sister Miss Belle Hoke recently suffered a case of blood poisoning. The poison was the result of cutting a finger on her right hand with a jagged piece of tin while opening a fruit can. The wound became infected and the trouble rapidly spread up her arm and necessitated several lancings before the poison drained out. She is making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wright, Mrs. Wright being her niece. Their address is 6949 Eggleston Ave., Chicago.

—Frank Horn is invited and urged to go to The Grand and see one of the shows adv. this week, as a Progress guest.

"WHEN I DRIVE I GO PLACES"

Owen Lodge, dental technician of Butte, Montana, tells Robert Casey about motor problems in the Rockies. ... He drives a Chevrolet.

An Interview by ROBERT J. CASEY
Chicago Daily News Reporter

"In the Rockies," said Owen Lodge of Butte, "the difference between a car and a mountain goat is that you don't have to lubricate the goat."

Mr. Lodge is a dental technician who in two years has driven a 1930 Chevrolet over 32,201 miles of canyon roads and high passes.

"Out here you can't afford to experiment with engine oil," he said as he took a steep grade to demonstrate the performance of his engine.

"When I got this car, I filled it up with Iso-Vis and I've been using Iso-Vis ever since. You may have noticed that I haven't even a carbon knock, and I've never had to grind valves."

"I don't do much driving in connection with my work but when I do drive I want to go places. I went from Butte to Eugene, Ore., last year in thirty hours—crossed two mountain ranges and ran through weather that varied from freezing to 119 degrees in the shade. I added only one quart of oil for the trip."

Mr. Lodge's 32,201 trouble-free miles prove again what Iso-Vis had demonstrated in laboratory tests and in A.A.A. tests on the Indianapolis Speedway—Positive Lubrication. Iso-Vis (a Standard Oil product) will not thin out from dilution. See the Ball and Bottle Test at Standard Oil stations and dealers.

Polarine also is refined by our new process—giving it an efficiency which is exceeded only by Iso-Vis. The price is 25c a quart.

JIM REEVES TELLS ABOUT RECENT ELECTION W. C. T. U. AND LIQUOR

Champaign, Illinois, Ed C. Brandenburg, Esq. Editor Sullivan Progress: Sullivan, Ill.

My Dear Mr. Brandenburg:

Your editorial of April 22nd "A Republican Editorial" a very fine article. I shall always be indebted to Moultrie county citizens for their splendid support they have always given me. These good people show their appreciation of my loyalty to them from 1925 to 1928 as a member of the legislature. I promised them I would give Moultrie county the same consideration as I would Platt and Champaign counties, and I did it, even working harder for Moultrie county than I did for Champaign when it came to a real contest for the roads they are now enjoying.

The campaign just ended was a trying one, indeed. I visited almost every voting precinct in the whole district on a slab road, trying to get nominated and elected same time. Something upset my applecart and I can't understand how it happened. I was just wondering if the W. C. T. U. and some of the good church folks did really put out false reports and misled the good people or did a Supernatural Being do the trick.

Friday, the 8th of April some of the church and W. C. T. U. folks sent out cards all over this county indorsing, Dunlap, Little and Black with a marked ballot and a circular attached that was distributed to every community in Champaign county. Mr. Roy R. Cline got onto it Saturday. The Champaign Daily News Gazette ran this down. These good Christian people claimed that all the Protestant churches in Champaign and Urbana, the Chamber of Commerce and the Judiciary Organization had indorsed these three candidates unanimously.

When the News Gazette put the pressure on these good intentioned Christian people they tried to shift the responsibility, as all the ministers, informed the News-Gazette reporters that they did not indorse any one as a church, the Chamber of Commerce of Champaign and Urbana denounced it as absolutely false. Judge Freeman, president of the Judiciary organization, said the same thing. Then they went after the president of W. C. T. U. who said she knew nothing about such an indorsement. Further investigation disclosed it was just five nice well-intending Christian ladies took it upon themselves to do this fine political work and nominated Mr. Dunlap, Little and Black.

Six weeks ago I received a letter from Law and Order League requesting my views on dry and wet issue. I informed them that my vote on all public policy questions as a referendum majority vote would govern my vote in the legislature. My oath of office and the state constitution was my guiding star and hope and success.

A few days later I noticed in the Chicago press that they had indorsed Dunlap, Little, and Black. They dropped me like a hot potato. I made a speech in the M. E. church of Champaign in 1928 when I was trying to beat Senator Dunlap telling just where I stood, and also said before I would barter away my American citizenship for votes I would rather be defeated, and I was defeated by Senator Dunlap.

We have some peculiar politicians who go around parading under the banner of Christian temperance and good citizenship, appearing on the horizon of a Supernatural Being, that came on the earth to make the blind see, the lame walk, the dead rise and live again; they won't stop to do anything to carry their point.

My record in the legislature was dry three sessions, because my district was dry. I could not vote any other way without breaking the constitution and my oath.

I know that every intelligent man or woman knows that the 18th amendment is a failure. There never was a law that has caused so much expense and hatred as this law. It has arrayed neighbor against neighbor and brother against brother. It has caused more sin and crime, murder, expense and higher taxes than anything I ever heard of. We spend millions each year trying to curb the nasty situation and each year we find more sin, crime and murder, and more school girls and boys drinking than ever before.

