DIED AT FILMORE; WAS
NATIVE OF MOULTRIEMrs. Louise Martin, nee Lane, widow of Charles Martin, who died 15 years ago, passed away at the home of her daughter Mrs. Holland Smith at Filmore on Tuesday, June 7th. She was past 78 years of age.She was a native of Moultrie county, being the daughter of the pioneer residents Archibald and Esther Lane. She is survived by four sons and three daughters.
Her husband, and brothers and sisters all preceded her in death.Funeral services were held on Thursday at Mt. Pleasant church near Ramsey and were in charge of Rev. Delbert Baker.Mrs. Mary Lane, a sister in law from this city attended, as also did her six sons and some of the members of their families. These sons are Claude, Bert, Walter, Oscar, Don and Roscoe. They served as pall bearers for their deceased aunt.Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin were residents of Moultrie county until about twenty years ago when they moved to the Ramsey community. After his death she went to Filmore to reside with her daughter.Farm Bureau

in Home Communities. State District Meeting Being Held in Tuscola Today.Taxpayers of Moultrie county are being organized through the Farm Bureau. Charles B. Shuman, president of the Bureau has sent out a letter under date of June 6th, with an outline of organization.A farm bureau member is named as chairman in each of the county's eight townships. Working under the township chairman are representatives in all school districts.Mr. Shuman says: "Considerable has been said of the tax burdens originating at our state and national capitals, but the facts show that in the average Illinois county 80 to 90 per cent of the taxes we pay originates in our own home locality. For this reason it is self-evident that if progress is to be made toward a more equitable system of taxation, we must correct the local situation where needed."A state district meeting is being held in Tuscola today (Friday) and Mr. Shuman urges a big attendance. John C. Watson of the Celebrated Here

In Usual StyleSullivan will have its big 4th of July celebration as usual this year.The work, preparatory to this big event, is being done under the auspices of the American Legion.Committees were busily engaged in soliciting donors of the past years for their contributions this week and meeting with a fair measure of success.Sullivan has no home-coming, chautauqua or similar festivities, but it is famed throughout central Illinois for its 4th of July celebration and its wonderful fireworks display on the banks of Wyman lake.A carnival has been booked for the week and other attractions will be added to furnish plenty of entertainment for the many thousands who are expected to make their annual pilgrimage to Sullivan on the nation's greatest holiday.CITY COUNCIL MET MONDAY NIGHT; STILL DISCUSSING FIRE TRUCKAt Monday night's meeting of the City Council a number of salesmen were present endeavoring to sell Sullivan a new fire truck. The committee has taken several trips and listened to a lot of sales talk but no purchase has as yet been made.The Council repealed the ordinance providing for a city tax license. One alderman explained this action by saying: "This matter has always caused a lot of trouble.
Some tax men would pay the license and some would not. At times it was difficult to figure just who was supposed to pay this license. So to do away with all the aggravation, the ordinance creating a tax license was repealed."ODD FELLOWS ELECTED NEW OFFICERS TUESDAYAt Tuesday night's meeting of Moultrie Lodge No. 158, I. O. O.
F., the following officers were elected to take office the first meeting night in July:Hugh Franklin—Noble Grand.

Demo. VictoryIndications Are That Majority of Illinois Delegates to National Convention Will Favor Roosevelt. Igoe Signally Honored.Thursday night of last week
The Progress editor and son Byron attended a Democratic banquet in the St. Nicholas Hotel in Springfield. The banquet and meetings following it were sponsored by the State Democratic Central committee.Chairman Donovan presided at the speakers table and addresses were made by Mayor Cermak of Chicago, Bruce Campbell, Michael Igoe, former Gov. Edward F.
Dunne, Editor S. P. Preston of Gillespie and Judge Henry Horner the candidate for governor. All state candidates were present.The air was filled with promises of harmony and not a note of discord was in evidence. Oratory en-thusiased those present and applause evidenced such enthusiasm.Following the general meeting the delegates had a session in the banquet hall while the editors had a session of their own. At the session of the delegates, Mayor Cermak nominated Michael Igoe for the position of member on the Resolutions Committee at the national Democratic convention which meets on June 27th in Chicago to select candidates for president and vice president. The choice for Mr.
Igoe was unanimous. It is also rumored that a candidate for the General Assembly in Chicago will be named in his stead. This will insure his re-election to the General Assembly, which, if Democratic, will elect him speaker.The delegates of the state of Illinois to the national convention will not vote as a unit. There is no tendency to bind them in unit.

In AssessmentFive Assessors Who Have Turned In Their Books Shows 20 Per Cent Less Personal Property
Listed for Taxation.The books of the five assessors who have made a return on their this year's assessments show a big decrease in personal property valuation. Lovington, Dora and Mar-rowbone township assessors have not yet turned in their books.Up to date $569 in dog tax has been collected and turned in. Assessor Bolin in Sullivan Township has turned in for 200 dogs.The assessments as compared to last year are as follows:

Sullivan Township	Jonathan Creek	Low Township	East Nelson	Whitley
'31—$306,900	'32—$246,316	'31—$113,825	'32—$103,090	'31—$152,745
'32—$246,316	'32—$103,090	'32—$166,465	'32—$65,125	'32—$118,215

The total decrease on these five townships amounts to $176,059 or approximately 20 per cent. Low township's decrease of $66,165 amounts to better than 28 per cent. The smallest decrease was in East Nelson township. Assessor Winchester's report shows $4,035 less than last year or a decrease of a little less than 6 per cent.These assessors returns are not the final figures for taxation as the Board of Review has the task of checking all these assessments and calling in property owners who may not have been assessed. This Board starts on its work July 5th.BRUCE VICTORIOUS;

TO ORGANIZE BANDLeon Reeder, who recently returned from the U. of I. to spend his summer vacation here is planning to organize a band for the instruction of those who desire to participate.Last fall at the University he majored in band and orchestra instrument instruction and he is fully qualified for the task he proposes to undertake. He feels that through a band organization the study of music might be made more interesting for those undertaking it. If this band is organized he will have sectional practice—that is for groups of various instruments and then will have rehearsals from time to time for the whole band. In this way the students will not only receive individual instruction in the sectional rehearsals but they will be able to apply what they learn in the band rehearsals and thus gain confidence in their ability to play.Anybody interested in taking this instruction is requested to see
Mr. Reeder before June 20th.Postal Employees
Salaries To Be Cut 10 Per CentThe revenue bill which Congress passed this week will directly or indirectly affect every man, woman and child in this country. The country is running deeply into debt and this revenue bill provides the ways and means of getting the money to meet the deficit and balance the budget.Wartime postal rates will go into effect about July 1st. They provide for 3c letter postage and about a 25% increase on all other classes of postage. There will be a sharp increase in newspaper postage rates. Increases and changes in parcel post rates will not become effective until next October.All federal employees (which includes post office employees) will suffer a 10% decrease in salaries.
In this city it means a decrease of $210 per year for each of the city carriers and Howard Wood and Mrs. Tucker, the office clerks. It will mean a decrease of $220 for assistant postmaster C. W. Tichenor and of $250 for Postmaster McPheeters. For the rural carriers the salary cut will run from $190 to $220 a year.The only two employees of the post office not affected by the salary cuts are Joe Pound, substitute clerk and Lawrence Carroll, who handles the mail transportation.
Their salaries do not come within the $1000 class. All salaries of $1000 or less are not affected by the congressional salary cut.It is estimated that the government will save about $2500 in operation of the local Post Office through cutting the salaries ten per cent.OKAW CHRISTIAN YOUTH

"Alexander the coppersmith did me much evil: the Lord reward him according to his works."—An excerpt from St. Paul's second letter to Timothy.

A PLEA

Lord, let me bring a little grace
To every dark and gloomy place;
Let me rejoice that I can give
Some splendor to the life I live,
A little faith when I am tired,
A little joy where I abide,
A touch of friendship now and then
To mark my comradeship with men.

Lord, let me bring a little mirth
To all who share my days on earth;
Let something I have said or done Remain, when I have traveled on,
To prove the man I tried to be
And make men glad they walked with me;
A flower, a smile, a word of cheer,
Make these my gifts from year to year.

Lord, let me carry where I go
Some little joy to all I know,
Let these into my life be wrought—
A little faith, a little thought,
A little mirth, a little grace
To glorify the commonplace;
Lord, let some little splendor shine
To mark this earthly course of mine.

Hoover Times -- Cleveland Times

You may have noticed a peculiar attitude among Democrats recently. They are not razzing the Republicans so hard any more about the bad times. They feel sorry for them.

That is a very generous attitude. It is highly commendable. It is repaying evil with good.

During the years 1893 to 1897 there was a panic of sorts in this country. Grover Cleveland was president. He was a Democrat. Price of farm products was low. Industry too was at low ebb.

President Cleveland was not actually responsible for the depression. It started soon after he took office, as successor to Benjamin Harrison, a Republican. But on Mr. Cleveland was loaded the obloquy, just as Herbert Hoover today takes the blame for many things, the perpetrator of which was his predecessor, Calvin Coolidge, and the Republican administrations dating back to March 1, 1921, when Woodrow Wilson's term in office expired.

For a period of many years, the Republican battle-cry of derision has been based on the hard times, the panic and depression in the days of the Cleveland administration. A few years ago when somebody would say something about Republican hard times, the Gee-O-Peers would smile knowingly and remark: "Well times ain't nearly so hard as when Cleveland was president." And they would proceed to quote a few prices.

In every campaign, the unfortunate Cleveland prices would furnish a talking point. Farmers, especially, were afraid of the Democratic party and "Cleveland prices." Our friends, the Republicans never modified their contention that low prices and Democratic administration were synonymous. They never admitted that previous Republican administrations might have bequeathed the conditions to Cleveland that caused industrial and agricultural distress during his administration.

If Alfred Emanuel Smith had been elected to the presidency in 1928, it would have put the Democratic party out of business for all time to come. Many Republicans today wish that Smith had been victorious. With a whoop of glee they would pin all the cussedness of the present day on the Democratic party. But Smith was not elected.

After almost twelve years of uninterrupted Republican administration conditions have come about that make the Cleveland administration look like an era of prosperity. There is no partisan alibi for the Republican era of chaos and demoralization.

It has overwhelmed the Republicans. It has affected the Democrats. It has been so uncalled for, so idiotic. It has been so unqualifiedly, so directly Republican. The party cannot evade the responsibility, when judged by the same form of logic that its voters have so long applied to Cleveland times.

We believe in being generous. We heartily approve of the attitude of the Democrats in the present instance. We are not writing this to bedevil and condemn the Republicans, but more in the spirit, of calling attention to historical facts and as an admonition that in the years to come, our Republican brethren be more circumspect in their criticism and in pronouncing unfavorable judgment on Democratic administrations—that of Cleveland, or Wilson or any other exponent of the principles of Jefferson and Jackson.

Let us be fair. Politics is the game of government. It is within the province of good sportsmanship to point out the errors of the opposition, but let us refrain from kicking them in the ribs and jumping on their faces (figuratively speaking) now that they have reached the nethermost depths of inefficiency in administration, with its resulting bitter fruits of unemployment, ruinous grain prices, farm mortgage foreclosures, hunger and despair.

Bright Future For Small Cities

A new industrial day is at hand. The present-day conditions of the country are causing a readjustment in industry and all its allied activities.

Men with vision are looking beyond the present day and trying to so manage their business activities that when the upturn comes, they will have a solid foundation on which to build.

Mark Fenton, general industrial agent of the Illinois Central System in a recent article in that railway company's magazine points out that: "Formerly it was true that accident placed most industries where they were, and the owners lacked initiative or ambition to better place them. Pressure of competition is changing all this. Studied selection is now the rule."

Mr. Fenton also calls attention to eight major influences that are being given consideration in determining factory placements. In order of relative importance he lists them as follows: — "raw material, labor, markets, transportation, power, taxes, availability of industrial sites and financial conditions. Minor influences include living conditions, water analysis, educational, religious and recreational advantages."