The solution of the "licker" business is just what the Wickersham Commission advocated after two years of surveying here and abroad. If we had light wines and beer, David Lawrence claims it would bring into the National Treasury, for 1933, 830 million dollars at 6 cents per quart for beer of 4 1/2 per cent alcohol, which is not intoxicating. It would almost produce enough revenue to balance the National budget deficit of a billion dollars each year caused by the war, and this war business will be with us fifty years to come.

If we had 4 1/2 per cent beer it would create a stiff market for my corn, as you can't make good beer out of alcohol taken from black slat molasses from Central America, that has no tariff, but makes boot leg whiskey.

No one will ever see another open saloon. No one wants them but what the people want is to put Al Capone out of business—and his friends. The Wickersham Commission law will do that.

I am more than pleased with my efforts in this last election, I carried city of Champaign 1132 votes over Mr. Black. I beat Mr. Little 359 votes. I carried Urbana 407 votes over Mr. Black or a total in Twin cities of 1539 votes, and beat Black in his own precinct 11 majority.

I carried Moultrie county 252 majority. You can see why I feel so kindly to my friends down there and here.

Governor Small carried Champaign county 1811 majority, a wonderful come back. My vote was split with Herschfield, McCrackin and Neff in this county.

Two years hence I will drive the old hoss over the tape if I have to put firecrackers to her tail. Keep up your editorials, we enjoy them even if they are quite Democratic some times.

Yours respectfully,

J. A. Reeves.

WHO IS MRS. JOHNSON?

Mr. Ed C. Brandenburg, Editor, The Sullivan Progress, Sullivan, Illinois.

Dear Mr. Brandenburg:—Some time ago you published a letter, purporting to be from a Mrs. C. C. Johnson of Rockford, Illinois, in which letter the Board of Education of the Sullivan Grade Schools was very severely criticized for their recently announced policy of retrenchment.

A little later you very kindly permitted the publication in your columns of a reply to this letter, written by the authority of the Board. If it will be of any interest to you will say that this letter was sent by registered mail, return receipt requested, to Mrs. C. C. Johnson, Rockford, Illinois, and I have just recently had the letter returned to me unclaimed. The envelope very plainly shows that the post office authorities in Rockford made every possible effort towards delivery service and otherwise to deliver the letter, without avail. I think this goes to prove, what many of us suspected all the time, that this letter was not written by a Mrs. Johnson of Rockford, or from anywhere else, but that the same was dictated or written by some of our interested citizens who did not have the moral courage to come out in the open and sign their name to the communication. Of course, it would be very easy to get such a letter mailed from Rockford to Sullivan. The letter in itself did not have the ear-marks of being an authentic communication and did not ring true on many statements therein contained, and that is the reason many of us felt that no such person lived as Mrs. C. C. Johnson.

Very truly yours,

J. L. McLaughlin.

RECEIVER TO PAY $906.59 TO ATTORNEY

committee was named at that time, on suggestion of Receiver Chas. A. Gregory and Attorney George A. Sentel.

"This committee, representing the depositors, now seeks the following information, which we trust you will be able to give us: "How much in attorney fees has been paid or authorized to be paid to Hon. George A. Sentel, the attorney named by the State Auditor to assist in the liquidation of the bank?"

"Various rumors are afloat and the depositors as well as the stock holders and debtors of the bank are much interested in this matter."

Auditor Replies

In reply to this letter, Mr. DuHamel sent the following courteous letter containing the information asked for:

"Mr. Ed C. Brandenburg, Sullivan, Illinois.

"Dear Sir:

"I am in receipt of your letter of April 25th addressed to Mr. S. S. DuHamel of my office. In this letter you advise that you as a member of the depositors committee of the Merchants & Farmers State Bank of Sullivan seek information as to what, if any, attorney fees have been paid to Honorable George A. Sentel, attorney for the Receiver of said bank.

Services to April 1st

"In reply, I beg to advise, that Judge Sentel presented his claim for services rendered by him as attorney for the Receiver from the 18th day of January 1932 to the 1st day of April 1932. The statement shows a great deal of work was done by Judge Sentel and upon this statement I approved payment in the sum of $865.00 to apply on account of services rendered and payment in the sum of $41.59 to cover expenses incurred by him. The Receiver was authorized to pay these respective sums to Judge Sentel.

"You will note that the payment for attorney fees is only to apply on account. If this payment is excessive, the same will be taken care of in the final adjustment of the receivership. If the same should prove insufficient, under the proof in the case at the close of the receivership, then and in such instance, the attorney will be entitled to additional compensation.

"I thank you for your inquiry and assure you that it is the desire of my office to see that the creditors of the bank are fully advised as to the progress of the liquidation under the receivership.

"Very truly yours,

"Oscar Nelson,

"Auditor of Public Accounts. "Signed by S. S. DuHamel, "Examiner in charge of Receiverships."

Knowing that all people who have an interest in the bank are entitled to this information, it is presented herewith in line with the thought Mr. DuHamel expressed in his letter when he says: "it is the desire of my office to see that the creditors of the bank are fully advised."