Mr. Fenton is in close touch with the industrial situation. When he speaks it is well that ambitious communities listen.

Sullivan is, or ought to be, ambitious. It possesses many of the attributes desirable for further industrial development. It may not possess all—few cities of its size do.

Located in the middle west, near the heart of this great nation, it is surrounded by an abundance of raw materials produced from the richest agricultural soil in the world. These materials include grain, livestock, dairy and poultry products. Other raw materials are easily available from the big metropolitan centers of Chicago and St. Louis.

Labor is plentiful, intelligent and averages higher than in bigger cities or present industrial centers.

Markets are easily accessible. Situated as this city is, its products can be shipped North and South and East and West to reach all of the markets of this country.

Transportation facilities are unrivalled. Three railroads serve Sullivan. Two important hard roads bisect it; when sufficient need arises, airports will be provided.

A municipally owned light and power plant can furnish power for many ordinary size industrial units. The city is ready to develop its plant when necessity points the way.

Taxes are everywhere too high. They are considerably lower here than in the larger cities.

No city can boast of more and better available industrial sites. Along the three railroads are good sites, also accessible to the hard roads. Many such sites are within a short distance from the heart of the city.

Financial conditions here in Sullivan are usually on a par with financial conditions in other cities of this size—at the present time they are considerably better. Sullivan is not a city of rich families; neither has it many poor. Pauper relief during the past year has not shown any increase over an average of ten year preceding.

These are the eight major influences. As to living conditions, water analysis, education, religious and recreational advantages, Sullivan is striding rapidly to the fore. There are certain things that need be done before all modern conveniences are available in all parts of the city, but the community is equal to its opportunities.

Now is the time to plan for Sullivan's industrial future. Better times will come and they will come first to the cities that plan for them.

We honestly believe that the present-day conditions have shown the imbecility and fallacy from a social as well as economic standpoint of herding millions of people together into the industrial and population centers as has been the case in recent decades.

Millions of idle in the big cities today constitute a problem that is a challenge to civilization. They are too far from their food supply. They are too dependent on the money they earn while working in the factories. When such work ceases they have nothing to live on. They have no gardens, no fields that can supply sustenance. They have cut themselves off from the bounty of Mother Earth. They have ganged into the cities. They have been deprived by their environment and are now depriving their children of that heritage of fertile soil, and field and stream and all of the other wonderful gifts of nature and the great outdoors.

The big idea is this—factories can be built and operated in the smaller cities to distinct advantage of the factory owner and the factory laborer. The small cities possess advantages that the big cities never had and never will have. Some big manufacturers, as for instance the shoe industry, have long sensed the truth of the fore-going and acted in accordance with their conviction.

The country is in a state of transition. The big city has proven a woeful failure in time of stress. The smaller cities are better caring for their own. We believe that out of the depression will come a sanity and a re-adjustment in population. In place of the big city, impractical, inhuman, unnatural—there will come a re-distribution of population and of industrial activity. The smaller cities will benefit. The big cities will lose nothing of real value and the entire population will be on a basis of greater economic stability. Depressions and panics will not be so apt to cause distress and starvation.

—the children who toil will regain their original heritage given them by their Creator—God made the country—the big cities are man's handiwork.

—Mother Earth is calling. She is ready to feed her children—to open their eyes to the beauties of the country-side and of the small town. She has sustenance for all and to spare, but ignorant and selfish mankind has muddled things up so that children cry for bread, and men plead and beg for permission to earn it.

The day of the small town is dawning. Sullivan and

Says WILL ROGERS

BEVERLY HILLS—Well all I know is just what I read in the Congressional Record. They have had some awful funny articles in there lately. As our Government Deteriates, our humor increases. They have been arguing over the taxes, and that gives em a chance to get some original views on where they was going to get this two billion bucks that they were overdrawn. They have just appropriated and appropriated till they was so far in the red, that it don't look like they will hardly get out by Christmas.

Well I had a fine time here a few days ago. I went out with our Governor, Jimmy Rolph, and we "We" accepted in behalf of the State of California, one of the most magnificent ranches you ever saw. It comprises about seven hundred acres. Course that don't sound so big, but that land that is all piped and watered, and irrigated, and improved. It is the largest Arabian horse ranch in America. It has 87 head of pure breed Arabian horses, the most wonderful up to date stables and equipment you ever saw. Its a marvelous place, about 40 miles out of Los Angeles, near Pomona. It was given to the State University Department of Animal Husbandry, and will be maintained by them. It was the gift of W. K. Kellogg of Battle Creek. He has been coming out here for the winters for several years and built up this beautiful place. We had a big ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg turned over the deeds to the Governor. They are a mighty fine plain, wholesome folks, the Kelloggs. Now here is the catch in it that makes the gift so marvelous. He also give $600,000 as a fund, that the income from it would be used to keep this place up. That's where I got fooled, I went out there to the ceremony just thinking that it was an event where a man was giving away a ranch. Well I have one in California, and one in Oklahoma, both mighty little ones, but still big enough to be noticed by the tax men. Well neither one of em have ever made their taxes, so if either state wants another Animal Husbandry joint, why I will be more than glad to turn each state over some of the best tax infested land in both states, and I will give em some horses with em too. They may not be Arabians, and again they may be, for you cant look at em and tell what kind they are.

They told us out there at this ceremony that the Arabian horse has one less vertebra in his back, and one less in his tail, and the one from his knee down is shorter. Well this Arabian is short of vertebra, and that is giving it a nice name. I don't know about our shin bone being shorter. If it is its because we have worn it out kicking at everything so much. We have wore out about an inch of it just kicking poor Hoover alone. Maybe he did need a few, but perhaps not as many as we aimed at him. Now I think we ought to commence wearing out, not the shin bone but the keel bone, by kicking ourselves a few times each day. Our kicks have always been aimed at the somebody else for our own troubles. And a few good ones directed at the proper source would find us getting em right where they are deserved.