PLAY TO BE GIVEN AT THE METHODIST CHURCH SUNDAY NIGHT

The famous peace play, "Gas", will be given at the Methodist church Sunday night at the regular evening worship hour. The play will take the place of the sermon which was to have been preached by Rev. Lawrence.

The play was given Tuesday in Lovington and Wednesday night, here, and has been so heartily received that a repetition of it has been asked. The Methodist church at Shelbyville has also asked that the young people present it in their church. They will probably give it there Sunday night, May 22.

The play dramatizes what will happen to people and civilization should there ever be another World War. The use of gas in the next war will exterminate all life within a radius of one or two thousand miles surrounding the war zone.

The cast is as follows:

Mrs. Barton, the mother—Miss Ruberta Luke.

Mr. Barton, the father—Billy Richardson.

Alice, the daughter—Miss Margaret Cochran.

Edgar, the son—Richard Barclay.

Robert, friend of Alice—Ed Hancock.

The Butler—Wayne Cochran.

This is a one act play, the scene is laid in a hotel apartment room on the eighth floor. A free will offering will be received.

SULLIVAN MARKETS

Elevators Thursday morning were offering 41c for wheat; 16c for oats; 22c for corn and 35c for soybeans.

What do you know about it? Old roosters are worth only 3c a lb. One produce dealer bought two big ones for 41c Thursday morning. That leaves nothing for roosters to crow about. Old hens are worth 9c to 11c; springs (none reaching markets) 12c to 16c. Eggs are 10c a dozen and butterfat is 14c a pound.

A movement is on foot to stage a big "Rooster Day" in Sullivan some time in the near future.

Former Sullivan Man Has Peculiar Hobby in Rockford

"230 N. Court St., Rockford, Monday, May 9, 1932.

"Editor Sullivan Progress:

"Dear Sir:

"I used to live in Moultrie county, Sullivan, Bethany and Dalton City, about fifteen years ago. Perhaps I may have a few old time friends there that would be interested in an article in the Rockford "Register-Republic." If not, there is no harm done.

"The little engines, referred to in the article, are complete stationary engines, that work perfectly, and are far beyond anyone's wildest dreams or imagination. They have been written up in dozens of newspapers and magazines.

"Thanking you very kindly, I will close.

"Walter Leffingwell."

In the paper which Mr. Leffingwell sends there is a picture of the engines, described in the following article:

"Lilliput, where Gulliver of fairy tale fame visited and found the tiny natives wondrous smart, would welcome to its shores Walter Leffingwell, of rural route No. 6, Rockford, for the local man would be able to open an industrial future for the nation with his diminutive steam engines.

"So tiny that they can all be fitted into a box six inches long, five feet-power engines, completely workable in all details and modeled after the huge machines used in Rockford factories, have been made by Mr. Leffingwell after years of patient effort.

"The "baby" of the outfit is but three-quarters of an inch in height and is the smallest in the world, its maker contends; yet it operates with dazzling speed. It will even run when enclosed in an empty box.

The machine was advertised as the smallest in the world, and from that moment on Mr. Leffingwell determined to make one smaller."

"None of the engines is more than an inch and a half in height. Four have expertly designed "D" valves, and the remaining one, the first Mr. Leffingwell made when he started his hobby thirty-five years ago, has a perfect oscillating cylinder.

"One of the smallest of the machines will run either forwards or backwards, and at top speed it averages approximately 7,000 revolutions a minute, Mr. Leffingwell estimates.

"He powers his tiny "shop" with compressed air, pumped into a tank with a bicycle pump. The engines can be run with steam, but the vapor, he explains, has a tendency to rust the delicate workings of the tiny brass instruments.

"Mr. Leffingwell, who formerly was a jeweler until ill health forced him to retire, thirty-five years ago built the first engine, and he points with pride to the fact that the same machine is running perfectly today. He used watch makers' instruments for tools.

Man Lost 26 Pounds Looks 100 per cent Better

Feels Stronger Than Ever

Just to prove to any doubtful man or woman that Kruschen Salt is the SAFE way to reduce—let us take the letter of Mr. F. J. Fritz of Cincinnati, Ohio, recently received.

He writes: "I've tried extreme dieting, setting up exercises with very little results—but the results from Kruschen are almost incredible. In 3 months I reduced from 205 to 179 pounds and feel stronger than ever—no more wheezing or gasping for breath—friends say I look 100% better."

Bear in mind, you fat man, that there is danger in too much fat—try the safe way to reduce—one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning—cut down on fatty meats and sweets—one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle—get it at Sam B. Hall's or any drugstore in the world.

GOOD RECORD

Justice of the Peace C. S. Edwards has an enviable record as a marrying justice. He states that to the best of his knowledge and belief, no couple that has ever appeared before him to tie the matrimonial knot has ever appeared in a divorce action. That's a whole lot better than any of the ministers can claim. There must be something about the way the Judge performs the ceremony that makes it more binding.

KEMMERER ORPHANAGE NEAR ASSUMPTION AN INTERESTING PLACE

Special—(By Grace L. Foster)—One of the most interesting places I have ever been permitted to visit was the Kemmerer orphanage located two miles southwest of Assumption.

I think the first thing that visitors will notice is the neatness of the grounds around the home—the pretty shrubbery, flowers and the very large garden which is taken care of by the boys who are large enough to do this type of work.

They also have plenty of good milk cows, chickens and hogs.

The larger boys help with the feeding and the milking.

Another thing of interest is the good manners of each and every child. Little fellows at the age of three and four years of age, will remove their caps just as soon as they enter the door, and "thank you", "Yes, Ma'm" and "No Ma'm" is the answer you will receive upon the occasion of such answers.

They attend church and Sunday school each and every Sunday and are always in their places in the school room during school time.

The inside of the building is just as clean and neat as the outside and this is part of the work of the older girls. Each child has his or her task to complete each day.

The building is modern in every way and the living room is furnished with radio, piano, books and all sorts of things that children enjoy.

You only have to take one look into the fruit room to see that the little folks are well fed. That alone is worth the trip over there to see the hundreds of jars of fruit and vegetables. The matron told us that last year, they canned over 500 quarts of peaches alone not counting the cans that were donated by different churches.

The play rooms are also located in the basement and the laundry too.

The lady who is in charge of the laundry work told us that on Monday mornings she starts washing at five o'clock and washes until 5 in the evening. It requires this amount of time to wash the white clothes. On Tuesday mornings she begins again at five and washes until noon doing the overalls, colored shirts and stockings. Then on Tuesday afternoon she begins her ironing and this is finished by Wednesday evening.

Then on Thursday and Friday the mending and sewing on of buttons is done. On Saturday the beds are changed and she sorts all her laundry and looks over their school clothes.

Still another item of interest is the way in which each child takes care of his clothing. The clothes are all put on hangers and hung up as soon as they are taken off and to look in the closets and see the neat rows of shoes—Well, it didn't look like my closet floor.

The children are very proud of anything given them. Last winter at Christmas time Mr. Hudson the clothier in Bethany sent one hundred dollars worth of clothing to the orphanage and how nice those boys did look in their new suits and I'm sure if Mr. Hudson could have seen the happy look on their faces he would have felt well repaid for his trouble.

I could write page after page telling of the interesting things there, but to go to see for your self is much better, so some afternoon just drive over. Visitors are always welcome.

—Mrs. Charles Hochstetler is hereby invited to see a show at The Grand Theatre as a guest of The Progress.

—Mrs. Delia Harkrader who was committed as a patient to the state hospital at Jacksonsville several months ago was brought back to this city Thursday in the McMullin ambulance.

WHO KILLED EARL WRIGHT?

A group of 25 citizens from the Sullivan churches assisted by the representative of the Anti-Saloon League, will present the widely heralded murder trial entitled, "Who Killed Earl Wright" at the Methodist church Monday, May 16 at 8 p. m. A model court room will be set up in the church. The "Trial" is designed to bring out the prohibition law enforcement situation, as it progresses with the prosecution of Ed Hancock who plays the part of the defendant and is alleged to have killed his best friend during a drunken spree over a sixth of a pint of alcohol. In addition to Ed Hancock, G. M. Kilby will act as the Judge, whose court is conducted in a dignified manner. H. G. Moore, the wily bootlegger, throws himself on the mercy of the court because of his war record. What will the penalty be? C. G. Booze is the sheriff, with Rev. L. L. Lawrence his alert-deputy. Margaret Chapin assumes the responsibility of the court reporter. Anna McCarthy will take the interesting part of the star witness; Rev. C. E. # Man Made the Town

By Ruby M. Ayers

Donald Rathbone had dined alone that night.

He had heard Diana's car drive up, but had merely thought it was one of his own returning from the village to which he had sent his chauffeur with a message.

The dining room was on the far side of the house, and the heavy oak door was shut, so he heard nothing more till Diana's terrified scream rent the silence, followed by that piteous cry upon his name.

"Donald . . ."

Rathbone was out in the hall almost before it had died away, but even then, for an instant, in the dim light he could hardly understand what was happening.

Servants were rushing from other parts of the house, but it was Rathbone who dragged Nero away, almost throttling him in his iron grip, Rathbone who, throwing the dog aside into somebody's else's custody, lifted Diana in his arms.

"Oh, my—God!"

She looked up at him, her eyes half mad with terror, then with a little convulsive gesture she put her lacerated arms round his neck, clinging to him desperately for one heartbreaking moment before she fainted.

He carried her into the study and laid her on the couch; his face was gray, and his breath came tearing from him as if it were he who was suffering, and not she.

The chauffeur was in the room now, and the housekeeper, a middle aged woman with a quiet capable face; and seeing for a moment at least Rathbone was utterly unnerved, she fetched water and brandy and gently bathed Diana's face and bleeding arms.

It seemed an eternity to those around before she stirred a little and then opened her eyes; eyes still so terrified and wild that it was almost unbearable when she started up, crying and moaning afresh:

"Donald . . . Donald . . . Save me!"

He went on his knees beside her. "It's all right . . . I'm here . . . don't be frightened—you're quite safe—it's all right—I'm here—you're quite safe with me."

He put his hand over her eyes for an instant as if to wipe the last terrible moments from her memory, but she pushed him away crying out like a frightened child—

"He tried to kill me—he tried to kill me—oh, why didn't you come? . . . He tried to kill me . . ." And then, with a shuddering sob:

"Oh, my arms—look at my arms!"