So these horses are really American and not Arabian. They also have another American characteristic, they are long winded. There is a Senator among every colt born. An Arabians nostrils are always distended. He seems to smell everything pretty good. Well we don't. There is things about our affairs that you sometimes think we have no sense of smell at all, or we would certainly smell some of the things that are being put over on us every day. If we had had even an ordinary "Nostril" we should have detected an odor when our International Bankers were giving everything in the world to Europe. We couldnt even detect the limburger on the bonds they sold us. So we have all the characteristic of the Arab horse but the distended nostrils and its beauty. The mare of the human race has retained its beauty, but the male has been a throw back. He has retained none of the springy movement and the grace and beauty of form and skin. Our only salvation is to raise just females.

towns of its kind have a great future if their people will prepare for it now.

"POP'S PRAYERS"

The pastor of a little church in a rural community met with severe affliction one winter. His wife and two children fell ill, and being penniless—his modest salary having been unpaid for months—he was naturally in great distress.

The leaders of the church decided they would meet at the pastor's home that night and hold a prayer service. While an elder was engaged in pious and fervent supplication, punctuated by equally pious and fervent "Amen's" from the assembled party, a knocking was heard at the door. When, finally, the door was opened, a cheerful, ruddy-faced farmer lad stood before them. He was not one of their congregation.

"What do you want?" asked one of the elders.
"I've brought pop's prayers," answered the youth, simply, grinning good-naturedly.

"This is no time or place for levity," admonished the elder, severely. "What do you mean?"
Well, you see," explained the boy, somewhat abashed, "pop heard as how the preacher's been havin' a spell of bad luck, what with sickness in the family and one thing and another, and that you folks was all prayin' for him tonight, so he sent me over here with his prayers."

"His prayers?" repeated the puzzled elder.
"Yep, I've got 'em—pop's prayers—out here in the wagon, and if a couple o' you men'll help me we'll get 'em in."
In a few minutes it was discovered that "pop's prayers" consisted of a load of potatoes, flour, bacon, corn meal, turnips, apples, warm comforters and a lot of jellies and other delicacies for the sick ones.

DO NOT QUIT

(Re-printed by Request)

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will,
When the road you're trudging seems all up-hill,
When funds are low and debts are high,
And you want to smile but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit,
Rest if you must, but don't you quit;
Life is queer with its twists and turns,
As everyone of us sometimes learns,
And many a failure turns about,
When he might have won had he stuck it out,
Don't give up, though the pace seems slow
You may succeed with another blow.
Often the goal is nearer than
It seems to a faint and faltering man.
Often the struggler has given up,
When he might have captured the victor's cup.
And he learned too late, when the night slipped down,
How close he was to the golden crown.
Success is failure turned inside out—
The silver tint of the clouds of doubt,
And you can never tell how close you are,
It may be near when it seems far;
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit—
It's when things seem worst that you mustn't quit.

THE NURSE

The world grows better year by year,
Because some nurse in her little sphere,
Puts on her apron and cap and sings;
And keeps on doing the same old things.

Taking temperatures and giving pills,
Humoring mankind's numberless ills,
Feeding the baby, answering bells,
Being polite with a heart that rebels.

Longing for home and all the while Wearing the same old professional smile,
Blessing the new born baby's first breath,
Closing the eyes that are still in death.

Taking the blame for the doctor's mistakes,
Oh, dear, what a lot of patience it takes,
Going off duty at seven o'clock,
Tired, discouraged, just ready to drop.

But called on special at seven-fifteen,
Woe in her heart, but it must not be seen.
Morning, noon, evening and night,
Just doing it over and hoping it's right.

And when we lay down our caps and cross the bar,
Oh Lord! will you give us one little star
To wear with our uniform white and new,
In that city above, where the head nurse is you?

A Moultrie county bird dog enthusiast can't wait until the quail season opens to give his dog some exercise and experience. He takes him out now. When the dog finds a bird trail and starts following it, his owner, turns him round about and instead of following the bird, he trails to the place the bird came from. Last week he started the dog on such a trail. All week the dog was gone. A searching party then found him. He was pointing to the nest where the quail had hatched about two months ago. The dog must have had a wonderful time back-tracking that bird from the time it left its nest until that day when he picked up the trail.

"Yes," said John "I'm back from a year at College."
"My, My," said his sweetie "You must know just about everything."
"Oh, there are a few little things, I'm not quite sure of, so I may go back for another term and get it ail."

Old Joe Hoopie of Possum Trot had bought a Prudential farm, one of our exchanges says.

Old Joe and Mam Hoopie came to town to pay Guy Little and Carl Enz for it. The cost of the farm was $15,000. Joe and Mam carried an old battered milk pail. Arrived at Guy's office they started counting out the money. Suddenly Joe got excited: "Mam, thar's sumpin' wrong here. Thar air only $12,000 in this pail."

Mam looked perplexed for a minute and then her face brightened as she exclaimed, "Why Pop, you ole fool, you musta grabbed the wrong pail."

CONSIDER THE GOLFER

Consider the golfer, for he is the Son of Joy, and the heart of his wife rejoiceth in him.

In the open, where it can do no harm, he bloweth the carbon out of his brain cells.

The "touch of liver" knoweth him not, and dyspepsia is a stranger to him.

The sun lighteth up his countenance, and his figure keepeth its beauty.

He lacketh not a topic for conversation, and concerning his score the truth is not in him.

He is happy in his folly, and weareth the smile that will not come off.

He preferreth a pleasant day unto a moonlight night, and a beautiful course unto a beautiful woman.

And a smile of approval from his caddy he findeth more thrilling than the smiles of blondes and sirens.

For every man must have his folly, whereon he worketh off the original sin within him.

And some choose wine, and some tobacco and some flirtation.

But the golfer exceedeth them all in wisdom!

And no man can be both a good golfer and a bad husband!

—Brooklyn Life.

"What's delaying you?" growled the patient in the dentist's chair.

"Well, you see," said the Dentist, "After a drill a little in that upper molar, I've got to stop and clean the sawdust out of the drill."

"Were you in the army?"

"Yessuh, yessuh, I sure wuz. I wuz a pilot in the cavalry."

"A pilot in the cavalry! Man you're crazy, they only have pilots in the aviation branch."

"Sez you! Listen man, every morning I went down to the stables where the hosses wuz kept. The sergeant would give me a fork and say—"pilot in the corner!"—Exch.

One of the very best excuse notes that any teacher ever received was the one from a farmer. It stated: "Please excuse Willie from school today. He caught a skunk."

A beautiful moon, a lovely night,
A good stretch of road, not a house in sight

A man, a woman, an automobile
A slam of the brakes, a high-pitched squeal;

A car door opened and closed with a slam,

A loud burly voice said I'll be damn"

His foot on the gas—a speedy ride

With an inch of hatpin in his hide.

A hank of hair, a rag and a bone
Plodding the road for home alone.

REV. LIVELY COMMENTS
ON PANIC ERA

hunger and rags. Our social and our moral advance has lagged far behind that of the material advance. We know how to produce in abundance, but we do not know how to distribute them. There are savage tribes in the jungles who can sit back and laugh at our boasted civilization! When the tribe has food no individual is left in want.

Can this Civilization Survive?

"This present social order is at the bar of justice. We must find a road to better days or this present civilization is doomed. Dr. James Breasted of the University of Chicago, whom I once had as a teacher of history, says that all civilizations began in the open country. They began with the herdsmen and farmers. Then as wealth and population increased cities were built. The cities grew corrupt and lawless and the civilization collapsed and passed away. The world bears the record of at least forty civilizations that have arisen and passed off the stage. Is this story to be repeated with our present civilization? It would seem to the careful observer that we are on our way. Our great city of Chicago is ridden by gangsters. Her city government has been too impotent to levy and collect taxes for the past three years; and her present mayor comes before the State Legislature with a frantic appeal that they must have millions in charity or he will be forced to call on the national troops to preserve order in the city.

The Need of Serious Thought

"But this civilization can be saved. There is a road to better days, and it is up to the people to find and travel that road. You must dare to think. That is the way progress was made in the mechanical world. It is the same way we are to make progress in the social and moral world. Do you think for a moment that New York, Boston or Chicago has any corner on intelligence. Of course their leaders and writers will assume they have. But you just remember that when the life of this Nation was at stake, it was a boy who grew up on these Illinois prairies, who had learned to think and act, that took the helm of state and guided the ship through the storm to a safe harbor—Abraham Lincoln. Do not let sensational newspapers and cheap politicians weigh very heavily with you. About all they ever do is to rearrange their prejudices. A brilliant citizen was recently asked this question: 'What do you think Congress will do about the present situation?' To which he replied: 'Congressmen will do whatever is to their benefit in November.'

Must We Have Bank Failures?

"It is high time that the common people of America were doing some thinking about the financial situation. One bank out of every ten failed in the United States during the past ten years bringing in their wake untold suffering, blasted hopes and ruined business,—and remember these banks operate under laws written at the dictation of the bankers. You say bank failures are inevitable. Well, cross an imaginary line up into Canada. Here we find an agricultural country, subject to far greater fluctuations in prices than in the United States,—and still they have not had a bank failure in twenty years. Is it treason to ask the reason why? Canada has a government that is not afraid to take a hand in business,—and protect her people against irresponsible business men. It is a sad commentary on the intelligence of the rank and file of this nation that they sit idly by and let a little hand-full of manipulators on Wall Street gamble with the business destiny of 120,000,000 people. What pikers Cyrus and Caesar were!

Get People Back to The Soil

"The road to better days is not only through thought, but it must have its full share of labor. We must realize that the supreme

NESS.

Gained Physical Vigor—A Shapely Figure.

If you're fat—first remove the cause.

Take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning. To hasten results go light on fatty meats, potatoes, cream and pastries—in 3 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin is clearer—you feel young in body—Kruschen will get your fat person a joyous surprise.

But be sure to get Kruschen—your health comes first and SAFETY first is the Kruschen promise.

value is not in machinery, but in humanity. There was never any unemployment situation when this country was predominately agricultural. If the industrial system cannot keep men employed then the system must be changed. This nation cannot long endure half idle and half employed. Every man has a God-given right to labor and support himself and his family. If industry is helpless before the present situation, then let the Government transfer all who are willing to go back to the soil where they may support themselves with some degree of self respect.

"The road to better days not only requires labor, but it requires cooperation. Modern communication and transportation has made the world into a neighborhood. Still our politicians have built up high tariff walls to keep the rest of the world out. They have built these walls in the behalf of special interests and against the pleadings of the economic scholarship of the land. It's rather grim humor when one realizes that he can buy an American made automobile, or farm implements cheaper in Europe, Asia or Africa than he can in Illinois. The United States will never come into her own until she is willing to trade with the rest of the world, and not ask that everything be in her favor and to her advantage. Then she must take her rightful place among the family of nations. I am sick and tired of hearing shallow newspapers and cheap politicians harping about Washington's advice on the danger of 'foreign entanglements'. If Washington had not made an alliance with France America never could have won her independence!

Rotten Politics and Gangsters

"America will not be on the road to better days until there is a quickening of the moral attitude among men in high places in our national life. A great judge recently said: 'The greatest danger threatening America today is that she is losing her sense of sin.' Ten years ago we saw the 'Ohio Gang' come down to Washington and steal the nation blind. The most tragic thing about it all is that there was little or no moral indignation about the whole sordid business. Men high in public life sought to hush or cover up the whole matter, evidently hoping that the public would soon forget about it and nothing more would be said. Need we be surprised that men of low characters and greedy desires should look upon this conduct and set themselves to obtain big, easy money through racketeering and kidnapping. If we would travel the road to better days there must be a revival of honor, of honesty and integrity among men in America in the high and the low walks of life. Business and government can travel no other road and not be beset with thieves and robbers.

rule. As a matter of courtesy they will vote for James Hamilton Lewis for president on the first ballot. After that they will vote as they please and Roosevelt sentiment is strong enough among the delegates to assure the Roosevelt forces of more than half of the 58 Illinois votes.