It was a relief to them all when she slipped back into unconsciousness, but when Mrs. Farmer tried to force brandy between her lips Rathbone prevented her.

"No, leave her alone."

He dressed and bandaged her arms while she lay unconscious; he was as gentle as a woman, thorough and capable, but the sweat was standing in great beads on his forehead, and his curious hard breath alone broke the silence.

When at last he had finished, Mrs. Farmer gave a little sob.

"Thank God her face isn't touched, sir."

Rathbone said nothing. He stood looking down at Diana with a queer blank look in his eyes.

Mrs. Farmer spoke again, hesitatingly:

"Shall we put her to bed, sir?"

He turned then.

"Here?—in this house?—No, I'll take her home."

When they brought the rug he wrapped Diana in it and lifted her in his arms, carrying her out to the car himself.

He laid her on the seat with a cushion beneath her head and let down the windows to the cool night air.

"Drive carefully," he said.

The car moved slowly away. Rathbone sat opposite Diana, leaning a little forward, his hands gripped between his knees, staring at her.

It was like some monstrous nightmare from which he could not free himself.

How had it happened? Why had she come? Why in God's name, had she come, alone and at this time of night?

The car stopped at Miss Starling's cottage, and the chauffeur came to the door.

Rathbone got out. "Don't touch her," he said briefly.

Rathbone went back into the passage and called the Creature's name, but there was no reply, and with a muttered imprecation he returned to the car.

"The place seems deserted. I'll carry her in. Go in the kitchen and get some hot water—and bring it upstairs to me."

He laid Diana on her bed, clumsily pulling the quilt aside and then gently covering her with it, before he pulled the curtains back and opened the window wide.

She stared up at him piteously for a moment before she whispered "Am I going to die?"

"No, my dear—no!"

He went on carefully, as if realizing the importance of every word. "You've got to be brave and try never to think about it again. You've got to be very brave and trust me to look after you. Can you do that?"

She nodded, slow tears falling down her face.

"It—hurts so," she said.

"Yes," she made a little movement to wipe the tears from her face, but the pain in her arms was too great, and Rathbone took his own handkerchief and gently wiped them for her before he drew his arm from beneath her head and laid her back on the pillows.

Her eyes sought his with fear.

"I suppose, when I'm well—you will go again."

"Go?—Where?"

"Not see me any more, I mean."

He put his hand on her for a moment: it was like her to touch his tenderness when he had been trying harshly to condemn her.

"No, not if you still want me," he said.

She said suddenly, with aghast of her old childish impertinence, "Poor Dr. Rathbone—you can't quite escape me, can you?"

"Have you thought I wished to?"

She sighed. "I have thought so—yes."

Away in the distance the church clock struck eleven.

He asked, "Does that mean that I am still—a wall for you to lean against? Wasn't that what you called me?—a safe harbour, Diana?"

She pressed his hand in assent, the old sweet smile crossing her face as she looked up at him.

The garden gate creaked, and Rathbone went over to the window.

"That is Miss Starling," he said.

"I'll just go down and see her; you don't mind being left now for a moment?"

Downstairs she could hear him talking to Miss Starling, and presently they came up together. Diana wondered if the Creature could possibly have been crying, or if it was just the night air had reddened her lids.

She bent over Diana and rearranged her pillows and bedclothes with capable hands.

"I'll make you nice and comfy presently," she promised.

She asked no questions, and Diana liked her better at that moment than ever before.

"I'll just run away and take off my coat and bonnet," she said practically and went away.

Rathbone stood at the foot of the bed.

"Do you mind if I go now?"

Rathbone asked. "I'll come in the morning—quite early."

"You've been very kind."

"And you won't worry?"

"No."

She looked up at him with such trustful eyes that, moved by a sudden impulse which he could not control, Rathbone bent down and kissed her.

A very gentle kiss on the forehead just between the brows, and he turned away at once, but not before he had seen the look of happiness that flashed into her eyes.

"Good-night," he said again, but when he reached the door she called him back to say:

"I'm glad it wasn't 'good-bye' this time."

He looked at her gravely.

"I hope you'll always be glad," he said.

CHAPTER XIV.

"The day Dennis Waterman was due to arrive at Southampton Rathbone took the bandages from Diana's right arm.

"And now there's something I want to say to you," Rathbone said briskly.

Diana turned round, the old scared look creeping into her eyes.

"Something nasty?"

"Nothing in the least nasty," he assured her. "Quite the contrary, in fact. It's just this—I want you to start going about again, to take an interest in your old life."

She said slowly, her eyes on his face:

"When I went to see you that first day in Harley Street, you told me that if I went on as I was going then, I should kill myself, and now you are telling me to go back to it all."

"But not at the same breakneck pace. Besides, you are so much better in every way than you were then, in spite of this last."

"You cannot go on living here indefinitely, you know that, Diana, so the sooner you make a start the better."

She took a little step towards him.

"Do you want to get rid of me?" she asked very directly.

"Is that a fair question, do you think?" he asked. "Besides, it won't be 'getting rid of you,' as you put it. I shall see you in London sometimes."

"Only—sometimes?"

He smiled rather constrainedly.

"I know what is best for me," she said fully.

He checked a smile.

"And what is best for you?" he asked.

"To be where I am happiest," Diana said with troubled eyes. "And I am happiest where I know I shall see you most often."