Editors to Help

The editors discussed the part that they propose to share in this campaign. Headquarters will be established and a publicity bureau will supply the press with anything and everything that may be needed to bring the qualifications of the candidates before the voters. The press is, of course, hostile to the use of Radio in campaigning. Judge Horner attended the press meeting and a picture was taken of the group. Many pictures were taken of the diners in the banquet hall. These will appear in Chicago publications devoted entirely to the promotion of the Democratic campaign. Future meetings of editors will be called by Pres. Preston and Editor Dallman of Springfield as the need arises.

Illinois Democrats are going into this year's campaign well organized. It was generally predicted at Springfield that the biggest aid toward carrying Illinois for Democracy this fall will be the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt for president.

At the THEATRE

Last Wednesday we saw a show we did not like. It was called "Reserved for Ladies." After spending an uninteresting hour trying to find out what it was all about, and not having any success in the matter, we decided that the next time we saw something that was marked as being reserved for the other sex, we'd stay home.

At odd moments, when a lucid interval strikes us, we still find our sub-conscious mind at work trying to decipher the plot and see why something like that should have been perpetrated. If we said a good word for that picture before it was shown here, we now take it all back.

The rest of the shows of the week are said to have been good. Quite generally Mr. Hays has good programs and it is rather difficult to pick a show that is entitled to a razzin'.

The Wet Parade

This is the show on Thursday and Friday nights of this week. You may not like the plot and again you may, but the acting is said to be superb. Walter Huston is in title role. You'll especially enjoy seeing the man who is known as Schnozzle Durante. What his mother evidently thought was his life's misfortune has brought him fame and acclaim—a nose ten sizes too big for him.

The Wages of Sin is Death

How often have you not heard that thundered from the pulpit. It is an admonition that you may well heed. And now some bright picture producer has come forth with a picture that he calls "Sin's Pay Day." The plot for this story is built around a professional man, known as a "Criminal Lawyer." He did not commit the crimes but he managed to use his skill and persuasive ability to get juries to turn loose any crooks he defended. His wife disapproved of that way of making a living. The once powerful pleader lost heart and drifted backward toward Hades.

But his ability again triumphs and — you'll like the ending of the picture. We don't know much about the cast. There is not a familiar name in it unless it be big special Sunday only—"The Three Little Maids" in a melange of song numbers with guitar accompaniment. He says:

"The Three Little Maids" are Lucile, Evelyn and "Little" Eva Overstake and are well known in Central Illinois, having built up a large following on Radio Stations of this vicinity. They are now appearing on W. L. S. program being heard regularly on "Merry Go Round" and "National Barn Dance" Broadcasts.

THREE LITTLE MAIDS

Mickey McGuire a child comedian. This show will be the feature bill Saturday night. There will also be an installment of the serial and some novelties.

Sunday's Special Manager Hays offers another

Their stage performance is unusually entertaining.

Sunday and Monday's picture is "Young America." It is a picture of heart interest, with the troubles and trials of the younger generation well depicted. It is not a "kid" picture, however, as can be seen by the fact that the stars are Spencer Tracy, Doris Kenyon, Ralph Bellamy and Beryl Mercer. The leading kid actor is Tommy Conlon. We hereby invite Pauline Ballard to be a Progress guest at the Grand some night this week.

Besides the attractions listed above there will be comedy, cartoon and news features.

Do You Remember?

What? Why the Ten Commandments! What prompts this comment is the fact that Tuesday and Wednesday nights' picture next week is entitled "Forgotten Commandments." The press agent says that "Millions who are now in love are living or facing the drama of this picture—old beliefs shattered, old rules discarded, new morals flaunted—today's story in today's language." The plot of this story reads good—rather interesting. The cast isn't very strong, but how can stars be developed unless they have a chance to see what they can do? (Johnny Tichenor has outlived his Freshman year at the STHS and is a Sophomore now. In honor of the event we herewith invite him to see a Grand Theatre show.)

Lest you forget, besides the attraction adv. above, there will also be comedies, novelties, etc.

Here Come the Stars

If the players in some of the pictures for next week are not well known, here's a picture that make up for the deficiency. The title of the picture is "As you Desire me" and in the cast are Greta Garbo, Melvyn Douglas and Erich von Stroheim; also Owen Moore, Hedda Hopper, and a bunch of fellows with Italian monickers. Lots of folks like Garbo. Some don't. Without doubt this Swede enchantress has "it" when it comes to picture appeal. Also she's a good advertiser. She keeps her mouth shut and has established the reputation for being something of a recluse in Hollywood where the stars are all out for the utmost in publicity. Greta has even announced that this is her final picture. She'll retire.

This picture will be shown on Thursday and Friday nights. There are plenty of other good things on the program.

WHAT IS MOTOR ENEMY No. 1?

It Explains MANY of Your Repair Bills

Here's something we think you should know. THE GREATEST FAILURE OF GASOLINES TO MEET GOVERNMENT SPECIFICATIONS IS TOO MUCH SULFUR. And sulfur is the worst enemy of motors—the costliest to you. It's easy to see why sulfur in gasoline is Motor Enemy No. 1.

Sulfur takes money out of your pocket. It explains many of your repair bills. Sulfur forms deadly, metal-eating sulfuric acid (H_2SO_4) which eats and corrodes valves, pistons, timing chains, bearings and other parts that are costly to replace.

We don't believe our customers should pay for poor refining, so we sell Skelly Sulfur-Free Gasoline. Skelly uses only crudes low in sulfur content, but that isn't enough. Skelly's special "sulfur-wash" processes are so efficient Skelly Gasoline averages 99⁹⁷/₁₀₀% sulfur-free.

Don't pay out money for repairs caused by sulfur. Save your money by using Skelly Sulfur-Free Gasoline.

Man Made the Town

By Ruby M. Ayers

She goes to a party, expecting to be bored, but the footman at the door announcing the incoming guests, calls out: "Dr. Donald Rathbone."