And then there followed a profound silence which seemed as though it could never be broken, till Rathbone said with an effort:

"We must be very frank with each other this once, Diana, and then we'll never talk about it again. I know you won't misunderstand me when I say that my life was settled for me—or perhaps I settled it myself, whichever way you prefer—many years ago, when you must still have been only a schoolgirl. I can't go back on it, even if I wanted to. I've always felt that when a man takes certain responsibilities upon himself he should stand by them, whatever his inclinations, whatever comes between. I can't explain more definitely, I haven't the right to. I can only hope you will understand."

He broke off, as if for a moment he had lost himself in the wistful beauty of her face.

She stood helplessly silent for a moment before she broke out with something of her old impetuosity.

"I wish I knew what it really is I feel about you; I wish I could explain, but I can't, and if I did, you wouldn't understand. Nobody would. But if I go back to London, as you say you want me to, there'll be other men again. I know that. You see—"

"I must do something—go about with someone. Aunt Gladwyn is kind, but we're not really friends. I know lots of girls like myself, but we don't any of us really care about each other. Then there's Dennis—he arrives in England today you know. I didn't tell you before, but he does."

There was a sharp silence which Rathbone broke.

"Are you glad, Diana?"

"I don't know," she said almost in a whisper, and then, as he said nothing, she went on: "Everything is so different since I came here, I don't understand why. I've never had one single cocktail since I came here—no wonder my skin looks so nice."

And then, as there was no answering smile on his face, she sighed and went on.

"I wish I understood about myself. Sometimes I think that you understand, that you know all about me, only you won't explain to me. Why won't you?"

"Perhaps because I'm not clever enough. Perhaps because I know I should only hurt you."

Diana was looking down at the little three-cornered scar on her slender arm.

"Well, I've got this to remember you by anyway," she said ruefully.

He made a swift movement, as if of protest, then stood still again.

"Nothing more than that?" he asked.

She raised her eyes.

"Yes, much more," she said. "I shall always remember you as the dearest, best—"

"Don't make me conceited."

She sat down in the chair in which he had sat to dress her arm, leaning her chin on its high back and looking up at him.

"Well, that's that," she said in a puzzled sort of way. "When do you want me to go?"

He smiled at the question.

"Well, not today or tomorrow," he said whimsically. "I only thought that before Mrs. Gladwyn comes back . . ."

"Supposing she never comes back?"

"We won't suppose anything so

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Glenn M. Garber, pastor.

Christianity has the only satisfactory answer to many of the problems of life. The church is the teacher and spokesman of the Christian religion. Its whole purpose is to help you to learn and to apply Christianity to life. You will find that regular worship in church on Sunday will help you to live a happier, and more successful life. You are invited to attend the First Presbyterian church.

Announcement of services for Sunday, May 15:
9:45 Sunday School, Dr. Donald Butler, Superintendent.
10:50—Morning worship. Sermon subject, "The Church."
Announcement of special services:

On Tuesday, May 17, the annual business meeting of the First Presbyterian church will be held. The meeting will convene at the church at 8 p. m. A meeting of the session will be held just prior to the congregational meeting. All members of the congregation please plan to be present at this very important meeting.

GOSPEL MISSION

Over the Post Office

Time of services the same. All of the services Sunday were good. Bro. Ridgeway gave a good Mother's Day sermon. The special songs were very good. A delegation of young people from Decatur will have charge of Thursday evening's service.

John 9:4—"I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day."

The rest of the verse tells us why, "the night cometh when no man can work". This portion of the verse applies to man, and tells us there will come a time when we cannot work. The only opportunity you will ever have to do work for Jesus, is in this present life. In the glory world we may worship him, but angels will minister unto him.

Every Christian is, a sent one: "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel" and, "How can they preach except they be called, or sent". The poor old broken hearted world is looking for some one to bring it the message of comfort, what a wonderful opportunity we have today of telling the world about him whose heart was broken for it. The night of sin is fast falling upon the world and we too must work the works of Him that sent us.

ST. COLUMBA'S CHURCH

Church services will be held at St. Columba's Catholic church on Sunday morning at 10 a. m.

ASK TOM RONEY

Which means that there has been a reunion of bosom friends, for this painter's cart has been Tom's side-kick for many years. The Progress last week told about Mr. Roney's loss and requested that whoever took the cart return it. It was returned and the owner found it in its accustomed place Thursday morning.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

C. E. Barnett, pastor

The first birthday of the church saw 3000 added to the church. It was a glorious day, when the power which Jesus had promised came upon the disciples. There was an evangelistic sermon from the heart of an evangelistic preacher. Next Sunday is the anniversary of that day. We shall observe Pentecost Sunday with hymns and special music in keeping with the birthday of the church. The adult choir will sing "Come, Gracious Spirit". The pastor's sermon subject will be "And Suddenly, The Power of Pentecost." Worship begins at 10:40 a. m. Evening service at 7:30 with sermon by the pastor.

The first Sunday of the eight weeks Sunday School contest noted a splendid increase of attendance in every department. Some of the classes are holding contests within themselves. Next Sunday should find not less than 300 in the school. An enlarged orchestra gives added zest to the singing. The special numbers by individuals and classes, inspire and entertain, the lesson period instructs. Come to Sunday school at 9:30 a. m.