Diana had been idly watching the scene before her, her thoughts far away, but at the sound of that name her slender body stiffened, and her face went as white as her gown.

"No . . . no . . . no . . ." Her heart cried out in passionate protest even as her dilated eyes met Rathbone's across the long room.

And she had been afraid that she was beginning to forget him! Forget him! Forget his big, powerful body against which she had once been held in such perfect happiness and peace? His grave steady eyes, and the mouth that looked as if it rarely smiled?

He did not smile now, though a little flash passed across his sombre eyes before he turned to greet his hostess.

It seemed an eternity to Diana before Rathbone began to make his way across to her. He seemed to know a great many people, many of whom stopped to engage him in conversation.

Rathbone was beside her now, but he made no attempt to take her hand, and she did not offer it.

"Good-evening, Miss Gladwyn."

Diana raised eyes that were infinitely pathetic, because they fought so hard for indifference.

"Good-evening, Dr. Rathbone."

"A great rock in a weary land"

How silly to think of that now and yet—oh, how wonderful to feel once again the peace and safety of his presence!

"I hope you are well?" he said formally.

"Yes, thank you."

"Quite well?"

She tried to answer, but now that suffocating feeling had mastered her, and she could only nod silently.

Then some one came and took him away.

At dinner he was a long way from her; he sat on Mrs. Foster's left hand with the great newspaper magnate on her right; evidently Rathbone was the second most important guest.

The dinner was endless; to Diana's overwrought imagination, the long table seemed to grow longer till Rathbone appeared to be separated from her by miles; course after course followed one another in terrible monotony. How could people go on eating for such hours!

She almost said, "Thank God," when at last the ordeal was ended.

Rathbone would come and talk to her now, she was sure; he would find some way of shaking off all the other people, and he would come to her, and he would say something that would stop this dreadful pain. He would know what she was suffering; perhaps he was suffering equally himself.

But though she watched the door of the great unfriendly drawing room with strained eyes till the men began to appear, Rathbone was not among them.

Then she learned that Rathbone had been called away suddenly on an urgent call.

He had gone without even saying good-bye to her.

CHAPTER XXI

Anna had been waiting up for her. She said with unusual kindness in her voice:

"I should go to bed and try and get some sleep."

"I couldn't sleep," Diana said.

"Let me give you something to make you sleep—some of that draught you used to take before you were ill. You must sleep, Miss Diana."

Anna came back with the sleeping draught and Diana took it and allowed herself to be put to bed.

"I'll be close by, if you want me," she said.

Something in her tone of voice made Diana think suddenly of Miss Starling, and an almost childish longing for her and for the peace of her little room at the cottage awoke in her heart.

How amazed the Creature would be if she could know!

Diana sat up in bed, rocking herself to and fro.

She wished she could cry, but her eyes felt too hot and burning to allow the relief of tears.

Were other girls made to suffer like this, or were they too wise to allow themselves to care very much for anyone?

With a terrible feeling of restlessness she got out of bed and began to walk about the room.

If only he had bid her good-bye at Mrs. Foster's. Shown some affection for her.

If only she could sleep! . . . Her head was throbbing so; it reminded her of that night at the Savoy with Dennis, when the world had seemed to be filled with a million demons, all of whom were conspiring together to torment her.

Anna's sleeping draught had been useless; it had only excited her and racked her nerves.

Perhaps if she took some more— She looked round the room eagerly; yes, the bottle was there on the dressing table.

Diana crossed the room. She was a childish figure in her white nightgown with her bare feet and disordered curly hair.

Her hands shook a little, making the bottle rattle against the glass as she measured out some of the drops.

It had a nasty bitter taste.

"That's because I haven't put any water with it," Diana thought vaguely. "I don't care; perhaps it will really make me sleep this time."

She shivered and made a little grimace as she crept back to bed. Why were all the things that were supposed to be good for one so nasty?

MARRIED—BUT NOT ACCORDING TO LAW

The law provides that a marriage ceremony must be performed in the county where the license was issued.

On June 1st Dale Hines and Flora Lee of Decatur and Chester Williams and Mrs. Sylvia Gilbert, also of that city were licensed to wed in the office of County Clerk Chipps. They left with their marriage licenses.

Saturday the official return was received from the minister at Fancher who performed the ceremonies. Fancher is in Shelby county. The couples were notified that in order to live up to the technical requirements of law, they must again have a ceremony performed in Moultrie county.

Some years ago a couple was licensed here and went to Windsor to have a pastor of that city perform the ceremony. He saw that the couple had a Moultrie license. In order to comply with the law he accompanied the couple in an auto ride on Route 32. They came north far enough to assure their being in Moultrie County. They got out of the car and the ceremony was performed right then and there.

To be successful in life one must be able to adjust one's self to all the varying circumstances of life. The ease and readiness with which we make life adjustments is an index to the happiness we experience in life. Religion is the greatest force in the world for the making of satisfactory decisions in life. The religious man has resources at his disposal in living that the irreligious or unreligious man never knows about. It is the work of the church to bring these resources to your knowledge and to help you to apply them to your problems in life. You are invited to worship at the First Presbyterian church. CHRISTIAN CHURCH

C. E. Barnett, pastor
"Home, Altar and Pew" and "The Way of the Sea" are the sermon subjects for the next Sunday's services. It is Family Day in the United Spiritual Program and entire families are expected to attend with an effort to bring another family. Church members, with their families should crowd the church services as on Easter Day. Loyal cooperation in this will result in all we hope for in our church. The morning worship will begin with the communion at 10:40 a. m., "Home, Altar and Pew" the subject of the sermon.

We are looking toward Youth Night, Sunday evening at 7:30. This should be a great service. The Young People's choir will sing "The Bells of Saint Mary's." A quartet of voices will also sing. Songs of the sea will be sung; candles and candelabrum will be used in the service, and the song "Let the Light of the Lord be burning" will be illustrated. The subject for a brief message by the pastor will be "The Way of the Sea." We seek the cooperation of all our young people to make this a great service. It will be Children's Day in the Sunday school. The major portion of the morning session will be used in the Children's Day program. The offering will help to "Hold the Line for Christ" through the United Christian Missionary Society. Bring your dime-holder, or make a generous offering through your class. The session begins at 9:30 a. m.