"How May We Work for World Good-will?" The Christian Endeavor will meet at 6:30 p. m. and the discussion of this subject will be led by William Seitz.

"Smile, smile, smile and the world will grow brighter, Sorrow and sadness you may beguile; Smile, smile, burdens of life will grow lighter, If you trust Jesus and smile, smile, smile."

Memorize these words and Smile. Come to church Sunday evening and we will sing them. An oft heard reply to some question is "I should smile." It means "sure." Will you be at church Sunday? Will you answer "I should smile?"

"BELIEVE IT OR NOT" SIGNS AND LIGHT OF MOON IMPORTANT

Special (D. Watkins)—

The statement "Believe it or not" is usually about something which seems impossible or is unusual and since this Friday comes on the thirteenth, it recalls to our minds many signs and sayings which have been handed down from one generation to the next.

There are many things that folks would not do on this day, because of the thirteenth and its being on Friday, would bring them a bad luck.

Since we have had several rains the last two weeks, how many of you have heard these sayings? "Rain on Monday, rain two more days this week." "It's going to rain, I can tell by my rheumatism" or "Rain before seven, quite before eleven." How true are they?

Many times, I have heard neighbors call one certain neighbor and ask if it was the right time to butcher, so the meat would make brown gravy and they were told to butcher in the dark of the moon.

Also some of our nicest gardens in this community were planted in the dark of the moon for vegetables which grow their crops under the ground and in the light of the moon for those above ground and many look in the almanac to plant in the signs.

Recent scientific discoveries have proved that it is best to sow seeds at stated times. If you do not believe this why not try it once.

How many people hunt four leaf clovers or are glad when they find a horse shoe or a penny for good luck.

I know one prominent farmer who always waits until the hedge leaves come out before planting corn.

There are many signs and sayings which seem foolish to some of us, yet many folks do believe part of them. Of course it is up to each individual to choose those which are sensible and forget the others.

By the way, we can always learn something new every day.

DEPRESSION WAVE HAS HIT CRIME; NO ONE IN JAIL

The so-called depression is hitting in some unexpected places. Now the county jail is empty. Since Friday, Sheriff Lansden has had no boarders in the county bastille. This has happened before, but now it is blamed on the depression. People are too depressed to be mean and lawless.

Within recent weeks a forger has been passing checks on local merchants. The amounts were also depressed, or repressed — never very big. The merchants have been warned by the Sheriff time and again not to take strangers' checks, but on account of the depression they seem inclined to take any kind of checks, even if they are no good. A fellow passed a forged Swift & Co., checks for $11.90 on a local merchant last week.

Harry Nichols who was found innocent of stealing Amish school coal is back in Pontiac. The parole officer came and got him Friday. Harry had been mixed up in other small-time mischief.

Monday night some fellow or fellows broke into the Walker Co., machine shop in the west end of this city and stole some tools. Evidently the effort tired the boys all out for to date they have not used the tools to break in anywhere. Perhaps they figure, "Aw, what's the use?"

A yeggman broke into the Foster filling station in Lovington Sunday night, but must have gotten depressed when he got inside, for he left without taking anything, so far as can be learned.

THE WEATHER

We have a calendar hanging next to our desk. Frank McPheeters sent it around the beginning of the year. It advertises stuff he sells. Also it devotes some space to weather predictions. We have looked at it once in a while, but we didn't like the predictions. They have hit it pretty well however and the rest of May doesn't look so good.

Here is what the predictions say: May 9th to 12th—Dull period, backward weather. 13th to 15th—thunder storms, lightning, hail, showers, 16th to 19th warm spell, advanced heat and sultry conditions. Then come more storms followed by a cool snap and the month goes out in a blustery, stormy spell. Rather a cheerful prospect, is it not? It is not.

Farmers want to plant corn. Some has been planted, but usually before the ground gets dry enough to resume planting along comes another shower. About a week ago the farmers would smile and say "what a beautiful rain." Now the most expressive ones say "another d—m shower." But that's the way of the world. Too much of anything is an aggravation.

If you don't like the weather as outlined above see Frank McPheeters. He sent around the calendars, even though he may not be responsible for the weather predictions. Of course Frank may say: "What else can you expect under a Lou Emmerson administration? Wait till Len Small's elected and sunshine and rain will come just at the right time and in the right amount."

Some folks we know have been getting some good exercise hunting mushrooms. Did they get mushrooms? There have been no big catches reported as yet. The wet weather is bringing out a nice crop of toadstools.

A crazy Russian killed the president of France last week. A new president has been elected and France will continue to function as heretofore, hating the Germans and evading payment of the war debt they owe us.

When Uncle Sam finally nabbed Al Capone for failing to pay an income tax, it threw the fear of something or other into the rest of the gang of racketeers and crooks and reports say that more than a million dollars has voluntarily been paid in by the rulers of the underworld. Hit 'em again, Uncle. Shake 'em down. Make 'em share.

The editors of Southern Illinois last week elected a fellow named File as president. A good newspaper file is found in every office of publication.