Have you any leisure time? The Christian Endeavor topic committee so presumes and suggests the topic, "Getting the Most Out Our Leisure Time." Byron Brandenburger will lead the society in its meeting at 6:30 p. m. Time used in attending Endeavor is time profitably employed. Come and "get the most out of it."
For your soul's sake, Go to Church.

Miss Alta Elder
Care Sullivan Township H. School
Sullivan, Illinois.
Dear Miss Elder:

It was with a lot of pleasure that I received the Sullivan Township High School Year book this morning, and I know it will mean hours of pleasure in the days to come, thinking and dreaming of days of long ago.

I am especially glad that it gives addresses as well as names, for it will be possible for me to get in touch with some old time friends whose whereabouts I had lost entirely.

I think you are to be congratulated for this is a beautiful piece of work and I know represents a world of work. It would be a credit to any College, much more to a small High School.

Please tell Professor and Mrs. Scheer that I asked to be remembered, also Miss Edmiston, who I see is an instructor in the schools there.

Again thanking you for the little "Gem" received this morning I beg to remain

Yours truly
Jas. E. Ward

Man Made the Town

"Oh—well—you didn't see anything of our Miss Rosalie, I suppose?"

"Miss Rosalie? No. Why?"
"Why?" Hobson echoed with the impatience of anxiety. "Why, because she's out somewhere, of course. Been out since nine o'clock this morning, as far as we can make out. Not very nice for a young lady to go wandering off on her own a morning like this, is it?"
"Alone?" Jonas said.
"You mean—she's lost?" Jonas asked.

"No, I don't mean nothing of the sort," Hobson retorted angrily. "You can't get lost round about here. It's just the fog that makes it difficult to find her. If you see anything of her it would be a kindness to let us know or to bring her back."

"All right," Jonas said briefly. He had turned to go when Hobson called to him again.
"Look here," he said more confidentially. "You won't open your mouth all over the village, I know, so I'll tell you."

JUNE DAYS

If we were living back in the good old Roman days, we'd feel inclined to address a supplication to Jupiter Pluvius the "rain god", and ask him to take a vacation. Old June has been too liberal with his gifts the past week. He sent it not in gentle showers, but he hurled it to earth in ocean-like quantities.

Beginning last Thursday evening, central Illinois started getting a soaking. There have been several big showers since and it is a conservative estimate to say that Sullivan and vicinity has had about 3 inches of rain. In Mattoon they claim they have had more than 5 inches, but then Mattoon is a bigger city. In Decatur they say that it rained nearly one inch in 15 minutes and the streets were flooded.

Corn fields look wetter than they have done in many a day. The black corn dirt has taken on a shiny surface and it behooves the farmers to break this crust as soon as possible in order to let a little sunlight and air reach the roots.

There is a good prospect for potatoes this year. Wheat and oats had a chance to stretch a little when the welcome rains came. It was also good for pastures, lakes, weeds, hay fields, golf courses, fish and anything and everything else that like a portion of earth's moisture.

We're all glad hereabouts that it has rained. We hope it doesn't rain any more for about ten days.

An inquiring taxpayer raised the following point the other day. We pass it on. Said he: "I bought an automobile some years ago. I have run it about 20,000 miles. It is still in good condition. It will perhaps do another 20,000. The City of Sullivan bought a fire truck a few years ago. It is used on an average of perhaps once a week. When used, it is used hard, but only for short distances. The same applies to its pumping equipment."

What I'd like to know is this: Why does a city fire truck wear out so quick? If it were in use daily, I could see why. But little as it is used, it seems that a fire truck ought to last a city many years.

Other cities seem to have the same trouble with fire trucks that Sullivan has.

Prominent people have figured in this week's news. Iowa Republicans told Smith Brookhart they do not want him as Senator any more. John Rockefeller Jr., says prohibition is a failure. Sam Insull, usually regarded as worth a few billions is a man without a job, and if newspaper reports are to be believed, the old boy may soon be in the bread line.

Franklin D. Roosevelt gathered in another batch of delegates this week. The big moneyed newspapers have about given up the idea that they can stop Roosevelt. The people are for him. The politicians had better be.

By this time next week the Republicans will be staging their national convention in Chicago. It will be about as interesting and exciting as a funeral. Everybody knows who the corpse is going to be. Will Rogers said some time ago that as a matter of economy the Republicans ought to dispense with holding their convention. He says they have a good platform adopted many times and never used. Aw Well, don't be so hard on them! Let 'em have a little fun. They will sputter around some about wet or dry. They'll try to adopt a platform plank that will be pleasing all around then then they will all take a drink.

Nobody cares much about what the Republicans do this year. The Republican voters do not want Hoover and none of the other big guys wants to take the licking that is due the Gee-O-Pee.

It has been suggested that Mr. Hoover ask the Belgians to be nice to us Americans as we were nice to them in wartime. We need a Belgian food administrator to feed us hungry Americans.

—Reverend Lawrence attended the group conference of the Third Quarterly Conference of the Mattoon District of the Methodist church held in the Stewardson Methodist church Tuesday night. The ministers of the group gave their Third Quarter's report at this meeting. An all day meeting of the entire Mattoon District was held in the Mattoon Methodist church Thursday. Speakers came from the Methodist headquarters in Chicago.

—Dr. and Mrs. Lone Butler and Dr. Stephen Butler of Colorado are expected to arrive here Monday for a visit with Dr. and Mrs. Don Butler and family. Later they will all go to Kentucky for a visit with relatives and friends.

—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bishop of Shelbyville arrived Sunday for a visit of several days with his mother Mrs. Etta Bishop; also his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Newbould. They returned Wednesday.

MRS. CLEMENTINE DUNCAN DIED TUESDAY AT THE HOME OF MRS. KELLY