The Democrats of Illinois last week re-elected Tom Donovan chairman. Mr. Donovan says that after the Illinois delegates to the national convention get done voting for Senator Lewis, a large number of them will vote for Roosevelt. Mayor Tony Cermak of Chicago has gotten peeved at this. Tony, who presumes to be boss, says that the Illinois folks will vote for Melvin Traylor. If Tony isn't awfully careful some of us Southern Illinois democrats will be mildly displeased with his antics. Traylor would be all O. K. if we were electing a bank president but it takes a successful politician to make a successful president. A bank president in the chair of the chief executive at Washington would be as big a flop as an engineer is proving himself to be.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis recently made a speech in the Senate in which he called attention to the fact that this is a $400,000,000,000 country. Its resources are illimitable. Its possibilities have hardly been touched. There is nothing much wrong with it except in proper management. Fellows, who control the country's capital are numbskulls. Its politicians are too busy hanging on the teat of the public treasury to give much thought to anything else except to perpetuate themselves in office. The world is passing through an idiotic stage.

A depression is nothing more or less than a good place from which to start to climb to prosperity and affluence. If people put in half as much time fighting the depression as they do belly-aching about it—there would be no depression.

You've all heard the tale of woe described as having "The Wolf at the door." That means direst poverty. But the present day version says that the go-getter will throttle the wolf to death and make furcoats for the wife and kids out of the hide.

And that reminds us—one of these days Sullivan will need a few more factories. One factory does not make a city any more than one swallow makes a summer. Our enterprising neighbor, Arthur, knows this and keeps adding another small industry to its flock every once in a while. When more prosperous times come, big factories, and their smaller units, will leave the big cities and seek for locations in places like Sullivan. We need them. Let's do some planning now and we'll be ready when Old Man Opportunity comes hammering on our door with a sledge hammer.

With the biggest road oiling outfit located right here in Sullivan, it does not look exactly right that our side streets are not given the care and attention they need. When some out of town fellows come here to talk to Earl Walker about road oiling contracts and Earl starts out enthusiastically to tell them: "Yes sir, it's what every progressive hamlet, town, village or city needs. It's the economical way to keep up the surface, keep down dust, etc." the fellow comes back with—"Yeah, now if it's such a good thing, why don't your own town live up to it?" Rather discouraging, isn't it? And the Walker Co., has one of the biggest payrolls of any industry located here. Think this thing over. Earl didn't tell us to write it, but a blind man can see the facts in the case.

And in closing, let us repeat—we favor saving every possible cent of the assets of the M. & F. State bank for distribution to depositors and protection of stockholders. They need it. Are you with us?

ARTHUR WHITE IS GRANTED PROBATION

On recommendation of Deputy Sheriff Lansden, a year's probation was granted Arthur White by Judge Jennings Thursday. Mr. White was recently found guilty by a jury of "operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated." Mr. Lansden is probation officer. The defendant is to give a $200 bond, pay $35.60 costs, refrain from intoxicating liquor for one year and obey various other regulations that the court prescribes.

unlikely, and besides, I must see that left arm a great deal better before I let you out of my sight."

"Then I hope it never gets better," Diana said.

Dennis had come down for one last visit before Diana returned to London.

He was full of plans for their future but Diana found herself cold to all of them. His caresses failed to thrill her as they had before her illness.

Finally Dennis had flung away from her and gone back to London. His angry departure had failed to stir her, although it left her with the feeling her world was falling away from her.

She wondered if her love for him had died. And the thought, strangely, carried with it no regret.

And then suddenly came the revelation that it was Donald she loved, maddeningly, distractingly. She knew then she could never be happy with any other man.

"To-morrow," Diana said to herself, "to-morrow I am going to London."

Sunday being Mothers Day a number of children and grandchildren gathered at the home of Mrs. Susan Leeds and enjoyed the day.

At noon a bounteous dinner was served. The day was spent in games and visiting.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Leeds and daughter Mary Elizabeth, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Leeds, daughter Mabel and son Loye, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Leeds and son Elmer Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Newt Barnes and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Drew and son Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mathias and daughters Emogene and June, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Summers and family. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Barnes and Mr. nad Mrs. Eugene Drew.

—Hal Raymond Jeffers and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Jeffers returned to their home in Chicago Monday after a few days visit with their parents Harrison Jeffers and family at Kirksville and Coleman Banks and family near Findlay.—Findlay Enterprise.

—Sam Hostetter visited last week with his nephews William and Paul Hostetter.

KIWANIS FUN

At last week's Kiwanis luncheon the program committee induced Judge Sentel and Edgar McKenzie to speak in favor of electing Judge Horner the Democratic candidate governor. To Dr. Williamson and J. L. McLaughlin was delegated the task of setting forth the good points of Len Small. As this placed the speakers on sides, contrary to their political preference, it was rather amusing. A. E. McCorvie complained after the meeting that "such things get a fellow all mixed up in his politics."

Why a Funeral Home?

WHILE we will, of course, serve anywhere, we always recommend the use of our comfortable, modern funeral home because it offers many advantages over the private residence as the most fitting place for the funeral service.

The private home is constructed for the activities of life and even in the hours of sorrow these activities must go on. Our funeral home is designed to meet all the special needs of this trying period with the greatest possible convenience and comfort.

Here everything is provided for paying the last beautiful respects to the departed in perfect freedom from the distractions of the residence and intrusion from without.
